MRS. SILVEY TELLS OF HER ESCAPE FROM THE SINKING TITANIC

Duluth Woman Returns to Home After Harrowing Experience.

Did Not Know of Husband's Death Until She Reached Carpathia.

Husband Told Her to Obey Orders of Ship's Officers.

Mrs. W. B. Silvey, who survived the Titanic wreck in which her husband was a victim, arrived in Duluth this morning.

Mrs. Silvey has entirely recovered physically from the effect of her experience. In addition to the several hours' exposure in a lifeboat, she sustained a strained ligament in her ankle by stepping on a man under a seat in the lifeboat in which she was placed. The effects of the injury have entirely disappeared.

"Do just as you are told. We are under orders of the officers of the ship and must obey," Mr. Silvey told Mrs. Silvey when she demurred against getting into the lifeboat and leaving him on the deck of the steamer.

"Although I knew the situation was serious when they ordered the women and children into the lifeboats, I had no doubt but that Mr. Silvey would be saved," Mrs. Silvey said this morning. "Even after I saw the lights on the Carpathia go out and knew that the ship

BEEF HIGHEST IN TWENTY YEARS

New York Also Narrowly Escapes Potato Famine—Butter Scarce.

New York, May 1.—The wholesale and retail price of beef has reached the highest point in twenty years in this city. Prices here have been climbing steadily for three weeks, and packers say that with corn at 81 cents a bushel the farmers are not feeding it to cattle.

Potatoes, too, are selling at record prices, and scarcity of production is given as the cause. A Washington market dealer said today that if it had not been for the importation of low grade English potatoes recently there would have been a potato famine in New York.

The marketing committee of the state food investigating commission has been told that there is an extreme shortage in butter.

Lays It to Range Farming.

William E. Skinner of Denver, president of the International Livestock Exposition association, who is in this city, says:

"We have got into bad shape in this country through not having been prepared for the period through which we passed during the last five years. I mean the farming of the range. In other words, the range has almost entirely disappeared, and most of the land formerly given over to grazing has been settled by farmers."

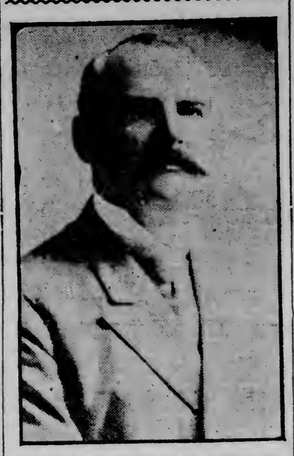
FOREST COUNTY'S ATTORNEY CLEARED

Wisconsin Official Not Guilty of Malfeasance, Says Examiner.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—John F. Hooper, district attorney of Forest county, against whom removal charges were brought, today was exonerated on every charge by Philip Lehner, agent to the governor, who was appointed by Governor McGovern to hear the evidence. The decision was filed in the governor's office. Charges of malfeasance in office and official misconduct were filed against Mr. Hooper last February.

PACIFIER OF LATIN REPUBLICS IS DEAD



THOMAS CLELAND DAWSON.

T. C. DAWSON PASSES AWAY

Noted Diplomat Born at Hudson, Wis., Forty-Six Years Ago.

Washington, May 1. — Thomas Cleland Dawson, resident diplomatic officer of the state department, died here early today after an illness of several weeks with a complication of diseases. He was 46 years of age and a native of Hudson, Wis. Mrs. Dawson who married the diplomat in Brazil in 1897, and several children survive him.

"The Great Pacificator."

Mr. Dawson was famous for his skill in handling difficult Latin-American problems. He was regarded in Latin-America as "the great pacificator," and time and again the services of "Tom" Dawson, as he was familiarly known, were in demand to smooth things out when two of the smaller republics to the south were ready to fly at each other's throats, or relations between one of them and the United States had been strained to the breaking point.

Beginning his college career at Harvard, Mr. Dawson graduated at Hanover college, Indiana, and later took a law course in Cincinnati and was admitted to the bar. Then he established a newspaper at Enterprise, Fla. From 1886 to 1889 he practiced law in Iowa, and after another try at journalism was elected assistant attorney general of Iowa, which position he held from 1891 until 1894.

Became Diplomat in 1897.

He began his diplomatic career in 1897, when he was appointed secretary of the legation in Brazil. After serving with marked distinction as minister to several of the Latin-American countries, he came to Washington as resident diplomatic officer in 1907. Since then he had been sent to Central America on various important missions.

COMPLETING JURY FOR ALLEN TRIAL

Murder of Prosecuting Attorney First Charge to Be Taken Up.

Wytheville, Va., May 1.—With twelve accepted jurors in the box, examination of veniremen to complete the jury for the trial of Floyd Allen was continued today. It was expected that the required sixteen men would be secured before the day was over. The defense has the right to strike off four names.

The prisoner, one of the leaders of the gang that killed the judge, sheriff, prosecutor, a juror and a spectator in the Carroll courthouse, March 14, is being tried first for the murder of Commonwealth's Attorney Foster. He is under indictment for all of the killings, and his sons, Claude and Victor, and his nephews, Friel Allen, Sidna Edwards and Byrd Marion, are in jail here awaiting trial on the same charges.

INSTALL BISHOP OF DES MOINES DIOCESE.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 1.—Rev. Austin Dowling, formerly of Providence, R. I., will be formally installed as bishop of the new Catholic diocese Des Moines tonight. At the same time St. Ambrose's church, one of the oldest religious edifices in the city will be consecrated as the diocesean cathedral. The new bishop will arrive shortly after 6 o'clock, under escort of a large committee of Catholics and non-Catholics.

METHODISTS IN MILL CITY

Twenty-Fifth Quadrennial General Conference Is Begun.

Amusement Question Already Foremost in Delegates' Minds.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Standing on a platform with twenty other bishops from this and foregn countries, Bishop Henry W. Warren of Denver, Colo., today formally convened the twenty-fifth quadrennial general gathering of the Methodist Episcopal church in the presence of 850 delegates.

Several thousand ministers and laymen who were not delegates contributed to forming what was said to be the largest assemblage of Methodists in the history of the church. Delegates from points as distant as Finland, South Africa, South America and Asia, some of whom were dressed in native costumes, were brought together when Bishop Warren, the oldest active leader in the church, ordered the roll call.

Hundredth Anniversary.

It was pointed out that this marked the 100th anniversary of the conference to which regularly elected delegates were sent, as after the organiza-

WILL FIGHT THE TAPLINE RULING

St. Louis Lumbermen Face Big Losses Through Traffic Decision.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—Officers of St. Louis lumbermen's organizations announced today they had completed arrangements for an immediate fight against the ruling of the interstate commerce commission declaring lumber taplines not common carriers, and cutting them off from a weekly income of thousands of dollars through rate divisions.

The lumbermen plan to file a petition for an injunction against all the big roads of the southwest to prevent them from putting the new tariffs into effect.

These tariffs have been suspended almost a year, but were released by the ruling. If they are put into effect they will cut off hundreds of short roads in the southwest from a portion of the through rate on traffic handled over them and the big trunk lines.

Terrible Conditions Prevail in the Black River Section.

Torras, La., May 1.—Relief is being rushed to hundreds of marooned families in the flooded territory north of this place. Food depots have been fixed at points convenient for purposes of distribution.

Terrible conditions prevail in the Black river section. In many instances parents and their children have taken refuge on rafts, which they share with livestock.

A. S. Simmons, who arrived from a trip over Concordia, Catahoula and Tensas parishes, says that all of these parishes are under water with the exception of a few towns protected by levees.

Homeless and Destitute.

"The inhabitants are homeless and destitute," he said. "Five thousand white persons along the Black river are in a desperate fix. The government supplies received there are inadequate.

"Many families, expecting the flood, built rafts, and when the water came they moved their household goods aboard. Horses, cows, pigs, chickens, dogs and cats are sharing these rafts with the farmers and their families. The rafts are anchored to trees and that's the way they are living now.

"The bellowing of the cattle could be heard a great distance. The people not only need food for themselves, but provender for their livestock."

The water continued to rise in this district yesterday, the guage at the Torras bridge showing an advance of 4-10 within twenty-four hours.

Mississippi Rising.

Cairo, Ill., May 1.—The Mississippi river at this point registered a depth of 47 feet this morning, a rise of nine-tenths of a foot since last night. It still was rising.

The drainage district north of the city was under five feet of water at sunrise and the entire country south of here is rapidly being inundated.

GEORGIA VOTING ON DEMOCRATS

Presidential Primary Is Held With Four Names on Ballots.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—Primaries to determine for whom Georgia's vote in the Democratic national convention shall be cast are being held in Georgia today. The names of Woodrow Wilson, Oscar Underwood, Champ Clark and Judson Harmon appear on the ballots in most of the counties. It is conceded that the real contest is between the New Jersey governor and the Alabama congressman.

WAITING FOR THE VAN.

MASSACHUSETTS VOTES AT CHICAGO WILL SPLIT EVEN ON TAFT AND TEDDY

BOTH SUITED BY RETURNS

Roosevelt Claims Victory in the Massachusetts Primaries.

Taft Much Pleased at Winning the Preferential Vote.

New York, May 1.—Col. Roosevelt was in high feather today. He was greatly pleased, he said, with the result in Massachusetts, which, in the light of incomplete returns, he regarded as a great victory.

Col. Roosevelt declined, however, to say more until more complete returns had been received.

Taft Likes the News.

Savannah, Ga., May 1.—President Taft received his first information of the results of the Massachusetts primaries when he reached here. The first intimation of the closeness of the fight in the Bay State came to Mr. Taft at breakfast, when he saw a Savannah paper.

He eagerly inquired for later developments as soon as he was comfortably settled in the home of Gen. W. W. Gordon, his host on this visit. The information that he was leading in the preferential vote pleased the president greatly, and he was hopeful that later news might be still more encouraging.

Aside from the Hibernian banquet tonight the committee on arrangements had mapped out a program for Mr. Taft's stay here that included luncheon at the Thunderbolt Casino, a short talk to students at the Georgia State Industrial college and a reception to the Savannah Yale alumni.

HOWARD LAKE MAN SECOND

Rock Island, Ill., May 1.—The annual national convention of the Christian Patriots, formerly known as the United Christian party, was held here today. The party will present as standard bearers at the forthcoming national election Daniel B. Turney of Decatur, Ill., and Samuel C. Carter of Howard Lake, Minn., as candidates for president and vice president.

EUGENE N. FOSS, Democratic Governor of Massachusetts.

NO FUND FOR TRADE COURT

Cuts Pay of President's Secretary and Abolishes Three Mints.

Washington, May 1.—By failing to report an appropriation for the recently created commerce court, the house committee on appropriations today sought to abolish that tribunal. The general supplybi ll for the legislative, judicial and executive branches of the government is a wholesale attempt at reduction of government expenses.

The bill proposes a reduction of the salary of the secretary to the president from $7,500 to $6,000, the old figure, and the abolition in the department of commerce and labor of the bureaus of manufactures and statistics.

It is further proposed to abolish the mints at San Francisco, New Orleans and Carson City, Nev., and the assay offices at Boise, Ida., Charlotte, N. C., Deadwood, S. D., Helena, Mont., Seattle, Wash., and Salt Lake City, Utah. San Francisco would get an assay office in lieu of its mint.

KANSAS WOMEN KEEN FOR BALLOT

Famous Speakers From Other States to Take Part in Rally.

Wichita, Kan., May 1.—"Kansas must not fail!"

That is to be the slogan used by the women of this state in their fight for suffrage. The campaign, already on, is to receive its great impetus at Wichita, May 7, 8 and 9, when the Kansas Equal Suffrage association meets in twenty-ninth annual convention with Rev. Olympia Brown-Willis of Racine, Wis., and Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, as guests of honor and 1,000 of the leading women of the state as delegates.

Celebrates 101st Birthday.

Redwood Falls, Minn., May 1.—Michael Skones, a retired farmer, celebrated his 101st birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hojen, near this city, Monday. Mr. Skones is hale and hearty. He reads well without the aid of glasses and is active around his sister's farm. He has not spent a cent for medical services for more than fifty years.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

President Taft submitted special message saying there was no evidence that Japanese had acquired or attempted to secure land at Magdalena Bay.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Considered miscellaneous legislation on regular calendar.

Appropriations committee failed to report an appropriation for the commerce court.

DEMOCRATS GIVE FOSS MAJORITY

Taft Wins Preference Vote, But Delegates-at-Large Go to Roosevelt.

ROOSEVELT GIVES UP HIS CLAIM TO EIGHT

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 1.—Col. Roosevelt renounced his claim today to the eight delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention elected for him in Massachusetts yesterday. He telegraphed that he would expect them to vote for President Taft, taking this action, he said, because of the fact that President Taft carried the state on the presidential preferential vote.

Boston, Mass., May 1.—Massachusetts emerged today from her first presidential preferential primary election to find that the Republican voters had expressed a preference for the renomination of President Taft, but notwithstanding, had given Theodore Roosevelt eighteen of the thirty-six delegates to the national convention.

The Democratic voters of the state expressed a preference for Speaker Champ Clark, although a majority of the delegates to Baltimore will go pledged to Governor Foss.

Democratic (presidential preference):

UNDERWOOD LEADS FLORIDA PRIMARY

Third Congressional District Apparently Safe for Wilson.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 1.—Oscar W. Underwood has won the Florida presidential primary over Governor Woodrow Wilson, if incomplete returns from yesterday's balloting are not materially changed. The count of votes has been slow.

The Third congressional district (Pensacola) went for Governor Wilson, according to incomplete returns. It is indicated he received a majority of about 1,000.

ROOSEVELT MEN IN FULL CONTROL

Pennsylvania Republican Convention Opens at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 1. — The Republican state convention in session here today is under the control of the Roosevelt forces, headed by Former State Senator William Flinn of Pittsburg. Before the convention adjourned it is planned by the Flinn men to put through a program that will be progressive from top to bottom.

The regular Republican organization, which has lost control of the state organization as a result of the primary vote cast on April 13, has but one candidate in the field, Charles F. Wright of Susquehanna county, the state treasurer, who seeks a renomination.

The Roosevelt slate for the four candidates to be nominated for congressmen-at-large is as follows:

Fred A. Lewis, Allentown; John M. Morin, Pittsburg; Arthur P. Rupley, Carlisle; Anderson H. Walters, Johnstown.

Wason for Chairman.

The caucus last night selected Henry G. Wason of Pittsburg for state chairman to succeed Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia, and W. Nevin Dietrich of Chambersburg for secretary of the state committee to succeed W. Harry Baker, Harrisburg.

The Penrose men have held no caucus.

PLATFORM LAUDS TEDDY

Pennsylvania Republican Convention Likens Him to Lincoln.

Calls Him Leader Raised By People's Spirit to Destroy Privilege.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 1.—The platform adopted by the Republican state convention today was devoted in large part to a recital of the growth of "special privileges" in this country. Financial and industrial combinations that dominate the social, business and political life of the nation, the platform declares, have grown up since the extinction of the first "special privilege" —human slavery.

"This rule of special privilege," the platform says, "was builded:

"On illicit favors from boss controlled legislatures.

"On the political power to select sympathetic judges; and on the rulings of courts which viewed life through narrow legal formalism, rather than in the broad spirit of social and economic justice."

Lincoln and Roosevelt.

"The guiding spirit of the people," the platform continues, "had raised a Lincoln to destroy special privileges of his day. The same power now raises another leader, Theodore Roosevelt, fashioned by temperament, character and human experience, to direct the battle against special privilege of our own time.

"Obeying the clear mandate of the Republican voters of Pennsylvania, we pledge our support to Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican nomination for president of the United States."

The party is pledged by the platform to these, among other principles:

Direct primaries for all condidates for public office.

Election of United States senators by direct vote.

Limitation of the amount that may be contributed and spent in any general election.

Imprisonment to be the penalty for wilful violation of laws governing elections.

HERALDS COMING OF ELSIE JANIS.

George H Murray, one of the best known theatrical advance managers of the country, is in the city arranging the details for the appearance of Miss Elsie Janis in "The Slim Princess" at the Lyceum theater on Saturday, May 11. Mr. Murray has been a very frequent visitor to Duluth for the past five or six seasons, having in that time brought us such attractions as Mme. Bernhardt, Montgomery and Stone, "Florodora," "The Red Mill," "The Silver Slipper" and other big attractions. This is the first time that Miss Janis has ever appeared in this city. She is making her first transcontinental tour, stopping at only the principal cities. Mr. Murray says that the original cast and production as given at Mr. Dillingham's Globe theater in New York city for an entire year will be given here intact. It is quite evident there will be no matinee performance. The company goes from here to Chicago direct, opening Monday, May 13, at the Studebaker theater for an indefinite season.

Tape provided with eyelets for fastening, as well as some material with buttonholes, may now be bought by the yard. Hooks and eyes on tape, sold by the yard is another great convenience for the busy housewoman.

CONFER ON TEST CASE

C. M. King Believes Elwell Law Will Be Held Constitutional.

Says Meeting at International Falls Will Be Best in History.

C. M. King of Deer River, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association and chairman of the good roads committee of that body is in Duluth today. He talked over the case testing the constitutionality of the Elwell road law with C. E. Adams, attorney for the association in the action.

The case, which was brought by the mayor of White Bear in the district court of Ramsey county, will be argued before the supreme court next Monday, May 6. The constitutionality of the Elwell law was upheld by Judge Lewis of the Ramsey county court and was appealed to the supreme court by the plaintiff.

"I believe the supreme court will sustain Judge Lewis' decision," said Mr. King. "I am satisfied that the law is constitutional."

Mr. King says that as soon as legal obstacles are removed, the good roads work of the association will go on with renewed impetus. Matters are in such shape that good progress can be made as soon as the injunction is dissolved, if it is to be dissolved.

Mr. King believes that the next meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association at International Falls will be the biggest and best meeting in the history of the association.

"I have been around considerably and the people are enthusiastic over the future of the association," said Mr. King. "I was at International Falls recently and the people there are preparing to give the association a royal welcome. The hotel accommodations are ample and the association will meet under the most favorable circumstances."

Incidentally Mr. King set at rest rumors that he would be a candidate for the legislature from the Fifty-second district. He said that he has no ambitions in that direction. "I can imagine no circumstances which may arise that could induce me to become a candidate," he said.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

The partnership heretofore existing between James J. Gannon and F. W. Neuman, doing business under the name of Duluth Auto Supply company, at number 412 East Superior street, Duluth, Minn., has this day been dissolved. James J. Gannon retiring from said firm, and F. W. Neuman continuing said business. Said F. W. Neuman assumes all debts and liabilities of the said firm, and is to collect all outstanding accounts in favor of said firm.

SUPERIOR

CHANGE IS MADE IN PAVING SPECIFICATIONS.

It is likely that Tower avenue at the intersection with North Third street will be paved with plain macadam instead of the permanent material to be put in on the main thoroughfare of the city as already proposed.

Owing to the protestations of D. R. Long, who represents Dr. W. J. Conan, owner of the two-story brick building on the corner of Tower avenue and Third street, the paving specifications as ordered prepared by the council did not provide for having the northern limit of the paving at North First street instead of the northern line of North Third street.

Final action may not be taken tonight by the commission as it is necessary to provide new specifications.

Playground Expert.

The Public Welfare society has placed the matter of engaging an expert for supervising the playgrounds and directing the outdoor recreations of the boys and girls of this city into the hands of the city commissioners, who are seriously considering on employing such a person for the summer. If such is the case the expert will be secured from Madison through the university authorities.

MAY ADJOURN FRIDAY.

Wisconsin Legislature Likely to Have But Short Session.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—Adjournment of the special session of the legislature Friday night, if not sooner, is the plan of the administration leaders. It is understood an agreement has been made to give immediate consideration to all bills in committee so that they may be reported back at this afternoon's session. It is contemplated than an evening session and an all day meeting tomorrow will practically clean up the calendar.

Senator Krumrey said today the legislature may be ready to quit Friday night, leaving only a handful of members to remain to receive any communications the governor may offer.

STUB ROO TONIC!

E. A. JOHNSON.

Manufacturer Stub Roo Tonic.

Duluth, Minn., June 28, 1909.
Stub-Roo Medical Co.:
Your Stub-Roo Tonic is a good medicine. It has made good to me. I have been sick for two years with consumption. I spit blood and had hard pains in my breast. I was attended by a doctor for one year, but was steadily failing in health. I had almost given up hope when I heard of Stuh-Roo Tonic. I decided to try it, and after using it for six weeks I began to feel better. I sent for the same doctor who had attended me before and had him examine my lungs and he was surprised to find me so much improved and in a fair way to recovery. He said my lungs were healed but that I was still weak. Now I am in good health and my neighbors are all surprised over my recovery. I can recommend Stuh-Roo Tonic to any one in poor health. It is no fake.
Yours respectfully,

A GOLD BOND CIRCULATION

The Herald is a high-class, 2-cent newspaper with an established clientele of over 28,000 subscribers won entirely on merit. The Herald has never found it necessary to resort to the guessing scheme or premium method of artifically "boosting" circulation. If a subscriber wishes a frying pan, razor strop, mouse trap or other articles usually used as a bait, The Herald will direct him (or her) to a store that sells the same article for less money than the premium newspaper can supply it for. The Herald gives its readers and its advertisers full value first, last and always.

Weather: Generally cloudy with showers tonight or Thursday; not much change in temperature; light winds.

WEATHER MAN ADDS TO THE HORRORS OF MOVING DAY

Today's rain came in the midst of moving.

If you have ever moved in the rain, you may have some knowledge of what the little drops of water will do to the mahogany table top or to the highly varnished surface of the piano. Sand and rain mixed makes an ingredient that makes the head of the house say things that should be confined to the business office and garage.

But despite the rain the van people say that moving is going on today. The van companies of the city are being taxed to their capacity today and the outlook for the next two days is that all records for moving will be broken.

With the rain falling heavily early this morning some called up and cancelled orders. But with the first signs of clearing the vans were out. There is so much work for the different companies that apparently no time is being wasted.

CASHED JUDGE'S CHECK TO BUY ROUND OF CIGARS

Without due process of law, Judge Homer B. Dibell of the district court was unknowingly and unwittingly conspired against by several well known and duly licensed attorneys-at-law and was unconsciously cajoled into purchasing cigars for the assemblage after the opening of the May term of court today.

His Honor, although not present in person, bought the cigars for the crowd at a down-town store. And the crowd consisted of friendly attorneys who were "in" on the joke and who were fortunate enough to be present when the cigars was bought.

It all came about through the finding of a $10 check drawn to the order of Judge Dibell and properly indorsed by His Honor. The aforesaid instrument was discovered in one of the courtrooms by a prominent member of the local bar association, who conceived the ingenious idea of making the judge the victim of a practical joke.

The check before it was cashed downtown, not only had the indorsement of Judge Dibell, but also contained the signatures of several prominent attorneys of the city, who were present at the call of the calendar at the opening of the new term this morning.

Judge Dibell is in Minneapolis today.

REASON FOR DISMISSAL

Chicago Grain Men Wanted to Argue Both Grievances at Once.

Duluth Interested in Attack on Unfair Advantage Given Minneapolis.

Charles F. Macdonald, secretary of the Duluth Board of Trade, who recently returned from Chicago, where he represented the board at a hearing held before Examiner G. B. Boyle on the complaint made by the Chicago Board of Trade against the proportional rates on flour from Minneapolis to Chicago, said today that the published statement to the effect that the Chicago interests allowed the case to be dismissed by reason of dissatisfaction with the examiner's conduct of the case, is wrong.

Mr. Macdonald said that the real reason why Chicago consented to have the case dismissed was that the complaint filed by the Chicago interests only covered one grievance, whereas there were really two and Chicago desired to argue on both at one hearing.

The complaint filed by the Chicago board merely spoke of the 7½ cent rate on flour shipped from Minneapolis to Chicago, while it cost 10 cents to ship wheat over the same routes. Chicago's other grievance was that of the through coast rate of 25 cents on flour from Minneapolis to the Atlantic ports, the charge for that part of the haul from Minneapolis to Chicago was only 8.3 cents, while the rate on wheat over that same distance was 10 cents.

The railroad attorneys asked for a postponement in order that they might prepare a defense on both charges. The Chicago interests did not care to divide the hearing on the separate charges, or to have the matter postponed, knowing that the railroads would gain great advantage by the delay, and would have time to draw on great stores of data that are in their own hands and practically available for no other interests. As the examiner ruled that both grievances could not be argued under one complaint, the Chicago attorney decided that he did not care to give the other side further time, and accordingly allowed the case to be dismissed. It is understood, however, that the same issues will be involved in some other action to be brought against the railroads at a future date.

Duluth commercial interests were as much in favor of having the special flour rates for Minneapolis cut out as were those who brought the action on behalf of Chicago.

EXPECTS BIG TOURIST SEASON

J. A. Hickey, manager of the New St. Louis hotel, is already making plans for the approaching tourist season. Reservations have been made at the St. Louis for the month of June, and judging from this Mr. Hickey is of the opinion that this summer Duluth will have one of the best tourist travel seasons in the history of the city.

"From what I have been able to learn from the various steamship lines, tourist travel is going to be very heavy this season," said Mr. Hickey yesterday. "We have had several early reservations at the St. Louis, which is a very good indication for the season."

Members of the rotary club dined at the St. Louis yesterday, when plans were made for the coming convention.

EXCURSIONS TO DULUTH

Greater Duluth Club Will Bring Visitors to the City.

Programs Will Be Arranged for One Day Every Two Weeks.

Plans have been completed by the Greater Duluth club for excursion days during the coming summer, when excursions will be run to Duluth from the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges and points to the south and west.

As the plans are made at the present time there will be an excursion every two weeks. There will be a Vermilion Range Day and a Mesaba Range Day and special inducements will be offered to get the merchants and business men of the various range towns to visit Duluth. Duluth stores will be decorated and programs will be arranged for the visitors.

The first special excursion will be made for the art exhibition, which will be held here early in June. The excursions will be held from June 1 to September 1.

The committee that will have charge of the various arrangements is composed of B. Silberstein, chairman; J. J. Moe, B. F. Neff, C. S. Mitchell and S. H. Bingham.

TAXES DUE ON VEHICLES

May 1 Is Also Date for Obtaining New Dog License Tags.

Miscellaneous taxes and license fees become due the city of Duluth today.

The most important of these is the wheelage tax. Under the provisions of the ordinances vehicles of all kinds are obliged to pay fees in proportion to their size. The horse-drawn rigs are regulated according to the number of horses on them, the auto-trucks according to their tonnage and automobiles in proportion to their horse power.

The owners will have a reasonable time in which to settle with the city. The delinquents will then be checked up by the special detective working under the direction of the legal department, and if his notice is not observed, warrants will be issued for the arrest of those who are operating without the 1912 tags.

Among the others the dog licenses give much trouble. For several years past, since the employment of a "dog catcher" was discontinued, the sums received from this source has been below the normal. It is believed that the city has scores of dogs for which no license is paid.

The council is granting a large number of licenses to replace those which expire today.

AUTO SHOW IS POPULAR

That the people of Duluth and vicinity appreciate the efforts of Glen S. Locker, agent for Mitchell motor cars, in giving them a full-fledged mid-winter automobile show in April is shown by the large attendance at the Mitchell motor show being held this week by Mr. Locker at his garage and salesroom, 922 East Superior street.

The entire exhibit of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company as shown on the mid-winter show circuit has been shipped to Duluth for the first annual spring show which Mr. Locker intends to hold every year.

As a motor buying center Duluth has long been famous and the spring show was decided upon for the convenience of those families who want to buy cars but who are usually traveling in January and February when the Twin City motor shows are on.

Ever since Monday morning there has been a good crowd in attendance inspecting the 1912 models of this popular company and several sales are reported closed by Mr. Locker and his assistants. Interest centers around the white enameled chassis of the Mitchell five-passenger, six-cylinder car, selling for $1,750. This model is a new one put out this year by the Mitchell-Lewis Motor company, and its success in Duluth will be a duplicate of that achieved everywhere else it has been shown.

The fact that Mitchell cars have long been famous for their long stroke motors and that this type of motor is especially effective on hills, makes the performance of this Mitchell six more than interesting to prospective buyers in Duluth. Of all the cars comprising the Mitchell line for 1912, this five-passenger six has struck the buying public's fancy the hardest. A close second, however, is the "old reliable" Big Six Mitchell, the seven-passenger 60-horse power car which first made its appearance in 1909, selling at $2,250.

"BOB-TAIL" DISCHARGES FOR BADGER MILITIAMEN.

Neenah, Wis., May 1.—In the effort to effect better discipline, Capt. J. B. Schneller, commanding Company I, W. N. G., has issued "bob-tail" discharges to several members of the company. They refused to attend drill. To be served with a discharge of this nature deprives the recipient of the right ever to hold a government position. The next serious discharge deprives the person of citizenship.

ASSESSORS BEGIN WORK

Twenty-Three Deputies Are Valuing Duluth Citizens' Personal Property.

Are Instructed to Be Polite and Accommodating to Taxpayers.

Today the city assessor's department began its personal property assessment and the completion of the real estate valuation which has been under way the last two years.

A force of twenty-three deputies went to work in all parts of the city today under instructions from Assessor Scott and Mayor McCuen. Both officials talked to the deputies and advised them to be thorough in all respects. In addition to that they are to be polite and accommodating and have no quarrels with the people with whom they come in contact. If they have trouble they are to overlook it temporarily and then get advice from the office as to further procedure.

The city has been divided into districts and much of the work classified. Some men are measuring up the lumber on the docks. Others assess the coal, others the different kinds of retail stores, the wholesale houses and residences, while one man is devoting his whole attention to statements of credits, which are taxed under the new law.

The department believes that the work has been so arranged that it will be possible to finish the entire assessment in record time and turn the books over to the county auditor before the time specified by law.

Practically all the work of assessing real estate and buildings has been completed. Measurements heave been taken of all structures in the city and their values computed on a scientific scale. All lots have been checked up and their values ascertained. About all that remains is to close up the books.

It is expected that when the totals are ascertained they will show quite a considerable increase, probably running into several millions of dollars.

CURE SICK WITH NATURAL AGENCIES

Electricity Benefits Humanity—Incurable Chronic Trouble No Longer Considered Incurable.

During the last few days the Electro Medical doctors at No. 26 West Superior street have received a great many patients who have suffered for many years. There is hardly anything more wonderful than the method of these doctors, and it probably would be hard to find people who are more happy than those who have been treated by the Electro Medical method. Mrs. Gustafson of Duluth said that she has been troubled with stomach trouble for the last eleven years and there was nothing which did cure her; she had received only three treatments and feels entirely free from pain and feels at least ten years younger. She said that a thousand dollars would not be as welcome to her as her health is now. Among other patients was a man whose left arm was paralyzed for ten months; he spent six months in the hospital without getting any better; a few treatments have brought new life in the arm so that he can move it fairly well. The doctors say that there is absolutely nothing wonderful in the treatments, nor is there any mystery in the rapid improvement of the patients. While the patient is put under the influence of 20,000 volts of Electro-X-Ray power, every tissue in the body gets new life and the patient has the most pleasant feeling. This Electro Medical power is so strong that the uric acid crystals are dissolved in the blood as well as in the joints and other poisons which are the cause of so many diseases are carried away and the nerves, the stomach or the joints are made healthy in the most natural way.

Healing disease through the medium of high electro-medical power is but a natural phenomenon whereby the nerves and vitality itself is restored and liberated from disease and the blood will flow unobstructed through the veins and arteries of the body.

Electricity has been the master key which has unlocked the doors which have revealed nearly all of the important discoveries up to the present time and there is no doubt that the solution of the medicine difficulty lies in electricity.

The trend of science on all sides is to electricity. Discoveries made hour by hour point to one grand conclusion—the bed-rock of Nature is electricity. Life, force and mind are intimately connected with electricity. A man, brain and body, is a battery, and the nerves correspond to wires. The power that drives the body is electricity. Life is electricity.

The word health now means a normal supply of electricity in the body, and the word disease means an insufficiency of that power.

It will be but a matter of a few years when the public will look back on the days of the calomel, quinine, strychnine, liver pills, stomach powders, etc., and these days will seem just as distant as the days of stage coaches.

That does not say that the doctors are strictly opposed to medicines. Greater, however, than all power of medicines, in the art of curing diseases, is the power of medical electricity. The Electro Medical doctors desire a few more cases of people who found no cure elsewhere. They will accept them for half the fee. Those, however, who are poor and cannot pay will be treated free of charge. There are separate waiting rooms for men and women and so are the treating rooms. All consultations are free, 9 to 12, 1 to 5, 6 to 8, and Sundays 10 to 1.

FRED G. HANSON HEADS WEST END SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Fred G. Hanson of 2618 West Fourth street was elected president of the West end district of the St. Louis County Sunday School association at its annual institute meeting held last evening at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. Mr. Hanson represented the Central Baptist church at the meeting.

The other officers chosen for the year are as follows: Charles E. Dice, Grace M. E. church, vice president; Elnar Jacobson, First Swedish Baptist church, secretary; O. A. Anderson, Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, treasurer; Charles Pearson, Swedish Baptist, superintendent of Bible school; Miss Minnie Mine, teachers' training superintendent.

The First Swedish Baptist Sunday school won the banner for having the largest percentage of attendance at the meeting. Every West end school was represented. A. M. Locker of St. Paul, general secretary of the Minnesota Sunday School association, gave the principal address, speaking on "The Standards of Sunday School Work." Other addresses were given by Charles Little of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., Loren Jones and Dr. R. W. Bowden.

This evening the institute meeting of the East end will be held at the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and First street.

NEW CLUB IS PROSPERING

More Than 100 Applications for Membership Are Received.

Committee Explaining Gardening Plans to West End Schools.

More than 100 applications for membership to the new West End Commercial club have already been received by William L. Anderson, secretary of the organization.

That the West end believes in the new commercial club and its possible work is shown by the interest taken among residents of this end of the city. Nearly every business man has signed for membership to the club. These names will be introduced and voted on at the regular meeting of the club Friday evening. The meeting will be held at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, which is to be the home of the club for the present. The meeting Friday is to be open to the public as several prominent speakers are to address the club on the initiative, referendum and recall amendment, which comes up for election next Tuesday.

The following committee, which was appointed to start the gardening and cleaning-up campaign for the West end, is now working among the school children of this end of the city: Dr. O. A. Oredson, L. A. Simonson and John Wahl. The members have appeared at the various schools and explained the prize plan, which the club adopted last week. Swanstrom Bros. have donated $5 to the present fund of $25, which was raised by the members of the club last Friday evening.

The prizes are to be awarded to children under 15 years for the most beautiful garden, the most artistic garden and the best vegetable garden. The first prize will be $10, while the other prizes will be $5 each for exceptional features. The teachers are taking interest in the plan and a number of garden experts are to be secured to address the school children from time to time.

MAY DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED

Socialists of the City Will March to Lincoln Park.

Weather permitting, the Socialists of this city will hold their annual May day celebration at the Lincoln park pavilion this evening. It was announced this morning that the parade will start in front of the postoffice, if it is not raining at the time.

Every Socialist organization in the city will take part in the celebration and a large delegation is expected here from Superior. The Finnish, Scandinavian and English speaking Socialist organizations are all to take part in the meeting at the park pavilion. Speakers from each society have been been secured to address the assembly following the parade. About 1,000 Socialists are expected to participate in the celebration.

CUT-OFF USED FOR FIRST TIME

At 6:18 o'clock this morning the Twenty-first avenue west cut-off was used for the first time. The regular East Fourth and Grand avenue car left Seventy-first avenue west at 5:55 o'clock and reached the new cut-off at 6:18. The car went down the avenue to Superior street, where it turned and continued on to East Fourth street.

A large number of West end residents took advantage of the new car system this morning. The first car was packed to its capacity by early risers, who were anxious to have the first ride over the new cut-off. The cars will use the new cut-off in the future, abandoning the Third street track from Piedmont avenue to Twenty-first avenue west.

West end business men are all pleased with the change in the street car system in this end of the city. The J. J. Moe & Sons' department store, 2102 West Superior street, and the Anderson-Thoorsell Furniture company, 2032 West Superior street, are celebrating the opening of the line by presenting the West end women with flowers during the day. Luncheon is also being served at the Moe store and a special musical program is being given this afternoon.

MIDSUMMER DAY PLANS

Swedish-American National League Making Ready for Annual Festival.

Occasion Will Be Fittingly Celebrated By Parade and Program June 24.

Final plans for the second annual Midsummer's day festival to be held, June 24, by the Swedish-American National league of Duluth will be made tomorrow evening at a meeting at Bachelors' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street.

Preliminary plans were made two weeks ago, when committees were appointed to arrange details for the day's celebration. Invitations are being sent to prominent Swedish-Americans, such as Adolph O. Eberhart, governor of Minnesota; Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh of Little Falls, Minn.; Congressman I. L. Lenroot of Superior, Wis., and Rev. Dr. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis. Other prominent state and national men of Swedish birth are to be invited to speak at the festival.

Committees, appointed two weeks ago, will make their first reports tomorrow. They are as follows:

Publicity—Helmer Ogren, A. E. Lund and George Johnson.

Finance—E. A Lund, C. J. Carlson and Ernest Larson.

Decoration—Charles Bostrum, chairman, and the whole league.

Parade—Charles Pearson, A. B. Velander, Charles Erickson, Andrew Herngren and Charles Bostrum.

According to the present plans, the celebration will start with a parade from the Armory, Second avenue east and First street to Lincoln park, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, where the celebration proper will be held. Mayor J. A. McCuen will open the affair with an address of welcome. A program of musical numbers and recitations, will be rendered during the afternoon. Refreshments will be served by various auxiliary organizations.

In the evening the entire park will be illuminated with thousands of incandescent lights. The following musical novelty, "En Midsonmarnatt i Dalarni," or "A Midsummer's Night in Dalecarlia," will be given as the last feature of the day's program. The cast of characters for the play will also be announced later.

The following West end societies and organizations are represented in the league, which includes a special committee of each respective organization: Order of Vasa, S. S. H. & E. F., International Order of Good Templars, Svea Glee club, Orpheus Singing society and the Independent Order of Svithiod. The officers for the present year are Andrew Hornegren, president; Louis Levine, vice president; George Johnson, secretary and A. T. Lind, treasurer.

REHEARSING FOR AMATEUR PLAYLET.

The Delta Gamma club of the West end will hold a special rehearsal of the musical playlet, "The Dress Rehearsal," at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street this evening. Following the rehearsal the members will hold a short business session and decide on the exact date when the performance will be given. It was announced yesterday afternoon that the play will be presented at the Woodmen hall between May 15 and 20, probably Friday evening, May 17.

The Delta Gamma club is an organization composed of a number of West end women for the purpose of presenting amateur theatricals from time to time. The proceeds of the present production will be used to help the various benevolent organizations of the West end.

Hanson-Olson.

Miss Marie Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hanson, 912 North Twenty-second avenue west, and John Olson were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. O. J. Flagstad read the service, which was followed by a wedding supper served at 6:30 o'clock for the immediate friends and relatives. About sixty guests were present at the services. Mr. and Mrs. Olson left last evening for a short visit with relatives in the Twin Cities, after which they will make their home in the West end.

"LIE LOW AND WAIT"

West Enders Will Do Nothing on License Until After May 7.

If Charter Amendments Carry, Recall Petitions May Be Started.

"Lie low and wait until May 7" is to be the watchword of the West end committee representing the 1,194 residents who signed the petition Sunday objecting to the extension of the patrol limits to Twenty-fourth avenue west.

The committee of sixteen members, with its chairman, Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, visited the mayor's office yesterday for the purpose of learning his stand on the matter. As the council, by a vote of 9 to 7, extended the saloon license of T. Pinsonnault to 2403 West Superior street, the special committee visited the mayor yesterday as a last resort to have the action of the council rescinded. The members of the committee waited for more than two hours, but Mayor McCuen did not appear at his office.

Rev. C. G. Olson and Rev. Milton Fish left the party waiting in the executive office and left for Mayor McCuen's office in the New Jersey building. They were told to return to the city hall and wait another fifteen minutes as the mayor was busy. This they did and waited until 12 o'clock when Mr. Truax, private secretary to the mayor, closed the offices for the noon hour.

Members Indignant.

The members of the committee are indignant at the treatment they received at the hands of Mayor McCuen. They are now planning a concerted action in behalf of the recall amendment, which will come up at the special election next Tuesday.

Rev. Mr. Olson, chairman of the committee, said this morning in speaking of the reception accorded the committee yesterday: "The mayor has literally slapped our faces by refusing to hear our plea yesterday morning. We waited from 10:15 o'clock until noon and all that time the mayor kept on promising to come over. It was a direct insult and we are just going to wait and see what happens.

"The mayor of this city could at least have told us that he did not care to see anyone fighting the saloon. He might have told Rev. Mr. Fish and myself when we called at his office that he only saw those that were behind the saloon. The committee did not consist of ministers, but of the most prominent business and professional men of the West End. Two of West end's women were also present, as were two former members of the city council. Is that fair treatment to a citizen of the United States?"

"We represented over 1,100 people of the West end," said Rev. Milton Fish this morning, "and it was the mayor's duty to hear us. If the mayor of Duluth only attends to his executive duties when he finds leisure time, then the recall will prove a profitable thing for this city. When a mayor refuses to hear the voters of his city, by whom he is employed to serve his best, then it is time to call a halt. It is the mayor's business to be in his executive offices a certain number of hours a day. Our committee was kept waiting for two hours, which is a gross insult to the residents of this city, which we represented in this campaign.

Waiting For Election.

"We are going to lie low and wait," said Rev. Mr. Fish in answer to the question as to the plans of the committee in the future. "We will wait until the special election next week and see if the citizens of Duluth will not have their rights respected by its city officials, who in reality are servants of the people. Why did not Mayor McCuen tell us that he was unable to see the committee yesterday morning? It would have been much better than slighting us altogether. We surely cannot do anything now, because the mayor does not care to hear any one opposed to the saloon. Wait until May 7."

Rev. Swaney Nelson, one of the members of the committee, denounced the mayor's action in an interview yesterday afternoon. He said in part:

"Mayor McCuen is drawing a salary from the city of Duluth. It seems to me that the city is entitled to some of the man's time. When we called at the mayor's professional office he told us that he was too busy with his patients to come to the city hall. If his practice is so extensive that he is unable to attend to his municipal duties then he should resign, as we have no recall and can do nothing in the matter at present. Mayor McCuen has broken his word to us. He promised us through his secretary that he would come to his office in a few minutes and see us. We waited from 10:15 until we were ejected from his office at noon and he did not show up. If he did not wish to see us or if he was afraid that we would ask him to do something that he could not do on account of political affiliations then he should have refused to see us in the first place and not kept sixteen men and two women waiting two hours cooling their heels in his office.

"The council has refused to listen to a petition of the majority of the property holders of the West end. Our last resort is to appeal to the chief executive of Duluth and he evades us and we cannot see him. We are not criminals asking for a pardon for any wrong action. We are citizens—the men and women who pay Dr. McCuen his salary—and we feel that we are entitled to some consideration."

Following are the members of the committee who attempted to see Mayor McCuen yesterday morning and who are now planning an active campaign in behalf of the recall amendment, which comes up for election next Tuesday: Rev. Milton Fish, Rev. Swaney Nelson, Rev. Carl G. Olson, John J. Moe, R. R. Forward, Dr. Richard W. Bowden, A. G. McKnight, S. H. Eckman, F. G. Hansen, J. G. Ross, Mrs. H. Bevier, Mrs. A. Gustafson, Rev. Edward Stromberg and F. A. Peterson.

Second Annual Concert.

Probably one of the best musical entertainments and concerts of the year will be given tomorrow evening by the Epworth League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. This is the second annual concert of the league and will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The concert will be under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Dworshak, assisted by Miss Catherine Morton, and the following prominent soloists of this city: Mr. Dworshak, bass; Leon Cooley, tenor; Miss Florence Hyland, soprano; Miss Frances Berg, pianist; Miss Wally Heymar, violinist; Miss Leila Sparks, reader.

The following program will be rendered during the evening:

Peterson-Jacobson.

Miss Mathilda Peterson and Henry Jacobson were married at 7:30 o'clock last evening at the parsonage of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of the church, read the service. The young people were attended by Miss Jennie Pearson and Hildur Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson left last evening for a short wedding trip, after which they will make their home in the West end.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Charles Wester of 314 Eighteenth-and-a-half avenue west, returned yesterday from a three weeks' visit with relatives at Cotton, Minn.

Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, spent yesterday at Virginia, where he attended a district meeting of the Mission church.

The West end branch library is being moved today to the new rooms above J. J. Moe & Sons' Department store, 2102 West Superior street. The branch will be opened Saturday, when the usual story hour for the children will be held in the morning.

The Men's Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, held a special meeting in the church parlors last evening. A discussion of the recall amendment was held.

The Westra Society of the Bethany church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nels Holmberg, 726 East Fifth street.

The congregation of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold its regular business meeting in the church parlors this evening.

ATTEMPT TO BURN DEPOT AT ST. CLOUD.

Wadena, Minn., May 1.—An attempt was made to burn the Great Northern station here last night. Shavings saturated with kerosene oil were piled against the building and oil was thrown upon its sides. A fuse fifteen feet long was laid and it was burned out, but did not ignite the oil-soaked shavings. There is no clue.

Hill City to Have Telephones.

Hill City, Minn., May 1.—R. E. Wideman, who is constructing the local telephone system, says that it will be in operation by May 15. He is also building a line from Hill City to Grand Rapids.

For New Vitality Send Me The Free Coupon

There is today no excuse for any man remaining weak. The vital, manly man is admired by all men as well as all women; there is an influence about him no one can resist; he knows no fear; he knows no weakness; he knows no result of debility. It is this same VITALITY which carries our young soldiers to war without thought of death. Vitality, reader, is what you MUST have if you would enjoy all there is in a life of health, strength and manly vigor. I can give you this same life and vitality: if I can do for you what I am doing for thousands of others I can put the vigor of youth into your blood and nerves; I can make you feel young again and keep you feeling young; I can drive away all debility, weakness and despondency. You will laugh at trouble, you will tackle obstacles with the vim to win, just as all other hearty, vital men may do. I don't ask you to use drugs, I ask no change in your present mode of living; just cease all dissipation and then use my HEALTH BELT. All else will come. My Health Belt with suspensory attachment is the greatest nature cure and VITALITY supply that the world has ever known or probably ever will know. Nothing is taken for granted; you feel better immediately, at once, from the first time used. Worn all night while you sleep, it pours a great stream of Vitality and energy into your weakened system; it is a wonder working giant of power; made as I now make it, I am getting results of which no man ever dreamed. Just think, over ten thousand men applied to me during the month of February; I am now sending great shipments of my Health Belt to every part of the civilized world. There is a reason; I am curing; I am giving men back their lost strength. It makes you feel ambitious, full of vim; you awaken mornings sparkling with bright, clear-eyed, clear-brained health; the weakness has all disappeared from your back; you are "just feeling fine." Special attachments to my Health Belt cure rheumatism, kidney, liver and stomach trouble.

Amusement Notes.

One of the most sensationally successful musical farces which has ever been produced in this country direct from the European stage is "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which Joe Weber will present at the Lyceum tomorrow night only.

This farce has the unique experience of having been done for a season in Paris, then taken to Berlin for a year, and finally reaching New York though the medium of German management.

It was produced by Adolph Philipp in German at the German theater, and ran for a full season. While it was there the fascinating quality of the music attracted the attention of all New York. Thousands, whether they could understand German or not, flocked to hear the pretty piece.

It was then that Joe Weber purchased the American rights and decided to make an English version. The piece had never reached London; in fact, it has not been done there up to the present writing. This fact probably added to the American success of the play. French farces, no matter how attractive the music accessory to them, do not benefit by coming here via the English capital. The Anglicised farce is generally too much flattened out for American audiences.

Mr. Weber, in engaging George V. Hobart to do the English version, requested him to use the French book of Paul Harve only. He did this, and the result was such a pleasant surprise to all, that Weber's "Alma" duplicated the success of the German theater and ran another season.

The company which will produce it here is under the personal direction of Mr. Weber and is direct from his theater in New York. "Alma" is rich in music. There are fourteen numbers, all full of the brilliancy of the composer, Jean Briquet. From his long experience in producing the group of musical comedies during the Weber-Field combination, Mr. Weber may be relied on to present "Alma" properly.

Prominent in the cast will be Nannette Flack, Charles A. Murray and Aubrey Yates.

Performers appearing on this week's bill at the Orpheum theater played a practical joke on Charley Case, who is appearing on this week's bill, which caused that even-tempered and good-natured man to spend two or three agonized minutes.

One of Mr. Case's peculiarities, known to nearly every vaudevillian on the circuit, is that he cannot go through his act without a piece of string in his hands. He gives an amusing monologue which tells of the experience of his father and other relatives. Throughout the monologue he stands in the center of the stage, winding a piece of string about his fingers and unwinding it. He would be as willing to go on the stage without a suit of clothes as he would without the string. In spite of years of successful stage experience, he has never been able to entirely overcome a certain nervousness, and the string gives him "something to do with his hands."

He usually keeps the string in the pockets of his stage trousers, but yesterday he laid it on a table while waiting in the wings for his call. One of the other performers took it and hid it. Just a moment or two before the time came for his act, he looked for the string and it was gone. A frantic search began, but the string could not be found. He appealed to the property man, but the property man was out of string, probably for the first time in his life. The orchestra was playing the introductory bars for his appearance, and repeated them. Mr. Case was frantic. Finally he drew a knife from his pocket and slashed a strip from the lining of his coat. Twirling this about his fingers he made his appearance, but the grinning performers noticed it was several minutes before the cold perspiration disappeared from his forehead.

The theater-going public's ever increasing cry for something different, is one of the greatest difficulties with which the vaudeville promoters of the country have to contend. Attractions that were good drawing cards a few months before are constantly being thrown into discard because of this demand for novelty. At the Empress this week, the theater-going public is being offered a comedy playlet which can rightfully be called novel. "The Gallery God" as presented by the Count de Butz-Edward Castano company seems to have met with popular approval and it is highly applauded at each performance. The plot of "The Gallery God" is different from that of the general run of vaudeville playlets and gives a real touch of the life behind the scenes. Edward Castano appears as the trick bicycle rider who has electrified the theatrical world with his sensational performance, but when he is about to go on, he receives a telegram informing him of the serious illness of his wife and child. The unfortunate performer is placed in a puzzling position; realizing that his place is at the theater, but his love for his wife and child keeps calling him to his home. While puzzling over the matter, the Gallery God appears and volunteers to help him out by taking his place, which he does with much success. There is a touch of pathos in the little playlet but this is overbalanced by the wealth of comedy that is supplied by Count de Butz as the Gallery God. The playlet is breezily entertaining because of its novelty, its brilliant comedy lines and the excellent manner in which each of the performers handles his respective roles.

had gone down, I was certain that Mr. Silvey would be in one of the lifeboats. Not until I had been on the Carpathia for some time and had been informed that all of the survivors had been picked up did I know that Mr. Silvey had gone down with the ship.

"Mr. Silvey and I had retired when the shock came. If I had not been awake, I do not believe I would have noticed it, it was so slight. Mr. Silvey looked out and nothing appeared to be wrong. A few minutes later the engines stopped. We were not alarmed even then. When we crossed on the Olympic, the engines stopped on account of an accident and we thought that something of the kind had happened.

Had Warm Clothing.

"Mr. Silvey said that we had better dress and go on deck. The day had been cold and we were prepared with warm clothing. When we came out there was little confusion. People were emerging from the cabins, but there was no note of fear and nothing resembling a panic. It was a beautiful night, clear, still and cold. The water was like glass. I saw no icebergs, but a friend we met on the deck told us that he had been out when the ship struck and the iceberg passed so close that he could have touched it.

"We walked around the deck and noticed that the ship had listed somewhat, but everybody seemed to think there was no serious danger. The officers told us to go to our cabin and get warm clothing, as we might be subjected to exposure. I put on additional clothing, putting another coat over the one I already had on. Later we were sent back for our lifebelts.

"When the order came for women and children to take to the lifeboats we realized the situation was serious, but even the probability that the ship would sink was incredible. I objected to leaving Mr. Silvey, but he told me to obey orders was the only course. I thought at the time that the lifeboats would remain near the ship until the extent of the damage has been ascertained. I knew there was danger when they ordered us off in the lifeboats, but believed that it was only a precaution.

Lifeboat Crowded.

"Seventy people were crowded into the liteboat in which I was placed. A petty officer was in charge and six sailors were at the oars. The boat was one of the first to leave the ship and there was little confusion in loading it and getting it away. When I stepped into the boat I stepped on the man under the seat and strained my ankle. I saw the man later on the Carpathia and recognized him. He slunk away when he saw me looking at him.

"There were no lights in the lifeboat, no food and no comforts of any kind. Whether there was any water or not I do not know.

"Some of the women in the boat had not taken the precaution to dress warmly and they suffered from the exposure. There were four babies, three of them motherless. One was the Allison child, which was saved with its nurse, while the mother and father went down. The babies had been wrapped in blankets and thrown into the lifeboat.

"We drew away from the ship after we were lowered to the water. I saw the row of lights go out one by one and the great hulk settling in the water. I could see other boats putting away from the ship. The ship sank lower and lower and the rows of lights disappeared as she sank. Finally with a great heave and a series of explosions, she sank beneath the surface. We had been out about an hour and were some distance from the ship.

"The lights on the Titanic had been the only lights in sight and we were left in total darkness. There was no light on the horizon. From the direction of the wreck came cries that carried clear over the water. I thought at the time they were the cries of people in lifeboats seeking to keep together. I did not learn until later that they were the cries of drowning people.

"'The poor stokers' was the thought that arose to my mind. I did not think for a moment that any passengers had remained on the ship. I thought the men far down in the hold must have been the only ones to go down. The whole terrible story did not come to me until later, when I was safe aboard the Carpathia.

"After the ship went down the sailors continued to row our lifeboat. The lights of the Carpathia appeared as specks on the horizon. Dawn came and with it a view of the icebergs surrounding us. I had seen no icebergs all night and the early morning light gave me my first view of them. It also showed the Carpathia on the horizon and about 6 o'clock we reached that ship. Several boats had been taken up before ours and several more were picked up later. The survivors were well cared for by the passengers and crew."

Mrs. Silvey having been warmly clothed did not suffer from exposure as greatly as some of the other survivors, but the injury sustained by stepping on the man in the lifeboat was painful. The mental shock of learning that her husband had gone down with the 1,600 people on the big ship was, of course, the most trying experience.

Mrs. Silvey was met at the pier in New York by her sister, Mrs. Dwight E. Woodbridge, and her daughter, Miss Melville Silvey. She has been in New York and Washington since landing. Miss Silvey arrived in Duluth Monday.

Masterpieces

We had it all "framed up" with the makers to send out the real "new" things for men, first of all this season.

They are "masterpieces" of the tailor's art; and the patterns are pictures.

Made of pure wool by the most skilled of the craft. It's what you don't see that makes our clothing wear so well.

But the values are most assuredly plain to be seen. No clothing fits, wears or looks so well as ours—a broad statement, but very true.

NEITHER MAY MARRY AGAIN

Judge Ensign Grants Mrs. Di Marco Limited Decree of Divorce.

Custody of Children and Division of Property Not Yet Determined.

Under certain limitations, the exact nature of which has not yet been decided by the court, Mrs. Rose Di Marco will be granted a divorce from her husband, Joseph Di Marco, a prominent Italian resident of this city, on the grounds of cruel and inhumane treatment.

Judge J. D. Ensign, who has had the case under advisement for the past two months, today gave Mason M. Forbes, attorney for Mrs. Di Marco, instructions to draw up findings for the plaintiff in the action.

The case was a hard fought one and attracted considerable irterest, especially among the Italian people of Duluth. The decree granted Mrs. Di Marco is said to be the first ever granted in this court to people of Italian birth or descent.

It is understood that neither Di Marco or his divorced wife will be allowed to marry another. The custody of the Di Marco children, of whom there are three, Violet, aged 10; Earl, 7; and Leslie, 5, and the matter of allmony have not yet been determined by the court.

Yesterday testimony was taken in the case before Judge Ensign relative to the property and income of Di Marco. He testified that he owned a three-quarter interest in the ideal pool hall, Superior street, and that he was the manager of the pool and billiard rooms. He also owns a $2,000 equity in a West end property, and his home at 913 East Third street, valued at $4,000.

When divorce proceedings were first instituted by Mrs. Di Marco she secured an order of the court for temporary allmony and the custody of the youngest child. The two older children were allowed to remain with their father.

As soon as Judge Ensign decides the matter of permanent allmony and the custody of the children, Attorney Forbes will draw up his findings and have them signed by the court. H. H. Phelps represents Di Marco in the proceedings.

CALENDAR IS CALLED

The May Term Has 142 Cases Listed for Trial.

At the call of the calendar of Judge H. A. Dancer, the May term of district court opened this morning at the courthouse.

Of 467 cases on the civil calendar, 142 were reparted ready for trial, 17 were continued and 8 were either settled or stricken.

The grand jury went into session this afternoon at 2 o'clock after receiving a charge from Judge Dancer. No special instructions, other than usual, were given the jurors.

Only one case on the new calendar was heard this morning, and that was a divorce action, in which Mrs. Anna May Bjorback, aged 23, was granted a separation from Olaf Bjorback, 24, on the grounds of cruel treatment. The case was heard in Judge Ensign's court.

Tomorrow the divorce mill will start grinding in real earnest. There are 35 more cases to be tried at this term of court, 10 of which will be contested cases.

ISMAY IMMUNE FROM SUBPOENA

No Contempt Action Rests for Refusal to Obey Court.

Washington, May 1.—J. Bruce Ismay, manager of the International Mercantile Marine, and C. H. Lightoller and J. G. Boxhall, officers of the Titanic, were immune from the subpoenas issued by the District of Columbia supreme court, requiring them to testify in a civil action brought by Mrs. George Robins of New York, and contempt proceedings will not be instituted against them, it was declared today.

The three men were served with summonses yesterday, but went to New York after engaging counsel to represent them. Contempt proceedings were threatened, but it developed today that because the Englishmen were under subpoena from the United States senate, no other process could be served upon them for twenty-four hours after their release by the committee.

DECISION ON TAX SALE CERTIFICATES.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The law of 1905, providing that notices of expiration of redemption from tax sales cannot be issued after six years, does not apply to state assignment certificates for taxes of 1900 and subsequent years, according to an opinion rendered today by Assistant Attorney General Stevenson on requests from St. Louis and Chisago counties. Prior to the 1905 law such notices could be issued any time.

MISSOURI HUMOR.

Tit-Bits: When Christine Nilsson made her concert tour in the United States in 1884 Signor Brignoli sang with her. He caused much merriment when he came forward in a Missouri town to apologize for Nilsson's indisposition.

"Madame Nilsson ees a leetle horse," he said.

Noticing a ripple of laughter among the audience he repeated the statement that Nilsson "was a lettle horse, a leetle horse, a little colt."

Whereupon a facetious occupant of the gallery brought down the house by remarking:

"Well, then, why don't you trot her out?"

IS SILENT ON TRANSFER

Mayor Will Not Announce What Action He Will Take.

Committee Will Make No Further Effort to See Him.

Mayor McCuen today refused to further discuss the question of the West end saloon license transfer, which has so aroused the citizens of the West end.

Yesterday Mayor McCuen intimated to The Herald that he would not veto the license transfer which was passed by the council last Monday night. Later he stated that he had not fully decided. He has until next Monday to veto the action of the council. He may approve it at any time before Monday, or he may take no action at all, in which case the action of the council becomes effective Monday.

When asked today whether he would sign the council resolution or veto it, he replied that he was unable to give a definite answer.

The mayor will not be again visited by the West end committee. Members of the committee stated this morning that they would make no further effort to see his honor, after the manner in which they were received, or not received, yesterday, but would allow him to take whatever action he sees fit.

They will follow out their watchword of "lie low and wait for May 7."

IS FOUND DEAD IN MINE SHAFT

Gust Palma Falls to Death in Hibbing Property, Skull Being Fractured.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — Gust Palma, a Finn, aged about 26, single, fell to his death in the Utica mine some time last night. His body was found this morning, the skull being fractured. Nothing is known as to how he lost his life and little appears to be known about him except he was employed at the mine.

$700,000 MORE IN RELIEF FUND

House Committee Adds to Appropriations for Flood Sufferers.

Washington, May. 1.—Nearly $700,000 more for the relief of Mississippi river flood sufferers was voted by the house committee on appropriations today. For quartermaster's supplies, such as tents, etc., the committee provides $277,179. The commissary department, supplying the destitute with food, will receive $420,000.

HE STILL HOPES TO PROVE HE IS KIMMEL.

Chicago, May 1.—Andrew J. White today sought medical aid to assist him in proving his claim that he is George A. Kimmel, former cashier of the Farmers' State bank of Arkansas City, Kan., who disappeared, leaving insurance policies aggregating $25,000. Kimmel was operated on here today in an effort to relieve a depression in the skull which it is claimed had affected his memory.

STATE WILL GET 20,000 ACRES OF SWAMP LAND.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Examination of 20,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Chippewa Indian reservation, from which the state will get from the federal government tracts containing more than half swamp land, will be begun May 6. The crews will be in charge of Special Agent Colter of the federal government at Duluth and the state will be represented by O. H. Case.

BULL QUITS THE CASE DIRECTORATE.

Racine, Wis., May 1.—At the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the J. I. Case Thrashing company, held at the local office, Stephen Bull, one of the original founders of the gigantic manufacturing organization, presented his resignation as a director of the concern. The resignation was accepted, and Stephen Bull, II, was elected to fill the place made vacant by his grandfather.

EXTRA CARS FOR CANADIAN EMIGRANTS.

Two extra sleepers have been placed on every train of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and Canadian Northern leaving the city. Increased emigration to Western Canada is the reason for the extra cars being placed on the trains. Officials of the Missabe stated today that the movement to Canada was the greatest in the history of the provinces, and that the movement through the Twin City gateway was just as heavy as it is through the Duluth passenger gateway to the Dominion.

One of the officials stated today that if the movement showed any increase it was probable that even more extra cars would have to be placed on the evening train for Winnipeg.

HAVOC OF THE HIDE HUNTERS.

Outing: In 1881 the buffalo hide hunters shipped 50,000 buffalo hides to the East. The next year the number was 200,000 and in 1883 40,000. Only 200 were reported in 1884, and after that there were none at all. In 1883 Sitting Bull and his band, with some white hunters, killed the last 10,000 of the Northern herd.

The last survivors, twenty-eight in number, were killed on the Big Porcupine in 1886, and were mounted for the National Museum. With that the wild buffalo of North America practically ceased to exist, except for a few in the Yellowstone National park and a handful in the wilds of Athabasca.

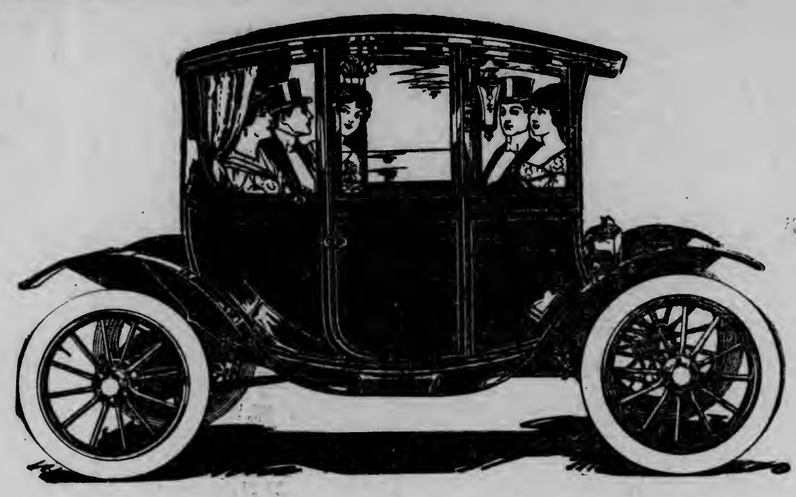
Some well meaning friends, who think they know, tell us we may not—that electrics are bought mostly by ladies, therefore only parlor prattle and pretty pictures are permissible. We don't believe it! We believe that women as well as men like, on occasion, to be treated as rational beings, capable of thinking. They like to enter into the fundamentals and to be told the reasons why of things. So here goes.

Better read this ad carefully, so you will be able to discuss it intelligently when it becomes the topic among your friends.

The Flanders Electric Is Here

See It Tomorrow and All This Week at 311 East Superior Street.



ISN'T IT A BEAUTY?

"Un equipage digne d'un Roi."

A Full Five-Passenger Carriage of Pure Colonial Design, Faultless Appointments, and the Price is $2,250.

FIX THE FORM IN YOUR EYE—the artistic lines, the graceful curves—fix it in your mind for this is the design of the future for all high grade electrics. Within a year—within six months—this Flanders design will be copied by half the other makers.

IT IS THE LOGICAL as well as the most beautiful form for an electric carriage—and when you think of it it is the only logical as well as the only really artistic electric yet designed.

"RIDES LIKE A HAMMOCK," was the way one lady expressed it—and a glance at the curved frame and the long, graceful springs with axles set well in front and rear of body, convinces you that the riding qualities of this car are superior to those of any other.

WHEEL BASE IS 100 INCHES and step is just 10 inches above the pavement when car is loaded. Car seats 5 people liberally—3 in rear and 2 in front. Compare this with the ordinary, high-perched electrics with short wheel base that rock like a skiff in a sea on slightly wavy asphalt, and pitch and toss dangerously on a bad piece of block pavement.

OR COMPARE IT WITH THOSE imitation automobiles in which valuable room is taken up by a hood and the four passengers are cramped in—two seated fairly comfortably and the other two on a half width folding seat so low only a child can occupy it in comfort.

JUST LISTEN TO THIS—it is interesting—it explains something you have wondered about—why electrics have been so ugly, so cramped for room inside, and so unstable because of their short wheel base and highly perched construction.

T[illegible] ELECTRIC built in this country had a whip-socket on the dash! Now don't laugh! that is an absolute fact. And it is significant even if it is humorous—it shows how devoid of thought the designing of this type of car has been up to now.

WHY IN THE NAME OF REASON was that whip-socket there? Tell you why. Originality is the rarest human quality. Only one man in a million can think independently.

HOWE LOST A LOT OF TIME when he first tried to invent the sewing machine. He thought it ought to sew like a lady—and surely no self-respecting needle could have an eye anywhere but in the head. It took him a long time to decide that he dare put the eye in the point of the needle—when he had done that he had invented the sewing machine.

NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT BEFORE—did you? Most likely not. Most people don't look below the surface of things—most designers of electrics are that way.

NOW THAT FELLOW who put the whip-socket on the dash of his electric car not only committed one foolish act—he was guilty of two—the dash had no business there either. But that simple idea had never occurred to him.

A THOUSAND YEARS BEFORE he was born some genius had added to his two-wheeled cart a piece of bark to prevent the nag kicking mud in the face of the lady he was trying to propose to.

THAT WAS GOING SOME in invention—and it was several hundred years later that another bright youth bethought him a socket to hold the "gad"—whips were invented later—so he could have one hand free to hold the lady on the insecure seat.

THEN CAME ELECTRICITY—or rather the harnessing of it——and an electrically propelled carriage for Milady became possible. He tried to design one. That was the first and only lucid idea he ever had! And all he did was to unhitch the horse, lay away the shafts, build a lean-to on the rear to hold some of the batteries and another on front to look like a cow-catcher. He cramped the seats and the leg-room between—for a long wheel base had not yet been invented either.

THIS PIONEER DESIGNER of ours found both the dash and whip-socket there when his eyes first opened in a carriage factory. He never stopped to consider that, there being no horse in front, the need of a dash had also vanished. Nor had it ever occurred to him how the whip-socket came there originally—so he left them both on.

IF THAT CAR HAD RUN, we verily believe it would have been the standard design up to now—for we find many features in electrics that are just as illogical—just as archaic and just as useless as that.

TAKE THE HOOD FOR EXAMPLE—why should it be on any electric? No reason on earth save that some designers don't think.

ON A GASOLINE CAR it has a use—therefore it is right. Handsome is that handsome does. It covers the motor. But do you know we in this country used to be ashamed of a motor—tried for years to conceal it beneath the seat; till one day one of Gran'pa Daimler's cars came over from Germany—and forthwith we all imitated the Mercedes hood and will probably continue to use it for the next hundred years—whether we need it or not. We are such an original people!

NOW THERE IS ANOTHER DANGER—the danger of copying without knowing what or why you copy. Education, training, experience, travel are requisite if one would copy intelligently—artistically.

COLONEL INGERSOLL USED TO SAY "Imagination cannot go beyond the range of experience. No man can describe an animal he has never seen. He may describe one with the horn of a rhinoceros, the mane of a lion, the trunk of an elephant and the wings of an eagle. But that is not an animal—it is a monstrosity composed of various things he has seen or dreamed of"—a farcial, phantasmagorical phenom, as it were.

NEXT TIME YOU SEE AN ELECTRIC on the street just stop and look it over. Don't laugh——it might offend the lady inside. And it is not her fault. She needed an electric, and bought the only thing she could find, though she will tell you her sense of the artistic and the beautiful were offended by every line. She doesn't think it is so ugly now—one gets used to anything in time.

DON'T LAUGH—Though you will see several features left over from buggy design coupled with others from gasoline automobiles that are as funny—or as ridiculous—as was that whip-socket on the dash of the earlier electric, or Ingersoll's composite quadruped.

THE FLANDERS ELECTRIC is consistent in every detail—the graceful body curves, the dignified, though pronounced striping, the flowing leather fenders—even to the colonial lamps which were especially designed for this carriage by Mr. F. E. Castle.

"I EXPECTED SOMETHING DIFFERENT," exclaimed a prominent dealer when his eyes first rested on this carriage, "but frankly, I did not expect to see anything so beautiful and in such excellent taste as this. Rumor said that you were making an electric that would create a sensation. I feared it might verge on the bazarre—and for that class of trade, of course, that wouldn't do at all. But this—it is faultless, exquisite! There is not a radical feature—not a discordant note. It is true to every convention—and it is the easiest riding car I have ever seen."

NOT A "WHIP-SOCKET" ANYWHERE—not a superfluous feature—not even a hood to imitate a gasoline car and occupy room that should be devoted to passenger capacity.

WE CAN'T CLAIM ORIGINALITY either. We go further back than that fellow who invented the dash. The earliest ancestor of the Colonial Carriage was the sedan chair—most luxurious as well as most artistic conveyance ever devised. Then came the colonial carriage—swung on leathern straps. This was the carriage of kings and of our forefathers.

IF YOU HAVE BEEN TO EUROPE, you have visited the various palaces and museums there—Versailles, for example. There you saw Napoleon's Coronation Coach. At Munich you saw that of Ludwig and Maximillian. These magnificent equipages were of this design. It was this fact that the French gentleman had in mind who, when paying us a visit the other day, saw the Flanders Colonial Electric and exclaimed, "Un equipage digne d'un roi." Freely translated, "a carriage worthy of a king."

LET US SUPPOSE YOU KNOW NOTHING about art—yet you could not pass a Corot or a Millet unimpressed. You are not versed in architectural lore—but sit you down in a cathedral of pure Gothic and you would be overwhelmed by, even though you could not express in words, your emotions. Nor can you listen to a Beethoven sonata without being profoundly moved by the marvelous melody—much as you may protest you like "rag-time" better.

NO; ONE NEED NOT BE AN ARTIST to appreciate the truly beautiful—that instinct is inherent in all of us. Art but caters to our desires—only we are not always conscious of that fact.

NOW WHEN YOU COMPARE the Flanders Colonial Electric with others, you may not be able to analyze the difference. Only a designer could do that. But you will feel, even more than you will see, that there is art—there its antithesis. Here beauty, chaste harmonious—there a nondescript, half automobile, half buggy, and all discordant.

WE HAVE TALKED OF BEAUTY to the exclusion of every other consideration. Do not think, however, that any other factor has been neglected in this car. We believe beauty is the first consideration in an electric—nine-tenths of them are driven by ladies and are much used for dress occasions—as well as trips through the park, shopping, theater, clubs, etc.

BESIDES THERE ISN'T MUST ROOM for improvement in efficiency in this type of car. Electrical science was some years since brought to a very high degree of accuracy. Despite the foolish statements you read in some advertisements, there is nothing really new under the sun either in motor or batteries. Both are known quantities and the knowledge is free to any who will seek it.

ANY GOOD ELECTRIC will go as fast and as far as you will ever want to go. Besides,—digest this—an electric vehicle can be made to go faster or farther—either, but not both—than any other type of self-propelled vehicle. And the "how" is no secret either. Let us send you our little booket—"Wise and Foolish Statements About Electrics."

WE DON'T PRESUME TO KNOW more about electricity than Steinmetz or Edison or Timmerman. So we didn't try to revolutionize that science—we proclaim no wonder-working improvements or innovations. Instead we have embodied in this vehicle only standard electrical practice—up-to-the-minute in every improvement of course—but accepted, tried and proven standards.

THERE WERE THREE WAYS, however, by which our skilled engineers saw they could obtain greater efficiency than others less skilled—by reducing wind resistance, weight and friction to the last possible degree. We have done that—the Flanders Coupe sets twelve inches lower—20 per cent less wind resistance; weight 650 pounds (30 per cent) less than others of similar capacity; and friction has been reduced to a point where she will coast freely on an incline so slight as to be almost imperceptible to the eye. This indicates skillful designing—engineering. Net result is 25 per cent more mileage and incomparably better hill climbing qualities.

DRIVE IS DIRECT—of course. And, of course, it is the latest and most improved type of direct drive—worm gearing. Silent—of course absolutely. Runs without even a "whisper." And the electrical control is so simple, so certain, a ten year old child can learn to operate it in fifteen minutes and do it just as well as you can.

NOW CONSIDER that though lighter by 30 per cent, you have in the Flanders Electric a full five passenger carriage—actually eight inches more room inside than the next longest electric made—that the front seat is just as deep and full as the rear, and there is more leg-room than in any other.

THERE ARE SO MANY FEATURES about this electric you will admire, you must see it to fully appreciate.

AND THE PRICE—$2,250—is a little over half what you would have to pay for other electrics of similar quality. The only other electrics that can be compared with the Flanders for roominess, efficiency, ease of control and beauty sell for $3,200 to $4,000. Of course there are cheaper ones, but—well compare them. You will find they do not compare at any point.

WE DON'T CONSIDER IT CHEAP—in the ordinary sense of the term. Nothing has been left undone—no detail slighted. Take, for example, the sashless windows of ground French plate—you'll find them in no other electric at any price. You've seen them in Rothschild-Mercedes Limousines in Europe. We are first to introduce this feature in America. Our ambition has been to make the most beautiful car possible, one that would be the last word in beauty—finality in good taste. So we could have priced it at $3,500 and sold a few—as many as others sell.

BUT YOU DOUBTLESS KNOW we are quantity producers. The name Walter E. Flanders is known the world over as that of the world's greatest automobile builder. His success has been achieved, not by selling a few cars at a large profit per car, but by being satisfied with a small margain on thousands of cars.

THIS ISN'T PHILANTHROPIC—it is just plain business. It costs a lot to sell an article for more than it is worth. So the maker who places a profit of $1,000 to $1,500 on a car doesn't really make that profit—he must spend nine-tenths of it in selling expense.

YOU HAVE FREQUENTLY REMARKED that you couldn't see the value in electrics at the prices that were asked for them. Good reason too—it wasn't there. Cost of selling was the main item. On the other hand, true value makes its own appeal—this car will sell itself on sight.

DONE IN FRENCH gray whipcord. Most ladies prefer the whipcord—cool in summer and warm in winter. Standard color of body is Napoleon Blue with broad French stripes in white.

STANDARD EQUIPMENT INCLUDES especially designed (Castle) Colonial [illegible] lamps, head and tail lamps, toilet articles and cut glass flower vase. No stepladder.

THE MAYOR'S DUTY.

Three very certain things stand out in the controversy over the Pinsonnault liquor license transfer:

First—It is the duty of Mayor McCuen to veto the resolution, because it is not just that the representatives of one section of the city shall be permitted to force a saloon upon another section of the city against the protests of its citizens and its aldermen.

Second—Mayor McCuen seems to have some unfortunate misconceptions of the obligations of his office. He told The Herald last evening that he was disinclined to interfere because the council is the lawmaking body and because those who voted to transfer the Pinsonnault license supported him in confirming his appointments. As to the first point, the council is the lawmaking body of the city, but that does not relieve the mayor of his own personal responsibility, any more than the fact that congress is the nation's lawmaking body and that the legislature is the state's lawmaking body relieves a president or governor of their official responsibilities. As to the second point, how the council voted on another matter should have no bearing on the mayor's decision in this matter.

Third—The incident will prove of value—of very great value—in two ways. One way is that it will arouse the voters to the need of going to the polls May 7 to make sure that the initiative, referendum and recall amendment to the charter is not defeated by neglect. Another way is that it will add emphasis to the need that Duluth abolish the ward system and partisan elections by adopting the commission plan of city government at its earliest opportunity.

But first and above all, there can be no doubt that it is Mayor McCuen's duty to squelch that resolution by a veto. Even if the representatives of the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards want a saloon at Twenty-fourth avenue west, it is very clear that the people of that district do not want it; and their wants, not the wants of the saloon man interested nor the wants of the aldermen from the downtown wards, should govern.

Speaking of M. O.

Why doesn't somebody advocate public ownership of city governments?

THE MASSACHUSETTS MIX-UP.

What happened in Massachusetts yesterday? It may take days to tell.

There is no doubt that Taft got eighteen district delegates and lost ten to Roosevelt. There is no doubt that the state's preference vote went to Taft by a small plurality. There is no doubt that the Roosevelt delegates at large were elected by a larger plurality.

But who won the state? If the men who ran as Roosevelt candidates for delegate at large,—there are eight of them,—and were elected as such, vote for Roosevelt, the state delegation is divided equally. If the Roosevelt delegates regard only the preferential vote and reluctantly cast their votes for Taft, the president will get twenty-six votes to Roosevelt's ten. But the Roosevelt delegates-at-large say they are going to vote for Roosevelt, and in view of the narrow margin for Taft in the preference vote, that is undoubtedly what they will do. So Taft has at best gained a drawn battle, which will be of little comfort to him. Senator Crane, his manager, was defeated as a candidate for delegate-at-large.

Governor Wilson's showing in the preference vote was disappointing, but not unexpected. He had the bitter opposition of all those who support the other presidential candidates, including the eloquence of Charley Towne and George Fred Williams and the venomous poison of the Hearst influence. Yet Governor Foss, though his name was not on the ballot, seems to have won a majority of the delegates.

The presidential primary laws have all been hastily drawn, and all have developed defects in detail. Massachusetts seems to have achieved the worst of them all; at least the results would so indicate. If the voter cast one vote for his presidential preference and for the set of delegates representing the candidate of his choice, no such confusion as exists in Massachusetts today would be possible. Massachusetts seems to have provided a pretty good example of how not to do it.

Where Is That Pavement?

And now Teddy claims that Taft didn't even have any good intentions. In some eternal localities this might be classified as hurling paving stones.

A GOOD BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

There is more tonnage in sight now than there was a year ago; the crop prospects are good; the general business situation is brighter; the railroads are taking council of hope and are spending more money in needed improvements than they have for several years past.

That's the way we like to hear our railroad presidents talk. Some of them have fallen into pessimistic habits, and we are glad to see a notable exception in Mr. Elliott.

And what he says is fact, too. Conditions are immensely better. While there is some tincture of gloom in some parts of the winter wheat country, in other parts conditions are rosy. They hardly could be rosier in the spring wheat country. The railroads are going to have plenty of business, and that means that others are going to have plenty of business, too. The railroads must buy supplies to keep their service up to the requirements, and that means the manufacturers and laborers will be kept busy.

Altogether, there is scarcely a cloud on the horizon except the warclouds of a heated presidential contest, and it is doubtful if that is going to disturb business very much this year.

It is a time for courage and optimism, and Mr. Elliott's good cheer is timely.

Stung Again!

And now Minnesota has the pleasure of seeing the Wisconsin legislature in special session.

THE DIFFERENCE.

President McKinley didn't believe that a private citizen who was a candidate for the presidency should stump the country. He considered that it lowered the dignity of the office, of which he had a high conception.

So Mark Hanna had to take the crowds to Canton, where they could hear Major McKinley's dignified remarks on the issues.

On the other hand, President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt—

Thought He Was Forgotten.

Sidna Allen has been sighted. It seemed queer if this William-Theodore business wouldn't smoke out something somewhere.

ABATING THE DRUG EVIL.

Alderman Hector Monday evening introduced in the city council a new ordinance governing the sale and use of cocaine, morphine and their derivatives.

This ordinance is strongly drawn, is needed in Duluth, and it should be adopted by the city council.

The state law on this subject is lame, and the proposed ordinance is intended to supplement it to the point of efficiency. It prohibits dealers from selling any of these drugs except on prescriptions made by physicians. It requires dealers to keep a separate and convenient record of all prescriptions for and sales of the deadly drugs which make their users pitiable slaves. It prohibits unauthorized persons having these drugs in their possession.

Those who have to do with charitable and criminal work in this city realize the need of such strict regulations as the Hector ordinance provides. The details are not pleasant, but nobody could become familiar with them without becoming an ardent advocate of this ordinance.

The council should adopt this ordinance, and the police should enforce it.

Must Be a Mistake.

The government announces the pending dissolution of "the bean trust" in Southern California. Now how long since Boston moved way out there?

CITY GARBAGE COLLECTION.

When Duluth has adopted such a plan of municipal garbage collection as the Woman's Council has proposed to the city council, everybody will look back and wonder how the city stood so long the conditions that now exist.

The present system—which is no system at all—is incomplete. Not all the families in Duluth, by any means, patronize the private scavengers who now do the work. Much filth remains undisposed of.

The present system is insanitary. The wagons of the private scavengers are usually open at the top, emitting awful smells, and often at the bottom, so that they drop germ-filled filth along the way.

The present system is uneconomical. Probably for the amount that householders who do patronize the scavengers are paying, the whole city could be covered. With the collection of garbage in the city's charge, it will be possible for the city to compel every householder to dispose properly of the household waste.

Duluth, at a cost of $29,000, has established a municipal incinerator which is now running only at a quarter capacity because only a small part of the city's garbage comes to it. With the city in charge, all the city's waste would come to it.

Other cities make profitable use of sewage. There are valuable by-products—fertilizers, chemicals, etc.,—to be saved and sold. The waste that remains is burned, and in burning it these other cities generate power for city purposes.

There is no reason why Duluth should continue to put up with the present system. There is no reason why Duluth should not handle its garbage problem as economically and as efficiently as other cities.

If Duluth had a commission government this is one of the first problems it would tackle. It is just the sort of thing that would appeal to so business-like a body as a city commission government.

A test of the old fashioned government, such as Duluth has now, will be the manner in which it approaches or fails to approach this opportunity to be of constructive benefit to the community.

Steps should be taken at once to carry out the ideas which are the results of the earnest and effective work of the Woman's Council.

Positively the Latest Thing, Mawruss.

Now a surgeon has given instructions by wireless on how to amputate a human foot. This is the most recent development in correspondence instruction.

THE PRESIDENT'S ERROR.

President Taft seems to imagine that the popular discontent with his administration is due to Roosevelt's attacks upon it.

He actually seems to believe that the popular attitude is a misconception subtly brought about by the dastardly enmity of Roosevelt.

It is not so. Roosevelt has been bitter, and perhaps he has stated some things not quite as they should be; though he hasn't misrepresented Taft so much as Taft seems to believe.

It is not Roosevelt whom Taft has to blame for the public attitude toward his administration, expressed as it has been with crushing force at every opportunity given the people to express themselves.

It is Cannon, whom he made speaker and thus brought about the Payne-Aldrich bill.

It is Aldrich, with whom he advised and whose leadership he succumbed to.

It is Ballinger, whose misconduct in public office he condoned and supported.

It is Secretary Wilson, whose conduct of the department of agriculture has made it the tool of crooked manufacturers threatened by a sound law in the people's interests.

It is Taft himself, who has misjudged the popular impulses, who has deliberately associated himself with the special privilege serving organization of his party, and who has thereby alienated from himself the support of all seeing and thinking patriots.

It is these men, and the elements in American life they stand for, who are to blame for the repudiation of the Taft administration and the Republican party by an aroused and outraged people.

It would have been the same if Roosevelt had staid in office.

An Illinois farmer claims he has a hen that lays a double-yolked egg every day. Talk about having an exaggerated eg(g)o!

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"GETTING ON HIS NERVES."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I thought there was a law made and passed to this effect, that that man who goes around selling popcorn and peanuts with that blamed old sizzing whistle be suppressed.

It is making just as much noise as before and we hilltop residents are not going to put up with it. If nobody will do anything to it we will take it through another way.

Make them take it off altogether and the noise will be stopped. It means more than the law to do this.

Wishing this matter be taken up promptly, thanking you for space and time. Yours truly, MACK.

HOW A PRIEST CAN DIE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Mention has been made in The Herald of many of the heroes on the Titanic, especially those who were distinguished because of their wealth. No mention has been made of two others who went to their death in the performance of duty, consoling others, as shown in the enclosed clipping from "America," April 27, 1912. Probably your attention has not been called to them. I am sure that there are thousands of your readers who would be glad to have an opportunity to read the story of their sacrifice, who have not seen it in the original publication. Will you not kindly give them the opportunity by reprinting this in your paper? S. L. M.

Duluth, April 29.

America: "All the Titanic's survivors with whom we have spoken, some forty in number, referred to one very striking and consoling incident connected with the tragedy. Father Byles of England and Father Peruschoetz, a German priest, had held Sunday services that morning and evening for the Catholics of various nationalities, addressing them in English and German. The rosary and the litanies were recited by all. When the disaster came and the women were being put into the boats the two priests were quickly on the scene, attending to their people and to all others who they could help and comfort. Some were unaware of their peril, but as the sense of danger grew into alarm they sought the priests' services more eagerly, and Father Byles was soon busy consoling the English-speaking passengers and giving absolution to the many Catholics, who either knelt at his feet or cried out to him from a distance. Tall, thin, pale and ascetic, he seemed the picture of hope and faith, and his calm self-possession assured and quieted as he went about blessing and absolving, and urging all to prayer. When the last lifeboats were launched and stood out from the vessel their occupants saw distinctly the two priests reciting the rosary and heard a large number of the kneeling passengers, many of them just come up from the steerage, responding fervently. Some would interrupt to ask for absolution, and again the priests would resume the rosary or litany, the kneeling crowd growing larger as the end drew near. Some had been moving excitedly on deck, but as the ship was sinking all appeared to be on their knees. Then the lights went out, so that in the last moments nothing could be seen but no shrieks were heard nor cries of terror, only the sound of prayer as she sank into the waters.

"Rev. Thomas Byles of Ongar, in the archdiocese of Westminster, who entered the priesthood after his conversion some years ago at Oxford, was coming to America to officiate at his brother's marriage. W. E. Byles of Brooklyn has spoken his brother's epitaph: 'My brother was a priest and I cannot see how he could be saved. It was his duty as a priest to stay to the last. He knew his duty. He must have gone down with the ship.' We may confidently hope that the ministrations of Father Byles and his faithful confrere will have prepared many of their fellow-victims for a happy resurrection 'when the sea shall give up its dead.'"

HEROIC ENGINEERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Since the first fateful report of the Titanic disaster numerous reports of heroic conduct of the crew, the deck officers and their assistants, the stewards and their assistants, the postal and mail department, all have been acknowledged heroes by the press of the world. Pathetic tales of survivors, of heroic sacrifices of millionaires and people of the steerage have been printed. In fact, the disaster has been discussed from all view points except the engineers. Where were they? Why were none of them saved? Reports so far have been silent as to the manner and spirit in which they faced the doom which came to all of them. Is there not a possibility that magnificent bravery and courage were shown without the poor reward of worldly recognition? Those who have traveled on an ocean liner and watched the massive engines far down in the very depths of the vessel know of the numerous pumps, dynamos and every conceivable mechanical device known to modern steamship equipment. On the Titanic it required thirty-six skilled mechanical engineers, also electricians, oilers, firemen, coal passers, a total of 200 men in the engine crew. The engineers knew before any others that the ship had received her death blow, still these brave men manned the pumps in the hope of keeping the ship afloat till help came. This one act probably saved the ship from sinking two hours sooner. The dynamos were kept running, the lights were kept burning even when the vessel went down. This was a great aid in launching the boats. Can anyone doubt the terrible panic that surely would have prevailed had these brave men left their posts of duty and left the ship in darkness in those last terrible hours? Can there be any question of doubt of a greater loss of life had there not been heroes in the engine room? Some of these engineers surely should have been able to save their lives as others did, by being on deck with life belt, but from the fact that none of them were saved and all went down with the ship, proves they stuck to their posts far down in the ship, where no strain from the orchestra playing "Nearer, My God, to Thee" could reach them. J. W. M.

Duluth, April 30.

KING ALCOHOL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It came to pass in the year of the Lord of Bacchus, in the month of municipal duplicity, when father Taft was on his last leg, and grandpa Teddy was trying the stump for the third time, when the new sovereign of all you can see of the slums, and the ruling majority of the representative body, bowed their manhood in unholy worship of King Alcohol. It come to pass on the salsam Monday, that was the twenty-ninth day of spring, the king yearned to bless his obedient servants with a speedy answer to their childhood prayers, learned on their mother's lap, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done." He yearned and he yearned to have his kingdom extended only 200 feet so he might gather some more of the coin that carries the perfume of Judas Iscariot. And it came to pass that salsam evening that the forces of St. Peter, the forces of manhood, of home and family, one thousand one hundred and exactly ninety-four, strove with diligence. The battle waged fierce and hot, but the invisible agents of the pit were there too strong and when the "yeas and noes" were counted, nine noes arose with Lucifer's banner, while there was only seven for St. Peter's plates.

May that ruling majority elected and sworn to do the will of the people be blessed with all the curses that rest upon every one, whether Jew or Gentile, who produces or assists in producing drunkards and criminals, widows and orphans, sufferers in poverty, and if the victory of the nine noses be sanctified by the signature of the googooma that knew no other platform than to "carry out the will of the people, to do the will of the people, let h's duplicity partake of the blessing of the other nine and his name and his power forever be forgotten. A BYSTANDER.

Duluth, May 1.

MINNESOTA AND PRESIDENCY.

Consistency.

Luverne Journal: It's amusing to read in the standpat papers how the people are not fit to rule, and in another paragrah that the American people will show their usual good sense and good judgment and flock to the support of President Taft—on election day next fall.

The Corporation Viewpoint.

Buffalo Journal: There is no doubt the Roosevelt campaign is costing a lot of money, and we are willing to accept the statement that the corporations desire the nomination of Roosevelt, but it is because they believe Taft cannot be elected and the election of Harmon is a remote possibility. They prefer Roosevelt to La Follette, Wilson or Bryan, as, though he will be aggressive and a reformer, he will not want to tear everything to pieces the first thing. There are Progressives who take the same view.

The People Speak.

Cambridge North Star: Taft has never carried a state where the people have had a chance to vote upon presidential candidates. And still there are those who will argue that he ought to be nominated. When a candidate's record is so bad that the people nowhere will indorse it, it is quite presumptuous on the part of the politicians to insist that he is the man the people want.

Hearst Helping Wilson.

St. Peter Herald: Hearst's attacks upon Woodrow Wilson will do anything but discredit the New Jersey governor in Minnesota. Champ Clark should profit by the Harvey incident and silence a supporter who is injuring his chances.

Flattering to Smith.

Hawley Herald: We hope that our county committee will not have anything to do with trying to push William H. Taft down the throats at this convention. They don't want him. Billy Sunday said in one of his sermons in Fargo a few days ago, "Show me which side the devil is on, then put the Holy Ghost on the other side." Well, show us which side Boss Smith and the gang are on, then put the Clay County Herald on the other side.

Significant Results.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: It is certainly significant that in the states where the people are given a chance to express their choice for president, Roosevelt and La Follette both lead over Taft. The machine is sure getting a black eye.

Good for Democrats.

Morris Sun: The campaign literature being sent out by the Taft and Roosevelt bureaus indicates that there is a great deal of bitterness on both sides, and the charges made are such as to leave some very sore spots after the convention is over. It is generally conceded that the Democrats stand a good chance of electing a president at the next election, and if the various Republican candidates for the nomination only inject enough mud into the campaign, it will make things easy sailing for the opposition party's candidate.

The Common People Score.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: A headline says:

"President Taft Resents Insults," "Patience Exhausted." He is now in a position to appreciate the position of the American people.

Batiste Wants Harmony.

Mos ever tam I read de nuse
Dat's print een Grand Isle Star,
Eet mak me laff to read of Taff
An also Teddy R.
Mabee all right for dem to fite
But I don't tink eet fair
For bote dem to try to get
De presidential chair.

Why we should have two president
Ees more as I can tel
Eet's bad enuff I had jus one,
Wid two eet wood be hel.
Wid two mens at de rudder
Spose dat ship of state go lame
Den bose wood swear de rudder
Was de honly one to blame.

I'd shake de dice with Rosenfelt
Eef I was Mosieur Taff;
Find out rite who get dat job
Den one will have de laff,
No matter which one gets dere,
Someting's goin to bust
For one's hel on reciprosity
An de udder's hel on trusts.

Dat Rosenfelt she lak to hunt
She lak to chase beeg game.
Wheder wid two of four leg
Wid bose she rides all de same.
She hunt de mountain lion, caribou an' moose.

Why the Saw Wouldn't Work.

Kansas City Star: A writer in the Wilson County Citizen tells of a Fredonia man who was planning to build an outdoor sleeping porch at the back of his house and had an expensive new saw sent home from the hardware store. He left his office early the next afternoon with the intention of doing the work himself; he donned a pair of overalls and went at it in good spirits. An hour or so later he came tramping angrily into the house, his face dark with exasperation, and flung himself down in disgust. "That new saw I bought isn't worth five cents," he stormed. "Why, the thing wouldn't cut butter!" His small son Tommy looked up in wide-eyed surprise. "Oh, yes, it would, dady," he said earnestly; "why, Ted and I sawed a whole brick in town with it just this morning."

THE DIPPING SCALES.

Kansas City Star: Justice holds her scales. There comes a poor man and drops a $5 fee to a lawyer in one scale. There comes the opposing man and deposits a $5,000 fee to a lawyer in the other scale. The scales dip to the rich man.

That is the administration of justice today.

It is not fair. It ought not to be legal. It is as bad as if the purchase price went to the itching palm of justice herself and not into the scales to be taken by the lawyers.

The recall of the judiciary and the recall of decisions have been called radical. In truth they but scratch the surface. They are not radical at all; they do not go to the roots. There is only one root remedy, radical remedy. It is to make justice free.

Recall a judge if he be out of tune with right and life. Better than that, recall a decision if it is wrong. But, above all, recall the system of paying lawyers— for that system is selling justice; that is robbing the poor; that is helping greed and power to oppress righteousness and helplessness.

Society is formed to protect from injustice. Men give up much of personal freedom that the thing called justice may prevail equally. When that is done right should be secured to every member of society as a matter of course. The law courts should be as free as air.

But what happens? A group of men within this large social circle say, "Justice has been farmed out to us. We have devised the rules of the game —we have made it a game—and the game will not be played unless we get our commissions."

In that game the man who can play the longest, who can pay the biggest commissions—he is the one who is favored. And so it comes today that justice rarely, if ever, prevails in an American courtroom.

A has $1,000 in property and B has $1,000 in property. No one invades A's right to the property and so he keeps it all. But C attempts to defraud B of his property. B has to go to court to hold what is his. He has as much right to all of his $1,000 as A has to his. But once in court B does not get it. Even though he has the better luck, than frequently falls out—even though he gets judgment quickly (which is improbable)—still he has to give up a part of his $1,000 to a lawyer as the purchase price of justice.

Let it be repeated, that is dead wrong. The citizen has given up his "natural rights" under the law of tooth and fang. B has given up his individual right to defend his own by beating or killing C. But society fails him. Instead of giving him a free public court to take the place of the stone man's club, it makes him give up a part of his rightful possessions as a fee for keeping what is left.

Judicial reforms are right. The recall of decisions (which would affect only political and social conditions) is right. But they will not prevent the scales of justice dipping to the one side of wealth and power. Only the free administration of justice will hold the scales true.

Why Do We Stand It?

William Inglis, in Harper's Weekly: Go inside the hotel and reckon up the band of smiling little pirates that take care of you—head porter, porters, bellboys, waiters, chambermaids, not forgetting the carriage agent, who takes his bit from you before he turns you over to the taxicab pirate who will do you good. You've got to hand over money to every one of them, or they'll make you wish you were locked up in a prison cell. In a prison cell? Why, even there the man who gives up coin gets along ten times as well as the "tight-wad." You know the meaning of "tight-wad," don't you?—the poor fool who thinks that when he has paid the full legal price for anything he has paid all. I notice that the waiters' trade-union announced the other day that they wanted all tips abolished and that the proprietor should pay them living wages. And did you note the wail of pain that arose from the proprietors? They broke into print in the newspapers and declared they could never run their hotels that way. You bet they couldn't. They can't, and they won't.

There's no limit to the game. I never saw a cuter little set of highwaymen than the boys who check your hat and overcoat outside the dining rooms of the hotels and restaurants. They're mighty polite and smiling and attractive. I never grudged them a quarter till I found out they were turning over the coins they gouged out of me to some one. To whom, do you suppose? To the hotel proprietors? Not directly. No; that would be coarse work. The proprietor rents out his "coat-checking privilege" to a padrone for anything he can get, from $5,000 to $15,000 a year. The padrone hires the boys for starvation wages, gives them suits of clothes without a single pocket in 'em, and makes them hand over every coin, as fast as they get it, to his collector.

The Lesson of the Titanic Disaster.

F. W. Fitzpatrick in American Contractor: We who build on land have learned some things from the naval architects and it is barely possible that they could learn a twist or two from us. The salvation of our buildings—from fire—lies in fire-resisting construction and small units of space where fire may originate; the salvation of a ship lies in making it fire and waterproof and cutting it up into as many water-tight compartments as possible.

Collision bulkheads, false keels and midship compartments are well enough but not sufficient. The coal-bunkers, the trunk-hold, the supply compartments, any space about a ship that can be made water-tight should be so and have only emergency openings thereto and that can be closed from the bridge or automatically. But it seems to me, and I have had something to do with ships and am not altogether without experience, and I have advocated it for years (though mariners and naval constructors have steadfastly averred I was wrong) that the decks themselves be made buoyant. Not necessarily detachable decks that would float off in a wreck, a species of raft, as has been advocated, but just buoyant decks. Steel plates top and bottom of deep deck beams, very thin plates on the bottoms to save weight, but amply effective. There would be nothing to close off, no dependence in emergency upon man or machinery, but simply unsinkable construction. Between every two deck beams would be an air compartment. Suppose the ship be rammed by another, or rip its bottom open on ice, or have its bulkheads otherwise put out of commission, it would fill with water to the first deck. There would be encountered a species of "ship-preserver," not sufficient buoyancy to sustain the entire load, but enough to slacken the load. The water would rise to another deck, more buoyancy and so on up, perhaps submerging all but the top decks, but the vessel would float. You couldn't sink it in any storm or crash. Let the accident rip parts of the decks off, still, as long as any beams held together, there would be buoyancy enough to sustain the wreck. Few ships have higher than eight feet decks. Make the deck beams light of section but deep, at least a foot, and then you have, whatever may happen to the vertical water-tight compartments, at least one-eighth of the bulk of the ship in horizontal, absolutely air-tight and water-tight ship-preserving space. Supposing, to get abundant thickness of decks, you have to build ships of one deck less in maximum height, surely that "loss" is as nothing compared to the advantages of having an absolutely unsinkable ship, something our naval architects have not yet given us.

Honesty.

Kansas City Start: An editorial on "Honesty," by the Douglas Tribune: "Most men are honest. Some are strictly honest; some moderate honest; some slightly honest and a few give no visible evidence of honesty whatever."

Can't Catch Them.

Los Angeles Times: A Frenchman drove up in a taxi auto to the Cafe de la Paix in Paris one day and ordered a dozen snails. He devoured them like a starving person. Then he leaned back in his chair, sipping his chablis, and said to the waiter:

"How fine those snails were! They're the first I've tasted for six months."

"Been away, sir?" asked the waiter.

"Yes, I've been spending six months in England."

"And don't they have snails there, sir?"

"Oh, yes," was the reply: "they have them, but they can't catch them."

FRANCIS GIRARD

CLAIRVOYANT AND PALMIST

If you are in need of advice of a Clairvoyant, why go out of the city? Go to one who is reliable. Do Not Be Misled By Fake Clairvoyants who fill the papers with large advertisements and charge a small fee for a reading. This is their way to mislead you, and when you come to their reading parlors they will tell you to write your name or questions on a piece of paper, and through trickery they will mislead you to believe that you have destroyed the paper on which you had written, while in reality the fake medium will merely exchange the paper on which you have written for a blank piece of paper and this he will tell you to destroy, while he has the original paper from which he reads what you have asked, and, calling you by name, answers the questions. This is trickery, not clairvoyancy, and to consult such a person is dangerous and perhaps your ruin. Girard's guarantee of his power to read your life is by his past predictions to many in Duluth and his long stay of eight years in the city. If you are worried and at loss to know what to do, go to one who will help you. He will tell you of all matters of business, investments, stocks, deeds, contracts, changes, journeys, wills, patents, absent friends or relatives, sickness, whether lover is true or false, divorce and marriage, to what you are best adapted and where you will be most fortunate and all matters of life. Girard is reliable, conscientious and you will find his readings a great benefit and help to you, as his powers are wonderful in foretelling you what your lot in life is. Take heed and do not be misled by others who advertise and use trickery methods. Girard is located at 20 West Superior street, Upstairs. Six questions answered by mail, $1.00. When writing send date of birth.

tion in Lovely Lane chapel in Baltimore in 1784, all ministers voted at the conference, and it was not until 1812 that membership to the conference was restricted to elected delegates.

Today's session, marking the opening of the month's program, will be devoted largely to devotional exercises and preliminary business.

Already interest is keen among the delegates as to what action shall be taken on a proposal to change the present disciplinarian rules governing amusements.

The Amusement Rule.

The rule prohibits dancing, games of chance, theater-going, circuses and horse racing as being "a tendency toward worldliness." The proposition as to its retention or rejection has been referred to a committee for consideration. The synopsis, as presented to the committee, sets forth that John Wesley, to guide the conduct of the early Methodists, drew up a rule which forbade "the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

"This left to the individual to decide what specific amusements were proper," the synopsis says. In 1872 the general conference, "alarmed at the increasing worldliness in the church," inserted a rule similar to the present one.

Arguments Against Rule.

Among the arguments advanced in opposition to retaining the present rule, as given to the committee, are:

"It violates Christian freedom.

"It is a source of constant irritation.

"It violates sound pedagogical principles.

"It puts many in an unjust attitude as disloyal to the church.

"It cannot be enforced.

"As an unenforced law it brings discipline into contempt.

"It keeps many conscientious people out of the church.

"It breeds hyprocrisy.

"It has not added to spirituality in the church."

Arguments For Rule.

Arguments for continuing the rule are given as:

"The rule voices a protest against worldliness.

"Repeal suggests a backward step morally.

"Many will avoid harmful things because the church directs.

"Specific utterances are needed about such things.

"The rule gives a means to employ when needed.

The subject is to come before the general conference after the committee has reported.

With the necessity of calling the roll of 856 delegates and assigning committees, the conference, at the first of its month of sessions today, was hardly prepared to take up regular business. It was stated it probably would be several days before the real work of the conference is reached. Only the mornings are to be devoted to conference business, the afternoons being given up to committees and the evenings to reports from missionaries.

BODIES SENT FROM HALIFAX

Some Unidentified Victims of Titanic Disaster Remain at Morgue.

Revised Lists of Those Recovered Are Given Out By White Star.

Halifax, N. S., May 1.—Nearly all of the claimed bodies of Titanic victims brought here by the cableship Mackay-Bennett are today on the way to their several destinations, for burial by friends or relatives.

The slight scrutiny of the unidentified led to what may mean the identification of two of the victims. One man, whose name was not learned, said he recognized one of the bodies as that of J. F. P. Clark, assistant purser on the Titanic, while letters found on another body bore the name of Arthur White.

There are only five women's bodies among the unidentified at the morgue. One of them appears to be that of a Swedish woman and the other four those of Italians. There is little hope apparent of recovering the body of Mrs. Isidor Straus, who stayed by the ship with her husband.

Child's Body Unclaimed.

One little child, a baby girl of about two years, lies among the unclaimed, nameless and without a suggestion of who her parents were or are. Of all the bodies picked up hers was the only one that the waves bore without the aid of a life belt. She was found floating serenely, looking very much like a big doll.

Despite contradictions to the contrary, nearly all of the bodies bore indications that the victims had died swiftly, if not almost painlessly.

Samuel Williams, who inspected part of the unidentified, said that he had but faint hope of finding the body of his brother-in-law, Henry B. Harris, the theatrical man.

The result of the Mackay-Bennett's voyage for the recovery of bodies of Titanic victims may be summed up as follows:

Number of Titanic dead brought to Halifax, 190.

Number of identified dead brought to Halifax, 130.

Unidentified dead in morgue, 60.

Identified dead buried at sea, 57.

Unidentified dead buried at sea, 59.

Total dead buried at sea, 116.

Total found dead by Mackay-Bennett, 306.

Buried at Sea.

The White Star line office here gave out a list of fifty-seven identified dead buried at sea, from data supplied by the purser of the Mackay-Bennett. Although Capt. Lardner had said that he was convinced that it was not George D. Widener's body, but that of his valet, which was consigned to the sea, Mr. Widener's name appeared in the list, which follows:

Clark, 19,903; Wilson, 9,206; delegates-at-large, Coughlin (pledged to Foss), 17,050; Williams, (for preference primary), 8,256.

Just how Massachusetts could send an evenly divided delegation to Chicago while on the preference vote Taft has a plurality of over 3,600 over Roosevelt, partly is explained by the wording of the state presidential preferential primary law enacted two months ago.

Terms of the Law.

By that law every voter, to have his vote recorded, was compelled to mark each delegate at large of his party, there being no circle for voting by groups. The law enabled hundreds of voters to mark the eight names in the delegation headed by C. S. Baxter and styled "For Theodore Roosevelt," and then express a preference for Taft on another part of the ballot.

On the Democratic ticket, although ten of the fifteen candidates for delegates at large to Baltimore were either pledged to or indicated to be "for" Governor Foss, there was no Foss name in the presidential preference column.

Speaker Clark, whose name did not appear in the preference and who defeated Governor Wilson by a vote of 2 to 1, did not have a single pledged delegate on the list. Many of the Democratic district delegates were also elected pledged to Foss.

Many Ballots Thrown Out.

Another incident which some observers say may have had a bearing on the selection of a Roosevelt delegation at large with a Taft preferential, was the sandwiching in of the name of Former State Senator Frank Selbertich, "pledged for Taft," between the Roosevelt and Taft groups. Mr. Selbertich claimed today that he was ill-treated by the Taft managers, and therefore ran independently. Reports from many precincts show that hundreds of ballots were thrown out because voters had invalidated their ballot by voting for nine instead of eight names, beginning with Selbertich and going through the entire regular Taft column of eight names. The space between the name of Selbertich and the Taft group was slight.

Stick to Teddy.

Every one of the eighteen Taft delegates is "pledged to Taft," while all of the eighteen Roosevelt delegates are "for Roosevelt." The Roosevelt leaders declared today that the Taft preference would have no effect upon the eighteen delegates chosen "for Roosevelt," and that the expression of the voters for Taft would be disregarded.

From the reports of the very first town, shortly after noon yesterday, until early today the preferential race between Taft and Roosevelt was a neck and neck affair. Roosevelt had the better of the contest during the early evening, but toward midnight the president forged ahead and gradually increased his lead until he had a comfortable majority at daylight.

On the other hand, the contest between Baxter and Crane, the respective leads of the Roosevelt and Taft delegates at large slates, was close only for a few hours. Then Baxter drew away, until at 8 a. m. today, with forty precincts missing, he had a lead of more than 7,500 votes.

Jolt for La Follette.

The small vote for Senator La Follette was one of the features of the primary, and town after town reported without a single vote being recorded in his favor. To poll less than 2,000 in a Republican primary where over 160,000 votes were cast caused surprise to his supporters.

PICKING JURORS TO TRY CONVICT

Lincoln, Neb., May 1.—With the selection of the jurors who will try Charles Morley for the murder of Warden Delahunty of the state prison well under way, it is probable introduction of evidence will be started before court adjourns tonight. The selection of the jury is proceeding slowly.

The outbreak at the prison, in which three men were killed and the subsequent chase of the convicts, which cost three more lives before it ended in the capture of Morley, the sole survivor, caused wide discussion.

KITTSON COUNTY WHEAT LOOKING QUITE GREEN.

Karlstad, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first wheat seeded in Kittson county is up and the fields begin to look green. Seeding begun unusually early this spring and the conditions have been excellent. The weather has been cool, but this has only given the seeds a chance to root more firmly. Much new land is being broke so as to be seeded into flax.

Massachusetts Primary as a "Horrible Example"--Better System Needed for 1916--Roosevelt Men Hold Conference in Duluth--La Follette Not Coming--Smith Money as Bait to Country Editors.

Puzzle in Massachusetts.

Massachusetts will be another "horrible example" for the lecturers against the presidential primary. The results indicate they have something to point to, but they have no proof that the presidential primary is wrong in principle. It is in the formative stage. The manner of its application is not perfected. The experience of this year will be valuable for the framers of laws for the 1916 campaign. Such confusion as that in Massachusetts will be made impossible.

Taft and Clark carried Massachusetts in their respective parties. The preferential vote gives them a majority, but the Republicans elected eight delegates at large who are committed to Theodore Roosevelt and the indications are that Foss delegates were elected by the Democrats. Foss, the favorite son, was not on the ballot, but candidates favorable to him ran for places on the delegation.

The situation is one that does not seem to have occurred to the framers of the law. It could have been avoided by having one set of delegates for each candidate and having one vote suffice for the presidential preference and the delegates.

It would seem that the delegates at largo would be bound by the preference vote. The delegates are only instruments to express the choice of the people. The people have spoken in the majority for Taft and Clark and it would seem that the vote of the state's delegates at large should be cast in accordance with the will of the people. Whether the elected delegates can put down their personal preferences under the circumstances is a question.

The Democratic situation in Massachusetts is even more complicated than the Republican. There were fifteen candidates for delegate at large. The returns indicate that a majority will be for Foss. Some of the Foss delegates are favorable to Wilson. Clark will have some. The way the vote will go after the "favorite" son vote is out of the way is another question.

The Democratic Situation.

The Democratic situation nationally is a puzzle. Clark is gaining delegates under the field-against-Wilson policy. It happens that most of the states in which delegates have been chosen are states in which Clark had the best chance against the New Jersey governor. Comparatively few delegates have been chosen to the Democratic convention and future developments will determine the chances of the candidates now leading in the race.

The two-thirds rule will probably be an effectual bar to Clark's nomination. Calm thinkers in the party realize that he can make no appeal to the independent vote. Whether the feeling among some of the party leaders that Wilson is an unknown quantity can be overcome is a matter of speculation. The two-thirds rule opens a wide field for speculation and any development at Baltimore will carry little surprise.

Roosevelt Men Confer.

W. F. Knox of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., right bower to the militant Governor Osborn of Michigan and vice president of the Roosevelt national committee, was in Duluth for a few hours last evening. Irving A. Caswell, Minnesota member of the Roosevelt committee, met Mr. Knox here and they conferred with O. J. Larson, John Saari, Harvey S. Clapp, W. E. Culkin, W. A. Eaton and other Roosevelt men. Mr. Knox and Mr. Caswell left for St. Paul last night.

Governor H. S. Hadley of Missouri may come to Duluth for an address before the caucuses, May 11, but that is not settled. The Roosevelt men are confining themselves to a quiet campaign. The caucus tickets will be identified by the ex-president's name so that the voters may make no mistakes. Mr. Caswell is very enthusiastic over the prospect of Roosevelt carrying Minnesota. He says the sentiment for the colonel is especially string in the rural districts and he believes the delegates at large will be for Roosevelt.

La Follette Not Coming.

Senator La Follette is not expected in Minnesota before the caucuses May 11. The California primaries will be held about the middle of May and the Wisconsin senator is busy with that state. His friends are working in Minnesota, but he is unable to give the time to a personal campaign.

Eberhart "Special Edition."

Papers opposed to Governor Eberhart are frowning on the "Eberhart special edition" plan of campaign adopted by the state organization. It is said the country papers are being approached with a proposal that they devote a page to commendation of the governor and his administration and also give an editorial indorsement, all for a cash consideration. Some of the editors may need the money and may succumb, but their influence will be negligible among voters who can recognize paid matter. Other editors, whether they need the money or not, will reject the offer. In fact, some papers that are not flourishing have already turned down the proposal. The country editor is an independent "cuss" and to most editors in Minnesota the name of Boss Smith is as the proverbial red rag to the animal that furnishes amusement for bloodthirsty Spaniards.

Smith and Ismay.

The Northfield News Says:

E. E. Smith is the Ismay of Republican politics in this state. He and Billy Hamm, assisted by the contributory negligence of the Democrats, built up the biggest machine ever constructed in Minnesota. But, with the insane ambition of an intoxicated joy rider, he has attempted to break speed and weight carrying records and has split his machine wide open on the Taft game. He has probably provided himself with a lifeboat in the shape of a good sized bank account, but he will leave poor Adolph on the bridge, whining and weeping, as the masculine turns turtle and disappears. The state machine is more sinkable than its occupants believe.

Would Indorse Nelson.

Friends of Senator Knute Nelson will endeavor to have a resolution indorsing him for re-election adopted at the delegate convention at Minneapolis May 16. The senator has not announced his candidacy for re-election, but his candidacy is assumed.

GEORGE D. M'CARTHY.

Wisconsin Man Run Over.

Osceola, Wis., May 1.—Lewis Marcaus was seriously injured by being run over by a wagonload of hay. The wagon passed over his face, fractured his jaw and cheek bones and also his skull. He is expected to recover.

IMPROVEMENT WITHIN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

"At five months our baby weighed thirteen pounds, while at eight months she weighed only twelve. We fed condensed milk and different kinds of foods and still the child got worse. One doctor said she could not be helped; two others gave me very little encouragement. At last I procured a bottle of Mellin's Food and fed it to her according to directions. She showed an improvement within twenty-four hours after the first feeding and has not been sick a day since. In the three months I have used Mellin's Food the baby has gained six pounds."

COAL DOCKS NEARLY BARE

Bituminous Supply Will Last a Month—Anthracite Nearly Gone.

First Cargoes on the Way—Labor Troubles Still Threaten.

The first coal cargoes will arrive from lower lake ports this week and the filling of voids on the docks in the Duluth-Superior harbor will begin.

Until the labor situation in the anthracite fields is cleared up all coal arriving here will be of the bituminous variety. There is plenty of bituminous coal on the docks to take care of the trade until June 1 and the supplies of railroad contract coal are ample. Some of the grades for the general trade are out, but substitutions could be made if necessary. Stocks of screenings are especially low and several shipments of that fuel will be received this month.

There is still some demand for anthracite from small consumers and substitutions are being made in order to keep the furnaces going during the present spring cold spell. The supply of anthracite coal is low and if the cold spell should be prolonged some people would have to live in chilly houses. It may be possible to get a cargo or two from the lower lake ports, but the coal dealers are extremely doubtful of that. There will be little movement of anthracite until the labor troubles are settled.

The usual spring reduction in coal prices did not become effective this year on April 1, as usual, and no reduction will be made until the situation is cleared up. Ordinarily the coal companies would be busy this month delivering next winter's supply of coal to families at the reduced price, but until the movement becomes free again there will be no coal delivered for next year's use. There is none to deliver even at the winter prices.

The coal movement to the Duluth-Superior harbor last year was nearly 10,000,000 tons and the stocks last fall were unusually large. The severe winter and an unexpected demand from Western Canada made up for the heavy shipments, however, and there is no more coal on the docks here now than at the same period in former years. The bituminous supplies would have held out until June 1, but there is no cause for worry now that shipments have been started.

The movement this year is expected to run over 10,000,000 tons. There may be some increase in dock capacity on account of new docks being built. There is a doubt as to whether the new docks will be ready to receive shipments this year, however. If they are completed within the time promised the shipments will run well over those of last year.

Big Fleet of Boats Clears for the Lower Lakes.

The harbor lights will be put in place this evening and will be ready for use tomorrow. Captains of several of the boats arriving in the past few days have complained of the danger on account of the regular lights not being in place.

Yesterday afternoon the first of the ore boats, which have been wintering in the local harbor, cleared for the lower lakes. The boats all belong to the Pittsburg Steamship company. They are the Shaw, Baker, Gary, Crawford, Buffington and W. R. Linn. Abou tsix other boats, which have wintered here, are now loading ore at Two Harbors and will clear from that port.

An exceptionally large number of boats loaded with grain cleared yesterday afternoon. The H. B. Pope, C. W. Kotcher, Agawa, A. M .Marshall were all loaded with grain and are making their first trip from the local port. This morning the following boats departed loaded with grain: William Livingston, Socapa, Ball Bros., Sylvania, Heffelfinger, A. E. Stewart and Turrett Chief. The Conemaugh of the Ancohr line cleared yesterday with 96,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in bond, with an additional cargo of merchandise.

An addition to the boats departing with grain, the D. J. Morrell, L. C. Hanna, P. Minch, Crete, Adriatic and Edenborn left for the lower lakes with ore and merchandise. The latter three were light and will take on grain at some of the lower ports. The Minch is bound for Buffalo with an entire cargo of Canadian wheat. The H. England is taking on a cargo of 200,000 bushels of oats for Midland and will leave some time this afternoon. The Robert Wallace and J. S. Keefe are also loading grain.

In the arrivals yesterday were five boats light for grain. They are the Empress of Fort William, Andrew Carnegie, J. J. McWilliams, J. G. Munro and C. O. Jenkins. This morning the W. A. Rogers arrived for grain. Other arrivals this morning are the John Lambert, Superior, Crerar, for freight, and the William P. Snyder, Jr., Wilpen, R. P. Ranney, Muncy and the Charles Hebard for ore and coal.

The steamer Shaw, which arrived at Ashland last evening was the first boat to enter that port from the outside this year. The boat reached the Northwestern docks at 9:30 o'clock and will load ore there today. The Wickwire was the second boat to arrive and will also take on ore ot the Northwestern dock.

BANQUET OF "GYM" CLASSES

The annual gymnasium banquet of the Y. M. C. A. will be held this evening in the big gymnasium of the association. The banquet of the members of the various classes of the gymnasium has become an affair that is eagerly looked forward to by the young men of the association and is one of the social events of the Y. M. C. A. yearly program.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the entertainment of the diners. Harry Cheadle, city clerk, will be toastmaster, and as he is an enthusiastic member of the business men's physical class, he will probably inject the true spirit of the gathering into his remarks.

Frank Crassweller will speak on the subject of the gymnasium for profressional men, and W. A. Hart will tell of the merits and amusement of volley ball. Dr. F. F. Clark, who is one of the most enthusiastic handball players of the association, will tell something about the game and its benefits. R. K. Lewis will make some suggestions as to the need of exercise for the business man. F. E. House will speak of the "Inner Circle," and Phil Bevis, retiring secretary of the association, will deliver a farewell address to the members of the physical culture classes. A. B. Wegener, physical instructor, will talk of the proposed health league.

In addition to the speaking there will be a program of instrumental and vocal music, Charles Helmer, Roy Flaaten and William Hancock furnishing the musical program.

FLYNN AND CURLEY LEAVE FOR CHICAGO.

Little Rock, Ark., May 1.—Jim Flynn, matched to fight Jack Johnson for the world's heavyweight championship at Las Vegas, N. M., July 4, and Promoter Jack Curley spent Tuesday here, leaving early today en route from Hot Springs to Chicago.

The party will arrive in Chicago Wednesday afternoon and leave for Las Vegas Thursday. Curley will go to the coast as soon as Flynn is established in training camp and will return to Las Vegas with Trainer Tommy Ryan.

ADAMS CLUB IS AFTER MEMBERS

A membership campaign was begun today by the members of the Adams Athletic association. It is the aim of the club members to secure sufficient new members to permit of the construction of a new club house. Plans and specifications for the prospective home of the Triple A athletes have been completed and if the club is successful in securing new members sufficient to guarantee the cost of construction, work on the new home will start some time the present year.

Various committees have been appointed to go about the work of securing the new members. At the present time the club has a membership list of something like 100 and it is the aim of the officials to increase this to 250, which will allow of the starting of work on the new building, which will be located on First street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues west.

The campaign will be carried on during the present month. Officers of the club are of the opinion that the desired number of new members will be secured before the expiration of the month. The West end athletic club is one of the most prosperous and best conducted clubs in the Northwest.

Motor Show Is On

922 East Superior Street

THE Duluth Spring Show of 1912 Mitchell cars, composed of six models and a white enameled chassis, is worthy of the close attention of buyers. Hundreds have availed themselves of this chance to inspect the popular models of this popular company and expressions of approbation are plentiful.

This exhibit is arranged with the idea of selling cars and also of enabling prospective buyers to increase their store of motor knowledge.

It is a liberal motor education to examine and have explained to you the construction features of the Mitchell five passenger six, the 48 horsepower car selling for $1750. This car is shown in a white enameled chassis, a two passenger gentlemen's roadster and the five passenger complete touring car.

This white chassis is so arranged that a buyer can actually SEE the construction methods used in this high value, moderate priced car. Our expert, Mr. J. P. McAnulty, will give you a technical explanation of gasoline motors, this chassis as a basis, that is absolutely unique. It tells you the "why" of things, explains how the marvelous results are achieved in this car and is a plain, matter-of-fact discussion of the policies of the Mitchell-Lewis Motor Co. that are responsible for its phenomenal success.

In addition there are shown models of the Mitchell two passenger 30 h. p. roadster for $950; the four passenger 30 h. p. demi-tonneau $1,150; the five passenger 36 h. p. touring car, $1,350, and the famous Mitchell "Big Six" 60 horsepower, seven passenger family touring car, 135-inch wheel base for $2,250. ¶ All Mitchell cars are backed by the celebrated Make Good Policy of the Mitchell company, as follows: If anything about the car proves DEFECTIVE, it will be MADE GOOD WITHOUT QUESTION, WITHOUT ARGUMENT, WITHOUT CHARGE and WITHOUT DELAY.

COMMITTEE HARD AT WORK

Three Meetings Held in Interests of Proposed Charter Changes.

Voters Urged to Support Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

The Municipal Reform league committee in charge of the campaign for the adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall is putting in some energetic work. It will not be the fault of that body if a heavy vote is not brought out at the special election on the proposed charter amendment next Tuesday. The action of the city council last Monday night in granting the transfer of a saloon license for the corner of Twenty-Fourth avenue west and Superior street is being used as one of the principal arguments in favor of the change in the charter.

The question was the main theme at three rallies held last evening, one at the Irving school under the auspices of the West Duluth Women's Suffrage club, another at the Endion M. E. church, Nineteenth avenue east and First street, and the third at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

Tomorrow evening a meeting at Duluth Heights will be addressed in support of the proposed amendment, by Dr. D. H. Day. On Friday evening the same topic will be discussed at four meetings. The West End Commercial club will be addressed by Dr. Day and W. E. McEwen; the West Duluth Commercial club by G. W. C. Ross; a meeting at the Second Presbyterian church by E. M. Morgan, Elmer F. Blu and W. E. McEwen, and a rally of the Union Labor Forward Movement at Moose hall by W. E. McEwen.

La Follette Coming.

It is expected that Senator La Follette will speak in Duluth on Monday evening. If he does so, the committee will ask him to speak on the proposed initiative, referendum and recall amendment to the Duluth city charter.

At the meeting held last evening at the Irving school under the auspices of the West Duluth Women's Suffrage club, the principal speakers were Dr. D. H. Day and Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church. Dr. Day severely scored the action of the city council granting the transfer of the saloon license, expressing the opinion that the members were being guided by the wishes of one special interest, instead of listening to the voice of the people who had elected them. But he said that he believed what the city council did last Monday night would result in great good, inasmuch as it would win hundreds and perhaps a thousand votes for the proposed city charter amendment.

Mr. Farrell remarked that from what appeared on the surface it was very evident that the interests that conducted the saloons, gambling dens and red light district were able to dictate the proceedings of the city council. He said it was time to forget national party lines in voting for men for public office. In city government no attention should be paid to the question whether a man was a Republican or a Democrat, he said. Incidentally he took occasion to condemn the campaign that was being waged by President Taft and Former President Roosevelt as being an exceedingly undignified spectacle of "mud-slinging."

At Endion Church.

At the Endion M. E. church, where about 150 gathered, an address was delivered by G. W. C. Ross. Mr. Ross expressed the opinion that the special election to be held next Tuesday evening was the most important election held in the city since twelve years ago, when the present city charter was adopted. He called to mind the stubbornness of the city council, when it refused to rescind its action extending the patrol limits, although the residents of the West end were eager to have that action rescinded. He said the wishes of the electors could not thus be disregarded, if the initiative and referendum were in force. He also told how a delegation of citizens, who had an appointment to meet the mayor at his office at 10 o'clock, waited there until noon, and then dispersed without having had a chance to see him.

At a meeting of about 100, held at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, under the auspices of the Men's club of the church, the main address was delivered by A. G. McKnight. Mr. McKnight said the wishes of the people were often defeated by unequal representation. He said that at the recent election Aldermen Bernard of the Seventh ward and Hicken of the First received 400 more votes than the combined total received by Aldermen Makovsky of the Second, Jordan of the Second, Curren of the Fourth and Sandberg of the Sixth. He said the proposed amendment would give the majority of the people a chance to change that condition, if the city council refused to do so.

The club by a unanimous vote indorsed the proposed measure, and committees were appointed to work to get out the vote of the Seventh ward for it.

RAILWAYS TO ARBITRATE

Strike of Engineers on Eastern Roads Has Been Averted.

Board of Seven Will Be Chosen Within Fifteen Days.

New York, May 1.—The threatened strike of engineers of the fifty roads east of Chicago was averted last night by the signing of an arbitration agreement between the two committees representing the railroads and the engineers.

The arbitration committee will consist of seven members: One from the railroads, one from the engineers, and the other five to be appointed by the two. If the two fail to agree on the five umpires, Chief Justice White, Commissioner of Labor Neill and Judge Knapp will be asked to make the appointments.

Brought About by Mediators.

The settlement was brought about by the efforts of Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, and Judge Martin A. Knapp of the United States commerce court.

They first offered their services as mediators on April 22 in the difference between the railroads and their engineers over the question of wages. The government officials, failing to bring the parties to the dispute together for a settlement on definite terms, took up the alternative of arbiration. The efforts in this direction proved successful after lengthy conferences with both sides.

The form which the arbitration takes represents a compromise. The railroad officials originally asked for an arbitral board of thirteen, while the engineers insisted upon three, or at the most not more than five. The railroads then proposed a board of seven members, of whom one was to be selected by each side, these two to choose the other five. In case they failed to agree upon the other five, the chief justice of the United States supreme court was to be asked to appoint them. Under the final agreement a compromise is reached by including both the chief justice and the mediators as selectors of the neutral arbitrators if necessary.

It is provided that the arbitrators be named within fifteen days.

DEFEAT REPEAL OF INCOME TAX

Motions for Special Session at Madison to That End, Fail.

Madison, Wis., May 1.—By a vote of 62 to 11 in the assembly and 20 to 6 in the senate yesterday afternoon, joint resolutions designated to permit the calling of a special session to repeal the income tax law, were killed.

The resolutions were introduced respectively by Assemblyman Yerkey and Senator Bodenstab.

The importance of urgency legislation in ten special subjects was laid before the legislature by Governor McGovern in his message. The document contains no word with reference to the income tax, because Governor McGovern did not include that topic in his call. Although not intended to be included in the call, non-partisan elections for Milwaukee are treated in the message as a measure for which a great demand has arisen which he did not feel like passing by unnoticed. He recommends the enactment of such legislation at this session.

Relief for Black River.

The governor's message may be summarized as follows:

Relief for Black River Falls—Relief is asked for those rendered destitute by the flood, for the removal of the debris, repair of the sewage system, etc. It is suggested that the city's indebtedness of about $31,000 to the trust funds of the state, be cancelled, at the same time transferring an equal sum from the general fund to the trust fund to keep the latter intact. The state may not appropriate money to support the schools nor rebuild the business section. The governor suggests that the expense of building a retaining wall be met by making an appropriation from the drainage fund, thereby avoiding constitutional objections.

It is recommended that enough money be appropriated to protect the city of Portage and the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys from danger from overflow and an equitable distribution of the expense of repair.

Public Control of Dams.

The Black River Falls disaster is cited as an instance of improperly built dams. Public control of dams is recommended in the interest of "public safety and the general welfare." Legislation is declared to be needed for obtaining ownership and operation by the public of all waterpowers in the state whenever the people desire it.

Weights and measures: Relief for berry growers and commission men from certain "harsh and unnecessary requirements" of this new law is asked, to the end that unexpected hardships be not imposed. "Particularly in the case of berry boxes and peach baskets."

Sale of public lands: It is recommended that chapter 452 of the laws of 1911 be amended to prevent all speculation in public lands and limit sales to actual settlers.

Would Amend Election Laws.

Amendment to election laws: The enactment of a law to validate the nominations and elections held on April 2, 1912, over which the wording of the new apportionment act cast an element of uncertainty, is recommended.

The governor advocates the passage of a non-partisan election bill for the city of Milwaukee, but refuses to indorse the plan with respect to the county.

Lloyds associations: Amendment to the law to make more definite and certain the conditions under which Lloyds associations may be admitted to transact a Wisconsin business, is proposed.

Amandment to the game and fish laws: Legislation to permit the state game warden to take rough fish from state water to be sold for state revenue, is proposed.

THE STORY OF A GREAT TOBACCO

Origin of One of the Biggest Successes in the History of Smoking

"IT'S DIFFERENT!"

How a Nation-Wide Popularity Began in One Man's Pipe

They tell an interesting story of the origin of one of the biggest successes in the history of tobacco manufacture.

When the founder of the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company invented the tobacco process that has since borne his name, his aim was to so treat a tobacco that it not only would not "bite," that it not only would be harmless, but that it would be absolutely safeguarding in its effects on the mouth and throat. The sliced plug and roll cut put out under the Patterson process soon achieved a wide popularity which it holds in the fullest degree, to this day, of representing clean, pure, honest tobacco at its best.

One day the manager of the Patterson manufacturing department slipped into his pipe some of the Burley tobacco that had been granulated in the process of manufacture. He liked this granulated form so well that for two years he made this his personal smoke. But a good thing has to be passed along, and this man finally yielded to the temptation of finding out from his friends whether his taste was peculiar or whether he really had made a "find." The result was that before many months he was embarrassed by peremptory requests from many quarters for "more of that wonderful granulated Burley." "It's different," they said, "the most perfect pipe smoke we ever tried."

Then came an experiment with special bags of this "discovery." In a short time every available bag was gone.

It was in this way that the original granulated Burley began its career. It was in this way that Tuxedo tobacco, now famous over the whole land in the green tin, began its astonishing success.

So quick was this popularity that shipments were for years never better than a month behind the orders. While unable to fill orders it was impossible to risk advertising. It is only now, with greatly extended factory facilities, that the Patterson Company is venturing to tell the Tuxedo story—to carry forward with printer's ink the good work done by enthusiastic smokers—and by Tuxedo itself.

ON THE IRON RANGES

GREAT NORTHERN GOING INTO MINING BUSINESS

President Hill Forecasts What Will Happen When Leases Are Canceled.

Predicts This Year His Road Will Handle About 12,000,000 Tons.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — President Louis W. Hill of the Great Northern, D. M. Philbin, superintendent of the Great Northern ore properties, and A. M. Chisholm of Duluth spent last night and this morning here, arriving on a special train from Grand Rapids shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. They are on a tour of the range and are looking over the Great Northern ore properties. The party left Hibbing by automobile this morning for a visit to some of the mines near Hibbing and others in the Chisholm district. They were expected to proceed to the eastern end of the range this afternoon.

Road to Ship Heavily.

Mr. Hill takes an optimistic view of the mining situation and announced that a considerably larger volume of ore is expected to move over the Great Northern this year than last. He believes the Great Northern will handle in excess of 12,000,000 tons from the Mesaba range this year and anticipates that the year will establish a record in the volume of ore handled to ports on the lower lakes.

That arrangements are being made to work the Great Northern properties on a large scale was apparently indicated by Mr. Hill, when in discussing the situation on the range in general, he said: "We expect to be in the mining business on the range ourselves before long."

This is interpreted as meaning that with the cancellation of the lease on Hill mines with the Steel corporation next year the Great Northern will go into the ore handling and ore marketing business on an extensive scale.

Whether the company will acquire a fleet of boats to carry its ore down the lakes has not developed.

Not Withholding Farming Lands.

Mr. Hill says that the Great Northern has no disposition to withhold lands from the market that are valuable for agricultural purposes and that are not located on what is known as the Mesaba range proper. "Our lands on the range will not be placed on the market," said Mr. Hill, "but tracts off the range will be sold to farmers at reasonable prices. We are thoroughly in sympathy with the movement for the agricultural development of this section. As a matter of fact, however, we have but little land in the immediate vicinity of Hibbing that is valuable for agricultural purposes. Land in this section is more valuable for stripping ground than for farm acres and therefore it will be held for that purpose. I realize that your people are much interested in this matter and I am glad to note that interest. My impression is that it will be found on investigation that there is little land near Hibbing that is not more valuable for mining than for farming."

Referring to a map showing the Great Northern ore holdings Mr. Hill then showed just what tracts the Great Northern has in this section of the range. They are not as considerable as would be supposed.

Mr. Hill also explained that the Great Northern holdings on the Western Mesaba, particularly in the vicinity of Swan Lake are regarded as more valuable as sites for ore washing plants that may be built in the future than for tilling. The company's holdings on Swan Lake include tracts of considerable proportions.

PURCHASES ORE CARS FOR CUYUNA

Northern Pacific Buys Some Wooden Ones From Missabe Road.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four representatives of the Northern Pacific railroad yesterday spent several hours at Mitchell, looking over the wooden ore cars offered for sale by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern. Negotiations were concluded for the purchse of less than 100. The Missabe is offering about 1,100 cars with new steel cars of the latest and best model.

The cars bought by the Northern Pacific go to the Cuyuna range, where they will be used in the transportation of ore over the Northern Pacific to the head of the lakes. Most of them will be loaded at Brainerd. It is announced that the Northern Pacific will this year handle about 25,000 tons of ore from the Cuyuna, most of which will be loaded in the vicinity of Brainerd, while the Soo Line will handle about 250,000 tons, the bulk of which will be loaded at Crosby and Ironton.

Roads Face Busy Year.

Both the Great Northern and Missabe are now furnishing plenty of cars to supply the demands of the ore shippers from local mines. The Great Northern is understood to be placing a large order for new equipment. The Hill line has contracted to handle 12,000,000 tons of ors to the head of the Lakes this season. Railroad men believe it will tax its capacity to do so. That an active season is anticipated is evidenced by the size of the trains hauled and the early movement. About 1,000 cars a day are now being handled out of the Lake. The taller engines have again been put in service here and a train of ore is 130 cars or approximately 4,200 tons.

THREE ATTORNEYS WILL BE ASKED

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city attorneyship bobbed up again last night at the council meeting the question being whether City Attorney Poirier is or is not legally holding office. It is a difference in the reading the city charter with the mayor on one side and six aldermen on the other. To decide the matter the mayor was authorized to consult three attorneys for a ruling.

It was decided to ask for bids for paving work on Virginia avenue from Cook to Orange, on Wyoming avenue from Ash to Orange street, on Beech street from Cleveland avenue to Virginia avenue, on Cedar street from Virginia avenue to Railroad avenue, on Locust street from Virginia avenue to Railroad avenue.

On the question of obtaining from the Virginia Electric Power & Water company, lower rates for water and light, there is a question as to whether the city has authority to arbitrarily require the company to make reductions and the water and light committee was directed to confer with the company and see if the company would on request grant more favorable rates.

The street commissioner was ordered to place men and teams on the roads leading to Gilbert, to Eveleth and to Mountain Iron and to put these in good condition.

City Wages Are Fixed.

Wages were fixed for street laborers at $2.25 per day and for men with teams at $5 per day. The report of the accountants who have been working on the city books was accepted.

The Progressive league, in a communication, cited an instance where Couer d'Alene, Idaho, has obtained a supreme court decision that water companies can not legally require property owners to pay for house connections with water mains. In Virginia a charge of $25 is made. This was referred to the water and light committee and the city attorney. The bonds of the city treasurer was fixed at $50,000. Heretofore it has been $10,000. The city clerk was directed to advertise for bids for all the walks, curbs, gutters and crossings which the city will have made this year.

PETITIONS FOR LESS BEER SALES

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—A case of beer is held to be sufficient for the needs of any family for a week, in a petition which will be presented to the village council at its next regular meeting by residents of Brooklyn, asking that the council find some better way of regulating the sale of beer and liquors by breweries to the residents of that suburb.

The petition recites that by reason of the prevalence of the blind-pig evil, Brooklyn is not as desirable a place to live as it was formerly; that under a recent decision of the district court in a case at Mountain Iron, the brewing companies are responsible for sales in greater quantities than five gallons, and that there are twenty-seven houses in Brooklyn where beer is delivered every week in quantities of from three to ten gallons. The petitioners state upon belief that this quantity is more than any ordinary family needs for its own consumption, and that, therefore, some of it must be kept for sale and so disposed of. It is suggested that the council adopt legislation allowing the breweries to deliver only one case of beer a week to families living in Brooklyn.

It is further held that the present conditions are producing an undesirable type of citizenship, affecting property values and generally are not conducive to the moral tone of the neighborhood, that prosecutions often fail of their purpose by reason of the fact that it is hard to secure evidence, and that if the sales are limited to one case of beer a week to a family conditions will be generally improved.

Crookston, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The honor of meeting the Humboldt high school debating team of St. Paul for the state honors rests with the debating team of the Crookston high school which last night defeated the debaters from Two Harbors, unanimously. They also won a special prize of three scholarships in the Muskegon school of oratory.

The Two Harbors team consisted of William Fortunan, Richard Ericeson and Alton Walstrom. The winning team was composed of Leslie Lee, Walter Baumgartel and Harry Sylvester. The judges were Prof. Boyls of the University of North Dakota, Prof. Wallace of the Duluth normal and Attorney W. Michelet of Minneapolis.

The feasibility of establishing the parcels post was discussed. Last year Two Harbors won the state champion-ship.

Cream Cake

Makes You Hungry to Look at It

When company arrives unexpectedly, this cream cake often covers an otherwise embarrassing situation, for it answers the place of any other dessert as it can be stirred up quickly.

K C Cream Cake

One-half cup butter; 1 cup sugar; yolks of 2 eggs, beaten light; 1¾ cups sifted flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; ½ cup cold water; whites of 2 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter; add the sugar, yolks of eggs and water; then the flour, sifted three times with the baking powder; lastly the whites of eggs. Bake in two or three layers; put these together with cream filling, and dredge the top with confectioner's sugar. 84

Cream Filling

One-fourth cup sifted flour; ¼ teaspoonful salt; 1 cup hot milk; 1 egg, beaten light; ½ cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract; 1 ounce chocolate.

Mix flour and salt with a very little cold milk; stir into the hot milk and cook ten minutes; add the chocolate and stir until it is melted and evenly blended with the flour mixture, then beat in the egg mixed with the sugar, and lastly the vanilla.

You need the K C Cook's Book, containing this and 89 other delicious recipes—sent free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder. Send to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago

HARWOOD JUMPS FROM CUSTODY

Man Being Taken to Fort Frances Leaps From Car Window, Escaping.

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Harwood, arrested here and wanted in Fort Frances for highway robbery while in custody of K. D. Campbell, jumped from the window of a toilet room on the Canadian Northern train near Kinmount last night and escaped. The officer left the train at Cusson and came back here to have the sheriff's office assist in Harwood's recapture. Harwood's family live on Banks avenue, Superior.

FINN SOCIALISTS MARCH ON STREETS

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—One thousand Finnish Socialists marched here today headed by a band celebrating international Labor day. There were many women in the parade pushing baby carriages. The Stars and Stripes were at the head followed by the Socialist red flag. Many women suffragettes with banners followed. They will have a picnic at the grounds on Eveleth road.

THOMAS MURPHY BURIED.

Funeral Services at Moorhead for Aurora Man's Father.

Moorhead, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Thomas Murphy, for the past twenty-one years a resident of Moorhead, who formerly lived in Fargo and was born in Wallaceburg, Ont., May 12, 1853, was held this morning from St. Joseph's Catholic church. The pall bearers were: J. S. Wamback, John Lamb, Jr., P. J. Sullivan, J. A. O'Laughlin, W. H. Diemert and Max Kalbrener.

Mr. Murphy is survived by his mother, who is 91 years of age, and who has been making her home with him, his widow, one daughter and two sons. The daughter, Mrs. Ted Umhoefer, resides at Williston, N. D., one son, Charles T. Murphy, is an attorney at Aurora, Minn., and the other, Claude Murphy, is an employe of the Northern Pacific railway, living here. Deceased also has two sisters residing in New York and Oklahoma.

STATE ORE SHIPPED.

Scranton Mine at Hibbing First to Ship.

St Paul, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first shipment of iron ore from the state mines for the 1912 season has been reported to the state auditor by F. A. Wildes, the state's chief mine inspector at Hibbing. It also is the initial shipment from this mine. A small quantity of ore was removed from the test pits, sunk on the land in 1904.

Mr. Wildes reports that lake navigation opened April 25 and the first ore to be in pockets o fthe docks at Duluth was dumped last week.

Orders Out Slot Machines.

Little Falls, Minn., May 1.—Mayor Brick has ordered all slot machines to be taken out of saloons and confectionery stores today. Since the new administration has been in power one saloon man has been fined for keeping open after the hours prescribed by law.

RAIN

The weather man made good on that shower prediction. The actual rain let up during the morning, but dampness continued in the air. Just to keep the optimists in proper check, another series of showers is promised for tonight and tomorrow.

The sun rose this morning at 4.52 and it will set at 7:18 this evening, giving fourteen hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low pressure conditions over the West and Northwest have caused rains throughout the Northwest and Pacific states during the last twenty-four hours. Rains also fell off the Middle Atlantic coast and Northern Florida. Temperatures have risen somewhat over the Ohio and Mississippi valley. Frosts occurred last night over New England states. At the Head of the Lakes the present showery weather conditions will likely continue during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 1.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Montana—Unsettled; probably occasional showers tonight or Thursday; no important change in temperature.

Upper Michigan—Showers this afternoon and tonight; Thursday generally fair.

Upper Lakes: Moderate southeasterly to southerly winds becoming variable. Unsettled weather with showers this afternoon or tonight, Thursday generally fair weather.

ELY'S PIONEER TEACHER PASSES

Ely, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. A. J. Fenske, first public school teacher in Ely, and the wife of Undertaker Fenske died early this morning. Besides her husband, a son, Earl, and a daughter, Elain, survive. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

CHISHOLM WOMAN DIES.

Wife of Logging Contractor Caldwell Consumption Victim.

Chisholm, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Hilda Caldwell, wife of David Caldwell, died Monday evening from pulmonary tuberculosis. The Caldwell's were among the first to come to this part of the state and Mr. Caldwell has been a successful logging contractor. He has spent the winter in Alberta, Can., and a telegram has been sent informing him of the death of his wife. While suffering over a long period with the malady, the end was not thought to be so near and Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell were planning to leave shortly together for a milder climate in hopes of benefiting Mrs. Caldwell's health. Funeral arrangements have been deferred until the arrival of Mr. Caldwell. Deceased was about 35 years of age.

ALBANY MINE IS BEING PUMPED.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pumps have been started at the Albany mine removing the water from the workings and ore shipments are expected to begin from the property in about two weeks. The Albany is near the Scranton, which is the biggest of the state properties on the range. About 200 men are now employed at the Scranton and the force is being increased. When operating up to its capacity it will employ about 700 men.

RAILROAD MEN IN DEMAND.

Hibbing, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Railroad men to work in the train and engine service are said to be in demand on both the Great Northern and Missabe. The latter line is now advertising for operatives. The Duluth & Iron Range is also said to be short of trainmen and enginemen and have applied to the Missabe to furnish them as many men as possible.

It is predicted that when the Oliver Iron Mining company gets all its properties running up to capacity there will be a genuine scarcity of enginemen and trainmen in this section. Telegraph operators are in particular demand.

PORTAGES ARE TO BE MARKED

Forestry Service Will Show Canoeists Who Travel Through Country.

Ely, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Signs have been prepared by the United States forestry service to be placed at each portage within the domain and jurisdiction of that service. The signs will tell the length of, distance and direction to the next portage, rules governing the use of certain camp sites and the distance to the next camp site. It is expected that these will not only prove of benefit to those who are seeking to traverse the forest, but will also provide a protection against fire, rules for the governing of all camp fires will be explained.

The need of something like this is just beginning to be felt here at Ely, as an unusual number of canoeists are expected to be camping and traveling in the woods this season.

The Tuesday club was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Mitchell on Camp street. After the program was rendered refreshments were served. The club will meet next time with Mrs. A. J. Thomas.

The Queen Esther circle was entertained last evening at the home of Miss Enright at the Savoy location. A social evening was spent, after which refreshments were served.

DREXLER MURDER CASE IS MAKING PROGRESS.

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — The case of the state is nearing an end in the trial of John Drexler, charged with fatally shooting Axel Pakkala in a saloon here Dec. 24. Mike McGann, a police officer for the Oliver company, identified the gun with which Drexler did the shooting. Other witnesses told how Drexler, after the shooting, had attempted to blow out his own brains and when he did not succeed, because there were no more shells in the gun, asked others to shoot him. In the cross-examination of the state witnesses, an effort has been made by the defense to show that Axel Pakkala was quarrelsome and a bully, having many fights with men who went into his place, and it is expected that the defense will be self-defense.

WINTON MILLS RUNNING.

Winton, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — The St. Croix and Swallow-Hopkins Lumber companies began sawing Monday morning. An unusual number of logs have been cut during the past winter and an especially heavy season is expected. During the past winter the St. Croix plant was enlarged and it will now be worked to full capacity. The ice in the lakes has prevented an earlier start.

Preparing for Recall Election.

Virginia, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special meeting of the Progressive league will be held this evening when President Carl R. Johnson will be ready to announce the names of the three committeemen-at-large and the two from each ward, who will have charge of the recall election. It is also expected that at the regular meeting of the league Thursday evening there will be announcements made of the men who have been secured as candidates to contest the seats in the council with the six men who have been recalled.

Insurance Company Is Suing.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hawkeye Insurance company is prosecuting an action for damages in the district court here against the Great Northern Railway company to recover $15,000 damages for fires on the Western Mesaba, which, it is claimed, were started by sparks from the railroad's locomotives. Joseph W. Reynolds of Duluth appears for the insurance company and C. O. Baldwin of Duluth for the railroad.

Ely Pioneer Very Sick.

Ely, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — Richard Chinn, who has been for about twenty-three years a resident of Ely, and who, during that time, has been actively connected with the mining, civic and church work of Ely, is very ill. Mr. Chinn is the father of Former City Treasurer Harry Chinn. He was taken Saturday to the Shipman hospital, where he now is.

Ely Saloon Keeper Fined.

Ely, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.) — Judge Jury, in municipal court, imposed a fine of $15, including costs, against George Harder, a saloon keeper, for disorderly conduct, it being claimed there was a disturbance in his place when some women visited it.

CHICAGO CROOKS USING MOTORS

Chicago, May 1.—Strict orders were given to policemen today to watch for criminals who utilize automobiles in their attacks. The order was inspired by the attack on Marion Goreckl, a girl student at the University of Chicago high school, who was waylaid and robbed of her jewelry by men who dragged her into an automobile, and by depredations of three who robbed the cashier of a baking company and escaped.

Another automobile mystery which the police are attempting to solve became public with the statement of Amelia Numann, 19 years old, employed by a professor at the University of Chicago, that she had been pulled into an automobile, abused and robbed by three men last Thursday night.

The robbers who attacked the cashier have not been arrested, but motor cycle police, after a spectacular chase, overhauled an automobile of the same description as the one used by them. The chauffeur would not stop and sought to force the motor cycle police onto the curb. Riding at a forty-mile clip, the police jumped to the running board of the automobile and clubbed the chauffeur into submission. In his cap was found $100 in bills and he is believed here to have been the driver of the robbers' car.

WOULD EXTEND KINDERGARTEN

Delegates at Des Moines Will Propose Change in School Systems.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 1.—Superintendents of education throughout the country will be asked to extend kindergarten work through the first three years of child school life, according to announcement today during the second session of the International Kindergarten union. Today's program included reports of officers and addresses by prominent educators.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MORE DATA ARE DESIRED

North Dakota State Railroad Commission Invites Advices From Shippers.

Claims Obnoxious Classification, No. 54, Would Entail Extra Burden.

Bismarck, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—President W. H. Stutsman of the state railroad commission has made another appeal to the shippers of North Dakota for accurate statements covering the effect of the western freight classification, No. 51, which about fifteen Western states seek to have amended or set aside.

The North Dakota commission made a tour of the state, to acquaint the shippers with a more general knowledge of the effect of the proposed new classification, and to secure from the shippers statements of its effect on their business.

Three public hearings were held and considerable valuable information secured, showing that the shippers of North Dakota are practically unanimous in their condemnation of the new classification, claiming it will raise the cost of shipping very materially.

President Stutsman attended the hearing held in Washington last month, and since his return he and Rate Expert Little of the commission have redoubled their efforts in securing a thorough statement from the Dakota shippers, which will be filed with the interstate commerce commission in opposition to the measure.

Much Against Shippers.

"The classification schedule," said President Stutsman, "will operate to the disadvantage of the North Dakota jobber in many instances. The manner in which carload lots may be made up under the new classification," he says, "will operate to the disadvantage of the big syndicate or mail order concerns in some cases, and against the interests of the local retail merchant and the jobber of this state.

"The whole subject of the possible effect of broadening the mixed carload privilege is so complicated that the board of railroad commissioners would like to hear fom all lines of business, including individual consumers, equity societies and everybody who may in any way be affected."

TWENTY-THREE WILL GRADUATE

Agricultural College, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The eighteenth annual commencement of the North Dakota Agricultural college will be held here May 31 to June 4, and twenty-three students will receive degrees.

The commencement concert will be given the evening of Friday, May 31, and on Saturday evening the commencement for the high school department graduates will be held.

Sunday the baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Bishop Robert McIntyre of St. Paul.

Monday the senior class program and senior class play will be given.

Tuesday, June 4, will be commencement day proper. There will be the commencement procession at 10 o'clock; the exercises at 10:30, with an address by F. C. McDowell, state senator from LaMoure; the dinner at 1 o'clock at Cere's hall, the reception by President Worst at 3 o'clock and the alumni ball and banquet at 6 o'clock.

Those Slated for Degrees.

The candidates for degrees, comprising the class membership, follow:

Bachelor of science in home economics—Grace Butacoe, Fargo; Lucy Cookburn, Webster; Fern Dynes, Fargo; Ella Heidner, Fargo; Lillian Merritt, Moorhead, Minn.; Helen Hoover, Alma Leeby and Addie Stafford, Fargo.

The officers of the senior class follow: President, Ben Barrett; vice president, Clarence Waldron; secretary, Helen Hoover; treasurer, Ella Heidner.

C. A. JOHNSON OUT FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Minot Man Again Enters Race and Petitions Are Being Circulated.

Minot, N. D., May 1.—Petitions requesting Secretary of State P. D. Norton to place the name of C. A. Johnson of Minot on the ballot for the Republican nomination for governor, are being circulated in Minot and throughout the northwestern part of North Dakota.

Johnson's entrance into the fight is construed by some to mean that Congressman Hanna will have a lively contest for the gubernatorial nomination and that J. A. Buchanan will land the plum.

Conditions, surrounding Johnson's candidacy now are considered different than they were two and four years ago, when he was successful in securing the party nomination, only to be defeated at the fall election in both instances.

Was Different Before.

Four years ago he and Treadwell Twichell were the candidates and the split was along the line of division between the stalwart and progressive factions.

Two years ago Johnson had an advantage in the fact that there were then two candidates in the field who divided the progressive support to a certain extent, J. A. Buchanan and H. H. Aaker. The votes given those two candidates exceeded the vote cast for Johnson, although the latter had a good plurality.

Now the situation is turned about, and instead o ftwo probressive candidates, there are two stalwart candidates for Mr. Johnson will be generally recognized as a stalwart.

McHENRY COUNTY DEMOCRATS AMBITIOUS.

Rugby, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Democrats of McHenry county will put a full ticket in the field this year, being confident that they have a splendid chance to elect at least a portion of their candidates. This action was determined upon at a meeting of the county central committee held in this city, presided over by F. F. Fritz, county chairman.

The organization indorsed Mr. Fritz as a candidate for re-election to the house of representatives. He was elected two years ago from this county despite the fact that it is normally Republican by a large majority.

FARMERS WILL OWN ELEVATORS

Soil-Tillers Near Hillsboro, N. D., Going to Handle Grain.

Hillsboro, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers of Eldorado township, this county, have decided to go into the grain shipping business on their own account, and have organized the Eldorado Elevator & Shipping company, with a capital stock of $15,000. It is the purpose of the county to erect one or more elevators. The directors are M. H. Johnson, Henry Strom, A. Steenson, J. A. Sorum, John Chelson and John Mergenthal.

At Brantford, Eddy county, the Security State bank has just been launched with a capital of $10,000.

MANY SALOONS HAVE TO CLOSE

New Law Reduces Number of Saloons in Northern Michigan.

Marquette, Mich., May 1.—At midnight last night some 200 saloons in the Upper Peninsula were forced out of business, fully that number having been refused licenses by the various city, village and township boards throughout the peninsula, in conformity with the provisions of the Warner-Crampton liquor law and the decisions of the state supreme court, limiting the number of saloons in the state to one for every 500 population.

In Marquette the number of saloons was reduced from 46 to 20, a reduction of 16. Red Jacket looped off 40, Hancock cut out 20, Menominee removed a score of the liquid refreshment parlors, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Escanaba, Sault Ste. Marie, Crystal Falls, L'Anse, Baraga, Houghton, Ontonagon, Laurium—practically every town and hamlet north of the straits found a way to bring the reduction of its saloons to the allotted number.

More Must Quit.

The supply of saloons is still too large and at least 100 more must go before the Upper Peninsula is strictly within the limits of the Warner-Crampton law, but the municipalities feel that they have made a very good beginning.

The loss of revenue was brought forth as the principal objection to the elimination of superfluous saloons. The Soo, which adjusted its saloon situation immediately after the passage of the Warner-Crampton act, solved this problem by dividing the establishments by two and multiplying the license fee by the same number, which, it found, gave the same result financially. Thus Soo saloons for the last two years have paid a license fee of $1,000 per annum in place of the former commission of $500, and both the municipality and the saloonists find themselves well pleased with the state of affairs.

BURNED HOTEL TO BE REBUILT

Citizens of Cass Lake Will Assist in Erecting New Structure.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A largely attended mass meeting for the purpose of devising ways and means to have the Cottage hotel on Star island, which was destroyed by fire last Thursday, rebuilt, was held yesterday. The meeting lasted less than half an hour all told, but during that time Suitor & Seelye were given more help than they had ever hoped for. They had not asked any, but the citizens of their own volition came forward with assistance and it was definitely announced that a new two-story hotel, twice the size of the old one, will be ready for occupancy on Star island before June 15. The new hotel will be known as "Star Island Inn." Had the old hotel not burned it would have been opened May 1, as it was booked for capacity from that date.

CHESTER IS BRIDEGROOM.

Well Known Author Is Wedded to Indian Princess.

Green Bay, Wis., May 1.—Orin J. Kellogg, who was referred to in press dispatches announcing his marriage to Lauri Minnie Cornelius, one of the brightest women among the Oneida Indians, as "a wealthy real estate man of Seymour," has turned out to be George Randolph Chester, author of the Wallingford stories. He and the talented Indian girl met two years ago, and as both engaged in literary work, they became friendly. The marriage at Stevens Point last week is the result of that friendship. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg, for Kellogg is Chester's real name, will live at Oneida.

IS AFTER BURGLARS.

Fort Rice, N. D., Village Marshal Has Taken One Law-Breaker.

Mandan, N. D., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village marshal at Fort Rice has already caught one of the burglars alleged to have pulled off several stunts there.

Following the burglarizing of two stores there, the marshal discovered that the stolen goods had been hidden in a dugout in a coulee near town. Several nights of watching finally yielded results, Ord Whiting being captured while he was removing the goods from the cave to a wagon, which he had about half full when the officer arrested him. Whiting has a wife and three children. He is said to have made a statement implicating another in the affair.

Roseau Boy Kicked.

Roseau, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 11-year-old son of Nels Pencer met with a bad accident Monday. He was feeding the horses when a colt kicked the boy in the face, fracturing the nose and cheek bones and making a cut nine inches long.

BROKEN NECKED PRISONER WINS HIS FREEDOM.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 1.—"If I am sentenced to the workhouse, a bolt from heavon will strike the city hall and annihilate its occupants," screamed Theodore Peters in district court, when charged with being drunk. "My condition is so critical that it would be death for me to remain in a cell for many nights."

Peters has a broken neck, the result of an accident several years ago. His head is supported by a harness which he is unable to remove without the assistance of an expert in the use of the appliance.

The court took pity on the cripple and gave him one hour to leave the city. This is his second appearance in court. He was sent to Chicago a week ago, but returned to enjoy the city's hospitality.

NEW WISCONSIN PAPER.

Stone Lake, Young Town on Soo, to Have Publication.

Couderay, Wis., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Noyes, publisher of the Sawyer County Gazette at Winter, is making preparations to launch the Stone Lake Herald, a weekly newspaper to be published at Stone Lake, a town on the Soo Line in Sawyer county. Thomas Noyes, a son of the veteran newspaper publisher of the Gazette, will be in charge of the new weekly, the first copy of which will be out some time in May.

North Dakotan Accused.

Williston, N. D., May 1.—Justice Divibliss, who came to the locality near Springbrook recently from West Virginia bringing his family has been bound over to the district court under $800 bonds on the charge of mistreating his 10-year-old daughter. His wife is the complaining witness.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—Albert Braband, one of the early settlers of Sheboygan, Wis., veteran of the Civil war and Milwaukee resident for forty years, died Monday, aged 69 years, following an illness of six months. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Waukesha—Mrs. Grace Ruby, aged 78, widow of Jacob Ruby, died Sunday morning at her home, 115 Wright street. She was born in the state of Pennsylvania, but spent practically all her life in Wisconsin.

Manitowoc—Caught between a switch engine and the freight platform, Chester Cooney, aged 34, received such serious injuries that but slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Cooney's left leg was broken at the thigh, and he received severe internal injuries which it is believed will cause his death.

Madison—The petition of Albert G. Selker to bring suit against Mayor Robert Connor of Marshfield, brother of Former Lieutenant Governor W. D. Connor, for alleged violation of the new court practices law, was granted by the governor. District Attorney John B. Chase of Oconto county was appointed by the chief executive to prosecute the case, which is the first to arise under the corrupt practices act.

Eau Claire—Dates for the annual spring festival of the Philharmonic society have been set for May 15, 16 and 17. A chorus of 150 voices and 25 musicians will participate. Alterations will be made to the interior of the opera house.

Neenah—A delegation appointed by the motormen and conductors on the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company waited upon A. K. Ellis, superintendent of the company which operates the interurban line between Neenah and Kaukauna and the city line in Appleton, and asked for more pay. M. Ellis suggested that a petition be prepared to be presented to John I. Beggs of St. Louis, president of the company.

Milwaukee—The forty-second anniversary of the founding of Wisconsin lodge, Knights of Pythias, was celebrated with a banquet Tuesday night in Castle hall, Biddle and Van Buren streets. Judge Franz C. Eschweiler presided as toastmaster. Addresses were made by W. A. Hayes, E. J. Henning, L. M. Jaeger, B. L. Hibbard and William Hinsey.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—Archie Verville, will commence work on the construction of an office building for the Lake Superior Iron & Metal Co. of Ripley, within a few days. The structure is to be put up at the company's new location near the Pryor sawmill.

Baraga—George Schofield, one of the oldest pioneers and log scalers in the Upper Peninsula, died here, aged 79. The deceased was one of the oldest settlers in Baraga, coming to this village some forty years ago before the erection of the Nester lumber manufacturing plant.

Hancock—Joseph Allen, one of the oldest copper washers and mill men in the Copper Country, and the father of Houghton county's first temperance organization, died at the home of his step-son, James Butler, at Mason Sunday night at the age of 84. Death resulted from a gradual decline due to the pioneer's advanced age.

Houghton—As a mark of appreciation, for his services, Palestine commandery, Knights Templar, presented retiring Commander William B. McLaughlin wich a diamond set past commander's jewel at the installation exercises. The presentation was made by F. A. Jeffers of Atlantic.

Ishpeming—A consignment of 60,000 brook trout fry was received here Monday morning and was immediately taken to the streams north and south of town by local sportsmen.

Negaunee—T. F. Cole of Duluth, president of the Volunteer Ore company, which operates the Volunteer mine at Palmer, was in the city Monday and paid a visit to the company's property.

Laurium—Minnie Heikka, aged 14 years, 6 months, died Sunday. Kidney trouble was the cause. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon, with services at the residence at 3 o'clock and interment in Lake View cemetery. Rev. A. L. Heidemann will officiate.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D. — Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lykken, who are in the East, will not sail on May 4 for Norway as expected, owing to the fact that the ship they had engaged passage on, the Olympic, is tied up by the strike in England. It is expected that they will sail on May 9.

Fargo, N. D. — Lucky Bob St. Henry, the famous North Dakota aviator, will soar above the clouds in his airship during the North Dakota state Elks' convention on the afternoon of June 5. Arrangements have been made between St. Henry and Addison Leech, chairman of the field committee, for a number of flights at the time stated above.

Hillsboro, N. D. — Relatives at Hillsboro have received word from the office of the White Star Line company to the effect that John H. Nysven was a passenger on the boat and that he was not rescued. Nysven was a prominent farmer of the Hillsboro district and was on his way home from Norway, where he had been on a visit. He was 61 years old and leaves a number of children.

Grand Forks, N. D. — The first demonstration field to be selected for the work of the Better Farming association in Grand Forks county has been selected. It will be a ten-acre tract on the farm of County Commissioner Pourpore in Ferry township.

Devils Lake, N. D. — Racing across the country against time, carrying a cargo said to be worth half a million dollars, a "silk special" of the Great Northern passed through Devils Lake Sunday night, running as first section of No. 2. Six carloads of the product from the Island empire, with an express and baggage car, made up the train, which in realiaity was No. 28, the fast mail, running ahead of time.

Sturgis, N. D. — Word has been received here by John Slifven, a rancher living near Vale, that his daughter, Mrs. Anna Lahlina, and her husband, were lost on the Titanic. Mr. and Mrs. Lahlina had been to Finland for a six months' visit and were on the way home. A cousin of Mr. Slifven, Lydon Slifven, was on the Titanic, but was saved.

Sioux Falls, S. D. — A jury in the state circuit court returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the case of Anton Iverson vs. Carl Lock, the defendant being the proprietor of a Sioux Falls meat market. The plaintiff sought to recover damages in the sum of $20,000 for the loss of a hand in a bone-cutting machine while in the employe of Lock last year.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—E. C. Daley, a local millwright, who has made his home at the pumping station for some time, left this morning with his son for Stillwater, Minn., where he will make his future home.

Onamia—The resignation of Oscar Werner as supervisor was received and accepted by the town board. A new member will be appointed at the next meeting. Mr. Werner, who has been on the board for some time, felt that he could not give the work the attention it requires.

Crookston—Before Judge Gossman on Monday, Jerome Plunk was held to the June term of the district court, charged with passing forged checks here recently. His partner, Harry C. Collins, was held several days ago. Checks were passed on Henry Brosseau and Meng & Garvick, but an attempt to pass one on Ben Rosenberg led to the arrests.

Bemidji—Charles Gerlinger has the best average during his high school career of the senior class, but as he has not been in the Bemidji schools long enough he cannot be valedictorian. His average was 87.81. Leopoldine Rauscher has the second best average, so will he valedictorian for this year's class. Her average was 83.56.

International Falls—G. A. Elder of Duluth is here looking after matters incident to the issue of refunding bonds which the county will soon offer for sale and for which he will be a bidder.

Redwood Falls—Herbert Ackman, a farm hand employed by Floyd Reynolds, a farmer near this city, shot and killed a bald eagle Sunday at that place which measured nearly thirteen feet from tip to tip. This is the first eagle killed in this section of the state for many years.

St. Paul—The fifty-fourth anniversary of the admission of Minnesota is the date set for the fifteenth annual meeting of the Minnesota Territorial Pioneer association at 10 a. m. May 11, here at the old capitol. Rev. William McKinley, D. D., Winona, will offer the invocation. J. E. Simms, Albert Lea, will sing an original ode to Minnesota. Mrs. Frank Ford, Newport, will read an original poem on Minnesota.

Le Sueur—David B. Marsh, former manager of the Farmers and Merchants' Telephone company of Le Sueur, is under arrest on a charge of having embezzled $1,600 of the company's funds. Bail has been fixed at $1,000, which amount he was unable to furnish.

Little Falls—Mrs. M. Ward died Sunday morning at International Falls. Mrs. Ward was a daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Newman of this city and was born at Pierz in December, 1887. She was a sister of Dr. J. H. Newman of this city, Dr. H. C. Newman of Wadena, Dr. William Newman of Perham, Peter Newman of Crosby, Mrs. D. Brown of this city, Mrs. John Bracke of Crow Wing lake and Mrs. H. Carlisle of this city.

St. Cloud—Announcement is made of the incorporation of a new company to be known as the Monarch Granite company, which will take over the business of Jacob Lilliquist and continue the manufacturing of monuments from the famous Monarch red granite quarry controlled by this concern. It will also handle a gray stone which is known as St. Cloud gray or New Quincy.

Little Falls—Sister Mary Agnes, of the Franciscan Order, died here Sunday evening, age 49 years. The funeral took place Sunday morning. She was, before joining the order, Miss Katherine Keppers of Avon, and was a sister of Mrs. Peter Orth of St. Cloud.

Moorhead—Clerk of Court G. D. McCubry is busy preparing the calendar for the general May term of district court, which convenes in Moorhead on May 6. The calendar is the longest ever prepared for a term of court in Clay county, and contains 154 civil cases, besides a number of criminal cases, carried over from the October, 1911, term.

Red Wing—Samuel Turner, one of the pioneer settlers of Goodhue county, died at his home in Vasa. He had been confined to his bed for the past two or three years, but had suffered little and until recently his mental faculties were alert. He was born in the province of Smoland, Sweden, Sept. 8, 1819. Coming to this county in 1883, he bought a farm in Vasa, where he has lived since that time. Mrs. Turner died about seven years ago. He is survived by four daughters and one son.

GOLD DUST makes hard water as soft as rain water

Every good housewife knows the value of nice, soft, rain water for washing clothes and for all cleansing purposes. It isn't always convenient to secure rain water, however. Neither is it necessary. Gold Dust will soften the hardest water, and make it so near like the water that falls from the clouds that you couldn't tell the difference.

Think what this means to you on wash day. There's a deal of difference between the action of hard and soft water for all cleansing. Just a little Gold Dust added to the water renders it soft and brings out the greatest cleansing value.

Try it the next time you wash clothes or dishes.

Gold Dust really cleanses so easily that it relieves housework of all its drudgery.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

A POOR WAY TO HIDE

The ostrich endeavoring to conceal itself from danger, thrusts its head into the sand, doubtless believing that if it cannot see, neither can it be seen. This is a poor way to hide because it leaves the body almost entirely exposed to attack.

Just as ineffectual is the attempt to cure Skin Diseases by the application of salves, cosmetics, lotions, "creams," "skin foods," etc. True, such treatment may gloss over or temporarily hide the outward eruptions, in some cases, but this method does nothing to destroy the impurities, humors or acids in the blood, which produce skin disorders, and the trouble is no more cured than is the ostrich hidden.

Lying just beneath the outer covering or tissue-skin is a membranous flesh which surrounds and protects the tiny veins, pores and glands. It is here the impurities from the blood are deposited and the acrid matter causes irritation and inflammation, which splits or breaks the thin, tissue-like cuticle, and the result is manifested in Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Acne, pimples, or some other disfiguring or annoying eruption.

Since Skin Diseases are the result of bad blood it can readily be seen that there is but one way to produce a cure, and that is, to purify the blood. Local treatment can only afford temporary relief.

S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind by neutrallzing the acids and removing all humors from the blood. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin instead of being irritated and inflamed by sour impurities, is nourished and soothed by this cooling, healthy stream of blood, and all disfiguring blemishes or eruptions gradually but surely disappear. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and therein lies its ability to cure skin diseases. The trouble cannot remain after the cause has been removed, and S. S. S. will certainly remove the cause. It cures Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Acne, pimples, boils, rashes, and all eruptions of the skin.

OLDEST VETERAN WILL BE HONORARY MARSHAL OF PARADE

Duluth's oldest surviving war veteran will be asked to assume the honor of honorary grand marshal in the Memorial day parade and other ceremonies of the day which will be held on May 30.

The honorary grand marshal will have a staff composed of the next four oldest veterans.

These and other plans for a popular observance of Memorial day were discussed last evening at the annual meeting of the citizens' staff of the Grand Army of the Republic, which was held last evening at the Commercial club.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: John E. McGregor, succeeding S. S. Williamson as president; H. L. Dresser, re-elected vice president; E. B. Dunning, secretary; J. E. Horak, treasurer, and an executive committee consisting of the following: R. H. Davenport, H. F. Sleepack and W. B. Getchell.

In arranging for a Memorial day observance, the Grand Army of the Republic will confer with the Sons of Veterans and the United Spanish War Veterans. A joint meeting will be held in Memorial hall in the near future.

PRESIDENT J. E. McGREGOR
Of the Citizens' Staff.

CLEARINGS INCREASING

Business of Duluth Banks Showed Big Gain for April.

The Duluth bank clearings of the month of April, 1912, show an increase of more than 31 per cent over the clearings of the corresponding month of last year. The clearings of the month just over were $12,646,973.49 against $9,627,105.97 for the month of April, 1911. Duluth bankers attribute the large clearings of April, 1912, mainly to the vast influx of Canadian grain into the Duluth elevators. As the grain was handled here, many of the financial transactions in connection with its shipment for export to Europe had to be done in Duluth through the Duluth banks. Hence the clearings were swelled to a big total.

As the Canadian harvest becomes larger and larger from year to year especially in the western part of that country, it is hoped that the shipments via Duluth will be a permanent feature in the handling of Canadian export grain. Therefore, this movement will permanently increase the bank clearings and general business of Duluth.

Duluth bankers say that with the opening of navigation, the trade of Duluth is increasing in spite of the political disturbances, which have been handicapping trade over the country at large. They point to a total of $23,319,156.59 of deposits in Duluth's four national banks, shown by the replies that the banks made to a recent call for statements by the comptroller of currency at Washington. Such a total they declare is remarkable for a city the size of Duluth.

NEW HAMPSHIRE VOTES FOR TAFT

Delegates to Chicago Will Support Him Until Released.

Concord, N. H., May 1.—The state Republican convention yesterday elected delegates to the Chicago convention favoring the renomination of President Taft, and instructed them to vote for him until released. A clause in the platform presented to the convention instructing the delegates not to vote for Col. Roosevelt under any circumstances, was stricken out after a heated debate.

HAMMERSTEIN WINS ROYALTY

King George and His Queen at London Opera House.

London, May 1.—At a gala performance for the benefit of the League of Mercy at the London opera house, Monday afternoon, Oscar Hammerstein, whose company presented the performance, was presented to the king. In receiving Mr. Hammerstein, King George said:

"I am delighted with your efforts and am pleased to be in your house."

To this the impresario replied:

"I feel greatly honored to have the privilege of shaking hands with the king of England."

Mr. Hammerstein was afterwards presented to the Princess Alexandra and others of the aristocratic assemblage which crowded the house. All the legations and embassies were represented. The American ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid occupied their boxes.

The king was greatly pleased with the garden scene from "Faust," in which four Americans, Miss Felice Lyne, Orville Harrold, Miss Locke and Henry Weldon Hughes, assumed the principal roles.

At the conclusion of the performance Miss Lyne was summoned to the royal box by the queen, who said to her:

"I am delighted with your singing and hope to hear you again. I understand you are half American."

To this Miss Lyne replied: "Thank you very much, your majesty, but I am all American."

CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Union Labor Forward Movement Planned By Trades Assembly.

The "forward movement" of the Duluth labor unions will be on in full swing this week.

The first gun will be fired Friday evening at Moose hall, 224 West First street, when Collis V. Lovely, boot and shoe workers' union organizer, will speak in furtherance of the cause.

Mr. Lovely is an organizer of national reputation. He has served on committees in different states to investigate the convict labor question and is said to be a well-informed man on matters industrial.

The Union Labor Forward Movement was discussed last evening at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Assembly. It was decided to carry out an energetic campaign. It is planned to organize as unions at least twenty of the forty unorganized trades of Duluth.

W. E. McEwen, who was sent as a delegate to Minneapolis, says that the forward movement in that city is meeting with unqualified success and that large crowds are being attracted.

FAILED TO EARN ITS DIVIDENDS

Small Earnings of Steel Corporation for Past Quarter Year.

New York, May 1.—That the United States Steel corporation failed to earn its dividends on the preferred and common shares for the first three months of this year by more than $6,000,000, was disclosed yesterday at the regular quarterly meeting of the directors. Earnings, after charging interest on subsidiary bonds, amounted to only $17,824,973. After making the usual allowance for depreciation and other regular fixed charges, including the sinking fund, net earnings were reduced to $12,108,415.

A further deduction of $5,741,849, representing interest for the quarter on the outstanding issues, reduced the balance applicable to dividends to $6,366,566. Inasmuch as $12,658,700 was necessary to meet dividend requirements on the preferred and common shares, a deficit of $6,292,134 was created. In the language of the official statement this was "provided from the undivided surplus of Dec. 31, 1911."

Earnings and net earnings, as reported yesterday, compared with $23,105,115 and $19,198,521 respectively for the quarter immediately preceding and with $21,913,203 and $20,001,817 for the first quarter of 1911.

Yesterday's meeting was largely attended and unduly prolonged. It was rumored that some of the directors favored a reduction of the common dividend because of the showing, but this was denied. Neither Judge Gary nor any other prominent official of the corporation would amplify the financial exhibit. The statement is based on a scale of prices for finished products much below that now prevailing, and covers part of a period where the various subsidiaries of the corporation were working far below capacity.

The directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock and 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock.

For Safety on Ships.

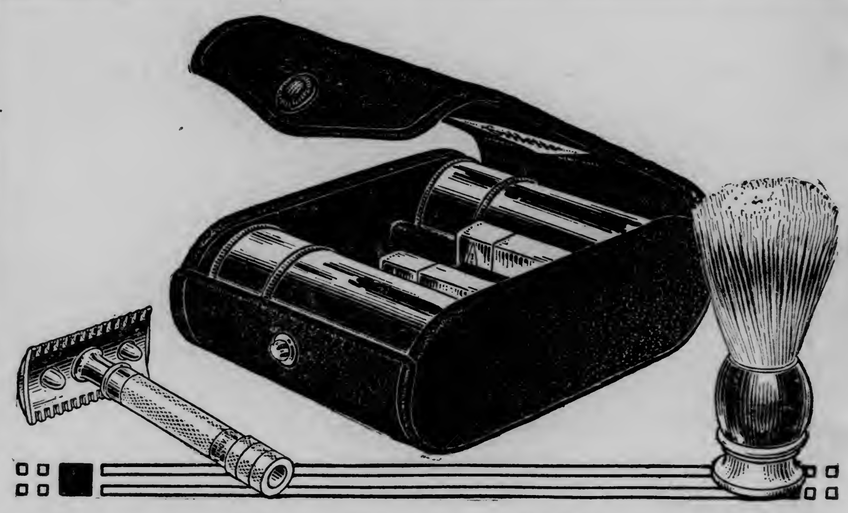
Berlin, May 1.—Herr Del Bruecke, minister of the interior, with the president of the national mariner's association and other experts, is going to Wiesbaden on May 17 to submit to the emperor proposals for safety appliances for German ships.

DETROIT WILL SPEND $9,000,531 THIS YEAR.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—The budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1913, as passed by the Detroit city council last night, calls for an expenditure of $9,000,531, compared with $7,311,161 for the current year. Among the principal items are: General road fund, $2,834,752; education, $1,462,031; police, $1,181,724; fire, $1,126,451.

Seamen Will Confer.

Liverpool, May 1.—A committee of ship owners and representatives of the Seamen's and Firemen's union and Transport Workers' federation has agreed to hold a joint conference in May for a discussion of conditions which led to the recent trouble with the seamen and firemen. In the meantime, all the men will return to the ships.



Druggist Says, "No More New-Fangled Razors"

"Everybody Finally Comes Around to the Gillette"

A leading druggist in this city has a showcase filled with razors—the Gillette and a dozen other kinds. He has this to say about the whole safety razor situation:

"Like every dealer who tries to serve his public, I have stocked practically every kind of safety razor that came out.

"I found that the Gillette dominated my sales. I was up against the problem of moving several hundred dollars' worth of other makes.

"So I took the Gillettes out of my showcase for a while.

"My total sales of safety razors fell off. Worse than that, every time I sold one of these new-fangled razors the customer came back at me with his razor troubles.

"Many customers wanted to exchange their razors for Gillettes. Some even demanded their money back, and I have not seen them since—though they used to be regular customers.

"I am selling Gillettes to-day wherever I can—to all sorts of men with all sorts of beards. Everybody finally comes around to the Gillette, anyhow."

What the Gillette Will Do for You

The wonder of the Gillette is its adaptability—the way it meets individual needs.

Every man's face is different. Your beard is individual in the way it grows and its shaving requirements.

Whatever your shaving habits may be, no matter how tender your skin or tough and wiry your beard, the Gillette will give you a clean velvet shave.

It will give you a light shave or close shave (closer than a barber dare give you), with no roughness, no irritation.

It is not necessary that you know how to shave yourself. You do not need to be "tool-wise" or handy. There is no stropping, no honing.

You quickly get the knack of the Gillette and you will learn little individual shave-simplifying tricks every day you use it.

The adjustment of the Gillette will suit your beard and your skin. The Gillette will save you time and money and it is safe.

Ask your dealer.

The very next time you see a Gillette in a store window go in and talk to the man about it.

Standard set, $5.00 everywhere.

Pocket editions, $5.00 to $6.00.

Travellers' and Tourists' sets, $6.00 to $50.00.

Gillette Blades, packets of six (12 shaving edges), 50 cents; nickel-plated box of twelve (24 shaving edges), $1.00

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

SCIENTISTS and philosophers have spoken with bated breath, and their friends, of the coming of the millenium, of the days when every man will have a dollar and a garden and mayhap chickens and a roan cow; of the times when war will cease and we will live on nuts and celery and subsidized sawdust, eschewing instead of chewing the juicy porterhouse—and of other things that business men and bricklayers have not the time to cogitate on. All these things may be brought to pass, yea, verily, but George did you ever think the time would come when Cy Young would have a sore arm? He has, honest Injun! For the first time since he sneaked into the game, and this is beyond the pale confines of the memory of man, the publicity agent of Peoli, Ohio, is troubled with sore and bruised muscles and knows the feeling of pain as he swings his ponderous whip.

The day may come when Rube Waddell will be fighting bonfires in the secluded backyard of some bug house and he supremely happy at the task; when the eagle eye of N. Lajoie, one of our leading players will be glazed with the film of age; when F. Gotch, farmer in more senses than one, will quit retiring; when Kid McCoy will insist that his name be kept out of the papers and also get over doing the Mendelssohn lockstep to the altar—yes, all this may be brought about, but to think that Cyrus Denton Young should have a sore arm!

Through the frost of early spring and through the chills of late September the veteran has pitched for "years and yars" and never has he been troubled with a pain in his wing, that priceless, immortal whip of his'n. But alas, shades of the one-horse chaise and the brook, limpid, purling and bucolic that Alf Tennyson wotted of, the thing has happened. Ye gods, Cy Young has a sore arm!

There may have been circuses without red lemonade and there have been bald-headed barbers who have failed to recommend some brand of hair tonic, but what will a major league baseball season be without a Cy Young day? It is to sigh and think of the changes time can bring about.

We sigh for Cy. Great has he been (pronounced as bin), and his going, if go he must, will be like the removing of Bill Bryan from the presidential predictions or the singing of some silly ditty with risque meaning by the Sphinx, an institution that we have all come to look upon with deep respect because of its, her or his silence down through the ages. Even N. Bonaparte failed to get a rise.

Time moves but slowly, 'tis true, but it does a lot of things in the gloaming. Time has weakened the mighty arm of Cy Young. He has been known as the perpetually young Young. There have been other Youngs, but Cy was competently copyrighted as far as baseball was concerned. Eddie Foy essayed Hamlet, too, but then, as Rudyard says, expensively, "That's another story."

Let us close. Maybe the chapter is brought to an end. It won't seem the same, for there are some things we cannot forget.

KID McCOY has given up the ring forever, foresworn the hempen order of his ways, so to speak. That comes direct from Paris minus duty. The famous Hoosier gives it out that he only went back into the ring to prove the correctness of his physical culture system and his wonderful system of breathing exercises, and that now, in the summer of his strenuous existence he will start a physical culture school, free of graft, we hope, and will also lecture and benefit mankind.

Now, you know, that's jolly nice of the Kid. Some of us had looked forward to seeing him get his classic features considerably mussed up by this George Carpentier person—but then a step in time saved expose.

If there have been any better press agents in the past or present than the wiley Mister McCoy, and this includes Battling Nelson, Freddy Welsh and James J. Corbett, or Rube Waddell, if you wish, they will have to give their manuscripts as proof. He is one of the smoothest propositions that elected to live without perspiring on the forehead or handling a shovel.

As a lecturer and a teacher of physical culture the Kid should prove a hit—there are so many things he could tell the average mortal not to do.

PHILADELPHIA JAWN O'BRIEN is thinking of coming back to the ring. He says he wants to fight some more. There are lots of things lots of people have wanted to do all their lives. It is said that O'Brien wanted to fight since he was a small boy—and he never had his wish granted.

WE WANT to warn a certain Mic Mac person on the other side of the bay that while his advice may be all right and he may mean well, that bone dust is almost ruinous to the eyes, which would prevent him from even seeing his finish.

WALTER MILLER says he has the positive guarantee for one of the biggest purses ever paid to little wrestlers. This is for the match between Walter and Mike Yokel, the great little grappler of Salt Lake City. In the West they are enthusiastic and long of purse and they dearly want to see Miller in action. There are three men who must settle the middleweight wrestling championship. Four, you may say, if Walter Willoughby can make the middleweight limit. But, anyway, Miller, Gehring and Yokel are bitter rivals for the title. There is evidently little to choose between the boys. The battle between Miller and Yokel at Salt Lake City promises to be one of the most bitterly contested matches that has ever been seen between little men in this country.

CHARLES COMISKEY is coming here some time within the next month, according to the statement of his old friend, Jack McGreevy. When the White Sox take to the road, said genial John yesternight, the Old Roman is planning to run up here for a day or two. Though some of us are rather timid when speaking of the party, or Comiskey, either one, we all hope he comes.

TWO GOTHAM MANAGERS

WOLVERTON. McGRAW.

HORINE AND BELLAH MAY BREAK RECORDS

New York, May 1.—"George Horine any day is likely to do 6 feet 7 inches in the running high jump, and Sam Bellah, sooner or later, will boost the pole vault record to more than 13 feet. Horine in practice has cleared 6 feet 7 inches. When he made that jump he just grazed the cross stick, but did not nick it enough to knock it off. Bellah in practice has twice cleared 13 feet 4 inches in the pole vault. He is a nervous lad and has not done as well in competition as he has done in practice. Sam, however, is steadying down and one of these days will better 13 feet in competition.

That is what Edward W. Moulton, the athletic trainer of Stanford university, California, writes in a recent letter to Sprinter of the Press. "Dad," as Moulton has been known to athletic fans for more than twenty-five years, is the dean of American trainers, exceeding in years of service even "Scotty" McMasters, who now is training Uncle Sam's budding admirals at Annapolis. "Dad" has been on the Pacific coast for many years, but he has not been forgotten by the old timers here in the East. When "Dad" made his stamping grounds east of the "old Mississip" he was known as one of the greatest developers of athletics in the country.

Some Great Pupils.

"Dad" brought out Johnny Crum, who in his day was the Bernie Wefers' greatest rival in the sprints. Harry Johnson and "Cuccoo" Collins, two of the greatest professional sprinters America ever boasted, were trained and handled by Moulton. Moulton also brought out Alvin Kraenzlein, the wonderful hurler, jumper and sprinter, who later went to the University of Pennsylvania.

"Dad" has enjoyed great success on the coast in recent years. He brought out Charlie Parsons, who won both the junior and senior national 100-yard championships of the United States in 1905, taking the junior title in "evens" and winning the senior laurels in 9 4-5 seconds. Moulton has developed four pole vaulters who have records of 12 feet 6 inches or better. One of the quartet, Leland Scott, is the holder of the present world's pole vaulting record of 12 feet 10⅞ inches.

In speaking of Horine, "Dad" takes a whack at Mike Murphy, who has been selected to coach America's Olympic team of 1912. "Dad" says in part:

"When George made his recent world's record of 6 feet 6¼ inches, he cleared the cross-stick by a full inch. As I said before, he once in practice jumped 6 feet 7 inches, nicking the crossbar, but not enough to dislodge it. If Horine gets to go with the Olympic team he certainly will win, unless Mike Murphy tampers with him and tries to change his form.

"The Western athletes who went over to London in 1908, and to Pittsburg last year, take no stock in Murphy, and I know that he is no great developer of athletes. Mike is a grand recruiter, but he can name mighty few boys he has handled who were not developed at the time they went to him. Most of Murphy's men are like Kraenzlein—already champions when Murphy got them. You remember, I had Kraenzlein when he beat Buck at Manhattan field, New York. I brought Kraenzlein out, yet Murphy has claimed the credit of developing him."

No Need to Worry.

"Dad," however, need not worry about Murphy tampering with any of the Olympic athletes. Mike is too wise a bird to attempt to fool with any of the stars who will make the Olympic team. In fact, few of the boys would pay any heed to Murphy if he attempted to give them instructions on style and form. Murphy is not going to accompany the Olympic team in that capacity. His principal work will be to play the part of a watchdog, and see that the men behave themselves, eat the right food, get plenty of sleep and do not take too much or too little exercise.

"Dad" can be assured that Horine will be safe in Murphy's keeping, and that Mike will return the great jumper to him in the same condition and form that he found him. All the Olympic athletes will be marked "Glass, handle with care."

OARSMEN IN HARD LUCK

Weather Is Interfering Greatly With Their Spring Training.

Winnipeg Sending Crews to Henley and the Olympic Games.

Weather prevented the oarsmen of the boat club from getting out last evening. Last evening made the second practice row of the week spoiled by the perversities of the weather man. If bad weather could keep the men from getting in condition some of the huskies would be in the also ran class at the present time.

"I am going to beat the bad weather when we get the launch out," said Ten Eyck today. "I will have the shells towed up above the dyke and then have the men get in from the shore. We ought to find some fairly smooth water somewhere between the mile mark and Oatka."

Despite the bad weather of last night Jimmy had the men out in B. V. D.'s and assorted summer wear and made them jog for three miles in the balmy spring air, every whiff of which was a tonic and also an adjective stimulator.

Dugan has gone again. Finnegan has nothing on the shorty. He was out the other night, and the boys thought the stout one had started for the season's grind. Now he is out of it again. Dugan stated yesterday that business would keep him out of the game during the present season. In Dugan Ten Eyck loses a promising man.

The peeve of the elements emphasizes the fact that in the future the officials of the boat club should make every effort to have the training of the club done up the river. With the completion of the street car line to New Duluth it will be a simple matter for the crew candidates to go up the river every day for the row, sleeping there when the training period advances to the point where the men take two rows a day.

Weather each spring proves a weighty handicap to the coach and to the men, and this spring has been no exception to the rule. While Ten Eyck keeps the men working every night, even if they can't get on the water, every row missed means just so much valuable time lost when time and instruction in rudimentary work counts the most.

Crew Looks Promising.

The crew is coming along nicely and the first junior eight looks right at the present time the best eight that has ever stuck its collective feet into the foot rests.

It's never easy to develop a winning crew, but now the chances of the Duluth eight look better than those of St. Paul or Winnipeg. The veterans on hand should give Duluth the call for the maiden eight race and also the chances of the D. B. C. young men look good for the senior event. But that for later.

"Bull" Carter of Winnipeg, an old Toronto crack oarsman, was here the other day and in the course of his stay gave forth liberally of information to little Artie Michaud.

"I want to place a bet on the chances of the Winnipeg junior eight," said the Carter man, in quite the Winnipeg style of breezy financial abandon. "I think the Winnipeg juniors are going to win, despite the fact that we will have to develop a new eight. We have lots of good material on hand."

Carter stated that Winnipeg is to send crews to both the Henley—the English Henley, understand—and the Olympic games. He also stated that two of the other Canadian rowing clubs would send crews across the water to compete at the international games.

According to Carter, Winnipeg expects to be well represented at the Northwestern International. St. Paul, according to dispatches, is working to retrieve the disaster of last season.

NEW HANDBALL COURT FOR Y. M. C. A.

Plans are being considered at the present time for the construction of a new and thoroughly modern handball court at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Handball is by far the most popular form of sport at the big association gym and there is but one court to satisfy all those who want to play.

Prof. Wegener of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. realizes the need of the new court and is heartily in favor of its immediate construction. With the court the big tournament that is being planned for next year, and in which an effort is being made to have outside players compete, could be played off without long waits. During the winter handball has come to be looked upon as one of the most popular sports of the city. Some crack players have been developed at the association and with the greater interest in the game comes the realization of the need of another court.

CORNELL'S CREW LOOKS PROMISING

Ithaca, N. Y., May 1.—That Cornell will again have a varsity crew the equal to that of any other university in the country, and probably the superior of them all, is now taken to be a certainty by the Cornell students. Though all eight members of the last year's varsity boat are again at school this year, the crew will present almost entirely a different personnel, new men having sprung up under the tutelage of Courtney, who have displayed even greater prowess than the veterans of 1911.

At the beginning of the indoor training season for the crew squad it was freely predicted that the places in the boat would be taken up entirely by the veterans of last year's crew. The illness of Bowen, who stroked the crew last year, put up an early problem to Courtney, but he has developed two men since, both of whom appear to be at least the equal of the veteran. They are E. M. Dle of 13 and W. G. Distler. Then the riso of other men made the sentiment about an entire veteran crew vanish. Courtney has substituted practically the entire second varsity crew for the veteran eight. In doing this he is not establishing a precedent. He has done the same thing before and so have other coaches.

Courtney knew last spring that his varsity boat was not so strong as it might have been, but he was unwilling to make a change in the crew with the big Poughkeepsie regatta near at hand. This year, however, he has recognized the fact thoroughly, has taken and is taking steps to remedy it.

Dole, who is now at stroke in the reorgnized crew, has been considered since he stroked the Cornell 1913 freshmen eight in 1910 to be one of the finest oarsmen Cornell has ever produced. His motions are smooth, and each part of the swing blends itself to the others in one long, continuous motion. Unlike Bowen, he carries the men through the stroke with no let up from catch to finish, and if he continues in the boat, it is probable that this year's Cornell eight will row at faster and probably slightly shorter stroke than the eights of the last two years.

With the exception of Dole and R. C. Reeve, '13, who is rowing at No. 2, all the members of the crew are in the sophomore class and rowed in the 1914 freshman boat, which was second to the Columbia youngsters last June. As Courtney has the crew rowing now, the men are boated as follows:

Lawrence Eddy, bow; R. C Reeve, No. 2; D. M. Larrowe, No. 3; H. H. Hyland, No. 4; C B. Johnston, No. 5; B. C. Spransy, No. 6; Leslie Chapman, No. 7, and E. H. Dole, stroke.

Cornell will not have its crew in action until after practically every other college crew in the East has appeared in several regattas. The first race of the Cornellians is in the triangular contest on the Charles river at Cambridge, Mass., with Harvard and Princeton. This race is scheduled for May 25. The fact that Courtney has forbidden the management to arrange an earlier race, indicates to the students that he is out to take the measure of Harvard, which last year was rated by many to have a crew the equal of the wonderful Cornell eight.

JOHNSON REFUSES TO MEET LANGFORD IN AUSTRALIA.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 1.—Jack Johnson has turned down an offer of $30,000 by Hugh McIntosh to meet Sam Langford in a boxing contest in Australia, according to announcement today by T. S. Andrews of Milwaukee, American representative for McIntosh.

MAGNATES DECIDE ON A FOUR-CLUB LEAGUE

Grand Forks and Fargo Decide Against Lining Up With New Organization.

There will be but four teams in the Central International league. This fact was made clear at a meeting held in Superior last evening. Neither Grand Forks or Fargo will place a club in the organization, thus leaving Duluth, Superior, Winnipeg and Virginia to complete the league.

According to the action taken at the meeting across the bay, the schedule of the league will begin on May 8, though it is said there is some indecision as to whether Grand Forks may not be persuaded to come into the league should Virginia decide, after deliberating on the matter today, that it will remain out of the organization.

A mail schedule is being sent out today for approval or rejection by the various club owners. With the return of the tentative playing dates preparations will be made for the opening of the season.

The Superior team is at home and with the return of the White Sox from the somewhat disastrous training trip an inter-city series of games will be played between the two teams by way of preparation for the starting of the schedule.

The schedule will begin Thursday at Superior, with a game here Friday, Saturday at Superior, Sunday at Duluth, Monday across the bay in the suburbs and here on the next Tuesday.

With a number of his veterans and some new men O'Brien sends word that he has a strong aggregation. The Orator is expected home late today and will immediately get his men at work at Athletic park.

COBB AND CRAWFORD WIN FOR DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—Detroit won a ten-inning game from Chicago yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. Cobb singled in the tenth with one out and went to third on Crawford's hit to center. As Cobb slid into third he kicked the ball, which was lying in front of Tannehill, and it rolled to the grandstand, allowing him to score the winning run. Lord was benched in the sixth for kicking on a decision. Score: R. H. E.

CLEVELAND TAKES LAST OF SERIES.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—Cleveland won the last game of the series with St. Louis yesterday afternoon, 8 to 3. The visitors hit Brown hard and he gave way to C. Brown in the fifth. Gregg was effective in all but the eighth, when the locals scored three runs on two doubles and three singles. In the sixth inning Hallinan was spiked and had to be taken from the field, Wallace taking his place.

The score: R. H. E.

EAST END ATHLETES FORM AN ASSOCIATION.

Last evening the East End Athletic association came into being. The organization meeting was held at the Salter school, the following officers being chosen for the time being: M. P. Binane, president; Paul Larson, vice president; E. A. Mooney, secretary and treasurer; John Hagen and Herbert Sahlberg, sergeant-at-arms.

It is the plan of the new association to secure a baseball field and to have teams in all branches of athletics. The association is composed of the younger men and will be entered in the junior athletics of the city.

Pal Moore Is Beaten.

San Francisco, Cal., May 1.—Pal Moore of Philadelphia was easy for Jack Britton of Chicago in their lightweight battle here last night, and the latter scored an easy decision after twenty rounds. Britton had the advantage on every round but one.

SENATORS WALLOP THREE PITCHERS.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 1. — Three pitchers failed to stop the leaders yesterday and they won in a romp by a score of 7 to 2. McQuillen pitched fine ball and was never in trouble. Miller's first base play and batting featured the game. Hovlik was driven from the slab in the first inning, only five men facing him, and four reaching first. Score: R. H. E.

KAWS WIN CLOSE GAME FROM TOLEDO.

Kansas City, Kan., May 1. — In a see-saw game that either team could have won until the last man was out, Kansas City defeated Toledo, 6 to 4, yesterday. Rhoades and Higginbotham both pitched well and their support was good. In the third Barbeau was benched by Umpire Bierhalter for questioning a decision. Score: R. H. E.

MILLERS IN TIE WITH LOUISVILLE.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 1. — Minneapolis was outbatted and outfielded, but took advantage of Criss' wildness in the ninth inning and filled the bases. Rossman's three-base hit cleared them and Rossman scored on a wild pitch, tying the score. Neither team was able to score in the tenth and the game was called because of darkness. Outfielder Burch of Louisville was put out of the game in the ninth by Umpire Anderson, because he objected too strenuously to a decision. Clymer's fielding was a feature. Score: R. H. E.

Minneapolis	1 0 2 0 0 0 0 4 0	7	6	7

Lajoie Hitting Well.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 1. — Napoleon Lajoie continues to be the eighth wonder of the world and the greatest wonder of baseball. In the twelve games played by the Naps up to today the big Frenchman hit safely one or more times in each show. His record in the twelve games is 18 hits in 42 times at bat.

Larry started with one hit in three times at bat and followed up with one in three, one in four, one in four, one in three, three in five, three in five, one in four, two in four, one in three and three in four.

Lajoie continues to be the great idol of Cleveland fans and his admirers are looking forward to June 4, the day that he will round out ten years of service as a Nap, to reward him for his great work. Larry is to be presented with a horseshoe now in course of construction.

This horseshoe will be made of flowers and silver dollars. Not a single cartwheel will be melted, but all of them will retain their face value

GOVERNOR HADLEY PERMITS BOXING EXHIBITION.

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—Governor Hadley was given assurances last night by J. H. Mason, prosecuting attorney of Green county, that the boxing exhibition between Morris and McCarthy, scheduled to be held at Springfield Friday night, is in strict compliance with the law. No one but members of the Spring Athletic club will attend, according to the governor's information.

"I shall not interfere as long as the contest is held in compliance with the law," said the governor.

Select Ski Dates.

Chicago, May 1.—Officials of the National Ski association have selected Feb. 15, 16 and 17, 1913, for holding the national ski meet at Ironwood, Mich.

ORATOR AND SOX ARRIVE

Worman, Johnson and Leber Are Hold-Over Members of the Team.

Darby Says He Has Some Good Players in White-Hosed Brigade.

Darby O'Brien and the Duluth baseball team reached the city this morning, coming in over the Omaha road from Madison, Wis., where the White Sox have been doing some training with the Madison team of the Wisconsin-Illinois team.

Worman and Johnson of last year's team are with the squad, while it is expected that Sam Meneice and Muggsy McGraw will join the list of team candidates here.

Erickson, the new catcher, is well thought of by O'Brien, and Hoffman, one of the heavers, is also spoken highly of by the seer. Little Lieber is also going good, according to the version of Darb.

Weather permitting the squad will get out and do some work tomorrow. The grounds were too wet today. The inter-city series with Superior is expected to put the members of the squad on edge for the opening of the season.

While the Sox won but one game on the training trip, O'Brien says the team will hit its stride very rapidly and that he will show the fans some real baseball playing. The squad has been reduced since the start of the training season, but the Orator says he has some promising material on hand.

While at Cleveland the Sox squad worked out daily with the recruits of the United States league team.

MILLER FAILS TO PIN JOHNSON

Martin Johnson, the husky wrestling fireman of Duluth, and Walter Miller, the greatest little piece of wrestling machinery in the world, put up a great exhibition of wrestling at the Lyceum last night, bringing to a close the engagement of the world's champion in this city. Miller failed to throw his big opponent in the specified time limit of fifteen minutes, but the match was one that made a lasting hit with the small audience.

Miller and Martin mauled each other all over the stage, toppling scenery and stage accoutrements over in their wild rushes. The two wrestling actors were so good that it was decided to remove the scenery. After that the two grapplers had free run of the big stage.

Walter is to meet Beaulieu in Superior and the fans of that city are looking forward to one of the best short matches ever staged in the northern part of Wisconsin, as the sharps on the other side of the bay believe that the Superior blacksmith is one of the best wrestlers in the northwest. If Miller can pin the shoulders of Beaulieu to the mat he will make a lasting hit with the fans of Superior.

Open the Season.

Chicago, May 1.—Clubs in the Three I league are ready for the opening of the eleventh season today. Opening games will be played at Decatur, Davenport, Dubuque and Springfield. Fair weather is promised throughout the circuit.

Decatur has taken the place of Waterloo, Iowa, in the league.

Diaz Guest of Honor.

Paris, May 1.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Franco-American committee.

Young Baseball Fan and His Prize Patrick-Duluth Mackinaw.

Young Louis Popkin handed in the first list correctly identifying the New York Giants in the Patrick-Duluth Mackinaw group. He won the prize mackinaw offered by F. A. Patrick & Co.

When asked to select his mackinaw, Louis insisted on having the same red-and-black plaid which Manager McGraw selected for the "Giants."

Louis is an enthusiastic fan. He attends the Washington school, but out of school hours his business is baseball. He has charge of the bulletin score boards at Silverman's, where the results of the three major leagues are posted daily.

Woman's Realm

Bishop James McGolrick was delighed yesterday afternoon with a program given by the children at the St. James Orphanage in his honor. The large hall was most effectively decorated for the occasion under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Magie. Large American flags covered the walls and hundreds of smaller ones were used on the chandeliers and about the hall, while potted geraniums and red roses added to their beauty.

Bishop McGolrick made a little closing address, in which he said in part: "The day of the uniformed orphan with crestfallen air and hungry look has passed and I am thankful for the health and the evident happiness of every one of these children.

"When people begin giving me credit for the success of this institution, I wish to tell them, and I often do, that the credit is not due to me, but first to the unceasing devotion and motherly care that the good sisters give these children, seeing to their bodily needs as well as their spiritual requirements; and second to the body of earnest priests who devote so much time to giving these children of God spiritual instruction; and lastly to the people of Duluth, who have shown themselves always open handed and open hearted in this cause."

Every one of the ninety little folks performed with credit his or her part in the drills, songs or recitations and the ten or twelve who were too small to take part seemed to enjoy the afternoon as much as the guests.

CLOSE YEAR.

Bishop's Club Elects Officers and Hear's Program.

With the election of officers, a musical program of exceptional merit and a social hour, the Bishop's club closed its year's work last evening at a meeting held in the club rooms.

Mrs. A. V. Kelley was re-elected president and the others to fill the offices next year will be: First vice president, Mrs. W. H. Magie; second vice president, Mrs. E. P. Kreimer; third vice president, Mrs. F. M. West; secretary, Miss Chloe Thibert; treasurer, Mrs. A. M. Lyons; historian, Miss Cora Davis; librarian, Mrs. Albert Perrier. Committees were appointed as follows: Membership, Mrs. Fred A. Sermon, Miss Jane Crowley, Mrs. A. M. Russell. program, Miss Chloe Thibert, Mrs. J. F. Kilfoirn, Mrs. George E. Lynott, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Lyons.

A large committee of young women will work in the interests of the art exhibit. They are Misses Letendrez, Maude H. Bolin, Grace Bertram, Jane Crowley, Kittie Farrell, Cora Davis, Gertrude Gonska, Theresa Lynn, Elizabeth Sullivan, Nellie Sullivan, Louise Lyons, Lou Klichll, Clara Kenny, Mary Shesgren, Grace Sheridan, Nell Reau, Gertrude Knauf, Nettie Flebiger, Theresa Fogarty, Lillian Gowan and Pearl Chalk.

A number volunteered to distribute literature to the hospitals and other institutions during the summer. The officers and committees will form an advisory board for extension of the work of the club. South America is the subject for historical study next year.

A musical program of unusual excellence included the following numbers: Violin duet by the Lavick brothers, with Miss Zalk as accompanist; vocal solo by Sigurd Erdtman; violin solo by Henry Lavick and vocal solos by Mrs. Leo A. Ball. Mrs. Robert B. Liggett gave a number of readings.

SOUTHERN WOMAN IS A CANDIDATE

MRS P. V. PENNYBACKER.

Texas puts forward a candidate for the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She is Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin. The Texas Federation joined the General Federation in 1899. The number of club women in the state is now 10,000. Mrs. Pennybacker has always had a great interest in the development of club work for women. She has organized clubs in Tyler, Palestine and other cities. Mrs. Pennybacker was for seventeen years a teacher and she is the author of the "History of Texas," used as a text book in the schools.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Past Presidents Will Be Hostesses.

Members of the Past Presidents' Club of the Woman's Relief corps will entertain their friends at a bridge party tomorrow afternoon at Memorial hall. The games will commence at 2 o'clock. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mesdames John Williams, Ella F. Gearhart, J. T. Armstead, Julia White, Rebecca Van Vaalen, John Jenswold, Jr., J. H. Sullivan, Mary Gillon, D. Burnette and N. F. McGindley.

LIPPITT-HARBISON.

Wedding Invitations Received Here.

Invitations have been received here from Mr. and Mrs. Otis R. Lippitt of Denmark, Iowa, formerly of Duluth, for the marriage of their daughter, Agnes, to Eugene Hull Harbison of this city. The wedding will take place Wednesday, May 15, at high noon at their home, and Mr. Harbison and his bride will be at home at 227 Anoka street, Woodland, after July 1.

CHILDREN AT MATINEE.

Little Folks From Home and Orphanage Entertained.

One hundred little orphans from the St. James orphanage and 100 little children from the Children's home formed a big party of delighted auditors at the matinee performance of "Halfback Sandy" this afternoon, which was presented by boys from the Cathedral high school at the Lyceum theater. This party was arranged by Mrs. W. H. Magie. The presentation was wonderfully well done and the young actors covered themselves with glory in their finished work.

Another feature which pleased the entire audience, but which was a special delight to the poungsters, was a number of fancy dances in costume done by several sprightly little dancers.

Little Miss Florence Draper, demure and graceful, danced an Irish dance in a fetching little costume. It was especially in honor of Bishop McGolrick, and was very cleverly done.

Elizabeth Magie and Donald Wells, in regular little Dutch costumes, were charming in a little Dutch kiddies dance, which was very well done, and Miss Joan Robson, in a classic Grecian dance with her mature grace and poise, was especially good.

Master John Magie also contributed a dance number of surprising merit, doing a Russian dance with a vigor and sprightliness which would make a professional Russian dancer look to his merit. All of these were heartily applauded.

The play will be repeated again this evening to a capacity house.

Members Will Discuss "Simple Life."

The Women's Christian Temperance union of West Duluth will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. F. Wheeler, 3506 West Third street. The subject of the meeting will be "Simple Life" with Mrs. Ruth Merritt as leader and Mrs. Wellington and Mrs. Randall assisting. The members are asked to meet at 2 o'clock for the reading of the district reports in addition to the regular program.

Social Feature.

The most important social feature of the convention of the Eighth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs which will open in Duluth tomorrow will be the reception to be held tomorrow evening at the Commercial club. Attractive plans for the evening including a delightful musical program, have been made and all the club women of the city and their husbands will probably attend this function.

The guests will be greeted by three groups of women in receiving lines about the building. Miss Frances Earhart, general chairman of the convention will head the first line in which Mrs. C. C McCarthy, vice president of the district, and other state officers will stand and Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. R. J. Denfeld will head the other two lines. Other local club women will assist about the rooms and in the halls.

Pelcher-Sabel.

The wedding of Miss Laura Pelcher and Paul R. Sabel of St. Paul took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Jean Baptiste church, Rev. Father Robillard officiating. The bride wore a gown of cream satin trimmed with real lace and her long veil was caught with a wreath of smilax. She carried a white prayer book. The attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Edith Pelcher, who wore a pink gown and carried pink roses and Arthur St. George, as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. St Jacques, at which covers were laid for relatives and a few intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sabel left for a short wedding trip and will be at home after May 15, in St. Paul.

Cabin Party.

A party of young people enjoyed a cabin supper at the Wau-Pse-Ke club cabin on Lester river last evening. Al Taylor was the host of the party.

Auto Trip.

Mr and Mrs. Coryate S. Wilson and daughter, Charlotte, of 1615 East Second street and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Claypool of 811 Park Place will leave Sunday for Washington, D. C., from which city they will start on a six weeks' automobile trip through the East.

Strong Program.

Among the coming events which are being pleasantly anticipated this week the concert to be given Friday evening by Miss Alice Sjoselius at the First M. E. church interests probably as many people as any other.

Miss Sjosellus, who recently returned from Europe, where she has been studying music for two years, will sing for the first time in public since her return, and her friends are particularly anxious to hear her.

Besides her numbers, Miss Laura Frankenfield will give some readings and Miss Valborg Gunderson, the talented young violinist, will play and Mrs. W. S. Wingate will add several organ numbers.

For the benefit of the Deaconess Home the concert should draw a large number of interested people, but with such an exceptionally strong program and from the already heavy sale of seats the committee in charge expects to fill the big church to the doors.

Mousso-Elliott.

A pretty home wedding took place last evening at the home of H. E. Mousso, 509 Thirteenth avenue east, when Miss Eleanor Elizabeth Mousso became the bride of William Howard Elliott. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the presence of relatives and friends.

The bride wore a pretty gown of silk crepe and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and her maid of honor, Miss Mattie Mousso, wore a white lingerie gown and carried white roses and the little bring bearer, Marion Little, was also in white.

Mr. M. Elliott was attended by Clyde Sargent as best man.

Palms and Easter lillies, roses and ferns were prettily arranged about the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left for a trip to Winnipeg and other points, and will be at home after May 15, at 620 Eleventh avenue east.

Church Meetings.

The ladies of the First German M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. O. C. Magedenz, 626 North Sixteenth avenue east.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. A. T. Hall, president of the Minnesota Women's Suffrage association, who will be one of the speakers at the Friday evening suffrage meeting of the club convention at the Commercial club, will also speak this evening at 8 o'clock at the regular meeting of the Duluth Suffrage association which will be held in the council chamber. She will speak informally on organization methods and will make her talk of an entirely different nature than the one which she will give Friday. All interested will be welcome and a general discussion will be held following the talks. Dr. Mary McCoy has not announced the other speakers for this evening.

Mrs. Jay Cooke Howard of Lakeside has left for a visit with her parents in Washington, D. C., and she will also visit in Boston for a while before returning.

Mrs. W. B. Brinkman of 2116 East Third street is visiting relatives at Keokuk, Iowa, for about ten days.

THE EVENING STORY

Father's at Home Day

By Kitty Careless.

Of course, father married mother. I suppose that is why she put up with him. I am sure I could not stand half the trouble and bother with him that mother does, and I have told George that he need not expect me to take his shoes off and bring him up cups of tea in bed after he has been to the club. Mother does, but then, as George says, father comes from the city, and most of the men that come from that place expect impossible things from their wives. Not that I want to say a word against father. He is really very good—for a father. Of course, he grumbles at the bills, will not give the boys any pocket money, threatens to turn me out of house and home if I am seen about with any man, but apart from trifles like these he is really very good.

One thing, he is hardly ever in, day or night. Mother made the mistake of her life when she complained about his absence. Because last Tuesday he stopped at home. He began by coming down to breakfast at 9 instead of 8. Of course, his bacon was congealed to the dish and his tea was stewed and his toast burned to leather. The boys had gone to school and their plates were still on the table.

Mother made some excuse about Jane not having been told, but she was snapped up with: "Not been told! Not been told! Has it come to this, that we have to acquaint our servants on gilt edged cards when we intend to breakfast late?"

"Well, you see Jane didn't expect—"

"Bosh—expect!" and that cut the argument short. At 11 father rang the bell. I sent Elsie to see what it was, as I was helping mother upstairs, and Jane was busy with the first boil. Tuesday, you know, is wash day.

"Where's everybody?" I heard roaring from below.

"I'm here if you want me," hazarded mother.

"Want you, madame, no! It's you who want me. You grumble because I am never at home, and when I stay the house is like a graveyard, and there isn't a soul about. When's luncheon?"

"Lunch, Herbert?" Why, it's only 11."

"The drawing room clock says it is 10 to 1."

"I'll teach him," the young rascal. Why, I remember that clock ever since it was—

"It was a watch," put in little Jim, and convulsed us.

"It's nothing to laugh at, you silly women. Where are all your jobs you have been talking about, I wish you'd do this, I wish you'd do that. Here I am at home and where are you?"

"The veentian blind in the dining room wants looking to," I piped. An hour later I looked into the garden. "Where is Jane? Some of the boil ought to be out now," I said. An idea (strengthened by muffled sounds from below) came to my head. I hurried down. In the dining room I found Jane, red and restive, holding one end of a green venetian lath while father plugged at the other as if he was ramming a gun.

The floor was strewn with chips and nails, the table and couch were covered with portions of the blind, the shutters were off and lying in attitudes of abandon against the piano, and chairs and the white curtains were hanging torn and disheveled from their hooks. "What on earth—" I began.

"What's quite enough," cried father. "You give me these little jobs to look to and you have no idea what is the matter. I find this blind is all to pieces. It's quite marvelous to me it hasn't fallen on some of the children."

"But what do you want to take the shutters off for?"

"It's no good trying to explain to you. You're like your mother—not mechanically inclined. It's quite impossible to make a good job—"

"Well, you'll get no dinner, miss, at this rate," chirped Jane, "and the clothes will be stewed dry by now." I released the maid and attended to the blind myself. Suddenly father cried, "What is that infernal smell?"

"Clothes," I remarked testily.

"Why are they washed at home on the very day I am here? You know I hate the smell of washing."

"So do we all. What do you want to stop at home for?" I retaliated.

"Look here, miss, any more of that and you go to boarding school. What I mean is, something is wrong with the flue in the boiler. It has no reason to come into the house like that. I'll take a look at it." Father threw down the hammer and centerbit among the green laths of derelict blind, and picking up a screwdriver departed to the basement.

Two o'clock struck, and the children were clamoring, for they had come home from school for dinner at 1. "Why don't the children have their dinner?" demanded father, arising like Neptune from the scullery department with a flue rake in his hand.

"Because you've hindered Jane and she can't get done." Mother was nearly in tears by now.

"That's nothing but an excuse. The fact is the children are not being properly fed. They are having ginger beer and buns for dinner after all I have said. That's the reason of all this fluster. I intend in future to see into things myself; it's about time, I think."

Just then Jane, dirty, and with a smear of soot across her nose, brought in a boiled pudding and some cabbage done till it was nearly soup. The children in consequence were late for school. Father didn't like the lunch any more than we did, and he grumbled all the time. Then he retired to the drawing room to smoke a pipe, and rang the bell for coffee at 3:30.

Jane had not been used to this, but gave the boys tea when they came from school. Mother came down and found her wringing at 2:30, and the dinner dishes not done. One look at her face was enough. Nowadays when one keeps one servant it is wisest to say nothing on some occasions. At tea time father catechized the boys. Eric had forgotten his history, answered something absurd, and was sent from the table with no tea. Elsie was rude. She did not understand being shouted at, and upset her cup in her lap and spoilt the cloth at the same time.

Father did not like the lighting arrangement in the hall, tampered with the meter, and we dined by candlelight while the kitchen was illuminated by a stable lantern and a night light. At 10:30 father went to bed, having taken the dog for a walk and lost it and left the street door undone so that the wind banged it to and smashed the glass panel. Then Jane and I set to work to tidy the house.

I wrote a postcard to have a man come and see to the flue father had adjusted; the builder's man to come and mend the venetian blind father had put in order; the gas company to bring us another meter in place of the one which father had overhauled; and the plumber to come and unstop the bath that father had tinkered at during the day.

Mother thought a week at the seaside would do her good, and the boys said the principal was anxious to know why they were an hour late for school. Father kissed us all as he went upstairs and said how nice it was to be home all day and able to taken an interest in his own home. He said he had a little surprise for us, and that he had arranged to stay at home every Tuesday. Then Jane gave notice.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Three "kids" who like pie and cakes and sweets "awfully good" came to grief last evening when they set out to "swipe" a supply from Heino's bake shop on Twenty-fourth avenue west between Superior and First streets.

The boys were Ernest Pfleger, George Howard and Johnnie Peterson, school boys living in the neighborhood. According to the police they have depleted the baker's stock several other times in the past to satisfy their craving for his product.

It was because of these reported losses that the boys did not make a successful raid last night. A cop has been placed to watch the place and he broke up the foraging expedition in short order. Ernest was the only one caught at the time, but it is stated that the other two will be in juvenile court at the same time he is arraigned.

About 9 o'clock the trio approached the place. They carefully surveyed the field to make sure that no one was observing them. They reconnoitered everything but the inside of the building from which they expected to secure their plunder, so they didn't see the policeman who was concealed back of a convenient screen.

Assured in their own minds that the coast was cleared they made ready for action. George and Johnnie stationed themselves outside as lookouts and Ernest proceeded to gain an entrance through the same window which had stood them in good stead in the past. Ernest got in all right, but he came out in the custody of Patrolman Hartz.

At the sight of one of their brave crew in the care of the guardian of the peace, the two lookouts took to their heels, heedless of the calls to stop. The police say that they only made a temporary get-away and the officers will probably be able to get them when they are wanted.

It is claimed that several dozen pies and cakes have been lost through other recent raids

William Seaman, about 35 years old, was found dead this morning by a half-breed Indian who slept in the same room with him in the basement at the rear of the building at 224 Lake avenue south.

The two had been drinking heavily and it is believed that death was due to alcoholism or heart failure. Indian said that both of them were drunk last night, and that the last time he noticed Seaman he was taking a drink of whisky. He explained that he made a choking noise and then fell to the mattress on the floor. When he awoke this morning his lifeless body was still in the same position.

He immediately summoned the police, who made an investigation. The Indian was taken in charge but was released as there was no evidence against him. Dr. C. F. McComb, coroner, was notified and the body was ordered to the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan. Seaman's home is believed to be in Marquette, Mich., because of a letter addressed to him at that place by his parents. No other papers were found in his pockets.

John C. Olson and William Vance, the baseball players, who were fined $75 and costs or sixty days in the county jail for having been drunk and disorderly, couldn't pay their fines yesterday. Commitments were made out for them and they were sent to the county jail. If the necessary cash is not produced they will be obliged to serve out their time

The report made to the court yesterday morning was that the two had pulled off a bold "masher" stunt in front of the Holland hotel Monday evening. N. B. Jereissatl, his wife and sister-in-law, were standing with him and P. C. Condit in front of the hostelry when the baseball men came along. It was stated that Vance took Mrs. Jereissatl by the arm, smirked into her face, and then tried to walk off with her. The husband then tapped Vance on the shoulder and Condit stepped towards them, when Olson kicked Condit across the ankles, dropping him to the sidewalk, according to the statements to the court. Both Condit and Jereissatl were in the court room yesterday morning when Vance and Olson were arraigned and told their story to the court. The actions of the men appeared so brazen and uncalled for that the court imposed a severe penalty.

Charles "Scotty" McDonald, who got a suspended sentence yesterday morning for stealing a watch from a stranger, was up again this morning. This time he was booked for trespass, having been arrested for sleeping in a downtown office building. He claimed to have had permission from an employe to stay there until morning. Scotty was again lucky and was allowed to go the second time in two days after being admonished not to repeat the offense. He created a little amusement by relating his experiences in wrestling with a bear in a local picture house some time ago. "They wouldn't let me grab him by the hind legs and he tore the seat from the bottom of my pants," he said. He didn't explain, however, what that had to do with the charge against him.

John Babich, a saloon-keeper, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Fallon on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance by using the wrong side of the street at Fifth avenue west and Superior street. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried later. He was released on $15 bail.

Edward Williams, colored, got $50 and costs or thirty days in the county jail on pleading guilty to trespass when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon. He was carrying away a quantity of lumber from the railroad yards. The police said that it wasn't his first offense of that kind.

The cops donner their new uniform caps today. They are high in front and low in back and are adorned with the insignia of the department.

Joe Dishaw sobered up sufficiently late yesterday afternoon to be brought into court. He showed the effects of his tumble from the water-wagon, but was perfectly frank about it. He said that he had been drunk, very drunk, but that if the court would give him a chance he would get work without loss of time. The judge took him at his word and suspended sentence.

Some people have funny ideas of a "joke." For instance, a woman living with Minnie Esterlund at 124 St. Croix avenue thought she would play one on her last night. In order to do so she dropped a quantity of morphine into the bottle of whisky which Minnie had handy. Minnie was ironing and soon took a big drink of it. She became deathly sick and Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, was summoned. He had her removed to St. Luke's hospital. She will recover. Minnie is well known to the police, having been arrested a number of times on various charges.

CRITICIZES GUARDS AT STATE REFORMATORY.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the guards are inclined to consider the inmates of the state reformatory merely as "crooks," with no consideration for their reformation, was the criticism offered by Dr. M. J. Kern in a paper read before the quarterly conference of the superintendents of the state institutions, in the board of control's office today. Other papers were by Dr. A. C. Rogers and Dr. J. J. Dow.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS WILL MEET ON MAY 6.

St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the board of regents of the University of Minnesota will be held May 6, when appointments of instructors for next year will be made. A request that the school co-operate with private parties in sending a botanical expedition to the Southern Pacific islands also will be considered.

ROUT REBELS FROM TEPIC

Guns Sent to Americans in City of Mexico Are Seized.

Tepic, Mexico, May 1.—With 220 dead and more than this number wounded, many of whom were unable to crawl from the field of battle, a band of 2,000 rebels under command of Manuel Guerrero has been completely routed by the garrison of this city, aided by the police of the local commandery. The attack began on Wednesday, April 24.

In the garrison were 315 men of the Seventh, Eighth and Fourteenth cavalry, all dismounted. Added to these was a small body of 50 state police, mounted, and 100 city police.

Woman Talks of Conditions.

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—"Insults to which American women and men have been subjected in Mexico and the danger surrounding them should impel the United States to send relief."

This statement, accredited to Mrs. Bernard Sweyer, is printed in the Mobile Item. Mrs. Sweyer was for three years a resident of Chihuahua. She is quoted as saying that American newspapers have not told half the truth of conditions in Mexico.

"I have witnessed terrible scenes," says Mrs. Sweyer. "In the mining country where many Americans are engaged, the greatest suffering and danger exists."

Seize American Guns.

City of Mexico, May 1.—Thirty of the 1,000 rifles shipped to the American ambassador for the use of the American colony in the event of trouble in the capital, were seized by the police as they were being distributed. More than 700 already had been sold and apportioned among the American residents when the order was issued to allow no more to go out from the improvised headquarters. Ambassador Wilson at once took steps to learn the reason for the embargo, which was thought to be due to misunderstanding on the part of the municipal authorities.

HARVESTER CASE IN SENATE AGAIN

Lea Wants Report From 1904 Up to Present Time.

Washington, May 1.—The return to the attorney general of that official's response to the senate's resolution of inquiry relative to the International Harvester company on the ground that it was not a proper reply, was demanded today in a resolution in the senate by Senator Lea of Tennessee. Mr. Lea also presented a resolution calling upon the department of justice to supply all the information in its possession relating to the harvester company from 1904 to the present time.

The senate took no action today.

Quickest Relief Known For Sore Feet

The following is absolutely the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel so good you could sing for joy. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smelly and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is said to be sufficient to cure the worst feet. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide compound in stock or he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. It is not a patent medicine but is an ethical preparation.

"Toney" Hats at $5.00 $8 and $10

Tone is everything in millinery—that's why we maintain a big, bright workroom with a staff of trimmers who know their art.

They understand the art of simplicity—they get results without "overloading" the hats they trim—and they work rapidly because they know what they are doing. Hence we can and do offer hats at $5.00, $6.00, $8.00 and $10.00 which are not to be compared with the ordinary "factory-hats" usually shown at these prices.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

McMILLAN—Miss Anna McMillan of Cheboygan, Mich., sister to W. C. McMillan of 5313 Wadena street, died April 22 at her home after a year's illness from tuberculosis. Miss McMillan worked at West Duluth several years ago and was well known at that end of the city. She leaves her mother at Cheboygan, Mich., besides her brother. The funeral was held from the residence Sunday, April 14.

O'DONNELL—The body of Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, 66 years of age, who died at 6 o'clock last evening of heart trouble at her home, 1527 London road, will be sent to her former home at St. Paul tonight for interment. She had lived in Duluth many years and was well known here. She is survived by her husband, James O'Donnell, an engineer of the Northern Pacific; one daughter, Mrs. R. A. Mannheim, and three sons, James, Frank and Henry O'Donnell.

HANKS—The body of Evelyn Hanks, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hanks, who was killed shortly before noon yesterday on the D. M. & N. tracks at her home near Adolph, was sent to Grand Rapids today for interment. It is believed that the child was asleep on the tracks. She was not seen by the engineer until the train was almost on her, too late to bring it to a stop. The body was badly mutilated. Her father is a section foreman in the employ of the D. M. & N.

LANGLOIS—Albert Langlois, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Langlois of 5131 Avondale street, Lakeside, died at their home this morning after three weeks' illness of typhoid fever. The funeral will be held Friday morning at 9:30 from the residence. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A carefully prepared musical and literary program will feature the meeting of the Junto Literary society in Room 109 tomorrow at the close of school.

A freshman class meeting was held this afternoon. Robert Gunderson was elected class baseball captain; Miss Taylor, class adviser, gave a short talk to the freshman party, which will be held Saturday, May 11.

Principal Young announced in chapel this morning that a special meeting of the junior class has been called for Friday afternoon, when plans relative to the annual junior-senior dance will be discussed by the members. A committee will be selected at that time to take charge of the affair, which is the brilliant social function of the school year.

Arne Bergum, Andrew Johnson and Homer Haldren, the winners in the preliminary try-out for representation in the Wallace cup contest, competed this morning during the chapel period for the honor of representing Central in oratory.

After a consultation between the judges Andrew Johnson was announced as the winner. "Gettysburg" was the subject of Mr. Johnson's oration.

The board of control of the athletic association met in the physical laboratory this afternoon, the members discussing the baseball situation.

STANDARD OIL WANTS TO STAY

Asks Modification of Missouri Ouster—Agrees to Be Good.

Jefferson City, May 1—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana today filed in the Missouri supreme court a motion for the modification of the ouster judgment recently returned against the company.

The company asks the court to permit the payment of costs and a fine of $50,000 to satisfy the judgment, and agrees to obey the anti-trust laws. The motion sets forth that the company has separated itself from other companies in accordance with the decree of the United States court.

Attorney General Major, it is said, will insist on a complete ouster.

HISTORIC MARYLAND MANSION

Baltimore Sun: Maryland lost a historic landmark of two centuries recently when fire, originating from a defective flue, wrecked the old Patterson mansion at the Springfield hospital for the insane. There 100 years ago lived Miss Elizabeth Patterson, who afterward became the wife of Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Emperor Napoleon.

For thirty years in the last century the mansion was the residence of Former Governor Frank Brown, who inherited it, with an estate of some 3,000 acres, from his cousin, Miss Florence Brown. Her mother, Governor Brown's aunt, had married George Patterson, a son of William Patterson, the merchant of Baltimore and father of Mme. Bonaparte. Governor Brown sold the property to the state in 1906.

"As a member of the board of the hospital," said Governor Brown yesterday, "I shall use my influence to have the mansion rebuilt in an exact reproduction of the original structure. It was in many respects the most famous of the state's mansions, through its historic associations, and a replica of it should be preserved to represent that for which it stood."

"I remember Mme. Bonaparte well," he said. "You know she lived to a great age. Well long after she had left the country estate and taken up her residence in Baltimore she used to make periodical visits to the home, and usually I was her escort. On the lawn now are several pecan trees which she planted in her girlhood, and she took great pride in their growth."

The manner of the meeting of the bride to be of the emperor's brother with the newly arrived French nobleman was recalled by Governor Brown. This incident has become an interesting point in the state's history.

William Patterson, having made a fortune, bought the country estate comprising several thousand acres and his mansion soon became a rendezvous for Baltimore's society. To facilitate communication between his country seat and the metropolis the owner of the estate evolved the idea of building to it a horse car line. Later when Peter Cooper announced the invention of his steam engine Mr. Patterson, in conjunction with Mr. Elliott, whose estate embraced what is now Ellicott City, urged a trial of the new machine. That was the beginning of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

When Jerome Bonaparte visited America in 1803 he was feted by Baltimore society, among the entertainments given in his honor being a dance at the home of Miss Patterson's aunt, Miss Spear. The young Elizabeth, already famed as one of the state's greatest beauties, wanted to attend but her father objected. To be sure that his injunction would be obeyed he locked the door of the family coach.

Miss "Betsy," as she was called by her companions, was not to be daunted, however. The last train having gone, she mounted a horse and followed by a groom bearing her ball dress rode the twenty miles to Baltimore. At the dance her beauty made an indelible impression upon the French nobleman. Courtship followed and in spite of the objections of the young girl's father they were married.

When Napoleon heard of his brother's marriage he refused to recognize the bride and had the contract annulled in France. The young husband returned to his native land, but Mme. Bonaparte ended her days in Maryland.

A large part of the Patterson estate had originally belonged to Former Governor Brown's forefther, from whom it was purchased by Mr. Patterson.

The original house was added to until it became known as a fine type of the colonial mansion, with spreading verandas and column enclosed portico.

A JEWELLED CAVE.

The boys and girls who would like to see what Ali Baba's cave in the "Arabian Nights" was like can do so right here in New York. Visiting the cave is like rubbing Aladdin's wonderful lamp and ordering the slave to show you a bit of fairyland, but the cave is real and the jewels that you can see in it have grown there and are part of the cave. They were not hidden there by the forty thieves, for instance, says the New York Sun.

This beautiful grotto was found in a copper mine in Arizona. Explorers brought great pieces of the shining rocks to New York. The rocks and stone were put together at the Museum of Natural History just as they were found in Arizona.

When you look at these green and pink and red rocks, all glistening with points of light that look like jewels, you might well wonder if some of the forty thieves were not concealed around somewhere. Or perhaps you might imagine you saw Ali Baba himself shut in the cave and sitting beside that great green and white stone trying to think of the magic words "Open, Sesame," which he had forgotten.

Now how do you think those big colored cones came to be in that cave in Arizona. They started to grow in this great cavern a long, long time ago, and they have been growing there for hundreds and thousands of years.

When the rain falls and soaks into the limestone it makes a substance not unlike cornstarch, which gets hard when it reaches the top of the cavern. Then it begins to form the cones which hang like icicles from the roof of the cave.

Sometimes the drops fall to the floor and pile up and make the standing cones. The beautiful colors are caused by the copper and iron in the rocks.

DAMP SALT BEFORE RAIN.

New York Sun: Very few persons know that when the salt gets damp it is either because it is too near the sea or because it is going to rain. It is very hard to keep the salt cellar dry at the seashore, as there is so much moisture in the air all the time; but in other places it is usually a sign of rain when the salt gets damp.

Things that help themselves to the water in the air are called "deliquescent," and salt is one of them. When water is in the air in the form of gas it sometimes becomes too plentiful for the air to hold, and then we get what is called "precipitation" or rain. But long before the water vapor in the air is heavy enough to fall in rain there is enough of it to spare to make salt damp.

REMARKABLE BIBLE VERSES.

Youth's World: The eight verse of the third chapter of Zephaniah contains every letter including the finals of the Hebrew language, while one will find in the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra every letter of the English alphabet except j. The verse reads as follows: "And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whtsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of Heaven, shall require you, it be done speedily."

WHEAT AND FLAX LOWER

Large Receipts of Flaxseed and Poor Demand Lower Prices.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 1.—Flaxseed closed lower on the American markets today by reason of good primary receipts in comparison with those of a year ago, and reports of propitious weather through most of the winter wheat territory and all the spring wheat region. Durum closed lc lower and cash wheat closed ½c over May. Flaxseed closed slightly lower in both futures.

Wheat showed a slight upward tendency on the markets of North America this morning. There were many irregular fluctuations, but the general trend was slightly upward, although the news of factors affecting these markets was for the most part bearish. There were good weather reports respecting most parts of the winter wheat territory. The primary receipts on the American markets showed a considerable increase over those of a year ago. The upward trend was simply due to a reactionary feeling, such as naturally follows such a decline as took place during the previous two days. Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.14 bid, opened today at $1.13⅞ bid, but at noon was quoted at $1.14⅛ asked. There were likewise slight gains at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

News from the Liverpool market was bearish, wheat closing ¾d to 1d lower. Wheat was pounded down on that market by the news of improved winter wheat conditions in the United States, good Manitoba offers, freer Platte offers and good European prospects for crops. Buenos Ayres wheat last night closed unchanged to ½c higher, but opened this morning ¼c to ½c lower.

Flaxseed Is Lower.

Large offers of flaxseed on the Duluth market this morning, together with lower quotations from Winnipeg, and a decreased demand on the part of Duluth buyers, caused a downward movement on the Duluth market. There was no sensational fall, however. Duluth May flax at noon was 1¾c off at $2.18, and July 2¼c off at $2.12½ bid. Winnipeg May at noon was 1¾c off at $1.94⅜. Buenos Ayres May flax closed last night at $1.74¼ or ⅜c off and opened this morning at a further decline of 1¾c. Calcutta seed on the London market for May and June delivery closed today at $2.21¼, being unchanged from yesterday.

Charles E Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "A large implement house tells me that the acreage of wheat in the north half of North Dakota will show a large decrease owing to lack of plowing, and that a lot of seeding is being done in the stubble, which never makes a good crop."

Inglis wired from Wellington, Kan.: "I motored through Sumner county and found wheat practically a failure. What is left is thin and weedy. Recent rains have prompted the growth of weeds more than wheat in thin spotted fields, but where the stand is good, rains have been of great benefit."

The following reports have been received from B. W. Snow:

"Shamrock, Mo.—The wheat prospect is very poor and a large percentage is planted to other crops. Oats seeding is completed. There is no corn planting."

"Yellon, Okla.—Wheat is small and doing well."

"Clearwater, Kan.—A large acreage of winter wheat is being plowed up in this vicinity. The rest of the crop is thin and weedy."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Standing Buying Orders Rally Wheat After Early Weakness.

Chicago, May 1.—Standing orders to buy at a decline rallied the market today after initial weakness due to lower cables and favorable weather. The fact that deliveries on May contracts although large were somewhat less than expected helped to develop a feeling of strength. Bulls took courage from the fact, too, that pit offerings reached only a moderate volume. The opening was ¼c to ⅜@⅝c down. July started at $1.10⅝ to $1.11, a drop of ⅛@¼c to ½@⅝c and then rose to $1.11½.

A further upturn followed owing to remarkable losses reported in Sumner county, Kan. The effect, however, did not last. Closing prices were easy with July ⅛ net lower at $1.11@1.11⅛. Corn advanced on accounts of the wet weather. Sellers were scarce. July opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher at 78⅛@78¾c to 78½c and ascended to 78⅝c.

Profit-taking led to a reaction, which was aided by large receipts west and south west. The close had a steady tone at 77⅞c for July, ¾c@½c under last night.

In oats, the feature was the effort of cash houses to buy May delivery. As a result the market as a whole showed a tendency to climb. July started same as last night at 54⅜c and touched 54⅝c.

Heavy liquidation sale for longs, especially May pork, carried provisions sharply downward. A decline at the yards contributed to the general weakness. First transactions ranged all the way from 2½c to 42½c lower, with September options $19.37½ to $19.50 for pork, $11.12½ to $11.15 for lard, and $10.52½ to $10.55 for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 1. — The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 11 to 13 points owing to lower cables than expected and the failure of the weather map to show any traces of the showers predicted yesterday. Business was extremely active at the start, and the market for a time was forced by the active months selling about 20 to 22 points net lower before the end of the first hour under heavy liquidation and bear pressure.

The Eastern forecast for generally fair weather and the probability of nothing worse than unsettled conditions in the Western belt no doubt added to the aggressiveness of the offerings, but a good demand was encountered on the break and prices during the middle of the morning were 4 or 5 points up from the lowest with trading less active.

Futures closed barely steady; closing bids: May, 10.94; June, 10.96; July, 11.04; August, 11.08; September, 11.05; October, 11.11; November, 11.12; December, 11.20; January and February, 11.13; March, 11.20.

Spot closed quiet and 0 points lower. Middling uplands, 11.40; middling gulf, 11.65. Sales (delivered on account), 22,100 bales.

New York Money.

New York, May 1.—Money on call steady, 2½@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2½ per cent; offered at 2¾ per cent. Time loans, steady; 60 days, 3¼ per cent, and 90 days, 3¼@3½ per cent; six months, 3½@3¾ per cent.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4 to 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84.25 for 60 days and at $4.86.75 for demand. Commercial bills $4.83½. Mexican dollars, 48c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds easy.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade was without special feature, all classes meeting with moderate inquiry. Shipments were made to Webster, S. D.; Hugo, Minn., and Superior, Wis. Receipts included about 100 head of general purpose horses and farm mares. Values as follows:

Drafters, extra	$190@250
Drafters, choice	120@190
Drafters, common to good	90@115
Farm mares and horses, extra	145@180
Farm mares and horses, choice	115@145
Farm horses, common to good	70@115
Delivery	120@210
Drivers and saddlers	110@200
Mules, according to size	150@240

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., May 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,400 head; killers, steady; steers, $5.00@8.25; cows and heifers, $4.00@6.75; calves, 25 cents higher, $3.00@7.25; feeders, steady, $2.75@6.15.

Hogs—Receipts, 4,400 head; market steady; range, $7.40@7.60; bulk of sales, $7.50.

Sheep—Receipts, shorn, 200 head; market, strong; lambs, $6.00@8.00; wethers, $5.50@6.50; ewes, $3.50@5.00; wool stuff at 50c to 75c premium.

LOSSES ARE CUT DOWN

Early Weaknesses of Stock Market Succeeded By Firm Tone.

Prices Improve Sharply Under Influence of Large Short-Covering.

New York, May 1.—Heavy selling of United States Steel common, based on the unfavorable quarterly report, was the feature at the opening of today's stock market. Initial dealings comprised a block of 15,000 shares at 70½ to 70¾, followed by another block of 3,000 at 70¾ as against 72¼ at yesterday's close. There was also acute weakness in Union Pacific with fractional declines in other standard issues. These were offset in a measure by the strength of the Anthracite coal stocks, both Reading and Lehigh Valley opening with advances, which extended to a point or more. American Smelting was strong, but the movement as a whole was irregular.

The early weakness in United States Steel and Union Pacific suggested better pressure rather than liquidation, being further attested by the celerity with which Union Pacific recovered the greater part of its loss.

United States Steel, however, regained little more than half of its decline and was offered in liberal quantities at every show of returning strength.

American Smelting, American Tobacco, International Harvester and several of the minor metal and industrial shares were up from 1 to 2 points. Trading became dull after the first outbreak.

More mature consideration of overnight news developments seemed to convince a large part of the professional element that immediate conditions hardly warranted an excess of bullish zeal. Prices fell somewhat abruptly in the second hour under the weight of heavy selling with greater weakness in United States Steel which sold down to 70. The coal stocks also were singled out for attack. Reading declining a point from yesterday's close and Lehigh Valley yielding all its early advantage. Practically all the standard issues recorded losses, the most conspicuous exception being American Smelting. Trading dwindled to small proportions before noon with marked heaviness in Union Pacific. Bonds were easy.

The market's narrow character may be judged from the fact that one-third of the morning's business was in United States Steel which with Reading made up over 50 per cent of the whole. Steel reacted further during the noon hour, declining to 69⅞, with increased weakness in other leaders. American Tobacco, on which regular dividends had been resumed, declined 6 points after its early 2 point rallies from their low, but heaviness continued in other parts of the list.

The undertone of the market became gradually better in the afternoon and Reading eventually sold above yesterday's closing figures. Virtually all of the loss in Union Pacific was made up and United States Steel hovered midway between its highest and lowest figures. American Can showed considerable activity and was lifted 1⅝.

The market closed firm. All trace of the early nervousness vanished in the final hour and prices improved sharply under the influence of extensive short coverings. Copper stocks were in brisk demand, especially American Smelting, which gained 2 points. Railroad issues made a good showing. United States Steel made up considerable of the day's decline, but ended with a material net loss.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of Five Hundred Twenty ($520.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by William J. Laughren and Fannie L. Laughren, his wife, mortgagors, to George J. Klein, mortgagee, dated the 24th day of February, 1910, and with the power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the third day of March, 1910, at ten o'clock A. M., in book two hundred sixty-seven (267) of mortgages, on page six hundred thirty (630), which said mortgage was duly assigned by a deed of assignment by said George J. Klein to E. Lillian Veasey, dated the seventeenth day of August, 1910, which said assignment of said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the twenty-fifth day of August, A. D. 1910, at nine o'clock A. M., in book one hundred eighty-eight (188) of mortgages, on page five hundred sixty-six (566), which said mortgage was again assigned by a deed of assignment dated November 14, 1911, by Alger L. Brown and Mrs. J. B. Root, executor and executrix of the estate of E. Lillian Veasey, deceased, to Isabel Reynolds, which said assignment of said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 17th day of January, A. D. 1912, at eight o'clock A. M. in book three hundred three (303) of mortgages, on page two hundred thirty-four (234), and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given. That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.: Lot five (5), Block sixty (60), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, together with the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining, which said premises will be sold by the sheriff of St. Louis County, Minnesota, in the sheriff's office in the Court House in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the sixth day of Jan., A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Five Hundred Twenty ($520.00) Dollars and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale, as provided by law.

ISABEL REYNOLDS,
Assignee of Mortgage.

HUGH J. McCLEARN,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT STARTS INQUIRY INTO WRECK OF THE TITANIC

Lord Merzy Is at Head of Commission of Investigation.

J. Bruce Ismay Starts for England—Says He Has Told All.

Senator Smith Looking Up Reported Suppression of News.

London, May 2.—Lord Merzy, in his capacity as wreck commissioner, and five assessors who will advise him in his questioning on the technicalities of nautical affairs, this morning held the first session of the board of trade inquiry into the loss of the White Star steamer Titanic.

In point of interest to the public and the importance of its results on the laws governing the mercantile marine, the investigation promises to overshadow all previous tribunals of a similar character.

From the series of twenty-six questions which the attorney general announced would be taken up, it became evident that the inquiry would cover practically the same ground as the investigation by the committee of the American senate, but would be conducted more in accordance with the procedure of a court of law, and deal definitely with stated cases.

Questions All Outlined.

Eight questions, Sir Rufus Daniel Isaacs said, would relate to happenings before the casualty; six to warnings given to the Titanic and the resulting precautions taken; ten to the casualty itself and consequent events; one of the equipment and construction of the vessel; and the last to the rules of the merchant shipping act.

A twenty-foot model of the Titanic, carrying sixteen miniature lifeboats, and a big chart of the North Atlantic were prominently displayed before the

BRITISH AND GERMAN SHIPS IN COLLISION

Battleship Empress of India Damaged By Sailing Vessel.

London, May 2.—The British battleship Empress of India was in collision with a German sailing vessel early today at Spithead. The battleship received a gaping hole in her side above the main deck, while the merchantman lost headgear and foretopmast. The Empress of India was in midchannel in tow of the cruiser Warrior at the time of the crash.

The Empress of India was launched in 1891, and is now classed as obsolete. It is kept in the special reserve for emergency use. It has a displacement of about 14,000 tons.

JURY PICKED FOR ALLEN'S TRIAL

Nine Farmers and Three Merchants Will Decide His Case.

Wythville, Va., May 2.—Floyd Allen, the Carroll county mountaineer, today faced the twelve men who are to try him for his life for his part in the courthouse tragedy at Hillsville. The jury was completed last night.

Although he is indicted for five murders, Floyd Allen is called upon at this time to answer only the charge that he shot and killed Commonwealth Attorney Foster.

Nine farmers and three merchants compose the jury. The defense moved to require the commonwealth to consolidate the five indictments against Floyd Allen to obviate the impossibility of five separate trials, but Judge Staples overruled the motion. The opening statements by counsel will be made today.

McCARTHY ROASTS COUNTRY SCHOOLS

Says Agricultural Teaching There in Wisconsin Is Only Farce.

Madison, Wis., May 2. — Revelations of some surprising conditions in the rural schools of Wisconsin are hinted at by Dr. Charles McCarthy of the legislative reference library, in a statement today.

The teaching of agriculture is akin to a farce, he thinks. He declares that every county should have an agricultural school of its own, and a well paid, competent inspector. If farmers' institutes were abolished, he asserts, and the money used to support county schools, the state would reap vast benefit. He indicates that the next legislature will have to face this problem.

MANUEL CALERO.

SCOFFS AT THE REVOLT

New Ambassador From Mexico Says It Is No Real Revolution.

Declares His Country and United States Will Have No Trouble.

Chicago, May 2.—Senor Manuel Calero, the newly appointed Mexican ambassador to the United States, in an interview here says he believes that the present outbreaks in Mexico will be under complete control within three months. Also he says there is no chance of a Japanese invasion of Mexico, and that he expects no trouble between Mexico and the United States. Ambassador Calero will go to Lake Geneva, Wis., before going to Washington.

"The revolution in Mexico," he said, "will be put down within three months. It was started and is kept alive by the brigands of the Morelos state.

"The Indians sold their land, which the new owners fenced in, and when their money was gone the Indians, supported by brigands and natives of a lower caste, attacked these landed proprietors, stole, killed and committed other atrocities. The government was called in to suppress those uprisings.

Not Real Revolution.

"It is not a real revolution of the masses against the government, but an uprising of brigands and Indians who are working for spoils.

"The stories of the Japanese invading our seacoast and securing fishing leases is a joke when it comes to insinuating that it means war. Our government simply leases fishing rights, and not an inch of land, to the Japanese and other foreigners. That's all there is to that yarn. Japan will never reach the United States through Mexico, and Mexico is not going to war with the United States."

GEORGIANS FOR MR. UNDERWOOD

Country Vote at Primaries Gives Him Strength Against Wilson.

Atlanta, Ga., May 2.—Counting of the ballots cast in the Democratic presidential primary yesterday, in which Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama proved to be the winner over Woodrow Wilson, showed that the Alabaman developed great strength in the country districts, while Wilson's hold seemed confined to the larger cities.

Early today the Underwood majority, according to practically complete but unofficial returns, showed he carried about 100 out of the 146 counties in the state by a plurality of 8,577. Governor Harmon had polled 189 and Speaker Champ Clark 692 votes.

A state convention will be held in this city May 10 to ratify the action of the voters.

WILL TEST ILLINOIS COMPENSATION LAW.

Chicago, May 2.—Members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association will test the validity of the new state employers' liability law before paying out hundreds of thousands of dollars in increased rates to casualty companies. Colin C. P. Fyffe, counsel for the association, has made plans to test the law, which went into effect May 1. Samuel A. Harper, attorney for the commission which drafted the new law, feels positive that it is constitutional as a similar law is in effect in ten states and had been passed upon favorably by the supreme court of four states.

GALBREATH ARRESTED

Accused of Misapplying Funds —Losses Aggregate $1,200,000.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 2.—E. E. Galbreath, ex-president of the Second National bank of this city, was arrested today by a United States marshal on a charge of misapplying the funds of the bank. The bank was recently discovered to be in an embarrassed condition, and now is being operated by members of the Cincinnati Clearing House association.

After the bank was taken over by the clearing house a new set of officers was placed in control.

The warrant for Galbreath's arrest charged him with having wilfully and unlawfully misappropriated funds of the bank for his own use to the amount of $33,000. The warrant was sworn out by United States Bank Examiner R. W. Goodhart. Before becoming president of the Second National, Galbreath was a federal bank examiner.

Cries Crossed Accounts.

The transaction upon which the warrant was issued took place April 8. It is alleged that on that date Galbreath placed in the Second National bank a draft for $33,000 drawn upon the Third National Bank of St. Louis, of which his brother, G. W. Galbreath,

NEW FLYER KILLS GERMAN AVIATOR

Gordon Hoesli Has Fatal Fall While Trying Out Monoplane.

Berlin, May 2.—Gordian Hoesli, the aviator, died here early today of injuries received last evening in a fall from his monoplane. He was trying out his machine and was ninety feet from the ground when he dropped. According to spectators, Hoesli was jarred out of his seat when he turned a curve rather sharply.

TUG BLOWN UP IN DARDANELLES

Four Officers, Twelve Soldiers and All of Crew Are Killed.

Constantinople, May 2.—A small tugboat which was engaged inspecting the channel buoys in the Dardanelles last night fouled a mine and was blown to pieces. Four officers, twelve soldiers and all the members of the crew of the tug perished.

TOWN SWEPT BY WATER

Torras, La., People Flee in Panic at Breaking of the Levee.

Millions of Dollars Loss Is Feared From the Flood.

SECOND LEVEES BREAK.

Torras, La., May 2.—The second line of leevees protecting the big convict plantation from the Mississippi river at Angola, La., broke this afternoon and, within a short time the 5,000-acre plantation was inundated. The state recently completed a $500,000 sugar refining plant on the Angola plantation and this will be flooded.

Torras, La., May 2.—Women screaming and men shouting as they hurried into their homes and seized their children and valuables in their mad effort to reach places of safety, and the stampeding of animals turned loose by their owners to seek safe places, were some of the chaotic conditions that prevailed in Torras last night when the alarm was sounded that the levee at the junction of the Old and Mississippi rivers had given way.

Although it had been known that several weak spots had developed, little attention had been paid to this by the citizens of Torras, and they were caught unprepared. Within a few minutes after the break had become known the townspeople were in a panic.

Carried Out on Freight Train.

Before the streets were entirely submerged a majority of the inhabitants had reached places of safety. Three hundred women and children were placed aboard a freight train which had just arrived in Torras. These were taken to a point below here.

No loss of life has been reported, but it is feared some fatalities may occur in the interior, as the water is rushing through the country so rapidly that sufficient warning may not have reached those living in districts remote from wire communication.

Loss of Millions.

Millions of dollars of loss will be caused by the devastation of some of the most valuable farms and plantations in the state, it is feared, by this new crevasse.

Eleven parishes with a total population of a quarter of a million are being swept by the water.

Food supplies have been massed near Torras by the government in anticipation of a break here and those in charge of the work are preparing to give relief to 40,000 people in this vicinity.

Episcopal Address Is Feature of Day at General Conference.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Criticism of the condition which enabled the church to gain "less than 2 per cent in its membership in the last year," and charges that the church press was being used "as a free forum by the promoters of disaffection," were made in the bishops' report to the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today.

The report, known as the "Episcopal address," was signed by eighteen bishops in this and six bishops in foreign countries, and is regarded as the most important document to come before the conference, as it contains the bishops' recommendations for the future guidance and policy of the church.

Read By Bishop Cranston.

The report was read by Bishop Earl Cranston of Washington, D. C. Another section, upon which the bishops have been at work since the last general conference at Baltimore, four years ago, will be delivered tomorrow.

"In the last year," said the report, "the church has made a net gain of but

COST CANDIDATES ONLY $300 EACH

Wisconsin Law Prescribes Cost of "Getting Before the People."

Madison, Wis., May 2.—If the presidential electors chosen by each party to cast their vote in the electoral college desire to get their qualifications before the people, as the other candidates are expected to do, it will cost each about $300.

The expense is encountered in complying with the provisions of a new law which provides for the sending of a pamphlet to all voters by the secretary of state, at the expense of candidates, setting forth qualifications for office. While the law does not make it compulsory upon candidates to spend the money, it is considered the best method of "getting before the people."

CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS,
Former Vice President of the United States.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles W. Mr. Fairbanks has been a delegate to every general conference for many years.

MUST STICK TO TARIFFS

Commerce Commission Warns Railroads on Tapline Question.

Failure Will Be Criminal Violation of Traffic and Elkins Laws.

Washington, May 2.—Tariffs filed with the interstate commerce commission cancelling allowances made by trunk lines with so-called "taplines," must be observed by the trunk lines and shippers, or they will face prosecution for criminal violation of the interstate commerce act and the Elkins act.

This is the determinattion by the commission, in a unique situation which has arisen as a result of the decision rendered in the "tap line case."

The tariffs filed with the commission by the trunk lines cancelling the allowances made to the taplines were to have become effective at midnight, April 30. Four hours prior to that time, on application of some of the taplines, the circuit court of Missouri —a state tribunal—granted an injunction to restrain the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern and other Southwestern lines from cancelling their through routes and rates with the taplines.

Same Reply To All.

Immediate inquiry was made of the commission as to what tariffs were effective. In every instance the commission replied:

"Cancellations took effect at midnight, April 30. Rates filed must be observed by carriers and shippers, if criminal violation of interstate commerce act and Elkins act is to be avoided."

It is understood orders soon may be issued by the commission dismissing certain of the pending "tapline cases." On those orders the matters in controversy may be carried to the commerce court, and eventually to the United States supreme court, for judicial determination.

SALOON MEN MAKE MARION, IND., DRY

Shut Saloons Rather Than Take Election Contest to Court.

Marion, Ind., May 2.—The thirsty today in vain tried the doors of the twenty-one saloons of this city. They were closed by secret voluntary agreement following a decision by the Indiana supreme court by which the "drys" of Kokomo shut up twenty-one saloons there. The ruling was that an option election board could not legally recount the vote, and had power only to tabulate returns. The Marion situation was similar to that in Kokomo, and the saloon keepers here decided not to go into court.

VOTED DOWN HARD COAL AGREEMENT

New York, May 2.—The full committee of anthracite operators and miners this afternoon voted down the agreement that was submitted to them by the sub-committee of the operators and miners to settle the controversy over the question of increased wages and other questions in the anthracite regions.

New York, May 2.—Negotiations looking to a settlement of the anthracite labor questions that have caused a suspension of work in that industry for several weeks may be satisfactorily concluded this afternoon, when the full committees of the coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America meet to consider the formal agreement that has been reached between the sub-committes appointed by both sides. That this agreement will be formally ratified, with possibly one or two changes, is generally believed.

The agreement provides for a 10 per cent increase in wages and an indirect recognition of the union, together with other changes that have been found to be acceptable to both sides with respect to working conditions at the mines.

While the agreement is said to provide a certain definite period of time for which it is to run, it was suggested earlier in the day that there might become difference of opinion on this ques-

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL IS REPORTED

Gives Gull Lake $15,000 and Warroad $13,200—Surveys for Lakes.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 2.—The river and harbor bill, which was reported to the senate today by Senator Nelson, carries an appropriation of $15,000 for the completion of Gull Lake reservoir at the head waters of the Mississippi river.

The appropriation for the improvement of Warroad harbor in Lake of the Woods was increased by Senator Nelson from $2,200 to $13,200.

On representation made by Representative Miller, the bill directs the chief of engineers to make a survey of Mille Lac lake and Onamia lake, with a view to improving the navigability of the Mississippi river by constructing a dam across Rum river at or near Onamia and thereby creating a reservoir in said lakes.

The bill carries $8,064,010 in addition to the appropriations provided for by the house, and aggregates $32,126,530. The largest single increase to the house measure was $2,500,000 for the Mississippi river, making $6,000,000 for that waterway.

MANY ARE AFTER BADGER OFFICES

Madison, Wis., May 2.—The candidates for state offices in Wisconsin on the part of "progressive" Republicans are so numerous this year that a plan of elimination has been suggested. It is proposed to have the progressive Republicans of the legislature meet with the Republican state central committee and make one selection at the conference for each office. This selection is to be binding on all other progressives.

It is generally understood that Governor F. E. McGovern and Lieut. Governor Thomas Morris will not be opposed.

GERMANS PLAN CRUISE DETAILS

Berlin, May 2.—It has been decided that the German battleship squadron will sail for America on May 11, proceeding first to Hampton Roads, where it will be joined by the German armored cruiser Bremen, which has been in American waters for some time. Later the warships will visit New York and the return home has been set for the end of June.

The mission of the squadron is to make a return visit, the second division of the United States Atlantic fleet having paid a call of courtesy at Kiel last June. It will be commanded by Rear Admiral von Rebeur-Paschwitz, one of the emperor's personal aides.

ALL THAT BOYS MAKE AND DO SHOWN IN ANNUAL EXHIBIT

Nearly every school in the city will be represented in the third annual boys' exposition, which will take place in the boys' department Y. M. C. A., Sixth avenue east and Third street, Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4.

Every boy in the city under 19 years of age is entitled to make an entry in the big exhibition which will show the kind of things the boys of Duluth are interested in, and the kind of work that they can do. The exhibition will be an eye-opener, judging from the way the things are coming in, the exhibition will eclipse all previous efforts. Manual training results will be exhibited. Electrical apparatus will also be in evidence. The arts and crafts department will show brass and copper work, leather work, baskets, burnt wood, pottery, paper work. This class of work done by boys will be quite a novelty.

The art department is always popular and many surprises from youthful artists will be on exhibition. Drawing, penmanship, sign writing, designs and photography are included in the art department.

The department for pets will be a very interesting one. Dogs, rabbits, pigeons and angora cats will be shown, and it will be the first exhibition of the kind ever held in the city.

The domestic science department will show that boys are handy about the house as well as girls. Every kind of cake will be shown, and bread and candy. On Saturday evening the contests will take place as follows: Piano solo, violin solo, cornet solo, vocal solo, chorus, gymnastic drills, stories, poems and orations. Penmanship, shorthand and typewriting will also be on exhibition. All the work will be done by boys. They will be divided into three classes: Class A, boys under 13 years; B, under 16 years; C, boys under 19 years. The exhibition will open Friday from 4 to 9:30, Saturday 9 a. m. to 9:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

The following will be the judges:

Bread—Miss Irene Walker, domestic science, Industrial school.

Candy—Victor Huot.

Manual training work and mechanical drawing—Ed. Geiger, manual training supervisor D. C. H. S.

Arts and crafts—Miss Gertrude Carey.

Collections—W. H. Shilling, Duluth Central high school.

Sign writing and posters—A. B. Wegener.

Pets—Dr. J. G. Harris.

Penmanship, shorthand and typewriting—Prof. J. B. Carey, D. C. H. S.

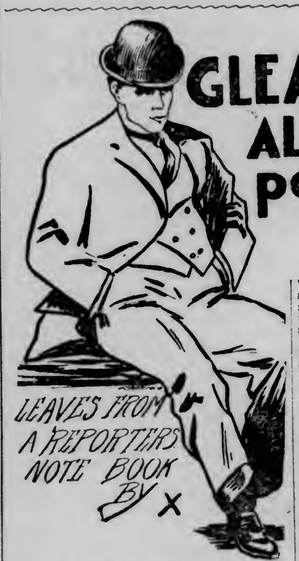
Literature—Prof. Sprague.

Orations—Prof. Bracket.

Gymnastic—A. B. Wegener, physical director, Y. M. C. A.

All entries will be judged Friday afternoon.

Silk ribbons will be given the first, second and third in each class. The school or club that gets the highest number of points will be awarded a pennant.



It is extremely hard to distinguish the worthy from the unworthy when a person comes to the door to ask for assistance.

Of course Duluth has an Associated Charities which makes a business of investigating these cases for the public and is glad to do so upon request, but very often this is forgotten or the more fortunate resident considers himself or herself capable of exercising judgment.

A couple of months ago an old, gray-haired man called at the back door of a Duluth home to ask for something to eat. His clothes were a bit shabby but his face was rather kindly and he made a good impression upon the housewife who opened the door in response to his knock.

"Please, mam," he said in pretty good American, without any trace of foreign accent, "I'm a poor old soldier and haven't got any money. I am on my way to my son at St. Paul, I am getting old and want to see him before I die. I have walked all the way from Hibbing and haven't had any food since yesterday morning. I am weak and faint and I want to get along as fast as I can. You could help me an awful lot by just giving me some bread, or some cold meat, or anything that you've got handy."

The story of the old man appealed to the housewife and she asked him to come inside. She had long ago put away the breakfast dishes—breakfast still goes by the same name—but she took down the coffee pot and prepared him a meal which she calculated he would not soon forget. He had plenty of cold roast, bread and butter and jam and several other things, together with all the hot, steaming coffee he wanted to drink.

When the old man had eaten to his heart's content and was about to leave after thanking her profusely she told him to wait a minute. She quickly returned from an adjoining room and handed the old man a quarter and started him on his way again. She was happy in the thought that she had done a charitable act and remembered that she had even refused to allow the unfortunate old veteran to split or carry in any kindling for her.

In the meantime she moved to another house. Yesterday another knock came at the back door. When she answered the rap she saw the same old man standing before her with his cap in his hand. She was too astounded to speak and he evidently did not recognize her.

"Please, ma'm," he began over again, "I'm a poor old soldier and haven't got any money. I am on my way to my son at St. Paul and I have walked all the way from Hibbing and I want to see him before I die."

He didn't get any further. "Why, you old rascally scamp you," she hurled at him as she banged the door in his face.

And then what do you suppose she did? Anybody could guess. She went inside and cried.

A good appearance and an honest-looking face stood John O'Hara, a carpenter, in good stead when he was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of having stolen a coat from Conrad Galleberg.

O'Hara entered a plea of guilty to the larceny allegation and explained that he had found the coat in a room of the old Windsor hotel at Fifth avenue west and Superior street. He was helping dismantle the place, which is to be remodeled, and found the coat in a deserted room. He said that he thought it was without any owner and that he therefore appropriated it.

The court gave him a mild lecture upon the evils of acquiring the habit of taking articles which do not belong to him and then suspended sentence.

William Shields was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy and upon being found guilty got $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

The police reported that he had seen a woman of loose reputation with two other men and accosted her after she had left them. It is stated that he represented himself as an officer and that she gave him $1, presumably to save herself from arrest.

Shields told the court that he did it more for a joke than anything else, but the court couldn't see the point. He has been in the same court before.

It is claimed that the woman who caused Shields' arrest became afraid that she might get into trouble because of her relations with other men and left the city this morning. At the hotel where she was stopping it was stated that she had left at 7:30 this morning and had left the information that she would not be back.

John Babich, the saloon keeper arrested on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance at Fifth avenue west and Superior street Tuesday afternoon, changed his plea of not guilty to guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. He paid a fine of $15.

The fine of John C. Olson, one of the two ball players arrested on charge of being drunk and disorderly, was paid yesterday afternoon and he was released from the county jail.

Nick Dellars denied in police court yesterday afternoon that he had stolen a ring valued at $5 from Selim Nicholas in the West end. He claimed that he had won it from Selim on a bet. He admitted that he had assaulted Selim, but claimed that Selim provoked it by calling him a thief. The merits of the case will be thrashed out in police court this afternoon.

Mayor McCuen will no longer need the permit which he secured from the police to operate his automobile without new state tags. The tags arrived this morning and "Doc" stated that he would not lose any time in having them attached to his buzz-cart. When you see a car numbered 17,742, you will know that it is the property of the city's chief executive.

PRICE OF BEEF IS HIGH IN SEATTLE

Ham and Bacon Also Go Up—Packers Say Animals Are Scarce.

Seattle, Wash., May 2.—The price of beef is the highest ever known in Seattle. Prime steers are selling at 12 cents a pound wholesale, 1 cent higher than a year ago. Pot roasts and boiling pieces, which have sold at 7 and 8 cents, have been advanced to 10 cents a pound.

Ham and bacon also have taken an upward trend. Packers attribute the high prices to scarcity of stock.

GRAND FORKS FANS STILL WANT TO COME IN.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—Grand Forks baseball fans are negotiating with Frank E. Lohr, former manager of the Winnipeg baseball club, for the position of manager of the proposed club for this city in the Central-International league, and they also have been attempting to work out the financial features of the proposition.

Grand Forks practically has abandoned hope of working with Fargo in making it a six-team league and is now co-operating with Brandon, Man.

LEADING A DOUBLE LIFE

Alberta Bradford Wilson's Wedded Bliss Was But Brief.

Husband Kept Right on Sowing Wild Oats After Marriage.

Honeymoon days had scarcely waned before Alberta Bradford-Wilson, a dusky belle and bride, learned that one Mister Joseph Wilson, custodian and porter-in-chief of a private Pullman car and the same colored gentleman who had sworn but a month before to love, honor and be obeyed by her as any lawful wedded spouse should, was leading a double life.

"I asked him for an explanation," she told Judge Ensign in district court today in the divorce action which she brought against Wilson, "and that man just kind of said to me in a laughing tone, 'You know all young men got to sow their wild oats.'" Mrs. Wilson was granted a decree of absolute divorce and allowed to resume her maiden name, Alberta Bradford.

The Wilsons were married at Winnipeg on Dec. 5, 1909. At that time Miss Bradford was a resident of Duluth. She went to Winnipeg on a visit, and while there chanced to meet Mr. Wilson, who was employed in the capacity of porter in a private Pullman car operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific railway out of Winnipeg.

After the wedding the happy couple took their bridal tour. They visited several cities, including Duluth, on their itinerary. Upon their return to Winnipeg Mister Wilson threw out gentle hints about Mrs. Wilson looking for work. She went West and was gone about two months, she said, in search of employment.

"When I returned to Winnipeg I found that Mister Wilson had departed," she testified. "I also learned that he had another woman on the string, and that because of the scandal he lost his job."

Nelson G. Porter, colored, 1029 East Third street, this city, was put on the stand to testify in behalf of Mrs. Wilson. Mr. Porter said that he was intimately acquainted with both parties involved in the matrimonial dispute, and intimated that he was well qualified to testify in the case.

Asked why Wilson had lost his job on the Grand Trunk Pacific, Mr. Porter said that he understood from rumors that had leaked out from the general offices of the road—he didn't remember whether it was from the general manager's or vice president's office—that officials had learned of the Wilson family scandal, and that Joe was leading a double life, and quietly dropped him from the service.

Mrs. Wilson declared that she had heard from her husband but once since they had failed to make connections at Winnipeg on her return from the West. That was when Joe wired a very urgent request for the loan of $50. She told him that he had better make the application for the loan in person.

Alberta is 28 and her divorced husband is 40. There was no request for alimony. J. Louis Ervin, a local colored attorney, appeared for Mrs. Wilson in the case.

PRIEST REFUSES AUTO OFFERED BY PARISHIONERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—Rev. T. E. Cullen, pastor of the pro-cathedral, has declined with thanks the gift of a $3,000 automobile which a committee tendered him on behalf of the congregation. Father Cullen expressed himself as deeply appreciative of the good will shown by the people of the pro-cathedral parish in so generous a gift, but he thought it his duty to recommend that the amount collected be turned over to the building fund to hasten the completing of the new pro-cathedral.

TAFT ATTENDS AIDE'S MEMORIAL

Augusta, Ga., May 2.—President Taft and the city of Augusta paid tribute today to Maj. Archibald Butt, the president's personal aide, who was lost in the wreck of the Titanic.

Augusta was Maj. Butt's home, and for several hours today business practically was suspended while memorial services were conducted in a theater. Flags were at half mast on most of the public buildings, and thousands of persons crowded around the theater, anxious to hear President Taft speak.

President Taft reached Augusta at 8 o'clock this morning. He was a breakfast guest of Mayor Barrett. After a reception at the Commercial club this afternoon he will leave for Washington, where he is due early tomorrow.

STILLWATER FIRE DISCLOSES HEIRESS.

Stillwater, Minn., May 2. — When fire early yesterday started in a flat building here, Mrs. Anna Walton Holcombe, a pioneer resident, refused to leave the building until a policeman had directed men to carry out a trunk which contained papers relating to the father of Mrs. Holcombe, who was once governor of Alabama. The papers, it is said, show that Mrs. Holcombe is an heir to a vast unsettled estate in England. The loss by the flames was small.

GRAIN GOES WITH RUSH

Nearly 9,000,000 Bushels Shipped During First Week of Season.

Duluth-Superior Harbor Demonstrates Ability to Handle Canadian Grain.

Duluth has demonstrated this spring that its harbor is the natural early spring outlet for the vast Western Canadian grain crops. Grain is being shipped out now from the Duluth-Superior port at an astonishing rate. The rush is due to the eagerness of the Canadian shippers to get their grain on its way to its destination on the other side of the Atlantic. Since the first steamer of the season left Duluth on April 25, the "Star of the West," the shipments of grain from the Duluth-Superior harbor have been reported in the aggregate at 7,860,818 bu. The rush has been so great that the clerks have been unable to get their reports made out and entered. It is believed by those in charge of such statistics for the Duluth Board of Trade that the actual shipments thus far must be in the neighborhood of 9,000,000 bu, all by water. This means the shipments of one week.

Last year, navigation opened at Duluth on April 29, and during the first ten days the shipments of grain amounted approximately to 2,673,000 bu. The enormous increase this year is due in the main to the coming of the Canadian bonded grain.

It is believed that Duluth will continue to be a point of shipment for Canadian bonded grain in future years. The Canadian shippers cannot afford to ignore the Duluth facilities. It was only by shipping to the Duluth-Superior elevators during the past winter, that the dangerous congestion of Canadian grain on the railroads in the Western part of that country was relieved. It was thus that millions of bushels of grain were properly taken care of and saved from almost certain destruction. Duluth saved Canada from what would have been a national calamity.

The farm acreage of Western Canada is rapidly increasing from year to year. It is predicted by Winnipeg grain men that the three provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will this year raise by far the largest crop they ever produced. It stands to reason that the method of shipping to Duluth must be a permanent feature in the handling of the Western Canadian grain.

Rail Shipments Heavy.

Shipments of grain by rail from Duluth-Superior during the present year, though very large, look small, when taken in comparison with the grain that is going out by water. During the first four months of 1912 the total amount shipped by rail was a little in excess of 6,500,000 bu. This is far less than what the boats have taken in one week. Yet it is away in excess of the grain shipped by rail from Duluth-Superior during the first four months of 1911, when the total was 890,000 bu, that was all domestic grain. The enormous increase in the rail shipments, like the increase in the water shipments, has been due to the handling of Western Canadian grain at Duluth and Superior.

The Duluth harbor possesses great advantages for the early spring handling of great quantities of grain. The boats began moving about the bay to take the grain from the elevators on April 9. The ice, thinned by the inflow of the warmer water from the St. Louis river, was easily broken on the bay several weeks before navigation opened. Nearly all the grain that has been shipped since that time by water was loaded into the boats in the bay after April 9. Only 433,800 bu of grain stood in the boats in the bay during the winter. The facilities for early loading and early relief of the elevators at Duluth and Superior are better than at Fort William and Port Arthur. That is another good reason why Canadian grain should continue to come this way.

The fact that the Western Canadian grain was handled so well at Duluth and Superior this year without any preparation for it indicates very plainly that it will be handled with great skill and efficiency in future years, when the shipments of bonded grain are a regular and expected feature of the traffic at Duluth.

Duluth bank clearings for the week ending today were $3,331,015.42, against $2,635,076.49 for the corresponding week of last year. The increase is attributed by Duluth bankers to the transactions involved in the handling and shipping of the Canadian bonded grain.

MAY WIDEN ENTRANCE TO BUFFALO HARBOR.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 2.—The widening of the mouth of the entrance to Buffalo harbor was the subject of a resolution introduced in the board of aldermen this week. The resolution states that Buffalo must take the initiative in harbor improvements before assistance can be expected from the government. The board of public works and the engineering department have been instructed to draw up plans for the improvement.

DELAYED BY HEAVY FOG

Only Two Boats Arrive in Harbor During the Morning.

Big Fleet Leaves Soo for Fort William and Duluth.

Today's heavy fog is the first since the present lake season opened and as a result but two arrivals have been recorded so far today. The Northern King and the Algonquin arrived this morning, the former with freight and the latter light for grain.

There were no arrivals yesterday afternoon after 12:30 o'clock. A number of boats cleared yesterday, twelve leaving with cargoes of grain for Georgian bay ports, Buffalo and Montreal. Most of the grain is Canadian wheat in bond, as a special effort is now being made to get the elevators cleared as soon as possible. The grain boats which left yesterday are: A. D. Davidson, W. W. Brown, City of Bangor, Wainwright, J. B. Wells, Sheldon Parks, Ball Bros., J. C. Morse, William Livingstone, A. E. Stewart, Socapa and Sylvania.

But three boats cleared the local port this morning. The Peter Reiss, light for grain; the Wilpin, ore, and the Robert Wallace, grain, left for Eastern ports. The Algonquin, which arrived this morning, was one of the boats reported anchored in the upper river between the Soo and Point Aux Pins, on account of a large field of ice. Most of the boats have cleared by now and are destined for Fort William. The boats reported held in the ice field are Capt. Thomas Wilson, J. E. Upson, Glenmount, Westmount, Stormount, Kinmount, Rosemount, Algonquin, Arcadian, Emperor, Midland Prince and Impoco.

The Stadacona, Dunham, Empress of Fort William, Andrew Carnegie and J. J. McWilliams are at the elevators loading grain and will clear within a few days. The Rochester of the Western Transit line is due today with package freight for Duluth. The Superior of the same line will leave today with a cargo of flour, shingles and blister copper.

The Booth line people received word by wireless yesterday that the ice at Port Arthur was now sufficiently broken up and that the Easton left port after being compelled to wait since Tuesday. The boat cleared yesterday afternoon with ten passengers and a large cargo of freight for the Canadian Head of the Lakes. The boat was expected to make port this morning and clear for the return trip before tomorrow evening.

WEITZEL LOCK AT SOO OPENS

Fleet of Boats Bound for Port Arthur Increased to Twenty.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Water was let in the Weitzel lock this morning for the first time this season and the lock will go into commission tonight with a draft of thirteen feet. The fleet arriving for Port Arthur continues to increase and now numbers about twenty. The easterly winds of yesterday is reported to have jammed the ice in the harbor and passage and it may be a week or ten days before it is open for navigation. Concrete work on the new lock started this morning.

CONSIDERED FERRIES.

South Shore and Other Officials Have Meeting at St. Ignace.

St. Ignace, Mich., May 2.—A meeting of railroad officials was held here recently, those attending being Vice President and General Manager Walker of the South Shore, Vice President L. Hommedieu of the Michigan Central and President and General Manager Hughart of the G. R. & I. At the same time the three superintendents of the respective roads—Messrs. Lytle, Coyle and Hunter—who form the board of managers of the car ferries, were there. It is understood that the object of the gathering was to decide the future of the old car ferries, St. Ignace and Ste. Marie. The debatable alternatives were a new boat or the repair of one or both of the old ones. In regard to the latter, the old St. Ignace is now condemned for winter use, but is available for passenger and freight service in the summer months; the Ste. Marie is condemned entirely for passenger service. What the result of the deliberations of the officials was has not been officially made public, but it is said to have been a decision to repair the Ste. Marie, being the larger of the two, and to "scrap" the St. Ignace.

BULLETINS POSTED FOR GUIDANCE OF MASTERS.

Bulletins have been posted by the Lake Carriers' association for the guidance of masters sailing the Great Lakes. These include the various harbor depths, showing changes during the previous year, and points where operations are under way. Following are the bulletins that have been posted at the various ports on the lakes:

All vessels are hereby notified to check down slow passing Corsica shoals, as the water there is lower this year than last.

Recommended draft for Niagara river, 13 feet 2 inches.

Recommended draft for Poe lock, 17 feet 6 inches.

Recommended draft for Fairport Harbor is 19 feet 6 inches.

EXPECTED TO CARRY

Sentiment for Initiative, Referendum and Recall Is Strong.

Agitation Over Transfer of Saloon License Has Aroused Voters.

As Tuesday, May 7, the date of the special election to approve or reject the amendment incorporating the initiative, the referendum and the recall as part of the city charter, draws near the interest is greatly increasing.

The indications are that the amendment will carry by a large majority and that the vote cast will be heavy. The sentiment throughout the city appears to be strongly in favor of the three features which have proved such a decided success in other municipalities in all parts of the country.

The strong protest against the transfer of the West end saloon license in the face of the opposition of the people of the ward and the two aldermen has done much to heighten the interest. It is stated that hundreds of people who were heretofore uncertain as to their position on the matter came out flatly for the amendment after learning of the council's action last Monday night. Those who have charge of the campaign declare that this is true in every ward in the city as well as in the West end ward into which the saloon was given authority to locate.

The only possibility of the saloon not going to 2403 West Superior street lies in Mayor McCuen vetoing the resolution granting the transfer. What he will do is uncertain. He stated today that he has not yet made up his mind and that there is no material change in the situation.

The municipal ownership committee, which secured the petition which brought on the special election, has been active in all parts of the city. Various able speakers have been expounding the principles of the initiative, the referendum and the recall at the meetings of different societies and clubs or wherever they could reach an audience. These speakers explained in detail just what the amendment will mean to the city and have given a multitude of reasons for its adoption.

The members of the committee have been absolutely confident that the amendment will carry, but they have been anxious to roll up as large a majority as possible because of the effect it may have in other parts of the state. A three-fifths vote of all votes cast is needed to make the amendment a part of the city charter.

Some statements have been made to the effect that friends of the nine aldermen who voted for the West end saloon transfer claim that they cannot be recalled even though the amendment should carry. It is asserted that they were elected for two years and cannot be deposed until their terms expire. A leader of the movement states that that belief is incorrect and that they will be just as amenable to the provisions of the amendment when it is passed as will any officials who are elected at future elections.

FREE LECTURE ON SCRIPTURES

Prof. P. S. L. Johnson to Speak at Armory Sunday Afternoon.

Prof. P. S. L. Johnson of New York will deliver a free lecture under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association at the Armory, Sunday, May 5, at 3 p. m. His subject will be "The Great Hereafter."

Prof. Johnson is a Bible student of wide reputation, having lectured in all the large cities of the United States and Canada. His study of the scriptures in the original Hebrew and Greek gives him a great advantage as a Biblical interpreter; and his opportunities of having the help of the ablest Bible students of the day in his scriptural researches make his lectures of especial interest and helpfulness.

One thing especially unusual in connection with the lecture is its entire freedom from money seeking. Neither admission will be charged nor collection taken. The lecture will be helpful to Christian and skeptic alike, and all are invited by those in charge.

Woman's Realm

"I have great hopes," said Mrs. A. T. Hall, president of the State Woman Suffrage association, this morning in an interview, "that the amendment to the state constitution allowing equal suffrage will carry. I have little doubt but that it will pass the legislature all right, but it is more difficult to get the majority of the voters of the state to pass the amendment. However, I find everywhere a growing interest in the cause and women and men, too, all over the state are taking it up and the outlook is most encouraging.

"It is difficult to get enough people in the state interested enough in an amendment to the constitution to vote on it and as in Minnesota it is necessary to have a majority of all votes cast to pass an amendment, it is much harder to change our constitution than it is in some states where only a majority of the votes cast on the amendment inself is necessary to carry it through. However, we are working up interest everywhere and I feel that the chances are strong for the securing of equal suffrage in Minnesota during the next election."

"A few days ago," she continued, "I attended the district convention of the First district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs at Austin in favor of suffrage. I felt that the entire meeting was a suffrage meeting and everywhere it is the same."

Mrs. Hall was the guest of honor with Jenukins Lloyd Jones, professor political economy at the University of Minnesota, at a luncheon held this noon at the Panton and White tea rooms by the Duluth Suffrage association.

"HALFBACK SANDY" DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE AT LYCEUM

MRS. F. O. DE GRAFF.

The young actors of the Cathedral High school delighted the large audience that witnessed their presentation of "Half Back Sandy" last night and at yesterday's matinee, by most cleverly sustaining the many attractive roles in that popular comedy of college life. The spontaneity of the applause and the increasing ripples of laughter bore ample tribute to the excellence of the play and the efficiency of the performers.

As an amateur production last night's rendition was a revelation. It moved along with the smoothness that marks the professional play, and which people so rarely associate with the attempts of amateurs. All the cues were taken up with alacrity and the awkward pauses and disconcerting promptings were happily not in evidence.

The leading role was carried by Albert Scanlon in a manner at once charming and artistic. Mr. Scanlon's acting would do credit to a professional. As the bashful country boy ingenuously discovering his thoughts of love for the girl he admired and in the clumsy complications in which he later finds himself, he was at his best.

"Kenneth Sumner," the Kingston manager of the football team, was the part played by Harry Ryan. He made an ideal college boy, full of buoyancy and life. The roll called for considerable dramatic versatility and elocutional proficiency and Mr. Ryan proved fully equal to the demands.

The role of "Philly Krop," the manager of the rival college football team, was filled ably by Clarus Graves, who responded cleverly to the varying demands made upon his dramatic powers.

The extravagant manoeuvers and expressions of "J. Booth MacReady," as enacted by Archie McDowell, were a copious source of laughter in "Halfback Sandy."

This part was artistically portrayed.

In the part of a girl, Edward Dillon covered himself with glory for his impersonation was splendid and his acting most convincing in every detail, in voice, action, dress even to the playing of selections on the piano in the most girlish manner. His was a difficult role well handled.

George Wagner, as "Bill Short" was the embodiment of good humor and wit and in his impersonation of a girl to help out his friend in his work for their college he presented another interesting character. His work was good and a delight to the audience.

James Patt took the part of "Sue" an old darky mammy with a realistic manner which made his part most enjoyable. He proved himself an artist in the way he handled this role which might easily have been overdone.

John Hock made a fine football captain, big and strong and played his part with naturalness and ease.

Michael Ahern, as the ancient farmer Krop was most realistic, and William Daugherty played the insane "Fergus" cleverly. Edward Casey and W. Toben as two college live wires were popular. George Walker as "Joe Fleetwood" the college sport was interesting and Joseph Gruesen played the part of an old professor very well.

An old-time barn dance by four of the boys was a feature which added interest and action to the play which was full of quick action and go without the awkward drags so often found in amateur productions.

A feature of the matinee performance was the dancing of Florence Draper, Elizabeth and John Magie, Donald Wells and Joan Robson, which pleased the audience very much. Mrs F. O. De Graff gave several vocal selections to the delight of her many admirers. She has a most beautiful voice and last night she was at her best.

Last night's audience was the largest seen in the Lyceum for many a day. Many were unable to secure seats.

MEMBERSHIP PRIVILEGE.

Free Concert for Members of Y. W. C. A.

An interesting concert will be given at the Young Woman's Christian association on Tuesday evening of next week by local artists. This will be the second membership privilege concert of the season and will be free to all members of the association, a small admission being charged non-members.

Sigurd Erdtman, the young singer in whom Duluth is especially interested, will contribute numbers and other interesting features will be fancy dances by little Miss Elizabeth Magie and Donald Wells who will do their little Dutch kiddies dance and Master John Magie who dances the Russian dance with so much sprightliness.

Miss Helen McCormack a youthful singer who charmed the student members of the Matinee Musicale at their hours of the Matinee Musicale at their frolic a short time ago will also sing some popular numbers and Mrs. Eva Sawyer Parker who is always received with delight on a program, will give some dialect readings.

The program is not yet completed as other numbers of equal attractiveness are being arranged for, and on the whole the concert should draw a large audience.

At the first of these entertainments held at the Y. W. C. A. hall a few weeks ago an audience which taxed the capacity of the hall to the limit was delighted with the program and the second has been pleasantly anticipated.

The girls of the Little club at the Y. W. C. A. formed of girls who work at the F. A. Patrick factory will have a candy sale in the building on that evening the proceeds of which they will use towards a fund to send a delegate from their club to Geneva next summer to the annual Y. W. C. A. conference.

Elks' Dance.

The Duluth Elks will entertain at a May dancing party next Tuesday night at the lodge rooms on West First street. t was expected that the dance last month would be the last of the season, but the series given during the winter months was such a decided success that the committee was prevailed upon to arrange for the affair of Tuesday night.

May Day Reception.

Mrs. David A. Duncan, one of this season's brides, was the guest of honor at a May day reception yesterday afternoon, given by Mrs. Charles A. Duncan at her home, 2215 East Second street.

About eighty guests called during the afternoon and were received by Mrs. Duncan and her daughters, Mrs. Ralph Marble, Mrs. Jesse A. Bradley and Mrs. Norman McLeod. May baskets filled with arbutus were daintily arranged about the rooms and on the tables and tiny May baskets were given to each guest at a favor. Assisting about the rooms were Miss Louise Frick, Miss Dorothy Moore, Miss Marion Mendenhall and Miss Virginia Moore.

Club Party.

The members of the Minnekahda club and a number of their friends enjoyed a hike last evening to Arnold where they danced at the town hall.

CLUB WOMEN OF EIGHTH DISTRICT MEET IN DULUTH

With some forty out of town delegates from women's clubs in the Eighth district of the Minnesota federation and the members of the four federated women's clubs of this city in attendance, the fourth annual convention of the district opened this afternoon at the club room of the public library. Mrs. Julia Barnes, president of the Saturday club, made the introductory speech and Mayor J. A. McCuen delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by Mrs. B. L. Hollister of Aitkin, Minn.

Miss Margaret Craig played two delightful piano numbers with fine interpretation and feeling and the roll call was taken.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows, treasurer of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, made a report on the state convention which she attended in St. Paul in February and a message from the state music committee by Miss Josephine Carey was read.

This evening a large reception will be held at the Commercial club, Miss Frances Earhart, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. R. E. Denfeld heading the three receiving lines in which the state officers and visiting delegates will stand and Mrs. W. A. McGonagie will have charge of the punch bowl, assisted by other women.

Mrs. Homer Collins, Miss Maude Matteson and George Suffel, three of Duluth's most popular vocalists, will sing at this function, with Miss Carlotta Simonds as accompanist.

The round table meeting tomorrow morning on the subject of "What Club Women Do to Counteract the Evils Surrounding Girls and Boys in Our Small Towns" will be one of the most important meetings of the convention, the program for this session being as follows:

Friday, May 3, 9 A. M.

Meeting at public library.

Afternoon Meeting.

The afternoon meeting tomorrow will be on the subject of music and will be held at the Y. W. C. A. hall.

Miss Gladys Reynolds will sing with Miss Ruth Alta Rogers accompanying and Miss Rogers will give a group of piano numbers which will be one of the special treats of the whole convention.

Mrs. Peter Olson of Cloquet, and Mrs. K. A. Ostergren and Mrs. G. S. Richards of this city will give talks on what musical organizations can accomplish and Mrs. H. Loyhed will speak on "Country Life Work."

Tomorrow evening the closing meeting of the convention will be held at the Commercial club and the suffragists will have charge of this session. Mrs. A. T. Hall, state president of the Suffrage association will speak and Dr. Mary McCoy, president of the Duluth association will lead the informal discussion on the subject. At this meeting Miss Loretta O'Gorman will play two piano numbers and Mrs. Lucia Judd McAuliffe will sing a group of songs.

An extra feature which has been arranged by a number of the club women of the city who are not entertaining delegates at their homes, is a luncheon to be given tomorrow noon at the high school lunch room for the state officers and out-of-town delegates This has been arranged especially that the practical working out of such a system as is used at the high school for giving wholesome warm luncheons to the students at a small cost may be demonstrated. The club women of the city in general will also have the privilege of having their lunch at this room tomorrow noon.

THE EVENING STORY

THE SHAM THIEF

By T. B. Sydney.

"Here is a true story," said George. "I was walking down one of the slum sections in New York one horribly cold afternoon, hugging myself in my new sable coat. Suddenly, as I was looking into a shop window, I felt something moving in my pocket. Hastily grabbing at it, I found myself holding a tiny little icicle of a hand. I looked down and found that it belonged to the tiniest, most miserable pickpocket in the world, so ragged that he hardly seemed to be clothed at all, so thin that I could almost see his bones.

"My first impulse was to be very angry and to hand him over to the police. But loafers were beginning to crowd round, and I could not help but feel sorry for the poor little devil as he continued to shiver and snivel. So I called a taxi, and pushed him inside, saying: 'You wicked little thief, I am going to take you straight round to the police station.' He sat beside me all huddled up, and I said to him severely: 'Now, then, tell me the truth. What is your name? How old are you? What are your parents? How long have you been a thief?' But he only choked and sniffed and sobbed. 'Look here,' I went on, 'this is your only chance. Stop crying and answer me, otherwise I shall take you straight to the police station.'

"Gradually he began to simmer out a piteous story. He looked about six years old, but said he was nine. His father had been dead two years. His mother could do no more sewing because she was very ill. None of them had had anything to eat for days, there was not a scrap of coal in the house, and the children cried all through the night. What children? Three little girls. There had been five, but two had died of hunger quite recently.

"He gave me his address, and I told the driver to go there. On the way the child told me this was his first attempt at stealing. He had tried every thing. He had begged, but no one would give him a single cent. He had been trusted by a neighbor with a little stock of violets, but a big boy had carried them off, and he would receive a terrible hiding when he returned to the neighbor without the money he was expected to bring.

"After all, it was such a stupid little attempt at stealing. As if I should carry anything valuable in the outer pocket of my fur coat. Poor little chap, I felt quite sorry for him. If only his story were true I made up my mind to let him off with a good scolding.

"At last we reached a frightful slum, where the appearance of a taxi and a fur coat created such a sensation. I felt almost ashamed of myself and my fine clothes as I climbed the rickety stairs and entered a hideous garret. A thin ragged woman was crouching near the window and contemplating a baby which might have been made of wax. A little girl of eight was sorting some filthy feathers in a corner, and a smaller child was shivering silently on a ragged mattress. The cold was awful, night was falling, and there was no sign of fire or light.

"I had never seen such a picture of misery in my life before, and all my indignation about the child's dishonesty faded away at once. I muttered something about a mistake, put $5 down on the table and hurried away to my taxi.

"When I was gone the boy had to give his mother an explanation. She was almost distracted with grief. Her husband and she had never done a dishonest thing in their lives. Now she and her children had lost the only thing remaining to them, the sense of honor. Her only boy was a thief. She might as well go and throw herself into the river. But the boy did not seem to share her sadness. He explained that, after all, he had stolen nothing.

"It was just a trick which Dick, the boy from the next alley, had shown him. Such a simple trick, too. All you had to do was to put your hand into a rich man's pocket and let him find it there. Then you told him a terrible story of misery, and the odds were that he came to verify it. Dick had made as much as $25 a week by it. Sometimes more. His father used to stay in bed all day pretending to be ill, and told his visitors all about his struggles to obtain work. No doubt it was very wrong of Dick, but in their own case there had been no preparations to extort my present. The misery I found was quite genuine, the story I had heard was quite true. The mother was gradually mollified, only bidding the boy promise never to do such a thing again. He looked at her without answering. Thanks to my money there was soon a bit of fire in the stove, something to eat, and a little left over for the rent. But after a week or so the old misery returned, and the boy's efforts to scavenge in the streets only resulted in finding a few potato parings.

"So he came up to his mother boldly and said: 'I am going out.' She knew what he meant, and cried: 'No, no, no" and attempted to stop him, but he slipped away like an eel. An hour or so later one of the girls came in triumphantly. A neighbor had given her a little handful of coals, and she suggested making a fire. The mother hesitated. 'No, my dear,' she said at last, 'we had better do without. Your brother might run across somebody as he did the other day.'

"H'm," said the man who had been listening to his companion tell the story, "how did you contrive to hear the rest of the story after you had gone away?"

"Ah," said George sheepishly, "that is my secret."

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Wilson Is Not Out of the Running—Gordon Will Put Fight Against Bosses in Charge of Committee, and Books Will Be Open—Socialists Nominate Ticket—Many Candidates in Fifty-Second District.

Wilson's Position.

Some people profess to believe that the results in Massachusetts, Florida and Georgia put Governor Wilson out of the running for the Democratic nomination for president. In speculating on that point several points should be taken into consideration.

There will be 1,094 delegates in the Democratic convention at Baltimore. To date, including Massachusetts, Florida and Georgia, only 522 delegates have been selected. Only twenty of the fifty-three states and territories have chosen their delegates and 105 of the delegates selected are uninstructed.

Leaving out Massachusetts, over which there is a question, Clark has 157, Wilson, 112; Harmon, 8; Marshall, 30; Burke, 10, and Underwood 64, counting all of the Florida and Georgia delegates for Underwood.

The preference for Underwood in the South is born of the "favorite son" feeling. Wilson is popular in the South also, but Underwood is of the South and might naturally be expected to have Southern delegates from the states in which the people have a voice. It is not to be expected that Underwood will have absolute control of the delegates pledged to him. If his chances for the nomination should vanish, he could not deliver them all to the man favored by him personally. The second choice factor among Clark and Underwood delegates point strongly to Wilson.

The North Dakota delegates will go to Wilson after casting a complimentary vote for Burke. The Democrats of North Dakota are overwhelmingly for the New Jersey governor.

The Massachusetts situation is complicated. The following message, received at the Wilson headquarters in Minneapolis from William S. McNary, Wilson manager in Massachusetts, indicates how supporters of the New Jersey governor regard the result:

The returns show the overwhelming defeat of George Fred Williams, Clark's manager in Massachusetts. The delegate ticket headed by Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston is elected. They were pledged to Governor Foss and will stand by him. The preferential vote was very light and not significant. A large majority of the delegates were instructed against Clark as the weakest candidate and favorable to Wilson next to Foss.

Republicans May Compromise.

Neither Taft nor Roosevelt supporters can gain a great deal of comfort out of the Massachusetts result. The indorsement of Taft was not conclusive enough to satisfy the supporters of the president and the support of the Colonel was not general enough to satisfy the Roosevelt men. The mudslinging campaign conducted in Massachusetts seems to have turned many Republicans against both candidates. If neither Taft nor Roosevelt can go into the convention with a majority, the party leaders will very likely look for a dark-horse candidate, as a matter of political expedience if not of choice.

Organization Busy.

William E. Lee made the charge at Mankato that his footsteps had been dogged in Blue Earth county and that every man who met and talked with him has been marked by the organization. Mr. Lee seems to have met with a cordial reception in the governor's home county and he expresses himself as well pleased with his chances. Lee is not allowing the presidential situation to disturb him. He has the advantage of a long start in personal work on the other candidates, but the campaign hasn't really started yet. The work during the six weeks between the delegate convention and the nominating convention will count more.

Gordon Has Novel Plan.

Hugh J. Hughes, editor of Farm, Stock and Homes of Minneapolis, recently addressed all candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, asking their opinion on the publication of campaign expenses during the campaign. Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon has written Mr. Hughes, indorsing the plan, and setting forth a novel plan for his own organization. Mr. Gordon's letter follows:

"It gives me great pleasure to acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 18, outlying the attitude of your paper on the corrupt practices act, and I want to thank you for your indorsement of my platform, undoubtedly, you have had in mind since the announcement of my candidacy on Jan. 15, the second plank of my platform, wherein I stated that I was in favor of 'the adoption of the state-wide primary and the presidential primary, to the end that bosses, backed and financed, though they may be, by the money of arrogant, selfish interests, shall be forced to surrender their misused power to the people to whom it belongs and from whom it has been taken. These measures should be accompanied by the further safeguard of a rigid and effective corrupt practices act.'

"I have had in view for some time, which idea has been approved by many of my friends, the selection of a committee of reputable citizens of the state who will be authorized to receive campaign contributions from the public to aid in my candidacy against the political machine, realizing that this is not my personal fight alone, but a fight of the people against machine power and machine rule. It is my determination to appoint shunch a committee, and when I do, it will be with the understanding that their accounts will be open to the public, so that representatives of any of the newspapers of the state may have access to them at any time.

"I beg to assure you that your cooperation with me, as indicated in your letter, and in the attitude of your valuable paper upon this matter, as well as upon the presidential primary, is not only highly appreciated by me but I am sure it merits and will meet with the approval of the public. Respectfully yours,

"S. Y. GORDON."

Delegate Candidates.

P. V. Collins, editor of the Northwestern Agriculturalist of Minneapolis, has announced his candidacy for delegate at large to the Republican national convention. Mr. Collins is an enthusiastic Roosevelt supporter. Another delegate candidacy recently brought out is that of Col. A. J. Halstead of Brainerd for district delegate from the Sixth district on the Taft ticket.

Strikes Blow at Roosevelt.

J. W. Shadewald, secretary of the State League of Republican clubs, is sending to about 300 affiliated organizations throughout the state copies of a resolution adopted March 22 by the Republican club of the city of New York, which is urging the adoption of the same resolution by other Republican clubs of the country. The resolution condemns the doctrines of the recall of judges and of judicial decisions and declares the judgment of the club to be that no single individual should fill the office of president for more than two terms.

Socialists Nominate Ticket.

The Public Ownership party held its county nominating convention at Socialist hall, 416 East Superior street, last evening and nominated the following candidates for county offices: Sheriff—Michael J. O'Rourke, Duluth; auditor, Frank G. Harris, Hibbing; clerk of court, W. E. Graham, Virginia; treasurer, John G. Mattala, Virginia; superintendent of schools, Mrs. S. A. Snyder, Virginia; county commissioner, First district, A. E. Scofield, Duluth; Third district, Rudolph Ronge, Duluth; Fifth district, H. Stamba, Congou; Seventh district, August Sundquist, Hibbing; surveyor, H. J. Leander, Aurora; representatives, Forty-ninth district, Daniel E. Eklund and J. E. Foubister; Fiftieth district, O. Arlund and C. P. Carlson; Fifty-first district, Elmer Oss. The other nominee in the Fifty-first district will be chosen by Two Harbors and will probably be N. S. Hillman, the present representative.

No candidates were nominated last evening for county attorney and judge of probate, but the ticket will be filled out later and will go before the voters in November in complete form.

The convention adopted a resolution binding candidates of the party, if elected to the legislature or congress, to introduce bills providing for adequate protection of employes and adequate compensation in case of injury, employers to be held responsible for injuries in all cases.

King Not a Candidate.

C. M. King of Deer River, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association, is not a candidate for the house. He made that much clear in an interview yesterday. "All I want to do is build roads; I'm not looking for political office," he said.

Mr. King is playing no personal favorites in the race forming in the Fifty-second district. When asked whom he favored for the house, he said "Men who do things."

Mr. King continued:

"The general sentiment throughout the north half of the state seems to be that it is high time to select men who have shown ability to accomplish, rather than to have served the treadmill of any political party machine. In the Fifty-second district, C. H. Mahnke has a large number of friends who claim for him a never flagging energy and keen qualities of perception calculated to make him a valuable member. E. C. Kiley's admirers declare he wields the most virile and trenchant pen in the district; Dr. John Shellman's supporters urge his fearlessness and readiness of debate as a factor in peculiarly fitting him for this political preferment; D. D. Greers' geniality, fine legal training, and unbounded enthusiasm is urged in his behalf; A. B. Clair's host of friends, large acquaintanceship, practical knowledge of politics and well balanced shrewdness it is urged would make him a formidable factor in any deliberative body in the state; M. N. Koll's extended grasp on land laws, state and national, his close touch with every line of effort for the advancement of the district, and ihs constant study of the needs of Northern Minnesota, and the best and speediest manner of relieving these needs are presented by his friends as a reason for the need of his selection.

"I do not know why, but it seems to be the idea that Representative Ferguson will decline another nomination. Representative Warner has a present record on which he may confidently rely for his re-election; and ex-Representatives P. H. McGrary and W. J. Shook, have each a record in the lower house which their followers all over the district are presenting as a reason why each of them should be returned to a place where they can use their past experience for the public welfare. Many other good men are mentioned. There is general feeling, I think, to try to select two men from a district that should have six or more who can and will do the most good and effective work without regard to anything else; and this is the right principle, and the principle that should govern in choosing men for any public position."

Backfire on Spooner.

C. P. Carlson, a wealthy farmer of Stevens county, yesterday filed with the secretary of state notice of his candidacy for representative from the Fifty-seventh district, which was represented in the house in the last session by L. C. Spooner of Morris, now candidate for governor. Mr. Spooner, in announcing his candidacy for the governorship, said that if he was defeated for the nomination, he would again be a candidate for the house.

BIG CROSBY PUMPS.

Part of Cuyuna Town's Water System Being Installed.

Crosby, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—La Vaque & Webster of Duluth have completed the concrete foundations for the two De Laval electrical centrifugal pumps to be installed in connection with the Crosby water system. The 200-gallon pump will be set today and it is expected that pumping will begin on Friday, when a thorough test of the entire system, including the 100,000-gallon water tower, will be made. If everything is satisfactory, service to patrons will be made at once.

VISITS OLD SCENES.

Chicago Millionaire Renews Redwood Falls Acquaintances.

Redwood Falls, Minn., May 2.—R. W. Sears, one of the millionaires at the head of Sears-Roebuck Company of Chicago, who started out in life as agent at North Redwood, a mile north of here, nearly thirty years ago and is today many times a millionaire, is here renewing old acquaintances.

His first business enterprise was selling lumber and cord wood to Redwood and Renville county farmers.

After a few years of the lumber and cord wood business, Mr. Sears began to sell watches and jewelry through the mails. At first he sold from one to five watches a week, with other jewelry, but his sales increased until in two years he had saved between $6,000 and $7,000.

He then moved to Minneapolis and engaged in the mail order business on a wider scale. His business grew and his savings increased. He went to Chicago and established the Sears-Roebuck company, today the largest mail order house in the world.

FIRST NEGRO PATROL OF BOY SCOUTS FORMED IN ILLINOIS.

Chicago, May 2.—A negro patrol has been admitted to membership on the Boy Scouts of America, marking the first time negroes have been taken into the organization. The company is officially known as "Evanston Troop 30."

Bloomer Plant Burns.

Bloomer, Wis., May 2.—Fire Tuesday destroyed the North Star Lumber company's mill here, considerable lumber and a barn belonging to G. Bowman. As Engineer Frederick came into Bloomer on his train he saw the interior of the planing mill was on fire and gave the alarm with the engine whistle. The fire department, citizens and a train crew worked with a will and by their combined efforts the conflagration was finally checked. It looked for a time as if the entire lumber yard and possibly a part of the town would be destroyed.

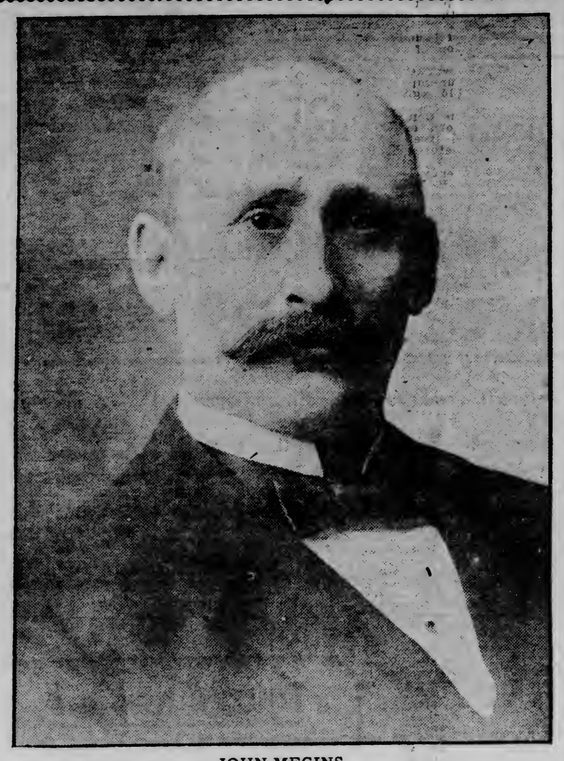
JOHN MEGINS DIES SUDDENLY IN THE WEST



JOHN MEGINS.

John Megins, 57 years old, one of the prominent pioneer residents of Duluth, died unexpectedly yesterday at Los Angeles, Cal., of heart failure.

Word of his death was contained in a telegram sent to this city yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Megins, who accompanied him on his trip to the coast. They had no children.

Mr. Megins was very well known throughout the ranges as well as in the city. He was one of Duluth's heavy property owners and had other large interests. He owned the 3-story building on West Superior street between Third and Fourth avenues west occupied by Chamberlain & Taylor, and the building occupied by the Bon Ton bakery. He also owned valuable property in the city of Montreal. He was formerly engaged in the sawmill and lumber business.

Mr. and Mrs. Megins have made their home in two of the large downtown hotels, first at the St. Louis and later at the Spalding. Mr. Megins was in good health and spirits when he and his wife left for the West about three weeks ago and the news of his sudden death comes as a decided shock to his numerous friends in this part of the state. In addition to looking after his affairs, Mr. Megins took a deep interest in municipal affairs and was a steady, consistent believer in the future greatness of Duluth. He was also well informed on political matters and his opinions always carried much weight. He was a close friend of United States Senator Moses E. Clapp and Former Mayor Ray T. Lewis, now traveling in France, as well as many other men prominent in the political circles of the state and country.

The body will be shipped to Montreal.

NO FUNDS FOR PLAYGROUNDS

Annual Meeting of Duluth Society Will Be Held Saturday.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Playgrounds association will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the mayor's office in the city hall.

Officers will be elected for the coming year and means of raising funds for carrying on the work will be discussed.

Three playgrounds were conducted last year—at the old court house site, near the Bryant school and at Fifty-second avenue west. The association would like to extend its activities to other parts of the city, but the condition of its finances is such that some immediate steps must be taken to raise money to carry on the work now being done.

EAST END SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The Duluth East End Institute of the St. Louis County Sunday School association held its annual meeting last evening at the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and First street. Among the eight Sunday schools represented, the Endion Presbyterian school had the finest record for attendance of teachers and officers, and was accordingly awarded the prize banner. The attendance record of the Endion Presbyterian was perfect.

Addresses were made as follows: "Standards in Sunday School Work," A. M. Locker; "The Older Boys' Crusade," Rex St. Clair; "The Boys' Department of the Sunday School," Leonard Young; "Boys' Classes Organized," J. R. Bachelor.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, R. H. Herrick, Endion M. E. church; vice president, R. S. Manley, Lakeside Presbyterian; secretary, N. F. Snyder, First Baptist; treasurer, S. S. Williamson, Endion Presbyterian; superintendent of the adult division, E. M. Thomas, Lester Park M. E.; superintendent of the teachers' training department, Miss Kate Ellis, Endion Presbyterian; superintendent of the secondary division, C. A. Knippenberg, pro-cathedral.

BLIND MAN MAY GET HIS MEDICAL DEGREE.

Chicago, May 2.—Jacob W. Bolotin, a blind medical student, has started to take his examination before the Illinois state board of medical examiners. Thus far he has met every test, and the examiners say they believe he will qualify and become the first blind physician in Illinois.

INDIAN PUPILS WILL CONTEST WITH WHITES.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indian children as declaimers will have an opportunity of matching their ability against their white brothers and sisters when a contest will be held at Fort Totten Saturday evening between representatives of the Indian school and the Oberon public schools.

Mary Jane Bergie and John Montriel are the representatives of the Indian school, and they were selected from the several classes in a contest at the school. The event is looked forward to with a great deal of interest by the Redskins and it is expected that they will attend in very large numbers.

The Great Spring Tonic and Body Builder

EMBLEM OF PURITY AND EXCELLENCE SINCE 1860

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, and as none but sound, clean grain can be malted, it is made from the most carefully selected grains. It is a predigested liquid food in the form of a medicinal whiskey; its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

It is a gentle, invigorating stimulant and tonic that influences for good every important organ of the body. It is a remedy that should be in every family medicine chest. It is especially valuable for use at this time because it so aids digestion that it enables you to get from the food you eat all the nourishment it contains, thus enriching the blood and rebuilding the system that has become run down and weakened from the long strain of winter.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

Get the genuine; sold by druggists, grocers and liquor dealers, or direct $1.00 a large bottle. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us and we will tell you where it can be bought. Medical booklet and doctor's advice free on request.

NO INTEREST OVER TARIFF

Senator Simmons' Speech Fails to Stir Up His Confreres.

Fund for Militia Considered —Other Doings at Washington.

Washington, May 2.—Senator Simmons in the course of a speech in advocacy of a revision of the metal tariff schedulee, the first speech of a long series in the tariff fight, aroused so little attention that Senator Strong found it necessary to lecture the senate mildly on its lack of interest. The Missouri senator could see no reason for continuing the general discussion except for campaign purposes.

"I had assumed that to be the purpose of Democratic senators," remarked Senator Gallinger.

"They can pursue that course with better reason than the Republicans," replied Mr. Stone.

Mr. Simmons referred to Charles M. Schawb as a "petted child of fortune" and said that he would like to see reduced the "extortionate profits obtained by him through the employment of a horde of cheap alien laborers."

Federal Support for Militia.

Secretary Stimson and Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff of the army, conferred with the national militia board regarding legislation to give federal support to the militia and make it available for service outside the United States.

A bill which would carry about $9,000,000 for the National Guard was opposed by the war department because the attorney general has decided that as at present organized, the militia is not available for foreign service. A plan to remove that limitation by providing that the president, in case of threatened war, or other great emergency, may transfer the National Guard to the regular army establishment, is now proposed, with the reservation that any officers incapable or lacking in military knowledge may be dropped.

Members of the military board who attended the conference were: Gen. C. P. Boardman of Wisconsin; Gen. W. E. Finzer of Oregon; Gen. Thomas J. Stewart of Pennsylvania; Col. W. S. Metcalf of Kansas, and Maj. H. S. Berry of Tennessee.

The meeting gave rise to a new crop of rumors of preparations for intervention in Mexico.

George Gove Moves Up.

George R. Gove of Milwaukee, Wis., private secretary to Secretary Fisher of the department of the interior, has been appointed assistant to the secretary, vice Irvin Rittenhouse, resigned. Herbert A. Meyer of Ohio, confidential clerk, succeeds Mr. Gove.

Statehood for Philippines.

Representative Morse of Wisconsin announced in the house that he would attempt to amend the Philippine independence bill to provide statehood for the islands. His announcement was made during debate on the Jones bill to put the Friar lands on the same basis as the public domain, and restrict their sale. The house adjourned without voting on the bill.

Would Curb Japanese.

The United States should enforce the Monroe doctrine, or formulate a new one broad enough to prevent Japanese commercial interests from securing control of territory about Magdalena bay, in the opinion of Senators Lodge, Bacon and other members of the foreign affairs committee of the senate.

In a debate following the receipt of the president's message transmitting the correspondence covering Japanese activity in Western Mexico, leading members of the senate declared that the control of so strategic a position, even by commercial interests, wholly Japanese in character, could not be permitted without menacing the safety of the United States.

The Magdalena bay papers were referred to the foregn affairs committee, which is expected to consider the case with a view to outlining the attitude of the United States on the subject of the acquisition of land on this hemisphere by foreign nations, or by their subjects.

Affects Great Lakes Boats.

Regulations regarding life saving appliances on American owned ships will be extended to foreign owned vessels as well, by a bill agreed upon by the house merchant marine committee. It would require passenger ships on the Great Lakes to be equipped with wireless, but would exempt Long Island Sound passenger ships from the ocean-going requirements. Auxiliary wireless equipments and two operators for each ship are among other features of the bill.

War on White Slavery.

Attorney General Wickersham has appointed Stanley W. Finch, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice as special commissioner to suppress the white slave traffic. Mr. Finch will begin a vigorous campaign in every state in the Union for the extermination of the vice. He will co-operate with societies and individuals interested, to wipe out the traffic by a systematic and comprehensive plan of investigation and prosecution, and by placing agents in every state in the Union. About 600 special officers will be employed in this active campaign.

A rigorous investigation of conditions in Virgina, West Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina and the District of Columbia has already been started. Mr. Finch, who is a native of Ellenville, N. Y., has previously had charge of the entire force of the anti-white slave law, but the work has been necessarily only a feature of the bureau of investigation. He will still exercise a general supervision over the work of that bureau, but A. B. Bielaski, assistant chief, will become its acting head.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Alma, Where Do You Live?"
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

One of the few really successful musical plays of the past season was "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which was produced at Weber's theater, and which is to be seen at the Lyceum tonight.

"Alma" was originally given in New York in German at Adolph Phillips theater, where it had a long run, although in that language much fault was found with it on account of its suggestiveness. When translated into English, however, by George V. Hobart, the salacious features were eliminated and it proved to be a dainty, captivating musical play, and it made such a pronounced hit with New York audiences that it filled Weber's theater for the entire season. "Alma," although first given in this country in the German language is really of French extraction and was played for a long time in Paris. The libretto is by Paul Herve, while the music was contributed by Jean Briquet, and in making his English adaptation Mr. Hobart went rather to the French source than to the German. There are fourteen musical numbers in "Alma," each of which is said to be a gem, and they form no small part of the strength of the entertainment, although the comedy is really the foundation of the play's success. In sending it on the road this season, Mr. Weber will provide a first-class production both as to the scenery and the costuming, and has engaged an excellent company, headed by Nannette Black. Others prominent in the cast are Charles A. Murray, and Aubrey Yates, the former a popular comedian who is well known in all parts of the country, and the latter a high class tenor of reputation.

There is a young woman at the Duluth Orpheum this week, to whom slang is an abomination, and who earns her living because of slang. She is Miss Gertrude Demont, who is appearing with Bert Leslie in the slang sketch, "Hogan, the Painter."

Miss Demont is one of the best known stock actresses in America, her last engagement being at Lincoln, Neb. During her engagement at Lincoln she produced a number of well known plays, always striving to keep the standard of the production, both from a literary and dramatic standpoint the very highest possible for a stock company. She tried to build up a following of people who wanted to see the very best modern plays, and that she succeeded was evidenced by the public reception tendered her when she closed her season in Lincoln, to make way for the regular road attractions. Since she joined Mr. Leslie's company there have been many heated arguments about slang. Mr. Leslie claims it is the best and most vivid way of expressing ideas. Miss Demont claims it shows a lack of originality instead of originality, and that using pat slang phrases becomes such a habit that the speaker neglects to use his brain while talking, and his speech becomes parrot-like. She makes an exception of Mr. Leslie, however, as she admits he works harder inventing new slang phrases than the average ditch digger.

"Shakespeare uses slang and you can find slang in the Bible," is always the closing argument of Mr. Leslie.

"Well, when your slang phrases become as classic as those of Shakespeare and the Bible, I will be willing for people to use them in their every-day talk," retorts Miss Demont, and there the argument invariably rests.

The Lippincotts are offering about as neat a song and dance turn as has been presented at the Empress this season. Their songs are new and rendered in an excellent manner. Their dances contain many steps of their own invention and they present them in a graceful and artistic manner. One of the most pleasing numbers in their act is a dainty Scotch dance which is presented by Miss Lippinoott. The Ten Merry Youngsters continue to captivate the audience at each performance with their merry musical comedy offering, "Dinkelspiel's Troublesome Scholars." This is easily one of the best feature acts seen at the Empress this season. It contains plenty of music of the whistly kind; clever dancing numbers and there is a vein of comedy running throughout the whole act which cannot help but please. The members of this aggregation are but little more than children, yet each is a finished performer and each does his or her little bit in a manner which leaves no doubt as to their ability. The Count De Buts-Edward Castano company continues to win favor with their brilliant comedy playlet, "The Gallery God," as does Jack Grant with his breezy monologue.

Good Spring Tonic

"We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for a spring tonic and as a blood purifier. Last spring I was not well at all. When I went to bed I was tired and nervous and could not sleep well. In the morning I would feel twice as tired; my mother got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took. I felt like a new person when I had finished that bottle. We always have some of Hood's medicines in the house." Hilvey Roselle, Marinette, Wis.

CHINA AFTER $300,000,000.

Pekin, May 2.—The attention of the legation is centered upon a big loan, which, it is announced, will probably be concluded for $300,000,000. A curious situation exists. The unpaid army is awaiting disbandment, and other requirements of a depleted treasury tend to make the Chinese tractable. Likewise, the bankers who have been sustaining the market value of Chinese bonds are anxious to conclude an agreement, thereby aiding in the re-establishment of a stable government.

Both parties are working diligently and are endeavoring to persuade the other to an agreement. The banks declare they will not supply the money without sufficient control to guarantee that it will not be squandered, or diminished by peculation, which would mean that China would be driven further toward bankruptcy.

The younger Chinese, who have been graduated from American and European colleges and who are now the most important part of the government, consider themselves as capable and honest as foreigners, and the nation dreads foreign control of the finances, which, it is feared, would make China another Egypt.

Anti-foreign outbreaks and Russian occupation of Kuldja are denied.

SOCIALISTS IN PARADE

More Than 2,000 Members of Party Gather in West End.

May Day Celebration Breaks All Records for Attendance.

More than 2,000 Socialists from Duluth and Superior, held their annual May day celebration at the Lincoln park auditorium last evening. The affair was the largest demonstration of its kind ever held in Duluth.

Every member of the party in the celebration wore a small red badge and several large red Socialist banners headed the parade, which started in front of the postoffice and ended at the Lincoln park pavilion. About 1,500 men and women were in the parade, headed by the Third Regiment band, and 500 more enthusiasts of the party met the parade at the park.

The line of march was from the postoffice, along First street to Second avenue east, down Second avenue east to Superior street, west on Superior street to Twenty-fifth avenue west and then over to the park on Third street. The large auditorium was decorated for the occasion with red flags, white and blue streamers and a long string of red bunting over the heads of the audience.

The parade was headed by M. J. O'Rourke, marshal for the day, and three distinct bodies of Socialists took part in the festivities. They are the Scandinavian, Finnish and the English organizations. About one-third of the assembly consisted of women sympathizers of the cause, all of whom wore the small red badge of the Socialist party.

Addresses were made at the hall by Prof. Sirola of the Finnish school, A. W. Youngquist of the Scandinavian Socialist club, C. Cole of Schenectady, N. Y., P. G. Phillips, chairman of the meeting; Edward Harris, Socialist candidate for mayor at the recent Superior election, and Morris Kaplan, prominent local Socialist.

WILL WORK FOR AMENDMENTS

West Enders Aroused By the Action of Mayor McCuen.

Unanimously denouncing the action of the city council and Mayor McCuen in the present patrol limits controversy, the Men's Club of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, at its meeting last evening voted to work for the recall amendment to come up at the special election next Tuesday.

The members of the club are now planning an active campaign to reach every voter in the West end before election. The resolution which the West end committee received at the hands of Mayor McCuen Tuesday morning was discussed by the members and his action severely condemned by the club. A resolution to this effect was drawn up.

CHARGES WIFE WITH INFIDELITY.

Charles Cook, aged 30, 106 Twenty-seventh avenue west, has started suit for divorce in district court against Jennie Cook, aged 27, his wife. He charges infidelity and names Martin Westby as corespondent.

The Cooks were married at Ewen, Mich., Sept. 7, 1907. Cook claims that Westby, a boarder and lodger at his home, has been too intimate with his wife. He says that as soon as he found out that his wife was unfaithful he left her. He claims that since last July Westby has continued to live at the Cook home with the defendant.

He asks for an absolute divorce.

HEAD CONSUL TALBOT WILL COME TO DULUTH.

Head Consul Talbot of Omaha, Neb., head of the Woodmen camps of America, will attend the dedication exercises to be held for the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Mr. Talbot could not give the exact date when he will be able to appear in Duluth and take part in the festivities, but said that it would be between now and the middle of this month.

The fact that Mr. Talbot will visit Duluth and take part in the dedication of the new hall will induce a large number of Woodmen in nearby towns to visit Duluth and take part in the ceremonies.

The following committee of the Duluth camp, No. 2341, is now negotiating with Mr. Talbot and will also have charge of the arrangements for the event: George T. Miller, O. W. Olson, William Bernard, Charles E. Dice and Edward Rowe, consul of the Duluth camp.

This evening the members of the camp will open their new hall for the first time. A house-warming party and dance for the members and their friends will be held in the main assembly hall. A program of addresses, musical numbers and recitations will be given. A luncheon will be served and a dancing program will conclude the evening's entertainment.

BRANCH LIBRARY IN NEW QUARTERS.

The West end branch of the public library, which has been located at the Neighborhood house, 2432 West Superior street, for the past two years, will be opened to the public in its new rooms above the J. J. Moe & Sons' department store, 2102 West Superior street, Saturday.

The branch will occupy rooms 9 and 10 on the second floor of the Moe building, and will be open every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and evenings. One of the rooms is to be used as a reading room and the other for the library proper. Miss Ruth Borland will be in charge of the branch. The children's story hour will be held Saturday morning.

No plans have been made for the Neighborhood house, which is also moving from its present quarters at 2432 West Superior street. The members of the Twentieth Century club have appointed a special committee to secure suitable quarters in this end of the city, but none have so far been found. It is probable that the house will be discontinued for the summer and reopened early this fall. In the meantime temporary quarters will be secured at the Adams school, and the clubs and societies of the house will continue their work until that time.

The present quarters have been entirely too small for the past year, as the growth of the house has been exceptional. There are about 300 boys and girls of the West end taking part in the various organizations. The annual camping trip will be held this summer, as usual, and a comedy playlet is to be presented next week by the Daniel Boone boys to help defray the expenses of the camp.

OPEN MEETING ON CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

An open meeting on the initiative, referendum and recall amendments will be held tomorrow evening at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street. The congregation has arranged for a number of prominent speakers to address the assembly on the features of the amendments. Among the speakers will be E. M. Morgan, A. G. McKnight and Dr. D. H. Day.

Benefit Concert.

A benefit concert was given last evening by the choir of the Third Swedish Baptist church at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

The concert was given for the benefit of Aigot Peterson, the young Swedish man who froze his feet during the winter and who was later compelled to have them amputated at a local hospital. Mrs. G. Nylander directed the concert, which was attended by a large number of West end people. "The Conqueror," a sacred cantata by C. H. Gabriel, was rendered during the evening by the choir. The choir was assisted by Miss Eva McLyman, soprano; Miss Daisy McLyman, alto; Byron Brooks, tenor; Ray Abbott, bass; and Miss Ethel Larson, accompanist. The Temple orchestra furnished the music for the evening under the direction of Prof. N. E. Erickson.

Entertain Friends.

The Misses Alma and Mattie Dahl of 319 North Twenty-first avenue west entertained a number of their friends at an April fool party last evening. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion. The evening was spent in music and games, after which a luncheon was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Maynard P. La Fleur, Misses Permelia Massie, Marie Hubert, Josephine De Yenck, Gladys Yernberg of Two Harbors, Mabel Dahl, Edith Dahl, Elvera Westberg, and the Messrs. Phillip O'Brein, Herbert Monson, Albert Anderson, Henry Hammill of Two Harbors, Arvid Pteerson and Thure Westberg.

Choose Date for Play.

The Delta Gamma Club of the West end decided to give its comedy playlet, "The Dress Rehearsal," at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, Tuesday evening, May 14. The members held a short business meeting last evening following the regular weekly rehearsal at the Woodmen hall.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives, also the employes of the Geo. A. Gray Co. for the sympathy and beautiful floral offerings and the kindness shown us during the illness and death of our dear mother, and may the Lord help and bless them all for the kindness.

GERTRUDE, THORA AND JOHN SEGLEN.

Monthly Meeting.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow evening at the Sloan hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Following the regular business meeting Olaf and Eric Myrhman will recite the dialogue, "Our Old and New Fatherland." A discussion on the presidential situation will then be held and a straw vote of all the members will be taken on their choice of a president.

Last Party of Series.

The auxiliary of the Locomotive Engineers will hold the last of its series of card parties at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, tomorrow afternoon. The parties have been held during the past winter at the regular meetings of the order and the following committee has been in charge for the present season: Mesdames Shields, McLish and Coventry. Refreshments will be served the latter part of the afternoon.

West End Briefs.

The Bethany Aid society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street was entertained in the church parlors this afternoon by the Mesdames Knute Westberg and Andrew Johnson.

The Tabitha society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will be entertained this evening at the home of Miss Lydia Johnson, 2030 East Fifth street.

The St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. August Johnson, 22 Exeter street.

Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will conduct the regular weekly prayer meeting this evening.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will preach on "The Secret of Holiness" at the regular weekly prayer meeting this evening.

Miss Mathilda Erickson of Bovey, Minn., is visiting West end relatives this week.

Mrs. Martin Hanson of Nineteenth avenue west returned yesterday from a visit with relatives at Barnum, Minn.

J. J. Moe is attending the Methodist conference at Minneapolis. He is expected to return the latter part of this month.

is vice president. It is charged he then drew out of the Second National funds aggregating this amount, although he had no account with the St. Louis bank.

Following his arrest Galbreath was taken before United States Commissioner Adler. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and waived examination. Bond was fixed at $15,000.

The arrest of Galbreath came as a development of the investigation of the Second National bank by Bank Examiner Goodhart several weeks ago.

Surplus All Gone.

Goodhart found that the entire surplus of the institution was gone and that the capital stock would be eaten up in protecting depositors. The comptroller of the currency, in view of this, ordered that the stockholders be called upon within thirty days to replace the capital stock, which was $1,000,000. In all it was shown that about $1,200,000 had been lost, chiefly on paper held by the bank.

55,000, which is less than 2 per cent as the outcome of the year's activities and the outlay of many millions of dollars. The statistical paradox glares us out of countenance. It shames and humiliates us. What are honors of offices worth in any army that does not win battles? No marvel that some are proposing to reduce the major generals to post duty, and let the army dissolve into antique ecclesiastical cumps."

This was a reference to a proposed limiting of the activities to a local district, of the bishops, whose jurisdiction now is universal, as proposed by one wing of the conference.

Give Some Reasons.

Some of the reasons set for the meager growth, as set forth, were laid to a too strict application of the law of the church demanding that all members who remove from a given community without their church letters be dropped from membership after one year.

"A fair calculation based upon the number of probationers received," the report said, "reveals the astounding fact that probably not less than 500,000 members disappeared from our rolls by reckless use of the 'dropping' process.

"Nevertheless, we still face the patent fact that our distinctive doctrines are not being emphasized as they once were, or, where preached, are discredited for the time by a gainsaying world, drunk with vain philosophies and sated with gluttonous indulgences."

Power to Save Nation.

Pleading for an emphasis on the distinctive Wesleyan doctrines, the bishops' report said that they were the only power to save the nation against vice.

"What prophet or apostle is vouching for the moral character of this generation, that the Christian pulpit is silent about human depravity and the judgment to come? Where is the evidence that science has ever regenerated one soul, or that culture has redeemed one libertine, or taken envy, malice, pride, jealousy or greed out of any heart? These utterances are not reactionary, unless this world has outgrown Jesus Christ.

"Our second lapse is that our system is not being worked as it formerly was. Certain distinctive parts have been abandoned, others modified. Innovations, noxious to our pastoral as well as to our supervisional methods, have intervened to the hurt of both."

Condemn Hiring of Evangelists.

The address condemned the practice that was said to have grown up in certain churches of calling in evangelists to carry on revival services, as against the former custom which placed the local pastor in charge of that work.

Turning from this, the report condemned the so-called congregational system of calling pastors for local churches, which was said to have become general in Methodism.

"Congregational episcopacy is unthinkable. The most irrational and amazing remedy for this friction is the valorous proposal to compel the bishop 'to stay and face his own work,' when he is really left to do his work untrammeled. We note with gratitude the noble loyalty of our preachers and people under the trying conditions apparent to all."

As to the Church Press.

Referring to discussions in the church publications the report said:

"A grave responsibility rests upon our church press. We understand the church maintains a press for the advocacy of her doctrines and the defense of her policy, when assailed, not as a free forum for the vagaries of writers who measure all problems by their own dooryards, or to officially sanction the promoters of disaffection. While we would not restrain dignified and legitimate discussion of proposed amendments or reforms, we deprecate the admission of ill-considered and intemperate criticisms of our policy or church agencies."

One of the proposals before this conference is that the bishops be placed in definite charge of the work in the territory adjacent to their episcopal residences. On this point the report said:

"We ask the fixing of two or three more episcopal residences in this country at strategic centers. With these additions we believe that areas for episcopal supervision can be so related to the residence cities as to meet the express desire for continuous oversight by resident bishops without any infraction of the restrictive rule."

Say Negroes May Secede.

The conference ordered a commission appointed to investigate the episcopal supervision of the 325,000 negro members in Southern states. William W. Lucas of Meridian, Miss., charged that although Bishop Thomas B. Neely's residence was fixed as New Orleans, the bishop had resided there not more than thirty days in the last four years.

Mr. Lucas and other Southern delegates declared that unless the negro members secured the leadership they sought, they threatened to separate.

Reports on Social Work.

Asking that its churches throughout the world come out squarely in favor of improved working conditions for wage earners, a special committee has prepared for presentation to the general conference a working program to "disprove the charge that the church is not in sympathy with the poor."

The report of the committee, which has been at work for four years, states that labor and social conditions have become such that the church must take a prominent part in them. After asserting tha "this church had its beginning among the poor and the bulk of its members always have been wage earners," the report recommends for adoption by the conference, which represents more than 3,000,000 members, a propaganda calling for:

"Abolition of child labor.

"Reduction of working hours to the lowest practicable point.

"Safeguarding the conditions of toil for women.

Profits of Industry.

"Equitable division of the profits of industry.

"Protection of workers from the risks of enforced unemployment.

"Provision for old age and injured workers."

It is expected the demand that the church go on record on these subjects will provoke lively discussion when they come before the full conference.

When the conference opened for its month's session, J. B. Hingley of Chicago was re-elected secretary for four years. The conference then ordered a telegram sent to Bishop Thomas Bowman, the oldest leader in the church, who is 95 years old, and who, because of his advanced age, was unable to leave his home at Orange, N. J.

Membership 3,234,822.

Reports were submitted to the conference showing the total membership to be 3,234,822, with 16,988 ministers, 30,398 churches and 163 local conferences.

Last year the church raised $1,072,397 for foreign missions, while 1,096 foreign missionaries were maintained. The total value of the church and parsoange propery throughout the world was given as $216,490,437. The church has 360 educational institutions with 75,000 students.

Bishop William Burt of Zurich, Switzerland, delivered the chief address at the opening session, describing the progress of the church in Europe. He called attention to Russia, where, he said, despite the fact that the government had excluded many attempts at missionary work, the Methodists had succeeded in securing a foothold. In all parts of Europe, he declared Methodism was progressing, meeting opposition only where it came into conflict with state churches.

Twenty Minnesota Delegates.

Minnesota has twenty representatives in the general conference. They are:

NORTHERN MINNESOTA CONFERENCE.

Ministers — Dr. M. P. Burns, district superintendent, Minneapolis district; Dr. Robert Forbes, chairman of the delegation, corresponding secretary of the board of home missions and church extension; Rev. Andrew Gillies, pastor Hennepin Methodist Episcopal church of Minneapolis; Dr. J. B. Hingeley, secretary of the board of conference claimants and also secretary of the last general conference.

MINNESOTA CONFERENCE.

Lay delegates—H. C. Beise, Windom; Frank J. Clemans, St. Paul; L. D. Harkins, Faribault; George E. Nettleton, Mankato.

Ministers — Dr. H. C. Jennings, publishing agent of the Methodist Book concern at Cincinnati, chairman; Rev. G. A. Cahoon, Worthington, district superintendent; Rev. F. B. Cowgill, district superintendent, Mankato; Rev. Frank Doran, Winona.

NORTHERN GERMAN CONFERENCE.

Rev. Charles F. Blume, district superintendent, Minneapolis; Frederick Pelk, lay delegate, Brownton, Minn.

NORTHERN SWEDISH CONFERENCE.

Carl J. Stone, Minneapolis, lay delegate.

NORWEGIAN AND DANISH CONFERENCE.

John J. Moe, Duluth, lay delegate.

investigators. In front of the platform were seated 100 members of the bar, representing various interests involved, and 100 representatives of the press.

Tribute to the Dead.

Sir Rufus announced feelingly:

"I desire, on behalf of the government, to express the deepest sympathy for all those who mourn the loss of relatives and friends among the passengers, the officers and the crew of the ill-fated vessel. The accident exceeded in magnitude and in harrowing incident any disaster in the history of the mercantile marine. I cannot forbear paying a tribute to those whose devotion to duty and heroic self-sacrifice maintained the best traditions of the sea."

Ismay Starts Home.

New York, May 2.—J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine, sailed for his home in England today on the White Star liner Adriatic. Mr. Ismay said he was worn out and that there was nothing to add to his testimony before the senate investigating committee regarding the Titanic disaster.

The managing director of the White Star line boarded the Adriatic a few minutes before she sailed at 12 o'clock, and went to his state room. At first he declined to say anything, but later had the following to say:

"I have given all my testimony in the Titanic case at Washington. I have given them all the information at my command. There is certainly nothing more to say. I have no ill-feeling against the American public, and think the senate investigation was thorough. I am feeling very tired and wish to retire."

Talked With Young Morgan.

Before leaving his hotel with Vice President P. A. S. Franklin of the International Mercantile Marine, Mr. Ismay conferred with J. P. Morgan, Jr., together with several directors of the company.

Mr. Ismay and others, whose testimony is desired in the first suit for damages brought by a Titanic survivor, are free to sail for Europe at any time they care to, so far as concerns the litigation in question, according to George S. Graham, counsel for Mrs. Louise E. Robins, widow of Col. John Jacob Astor's valet, who lost his life in the disaster.

Smith Still at Work.

Senator Smith, chairman of the senate committee investigating the Titanic disaster, announced today that he would hold no public hearing during the two days he will spend in New York, but expects to investigate chiefly the report that news of the Titanic disaster reached New York Monday morning, April 15. The fact that the Titanic had sunk was announced Monday evening by P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the White Star line, who has testified he did not learn of the vessel's fate uuntil a few minutes before the announcement was made.

"I am here to look up the question of two messages said to have been received Monday morning," Senator Smith said. "One of these is reported to have been received at the Marconi office, the other at the office of the Western Union, for the White Star line. I want especially to see the message said to have been received by the Marconi company.

"Reports of the receipt of these dispatches have come officially to the committee's attention and we want to discredit it or confirm them."

DENFELD ON COMMITTEE.

Will Co-operate for National Educational Association's Convention.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—Nine Minnesotans have been named as a committee of co-operation for the Chicago convention of the National Educational association, July 6 to 12. They are: C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of public instruction, St. Paul, state director and chairman; George F. James, dean of the school of education, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis; Theda Glidemeister, director of training, state normal school, Winona; Conrad G. Selvig, superintendent of state school of agriculture, Crookston; Robert E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools, Duluth; George B. Alton, inspector of high schools, Minneapolis; J. M. Guise, principal of John A. Johnson high school, St. Paul.

RATTLER BITES CHILD.

Father Applies Home Remedies, Saving Little One.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 2.—The first victim of the deadly rattlesnake in South Dakota this season was Freda Ehlers, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ehlers, who live on a farm in Lyman county. While returning from school the little girl stepped on a rattlesnake, which instantly buried its fangs in one of her legs. The terrified girl was compelled to run three-quarters of a mile to her home, and upon arriving there found that her father was working some distance away in a field, the mother being tempararily absent from home. The father immediately cut into the wound and bathed it with kerosene and applied other home remedies, and this doubtless saved the girl's life. She was then hurried to a physician. The limb yet is badly swollen from the knee down, but it is believed the leg can be saved.

FINE STATE BUILDING.

Administration Building at St. Cloud Reformatory Finished.

St. Cloud, Minn., May 2.—For twelve years the state of Minnesota has been at work erecting the central administration building at the state reformatory. That task is now nearing completion.

It is expected that some time this month the state board of control will formally accept such work as the electrical equipment and other construction of an engineering character about this new building and that then it will be occupied by the superintendent and his staff, which consists of the officers, guards and the other employes of the state at this model institution.

The building is one of the most substantial and one of the most beautiful from an architectural standpoint that the state owns. A contractor when asked whta he would estimate the cost of the building of cut granite, said that it was worth, at a low cost, at least $1,000,000.

It is difficult for even the state to tell accurately what it has cost for the reason that the work has been carried on for twelve years and so much of it has been done by the inmates, but one familiar with the history of the construction work says that it is a perfectly safe statement that the building has not cost the state $500,000 and probably a great deal less.

Find Another Historic Relic.

Wells, Mich., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the second time within a fortnight a prehistoric copper relic has been found in a sand excavation at the site of a new water power plant on the Escanaba river near Groos. The first find was an arrow head. The latest relic is an ax blade, welded into shape, with holes through the middle, evidently for the thongs with which the handle doubtless was fastened into place.

Little Girl Nearly Scalped.

Menominee, Mich., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edna Scholtz, 6 years old, living at Hermansville had her hair caught in a cream separator, with the result that her scalp was nearly torn off before the machine was stopped. Physicians hope to save the child's life.

Children going to school, exposed to all forms of germ diseases, breathing foul air many hours each day, should have their systems fortified by keeping their bowels and blood clean and pure. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea does this as no other remedy. Children should take it every week. Lion Drug Store.

TRIFLING WITH DYNAMITE.

If the Industrial Workers of the World wish to get themselves wiped out of existence as an organization, and their too turbulent members properly curbed, they will turn a few more tricks like that of yesterday in New York, when the sight of the Stars and Stripes aroused them to such a fury that they tore down the flag and trampled upon it.

This organization has lately betrayed evidences of purposes that are inspired by impatience with the orderly processes of deciding economic and social questions. If it is not careful it will do more to set back the cause of labor than a thousand greedy employers could possibly accomplish.

The New York Socialists who rescued the flag from its ignominious position and promptly repudiated the action of the members of the I. W. W. who had insulted their country's flag—if it is their country over which the Red, White and Blue waves—acted wisely. The Industrial Workers of the World are Socialists, mostly; but fortunately by no means all Socialists are Industrial Workers of the World.

Somebody's Forgetting Something.

None of the candidates as yet has accused any of his rivals of eating pie with a knife.

NO ENGINEERS' STRIKE.

There will be no strike of the engineers on the Eastern railroads. That's about as cheerful news as could come at this time. A strike of the engineers on these important roads would have entailed possibilities so terrible that it is unpleasant even to speculate on what would have happened.

Both the engineers and the railroad managers are to be commended for their decision to arbitrate. Their action is civilized, humane and sensible. By agreement, a committee of seven will pass upon the issues. The engineers will appoint one, the railroads one, and these two the other five. If the two have difficulty in agreeing, as well they may, Chief Justice White of the supreme court, Commissioner of Labor Neill and Judge Knapp will be asked to make the appointments.

This happy outcome will be welcomed all over the country by a sigh of relief. The impending strike was a cloud upon the situation, and now it is removed. Besides brightening the outlook for the present, the incident lends new color to the hope that the time will come when all differences between labor and capital will be adjusted in this sensible and business-like way.

By Way of Illustration.

If you doubt our real democracy, just remember that the same 2-cent stamp may carry a check for a million or a dun for 30 cents.

THE CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

There is no danger whatever that the initiative, referendum and recall amendments to the city charter will be defeated at the special election May 7 if there is a full expression of public sentiment at the polls.

This community is in favor of these necessary checks upon the city government, and recent events have made its support of them stronger than ever.

There is no danger, either, that those who are opposed to the amendments will not be out to vote. They will be at the polls in full force.

The only danger is that some of those who believe in direct popular control of the city government will neglect their duty.

If there are enough neglectful voters, the wishes of those who oppose the amendments will prevail, for you can be sure they will be at the polls to register their will.

The moral, which the public-spirited citizen who owns a vote should take home to himself, is very plain: he should use that vote May 7.

One Sure Qualification.

Why shouldn't China be a republic? Her people have known how to shoot off firecrackers for ages and ages.

REGULATING THE NEWSPAPERS.

The house postoffice bill includes two provisions regulating the newspapers.

One requires each newspaper and magazine using the mails to print the names of its responsible owners and managers.

Another requires that all matter for which money has been received must be labelled as advertisements.

No fault is to be found with either of these requirements. They simply require that all newspapers shall keep all their cards on the table. The Herald has hitherto cordially approved both proposals.

Whether a postoffice regulation is the proper place for them is another question. No harm will come of it unless it becomes a precedent for further attempts to regulate newspapers through government control of postal facilities. There will be many who will believe that no such precedent should be established; that the postoffice department should not be permitted to dictate terms to the newspapers or curb in any way a free press, and that these provisions, admittedly wise and necessary, would better be made in some other way.

There have been complaints that the postoffice department has been over-officious in seeking to regulate the utterances of newspapers. What any newspaper or periodical has to say is no business of the postoffice department. If the matter is libelous or obscene, there are plenty of law to take care of it. If the matter is objectional from a political viewpoint, nothing more menacing could happen than to have the postoffice department assert power to suppress it.

These provisions do not go to that length. In themselves they are entirely unobjectionable and salutary. If the precedent is not abused there can be no valid objection to this legislation. It is a precedent, however, that can be abused if it is not watched carefully.

Or Don't They Need That?

The suffragists have decided that both the president and the ex-president are at fault in the "spectacle" they have given the country during the late unpleasantness. Hully chee! Does the dark horse wear a side-saddle?

MORE DISCRIMINATION.

Mora, on the Great Northern railroad, is the center of an important and rapidly developing agricultural section.

It is on a direct line to Duluth, and it is not on a direct line to the Twin Cities. It stands about midway between Duluth and Minneapolis.

Yet Mora has fair facilities for marketing its products in the Twin Cities, and practically none for reaching the rich and eager market in Duluth.

We quote from the Mora Times, published by Representative Henry Rines: "There is only one refrigerator car per week, and that goes west on the local freight on Thursday. There is no arrangement for storage of perishable freight while it is waiting at the depot for shipments, and the Thursday local being due early in the morning, no freight will be received on the morning the car goes through here.

"Thus all perishable goods must lie in the depot without proper care for twelve to eighteen hours before shipment.

"Furthermore, there is no refrigerator car service direct to Duluth. All perishable freight is routed through the Twin Cities, putting such freight on the Duluth market one or two days after leaving Mora instead of the same day.

"This is very inconvenient to shippers; there is a heavy loss to the producer, and it appears as if there were a discrimination against the markets at and beyond Duluth."

The Herald agrees most heartily with Representative Rines that "this condition of affairs should be changed."

It is simply another link in the chain of evidence that the railroads have devised their Minnesota systems with a view to creating an artificial force of gravity that directs as large a proportion of the traffic as possible to the Twin Cities.

Towns like Mora are the victims of this practice. They are shut out, to all practical purposes, from such a rich market as that of Duluth and the Iron Ranges, and shut in to the Twin City market.

But Duluth, as the sufferer from a thousand discriminations of the kind, is the greatest victim of them all.

The Mora case is so obviously flagrant that publicity should automatically bring about its correction.

Recognized the Date.

And it was on May 1 that Teddy make the slickest move of all in the Massachusetts muddle.

A BOYS' EXPOSITION.

Tomorrow and next day the annual "Duluth Boys' exposition" will be held at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., and as the custom is with expositions, this one is promised to be "bigger and better than ever."

This exposition is not only interesting, but valuable and important. In it the boys of the city—it is open to all boys under nineteen, whether members of the association or not—display the products of their art and ingenuity, their collections, their pets and other things dear to the heart of a boy. There is carpentry work, specimens of wood turning and carving, metal work and forging, architectural, mechanical and marine drawing, and arts and crafts. There are collections of stamps, coins, buttons, postcards, natural history specimens, etc. There are paintings, drawings, designs and specimens of photography, sign writing, etc. There will even be "cake, bread, taffy, fudge and creams" made, presumably, by the boys. The handbills do not state if specimens of these are distributed among the audience. Under the head of "contests" are some features promising much interest.

This stimulation of native talents, accompanied by prizes to sustain interest, is good for the boys, and that makes the annual Duluth Boys' exposition a useful institution. Much success to it.

Or an Aeroplane.

Roosevelt having saved a girl from being run over by a train, it is up to Taft to rescue somebody from being hit by a buzz-wagon.

ETHICS OR GRANDSTAND?

Col. Roosevelt's action in releasing his pledged delegates at large from Massachusetts, and directing them to vote for Taft because Taft is the state's preference, is in accord with the ethics of the situation, even if, as his enemies will declare, it is purely a grandstand play.

The mix-up could have been avoided if there had been but one vote covering both preference and the selection of delegates; but so long as there were two votes, the honest thing to do is exactly what Roosevelt did—release his delegates so that they may, if they wish, vote in accordance with the preference expressed by the state.

Whether the delegates will follow his suggestion is another question. After determining to vote for Roosevelt regardless of the preference vote, following the receipt of Roosevelt's message they rescinded this action. They did not, however, decide to vote for Taft, but left each delegate free to do as he pleased. Probably most if not all of them will please to vote against Taft and for Roosevelt.

A PARCELS POST STEP.

The postoffice appropriation bill on which the house has agreed provides for a rural parcels post with rates of five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound up to the limit of eleven pounds, and it also amends the general postal regulations so as to permit mailing packages up to eleven pounds at twelve cents a pound. This is exactly the provision for parcels mailed to other countries, but at present parcels mailed between points in this country are limited to four pounds and the rate is sixteen cents a pound.

This is not, however, a parcels post. The house proposes to put the parcels post and express matter over to the next session, committing it in the meantime to a committee of three senators and three representatives for study.

The privileges proposed in the house bill will improve the situation to some extent. They will help to a large degree toward making the rural delivery system self-sustaining. They will put citizens of this country on the same footing as to postal service with people of other countries who may be visiting or residing here.

But congress should lose no time in devising and enacting a real and complete parcels post plan.

ILLINOIS AND PENNSYLVANIA

By SAVOYARD.

The opposition to Woodrow Wilson is rejoicing with exceeding great exultation over the "Champ Clark victory" in Illinois. There, as everywhere, it was a combination that assailed Wilson, Harmon and Underwood, both "near' candidates for president, had followers in Illinois; but they were made baggage, and had no choice but to support that other "near" candidate, Champ Clark. Wilson is the only real candidate for president before the Democratic convention. He sneaks in nowhere, while the others go by stealth wherever they go at all.

Something has been said about the alleged support Roger Sullivan gave Governor Wilson. Mr. Sullivan is a boss and according to report not a very lovely politician. There were but two candidates. His enemies—the city machine of Chicago and William R. Hearst—had pre-empted Clark and so Sullivan had to support Wilson or get out of the game.

Here were the Clark forces—William R. Hearst, the Chicago city machine. The latter included every policeman, every fireman, every saloon, every house of evil repute, every gambler, every scaly contractor, every servitor of "Bath House John," every henchman of "Hinky Dink." Now to these add the Hearst following, a gang that Sir John Falstaff would not be seen in coventry with. To show what an unspeakable lot it was, they stole the private papers of Woodrow Wilson, committed burglary in the act, in the hope to find something to his discredit that they might herald to the world.

That was the set that triumphed over Wilson in Illinois. In Pennsylvania, next door neighbor to Woodrow Wilson, as Illinois is next door neighbor to Champ Clark, the combination did not dare to enter the lists. No one of the three—not Clark, nor Harmon, nor Underwood—was a candidate for president in Pennsylvania. Well, they resorted to innuendo and under the circumstances there was more stupidity in it than there was insinuation—they said Wilson was Jim Guffey's man, when the fact was Guffey had to support him or be overwhelmed.

And then after the Pennsylvania primary was over they said that having got in under the cloak of Wilson's popularity Guffey would take Pennsylvania from Wilson in the convention! Guffey may be bound enough to attempt that; but the Democracy of Pennsylvania will see that he falls. Do they think Guffey a fool? Certainly they think him a scoundrel.

Then George Fred Williams is a vociferous champion of Champ Clark. Before the thing is over I shall make it my duty to say something about George Fred and to tell you who and what he is. It is an "amoosin' cuss," a silk-stocking mugwump turned practical politician, who would be to Champ Clark as Ben Butler was to Frank Pierce.

Champ has two managers in Kentucky who are simply lovely. Samuel J. Shackelford, long and yet the legislative agent of Standard Oil and the American Tobacco company, is one, and Charles M. Lewis, representative of the whisky trust, is the other. It is common report in this town that the whisky trust is for Clark, and the activity of Mr. Lewis in his behalf is strong corroborative evidence of the fact. Lewis is even a more crafty politician than Shackelford, and Shackelford is the craftiest political manipulator in the world. But I much doubt if even these two can do for old Kentucky what the Chicago machine and William R. Hearst did for Illinois.

At first it seemed that the result in Illinois was an Underwood victory, for, truth to tell, Champ has been an impossibility all the time, but geography militates against the man from Alabama. If he hailed from Minnesota, Underwood would be a very formidable candidate, indeed. It was supposed Underwood would carry both Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi and hold them as a nucleus. Then the interests were depended on to take advantage of the psychological moment, that always comes in a convention manipulated by practical politicians, and in a burst of enthusiasm throw the Harmon and Clark strength to the Southern man.

But there are two obstacles. One is that Underwood is not going to get all the Cotton states named, or even a majority of them, and the other is that simultaneously with the nomination of Underwood the G. O. P. would gather itself together and in the rural precincts of every Northern state the command would be given, "Vote as you gan street. R. H. Boxell of St. Paul, shot." Champ Clark got his alleged victory in Kansas because he voted for the Sherwood pension bill, that it is estimated by competent actuaries would add $86,000,000 annually to the pension appropriation. His residence and his opposition in congress to pensions would be fatal to Underwood as the nominee.

A good deal has been said to the effect that the tariff must be paramount. But what is the Democratic position on the tariff? Clark has been on three sides of it. When he first came to congress he was fierce in his support of the idea held by Roger Q. Mills and George G. Vest. When Gormanism and Jim Smithism betrayed that idea Mr. Clark got to be reckless and proclaimed absolute free trade—the complete repeal of all tariff taxation and the summary demolition of every customs house. It was startling, amused the groundlings, and made copy for the press gallery.

Well, a day came when Mr. Clark got to be speaker. Unfortunately the presidential bee got in Mr. Clark's bonnet, which fact is conclusive proof that that particular bee had a genius for exploration. How did it ever manage to make a presidential candidate of the one of all our public men least fitted temperamentally, for president? In his philosophy anything is profoundest statecraft, which, if said by him, will startle the groundlings and get the applause of the populace. Joe Blackburn, or John Rhea, is calm, serene, sedate, judicial, compared with Champ Clark.

So the tariff was up to this speaker-candidate, and instead of following the counsel of Cleveland and Bryan, Carlisle and Morrison, Mills and W. L. Wilson, Mr. Clark lays hold on the coattails of Joseph W. Bailey, who believes about the tariff precisely as Nelson W. Aldrich would have every Democrat believe.

But that is not all. A generation has come that knows not Joseph. The tariff fight must be made over again. We have had no tariff campaign since 1892. Silver, the Spanish war, expansion, colonial policy, octopus chases—all intervened and the electorate knows little of the tariff, compared with the generation of 1892 that knew all about it.

I don't believe, however, that the Democratic party wishes the tariff revised on the Bailey plan. Hence I do not think Mr. Clark in the slightest danger from presidential lightning.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

They Attempt, at Least.

Walker Pilot: It's up to the voters to assert themselves; the bosses have turned them down at every turn. It seems improbable that the lieutenants of the president of the United States and the governor of Minnesota, should attempt to thwart every plan that would enable the people to state their preference for any candidate for public office.

Congdon's Service.

Battle Lake Review: Chester A. Congdon of Duluth has rendered the state a signal service in calling attention to the fact that the present Eberhart administration is the most expensive the state has ever had and he might have added the least valuable as well.

Will?

Anoka Union: Bad blood is getting into the veins of the Republican leaders and will make trouble in the party.

Different Kind of Bird Day.

Cambride North Star: Governor Eberhart proclaimed April 26 as Bird day. July 2 will be the real Bird day—the day that lame ducks will be made.

Rights Are Denied.

Browns Valley Tribune: The people certainly have a right to express their choice to as to who they want for candidates for president, governor, etc., and not be compelled to vote for whatever man is put before them by a few political bosses and manipulators in the different parties. Let the people do the picking.

Good Remedy.

Perham Enterprise: As to harmony the situation of the Republican party in Minnesota is the position of a man who has corns on his feet, appendicitis, inflammation of the bowels, boils, toothache, rheumatism, gout and a few other afflictions incidental to past good living. The remedy is a few years of good healthy out-of-office work.

Pressing Need.

Northfield News: Still the need for a dictagraph in the crowd every time Governor Eberhart talks is pressing.

Reform From Without.

Red Wing Daily Eagle: It is manifestly evident that the United States senate does not contain within itself the elements necessary to its reformation. The votes by which Lorimer and Stephenson are glued to their seats, proves conclusively that if that body is to be made respectable and useful, the battering ram of public opinion must be brought to bear upon it.

Why?

Collier's: Among the persons who are supporting the effort of the president to be renominated, a few may be picked out as typical.

In the Illinois election, in the midst of the overwhelming landslide for Roosevelt, William Lorimer succeeded in carrying for the president one district which Lorimer has always controlled.

In Pennsylvania Penrose and the old gang sank gallantly to destruction with the president.

In Ohio the strongly progressive wing of the party has opposed the renomination of the president, whose forces are led by the remnants of the old machine.

Possibly Senator Warren of Wyoming is the most notorious special-interest representative in the West. He has been part of the backbone of the Taft campaign. From the same state is to be added Mondell, the most conspicuous enemy of conservation in the house.

In the state of Washington the president's interests have been largely in the hands of Richard A. Ballinger, thrown out of the office of secretary of the interior because of his relation to the Morgan-Guggenheim interests in Alaska.

In Oregon ex-Senator Fulton has been energetic behind the president. He was made famous by Heney's land-graft prosecutions, and was offered the position of minister to China by President Taft.

In New Mexico is Bull Andrews, once a protege of Quay. He left Pennsylvania for the good of that state and became principal political boss of New Mexico.

In Iowa ex-Senator Lafe Young, an old-fashioned reactionary, succeeded Dolliver partly though the influence of Taft, and is now returning the compliment.

In California the president has the support of ex-Boss Herrin, who ruled the state under the Southern Pacific regime, and of Patrick Calhoun, who recently spoke in favor of the president and denounced the policies of Roosevelt.

In Idaho the list is continued by Senator Heyburn, whose part in the Ballinger case is known to our readers and who is a notorious servant of the special interests.

Mr. Taft's following in Montana is due to the all-powerful ring which is dominated by Amalgamated Copper.

In Colorado the name of ex-Senator Guggenheim will be sufficient.

Although Aldrich has lost his great power, he still is able to add to the president's strength in Rhode Island.

Senator Gallinger, so long a servant of the Boston & Maine, is leading the Taft forces in New Hampshire.

In Massachusetts Murray Crane, who succeeded Aldrich as head of the reactionary machine in the senate, is the leader of the president's campaign.

So it goes all over the country. Meantime the Roosevelt leaders are men of the type of Hiram Johnson of California, Robert Bass of New Hampshire, a group of young enthusiasts in Massachusetts, the Keystone reformers in Pennsylvania, the Garfield Republicans in Ohio, Governor Stubbs in Kansas, and so on everywhere. What is the reason?

More Brains in His Stomach.

Kansas City Star: Alexander H. Stephens, vice president of the confederate states, wanted the nomination for congress in a Georgia district before the war, and had as his opponent a big-bodied, big-featured, big-lunged man, who prided himself on his herculean girth and bellowing voice. They came together at a meeting one day and the big man got the floor. He held his opponent up to ridicule and wound up his harangue with these words:

"Why, look at that man," pointing to Stephen, as he sat, a mere bundle of skin and bones, in an invalid perambulating chair. "Look at him; I could swallow him at one mouthful."

"Yes," piped Alexander from the depths of his chair, "and if he did he'd have more brains in his stomach than he's got in his head."

Probably a Canard.

Kansas City Journal: "Samaritan Joe" Enright of the police patrolmen at the union station refuses to confirm this story, but there are a number of policemen on the force who are willing to depose that it is true. Some years ago, when John Hayes was chief, Joe was assigned to beat No. 1, which is on the levee. When he received the assignment he quietly but emphatically voiced his disgust to his fellow-officers.

"That's no place for me," he said. "It's too quiet. There's nothing to do but fight mosquitoes and keep the catfish from stealing the bait off the trot lines."

Nothing more was heard on the subject from Joe until one day when the officer in command of the district chaffed him for making no arrests.

"Why don't you wake up and pinch somebody?" laughed the captain.

"I'll try," said Joe.

At next roll call Joe is said to have turned in a report which read as follows:

"Pinched A. Mosquito on the levee at 1 o'clock last night. Description: Dark complected, bald, medium height, gangling legs, with a long face and a bad eye. Weight, four pounds. He made a desperate fight and I had to smash him. Charge, attempted murder.

Quite Another Matter.

Boston Transcript: Mother—There, now, don't whip Johnny. You know the Bible says: "Let not the sun descend upon your wrath."

Father—That's all right; but it doesn't say not to let your wrath descend upon the son.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"THE HIGH SEAS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you please be so kind as to answer this question for me? Are the Great Lakes termed the High Seas or not? Yours truly, A SUBSCRIBER.
Iron River, Mich., April 28.

The legal phraseology includes the Great Lakes under the term "High Seas."—The Editor.

"MASHERS" GOT JUST DESERTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

While the public generally is taken up with the local issue of the West end saloon transfer and the national political fight, the action of Police Judge Cutting yesterday in imposing a sentence of $75 and costs, with the alternative of sixty days in the county jail, upon two "mashers" should not be overlooked.

This is the first "mashing" case of which I have heard since the amendment to the sidewalk obstruction ordinance was passed by the council some months ago. The prompt punishment inflicted by the court should have the effect of squelching any further incidents of that nature for several more months to come. What might be called the opening of the "masher's season" is at hand, with the advent of spring and warm weather, and it ought to be a lesson to any of the "smart Alecs" who make a practice of ogling passing women and girls and dropping obnoxious remarks intended for their ears. So it would seem that the severe penalty imposed upon the two "fresh" ball players came at an opportune time.

No other one thing could do more to insure protection of women folks on the street than sentences such as those given by the court in this case. The ball players were not ignorant men without sense and their actions could not be excused on the grounds of ignorance or the fact that they had been drinking and were "feeling good." They were men who should have known better and the court should be given due credit for what it is doing to keep the city free from "mashers" and others of their ilk.

Giving all the publicity possible to such cases greatly supplements the action taken by the court and has a decidedly chastening effect upon others of the "mashing" fraternity. They cannot be advertised too much, except possibly from the viewpoint of those directly concerned, particularly the "mashers." READER.

What Every Woman Knows.

Richmond Times-Dispatch: That lodge sessions do not always last until 3 o'clock in the morning.

That sudden and vigorous talk of poverty by her husband means no electric car this year.

That she can safely drop into her husband's office any time if she makes a regular practice of it.

That she cannot sharpen a lead pencil or trim a corn satisfactorily with a safety razor.

That it is certainly a great mystery what her husband does with all his money.

That her mother-in-law was really not such a magnificent cook as a certain party would have her believe.

That the woman next door is extravagant and is living beyond her husband's income.

The Acme of Politeness.

Satire: Visitor—You say that old reprobate over there used to be one of the politest men in town? I suppose he'd give up his seat in a street car for a woman.

Native—Polite? Say, stranger, that man gave up his seat in heaven for a woman.

CASTLES IN THE AIR.

Richard Steele in the Spectator: A castle builder is ever just what he pleases, and as such I have grasped imaginary scepters, and delivered uncontrollable edicts from a throne to which conquered nations yielded obedience. I have made I know not how many inroads into France, and ravaged the very heart of the kingdom. I have dined in the Louvre, and drank champagne at Versailles; and I would have you take notice I am not only able to vanquish a people already cowed and accustomed to flight, but I could, Almanzor-like, drive the British general from the field, were I less a Protestant, or had never been adopted by the confederates.

There is no art or profession whose most celebrated masters I have not eclipsed. Wherever I have afforded my salutary presence, fevers have ceased to burn and agues to shake the human fabric. When an eloquent flt has been upon me, an apt gesture and proper cadence have animated each sentence, and gazing crowds have found their passions worked up into a rage, or soothed into a calm. I am short, and not very well made—yet upon the sight of a fine woman I have stretched into proper stature, and killed with a good air and mien.

These are the phantoms that dance before my waking eyes, and compose my day dreams. I should be the most contented man alive were the chimerical happiness which spring from the paintings of fancy less fleeting and transitory. But alas! it is with grief of mind I tell you, the least breath of wind has often demolished my magnificent edifices swept away my groves, and left no more trace of them than if they had never been. My exchequer has sunk and vanished by a rap on my door; the salutation of a friend has cost me a whole continent; and in the same moment I have been pulled by the sleeve, my crown has fallen from my head. The ill consequences of these reveries is inconceivably great, seeing the loss of imaginary possessions makes impressions of real woe. Besides, bad economy is visible and apparent in builders of invisible mansions. My tenants' advertisements of ruins and dilapidations often cast a damp on my spirits, even in the instant when the sun, in all his splendor, gilds my Eastern palaces. Add to this the pensive drudgery in building, and constant grasping aerial trowels, distracts and shatters the mind and the fond builder of Babels is often cursed with an incoherent diversity and confusion of thoughts.

I Thought So and I Told You So.

I thought so and I told you so,
This is a funny pair.
It makes no difference where you go,
You find them everywhere.
No matter how you dodge about
And try to shun them both,
There is no doubt, they'll spy you out
And bore you, nothing loath.

There is no action wonderous,
No rare untoward chance,
But what their wisdom ponderous
Has figured in advance.
And when you meet with sad defeat,
Or when your fortunes go,
You hear them o'er and o'er repeat,
I thought or told you so.

I thought so and I told you so
Are very wily twins;
And though your virtues they may know,
They always tell your sins.
And when you say in great dismay,
"I really didn't know."
That is their cue to say to you
I thought or told you so.

I thought so and I told you so
Care not your grief to share;
But they will grin, your grace to win
When you have cash to spare.
Be warned in time by this small rhyme
Against their tactics low;
For if you're caught, I'll say "I thought"
Or else "I told you so."

SAWMILL TO BE REOPENED

Virginia & Rainy Lake Company to Operate Night and Day.

About 250 Men to Be Employed During Summer Months.

After being closed for the past six months, the Virginia & Rainy Lake mill at Fifty-first avenue west will resume operations tomorrow morning.

It was announced this morning that the mill is to be kept open night and day until next winter. A crew of 250 men will be employed begining tomorrow. Sufficient logs have been shipped here during the winter months to keep the entire crew until the middle of December, is the estimate of those in charge of the work at the mill.

During the past six months the buildings have all been repaired and remodeled and the machinery has been overhauled. The mill closed down early last November, putting about 200 men out of work. With the opening of the mill and the Zenith Furnace company plant the latter part of this month, fully 2,500 men will be employed in the various mills and shops at West Duluth.

FEAR DOG HAD HYDROPHOBIA

Head of Animal Is Sent to St. Paul for Examination.

The head of the bull dog which was running wild last Monday on Atlantic avenue and biting several children, was sent to St. Paul yesterday to ascertain if the dog had hydrophobia.

The dog ran into the yard of Peter Karlinski and bit his two children about the legs and arms then ran to the home of E. A. Thomson, 3317 Chestnut street and bit his little boy about the legs, lacerating them badly. It was finally chased into an old shed and an officer summoned to kill it.

The owner of the dog has not been found.

NO GOOD ROAD TO WEST DULUTH

Merchants Complain That They Get No Benefit From Wheelage Tax.

The merchants of West Duluth are indignant over the condition of the roads between West Duluth and Twenty-fifth avenue west, not only on Superior street but on Oneota street and Grand avenue.

They claim that they are compelled to pay wheelage tax and then are unable to get any improvements on the highways to West Duluth.

There has been some talk of organizing a club consisting of those who are most interested in this movement, to fight the wheelage tax or see that at least one of these roads is put in proper shape for traffic.

The merchants say the roads from West Duluth as far as Twenty-fifth avenue west are very rough when dry, and full of sink holes in rainy weather. Holes and soft places have been filled with soft earth or other material, temporarily, making the pulling of heavy loads almost impossible. The result is that there is no good highway between Duluth and West Duluth.

NEW BANK HAS RUSH OF DEPOSITORS.

The Citizen's State bank opened its doors at 10 o'clock this morning and in an hour had $15,000 in deposits on its books, which figure it is hoped to double before the day is over.

The first depositors were W. B. Getchell, Dr. Seashore, R. A. Lamphere and L. R. Clark.

WILL TALK TO MEMBERS ON AMENDMENTS.

The regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club will be held in the club rooms tomorrow evening. After the regular routine of business has been taken care of, G. W. C. Ross will address the members on the initative, referendum and recall movement.

Wohlin-Malone.

Miss Adeline Wohlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Wohlin, 725 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, and Arthur L. Malone, were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents. They left for a wedding trip in the East and will make their home in West Duluth.

WILL RAISE FUNDS FOR NEW CLUBS.

A dinner is being planned by a committee of the W. C. T. U. to be served May 9 between 11:30 and 1:30 at the West Duluth club rooms, the proceeds to be used in carrying on the work of the boys' and girls' clubs.

REGULAR MEETING OF WEST DULUTH W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the West Duluth branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance union was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bert N. Wheeler, 3406 West Third street, at which the reports of the club's work for the past year were given.

The principal subject of the afternoon's discussion was "The Simple Life," with Mrs. Ruth Merritt as leader, assisted by Mrs. Milton Fish. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. R. H. Wellington and Mrs. H. J. Randall.

Entertains Club.

Mrs. R. A. Ramsey, 159 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, entertained the "500 club" at her home yesterday afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. C. Cherry, Mrs. William Millsop and Mrs. George Dacy. Luncheon was served.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street, entertained at a basket and chatter social in the church parlors last evening.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Bothel Lutheran church met in the church parlors last evening.

The Young people of the Midway church met last evening at the home of Charles Stark at Midway.

Albert and John Sovensen of Smithville will leave soon for their farm at Lake Nebagamon.

J. W. Nelson of Duluth spent several days at his cottage at Spirit Lake.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Norwegian Lutheran church is being entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Olafson, 5724 Huntington street.

The West Duluth Republican club will hold its monthly meeting Saturday evening in the Commercial club rooms at which they will discuss the charter amendment.

Charles Nyman, 416 North Fifty-first avenue west, aged 16, was taken home yesterday after an operation for appendicitis.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

SHERIFF BUSY WITH TAX LIST

The force in the sheriff's office is busy handling the delinquent 1911 personal property tax list. The delinquent taxes have been coming in as fast as can be expected and the work is now about half over.

Sheriff Melning today stated that several property owners have complained that last year the assessors never called at their home for personal property assessments. He suggests that property owners be on the lookout for the city assessors who are on their rounds now and co-operate with them in the work, thus leaving no grounds for future kicks.

MARRIED HER TO SPITE ANOTHER SWEETHEART

Long Tale of Cruelty Is Told in Divorce Court.

Wife Says Husband Hurled Knife at Her—Other Divorce Cases.

How her husband had married her when a girl of 16 in order to spite another sweetheart, how shortly after the wedding he had tried to induce an orphan girl, aged 15, to elope with him, and how he had subjected her to an almost unheard of cruelty for nearly twenty years was the story which Mrs. Sadie Schwartz, aged 35, told Judge Dancer in district court yesterday afternoon in the divorce proceedings which she brought against her husband, aged 42. She was granted an absolute separation.

Mrs. Schwartz claims that at the time of her marriage she was barely 16 years old and was living at Seiville, Ohio. She became a bride upon but a short acquaintance with Anton Schwartz, and it was not until afterwards that she learned that he had married her for the sole purpose of spiting another girl to whom he was engaged at that time, she says.

Mrs. Schwartz charges cruel and inhuman treatment, consisting of profane and indecent language, infidelity to the marriage vows, lack of sufficient support and numerous acts of violence. She testified yesterday afternoon that six months after their marriage, while they were living at Saunders, Mich., her husband tried to induce an orphan girl, aged 15, who was staying with them, to elope with him.

One month later, she claims, in a fit of jealousy entirely uncalled for, he threw a cup of coffee at her. She had him arrested, she says, and he paid a fine for assault. Eight months later, while they were living at Stratford, Mich., he showed her a loaded revolver one night and told her that she would have bullet holes in her body before morning.

At a later date, Mrs. Schwartz testified, when they were conducting the Bush hotel at Marinette, Wis., she saw him have improper relations with an immoral woman who came to the hotel as a guest. She said that when she spoke to him about the matter he did not deny it, and only laughed.

Schwartz is a lumber camp cook by vocation. She claims that during the past few years he has been steadily engaged in this kind of work, and that for comfortable of the time she has lived in the camps and assisted him. She alleges that while at a lumber camp one time he threw a knife at her but missed his aim. The knife struck on an ironing board behind her.

Schwartz came to Minnesota and settled in Duluth about three years ago. He left the city last year and went to Wausau, Wis. Mrs. Schwartz remained here. She has three children, David, 16, Lucile, 15, and Ethel, 11, all of whom will remain in her custody.

Showing the court her left arm, and how it had been permanently wrenched out of shape through the vicious attack of a drunken husband, and telling a story of an unhappy married life, Mattie Peterson, aged 22, appeared before Judge Ensign this morning for a divorce from her husband, Sigfrid Peterson, 26, whom she married at Hibbing on Feb. 25, 1909. Besides being brutal in his conduct to her, she claimed that he was a man of vulgar habits and addicted to the use of intoxicants. She also accused him of being intimate with women of immoral character. The court granted the divorce. I. Grettum was plaintiff's attorney.

Stella M. Brown, aged 28, was granted a divorce from Douglas M. Brown, 28, in Judge Dancer's court this morning on the grounds of desertion. The Browns were married at Grand Forks on May 23, 1910. She claimed that he deserted her about a year ago. Mrs. Brown lives at 322 West First street, this city.

After twenty years of married life, Matilda, Jarvi, aged 44, has been granted a divorce from Edward Jarvi, 54, on the grounds of cruel and inhumane treatment. The decree was ordered this morning by Judge Dancer, who heard Mrs. Jarvi's story of unhappy marital relations. Mrs. Jarvi claimed that her husband wrongfully accused her of infidelity and that after failing to support her and her nine children for a number of years, he finally deserted her. She was given $350 alimony and an absolute divorce.

Anabel Simon, aged 23, was granted a divorce by Judge Dancer from her husband, Robert Simon, 23, on the grounds of desertion.

On the grounds of drunkenness and cruelty, Hilda Nylen, aged 38, was granted a divorce by Judge Dancer this morning from her husband, Andrew Nylen, 48 years old, a tailor of this city. There are five children in the family.

Mrs. Ida Melin secured a legal separation and $25 monthly allmony from her husband, Axel Melin, a West end carpenter, in district court before Judge Ensign this morning. Mrs. Melin charged her husband with being cruel and a heavy drinker. The Melins have five children.

Lula W. Burgess, aged 30 and blind, was granted a divorce in Judge Ensign's court this morning from her husband, George W. Burgess, aged 50, whom she married in Duluth, Sept. 7, 1899. Desertion was alleged, Mrs. Burgess claiming that he left her in 1902. She told the court that she had been a dutiful and faithful wife and had attended to her home duties to the best of her ability. She was allowed to resume her maiden name, Lula W. Sawyer.

Papers were filed this morning in district court in the divorce proceedings, which have been started by Lizabeta Medvid, aged 40, against Steve Medvid, 30, in her complaint she alleges cruelty and cited an instance where Medvid had been arrested at Ely following a family disturbance and put under bonds to keep the peace for six months. They were married on June 26, 1911. She asks for an absolute divorce and permission to resume her maiden name, Smreker.

Capt. John Massey of the Tomlinson fleet was granted a divorce from his wife, Mary, by Judge Dancer of the district court today. They were married on Dec. 29, 1880, and according to his story, she deserted him in November, 1910, and went to Chicago, where she now resides. They have five children, one a minor. He is 54 years old and she is 47.

Father Dies in New York.
Francis De Groat, a prominent Duluth attorney, received notice yesterday afternoon while on the Cuyuna Iron range, that his father, J. F. De Groat, aged 75, had suddenly dropped dead at his home in Nichols, New York. The deceased was well known in Minneapolis, where he had resided in 1857. Mr. De Groat immediately cancelled all business engagements and left on the midnight train for New York.

WISCONSIN RELIEF FUND $136,000

Legislature Almost Doubles Amount Proposed for Black River Falls.

Madison, Wis., May 2.—Relief for the flood stricken city of Black River Falls, the measure which prompted the calling of the special session of the Wisconsin legislature, was granted today to the amount of $136,000, despite efforts of a majority of the finance committee to cut it to $75,000. For the relief of destitution $65,000 was appropriated. The committee report called for $35,000. For reimbursing the relief committee the legislature voted $71,000, ignoring a recommendation for $55,000 offered by Assemblyman Roessler, Jefferson county.

The legislature yesterday passed ten minor bills, advanced half as many more, and planned to finish its work and adjourn Saturday. The Milwaukee non-partisan election bills were introduced by Senator Bodenstab. They probably will not be allowed to interfere with the regular order of business, and legislators generally believe the session will close with the end of the week.

KILLS WHITE WOODCHUCK.

Sawyer County, Wis., Hunter Has Slain Freak Animal.

Couderay, Wis., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — Marshal William Fuller of this place yesterday killed a pure white woodchuck. Old trappers and hunters here, both whites and Indians, say this is a freak, as they never before seen or heard of a woodchuck being pure white, their natural color being brown.

VISITING FORMER PARISHIONERS

REV. CAMPBELL COYLE.

Rev. Campbell Coyle is visiting his former parishioners in Duluth.

Rev. Mr. Coyle was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, but left to accept a call to the Bellfield Presbyterian church, one of the largest in Pittsburg, Pa. He arrived in Duluth this morning for a short visit, and while here is the guest of George M. Smith and Rev. N. L. Upham.

Mr. Coyle will preach twice on Sunday at his old church, speaking in the morning on "Dying Unto Self," and in the evening on "Man Wanted." He will also conduct the prayer meeting there this evening.

OBITUARY

John E. Morrn, one of the most prominent bankers in Montana, and resident of Butte for many years, is dead, after a long illness.

Thomas Eads, one of the oldest and best known residents of the upper Michigan peninsula, died at his residence in Calumet, Mich., May 1. For twelve years he was clerk of Houghton county.

Judge Christian A. Bennett, a widely known member of the Colorado bar, died at his home in Boulder, Col., May 2, from apoplexy. Judge Bennett was 72 years old. He was born at Port Washington, Wis. He was elected to the Wisconsin state legislature in Missouri in 1879. In 1883 he went to Colorado.

Gray W. Richardson, a former Twin City newspaperman, who for fifteen years has filled positions on Montana, Nevada, Colorado and Utah newspapers, is dead at Salt Lake, Utah, aged 36, of nephritis.

"THE BATTLE OF THE BILLBOARDS"

"The Battle of the Billboards" might be the title of the stirring melodrama being staged by the managers of the Orpheum and Empress theaters.

Some alterations are being made to the building at the corner of Lake avenue and Superior street, and the front of the building is boarded up. The Empress theater bill poster saw it and promptly plastered it with bills. Last night a stealthy Orpheum scout stole up to the building and covered every available inch with Orpheum paper. Early this morning the Empress scouts were back on the job and replastered it with Empress hangers.

Manager Billings of the Orpheum blandly denied any knowledge of the movements of his guerillas and said the Orpheum bills must have blown onto the boards. Manager Maitland surmised that the Empress bills had been there all the time and thought his questioner was mistaken about the rapid changes.

TEAR DOWN OLD GLORY.

May Day Mob Tramples Flag and Raises Red Banner.

New York, May 2.—The Stars and Stripes were torn down and trampled underfoot, and a red flag substituted during a fierce fight at a May day meeting of the Socialist party and affiliated unions in Union Square park. That a serious panic did not ensue is believed to have been due to the fact that thousands of persons in the outskirts of the crowd did not know what the trouble was. Responsibility for the tearing down of the flag is disclaimed by the Socialists, who blame members of the Industrial Workers of the World. The Socialist representatives on the platform appear to have done their best to protect the national colors.

"Men like you should be shot," she cried, as she gathered up the flag. She met no resistance, and carried the flag home with her.

STATE BOARD LETS OWATONNAA CONTRACT.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Contracts were let by the state board of control today for the building of cottages for babies at the state public school at Owatonna, covering an expenditure of $17,239.27. The general contract work was given to Hammel Brothers & Anderson of Owatonna.

First Grounding.
Detroit, Mich., May 2.—The first marine accident of the year occurred yesterday morning in the Detroit river, when the steamer Langell ran hard aground on Grassy island.

SUPERIOR

COURT OFFICER HAS SEEN LONG SERVICE.

Twenty-three years of active service is the record held by Police Court Officer George Whereatt. He was appointed police officer under A. J. McRae's administration. He was made court officer sixteen years ago, which position he had held ever since.

Officer Whereatt was on the force when they were but eight men and has seen the force grow to correspond with the city's growth.

Student Actors.

The amateur actors of the Superior normal school are rehearsing a three-act comedy entitled, "Strenuous Life," which they expect to stage during commencement week. Among those trying for parts are Larten McQueen, Ashton Smith, Everett Conley, Croft Toohy, John Burdelle, M. Daley, Wallace Carpenter and the Misses Shmetaley and Lila Jones.

Change Is Opposed.

Many of the business men of the city are strongly against the proposed removal of Henry Ashton as street foreman of the Sixth ward, to be succeeded by Larry Brennan. No action has been taken as yet on the proposed change, but it is hoped that Ashton will remain on the old job and Capt. Brennan placed somewhere else.

Suffrage Meeting.

The Douglas County Equal Suffrage society will hold a meeting this evening at the Commercial club. The speaker of the evening will be Mrs. A. T. Hall, president of the Minnesota Suffrage association. The meeting is open to the general public.

AWAKENS IN MUD PUDDLE

Telegraph Operator Cruelly Beaten By an Unknown Companion.

When Carl Thorne awoke this morning he was lying in the mud on Garfield avenue, coatless, without a hat, and without his watch and money, and so badly beaten about the face that he could scarcely see because of his swollen cheeks.

Thorne is a telegraph operator, and does not know how he reached Garfield avenue, or what befell him. He started down the Bowery last evening and began drinking. He has a faint recollection of being with somebody, but does not know who the man was. The next thing he remembers was awakening on Garfield avenue this morning. He had about $4 when he started, but was without a penny when he awoke.

The police took him in tow on a charge of disorderly conduct. When he told his story to the court the judge offered to release him, but Thorne said it would be a good thing for him to spend about ten days in jail to sober up and reduce the swelling on his eyes so he could see. He was accommodated with ten days.

NAMING RAILROADS.

In the naming of railroads James J. Hill must be credited with being the father of short names for great lines says a writer in the Railroad Man's Magazine. He changed the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba to Great Northern. The Erie in its time has had more names than a royal baby.

"What is known as the "Frisco" was launched as the Atlantic and Pacific. In the course of its career it was absorbed by the Santa Fe. When the latter was thrown into the hands of receivers the remains of the Atlantic and Pacific were amalgamated with the Rock Island.

Old time railroaders know that the advertisement which made the Chicago and Alton famous grew out of a billboard. General Passenger Agent Charlton and his advertising agent, Dudley Walker, were on their way to the theater one night. Under a big light they noticed a bill announcing Henry Miller's performance of "The Only Way." The passenger agent and the publicity man applied it to their line. It has not been changed.

A part of the Burlington system that was once the pride of Keokuk has a story. It was christened as the Mississippi Valley and Western railroad. It had more vicissitudes than a man accustomed to fits.

The charter required that its construction should not lag. On one occasion while a section was being built the pay car failed to arrive on time. It did not arrive for several weeks and the laborers abandoned their jobs.

A promoter, whose heart was in his scheme, hired a man to shovel dirt into a dump for several days and paid for the work out of his own pocket.

This held the charter intact until the company raised more money. Then the work was continued until the line was finished from Keokuk to its destination, where it combined with the Wabash and ran into St. Louis over leased tracks. With the combination it became the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern.

One of the old time names, and a long one in this period, is the New York, New Haven and Hartford. There seems to be no way of abbreviating it in spite of the fact that in part the name is a misnomer. Some time it may be the New York and Boston.

The name "Nickel Plate" found its origin in a remark made by Jay Gould.

When the road had failed and was placed on sale Gould entered a bid for it. The bid was considered unsatisfactory and Gould was urged by the interested parties to increase the amount. Though the road had not proved very profitable, it was a splendid piece of construction and worth much more than he had offered.

Gould tersely replied that his bid was the maximum and that he wouldn't raise it if the old line was "nickel plated."

THE UNDIPLOMATIC DRUGGIST.

Washington Star: South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives, was talking about diplomacy.

"In a public post," he said, "great diplomacy is needed. The man in a public post must be diplomatic all the time; otherwise he will be treated like the druggist.

"A druggist, late one cold winter night, was awakened by the tinkle of his emergency bell. It was a boy. The druggish slipped on a dressing gown, went shivering down stairs and found the boy wanted two cents' worth of chewing gum.

"'It's like your cheek,' the druggist growled, 'to wake me up at this time of night for a paltry two cents' worth.'

"'Like my cheek, it is?' he said. 'Then I'll take my custom somewhere else. You can keep your chewing gum. I won't have it now, after your sauce.'

Store-competition is the mother of bargains.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FIGHT FIRE AT ORELAND

Cuyuna Range Town Is Menaced By Brush Fire Which Is Extinguished.

Many Miners Carry Household Effects Out Before Path of Flames.

Deerwood, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A big brush fire menaced the townsite of Oreland three miles south of here Tuesday and men and teams worked all afternoon beating back the flames and back firing.

Miners living along the Cuyuna Northern Railway company tracks carried out their household goods and stored them on the right-of-way while they fought the flames. The townsite at one time was in danger of extinction.

Crosby to Buy Hose.

The Crosby Commercial club and council are in favor of buying 1,000 feet of fire hose and of forming a volunteer fire department. It is also probable that $6,000 bonds may be issued to raise the necessary funds for equipment and a fire hall.

It is reliably reported that the Canadian Northern railroad which extends in a southwesterly direction from Deerwood and taps the Adams mine, will be extended six miles west in the direction of Brainerd, construction work to start within a short time.

The proposition to establish an independent school district in Deerwood was defeated 132 to 85.

FRIENDLESS ONES TO BE CONSIDERED

North Dakota Society to Meet at Bismarck in Annual Session.

Bismarck, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the North Dakota Society for the Friendless will be held here this afternoon and evening. Rev. E. A. Fredehagen of Kansas City, Mo., representative of the national organization, will be the principal speaker during the evening session. The afternoon meeting is given over largely to preliminary business.

F. E. Packard, vice president of the North Dakota society, will preside over tonight's session, and among the speakers will be Governor John Burke, Warden F. C. Hellstrom of the North Dakota penitentiary, Father Clemens, chaplain at the North Dakota prison, and Dr. Fredenhagen.

DEER RIVER LOSES PIONEER MERCHANT

Asa Brooks Who Built First Store in Itasca County Town, Dies.

Deer River, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Asa A. D. Brooks, the oldest inhabitant of this village died at the home of his son, P. R. Brooks, here at 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Mr. Brooks was 74 years of age last January, and was apparently well and hearty until seized with a stroke of apoplexy at 8 o'clock Monday evening. From that time until his death he was unconscious, being in that state twenty-seven hours. He came to Deer River and erected the first general store in 1893 and with his son conducted it until about seven years ago when he retired from active business. Up to a few years ago he was active in politics, being a strong Democrat and was for several years county commissioner.

Raised With Duluthian.

Asa D. Brooks was born in Woodstock, N. B., and has a brother and sister residing in York county, New Brunswick. He and G. G. Hartley of Duluth were reared in the same neighborhood. Mr. Brooks studied for a civil engineer and came West about thirty-five years ago and was for years bookkeeper and cruiser for the Day Lumber company. Service will be held from the residence today and interment will be made in the grave along side his wife at Grand Rapids. Besides the son, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Marr, who resides in Minneapolis.

CUTICURA OINTMENT HEALED BAD SORE

Scraped Flesh Off Bone Below Knee. Suffered So She Couldn't Sleep. Also Says: "I Believe Cuticura Soap is the Best Soap Made."

805 Lafayette St., Wichita, Kan. — "Some time ago I was coming up some steps when the board crushed under me like an egg shell, and my right limb went through to the knee, and scraped the flesh off the bone just inside and below the knee. I neglected it for a day or two, then it began to hurt me pretty badly. I put balsam fir on to draw out the poison, but when I had used it a week, it hurt so badly that I changed to ointment. That made it smart and burn so badly that I could not use it any more, and that was the fourth week after I was hurt.

"Then I began to use Cuticura Ointment for the sore. It stopped hurting immediately and began healing right away. It was a bad-looking sore before Cuticura Ointment healed it, and I suffered so I couldn't sleep from two days after I fell until I began using Cuticura Ointment.

"Cuticura Soap is the best soap I ever saw. I have used all kinds of soap for washing my face, and always it would leave my face smarting. I had to keep a lotion to stop the smart, no matter how expensive a soap I used. I find at last in Cuticura Soap a soap that will clean my face and leave no smarting, and I do not have to use any lotion or anything else to ease it. I believe Cuticura Soap is the best soap made." (Signed) Mrs. M. E. Fairchild, May 8, 1911.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on skin and scalp treatment. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

MARINETTE LAWYER NEW COUNTY JUDGE

JUDGE ALVIN E. DAVIS.

Marinette, Wis., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alvin E. Davis, a local attorney, who has been appointed county judge succeeding Judge W. B. Quinlan elevated to the Twentieth judicial circuit, is 41, and a native of Beaver Dam, Wis. He came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Davis, when he was 3 years old and has resided here ever since. Following his graduation from the Marinette high school Judge Davis attended the Weyland academy at Beaver Dam and later spent a year at the Chicago university.

Following a year spent in the law office of B. F. Simpson of Marinette, Mr. Davis attended the University of Wisconsin where he graduated in the law department in 1897. A few months later he entered into partnership with Attorney C. E. Nichols, the dissolution of that firm taking place about three years ago.

Judge Davis was married in 1899 to Miss Alice Bon Durant of Marinette. They have two children, James Bon Durant Davis, age 11, and Marion Davis, aged 6 years.

CROP CONDITIONS VERY ENCOURAGING

Prospects in North Dakota So Good, Fine Crop Yields Are Expected.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crop conditions have rarely been as satisfactory as at present over such a large portion of North Dakota. Heavy rains following a plentiful supply of moisture which fell toward the close of the last season, coupled with frost which went to a depth of eight feet in many localities, brought about the present satisfactory conditions. The large acreage already sown is showing up unusually good.

Conditions for the germination of the seed have been unusually good, and in many fields the grain already is up and is growing in good shape. Wheat seeding is drawing to a close throughout the Red River valley region, and in the middle and southern sections of the state, although there remains considerable of that grain to be sown in the northwestern and extreme western districts.

The amount of spring plowing that has had to be done in so many parts of the state, has had the effect of cutting down the wheat acreage in some districts, but the indications are that the total acreage will be greater because of the more extensive area under cultivation.

DEMOCRATS ARE VERY SANGUINE

Devils Lake, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democrats of the state will have a conference here next Tuesday when plans for the campaign will be gone over. The members of the party in this state are very sanguine and believe that with Wilson and Taft the respective presidential nominees, the New Jersey governor will carry the state. While the state Democracy is committed for Governor Burke for president, it is expected that after the favorite son has been complimented at Baltimore, the Flickertail aggregation will go to the New Jersey governor.

The conference is not expected to indorse any one for governor, the two known candidates at present being G. F. Jones and F. O. Hellstrom. It is reliably reported that Governor Burke will not consider a renomination.

Possible Congressional Candidates.

Congressional candidates in the three districts have not been selected, although several prospective ones have come forward in the three districts. In the First district, an effort was made to bring W. E. Purcell of Wahpeton into the race, but he has absolutely refused to be considered. V. R. Lovell of Fargo and J. F. T. O'Connor of Grand Forks are other Democrats in that district who have been considered and one of them may be selected.

In the Second district an interesting situation has developed. A. J. Minkler of Knox has been a candidate for the nomination for some little time, but his candidacy has not appealed particularly to the Democrats in the Southern end of the district, and some of them have made an effort to bring S. J. Doyle of Carrington into the race. So far he has not consented to make the fight, although he may yet be brought into the contest.

The Third district seems to be united on H. L. Halvorson of Minot as the candidate.

MARQUETTE MAN MAKES DISCOVERY

Produces Something Lincoln Wrote About People and Courts.

Marquette, Mich., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A member of the family of the Northern State Normal school, an interested student of current events, when he read what Robert Lincoln had to say about Col. Roosevelt's references to his father, Abraham Lincoln, as given in the dispatches, bethought him of a quotation attributed to Lincoln which indicates that Col. Roosevelt has more feeling for and understanding of the elder Lincoln's views on the subject of the courts and their decisions than Lincoln's own son.

It is found among a large number of Lincoln quotations printed in the Circle magazine, issue of February, 1909, or three years prior to the Columbus address of Col. Roosevelt. It is not stated on what occasion, or in what place, President Lincoln uttered the words attributed to him. But it is published along with a number of undoubtedly authentic quotations from Lincoln's writings and speeches, and as the debate that is now turning about his views had not then arisen there appears to be no reason why words he had not uttered should have been put into his mouth.

What Lincoln Thought.

These are his reported words:

"The people are the rightful masters of both congress and the courts—not to overthrow the Constitution, but to overthrow the men who pervert it. The candid citizen must confess that if the policy of the government upon vital questions affecting the whole people is to be irrevocably fixed by the decisions of the supreme court, the instant they are made the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned the government into the hands of that eminent tribunal."

AGAINST INITIATIVE.

W. C. T. U. Convention Expected to Rap That Idea.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Before the Grand Forks and Nelson County W. C. T. U. convention, which met here today, adjourns, resolutions will be introduced in opposition to the initiative and referendum, and judging from the action taken by the conventions in other sections of the state and by the state W. C. T. U. itself, it is expected that the resolution will be passed and these two counties will be actively in the fight.

CROSBY IN BALL LEAGUE.

Cuyuna Range Town Takes Staples' Place in League.

Brainerd, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crosby has joined the Central Minnesota Baseball association, taking the place made vacant by Staples' withdrawal. C. A. Lewis was elected a director to represent Crosby. George H. Crosby, the founder of the townsite, promptly wired $100 from his winter home in Pasadena, Cal., for the support of the team. Miners and business men have pledged themselves to finance the team and all are assured it will do much to advertise this energetic range town.

OBJECTS TO ISMAY.

Montana Town Proposes to Change Its Name.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—According to James A. Metcalfe of Glendive, Mont., who is here for the Methodist conference there is one town in Montana that believes there is something in a name.

The town is Ismay, Custer county, Mont., and according to Mr. Metcalfe it is probable that the name will be changed as a result of the criticism which has been directed against J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the line which owned the steamer Titanic

BOTTINEAU TEACHERS ARE HOLDING ANNUAL MEET.

Bottineau, N. D., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Bottineau Teachers' association began here today with an attendance of over 100 from different sections of the county. The program is exceptionally interesting, with rural school problems being given first place, and the work of the school officer is also being featured.

C. S. Torvend is the president of the association, and in an address this afternoon, he pointed out several important subjects for the consideration of the teachers. He dwelt particularly upon the topic of interesting the rural school children in farm life. Dr. J. M. Gillette of the university will be the principal speaker this evening.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is usually a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

WEALTHY FARMER WAS POISONED TO DEATH.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 2.—That A. J. Donahue, a wealthy farmer living near here died from strychnine poisoning, is the announcement made by Coroner E. W. Gilbertson, as a result of a report received from G. A. Abott, state chemist. Coroner's jury will make an investigation.

State Health Board Reorganized.

Pierre, S. D., May 2.—The state board of health was reorganized at the annual meeting here Wednesday, Dr. O. N. Hoyt of Pierre, being elected president. Dr. W. L. Vercoe of Whitewater, succeeds Dr. Hoyt as secretary.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

L'Anse—John P. Moran of L'Anse has entered into a contract with the Nester Lumber company to peel the bark off 3,000,000 feet of hemlock logs which are banked on Fall river. The logs will be towed to Baraga for cutting.

Manistique—Frank Wharfield of Manistique received the appointment as game warden for Schoolcraft county from State Game Warden Oates, at the recommendation of the board of supervisors. The appointment is a good one.

Negaunee—G. A. Tomlinson of Duluth, part owner of the Volunteer mine, and an associate of T. F. Cole, arrived in the city Monday night and spent Tuesday with Mr. Cole attending to business in the city.

Ishpeming—Plans are being made for a mass meeting for men in the Swedish Mission church on Sunday afternoon at 3:30, and one for women at the same hour in the English Methodist church. There will be a meeting for adults Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in the Swedish Mission church, and one for young people at the same hour in the English Methodist church.

Marquette—General Manager W. W. Walker and other officials of the South Shore railroad arrived in the city Tuesday evening in Mr. Walker's private car from St. Ignace and the Soo, having made an inspection of the company's road east of Marquette. They left later for Duluth.

Bessemer—A bank building costing $25,000 is to be erected by the First National bank here this summer. It will occupy the site of the old structure, which now is being demolished. The building will be 35 by 68 feet in ground dimensions and one and one-half stories high. It will be constructed of terra cotta stone.

Calumet—A total of $115 was collected among residents of Calumet for Mrs. Agnes Davies of Mohawk, one of the survivors of the Titanic calamity, through the agency of Alec Levin and John T. Rowe Friday and Saturday.

Hancock—Joseph C. Wareham has been appointed by the hospital committee of the county board, to be caretaker at the detention hospital, near Franklin. The appointment was tendered several days ago to George Higgins of Houghton, who declined it.

Calumet—After an illness of long duration, Howard W. Blue died Monday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Blue of Cemetery street, Hecla. The decedent was 24 years of age and was a native of Calumet. He was educated in the Calumet public schools and later was employed by the Western Express company, leaving that company to enter the employ of the Michigan Central at Detroit.

Houghton—The ordinarily simple operation for the removal of the tonsils proved very serious for William Barth, a clerk in the office of H. E. Stewart, general agent for the St. Paul road. Barth underwent the operation Sunday morning but the hemorrhage which followed was much more severe than usual and could not be checked until Monday.

Marquette—The Northern State Normal school was inspected Tuesday by the board of visitors named by L. L. Wright, state superintendent of public instruction. On this board are Frank Cody, principal of the Delray school, near Detroit, and E. D. Miller, assistant principal of the Detroit Central high school.

Ishpeming—I. A. Hooper, instructor in the commercial department of the Ishpeming high school for the last two years, has forwarded his resignation to take effect at the close of the present school year, to the board of education. Mr. Hooper will teach in the Northwestern Business college, Chicago, next year.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 5.

CONNECTION.

These two lessons are taken from separatod passages of Scripture, but they give needed views of the subject. The first part is a quotation of part of the Sermon on the Mount. It may mean spiritual as well as physical things. The parable of Lazarus follows the parable of the shrewd steward.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Opportunity of Privation. 20-26.

"And He lifted up His eyes on His disciples, and said: Blessed are ye poor: for yours is the Kingdom of God. Blessed are ye that hunger now: for ye shall be filled. Blessed are ye that weep now: for ye shall laugh. Blessed are ye, when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you from their company, and reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of Man's sake. Rejoice in that day, and leap for joy: for behold, your reward is great in heaven: for in the same manner did their fathers unto the prophets. But woe unto you that are rich! for ye have received your consolation. Woe unto you, ye that are full now! for ye shall hunger. Woe unto you, that laugh now! for ye shall mourn and weep. Woe unto you, when all men shall speak well of you! for in the same manner did their fathers to the false prophets."

There is a fourfold blessedness in all these forms of privation such as poverty of spirit and hunger for righteousness and sorrow and mistreatment for righteousness' sake, provided their spirits are right. They shall have the essential things, the kingdom of heaven, satisfaction for all their aspirations, joy higher than earth can give, reward in heaven for suffering on heaven's account; they are in the company of the noble of earth, for they have all had that experience; they shall have blessedness within themselves as a part of their natures and not in circumstances which may change; they have escaped very great dangers that beset those who have all they wish.

Against all this we must place the state of those who have all they wish, have set their hearts on it and have ignored God. Their gross belongings, their material satisfactions, their coarse pleasures and their popularity with those who applaud their sins and stupidities — all these things describe their tragical state. The opportunity of privation is to make it an occasion for culture and service.

II.

The Opportunity of Wealth. 19-31.

"Now there was a certain rich man, and he was clothed in purple and fine linen, faring sumptuously every day. And a certain beggar named Lazarus was laid at his gate, full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table; yea, even the dogs came and licked his sores. And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and that he was carried away by the angels into Abraham's bosom; and the rich man also died, and was buried. And in Hades he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom. And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am in anguish in this flame.

"But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and Lazarus in like manner evil things; but now here he is comforted, and thou art in anguish. And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, that they that would pass from hence to you may not be able, and that none may cross over from thence to us. And he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldst send him to my father's house for I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment. But Abraham saith, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them. And he said, Nay, father Abraham; but if one go to them from the dead, they will repent. And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, if one rise from the dead."

1. TEST.—Wealth never had a better chance and it all depended on the man who owned it. It could prove a blessing or a curse to him and to others. Its opportunity consisted in these facts: He had plenty; had a needy man at his very door, so that he didn't have to get out of his chair to see him; that man a beggar who had made known his wants; Dives could even see the dogs fighting for the crumbs thrown out and near them reclined the beggar; Lazarus was a God-fearing man and therefore worthy. The needy man attracts the eye, the heart, the hand. If wealth fails to do good in this case it is surely a very dangerous thing.

2. FAILURE.—The rich man didn't help Lazarus. Dives owned wealth for that purpose, but he failed to use it according to the eternal law of its nature and the command of God. It became a curse. He spend it all on himself, his clothes, his house and his table, in other words, on his body; not his soul nor the bodies of others; nor part on himself and some on others. It would have been right for him to have worn elegant clothes and had good food. But that is all he did with it. If it is come by honestly, it is not wrong to own it in abundance, but there is something more than the body, there are others besides ourselves and there is a life better than that of the body. It is neither an honor nor a dishonor to be either poor or rich, but it is an eternal dishonor to use either poverty or riches to minister to selfishness and beastiality. Riches may be made a great blessing; they are a trust to be used for others; they are a temptation to make us heartless towards others and to think ourselves better than they.

3. RETRIBUTION. — At death all was changed. The inner soul of each man got its proper investiture, one in the heaven for which he had longed, the other in the hell which he had been building into his own soul.

Follow Larasus. He didn't even have a burial to speak of; but he had an angel escort to the home prepared for him; he had that place for which all Jews longed, a place with the old patriarch. The figure was that of a feast. Reclining on the left arm, the one in front leaned back against the other, in his bosom.

Follow Dives. He had a great funeral and pompous burial. Then his soul got what it had been fashioning for itself. It had not learned to enjoy the good and he got it not; he had wronged another and must now suffer for it; he had violated the nature of wealth, which is designed to be a servant, and now nothing can buy the thing he most needs; he had gratified every bodily appetite and now he had a thirst nothing could relieve; he had killed his conscience and now conscience tortures him. He cannot repent, does not ask for a new heart, only asks relief. The relief cannot be given; it is firmly but kindly refused.

His interest in having his brothers warned is selfish. He was interested only in his own family, not in their salvation from sin and selfishness. but from "this place!" The reply shows that Moses and the prophets are enough of a warning for any one. Jesus has now risen from the dead to teach and warn and still people go on in sin and selfishness. No one has any excuse.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The word here rendered "purple" is used somewhat indiscriminately for different colors, but we at least may understand that it was one of those colors, the wearing of which indicated the highest degree of wealth and luxury. This rich man's crime did not consist in his wealth, but in the selfish, cruel heart which it covered.—Long.

He calls him Father Abraham, but we do not read that he ever said Brother Lazarus.—Browning.

The man who had lived so luxuriously now speaks of relief for his tongue, which had been gratified with dainties. This hints at the close connection between sin and its punishment.—Riddle.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What would you call the greatest opportunity of poverty?
2. What is the greatest peril of poverty?
3. What is the chief opportunity of wealth?
4. What is the chief peril of wealth?
5. What are the chief opportunities of wealth in our day?
6. How may we convert wealth today into higher values?
7. How does the present life determine our future?

WIFEY "SHADOWS" ERRING SPOUSE

Martin J. Bryan, Former Duluthian, Figures in Chicago Police Court Episode.

Martin J. Bryan, former city agent for the Wisconsin Central railroad in Duluth, figures as one of the principals in a police court episode at Chicago this week.

A Chicago paper tells a story of how an "across the hall" flirtation in a down-town office building had its ending in the Town Hall police station and of a sleuthing expedition which Mrs. Bryan conducted in running down her erring mate. The story follows:

"Mrs. Theresa Bryan, after a month or two of amateur but effective detective work, traced her husband, Martin J. Bryan, Friday night to a flat at 4543 Clifton avenue. She says he had left their residence at 5076 Kimbark avenue six months before and that she suspected the cause of his deserting her.

Sworn Out Warrants.

"She returned to Town Hall station, swort out a warrant for the arrest of her husband and of Miss Mary E. Reynolds, who was found later by the police in the flat with Bryan.

"Miss Reynolds is employed in the Hartford building, just across the hall from the office of Bryan, who is a cigar salesman.

"Bryan and Miss Reynolds were released on bonds. Both were indignant over their arrest and emphatically asserted nothing improper had occurred.

Denies Luring Him From Wife.

"'It is true Mr. Bryan has been rooming at my flat,' Miss Reynolds said. 'Why shouldn't he? I rent another room to a young woman who is employed in my office. I know nothing about Mr. Bryan, but he tells me he has not lived with his wife for seven or eight years. I have known him only one year. I am therefore not responsible for the fact he has deserted her if it is a fact.'

"Bryan said their arrest was spite work on the part of Mrs. Bryan. The latter's suit for separate maintenance against her husband, which she filed on Sept. 18, 1911, is still pending. She alleges desertion.

"'My husband deserted me and his home for this Reynolds woman,' she said when she applied for the warrant. 'I inquired around and found that they had been living in a flat on Clifton avenue for a month. I went there last night and waited until I saw them enter the flat together.'"

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs. Templeton—Regained Health through Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obatinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you needsuch a medicine?

DONALD GRANT HELD IN ERROR

Cement Company Bankruptcy Proceedings Dismissed By Court.

Chicago, May 2.—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, in United States court, has decided that the Yellowstone Portland Cement company, an Arizona corporation with a plant in Park county, Mont., was thrown into bankruptcy illegally. The court ruled that Donald Grant of Faribault, Minn., as an officer of the company, and the board of directors, had acted illegally in filing a voluntary bankruptcy petition without the consent of the sockholders. Judge Landis ordered the bankruptcy proceedings dismissed.

The ruling by Judge Landis was the result of action brought by stockholders who objected to the bankruptcy proceedings.

TOWING EMPLOYES BURNED TO DEATH

Oil on Water at Cleveland Ignites—Five Men Dead —Damage $450,000.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 2.—Five men were burned to death and damage estimated at $450,000 done to boats on the dock, when the Standard Oil barge No. 88 exploded late yesterday. The dead are:

LOUIS GALE.
FRANK GALE, his son.
FELIX BOUCHER.
NELSON LEVERE.
ALBERT MARQUISE.

All were employes of the Great Lakes Towing company.

The barge was being filled with gasoline from a 10,000-gallon tank on the bank. Leaking oil on the surface of the river was ignited and set fire to the barge. A terrific explosion immediately followed. The men killed were caught in the flames which spread over the surface of the river. No one was on the deck of the barge when the explosion occurred.

The burning oil set fire to other boats and the tug Wisconsin. The tugs Annia Martin and Pennsylvania, at the dock opposite the barge, were badly damaged. All belonged to the Great Lakes Towing company. Another barge belonging to the Standard Oil company was also destroyed. The Grassell Automobile company's dock, the Great Lakes drydock and the Standard Oil dock were badly damaged.

ARIZONA VOTES TO BE FOR TAFT

State Committee Sets June 3 as Date of Convention.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 2.—Action taken last night by the Republican state executive committee assures a solid Taft delegation from Arizona to the national convention, according to supporters of the president. By a vote of 9 to 3 the committee indorsed the administration of the president. The committee decided to select Arizona's delegates at a convention to be held at Tucson on June 3.

CLEAN SWEEP BY ROOSEVELT MEN

Old Pennsylvania Republican Leaders Stripped of Their Power.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 2.—The Republican state convention, under the leadership of Former State Senator William Flynn of Pittsburg, wrested control of the party machinery from United States Senator Boies Penrose, who had led the regular organization in the state since the death of Matthew Stanley Quay; named twelve delegates at large and twelve alternates, instructed to vote for Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican nomination; elected all progressive candidates picked in caucus by the Roosevelt delegates; named a new state chairman to succeed Former Speaker Henry F. Walton, and adopted a new set of rules to govern the party in the state. In fact, the Roosevelt faction made a clean sweep.

"Entitled to Everything."

"The majority is entitled to everything," said Senator Flynn when temporarily presiding while a minor contested seat case was before the convention, "and when a vote is a tie, the benefit of the doubt will be given to the Roosevelt men," he added amid cheers.

Senator Penrose, although a delegate, did not attend the convention, but his chief lieutenant, State Senator James P. McNichol, the Philadelphia leader, remained throughout, and saw his wing of the party shorn of power. "Good-bye Bill" he said as he shook hands with Flynn in the last moments of the convention. "Good-bye, Jim" Flynn replied. "You are a game sport. You have been shooting at others for so long I didn't know how you would take it."

HOME RULE DEBATE DULL.

London, May 2.—No great political project was ever debated in the house of commons with less display of interest on the part of the members, than the home rule bill yesterday. The speeches were delivered to a half-empty house. A few Irish priests were the only spectators in the gallery who appeared particularly concerned with what was passing on the floor. Even Tuesday's oratorical performances, in which Winston Churchill, who is rated as the most brilliant of the younger politicians in either party, was the star, created hardly any enthusiasm.

No more remarkable contrast than was presented by this exhibition and the fierce battles over the two other home rule bills, when statesmen like Gladstone, Parnell, Chamberlain and Hartington fought bitterly every inch of the ground and racial and party passions were stirred to the depths, could possibly be conceived.

One reason for this is the present new system, whereby the house of lords may prolong legislation over a period of two years, which postpones the critical stage of the measure. Another is the conservative opposition to the bill except on the part of the representatives of Ulster, which is generally lukewarm. Several members complained of the length of the speeches.

SOCIALISTS CONDEMN MEXICAN INTERVENTION.

San Francisco, Cal., May 2.—Resolutions condemning any Mexican intervention, were adopted unanimously by the state Socialist convention yesterday. On motion of J. Stitt Wilson, Socialist mayor of Berkeley, a resolution determining the relations of the Socialist party with labor unions was amended to provide for the granting of charters to labor unions as branches of the Socialist party.

Send for FREE Trial Package of TIZ Today.

"Your papa and mamma, your grandpa and your grandma all use TIZ, Harold. And you'll use it, too, when you get to be a man. Then your feet will never hurt, or get tired. That's why we all use TIZ."

Most of us get old, feet first. The bunions get stale, more wearisome and painful. Corns get harder and more stubborn as the feet become more tender. At a time when old people need their feet most they can use them less—unless they use TIZ.

If you have never used TIZ before, your first use of it will bring back some of your girlhood days. TIZ will make your feet feel young, strong and vigorous. They'll never be tender, never chafe or ache, never get blistered or swollen and your corns, bunions and callouses will be no more. Nothing will do it or can do it like TIZ. Don't experiment with other things; other people have done that for you and they are all now using TIZ. Don't accept any substitutes.

TIZ acts on a new principle—draws out all the poisonous exudations that make foot troubles.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, and recommended by all drug stores, department and general stores. Write today to Walter Luther Dodge & Co., 1223 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., for a free trial package of TIZ by return mail, and enjoy the real foot relief you never felt before.

RAILROAD NEWS

EXCHANGE OF TERMINALS

Canadian Northern and Northern Pacific Said to Have Agreement.

One Road Has Terminals at Duluth and Other at Winnipeg.

The Canadian Northern railroad may run trains from the terminus of its own tracks at Forty-ninth avenue west over the Northern Pacific tracks to Garfield avenue and from there over the Omaha tracks to the Omaha station at Fifth avenue west.

No confirmation of the reported arrangement can be obtained but recent developments indicate the success of negotiations to that end.

If the arrangements have been completed, Canadian Northern trains between Duluth and Winnipeg will be run at a much earlier date than would be possible, were it necessary for the Canadian Northern to construct its own terminals.

Negotiations for an interchange of terminal facilities at Winnipeg and Duluth were begun some months ago by officials of the Canadian Northern and the Northern Pacific. The terms of the negotiations were that the Northern Pacific would be allowed to run its trains into Winnipeg over the Canadian Northern tracks and the Canadian road would be allowed to use the Northern Pacific's terminal facilities at Duluth.

The Northern Pacific yesterday began to run its trains over the Canadian Northern tracks from Pembina to Winnipeg, so the negotiations, as far as the Winnipeg end is concerned, were successful. There is every reason to believe that arrangements were also mad by which the Canadian Northern will be allowed to use the Northern Pacific terminals here.

When negotiations between the two roads were opened, the work on the Canadian Northern terminals at West Duluth was suspended. It has not been resumed.

The plan of the Canadian Northern was to join with the Northern Pacific at a point where the Canadian road drops to the street at Forty-ninth avenue west, to run over the Northern Pacific tracks as far as Garfield avenue and then over the Omaha tracks to the Omaha station.

Whether that plan has gone through in its original form or has been altered during the course of the negotiations cannot be learned. The negotiations were conducted by the presidents of the roads interested and local officials profess to know nothing as to the outcome.

The plans for waterfront terminals at Forty-ninth avenue west will probably be carried out as intended by the Canadian Northern. The difficulty of obtaining an entrance to the central part of the city was a serious one. If it has been obviated, Duluthians may expect to see Canadian Northern trains running into one of the downtown stations within a short time, as the line of the road is practically completed as far as Forty-ninth avenue west.

Railroad Notes.

R. H Graham, a representative of the Southern railway, and J. T. Mudd, the Minneapolis representative of the same line, are in the city today. The Twin City offices of this road have just been in existence since April and these representatives of the road have been including Duluth in the passenger territory of the Southern since their invasion of the Northwest.

George Lovell, traveling passenger agent of the Wabash is in the city today.

W. H Stephenson, traveling freight agent of the Lehigh Valley, is here today, looking up freight business. Mr. Stephenson says the freight receipts of the Western railroads are increasing.

Receivers for Moffatt Road.

Denver, Colo., May 2.—Judge Harry C Riddle of the district court has appointed D. C. Dodge and S. M. Perry receivers for the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific railway (Moffatt road.)

ORE CASE WILL BE ARGUED FRIDAY

Great Northern's Distribution of Ore Certificates Is Attacked.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The suit of Clarence H. Venner of New York against the Great Northern to annul the distribution of iron ore certificates among the stockholders of the railroad company, will come up tomorrow before the state supreme court. Arguments will be made on the appeal from the ruling of Judge Bunn in the district court denying demurrers of the defendants.

Mr. Venner, who owns 300 shares of Great Northern stock, filed his suit against the Great Northern on May 7, 1907. He holds that its charter does not permit it, through the Lake Superior company or the other subsidiary companies, to hold mining lands, mines, or real estate.

UPHOLD SCHOOL HEAD.

Rhinelander Superintendent Sustained for Making Boys Work.

Rhinelander, Wis., May 2. — The school board has sustained Supt. F. A. Harrison in his acts which resulted in the strike of the junior class last week, and the boy who attacked Harrison remains suspended for two weeks. As punishment for the striking juniors, Harrison made them saw wood, work on streets or perform some other task he set for them. All the juniors but the one are now back in school.

GRASSTON DOCTOR IS HELD TO GRAND JURY.

Pine City, Minn., May 2.—Dr. Francis Ilstrup of Grasston, was bound over to the grand jury by the justice court here this week, charged with manslaughter. He is charged with performing a criminal operation upon Mrs. Johanna Anderson of Isanti, Minn., who died in the University hospital, Minneapolis, Sunday, from the effects of the operation. Charles Nelson of Grasston is held as the man in the case.

SERVICE IS IMPROVED

Duluth Will Have Direct Connections With Coast Service.

Great Northern Also Installs New Train to Twin Cities.

After years of agitation Duluth is to have direct railway connection with the Pacific coast.

It was announced today from the local passenger office of the Great Northern railway that, starting Sunday, train No. 36 will leave Grand Forks, N. D., after the arrival of the Oriental limited there from the West, arriving at Duluth at 8 o'clock each morning and making direct and through connections with the Pacific coast. Formerly the train did not wait for the Oriental limited and passengers either stayed in Grand Forks all night or went around by St. Paul.

This move upon the part of the Great Northern will do away with the going around by way of St. Paul, and also grants one of the traffic demands that the city of Duluth has made for many years.

In addition to the placing of the train from Grand Forks in direct connection with the Oriental limited, it was also announced that next Sunday a morning train from Duluth will leave here daily at 7:25 a. m. reaching Minneapolis at 12:30 and St. Paul at 1 p. m. This train will run via Cambridge and will make all stops.

Returning this train will leave St. Paul at 2 p. m. and will arrive at Duluth at 6:55 p. m. There will be new equipment throughout the train, the makeup including observation, buffet, parlor and smokers.

The afternoon train from the Twin Cities will only make three stops—Cambridge, Hinckley and Sandstone, and will come by the direct short line route, instead of the old round about way. This is a new train.

Officials of the local office of the Great Northern stated that the change of the running time of the Grand Forks train will probably mean that much travel will come direct through from the coast to the Head of the Lakes. Under the old system of the time card practically all of the passenger traffic from the coast that came to Duluth, did so via the Twin City route.

This change is one of the most important concessions the Duluth traffic commission has secured on passenger service.

The day express from Grand Forks that at the present time arrives here at 6:55 p. m. will, starting Sunday, arrive at 6:20 p. m.

GEORGE CROSBY'S FARM.

Duluthian Establishes Experimental Farm Near Range Town.

Crosby, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crosby Experimental farm, to be conducted by George H. Crosby of Duluth, is beginning to take form.

A large consignment of apple trees has arrived and are being set out near the lake shore, just east of town. A large field is also being prepared for the planting of different kinds of roots and cereals.

ROOSEVELT MAY COME TO TALK IN MINNESOTA.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 2.—Col. Roosevelt saw no visitors yesterday. He spent most of the time out of doors, enjoying one of the few days which he has had for riding and tramping through the woods during his campaign.

He will remain in Oyster Bay until late today, when he will leave for two days of campaigning in Maryland. Plans for the remainder of the campaign have not been completed. He expects to go through Ohio and New Jersey and probably Minnesota and South Dakota.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF THE— GLEASON ORE DEVELOPMENT COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota of 1905, and to that end we hereby make and adopt the following certificate of incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of the corporation shall be the GLEASON ORE DEVELOPMENT COMPANY.

The nature of its business shall be the mining, smelting, reducing, refining or working of copper, iron or other ores and minerals, and the marketing of the product thereof; the buying, working, selling, leasing and dealing in mineral lands; and the transaction of all other business necessarily incident thereto.

The corporation may transact said business in any of the United States.

The principal place of business of the corporation shall be at Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The period of duration of the corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the persons making and adopting this certificate of incorporation are:

Michael Gleason, Gladstone, Michigan.
Hugh B. Laing, Gladstone, Michigan.
Napoleon La Pine, Gladstone, Michigan.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

ALL OVER the country interest in the coming Olympic games is beginning to boil. International games have done much to stimulate renewed interest in track and field athletics in many countries of the world, but as the dear old U. S. A. has won all of the Olympic games it can be truthfully said that the interest is the greatest in this land of liberty and the high tariff. Just now we are cleaning house and are looking for the best athletes from ocean to ocean, which is quite a stretch of territory. Judging from the material in sight the games to be held in Sweden will furnish the excuse for the American contigent in the stands at Stockholm to make a lot of noise and to wave a lot of little flags.

There is Mel Sheppard, and Mike Sheridan, and Ralph Rose and Jimmy Rector of the last victorious team, and there are some young athletes coming to the front that promise to make the team under the charge of Mike Murphy the strongest that has ever represented this country.

Horine, the coast jumper, is one of the new men who has been focusing the gaze of the athletic world. This boy is said to have cleared the bar in the running high jump event at the unheard height of six feet seven inches. Cary, the Annapolis sprinter, is another of the younger athletes who is spoken of as a probable point winner in the coming games.

For years America has held the supremacy in the field of athletics. Only in the distance events has any country been able to defeat us. In Mike Ryan we have a young Turk whom we expect to carry off the Marathon race. Since the revival of the ancient idea of the Olympic games this country has paid more attention to the distance events, with the result that we have a number of crack runners who are able to make great time above the mile mark.

John Paul Jones and Mel Sheppard should take care of the half and mile marks, for the young Cornell runner, Jones, you know, is said to be the greatest runner since the days of Tommy Conneff. If your memory goes back to one September day in 1895, you will recall that it was Conneff, the great little Irishman, who won both the mile and the three-mile events. Some record, eh, for one afternoon!

Some of the sharps are saying that John Paul Jones will come mighty near taking both the half and mile events. With Mel Sheppard in form, the young collegian will have to go some to cop the half mile event.

We have the greatest athletes in the world, and we have the greatest training system in the world, not to mention the greatest trainer in the world—so we really ought to win. If we don't—gosh, there will be a lot of disappointed Americans.

IF SOME of the other clubs in this city, or even the city of Duluth had the spirit that animates the Adams Athletic association, there would be more doing in various lines of activity around the Head of the Lakes. Since its organization this club has gone out and hustled. It has won championships in about every line of sports and now the members are hustling for a new membership increase, with the chances that they will get what they go after. The construction of the proposed new clubhouse will be a credit to the triple "A" forces and also will be a credit to the West end. Since entering the local field the Adams boys have made local sport history. The spirit of get there has been exemplified on football and baseball field, on the hockey rinks and on the bowling alleys. All of which goes to show what hustle will accomplish.

JOHNSON, that's all. The Idaho wonder has scored three shutouts so far the present season. Somewhat different from the start the able swede made last year. In a way, thinking only of the fame that would come to Johnson, it is too bad that he is not on one of the great teams of the country. You might put it a different way and say that it is really a suffering shame that there are not more great players on the Washington team.

Mathewson, Brown, Bender, Walsh and the rest of the great pitchers of the past have made their records with pretty good teams. Johnson is beginning to be acknowledged the greatest pitcher in the land and the sweat of his labors has come in the vineyard with sluggish brothers pulling with him. Aye, verily, the heft of the burden has fallen on the shoulders of the Johnson boy.

With New York, Philadelphia or Pittsburg this man would come mighty near to breaking all the records that have been made by pitchers within the past decade. A man has to be pretty good to win with Washington behind him, for it is like swimming against a tide with the proverbial mill stone around your neck.

PAL MOORE was badly beaten by Jack Brittan. Another flower has wilted. Brittan is the boy who claimed he could beat Packey McFarland. Jack likes to argue. Dick Hyland also beat Matty Baldwin. When is comts down to the last call for the kale it will be Packey and Adolph.

LITERARY effort—because in most cases it is—has become one of the fads of the leading players. Christy Mathewson, it is said, has learned to play the typewriter, and that is surely a sign that the papers are using a lot of his stuff. If he wrote poetry or philosophy a pencil that was seldom sharpened would fill his needs, if not his stomach.

Eddie Collins is also hammering out some stuff. Cy Young is another of the athletes bold who is reading stuff in the papers with his name signed at the head. Joe Tinker occasionally breaks in. Chauncey Colton also used to write articles.

WITH the retirement of Frank Chance from the playing side of baseball goes one of the gamest men who ever kicked the mud out of his spikes. He was also one of the grandest players that the game ever produced. Around the National league circuit there is genuine regret that so fine a chap as the big leader of the Cubs should be forced to hang up his suit.

FIVE PITCHERS FAIL TO STOP INDIANS.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—After using up five pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the onslaught of the Indianapolis batters, St. Paul nearly won yesterday's game by a remarkable batting rally in the last inning in which Hixon, who had weakened in the seventh and eighth innings, was driven from the slab. St. Paul scored four runs in the last inning on a triple, four singles, a base on balls, and a sacrifice fly. With two on bases, Block flied out and Laroy struck out, ending the game with the score 9 to 7 in favor of Indianapolis. Gagnier's drive in the sixth mashed Karger's finger. Autrey made a wonderful one-hand stop of Woodruff's liner in the third and beat his man to first. Score:

LIEBHARDT HOLDS BREWERS TO ONE HIT.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—Not a hit was made off Liebhardt until one man was out in the ninth, when Charles hit a perfect single to right for the only Milwaukee hit of the game. Daugherty pitched splendid ball, but two scratch hits mixed with Miller's double in the seventh gave the leaders two runs, enough to win 2 to 0. Leibold's perfect throw from deep center doubling Miller at third, was the biggest feature of a brilliant game. Score: R. H. E.

MILLERS WIN IN THE FOURTEENTH.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—Minneapolis won a hotly contested 14-inning game from Louisville yesterday when Clymer tripled and scored on Williams' drive to the fence in the final round. Olmstead pitched fine after the second inning, while Northrup, who relieved Nagle in the second, blanked the locals for eleven innings. Altisey and Stanley were features of the contest which lasted more than three hours. Score: R. H. E.

UNITED STATES LEAGUE STARTS

New Organization Gets Under Way By Playing Four Scheduled Games.

New York, May 2.—The United States league got under way yesterday, all of the teams of the new league playing their scheduled games. Not until the new organization actually started its playing season would some of the fans, and particularly the men engaged in baseball, believe that the men behind the United States league would succeed in placing teams in the field.

The men behind the league say that the season will be completed and that next season the organization will be taken seriously as one of the real contenders in baseball. Players have been recruited from the ranks of some of the semi-professional teams, as well as from some of the big league teams, though in the latter case most of the men are players who have seen their best days.

As an experiment the career of the United States league will be watched with a great deal of interest. Should it succeed in interesting the enthusiasm of the fans in the various cities, as the magnates are confident it will, the United States league will be taken seriously as a baseball proposition.

Following are the scores of the opening games:

At Cincinnati—Cincinnati 4; Chicago 5.

At Richmond—Richmond 2; Washington 0.

At Pittsburg—Pittsburg 11; Cleveland 7.

At New York—New York 10; Reading 10 (10 innings, darkness).

FARGO PLANS FOR PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL.

Fargo, N. D., May 2.—Information from W. F. Price that Fargo is cut from the Central International league seems a certainty for this year at least, but this will not hinder the Gate City fanatics from seeing a first-class article of the national pastime as the Fargo professionals will continue in the game and give the lovers of the classy diamond game just what they want.

Secretary Jack Grant of the professionals has a schedule of thirty games which take in the fastest teams in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana. Games have been booked with Ferry Werden's Minneapolis All-Stars, the colored Gophers, the fast Alexandria team, last year champions of Minnesota. Other games are hanging fire and will be booked in a few days as Secretary Grant was up in the air just what to do when the talk came about over league ball again.

O'BRIEN BELIEVES SOX ARE STRONG

McGraw, Meneice, Kuehn, Leber, Sours, Bruf, Dophain, Erickson, Hossman, Johnson, Worman, Smith, Byers and Vic Olson, the latter a local man, are the candidates for the Duluth baseball team. Kuehn is a former Minny leaguer, as is Sours.

A game was scheduled for today with the Superior Red Sox at Superior, but rain has prevented the contest. Weather permitting the teams will get together tomorrow.

Yesterday O'Brien stated that he thought he had a fairly strong team. Weather prevented the men getting out to the ball field. Johnson and Worman are doped as the mainstays of the pitching staff.

SCHEDULE WILL BE SUBMITTED

At the meeting of the Duluth and Superior baseball league representatives, scheduled for this evening at the Northern Hardware company's store on Superior street, the schedule of the league is expected to be tentatively submitted and the definite decision made as to the number of teams there will be in the league.

With the Jeffersons, Duluth Heights, Sodality, Blue Bells and E. M. Stones of Duluth and the Binghams and Temos of Superior anxious to come into the league, it is expected that one more team will be admitted, making the league an eight-olub organization.

The schedule is expected to start a week from Sunday. Most of the teams mentioned above have been practicing when the weather would permit in preparation for the first game.

MURPHY CHOOSES HELPER.

Martin Delaney Will Assist Mike With Olympic Athletes.

Chicago, May 2.—Martin Delaney, athletic director at the Chicago Athletic association and coach of the Cherry Circle track and field team, will accompany the American Olympic track and field team to Stockholm this summer. Delaney received his appointment from James E. Sullivan, chairman of the committee which has charge of the selection of the American team.

Although Mike Murphy of the University of Pennsylvania has been selected as trainer and coach, Sullivan thought it advisable to add the local man to the coaching staff. Aside from Murphy and Delaney, it is said Lawson Robertson of New York also will assist in the development of the team. Delaney says he does not know just what his duties will be but thinks he will have charge of the men selected from the central west.

Everett C. Brown, chairman of the finance committee in the central west, called a meeting of the committee yesterday to discuss plans for raising more funds and to secure reports from the various members.

FLYNN LEAVES FOR TRAINING QUARTERS.

Chicago, May 2.—Jack Curley last evening posted with Al Tearney $1,100 to defray Jack Johnson's training expenses for his fight with Jim Flynn at Las Vegas, N. M., July 4.

Flynn and Curley left here this morning for Montezuma, N. M., where the Pueblo fireman will do his training. They expect to arrive there in a week, making stops at Denver and Pueblo. Two of Flynn's trainers, Tommy Ryan and Howard Morrow, will be in the camp May 15. James J. Corbett and Tommy Burns will arrive during the last week in June. Flynn now weighs 210 pounds.

Work on the arena, it was said here today, will begin as soon as Curley arrives at Las Vegas. The plans, said Curley, were for 30,000 seats.

SMALL STEEL WAR.

German Syndicate Partly Disintegrated By End of Agreement.

Berlin, May 2.—The great German steel syndicate, controlling the competition of German steel works by a system of production quotas, all but collapsed. The agreement formally expired at midnight Tuesday but the members disregarded the clock and succeeded in preventing a general steel war, though only among the first group, comprising manufacturers of rails, ties, structural steel and half rolled steel.

Fargo professionals will continue in the game and give the lovers of the classy diamond game just what they want.

An attempt to regulate the production of the second group, which manufactures steel bars, plates, tubing and wire stock, which the syndicate formerly controlled by restricting the quotas of raw material to be used at each factory, was abandoned, and a price war is expected at the end of three months, by which time the present contracts of the several factories will have been completed.

SWEDES WILL HAVE CHARGE OF OLYMPIAD

New York, May 2.—James E. Sullivan, secretary of the American committee, has received many inquiries in relation to the management of the Olympic games at Sweden, and also as to the management of the American team, and he officially stated that the fifth Olympiad will be absolutely in charge of the Swedish Olympic committee. This committee has arranged all the details for the games, and is responsible for same. The actual management of the different sports has been delegated to sub-committees appointed by the governing sporting associations of Sweden. Each country is entitled to enter twelve men in each event, and in team events one team. This Swedish Olympic committee recognizes as a "nation" any country having separate representation on the International Olympic committee, or where no such representation exists any group considered a nation at the last Olympic games will be considered such at these games.

The participation of the United States in the Olympic games is controlled absolutely by the American Olympic committee, and the entries from this country must be made through this American committee. The entries for each particular branch of sport controlled by a governing body must be vouched for by that governing body, and must be sent through the American Olympic committee. The Swedish Olympic committee reserves the right to refuse entries witnout being bound to give reasons for its decision. It was furthermore agreed when Sweden was designated as the place for holding the fifth Olympiad that only Swedes will officiate at the different branches of sports. That was the agreement made, but the Swedish Olympic committee may appoint foreign judges for certain events if it may be deemed necessary. There will, however, be a court of appeal, in the shape of international juries, which will be composed of representatives from the nations taking part in the games. All protests with regard to a competition must be handed over by a member of the jury acting for the competition to the president of that jury.

Mr. Sullivan furthermore stated "that the American Olympic committee must understand that, according to the regulations of the Swedish Olympic committee, they can, if necessity arises, make changes in the program and rules, and, furthermore, if disputes arise as to the meaning of any certain point in the program, rules and regulations, the Swedish version alone is official."

"It is clearly set forth," Mr. Sullivan said, "that no appeal whatever can be made concerning the decisions of the judges on matters of fact, but for the different branches of sport international juries, consisting of, in all, from five to nine representatives of 'nations' taking part in the games, will be formed by the Swedish Olympic committee to act as a court of appeal in questions arising from the interpretation and application of the rules governing the games, and protests against the decisions of the judges in questions not connected with matters of fact shall be placed before the president of the jury of the competition in question by a specially appointed member of the Olympic committee of the country concerned, or by a person empowered to act on his behalf."

REMAINS IN CONFERENCE

Minnesota Faculty Committee Claps Lid on Student Agitation.

Means Passing of the University's Great Football Teams.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The faculty committee on athletics at the University of Minnesota in session yesterday afternoon decided that Minnesota should remain in the Western athletic conference. This practically settles the question, and puts a stop to the agitation which has been attracting the attention of the students and friends of the university for several years.

After a long period of dissatisfaction on the part of the students in the way their sports were handled under the conference, and with all hopes of efficient teams and prospects of victories in the future exploded by the enforcement of the rules of that body, the students expressed their opinion as being unfavorable to remaining in the conference. A petition to that effect was sent to the faculty committee, which dictates Minnesota's policies, with the result that the petition was not granted.

Session With Faculty.

A delegation from the students' council and from the students' board of control met with the faculty council, presented the petition and gave the views of the students upon the subject. Bernard Vaughan, editor of the Daily, who has been behind the movement on the part of the students, was quizzed at length by the faculty, as were the other students. After a discussion lasting over two hours, the following petition was passed:

"At a meeting of the faculty council committee on athletics held Wednesday, April 24, 1912, the following resolution was offered and unanimously passed:

"Resolved, That we do not think the best interests of intercollegiate athletics at the university will be served by Minnesota's withdrawing from the Western intercollegiate conference."

No reasons were given for such action, but it is understood that statements will be officially made later. While the visiting students were instructed that everything said at the meeting was confidential and not to be disclosed, yet the explanation was given out that the faculty, while wishing to give the students a square deal and respecting their wishes, do not believe that the students are well enough informed upon the question to make such a decision, and that if they knew the situation better they would not take such a step. Furthermore, there are many diplomatic situations existing that cannot be made known to the students, and it is on account of these secrets that the above decision was reached.

This action is bound to meet with a great deal of criticism and disappointment, not only among the students but among all followers of university sports. The students see no other way out. A football team cannot be organized under the present eligibility rules, and football will meet the fate of baseball. Furthermore, what there is about athletics that demands diplomacy and secrecy is beyond comprehension, say the students. It is the consensus of opinion that Minnesota has seen the last of her great football teams.

LAWN TENNIS RANKING COMMITTEE IS NAMED.

New York, May 2.—To comprise the ranking committee for the coming season, the United States National Lawn Tennis association last night announced the appointment of Miles Scharlock of the West Tennis association chairman, G. T. Adee, of the Country club, Westchester, secretary, and Charles M. Bull, Jr., of the Crescent Athletic club. These appointments were passed by Robert D. Wrenn, president of the association and of the executive committees.

Another appointment of importance announced is of a committee to make a revision of the constitution and by-laws of the association. This committee includes Henry W. Slocum of the Rockaway Hunt club; Ward C. Burton of the Minnetonka Yacht club, Minneapolis; Raymond D. Little of the West Side Tennis club, Lyle F. Mahan of the West Side Tennis club and Palmer E. Presbrey of the Longwood Cricket club, Boston. The work upon this matter is to be carried forward at once. The majority of the members are practicing lawyers.

WINNERS IN THREE BIG MINORS MAY MEET.

San Francisco, Cal., May 2.—Cal Ewing one of the owners of the San Francisco baseball club in the Coast league, sent letters yesterday to the heads of the International league and the American association inaugurating a movement to have the pennant-winning teams of the three leagues in question, meet in California after the close of the respective seasons and determine by a series of games the championship team of the three "class A" leagues.

Postponed Games.

New York, May 2.—President T. J. Lynch of the National league announced today the following dates for playing off postponed games:

Brooklyn at Philadelphia (2) game of April 29.

June 29 (2) Brooklyn at Philadelphia, game of April 30.

July 1 (2) Brooklyn at Philadelphia, game of April 27.

Aug. 28 (open) Boston at Brooklyn, game of April 22 (previously bulletined by mistake as double-header for Sept. 7.)

Indian Ball Team.

Ashland, Wis., May 2.—Capt. A. C. Anson of Chicago, a veteran baseball player, and J. H. Carlin of Ashland, are arranging the organization of a baseball team to be composed of Indian players residing on the reservations of Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. They expect to tour the country later in the season.

Strikes Out Twenty Men.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 2.—In a seven-inning game on Ferry field yesterday between freshman and sophomores of the engineering school, George H. Sisler, freshman, from Akron, Ohio, struck out twenty men. He gave one base on balls and hit one batter. Only one ball was hit fairly during the game and that a fly to center which was muffed by the fielder. Six balls were hit foul.

New Brewers.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 2.—Manager Hugh Duffy of the Milwaukee association team yesterday signed Pitcher Bruce Noel and Outfielder Capron of the Pittsburg National league team.

Miller vs. Lindsley.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 2.—Walter Miller of St. Paul, claimant to the welterweight wrestling title of the world, was matched last night to meet Henry Lindsley of this city here May 9.

Wants to Compromise.

Chicago, May 2.—Another attempt was made today by Jack Johnson, champion pugilist, to obtain an amicable settlement of the charge that he smuggled a $6,000 necklace into this country. The necklace was seized by federal officers some time ago and Johnson was directed to pay its value and a $3,600 penalty to the government.

The pugilist today deposted $4,000 in the sub-treasury and asked the district attorney to accept that sum as a compromise. The offer was reported to the secretary of the treasury at Washington.

ON THE IRON RANGES

WARDEN HAS GREAT LUCK

Range Guardian of Fish Gathers in Aggregation of Lawbreakers.

Some Chisholm Men Are Punished Along With Other Offenders.

Chisholm, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Game Warden Wood has just made a great roundup of illegal fishermen in Sturgeon, Round and Dewey lakes catching not only men charged with violating the fishing laws but gathering in some local people accused of buying fish illegally taken. A large amount of nets and other illegal fishing paraphernalia were also confiscated. Judge Masters here in court did the rest by assessing fines in keeping with offenses charged.

John Berglund and Louis French were fined $100 each for illegal fishing, their nets being confiscated. As they could not pay the fine they were taken to the county jail for ninety days.

Fined for Buying Fish.

Charles Olson, who runs the Central hotel and saloon, was fined $25 and costs for buying fish illegally taken.

William Beckman was fined $100 and costs for netting in Round lake.

Carl Rudolph was fined $50 and costs for buying fifty white fish illegally taken. J. Bernstein was fined $100 on a similar charge.

Oscar Jacobson was fined $100 and costs for using two nets in Dewey lake, but this sentence was later suspended.

VIRGINIA MINES ARE ALL WORKING

Different Properties About Range City Are Being Started Up.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver Iron Mining company is working its full quota of men in this district. Shipping has commenced from shafts Nos. 1 and 2 at the Alpena mine, also from the Norman. The Norman mine lease, it is understood, will terminate within a year and on this account the mine will be kept continually active during the present season.

The Republic Iron & Steel company's Union mine probably will become a shipper this season. The Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company is constructing a spur track to this property. The Roberts & Kingston company has charge of operations. Two shovels are stripping.

The Silver mine is making preparations for an active season. Open pit operations at the Alpena mine are expected to commence soon. Stock piling has been going on all winter at one of the shafts.

The Commodore of the Corrigan McKinney company has one shovel in ore and another stripping. The Lincoln mine of the Interstate Iron company is loading from the shaft.

GREAT NORTHERN WILL OPEN MINE

Section 27, Near Chisholm, to Be Stripped for Active Mining.

Chisholm, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern railroad is making ready to start active operations on section 27, adjoining the Monroe mine here. The company will strip the property this year and mine iron ore next year.

The tract of land has been estimated to contain between 300,000 to 500,000 tons of high grade ore and is one of the richest deposits on the Mesaba range. Up-town offices will be opened and several hundred men employed in the stripping operations. This news is hailed with general delight here as it will mean the addition of several hundred men in the stripping and mining operations.

Harry Infeldt, who has been in charge of the Great Northern station here for a number of years, has been transferred to Virginia, for which place he leaves Saturday. Harry Ingbretson, formerly local agent will succeed Mr. Infelt here.

Home Is Destroyed.

A dwelling belonging to Mary Rojaelch, located at the Hill location, on the east shore of Longyear lake, was entirely destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon. The fire department responded promptly but the building is situate beyond the water protection zone and the department could do little. Insurance to the extent of $550 was carried and is said to have started from the cook stove. A high wind was blowing at the time and other property on the hill side was threatened for a time.

W. E. Carpenter, connected with the Monroe mine for the past eight years, has been granted a vacation and left Wednesday for his former home in England, where his father still lives. Mr. Carpenter intends to spend some time in Ireland and Scotland and return here in October.

"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Duluth Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

When your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
When urinary troubles set in,
Your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sick kidneys.

Local evidence proves their merit.

Mrs. A. Christianson, 2529 W. Second St., Duluth, Minn., says: "About two years ago I had kidney trouble, in fact, I had noticed symptoms of it for several months. I did not pay much attention to the matter until I knew that I could not neglect it any longer. My back was so weak that I couldn't lift anything and all the strength seemed to leave my hands and arms. I was in bad shape when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills but was surprised to find that they helped me at once. After taking the remedy two days, my back was as strong as ever and my kidneys were normal. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and when I have used them, they have done good work."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NO COMPROMISE WITH VILLAGE

Alice and Scranton Mining Company to Continue Court Fight.

Hibbing, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prospects for a settlement of the difficulty between the village of Alice, near here, and the Scranton Mining company are rather slim, judging by the report made by Village President Nelson at the council meeting last night.

The mining company has tied up the hands of the village officers with an injunction to prevent the issuance of $100,000 in bonds for improvements, claiming the village was illegally organized and the issue is out of reason.

Compromise Is Sought.

The village sought a compromise and the mining company finally agreed to drop the proceedings if the people would be satisfied with an issue of $45,000 in bonds. The village asked to increase the amount to $75,000. The company demurred, according to the report made by President Nelson last night, so the fight in the courts will probably continue.

R. Walsh was given a license to run a saloon in his 20-room hotel. No opposition developed, on the contrary a petition signed by forty asked that the license be granted.

Agent Moran of the Great Northern in Hibbing appeared before the council in regard to request that the Great Northern build a depot at Alice and stop trains there. He said he doubted about there being sufficient business there for that, but promised to take it up with the officials as perhaps an arrangement could be made for stopping trains.

DULUTH DOCTOR GIVING EVIDENCE

Medical Men Say Accused Murderer Acted as Though He Were Poisoned.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Drexler was "doped" when he killed Axel Pakkala in the latter's saloon here last December, according to the claim on the stand of the accused, who is being tried here for murder, and in the opinion of doctors who have been called by the defense. Drexler said he knew nothing about the shooting, his mind being a blank from the time he took a drink over Pakkala's bar until he came to in jail.

Dr. Charles A. Stewart of Duluth asserted on the stand that Drexler acted like a man under the influence of chloral or belladonna poisoning. Dr. H. E. Webster, former health officer of Duluth, was also called as an expert on the effects of liquor and drugs on the human system and mind.

Andrew Drexler of Chicago, father of the accused, testified that John had never been a bad boy and was always of a cheerful disposition and had never been quarrelsome. Other witnesses, including a barber who shaved Drexler the evening before the Pakkala murder, testified that the defendant was normal up to a short time before the shooting.

FISHERMAN DEMENTED.

Two Harbors Man Is Ordered Sent to Asylum.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—After an examination before the judge of probate it was ordered yesterday that Ole Johnson, a fisherman, be returned to the Fergus Falls asylum, where he was once confined.

DULUTHIAN RE-ELECTED HEAD OF CONFERENCE.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—The Lake Superior district conference held here decided before adjourning to continue range missionary work under Rev. Mr. Thomberg.

The following officers were elected: Rev. J. J. Daniels, pastor of the Swedish Mission church of Duluth, re-elected president; Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom of Swedish Mission church of West Duluth, secretary; D'a Johnson of Duluth, treasurer; Rev. P. B. Wellander of Superior, Wis., elected member of the district.

MISSISSIPPI BRIDGE BIDS ALL REJECTED.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 2.—At a joint meeting of the town board of Grand Rapids and the commissioners of Itasca county all the bids submitted for the construction of the proposed bridge across the Mississippi river on the west line of the village of Grand Rapids were rejected and the county auditor was instructed to readvertise for bids.

The bridge will be built jointly by the town and county, each paying half the cost of construction, which will approximately $20,000.

MUCH ELY ORE BEING SHIPPED

About 10,000 Tons Going to Two Harbors Dock Every Day.

Ely, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—About 10,000 tons of ore are leaving Ely yards daily. For the first week of the shipping season this is considered to be good. It is expected that there will be a rapid development. The general sentiment in Ely that this is to be one of the busiest seasons is shared by those in a position to pass judgment elsewhere.

It is understood that the Duluth & Iron Range are preparing to handle a large amount of ore and are anticipating an even better season than was experienced in 1907.

Heavy 1912 Shipments.

It is reported that the Oliver Iron Mining company, which owns the chief ore producers here, among which are some of the best iron mines in the world, proposes to ship about 5,000,000 tons from this section this year, an amount far in excess of former year's shipments. It is expected, if this is done, there will be a material increase in mine forces and in the number of ore trains on the Iron Range road.

EVELETH STREET IS GIVEN PRAISE

Hibbing's Mayor Pleased With Splendid Appearance of Grant Avenue.

Eveleth, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — Mayor H. R. Weirick, Dr. Blacklock and two other doctors were here from Hibbing Tuesday in an automobile and incidentally to inspect the brick paving on Grant avenue. Hibbing business streets are to be paved this year and the mayor expressed a strong liking for the kind Eveleth has. Mayor Weirick said that with the smooth, clean surface of the brick, the white way, the new drinking fountains, and the removal of all poles, Eveleth's main business street, presents the finest appearance of all the business streets of the several range cities.

He thinks it would have been a mistake to have the street cars run on Grant avenue, thus spoiling all the fine improveemnts that have been made.

SALOON KEEPERS ARE GIVEN "TIPS"

Told By Eveleth Judge to Close Promptly or Something Would Drop.

Eveleth, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — At the instance of one of the members of the Civic league, all of Eveleth's saloon men were on the carpet yesterday to listen to a little "curtain lecture" from Judge Moylan.

The citizen did not make any formal complaints, but it is understood that it is the desire of the league that the 11 o'clock closing law be enforced, and if the liquor dealers take the judge at his word, that he is "in office to do his duty without fear or favor," the "lid" will be on henceforth, the same as it is at Virginia.

OVERSEER IS HURT.

Marble Man Thrown Against Wheel During Runaway.

Marble, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—While returning from work on the township road Monday evening, John O'Riley's team suddenly became frightened and without warning Mr. Vanhorn, highway overseer, was thrown against the rear wheel, which hurled him to the ground and ran over him. Nell Bluntach, driver of the Nicholas team, picked him up and brought him home. Dr. Gilbert was immediately summoned and after a thorough examination, found no internal injuries, but his right leg, hip and back were badly bruised.

TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS.

International Falls Appropriates $375 for N. M. D. A. Meeting.

International Falls, Minn., May 2.—The city will assist in the entertaining of the Northern Minnesota Development association, here in June, $375 being appropriated for that purpose Tuesday night by the council.

McDonald brothers were granted two licenses.

The appointment of a city attorney was laid over.

A special election for an amendment to the city charter will be held June 4, according to the decision of the council.

Alderman John Infelt's request to be allowed to operate a slaughter house at the rear of his meat market was tabled. There is a city ordinance prohibiting the maintaining of such public nuisance.

The sum of $175 was appropriated for uniforms for the city band.

HOUSE-KEEPERS IN DULUTH PLEASED

Every cook in Duluth is delighted with the rich, nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" macaroni and spaghetti. Even people who never liked these foods say they could eat "Minnesota" macaroni every day.

Good macaroni and spaghetti are easily digested and they are always appetizing because they can be prepared in so many different ways. They are fine for children—making their bodies strong and healthy, and they give grown people the power of endurance without overtaxing the stomach.

But if you want that rich, nut-like flavor be sure and get the delicious "Minnesota" brand macaroni or spaghetti—made from the finest Northern Durum wheat, with all the nourishing Gluten left in. It is easily digested and never gets soggy. All good Duluth grocers sell it.

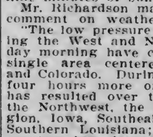
H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.



If the weather man has anything more disagreeable than a spring fog in his collection of afflictions, let's have it. We may as well know the worst at once. The air is saturated with moisture. It has been thus since early last evening and will probably continue to be thus for the next thirty-six hours or so. The weather man is in a tearful mood. The mist has come; next the deluge. Cheer up, Eveleth, the sun is shining somewhere.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:50 and it will set at 7:19 this evening, giving fourteen hours and twenty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low pressure conditions overlying the West and Northwest Wednesday morning have consolidated into a single area centered over Nebraska and Colorado. During the last twenty-four hours more or less precipitation has resulted over the extreme West, the Northwest, the Lake Superior region, Iowa, Southeastern Texas and Southern Louisiana; besides the temperature has risen somewhat over the Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio valleys. The easterly movement of the Nebraska-Colorado disturbance will be attended by rather strong northeasterly winds and showery and probably foggy weather at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 2. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan — Unsettled with local showers tonight or Friday.

Wisconsin — Unsettled and probably occasional showers tonight or Friday; cooler Friday.

Minnesota — Unsettled weather and probably occasional showers tonight or Friday; frost in north and west portions tonight.

North and South Dakota — Generally fair and cooler tonight and Friday; probably frost tonight.

Montana — Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler in east portion tonight; frost tonight.

Iowa—Unsettled weather with probably showers tonight or Friday; cooler Friday and in west and central portions tonight.

Upper Lakes — Moderate winds, mostly easterly; unsettled weather with showers tonight or Friday.

FRIENDS SURPRISED.

Eveleth Couple Married in Duluth, Unknown to Range Acquaintances.

Eveleth, Minn., May 2. — (Special to The Herald.) — Miss Harriet St. John and Oscar Birkholz, who were married Monday at Duluth, by Rev. Father Floyd, sprung a surprise in Eveleth where both were well and favorably known. The young couple went from Duluth to New Auburn, Wis., for a short honeymoon, after which they will settle in the Canadian Northwest. Miss St. John was for a long time the chief operator at the Eveleth exchange and Mr. Birkholz was a salesman at the Gleason hardware store.

WIDOW CONDOLED.

Marble Church Expresses Sympathy for Mrs. J. A. Roberts.

Marble, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — At the third quarterly conference at the M. E. church Saturday evening Dr. E. K. Copper, district superintendent, complimented the young people in their league and Sunday school work. He said the reports were the best he had received on the entire district. The quarterly conference authorized Earl Garinger, secretary, to write a letter of condolence to Mrs. J. A. Roberts of Duluth, widow of the late J. A. Roberts D. D., who organized the Methodist Sunday school at this place less than three years ago.

ELY MUCH INTERESTED IN RAILROAD RUMOR.

Ely, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report that the Canadian Northern railroad may build a line into Ely is arousing the interest of people throughout this section for many miles. William J. Ross of Fort William, a railroad builder, is agitating it. The Fort William Board of Trade have taken formal action for the short line between that city and Duluth, and those interested in mining property throughout the Vermilion range are also joining in the request. Predictions are freely made that steps will be taken during the year to build the proposed line from Ely to Gunflint, which would reduce the distance between Duluth and Port Arthur many miles.

VIRGINIA WOMAN'S CLUB HAS ELECTION.

Virginia, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following are the officers of the newly organized Woman's Progressive club: Mrs. Douglas Greeley, president; Mrs. W. A. Field, vice president; Mrs. O. P. Johnson, secretary; Mrs. F. D. Bidwell, treasurer. Other ladies who attended and became members at the first meeting held are Mesdames Lafayette Bliss, C. C. Butler, G. A. Capstick, S. J. Cusson, A. De Noble, C. T. Eckstrand, T. W. Lusk, M. H. McMahon, A. L. Murkley, Alexander Reid, C. H. Rogers, W. H. Flehr, Clarence Mickelson, A. Stevens, A. B. Holley, and the Misses Genevieve and Gertrude De Noble. It is expected that the club membership will be increased to 100.

Library Board Organized.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library board last night was organized. President Thomas Owens was reelected as were all the other officers. They are: W. B. Woodward, vice president and Lillie M. E. Borreson, secretary.

HOUNDS NOT NEEDED

To Locate Doctor Missing From Ishpeming, Mich.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 2.—C. Edgerton of Petoskey, Mich., arrived in Ishpeming Tuesday afternoon accompanied by some bloodhounds that were to have been used in the search for Dr. A. P. Marshall, who strayed from his home here Sunday, but who was found Monday evening at Cascade Junction.

B. J. Goodman, Dr. Marshall's father-in-law, had engaged Mr. Edgerton to bring the hounds here, and they had left Petoskey some hours before the receipt of the telegram announcing that the missing man had been found.

EVA IS BACK FROM EAST

Industries Now Located in Maine May Come to Duluth.

Secretary H. V. Eva of the Duluth Commercial club returned today from a trip to the East. He represented the Commercial club and the Duluth board of trade at the meeting at Washington April 22, at which the chamber of commerce of the United States was organized. Representative C. B. Miller and C. E. Richardson of Washington a non-resident member, also represented the Commercial club.

"I believe the national chamber of commerce will be a great power for good," said Mr. Eva today. "Nearly every commercial organization of any importance in the country was represented and all were heartily in favor of the organization. Concerted action on important matters can now be obtained from the business and civic organizations of the nation and the co-operation made possible is something that has long been needed."

After the meeting at Washington, Mr. Eva visited Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Portland, Me., and Montreal. He went up into the northern part of Maine and interviewed officers of two or three business interests which are thinking of locating in or near Duluth. He reports that his interviews were satisfactory and new industries for Duluth may be the result.

Mr. Eva says the East is badly torn politically and great interest is being taken in the campaign, especially on the Republican side. Taft and Roosevelt supporters are to be met everywhere and the sentiment is such that the East cannot be said to favor either man. Both have strong support.

In Montreal the bitterness aroused by the reciprocity contest has not died down and the Canadians seem to favor Roosevelt in preference to Taft. Taft's stand on reciprocity has aroused sentiment against him in the anti-reciprocity sections of the dominion.

ASSESSORS MUST REGISTER VOTERS

Efforts for Rehearing on North Dakota Court Decision Prove Futile.

Bismarck, N. D., May 2.—The supreme court has denied the petition of Attorney General Andrew Miller for a rehearing on the assessor's registration law.

Mr. Miller contended that he had some new points to offer which would show that the law requiring voters to register their party preference with the assessors was unconstitutional. The supreme court heard Miller's arguments a few days ago and today decided against a rehearing.

With this decision, the last hope of preventing the new law from taking its course goes glimmering and the assessors must register the voters.

FLIES INTO HOME.

Partridge Enters a Home at Rockland, Mich.

Rockland, Mich., May 2.—A partridge flew through the front window and storm window of Richard Chynoweth's house here the other day and fell into a rocking chair, where it died. The shock of striking the window with terrific force killed the bird.

Boy Injured by Ball.

Mapleton, Minn., May 2.—John McNamara, Jr., was operated upon at the hospital at Rochester for removal of a blood clot on the brain, caused by being hit on the head by a baseball. He is a member of the graduating class of the local high school and resides in Medo.

Bury Hayward Pioneer.

Hayward, Wis., May 2.—The funeral of William Biegler, for thirty years a resident here, who helped build the town, and who died recently at Aberdeen, S. D., while there on a visit, was held Monday, under the auspices of the Masons.

MOVEMENTS UNCERTAIN

Brokers Scarcely Know Whether to Put Wheat Up or Down.

Changes Are Mixed—Flaxseed Market Holds Steady—Offers Less.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 2.—Movements of wheat on the North American market were unsteady and uncertain today. The markets did not by any means pull together. Duluth May wheat closed ½c lower but July was unchanged. Minneapolis May closed higher and July lower. Chicago May was unchanged and July lower. Winnipeg was considerably lower on both options. Duluth cash wheat closed ½c over the July option. Rye was unchanged to 1c lower. Oats closed ¼c lower. Durum closed 1c down. Duluth May flax closed unchanged but July lost ½c.

The wheat markets of North America were somewhat bearish this morning. The primary receipts showed a considerable increase over those of a year ago and the crop reports were such as rather to moderate the general opinion of the damage to winter wheat than to increase it. Moreover, the foreign reports were for the most part such as to favor the bear side of th emerket.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.13⅜, opened today at $1.13¾ and at noon was quoted at $1.13⅛@1.13⅜ bid. There were lower quotations also at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Liverpool wheat closed today ¾d to 1½d lower. Wheat was beared on that market by lower and heavy Platte offers, the general expectation of larger Argentine shipments, the pressure of India wheat offers and the opening of the Dardanelles.

Flaxseed Dull and Steady.

Offers of flaxseed were lighter on the Duluth market today. There were 18 cars on track, however. The demand was readily adjusted to the offers and prices remained at $2.16½ for May wheat, being unchanged at noon. July, however, was 1c lower at $2.12. News from the foreign markets was a little bearish. May flax at noon was down ½c at $1.94 bid. Buenos Ayres May closed last night at $1.70⅞ or 3¾c lower. London Calcutta May and June closed today at $2.19½, being 1¾d down.

Inglis says: "Marion, Rice, Harvey and McPherson counties, Kan., will have but half a crop."

Peoria, Ill., wires: "While there is likely to be a pretty large acreage of corp this year on account of the plowedup wheat land and the late oats seeding, it cannot be, from present prospects, so large as was expected earlier in the season, because of higher water in every place, which will put thousands of acres of fine bottom land out of the running for the season. The Illinois river and streams tributary to it are higher than for years in the month of May."

Minneapolis reported a good general milling demand for cash wheat. Shipping directions on flour were very good today. Old orders were being cleaned up rapidly, but new business continued limited.

"Bordulac, N. D.—There is a 10 per cent shortage in the spring wheat area. There is too much rain."

"Farina, Ill.—Winter wheat is 30 to 35 per cent plowed up. There is an increase in the oats acreage."

"Jackson county, Kan.—A quarter of the wheat acreage is abandoned and the balance shows a condition of 50. There is plenty of moisture and the ground is in good shape."

"Balton, Mo.—No corn is planted yet. Wheat prospects are improving a little. The acreage of oats is small."

"Pontiac, Ill.—It is too late to seed all the oats. Plowing is done for corn. Wheat is all frozen out."

The Cincinnati Price Current says: "The previous discouraging information regarding the winter wheat crop is confirmed in regard to the territory east of the Mississippi river. However, if seasonable conditions should attend the progress of the other crops, taking the place of the lost wheat area, the final outcome will be modified. There is a good start in the spring wheat of the Northwest. Canada is almost devoid of discouraging features. A large American total wheat crop cannot be expected, although the average yield may be approached. Oats generally are making a good start where the seeding is completed. Corn planting is being retarded by wet weather."

H. F. Diffenbaugh wired from Kansas City: "Weather and soil conditions are perfect here. The minimum Kansas estimate is 90,000,000 bu., with Texas, Oklahoma and Nebraska almost perfect."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Kansas Crop Report Puts Wheat on Downward Trend.

Chicago, May 2.—Wheat prices took a downward course today as a result of the bearish nature of the Kansas crop report. The condition of growth shown and the acreage abandoned were both less in favor of the bulls than had been expected. Furthermore, Liverpool sent predictions of heavy Argentine shipments. There was also word from Minneapolis that the decrease in spring wheat planting in the Dakotas and Minnesota this year would not exceed 5 per cent, whereas estimates had been over double that proportion. The opening was ¼@⅜c to ¾@⅞c down. July started at $1.10⅝ to $1.10½@1.10⅝, a loss of ⅛c to ¼@⅜c, touched $1.10⅝ and then sagged to $1.10¼.

A rally ensued on account of estimates that the winter crop would be only 358,000,000 bu against 431,000,000 bu a year ago. The effect, however, did not last. Closing figures were nervous, with July ½c net lower at $1.10½@1.10⅝.

Corn displayed a firm tone. Offerings were light and commission houses appeared to have plenty of buying orders at a trifle under the market. July opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 77⅞c to 77⅝c, and rose to 78c.

Subsequent reports that Iowa farmers were selling more freely eased the market. The close was steady at 77½@77⅝c for July, ¼@⅜c under last night.

Liberal buying on the part of a prominent house helped oats advance. The action seemed to be largely in sympathy with corn. July started ¼c lower to a like amount up at 54c to 54¼c, and reached 54¼@54⅜c.

Weakness at the yards reflected itself in the provision market. There was a large run of hogs west. Initial sales varied from last night's level to 15c below, with September options $19.35 to $19.40 for pork, $11.22½ to $11.25 for lard, and $10.62½ to $10.65@10.67½ for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 2.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 1@6 points and during the early trading sold 4 to 8 points net lower with the near months relatively easier under offerings of yesterday's liquidation. There was a good deal of covering at the decline which carried the market into new low ground for the movement as well as considerable buying for a reaction and the market rallied to about the closing figures of last night before the end of the first hour.

Trading was much less active than yesterday and the market appeared to be nervous and unsettled.

Spot closed quiet and unchanged. Middling uplands, 11.40; middling gulf, 11.65. Sales, (delivered on contract) 12,300 bales.

Futures closed firm; bids: May, 11.06; June, 11.06; July, 11.16; August, 11.19; September, 11.14; October, 11.23; November, 11.24; December, 11.32; January, 11.27; February, 11.17; March, 11.35.

UNDERTONE IS FIRMER

Stocks Are Stronger and Large Blocks of Steel Absorbed.

Rise in Canadian Pacific Is Feature of Early Trading.

New York, May 2.—Stocks had a generally strong undertone. The feature was Canadian Pacific, which opened with a gain of 2¾ points and strength was shown by Lehigh Valley, New York Central and numerous industrials. United States Steel opened with a block of 6,000 shares at 71⅞, as against 70⅛ at yesterday's close.

The early rise was followed by some declines, notably in Canadian Pacific and the market assumed a more irregular tone. Reading, which was not quoted in the initial dealings, held barely steady, with narrow fluctuations in other leaders, but before the end of the first hour prices hardened generally. Sears-Roebuck, National Lead and Norfolk & Western registered gains ranging from 1 to almost 4 points.

The market increased its firmness of undertone in the second hour although dealings continued very moderate. Professional traders again took the bull side. Reading was the most active issue with another smart advance. Other standard railway shares, and some others of less importance, were strong. American Tobacco and allied shares moved in a contrary direction, presumably in connection with rumors that the senate resolutions to review the American Tobacco case would surpass the lower house. American Tobacco fell 3, Lorillard, 4, and Liggett & Myers, 5 points. Bonds were steady.

Speculative interest was concentrated in a handful of stocks, but their action had no effect on the general market, which was extremely sluggish. Large blocks of United States Steel were absorbed, sending it up to 71½. Reading and American Can also sold higher than in the morning, the latter touching 41.

Business fell off progressively and prices improved, and although certain stocks loomed into prominence at intervals, the general movement was uninteresting. New York Central, Consolidated Gas and Rock Island were among the issues that attracted some speculative support.

The market closed irregular. Reading encountered stock at 177⅞ and receded a point, checking the rise in other active stocks. Meantime various specialties were rising vigorously, including American Beet Sugar, American Cotton Oil and Bethlehem Steel.

One Hundred Times Its Cost! That's What a Herald Want Ad Paid an Advertiser Every Day for 3 Years. Here Is His Letter:

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 11, 1911.

Busines Manager, The Duluth Herald:

Dear Sir:—You may be interested in knowing that a short want ad which I have been running in The Herald every day for three years at a total cost of $72 has given me a profit of more than $8,000.

I know that advertising in good newspapers pays, but I think this must be the record for advertising results in Duluth.

Yours very trnly,

MORE LEVEES BREAK; ANOTHER LOUISIANA TOWN IS IN DANGER

Nothing Can Save Bayou Sara From Being Swept By Flood.

Water at Torras Is Near Tops of the Telegraph Poles.

Scores of Lives Are in Peril From the Onrushing Floods.

Baton Rouge, La., May 3.—The Mississippi river protection levee in front of Bayou Sara, La., broke at 11 o'clock. According to the report here there is no chance to save the town from inundation.

Immense Damage Done.

New Roads, La., May 3.—The yellow waters of the Mississippi river today are sweeping through a 1,000-foot breach in the levee at Torras in ever-increasing torrent. It is difficult to estimate the financial loss which must come to the whole of one parish—Pointe Coupee—and parts of several others, but it is certain to be hundreds of thousands of dollars. The sugar cane, cotton, rice and corn crops, which were well advanced, will be a total loss, and the loss of livestock will be heavy.

Torras was practically cut off from wire communication last night, the water having buried the cross-arms on the telegraph poles.

Special trains were run from New Roads to a point near Torras last night to bring out refugees. Hundreds of people forced from their homes were picked up at several stations and brought to New Roads, but many refused to leave, preferring to take chances with the water. In every di-

SHOOTING UP OF COURT PLANNED?

Floyd Allen Charged With Deliberate Intent to Murder.

Wytheville, Va., May 3.—Witnesses for the commonwealth in the Floyd Allen case today continued to tell of the shooting up of Carroll county courthouse. The prosecution is endeavoring to prove not only that the accused shot and killed Commonwealth Attorney Foster, but that he and his fellow clansmen had previously conspired to murder court officers and jurors if he should be convicted of the offense for which he was about to be sentenced to a prison term when the shooting began. Indications are that the trial will run well into next week, as there are many witnesses to be heard.

Attorney Willis, for the defense, claimed that reports of the tragedy have been grossly exaggerated, and said he would introduce testimony to show that Bettie Ayers was killed by a bullet from Clerk Dexter Goad's revolver and not by the Allens. The defense would show, he said, that Floyd Allen had been wounded before he had taken part in the shooting.

SHIP'S SPEED LOOKED INTO

Warnings of Presence of Ice Also Are Being Asked About.

London, May 3.—The attorney general, Sir Rufus Isaacs, today addressed the Titanic commission which is investigating the loss of the liner, setting forth the facts as understood by the government, and laying special emphasis on the evidence that a speed of twenty-one knots was maintained after the warnings of ice ahead had been received, right up to the moment of collision.

The whole of the forenoon session was taken up with his statement, which brought out little that had not been already developed at the senate inquiry at Washington. The attendance of spectators was small. A group of sailors, survivors of the tragedy, who arrived here on the Lapland from New York and had been subpoenaed to testify, were objects of interest.

Union's Lawyer Admitted.

When the court opened, Lord Merzy, who heads the commission, granted permission to President Lewis of the Seamen's union and to an attorney for the Imperial Mercantile guild to participate in the proceedings. The union is a new organization composed of 4,000 Southampton sailors. Two hundred and twenty-eight of its members were employed on the Titanic, and of these only

ROBBED BANK TO BUY A SALOON?

Grand Rapids, Mich., Man Is Arrested in Chicago.

Chicago, May 3.—Fred Sobie, cashier of the Kont State Bank of Grand Rapids, Mich., who is accused of having stolen $3,000 of the bank's funds to purchase a half interest in a saloon here, was arrested last night. George Williams, of whom Sobie is said to have purchased the property, also was detained. Sobie was arrested as he stepped from the train.

TAFT ALTERNATES WIN IN MASSACHUSETTS PRIMARY

Petitions for Recounts Will Delay Issuing of Certificates.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—The filing today of petitions for primary recounts may delay until June the issuing by the secretary of state of the certificates of election to the Republican and Democratic delegates to the Chicago and Baltimore conventions.

Petitions for recounts were filed by the Taft managers in nearly all the cities and large towns. Recounts were also asked in many of the congressional districts, and by the Roosevelt delegates in the Eighth and Tenth districts, where the press returns gave Taft the delegates by narrow margins.

No state-wide effort was made by either the press or the campaign managers to tabulate the vote for alternates, but in this city returns from 206 of the 207 precincts showed the Taft alternates-at-large received 11,548, while the alternates who were designated as "for Roosevelt" polled 10,327. Yet the Roosevelt delegates at large polled 834 more votes than those pledged to President Taft.

Taft won the preference in Boston by 510 plurality.

Washington, May 3.—Senator Dixon, Col. Roosevelt's campaign manager, today made the following statement:

"After going over the entire New York situation yesterday with National Committee Ward and other Republican leaders in that state, I am positive that at least twenty-one of the New York delegates will vote for Roosevelt on the first ballot at Chicago, and from present indications this number will be largely increased before June 18."

CONGRESS IS WORRIED

Bill to Regulate Liquor Traffic in Washington Causes Trouble.

Sudden Assault of the Reformers Precipitates an Unpleasant Fight.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many things worry the Washington congressman which the country at large does not get so wildly excited about. Here, for instance, comes along a new law for the regulation of the liquor traffic in the District of Columbia. Contrary to the usual practice this measure was introduced in the senate, passed and sent over to the house. This is a violation of precedent, a beastly project to make trouble for members of the house who have already troubles of their own. From time immemorial the house has been passing anti-liquor bills with the serene confidence that the senate would kill them—and the senate always did until about four years ago, when the house bill prohibiting the sale of liquor in the capitol building was gleefully passed by its enemies in

BIGGEST VESSELS BUILT IN MICHIGAN

Washington, May 3.—Ship-building in the United States during April amounted to 25,764 gross tons. In all 171 vessels were constructed, the largest being the Calcite of 3,996 tons, built at Wyandotte, Mich., and the Bayamon and Yaguez, both of 2,551 tons, built at Ecorse, Mich.

Recommend Modification of Methodist Discipline to Conference.

Opposition to Change Begins to Appear at Minneapolis Meeting.

Return to Pastoral Time Limit Also Recommended--Secretary Wilson Scored.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The American people are too far advanced longer to be restricted by church rules as to what their amusements shall be. The rule prohibiting dancing, card playing, gambling and going to theaters, circuses and horse races therefore should be abolished."

This is the gist of a report presented today to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by the board of bishops.

In recommending the radical change in the discipline, the twenty-four active bishops stipulated that the church should not be indifferent on these subjects, but that the people should be left to judge for themselves what is right and wrong in selecting their amusements, having before them only the injunction of John Wesley, which forbids "the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

"Turf and Stock Market."

The bishops declared the church reiterated its opposition to theater-going and gambling, but the rule in force since 1872 could not fix a point between "the turf and the stock market."

The bishops' report was delivered by Bishop Earl Cranston of Washington,

GOVERNOR WILSON AT HOME, SICK

Members of Family Deny It Is Physical Breakdown.

Trenton, N. J., May 3.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, is confined to his home at Princeton, suffering from a cold, but was reported better today. He has, however, cancelled his engagement to address the New Jersey Bankers' association at Atlantic City tonight.

The governor's ailment is in the nature of influenza. Members of his family say they expect him to be out in a day or two and ridicule the report that he is suffering from a physical breakdown.

Governor Wilson has no immediate speaking engagements.

REALIZES SENTIMENT AGAINST IT

Says He Is Not "Bulldozed" Into It By Morning Paper.

News Tribune's Venom Has Made It Difficult to Do Right.

Had No Appointment With Committee and Was Treating Charity Case.

Duluth, Minn., May 3, 1912.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

"Dear Sirs: I have determined to veto the resolution authorizing the transfer of the T. Pinsonnault liquor license from 1920 West Superior street to 2403 West Superior street on the ground that it is very plain that the people of that section of the city do not want it, and that their wants should govern.

"I wish to make it clear, however, that this action is taken not because of the bulldozing methods of the Duluth News Tribune, but in spite of them. In fact, it must be very clear to any disinterested person that it is the hope of the News Tribune that I will not veto this attempt to force a saloon into new territory against the wishes of the residents of that territory, in order that it may continue the vicious personal attack it has been making upon the administration. That is made plain by the fact that it did not wait to find out what I proposed to do, or even to get an inkling of my attitude or intention, but began a personal attack upon the mayor, and took snap judgment upon him, before he even had time to give the matter the consideration that every official act, however small, should have.

"Now it will have to find some other basis for abusing the mayor because of his failure, before election and since, to bump his forehead on the floor in the editorial and managerial sanctums of the News Tribune.

"The people of the West end are entitled to have their will in this matter, because the residents of any locality should have their say in any matter that is purely of local concern. I shall veto this resolution, therefore, though the venomous malice of the News Tribune has made it difficult for a man to do it and hold his self-respect. I should resent its tactics more than I do if I did not realize that the public is well acquainted with the practices of the News Tribune, and with the fact that there is no public purpose which it does not subordinate to its own greed, ambition or private vengeance. Respectfully submitted,

"J. A. McCUEN,
"Mayor."

Mayor John A. McCuen will veto the resolution of the council transferring the saloon license of T. Pinsonnault from 1920 West Superior street, to 2403 West Superior street.

The above statement from His Honor was filed with the city clerk this afternoon, and it explains his attitude on the question.

He supplemented his statement to

ROOSEVELT ON THE MARYLAND STUMP

Tells People He Is Entitled to Votes From All Parties.

Salisbury, Md., May 3.—Col. Roosevelt carried his fight for the presidential nomination into Maryland today, beginning at Salisbury. He spoke to several thousand persons at an outdoor meeting and received a cordial greeting.

Col. Roosevelt said he felt he had the right to come to this part of the country to make his appeal, as he believed the present contest to be greater than a mere party struggle, and that it was one in which he was entitled to the support of the men of all parties. He repeated his statement that the present campaign was a "straight lineup" between the political bosses and the people.

The colonel left Salisbury by special train for the remainder of the day's tour, which will take him through Eastern Maryland to Wilmington, Del. From Wilmington he was to go to Havre De Grace for a speech and thence to Baltimore to make an address tonight. He is to remain over night in Baltimore.

TRY TO SHOW CRANK TRYING TO GET TO PRESIDENT TAFT

Washington, May 3.—A motion picture plot, to show a "crank" attempting to reach President Taft, was nipped in the bud at the White House this morning. A squad of picturemen walked into the White House grounds, accompanied by a venerable-looking individual with a long white beard. They set up their apparatus in front of the main entrance to the White House and the white-bearded stranger started up the steps.

Policemen on guard intervened before the picturemen could begin business. The operators explained that they were seeking to get a realistic exhibition of a crank trying to enter the White house. The actor would have been turned back at the door and the picture machine would have taken in the interesting proceedings following his attempts to get into the White House.

The picture men pleaded that the play be allowed to continue, but the White House authorities refused.

DULUTH RATE CASE ARGUED

Last Appeal to Commerce Commission Made for the City.

Unfair Discrimination in Favor of Twin Cities Is Shown.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 3.—The last stage of the argument of the Commercial club of Duluth to secure more favorable rates to Duluth from the Atlantic seaboard, prior to a decision by the interstate commerce commission was reached today when arguments were submitted to the full commission. The Duluth Commercial club in its complaint alleges that the present rates from Atlantic seaboard points are too high in and of themselves; that the differential of through shipments between Duluth and the Twin Cities and other interior points is unlawful and is a discrimination against Duluth jobbers.

Francis W. Sullivan submitted the argument on behalf of the Commercial club. Mr. Sullivan discussed all the phases of the situation as it applied to Duluth and the Twin Cities, and contended that the entire system under which the present rates were fixed was not in accordance with present transportation conditions.

One point upon which Mr. Sullivan laid much stress was the trunk line monopoly, which controls all traffic on the Great Lakes.

John I. Dille appeared for the Twin Cities, C. C. Wright for the Chicago & Northwestern road and Ernest S. Bowers for the trunk lines and the lake lines.

The decision of the commission will probably not be rendered for a month or more.

GREAT NORTHERN ORE CASE HEARD

Supreme Court Gets Appeal From Order Overruling Demurrer.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The suit of Clarence H. Venner against the Great Northern railway to nullify the distribution of ore certificates among stockholders of the company, came before the state supreme court today, in the form of an appeal from an order of Judge Bunn, overruling the demurrer of the defendants. James J. Hill, Louis W. Hill, J. N. Hill, Walter J. Hill and other officers are made defendants in the action as well.

The brunt of the New York stockholder's complaint is that the Great Northern, under its charter, did not have the right to acquire mining and other properties, and that the distribution pro rata of the certificates by the iron ore trustees to the railroad stockholders was illegal.

The defendants claim the transactions were legal, and that Venner has no right to complain because these deals were all consummated before he became a stockholder.

HE LOVES "ANY PLACE THAT IS WILD," HE SAYS

JOHN MUIR.

When John Burroughs celebrated his 75th birthday in April, one of those who called to congratulate him was John Muir, that other nature lover. A few days later Mr. Muir celebrated his 74th birthday. He, like Mr. Burroughs, still is in the prime of mental life. Mr. Muir has just published a work on "The Yosemite," which is perhaps one of the most interesting of his pen productions. The story of his advent in San Francisco is characteristic. Arriving by steamer from Panama, he inquired the nearest way out of town. "But where do you want to go?" was the answering query. "To any place that is wild," said Mr. Muir. And was set down promptly for a lunatic. Mr. Muir has been seeking the "any place that is wild" all his life and his writings have brought the wild spots with all their native beauty into the minds and hearts of hundreds of thousands of his fellow Americans.

MANY BONDS ARE SEVERED

Two Judges Hear Divorce Actions in District Court.

Infidelity, Drunkenness and Desertion Are Grounds for Decrees.

The divorce mill is still grinding in district court. Judges Ensign and Dancer were busy yesterday afternoon and today hearing tales of unhappy married life and signing decrees dissolving the marriage tie.

Yesterday afternoon, Andrew J. Walker was granted a divorce by Judge Dancer from his wife, Sarah J. Walker on the grouns of infidelity. He is 34 and she is 31. They were married in Michigan in 1902 and came to Duluth in February, 1911.

Walker testified that his business as a timber cruiser took him out of the city a great deal of the time and that during these intervals his wife was untrue to him. He claimed that on one occasio nshe was ejected from her rooms in the Lowell block for disorderly conduct. Attorney M. M. Forbes represented Mr. Walker in the action. Mrs. Walker made no appearance.

Ella Virtanen, aged 23, was given a legal separation by Judge Ensign from her husband, Anton Arvid Virtanen, 28, yesterday afternoon. They were married at Nornarku, Finland, on July 20, 1907, and came to this country shortly afterwards.

Mrs. Virtanen claims that her husband subjected her to cruelty, called her vile names and in the presence of others falsely accused her of having had improper relations with other men. W. E. Culkin appeared as her attorney. The case was not contested.

Julia Porter, aged 30, was granted a divorce from Edward M. Porter, 43, in Judge Dancer's court yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Porter charged her husband with being an habitual drunkard. They were married at Superior on Sept. 11, 1899, and have five children. The custody of the children was given to the mother.

This afternoon, Guspava Mudres, aged 20, was granted a divorce from Mile Mudres, aged 25, on the grounds of cruelty. They were married at Cetinje, Montenegro, on Jan. 15, 1910. Mrs. Mudres claims that shortly after the wedding, he began to abuse her. They have no children. Attorney B. M. Goldberg appeared for her.

Three other divorce actions are being tried in district court this afternoon. Jellica Covich is seeking a divorce from Jovan Vovich, charging cruelty. John B. Buletti wants a divorce from Irma Buletti, charging desertion and Anthony A. Beck is asking for a legal separation from Anna Beck on similar grounds. Other divorce actions at the May term will be tried on the regular calendar.

Fargo Boilermaker's Mind Affected By Big Revival.

Fargo, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of attending "Billy" Sunday's revival meetings here, Andrew Nelson, a young boiler maker, became so excited he was found on the streets this morning half clad and is in a pitiable mental condition.

ASHTON WILL NOT BE GIVEN POSITION.

According to a statement made by Councilman O'Hare relative to the displacement of Harry Ashton, it is likely that Ashton will not be given a position on the street commission. He is to be succeeded as foreman of the Sixth ward by Capt. Larry Brennan.

O. W. Streeter, who has been employed in the Rogers-Ruger lumber yards, has been named as park policeman for Billings Park. Appointments for the four "curfew officers" will be made later.

Duluth Women Speak.

Mrs. A. T. Hall, who was to have addressed the members of the Woman's Suffrage association and friends last evening at the Commercial club, was unable to be present. Mrs. Boylington and Dr. Mary McCoy, both of Duluth, gave short addresses.

Miss Lenroot Honored.

Miss Katherine Lenroot, daughter of Congressman I. L. Lenroot, who is now attending the state university at Madison, recently received one of the highest honors that could be gained at that institution, election to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. Admission to this fraternity must be earned by meritorious work and high standing in classes at the university. Miss Lenroot is a senior.

School Is Inspected.

Mr. Maddock and two members of the city commission made an inspection of the Carpenter school and the insanitary conditions there will be remedied at once. This work was authorized by the board of education some time ago and many improvements have been under way.

BISHOPS CONDEMN DANCING, BUT WOULD LET PEOPLE DANCE

D. C., and it formed the second section of the episcopal address, the first half of which had been given the day before.

"We would joyfully acclaim the day when every Christian would abstain from the amusements which have been prohibited, but we can't repress our conviction that Wesley dealt more wisely with the danger.

"The bishops therefore recommend a return to the consistent treatment of this subject by Wesley, and the more earnestly because we are dealing with the American people and the intelligence of the twentieth century.

Lack of Spiritual Perception.

"As a church we cannot approve dancing and theater-going. No sane person expects us to do that. They are questionable amusements. To us, as to several of our sister churches, they who justify these amusements as consistent with the spiritual life seem to manifest a deplorable lack of spiritual perception.

"Again, we stand unitedly against gambling, and we recognize clearly that it is the same sin in Wall Street that it is in the lowest resort, but we have never ventured legislatively to fix the point where the race track gambler, passing from the turf to the stock market, becomes a respectable business man, eligible to church membership and the chairmanship of the board of trustees.

"In our absolute helplessness before this question we must continue to allow the world to suspect that the larger the stake and the more reckless of public weal the gain, the less vicious the crime, provided the winner pays tithes to religion or benevolence."

The report stated that 1,256 out of 2,057 district superintendents had declared the amusement paragraph in the church discipline was ineffective.

Make Recommendations.

The bishops further:

Recommended that the church, instead of having two temperance societies as represented in the Anti-Saloon league and the Methodist Church Temperance society, have only one, suggesting the expediency of abolishing the church society.

Recommended that the church return to the limit of five years for pastorates, as was in force prior to 1900.

Denounced child labor and boycotting in disputes between capital and labor.

Indorsed President Taft in his attempts to promote international peace.

Denounced any attempts by any religious bodies to interfere with the civil status of marriages of their members when performed by clergymen of other denominations.

Resolution Lost.

A resolution which declared that the amusement clause in the church rules was "a source of constant agitation and unrest," that it had been declared by lawyers to be inconsistent with the church constitution, and which asked for an investigation by the committee on judiciary, was lost. This was taken to mean that the full conference itself desired to act on the proposed change, and indicated to some that a majority of delegates would insist that the rule be not abolished.

Attack Secretary Wilson.

An attack on Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson for attending the International Brewers' congress in Chicago in October, 1911, resulted in the adoption of a resolution condemning him.

After naming President Taft as having been asked to prevent Secretary Wilson's presence at the congress, the resolution declares that "those in authority have forfeited all claim on the future franchise of the Christian and sober manhood of the nation."

Secretary Wilson's explanation of his action was described as "a most frivolous, fallacious and stereotyped excuse."

May Restore Pulpit Limit.

Limitation to five years as the longest time any minister shall remain in a given church was recommended by the bishops as a means of stimulating the growth of the church.

Much opposition is expected to arise over the proposal. At present the 19,000 Methodist Episcopal ministers scattered over the world are allowed to remain in a pulpit indefinitely. The new plan, supported by the twenty-four active bishops at the conference, will mean a restoration of the time limit abolished in 1900.

In favor of the change the bishops have received these arguments:

"Because some of the churches will not have the less able ministers all the time, and none of the churches will have the better ministers exclusively; because the prominent pulpits, now held by a few, will be thrown open to younger men."

Arguments Against Change.

Against the change these objections were made:

"That preachers who plan great work will not be in a pulpit long enough to accomplish it; that many great preachers have left the church because they were hampered by a time limit; that the large church cannot be built up from a pulpit where there are frequent changes."

It is said that many of the ministers have occupied the same pulpits for more than twelve years, and their objection to the bishops' proposal, when it comes before the conference, will be based on their reluctance to leave a community where they have long lived.

The conference last night heard reports from Rev. J. T. Ward Stafford of Scarborough, England, on the state of the church in England, and from Rev. J. A. M. Aikens of Winnipeg on the progress in Canada.

seventy-seven survived. The officers of the Titanic were members of the guild.

The inquiry is likely to extend over several weeks and will be devoted largely to technical details.

Hear About Warnings.

The court today displayed the greatest interest in the warnings of ice which the Cunard liner Caronia and the White Star steamer Baltic sent to the Titanic on the day of the disaster, April 14. Lord Mersy inquired particularly on this point, finally asking:

"Am I right in supposing that she ran into an ice region after a warning had been received?"

"YES," replied the attorney general.

Sir Rufus said the Titanic's capacity was 3,547 persons and that she carried fourteen lifeboats, two cutters and four collapsible lifeboats, accommodating a total of 1,167 persons, and 3,560 lifebelts. On her first and last voyage the vessel carried 1,316 passengers and 892 persons in her crew.

Bulkheads and Speed.

She was fitted with fifteen bulkheads and a number of watertight doors, being designed to float in the event of any two adjoining compartments being flooded, under which condition the top of the bulkheads would be two and a half or three feet above water.

The Titanic's speed, the attorney general said, on April 14 was twenty-one knots an hour, which speed was never lessened up to the time of the collision. During that day the Caronia and the Baltic had sent wireless messages to the Titanic, stating that icebergs, "growlers" and "fielders" were in her track.

"Nevertheless," continued Sir Rufus, "after dark the Titanic ran right ahead at twenty-one knots, the night being clear, but with no moon."

He said that he had served notice upon Sir Robert Finlay, chief counsel for the White Star Steamship company, who is representing the line at the present inquiry, that the government considered this fact of extreme importance, so that Sir Robert might bring evidence to the contrary if he had it.

Particular Attention.

Sir Rufus announced that particular attention would be given to these three points: The Titanic's speed after the warnings of ice had been received; the insufficient number of lifeboats for the persons carried by the steamer; and the construction of the watertight compartments. He gave a detailed analysis of the numbers saved and lost by classes and sexes, and indicated that he considered that the disproportionate number of first class passengers rescued should be a matter of inquiry.

"One striking figure," he said, "is that all except five women among the first-class passengers were saved or had an opportunity of being saved, some refusing to leave their husbands. One fact that stands out is that a very large number of men of the first class were saved. It may be necessary later to analyze these figures more closely."

Wireless Given Credit.

It was extremely difficult, the attorney general said, to ascertain exactly what occurred between the moment of collision and the sinking of the liner. It appeared that there was no panic. The men took their boat stations according to the list. All the lifeboats were lowered except the collapsibles, concerning all of which there was no accurate evidence; but most of the boats did not have a full complement of persons. But for the wireless equipment of the vessel it is doubtful if anybody would have been saved.

Quizzed Wireless Official.

New York, May 3.—Testimony taken yesterday by Senator William Alden Smith, chairman of the senate committee investigating the Titanic disaster, did not reveal any facts tending to confirm the report that news of the Titanic disaster, which the White Star line made public on Monday evening, April 15, had reached New York early that morning.

To determine this question was the principal object of the senator's visit here, and he had before him in private hearing John Bottomly, vice president of the American Marconi company; E. J. Dunn, the New York merchant, who testified in Washington that he had been informed by the son of a Western Union operator that a message had been received on Monday morning telling of the Titanic's fate, and the operator himself.

These two witnesses were disposed to be recalcitrant, the senator said and their examination was very unsatisfactory. He declared he would call the operator again, when he hoped to obtain more definite information.

Bottomly Denied all Charges.

Vice President Bottomly, according to his stenographic testimony, disclaimed all knowledge of any such news being received here at the time reported. The witness testified that he had made every effort to get news of the disaster from the Carpathia, and had sent instructions to all wireless stations asking them to furnish the company with all the news they could obtain. He denied that he had in any way tried to influence Cottam and Bride, the wireless operators on the Carpathia, in regard to the sending and receipt of information until the vessel had passed Quarantine, when, with Mr. Marconi's consent, he had given wireless permission to Bride to sell his story.

The witness denied that operators of his company were instructed not to give information to any ships not fitted with Marconi wireless.

Senator Smith said that he expected to take testimony of a man who knew that the crew could not turn a certain bolt in a water-tight compartment, on which depended its efficiency.

Owatonna, Minn., May 3.—Gilbert Gross, aged 85, prominent state pioneer of this city, was run down and killed yesterday by an automobile truck. The aged man became confused when the machine approached and stepped directly in its path.

CHINESE LOAN PLAN FAILS TO MATERIALIZE.

Pekin, May 3.—Premier Tang Shao Yi and the representatives of the foreign bankers failed to agree yesterday on an arrangement for a loan. The premier practically demands unlimited funds with the most nominal supervision. The bankers are opposed to floating Chinese bonds without thorough supervision over expenditures. The opinion is held that Tang Shao Yi is attempting to get for himself a practical dictatorship, the president, Yuan Shi Kai, being temporarily placed in the background.

Cannot Identify Body.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 3.—Unable to identify the remains of Capt. E. G. Crosby, a Titanic victim, Charles Kelly, secretary of the Grand Trunk railway, has wired Frank P. Walsh, general passenger agent of the Crosby Transportation company, to come to Halifax to make identification.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

L. C. Spooner Answers News Tribune With Specific Charge of Extravagance Against Governor—Roosevelt Men Say State Administration Has Broken Faith—The First District Puzzle.

Spooner Gives Some Facts.

L. C. Spooner of Morris in a speech at Minneapolis Wednesday evening supported C. A. Congdon's charge of extravagance against the state administration and replied to the Duluth News Tribune with a specific instance showing the governor's responsibility for waste of the people's money. Mr. Spooner is quoted as saying:

Recently after our governor at Mankato had disclosed to his happy-hearted hearers then present the important fiction that the cost of his state administration is but 24 cents per capita, whereas we are this year levying a direct tax exceeding $1 per capita, as he should have known, Chester A. Congdon rendered to this state a distinct service in exposing to the public the fallacy of that statement, but almost immediately the Duluth News Tribune, for which, Mr. Lee has charged, the governor annually pays $15 out of his contingent fund, undertook to prove Congdon wrong and Eberhart right.

Mr. Spooner quoted the News Tribune as saying that if there is extravagance the responsibility is with the legislature, and that Mr. Spooner was chairman and Mr. Congdon a member of the house appropriations committee. He continued:

This statement is correct, and so also were Robert C. Dunn and Thomas Frankson, members of that committee, Congdon, Dunn and Frankson, as well as myself, will distinctly remember that Governor Eberhart officially certified to the chairman of the appropriations committee, that he, Eberhart, after most careful examination into the matter, had determined that the full amount requisitioned for the care and maintenance of our state capitol should be appropriated. Our governor was good enough to add his official written endorsement of the requisition, containing an expression of his most determined belief that every dollar requisitioned should necessarily be appropriated.

As chairman of the committee, believing the amount requisitioned double at least the amount needed, I appointed Dunn, Congdon and Frankson a special committee to inquire into the matter with the result that the amount appropriated was less than half of the amount requisitioned—saving to the taxpayers of the state in this single instance more than $50,000.

This illustration is but one of many that will be afforded to the public, if the unwise friends of the present administration further undertake to fool the people into the belief that the present administration of our state affairs is either competent or efficient, or sagacious. For in that event the people will be informed that the total requisitions for appropriations in the last legislative session were reduced, at the service of men like Mr. Congdon and members of the appropriation committee of the house and of the finance committee of the senate, more than $7,000,000, notwithstanding the fact we are this year levying the heaviest direct tax levied in forty years—and the legislature is not to blame for the fact—though the governor largely is to blame for the fact.

Roosevelt men in Minnesota say that the state administration has broken faith with them. After Roosevelt's entrance into the field, they say, Governor Eberhart and his backers repeatedly said that they would keep out of the presidential fight. They have not done so, the Roosevelt men declare, but have been exceedingly busy on behalf of the president.

Since Frank Knox arrived in St. Paul this week, several conferences have been held to determine a plan of action just preceding the primaries to be held next week. Some were in favor of asking Roosevelt to give out an interview declaring the forces behind the Taft campaign in this state to be similar to those in Illinois and Pennsylvania. Roosevelt men who are also friendly to Eberhart are said to oppose the plan.

The Roosevelt men feel safe. The people are showing signs of being aroused to the necessity of attending the caucuses, and a representative attendance at the caucuses will insure a Roosevelt delegation from Minnesota. Taft is unpopular, especially in the agricultural sections of the state.

In the First District.

The First district is a puzzle. James A. Tawney declares that six out of the ten counties are for Taft and the two delegates will be for the president. Mr. Tawney is said to be anxious to be one of the delegates.

Congressman Sydney Anderson has stood with La Follette through the campaign and the La Follette men are hopeful that his influence will prevail in the district convention.

The Roosevelt men are also claiming the First district and several of the influential papers are with the ex-president.

In the congressional field, Congressman Anderson and J. J. McCaughey are the only sure candidates. The names of James A. Tawney, A. D. Gray of Preston, H. H. Dunn of Albert Lea and several others are mentioned frequently as prospective candidates.

In the meantime, Congressman Anderson is charged with playing for the support of the Tawney faction by appointing Tawney men to federal offices. On the whole, the outlook promises a merry scrap in the First this year.

Meighen for Delegate.

The Albert Lea Standard brings out John F. D. Meighen as candidate for delegate from the First district to the Baltimore convention. The Standard claims that Freeborn county is entitled to one of the delegates and that Mr. Meighen, as a representative Democrat of the district, is the best available man for the place.

Senate Needs a Leader.

The Redwood Falls Gazette is concerned over the fact that candidates for lieutenant governor are not coming out of the woods. It says:

Is this great state to have no lieutenant governor next year?

Two years ago the one real fight was for the second place.

Have you politicians all grown into first-class cusses, too proud and haughty to play second fiddle?

It's the same old senate? Certainly, but it is a senate that may do anything or nothing. It is so split up that no one knows what it will do and the senate has the least information on this point of any one.

The senate needs a leader.

If the house is built of the stuff conditions indicate the senate will be obliged to do business. Then the lieutenant governor will be some smoke in this state.

Do you want the job and do you consider yourself big enough for it? Then go after it. The people will mighty soon pass judgment upon you.

The Handy Frank.

Congressman McKinley's frank is being used by the Taft headquarters to send out copies of Congressman Bartholdi's speech against the recall of judges. Franks are handy things to save campaign expenses.

County Politics Quiet.

Candidates for county offices are coming out in various counties throughout the state, but St. Louis county politics has shown no signs of activity. The campaign in this county is usually confined to the time before the state convention and the primaries. The understanding is that all present officers will be candidates for re-election with the exception of County Attorney John H. Norton. Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene will be a candidate for that office.

COMMEMORATE FIRST RAILWAY WIRE ORDER.

Newbergh, N. Y., May 3.—Commemorating the sending of the first railway telegraphic order, wired in 1851 by General Manager Charles Minot of the Erie railroad, a monument and tablet were unveiled at Harriman yesterday and presented to the Erie Railroad company by the Association of Railway Telegraph Superintendents and the Old Time Telegraphers' and Historical associations. The monument was taken from a ledge on the E. H. Harriman estate and all expenses attending its placement and preparation were defrayed by Mrs. Harriman.

NOTED MEN SPEAK AT DINNER TO PITNEY.

New York, May 3.—A notable list of speakers paid tribute last night to Justice Mahlon Pitney of the United States supreme court at a dinner given in his honor by the Lotus club. They included W. S. Gummere, chief justice of New Jersey; John W. Griggs, former governor of that state; Former United States Senator John C. Spooner; Chauncey M. Depew, and Morgan J. O'Brien. Justice Gummere and Senator Spooner spoke against popular review of judicial decisions and the recall of judges.

RELICS OF ANCIENT RACE DISCOVERED

Madison, Wis., May 3. — The discovery of several peculiar skeletons of human beings during the excavation of a mound at Lake Delavan this week is of great scientific interest and may prove that a heretofore unknown race of men once inhabited Southern Wisconsin. Information of the characteristics of this race was brought to Madison today by Attorney Maurice Morrissey of Delavan. Curator Charles E. Brown of the state historical museum will make an investigation.

Upon opening one large mound at Lake Lawn farm, eighteen skeletons were discovered by the Phillips brothers. Little attention was given the bones, and the elements soon turned the skeletons into a mass. When another mound was opened a few days ago, however, the excavators were struck by the peculiar facial characteristics. The heads, presumably those of men, are very much larger than any race which inhabits America today. From directly over the eye sockets, the head slopes straight back and the nasal bones protrude far above the cheekbones.

The jawbones are so long and pointed that in looking at the inanimate frame, one is struck with its minute resemblance to the head of the monkey. The teeth in the front of the jaw are regular molars, resembling the molars of the mouth of a person today.

There were also found in the mounds skeletons, presumably of women, which were smaller than the other heads, but similar in facial characteristics. The skeletons are embueded in charcoal and covered with layers of bakey clay to shed water from the sepulchre. The skeletons are generally found after excavating from four to ten feet of earth.

HURT BY HOURS OF LABOR LAW

La Crosse Corporation Handicapped By Limitation on Women's Work.

La Crosse, Wis., May 3. — Unless the hours of labor law passed by the legislature at its last regular session be amended to permit plants which operate actively only a few months during the year to work their crews overtime during the rush season, a local corporation with 500 employes will either have to move into another state or increase its expense of operation $50,000 per annum, according to a statement made by an official of the company today.

The present operating crew consists largely of women, who under the law are not permitted to work more than fifty-five hours per week. For this reason the company has been utterly unable to cope with its orders and $39,000 in cash has been returned to customers whose orders could not be executed on time.

MINERS HEAR J. MITCHELL

Expect Miners to Agree.

None of the conferees was willing to discuss the nature of the deliberations, but each expressed the opinion that an agreement of some sort with the others would be reached.

Immediately upon the adjournment of this conference, the executive boards of the miners' organization in the three anthracite districts, comprising thirty-two members held a meeting. Mr. Green said the object of this meeting was to decide whether the miners would hold a convention to pass upon the tentative agreement or ask for another conference with the operators.

State Senator William Green of Ohio, who has acted as chairman for the miners in the absence of President White, still believes a settlement will be reached without a strike.

The conference today was prepared to consider two courses of action: First, should a convention of the miners be called to approve or disapprove the action in rejection of the agreement of the sub-committees, and, second, whether the miners' committee should ask for another conference with the operators with a view to obtaining concessions.

Might Call on Commission.

A convention of miners at either Scranton or Wilkesbarre would not only pass upon the agreement of the sub-committee, but would consider the proposition of President Baer of the Reading company, that the whole controversy be submitted to the surviving members of the anthracite coal strike commission of 1903.

Mr. Baer told the miners yesterday that he considered that the full committee of miners were morally bound to stand by the action of a sub-committee, and that until the matter had been submitted to a referendum vote of the miners, the full committee were in no position to ask for further concessions from the operators.

SCORE BABIES THE SAME AS CATTLE

Iowa Plan Is to Be Adopted By Kindergarten Colleges.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 3.—Miss Mabel A. Mackinney of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., was re-elected president of the International Kindergarten union at the annual convention here, and Washington, D. C., was selected as the meeting place next year.

The Iowa state fair system of holding baby contests and scoring for physical perfection, as is done in rating animals, is to be adopted by a number of kindergarten colleges of the country. Mrs. F. S. Swatts of Auburn, Iowa, former president of the Iowa Congress of Mothers, who inaugurated the movement, said that score cards which were used at the state fair last year have been issued to the state normal school at Helena, Mont., the National Ethical Culture society, and other institutions. The score cards, when completed, will be returned to the American Medical association for comparison.

The convention will be concluded today.

SKULL OF POET SCHILLER FOUND AFTER 30 YEARS.

Berlin, May 3.—The skull of Johann Schiller, the great German philosopher and poet, which has been missing for nearly thirty years, has been discovered. Prof. August von Frorlep of Tubingen university, a year ago opened an old vault at Weimar which was known to contain Schiller's remains. He made a careful examination of seventy skulls which he found, and established indisputably which was the skull of Schiller. He laid the skull and his conclusions before the anatomical congress at Munich, which has unanimously accepted the report. Prof. Welcker, in 1883, proved that a skull, which was supposed to be Schiller's, was spurious.

Kaiser Buys Farms.

Berlin, May 3. — Emperor William has shown his faith in the future of the colonies by purchasing for $24,000 two farms in Southwest Africa. The lands will be devoted to wool growing.

SANITARIUM TO OPEN SOON

Drilling for Water Supply at New County Institution.

Building Is Completed and Furniture Is Being Instalied.

The formal opening of the new county tubercular sanitarium, the Nopeming, at Midway, will probably be held some time the latter part of the month. The opening has been delayed for a few weeks on account of drilling operations for a water supply. A fair supply has been obtained, but it has been decided to drill the well deeper.

During the past few weeks, most of the furnishings and the equipment for the new sanitarium have been installed and the rooms are being made ready for the reception of patients. At the opening, the new institution will be able to accommodate thirty-six patients.

A nominal charge of $7 a week will be made for each patient. The county sanitarium commission will probably make some provision for people who are unable to pay.

PLANNING GRAND AEROPLANE RACE

Tentative Routing to Start at Chicago Has Been Made.

Chicago, May 3. — A tentative routing of the American Grand Circuit aeroplane race through the Middle West in control of the Aero Club of America and the Aero Club of Illinois, shows a circuit of 1,800 miles. As now scheduled, subject to later revision, the aeroplanes will go from Chicago to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to Des Moines, Omaha, Lincoln, Neb., to St. Joseph, Kansas City, Jefferson City, St. Louis, Mo., to Indianapolis, to Cincinnati, to Columbus, to Cleveland, to Toledo, to Detroit, to Chicago. A possibility is a finish across the lower end of Lake Michigan, a distance of sixty miles over water.

Word was received here that an agreement had been reached with the Wright brothers that the latter would not interfere with foreigners or Americans entering this contest or the Gordon-Bennett world's championship race.

The Gordon-Bennett race will be held Sept. 9, and the Grand Circuit will begin probably seven days later. In the meantime, an aviation meet will be held in Chicago.

To Discuss Life-saving.

Cologne, Germany, May 3.—The Gazette's Berlin dispatch says that a majority of the maritime nations have already accepted Germany's proposal for a conference to discuss the question of life-saving. The place of meeting and date have not yet been considered.

Long and Short Profits

and where to find them

In this partincular case we speak of retail merchants. Probably nowhere in this country can you find the two extremes more glaring and pronounced than in the city of New York, Upper Fifth avenue for the high prices and the East side Bowery for low prices. Why is it? Right in the same city and not over ten minutes' apart on the subway. It is the conditions that exist in the two sections of the city. Fifth avenue with its wealth, ease and luxury. The Bowery with its poverty, toil and misery. And socially the people of the two sections separated af if by a Chinese wall. It is no uncommon occurrance to see a 10-cent article on the Bowery priced in an "exclusive" Fifth avenue shop at $1.00.

Again why is it long bank accounts and long profits go together? They lengthen and contract automatically. It is only natural that it should be so. The only way to beat the game is to make your money where there is plenty of it, and spend it where more money is needed, or to get right down to business, make your money in Duluth, and spend it in Superior. You can't help but win. But please don't get carried away with the idea that you are just like Fifth avenue, and that we are just like the Bowery, for you lack as much of one as we do of the other, neither do we want you to think that you can buy Duluth dollar stuff in Superior for 10 cents. But there is enough difference in the two cities to make a difference in the price and there is enough difference in the price to pay you to trade here. When will you begin? The cars come every ten minutes.

DON'T WANT ANY MIXUP.

Ohioans to Have Special Election on New Constitution.

Columbus, Ohio, May 3. — When the proposed new constitution for Ohio is submitted to the people for approval it will be at some time when the issues therein contained will not be hidden by or involved with a lot of other things, such as the choice of a president of the United States for instance. One thing is fairly definitely settled: That the work of the convention will not go before the people at the regular election next fall. Few, if any delegates, advocate a submission at that time, since the presidential issue will be uppermost and would tend to direct the attention of the voters away from all else.

Anent the question of how the convention will formally tell the people of its work, presuming that the people will not be fully advised through the daily and weekly news columns of the newspapers, there is much sentiment among delegates in favor of issuing a little pamphlet or bulletin, explaining every step that the convention has taken.

Another question centers about how the pamphlets should be distributed. Some believe that they could be carried either by the delegates or by messenger or express to the county seats in each county, and distributed from there gratuitously by the county officials or the city officials.

The other method of distribution naturally is by mail. But the objection to this is the expense. Estimating in a general way that there are 1,000,000 voters in the state, the postage alone, on the basis of a 1-cent stamp to carry each pamphlet, would be $10,000.

No matter what sort of a route will be used through the printing presses, however, there is to be a big speaking campaign for the education of the voters. This speaking campaign will be led by the delegates themselves, aided by voluntary speakers.

BERGER CALLS MEN WHO TORE DOWN FLAG "FOOLS."

Washington, May 3.—Anarchists, not Socialists, were responsible for the flag-tramping incident in New York during the May-day celebration, according to Representative Berger of Wisconsin. He denounced it as a "frame-up" by the Industrial Workers of the World to bring the Socialists' cause into disrepute.

"The men who did that were fools," declared Mr. Berger. "Socialism is not anti-national. The Socialists are the best patriots we have."

NINETEEN TEASPOONS IN MAN'S STOMACH.

Bangor, Me., May 3.—A surgical operation has been found necessary to recover a lot of tea spoons which disappeared, one at a time, from a ward of the Eastern Maine hospital here. When the mystery was solved by the discovery that one of the patients was swallowing the missing articles, Doctors Mason and Sanger recovered from the man's stomach, nineteen tea spoons. Seven of them belonged to the hospital and the others had been swallowed before the man was committed.

WILL DEPORT AFFINITIES

Tryge Torp Follows Another Man's Wife to This Country.

Husband Casts Her Off and Both Must Return.

Bent on the rather unusual mission of coming to this country to support and live with the wife of another and landing in the St. Louis county poor house just eight days after he had first set foot on American soil is the experience of Tryge Torp, 21 years old, who is not only suffering from pneumonia at the county hospital, but who is also under arrest for deportation to Norway.

Torp's peculiar mission to this country brings out a story, the local United States immigration officers say, which has also resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Marie Sarp, wife of Alf Sarp of Superior, who with her two youngest children will be deported to Norway with Torp. Mrs. Sarp left her husband last February and came to Duluth after he had accused her of intimate relations with Torp in Norway. Since that time she has also become a county charge.

Sarp has been a resident of Superior for about two years. His wife came to this country to join him last October. When Sarp learned that his wife was about to give birth to a child, of which he disclaimed parentage, he not only ordered her to leave his home, but, according to the story which Mrs. Sarp this week told the immigration officers, he wrote a letter to Torp asking him to come to this country and take care of the woman.

Torp admits that he received word last December from Sarp and also a note from his wife requesting him to come to this country. He arrived in New York on April 17 last. He then had $12 and a through ticket for Duluth. He came straight through without stopovers and reached Duluth April 21.

On his arrival in Duluth, Torp looked up the whereabouts of Mrs. Sarp, who was staying with relatives in the West end. He found the woman, and of the $8 which he had left he gave her $5. Torp contracted a cold which developed into pneumonia, and four days later was removed to the county hospital.

Woman Is Destitute.

Mrs. Sarp, being destitute and without funds, was called to the attention of Humane Agent R. D. McKercher. Two days after Torp's arrival she gave birth to a child. Sarp, her husband, disclaims parentage, but it was admitted by Torp, when Inspector Brown McDonald visited him at the county poorhouse. Mrs. Sarp was taken to the Bethel home.

Another child of the Sarp family, Erlind, a boy of 3, is residing with Torp's aunt and sister at Minneapolis. There is also another child in the family, aged 16 months.

Immigration authorities have taken steps to deport Torp, Mrs. Sarp and her two youngest children. Torp will be deported on the charge of being guilty of a felony in his native land, and that he came to this country in pursuance of an illegal motive. Mrs. Sarp has already admitted the commission of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude prior to her entry, and will be deported on that charge. The two youngest children will also be included in the warrant for deportation. As far as can be learned, there is no charge on which the immigration officers can deport Sarp.

RAILROADS

TO RESTORE SERVICE.

Eau Claire-Spooner Train of Omaha Will Run Again.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 3.—The statement comes from authoritative sources that trains 97 and 98, the Eau Claire-Spooner morning and afternoon passenger trains on the Omaha, which the company took off during last winter, will be put on again shortly. It seems that the trains were taken off only temporarily and that it has been the intention of the Omaha to put then on again. The principal reasons for taking them off was the cold weather last winter, making it difficult to operate all trains and the coal strike situation has done much to delay putting the trains back into service, as the company desired to economize on coal as much as possible in view of the threatened coal strike.

TELLS THE VALUE OF SIMPLE COURTESY.

George W. Hibbard, former general passenger agent for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad, and now holding a similar position with the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound road, has wr...en a letter to agents, conductors and trainmen of his line calling attention to the value of courtesy.

The letter follows, in part:

"To agents, conductors and trainmen—Recognizing the fact that intelligent information, cheerfully given, and the courteous treatment of travelers is the very best advertising a railroad can put out, it is desirable to call your attention to the fact that the colonist and tourist season is at hand, and to invite your hearty cooperation with the company in the effort to make travel over the lines of this railroad comfortable and enjoyable.

"To know how a stranger in a strange land would like to be treated, it is only necessary to put yourself in his place, when you will at once understand that many of the questions which perhaps seem unnecessary and troublesome to you, become very important to the man or woman who is unused to long journeys; that while it is all plain to you, your prospective customer is in need of a little kindly and well directed assistance and information. If, when selling a ticket, you discover that the purchaser is going into a country of which he knows but little, he will be sure to remember that agent and that company who have supplied him with all he needs to know about his route, connections, etc. If, on the other hand, colonists or tourists are leaving our trains at your station, and you can be of service to them, bear in mind that courteous attention will incur their lasting good will."

ST. L., I. M. & S. ROAD MAY ISSUE NEW BONDS.

New York, May 3.—Directors of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway company have directed the calling of a special stockholders' meeting to authorize a proposed issue of $200,000,000 refunding bonds.

"Directors of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railroad company today directed the calling of a special stockholders' meeting to authorize a mortgage securing an issue of $200,000,000 of refunding bonds, which bonds will be used to refund, retire or acquire outstanding obligations of the company and for acquisitions, extensions, additions and equipment and construction or acquisition of additional railroads or properties.

"This mortgage, together with the existing Missouri Pacific refunding mortgage, will provide the amounts for the financing needed by the Missouri Pacific & Iron Mountain system. The creation of the new Iron Mountain mortgage, terms of which are being worked out in consultation with Speyer & Co., is in line with the policy of the management announced some time ago."

The interest rate to be borne by the proposed bond issue was not announced.

Mortgage Authorized.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Michigan Central railway, a new Canada Southern mortgage was authorized for a total issue of $40,000,000 and to run for fifty years.

JUMPS INTO RIVER, ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 3. — In an attempt to gain his freedom, Charles F. Baker, prisoner of the Minneapolis workhouse, risked his life in the cold waters of the Mississippi yesterday. Two hours after his escape, a rowboat manned by two workhouse guards and Supt. McDonald reached a pier in the middle of the river, and picked up Baker who was lying exhausted there. He is back in the workhouse again.

KEEN BIDDING FOR CITY WORK

The office of the board of public works was crowded to the doors and into the corridors this morning by contractors interested in the opening of bids on a batch of improvement jobs in different parts of the city.

The largest job will be the paving of East Fourth street, the estimated cost of which is $70,000. The others are smaller jobs, aggregating several thousand dollars. The competition is keen and an unusually large number of bids were opened. The figures will not be available until late this afternoon, as the entire forenoon was spent in reading and opening the bids. A number of outside contractors submitted bids on the Fourth street job. The selection of the kind of pavement will be left largely to the property owners, as has been done in the past.

SEASON IN FULL SWING

Big Fleet Leaves Duluth With Ore and Grain Cargoes.

Navigation on the Great Lakes is now in full swing and the average number of arrivals and departures is expected from now on.

The regular shipping season has been slightly delayed on the route to Fort William on account of the large field of ice between Thunder cape and Welcome island. A passage has been made, however, and several of the boats have gone through. The large fleet that left the Soo docks yesterday is bound for Fort William and Port Arthur and is expected to arrive at these ports some time tomorrow.

The steamer Easton of the Booth line successfully made the Canadian ports yesterday and after receiving considerable package freight from the Canadian Head of the Lakes, opened the season for the northern ports. The Easton was assisted in getting through the ice by the ice-breaker Whalen. A large fleet of boats carrying 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, which has been stored all winter in the harbors of Fort William and Port Arthur left with the Easton yesterday afternoon. The boats are expected on the lower lakes tomorrow with their cargoes of grain.

But three arrivals were recorded yesterday afternoon. They were the Rochester, freight; Lakeland, freight; and Joseph Gayley, coal. The fog of yesterday morning is given as the cause for so few arrivals. This morning the average number of arrivals was recorded. Several of the boats will load gain at the local elevators and will leave for Eastern ports tomorrow. The S. S. Curry, Umbria, Jay C. Morse and G. A. Tomlinson all arrived for grain cargoes. The J. P. Morgan, Phipps and W. J. Olcott arrived for ore.

Several boats left tre local port with ore cargoes yesterday afternoon. They are the Samuel Mather, Sierra, Hoover & Mason, Superior City and F. G. Hartwell. The boats arrived in the harbor during the past few days and had been loading at local docks. Other departures yesterday were the J. E. Davidson, the Stadacona and Empress of Fort William, with grain loads. The following boats departed for Eastern ports this morning with grain cargoes received at local elevators during the past few days: J. J. McWilliams, Joseph Keefe and R. W. England. The J. C. Morse and the Constitution left with ore cargoes.

TRAFFIC REPORT FOR SOO CANALS

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The statistical report of lake commerce passing through the American and Canadian canals for the month of April shows a considerable decrease from the corresponding month of last year. This was expected, owing to the fact that the season was later in opening this spring than last.

The total freight passing the canal in April, 1911, was 792,587 tons, as against 166,918 tons for last month, a falling off of 625,669 tons. Following is a detailed report of the April traffic:

Eastbound Freight.

Copper, short tons, 1719.
Grain, bushels, 1,158,299.
Building stone, short tons, 32.

MARINE NOTES

Capt. H. H. Martinsen of the gasoline boat Elvina of Marquette, at present in Duluth, received word yesterday that the bureau of lighthouses has approved the recommendation for a light at the entrance to Port Wing. A pier headlight will be established at the east end of the port sometime during the summer. There are no lights there at present to guide mariners into the harbor.

The wrecking steamer Manistique has left Port Huron to go to the relief of the steamer Turret Cape, which went ashore on Cove Island last fall. Capt. Cyrus Sinclair is in command of the expedition.

The steamer South Shore has left Sault Ste. Marie with provisions for Grand Marais, Mich. The little Michigan town has no railroad and must depend on boats for supplies.

J. A. Whalen, president of the Western Drydock & Shipbuilding Company of Port Arthur, is in Duluth on a short business visit. Mr. Whalen reports considerable boat building now going on at Port Arthur. His company is now building two boats, he said, and also has orders for two more. Mr. Whalen is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

The ferry line plying between Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., yesterday adopted a new set of rates in effect between the two points. The action was taken following an order by the council of the Michigan town ordering a reduction in the passenger rates. The company first appealed to the supreme court and filed an injunction against the action. The change of the rates yesterday was made voluntarily, say those at the head of the firm.

The Hamilton Ore & Steel Company of Port Huron, Mich., will not receive any ore at its docks until the middle of this month, on account of the repairs that are being made to the hoisting machines and docks.

REFRIGERATOR SERVICE BEGINS

Summer Schedule Late in Going Into Effect This Year.

Refrigerator service on the Great Northern from Mora to Duluth will be instituted early this month, according to a letter received by the traffic commission of the Commercial club from W. P. Kenney, freight traffic manager of the railroad.

The summer refrigerator schedules of the railroad have not been put into effect yet this year, which is the reason for the lack of refrigerator service complained of by Mora shippers and others along the line.

In response to an inquiry from the traffic commission, Mr. Kenney replied that the service would be instituted early this month. Whether it will be a weekly or semi-weekly service has not been learned locally, but it will be such service as to give shippers of perishable goods adequate facilities for reaching their market.

COLONIZING NEW ONTARIO

Legislature Provides $5,000,000 for Opening the Northern Country.

Local Option Shows Growth But Drunkenness on Increase.

Toronto, Ont., May 3.—The Ontario legislators, including those who are also statesmen, go back to the farm, their labors in the law works being concluded. They leave behind them a number of important additions to the provincial statutes. One of these and one of the most important is the act providing for the expenditure of $5,000,000 for the opening up and colonization of Northern Ontario. This was one of the first achievements of the session and followed close upon the criticism leveled against the Whitney government during the election campaign, criticism which gave rise to secession talk in some of the more distant parts of Northern and Western Ontario. The government has not yet named the man who is to have charge of the expenditure of the money.

Another of the new laws provides for the division of Ontario into ten districts for public health purposes, for speedy reporting of all outbreaks of contagious diseases, compulsory vaccination and the caring for indigent sick by the various municipalities. Another act sets apart $1,000,000 for the improvement of county roads, the legislature at the same time having gone on record as strongly disapproving of the action of the federal senate in killing the act under which money from the dominion exchequer was to have come to the province for the construction of new up-to-date highways. Then there is something for the Hydro-Electric Power commission, under which the government distributes cheap power to the municipalities of Ontario.

Public-Owned Telephones.

The commission is given wider rights of expropriation and of rate-control. The first important step in the direction of public-owned telephones was taken during this session in a provision under which municipalities of the province are empowered to expropriate private-owned telephone systems. The legislature has also gone out with a gun after the loan sharks who have been using Ontario for many years as a happy hunting ground, and another new law aims at the discouragement of the insurance business carried on in Ontario by unregistered and irresponsible insurance companies with headquarters outside of Ontario. Provision has been made also for the establishment of a provincial museum and college of art. Apart from the list of actual legislation, the session has been of unusual interest from the fact that the Whitney government encountered much more serious and determined opposition from the Liberal side of the house.

The Liberals under the leadership of Newton W. Rowell, while unable seriously to impede government legislation in the face of the huge ministerial majority, have, nevertheless, done some hard fighting and the announcement of the abolish-the-bar policy undoubtedly forced the hand of the government and brought the announcement that Premier Whitney and his colleagues favored the abolition of the treating system. The session also saw the presentation of the long delayed report on the bi-lingual schools of the province, following which there has now come a statement of government policy on the school issue. This policy involves a much more careful and comprehensive system of school inspection than has hitherto been the rule. Many more inspectors are to be appointed, and state aid to schools in the bi-lingual districts is to be conditional upon the ability of the teachers to speak and teach in English.

The use of the French language in instruction in these schools is to be governed to some extent by local conditions, but is to stop at the first form. The government stands prepared to do what is necessary toward the carrying out of this policy and to meet the cost of the extra inspection.

Report of License Department.

The annual report of the license department of Ontario reveals the curious fact that while the province has been becoming geographically dry by virtue of successful local option campaigns, drunkenness has been on the increase. During the year covered in the report the number of commitments for inebriation broke all records. Moreover, the figures show that the responsibility for the increase does not lie at the door of the cities, but has been distributed. From 1891 up to 1899 the number of commitments for drunkenness showed a decline, but since that time there appears to have been a steady increase. Toronto, which has done some fast growing in other respects, has also forged ahead in the number of commitments for drunkenness, the returns showing a large increase.

The city of Hamilton is in the same boat, though to a lesser extent, while Ottawa, St. Thomas and Kingston the people have been increasingly sober. The publication of the figures is likely to have some effect in helping along the campaign for lessening the sale of liquor, or at least of imposing restrictions to that end. The government has already taken steps to prevent the appearance of evil in districts where local option laws are in force. Hitherto there has been no law against the storing of liquors in these districts, a condition which is alleged to have made the enforcement of the law somewhat difficult. Hereafter, it will be illegal to store alcoholic drinks in a local option district.

Industrial Farm's Value.

Means will also be taken to restrain the bibulous enthusiasm of the habitual drunkard. The present term for drunkenness only goes up to three months, after which the subject is allowed out with a three-months' thirst to be assuaged. Hereafter it will be dangerous to slake this big thirst except in moderate doses or in some quiet and out of the way place, because, if within three months of a conviction for drunkenness, the convicted one is found in a public place in an intoxicated state, he may be sent to hoe potatoes for two years. This is where the new industrial farm, which is being established near Toronto, will be useful. The man with the fondness for fluids above described, may be sent to the farm on an indeterminate sentence up to two years.

WILL LEFT BY ASTOR.

Said to Give Bulk of $150,000,000 Estate to Son.

New York, May 3.—Reports that John Jacob Astor, who perished in the sinking of the Titanic, had made no will since his marriage to Miss Madelene Talmadge Force, and that he made no provision either for Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, his first wife, or for Mrs. John Jacob Astor, his second wife, were denied by a representative of the estate.

On the contrary, it was learned that Col. Astor did make a will, in which he provided not only for his first and second wives, but for the children. Under this will William Vincent Astor, who is not yet 21 years old, will inherit the bulk of the great Astor estate, which is estimated at $150,000,000.

This estimate of the Astor estate makes it one of the largest, if not the largest, single estate ever bequeathed or divided in the United States, exceeding that of E. H. Harriman by many millions.

It is expected the will will be read next week, after the burial of John Jacob Astor, whose body was brought to Halifax on board the cable steamship Mackay-Bennett.

LOANS BEING ARRANGED

By Those Who Hope to Be Awarded New York Bonds.

England Has Recovered From Depression Caused By Coal Strike.

New York, May 3.—Bids for $65,000,000 of New York city bonds, bearing 4¼ per cent interest, are to be opened May 7, and there is much interest in the offering, with numerous offers from private capitalists expected as well as from the various financial firms and institutions.

Large temporary loans are being arranged for by persons who hope to be awarded portions of the amount offered, and it is said that English investors will be glad to arrange for a heavy subscription to these securities.

It is understood that a very strong syndicate is being formed here to make a bid upon the entire amount to be issued, and as the city charter permits of such an award if the price offered is to the interest of the city to accept it, it is possible that these may go to such syndicate, but if so it will be found that there will be many bidders at good round prices whose offers must be surpassed.

In January, 1911, when there was an offering of city securities to the amount of $60,000,000, a syndicate made an offer for the entire offering, but the bid was $4,241 too low, and the firms who formed it missed the opportunity of making a fine profit in the reselling.

This time they will possibly raise the price to a figure that will secure the award, as they have the experience of the former transaction to stimulate them.

The three great banks of Europe, those of England, France and Germany, all reported good gains in gold, and reserves in excellent condition.

It is evident England has recovered from the most severe depression occasioned by the strike of the coal miners and that Germany is getting into better shape financially than has been possible until now from the time of the Moroccan difficulty.

Cotton Continues to Go Up.

Cotton has continued to advance in price until it is now hovering around 12 cents per pound, notwithstanding the nearly 10,000,000 of bales shipped out of the country on account of foreign purchases, the foreign buyers are yet willing to take all that comes to the seaports.

The cotton manufacturers, the brokers and the planters are just now waking up to the absorbing power of the world for cotton when the great majority of the population in each and every one of the continents is given the purchasing power through constant employment at fair wages.

The cotton produced in 1912 in the United States would have been sufficient to have supplied the world for two years under the financial conditions prevailing from 1893 to 1898.

Not that the people did not need cotton garments and cotton cloth, but their needs were so subordinated through lack of money, their purchasing power was so limited through inability to obtain the means of payment, that they had to do without the desired garments or the cloth.

Now all this is changed, and if, as the director of the mint says, so much gold is going to India, to Egypt, to South America, it is not going there except in exchange for what the rest of the world requires, and that exchange of products of those countries for gold and for silver enables the inhabitants to buy our cottons, our iron and steel, our machinery and farming implements, our automobiles.

Will Produce Same Effect.

More money in India, in China, in Japan, in Argentina, in the Philippines, in all parts of Africa, will produce just the same effects as it has done in England, in Germany and in the United States.

It will cause more men to be employed, more railways constructed, more buildings to be erected; it will increase the demand for labor, tending thereby to a higher wage scale. It will develop an earning power to an extent far beyond that before prevailing and that means an increased purchasing power, which makes for a greater volume of business locally at all times, and so close are the financial and business relations of the various countries of the world today that increased activities in any one important county is directly stimulating to the business of the other countries.

It does not make much difference to the manufacturers of Ohio if the gold goes to Montana, to Massachusetts, to Florida or to Texas, if the increased business is caused by ample supplies of money there brings them double the orders for what they produce.

Africa, Asia and South America have all increased their trade with Europe and the United States tremendously since 1896, and if this increased trade is owing to their increased supply of money it is only another proof of the desirability of ample supplies of money in every community and country on the globe.

If instead of $500,000,000 output of gold annually there was $1,000,000,000 produced there would be still greater activities in trade; more railways, more skyscrapers, more buildings of every class, and as the law of the world, international agreement, makes gold honest money, no one could be harmed by its increase in amount.

Not Due to Gold Production.

Many financiers will sleep easier and be more comfortable when awake, since they have the official opinion of the director of the mint of the United States that the higher prices prevailing for labor and commodities throughout the world are not due to the increased production of gold.

As there is to be another jump in the world's gold production during the coming five years, it can now be regarded as entirely beneficial, and while prices of all that gold buys may advance, the purchasing power of the metal, whether in bullion or in coin, will not vary because it cannot change.

At least it is so in official statements and reports, even if the presumptuous markets of the world daily refute them in actual practice and dealing.

There are a great many other guesses coming from the gold standard scholars before Nature gets through with showing to the business men of the world the surprisingly large amounts of yellow metal she has ready for the world's use.

In the meantime the new money is coming out of the ground every day, and trade constantly improves and the volume of business expands.

DIGGING PALACE OUT OF SWAMP

Relics to Be Taken to San Diego's Panama Exposition.

San Diego, Cal., May 3.—Digging a palace out of a swamp and sifting the earth removed therefrom for valuable curios is some job, especially when that palace is located in the midst of tropical verdure in the center of Guatemala, yet that is what Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the American section of the Archeological Institute of America, is doing for San Diego's Panama-California exposition.

The palace, a relic of the Mayas, who thrived, carved statues and built palaces and temples when the Egyptians were building their pyramids, when the Roman empire was in process of formation, has lain under the silt and vegetation of centuries until discovered some years ago. Dr. Hewett has dreamed of uncovering it but not until President Collier of the San Diego exposition gave him a commission to explore it and bring what he finds to San Diego has he had an opportunity to do so.

Dr. Hewett says that trees are growing out of the roof of the structure, which is in the forest near Quirigua, Guatemala, so long has the palace remained buried. The Mayas were an intelligent, warlike and highly educated race. Some of their stone gods are the largest piece of sculpture the world has produced. The riddle of the time of their highest culture, and of their origin, has never been solved and it is in hope of being able to read the mysteries of the dawn of history, Dr. Hewett, with his assistant professors and workmen, are now digging and delving in the swamps of Guatemala. Dr. Hewett will report to the Smithsonian Institute, the Ahchaelogical Institute and to the Panama-California exposition department of archaeology, all three of which institutions are backing the expedition.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anaemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, stimulates the secreting and excreting members to better action, quiets the over-strained nerves, and makes one feel better in every way.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Woman's Realm

More than 100 club women attended the reception held last evening at the Commercial club for the delegates of the Eighth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, which is in session here. A musical program of exceptional merit was thoroughly enjoyed by the large party. Mrs. Homer Colling, appearings at her best, sang two numbers which were enthusiastically received, her rich, clear voice being delightful. Miss Maude Matteson's clear soprano voice was also much enjoyed in a group of dainty spring numbers and George Suffel sang two numbers which were charmingly rendered, his full baritone voice making a perfect balance to the program.

The hospitality of the Commercial club which was extended to the club women was perfect in every detail and made the function a most enjoyable one.

Miss Earhart headed the first receiving line, in which were the state officers, and Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. R. E. Denfield headed two other lines, in which were visiting delegates.

LITTLE WOMEN."

Junior Drama League Members Will Give Play.

A presentation of an adaptation of Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women" tomorrow evening at the Endion M. E. church by members of the Junior Drama league of that church under the direction of Mrs. George W. Morgan promises an evening of interest. The little play deals with the family life of the March household presenting Mrs. March (Marmee), Meg, Jo, Beth, Amy and Hannah, the family servant, Theodore Laurence (Laurie), and his grandfather and Mr. Brooke, Laurie's tutor, who is in love with Meg.

The parts will be taken by Marion Herrick, Marie Elston, Florence Cochrane, Dorothy Seymour, Marion Willard, Gertrude Final, Ralph Dunning, Leslie Bowman and H. R. Herrick. An orchestra will play during the evening.

Club Luncheon.

An informal luncheon was served this noon at the lunchroom of the high school for the visiting delegates and the hostesses who were entertaining them in their homes, by a number of the club women of the city. The affair was planned that the visiting club women could see the successful working out of a plan for giving the high school students a good, warm, wholesome luncheon at a low cost. Covers were laid for:

Mesdames C. C. McCarthy, E. H. Loyhed, F. L. Barrows, A. T. Hall, B. L. Hollister, Otis Smith, E. N. Simons, O. A. Poirier, Peter Olesen, Moulton, Trennery, H. R. Wilson-Burns.

At a simple wedding yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Perrin, Forty-third avenue east, the latter's sister, Miss Hazel Wilson and George Burns, both of this city, were married by Rev. H. B. Sutherland of the Lakeside Presbyterian church. Only the relatives of the two young people were present at the ceremony and there were no attendants.

The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Pink and white roses were arranged about the rooms with taste and at the wedding supper which followed, the appointments were also in pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns left for a trip to Winnipeg and will be at home in this city after May 15.

Hiking Party.

The Minnekahda club gave a hiking party Tuesday evening. The members took the car to the end of the Woodland line, then walked to Arnold. Refreshments were served, and the party passed an enjoyable evening dancing. The hall was prettily decorated in the national colors. Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Roske were the chaperones. The following were present:

Misses—
Hulda Olson. Elma Saltwick,
Ella Saltwick, Minnie Berg,

THE EVENING STORY

THE STRANGE CASE OF MR. KIMBERG

By C. Howard Turner.

At 10 o'clock precisely Ephraim Kimberg, diamond merchant left his house in The Boltons and walked to South Kensington station. Mr. Kimberg had long passed his physical prime, though his brains were more alert than ever. He was 55, fat and florid. He fed sumptuously every day. And he was dyspeptic. His floridness was the sign of his bodily discomfort.

Mr. Kimberg's step was lighter than usual as he entered his office on this occasion. There was a note of pride as he paused on the threshold of his private room, and looked round at the clerks busily engaged in the general office. He entered, and seating himself, rang the bell which summoned old Joseph. Old Joseph was rather a character. Few people could have told whether Joseph was his first name or his surname. He was always Joseph to Mr. Kimberg, and Mr. Joseph to the clerks. He was as much a part of the establishment as Mr. Kimberg himself. No one living could recall a time when Joseph was not there. Old Joseph entered the room rubbing his hands with evident satisfaction, at his master's evident satisfaction. Had Mr. Kimberg scowled he would have scowled. "Joseph, a fine morning."

"Very pleasant indeed, sir."

"Never mind letters for a moment, Joseph. I've something else to speak about. Do you know what this day is?"

"Today? Why, it must be just about this time you commenced to control the business twenty-five years ago, sir."

"Ah, you have remembered. But that is not all, Joseph."

"Not all, sir?"

"Twenty-five years ago today, Joseph, I was married."

"So it is, sir, I remember now. Your uncle was retiring, and he wished you to have a wife before he handed the business over to you entirely."

"Just so, Joseph. Today is my silver wedding day, and the silver anniversary of my taking over the business. A great day, Joseph!"

"Yes, sir. I congratulate you very heartily, sir, on both accounts."

"Joseph, my uncle was wise in insisting that I should take a wife, and it was a wise choice he made for me. The business owes much to my wife, Joseph. Today, our silver wedding day, I am going to give her a present—a grand present. You know that rope of pearls, Joseph? The famous pearls of the former crown princess?"

"Yes, Joseph. They are incomparable. There is not another rope like that in Europe. Each single pearl is worth a little fortune. No one could be more worthy to wear them than my wife. I am going to give them to her. I want you to go to the bank and get them for me.' Old Joseph betrayed no surprise at his master's intentions, but left at once to carry out his instructions. As he descended the stairs the door of an office next to Kimberg's was opened and closed gently.

He obtained the pearls from the bank and returned quickly. As he entered the office, the next door closed quietly again. He went straight to the private room of Mr. Kimberg and displayed his precious pocketful. They were indeed wonderful pearls. It needed no expert to discern that. Picked pearls nearly everyone of them, perfectly matched, and without a single flaw to detract from their beauty and value.

After looking at them in admiration for a few moments, Mr. Kimberg replaced them in their case and put them away in a little safe which stood in a corner of the room. Mr. Kimberg never went out to lunch in the middle of the day. A light meal was sent in daily from a neighboring caterer. At 4 o'clock precisely he put aside his papers, was assisted into his coat by old Joseph, and left the office. He would walk to Holburn station and arrive at his house in the Boltons at 4:45 precisely. Mr. Kimberg was, in fact, a very precise man.

On this memorable Friday he concluded his week's business at the usual precise hour. In common with the majority of his confraternity, he never put in an appearance on Saturday. Old Joseph performed his usual duty and gave a more than ordinary cheerful good night. Mr. Kimberg descended the stairs with his precious present safely bestowed away in an inner pocket. "Close to his heart," as he smilingly remarked to Joseph. As he descended the stairs a door was quietly opened and shut again.

There was an air of unrest about the house in the Boltons. It was nearly 8 o'clock and Mr. Kimberg had not yet returned. On the few occasions far between, when he had been detained later than his usual hour, he had always communicated by telephone the reason for his tarrying. Her husband was such a precise man that Mrs. Kimberg was genuinely uneasy as she sat gazing abstractly into the fire. The entry of a servant inquiring whether dinner should be served aroused her with a shock to the lateness of the hour. At 6 she telephoned to Thavies inn, but without result, and all the clerks had gone, and there was no reply. Now it was dinner time, and still no sign of him.

Going into the hall Mrs. Kimberg was met by a servant bearing a telegram. With trembling fingers she opened the buff envelope and unfolded the slip. "Called into the country for big deal. Return tomorrow evening. Ephriam." "Thank you, no answer," was her reply, as she passed into the dining room with a slight frown. "You may serve dinner."

The meal was served and eaten in solitary silence. She was puzzled. More, she felt rather hurt, mortified. Was it not the twenty-fifth anniversary of her marriage to Ephraim and had he not hinted in the morning that he had a pleasant surprise in store for her? Yet the telegram made no mention of the matter. It was with mingled feelings that she allowed herself to be prepared for retirement.

"Horrible outrage! Paper!" The crowd of city workers who had just quitted their offices for the week end stopped on their way to trains and cars to snap up the papers. The headlines were startling:

MYSTERIOUS OUTRAGE.
MAN BOUND AND GAGGED ON TUBE STAIRS.

The report read: Shortly before noon today a railroad employe who had occasion to descend the stairs at the Holborn tube station was startled to discover a middle-aged gentleman lying gagged and bound on the stairs about half way down. The victim of this terrible outrage is Mr. Ephriam Kimberg, the well known diamond merchant. He stated that at six o'clock last night he was proceeding to his home as usual by tube and following his custom walked downstairs instead of using the lift. When about half way down he was struck on the back of the head and remembered no more until he recovered consciousness some hours later. He was unable to cry out and he was securely gagged and no one used the stairs until noon today. The motive for the crime was evidently to secure a valuable rope of pearls which Mr. Kimberg was carrying. His purse was left intact. The police have no clue to the criminals.

At the time that a sorrowful and chastened Mr. Kimberg returned to his sorrowful, anxious spouse, two well dressed men were sitting in a cafe in Paris sipping coffee. "I suppose we shall read presently of the discovery of the old fellow," remarked one.

"They will discover him, but it will be a long time before they discover any more," was the answer. "Even if they notice that the office next to Kimberg's does not open on Monday, it will be a long time before they realize that the circumstance has anything to do with the—er, crime. If they knew where to look for it, it would puzzle them to find our means of communication with Kimberg's office."

"Then," resumed the first, "you see the wisdom of my plan of assuming a disguise before, instead of after such a piece of business. If they go to the office agents they will only be sent looking for two old men who do not exist."

"Yes, I don't think one can take more credit than the other for the success of the enterprise. My idea of sending a telegram to allay anxiety gave us a clear start."

"But only because we did it on the tube stairs. He would have been discovered hours before had it been anywhere else. I always told you the safest place in London for a job like that was the tube stairs."

HAS MOUNTAIN NAMED AFTER HER

MRS. RUTH GADE.

Mrs. John Gade of New York has been honored by the explorer Amundsen. One of the highest mountains near the South Pole was named after her. Mr. Gade is a great friend of Amundsen and when the explorer started for the pole he promised to bring Mrs. Gade a souvenir. The souvenir was a letter telling her of the naming of the mountain in her honor. Mrs. Gade is not planning to visit her namesake.

Discussion of Woman Suffrage, led by Dr. Mary McCoy, president Duluth Woman Suffrage association.

Meeting at Commercial club.

A broad and comprehensive program of talks on "What Club Women May Do to Counteract the Evils Surrounding Girls and Boys in Our Small Towns" by various delegates to the Eighth district convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs formed a most interesting round table meeting this morning at the public library, attended by a large number of visiting and local club women.

After two piano numbers played with fine ability by Miss Frances Berg displaying a remarkably good understanding of technique and an artistic interpretation of the composer's work, Mrs. C. C. McCarthy, vice president of the district presided at a short business session at which it was voted to amend the constitution, raising the annual federation fees of the clubs in this district to $1.50 per year from 50 cents, as they have been in the past. Mrs. W. H. Burris, vice president of the woman's council of this city, in response to a request from the chair, gave a short and clear outline of the work of the council and its aims.

Miss Stearns of St. Paul, a member of the state library commission, spoke a few words offering for the use of the club women a little pamphlet compiled as an aid to club women in making out their programs of study.

The round table program was then opened, with Mrs. D. H. Williams of this city in charge. As an introduction of the subject she said: "The subject proposed for the round table by our president, Mrs. McCarthy, is one which involves problems that are engaging the attention of our most earnest educators, civic reforms and social workers of our time. How to understand and guard against the countless subtle temptations that beset the growing boy and girl in the town life of today deserves the most sincere consideration of every thoughtful woman."

Evils to Be Overcome.

Mrs. McCarthy opened this subject with an outlining of the evils that are to be overcome and was followed by Mrs. Herbert P. Blaire of Hibbing, who told in a most interesting manner of some of the things which they are doing in Hibbing along the line of public playgrounds and recreation parks and the helpful influences which they hope will result from their establishment. She spoke of the limited space in their city for playgrounds and how much the grounds equipped with swings, see-saws, slides, gymnasium frames, parallel bars, which have been provided for the boys and girls in their separate places, have been enjoyed by the little folks under the supervision of competent instructors.

Mrs. B. L. Hollister of Aitkin was the next speaker, having for her topic: "The Awakening of Civic Interest and Responsibility in Boys." She handled her subject in a most interesting manner.

Mrs. John Jenswold, Jr., of this city spoke also on this subject in the few minutes informal discussion following the paper and she pointed out the responsibility of the teacher as well as the parent, especially in her dealing with the foreign child. "Each teacher should say to herself," she said, "here is another little American to make."

MRS. D. H. WILLIAMS,
Who Conducted the Round Table Discussion.

Gardening.

Mrs. James Cowalan of Sandstone presented the subject of gardening for the young folks, giving interesting facts about the work being done in various cities of the state and telling of the good results attained.

Mrs. Dreyer of Lakeside made some good suggestions on the forming of girls' clubs and Mrs. R. P. Boylngton suggested the fact that the idea of service to others should be incorporated in every club that it may be a fundamental principal with all.

Mrs. C. P. Catlin of this city, who has done so much work at the Neighborhood House in the West end, read a splendid paper on "Social Center Work, Its Values and Possibilities," dwelling mostly on the establishment of such places in schools and churches.

In continuation of this subject Miss Katherine King of this city spoke of the work being done at the Bryant school in the West end and some of the methods which have worked out successfully there.

Mrs. P. L. Barrows read the paper on "Social Hygiene," which Mrs. H. A. Tomlinson of St. Peter prepared and delivered at one of the annual state meetings of the federation, her main plea being for a wider education of all people on this subject and the recognition of but a single standard of morals.

Miss Frances Earhart, librarian of the Duluth public library, spoke on how a club woman may help her public library in the selection of vital books on social subjects. The librarian needs assistance and each one of you can give this, she said, if you will only let her know what is wanted and keep her informed on any new books that you happen to know about that would be of value to the community.

Mrs. Otis Smith of Cloquet gave some valuable thoughts on vacation schools and Mrs. Neil B. Morrison of this city spoke on the night schools with social features giving a most interesting resume of this subject. Mrs. Thomas A. Gill of Virginia and Mrs. Andrew A. Kerr of Duluth covered the subject of the "Supervision of Places of Amusement" effectually, Mrs. Gill speaking of the "Supervision of Amusements and Mrs. Kerr of the "Conservation of Youth."

Rev. J. C. Faries, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church of this city told of the successful opening of a social center in his church and of some of the clubs formed there.

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour spoke of the Drama league and its work both here and in other cities.

This afternoon after a delightful group of songs by Miss Gladys Reynolds, sung in her usual charming manner, Mrs. Peter Olsen gave an interesting talk of "Civic Improvement in Small Towns."

Mrs. K. A. Ostergren spoke on "Music in Relation to Civic Growth," and Mrs. George S. Richards spoke on "What Large Musical Organizations May Do for Communities" and Mrs. E. H. Loyhed, president of the state federation, gave a most interesting address on "Country Life Work."

Miss Ruth Rogers closed this meeting with a group of piano numbers by MacDowell, and Wagner-Braffin. This meeting was held at the Y. W. C. A. assembly hall.

Evening Session.

The suffrage meeting to be held this evening at the Commercial club at which Mrs. A. T. Hall of St. Paul president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, will speak will also be one of the most important sessions of the convention. Dr. Mary McCoy of this city will lead an informal discussion of the subject after this address and musical numbers will be given by Miss Loretta O'Gorman and Mrs. Lucia Judd McAuliff.

This meeting will commence at 8 o'clock.

"ECHOES FROM THE STATE."

Mrs. F. L. Barrows Points Out Many Opportunities for Service.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows of Duluth, treasurer of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, spoke as follows yesterday afternoon:

"When our district president asked me to say a few words as 'Echoes From the State,' I rather demurred—with our president and vice president-at-large here, with their more intimate knowledge of state work it seemed rather out of place for me who am known only as the woman with the state federation pocket book to voice my opinions as echoes—but your district president insisted and so if the echoes have rather a silvery tinkle and material cast please remember it is because of my office. Mrs. Welsh, who is also a general federation officer, said at the last federation meeting, 'Efficiency is spelt D-o-l-l-a-r-s.' I used to think in my early club life that it spelt S-e-r-v-i-c-e ,but I have come to believe service combined with dollars brings the greatest efficiency.

"Time was when the women's club centered in the desire for self culture, but today women's clubs are organized for larger work, for better homes, better schools, better moral conditions, better care for the woman and child who toil. In works of reform combined efforts bring larger and more potent results. In club life this is best accomplished through federation. Isolated clubs find strength and inspiration through association with a central organization. By becoming an integral part in a great body which is endeavoring to assist in ridding the state of the evils which menace its best interests, the individual club rises to a feeling of larger responsibility—which it finds reflected in the moral and social status of its own community. Federation is in the air—in union there is strength.

Legislative Activity.

"Probably many of you attended the mid-winter meeting held in Minneapolis in February, 1910, legislative year, and heard the wonderful story of legislative activity as recited by Miss Josephine Schain, chairman of our legislative committee, telling what had been accomplished during that session under her leadership. Those of you who were there do not need to be told of the power our Federation has in helping along or culling off bills in which we are vitally interested. As clubs and as individuals we are often asked to write our legislators in regard to some bill and the question is often raised of what avail is it? What attention will be paid to our letters—one petition is insignificant whether sent from one person or a club. Our letters and petitions are neither insignificant nor without avail, legislators assure us, and will be referred to. So let us use this privilege.

"Our general federation is active in working for or against bills affecting economic conditions of women and children as well as our state federation. As clubs and as individuals in this Eighth district let us help them in this work, by responding promptly and in large numbers whenever we are asked to help. On the other hand we are at liberty to take the initiative when we wish to introduce bodies of women of which we are a part and which are so powerful, even without the ballot.

"Another privilege is yours as members of the federation. Four years ago a scholarship fund was started as a memorial to Lydia P. Williams, a former president and prominent member of our federation. This fund, $1,200, was completed two and a half years ago. To any women who need some financial assistance to enable them to finish their courses at college are loaned sums, without interest not exceeding $250 apiece from this fnud, which they must repay in three years, either in installments or in a lump sum. Six young women have availed themselves of this privilege—one has repaid her loan in full—five are still beneficiaries. Two and a half years ago another fund was started, this time to honor our beloved Prof. Maria Sanford. Our president, Mrs. Loyhed, had the inspiration to propose and promote this second scholarship. This fund still lacks about $300 of completion. We are most anxious that it should be completed whilst Prof. Sanford is still with us. We hope that she may be spared to us many years, but she is no longer a young woman. Give her this honor and this pleasure whilst she still lives. Let us be able to announce at the annual, next fall that this scholarship fund of $1,200 is completed. The Duluth clubs are the only ones in the Eighth district that have conrributed thus far. In Duluth we pledged ourselves to contribute $100, and in completing this pledge we were generously assisted by some of the unfederated clubs of Duluth. Three young women have already been helped by this fund and are still its beneficiaries. No young woman from the Eighth district has yet received a loan from this fund. It is our privilege to recommend a beneficiary as well as to contribute towards its fund."

Mrs. Barrows also spoke of the good to be derived from the visiting nurse, bathhouses and public institutions by public-spirited women and recommended this practice to the clubs as a method of doing much good both in a philanthropic and civic way. In conclusion she made an appeal to the clubs of the district to endeavor to secure more clubs as members of the federation, and she finished as follows:

"As I said before, federation is in the air. The time is ripe for earnest-minded women to grapple with the problems which menace the commonwealth the community and the sanctity and security of the home in its many relations. 'Service' is the watch word of the home. It is only as woman can realize her relationship and responsibility to others that she reaches her highest development, whether in an individual or an associated capacity. It seems to me that the whole woman question is an evolution and 'it does not yet appear what we shall be.' Certainly the woman of a hundred years from now will differ widely from the woman of a hundred years ago. I believe she will be a finer product, stronger, wiser, more reasonable, less personal, and just as loving, lovable and womanly, and I don't believe it is any more possible to stop the evolution than the rising of the tide. Many things will contribute to the forming of the 'she who is to come,' maybe the ballot will be one of them."

THE BOY PROBLEM.

Don't Hide Cooky Jar From a Real Boy, Says Mrs. Hollister.

Mrs. B. L. Hollister of Aitkin in her paper on "Awakening Civic Interest and Responsibility in Boys," which she read at the Round Table meeting of the club convention this morning, covered her subject in the following manner:

"As I come from a country town I suppose I must deal with this subject as pertaining to boys in smaller towns and not those of the city. Not that the boy of the small town differs from the city boy as far as his nature and general make-up is concerned, but the men and women of the city who are interested in civic matters seem to be looking well to the care of the city boy outside of his home.

"We have never yet known a boy who has not at some time in his life had a mother, to say nothing of various aunts and grandmothers. But with the mother lies the greatest responsibility for his welfare. It is not enough that he should be properly fed and comfortably clothed and later started off to school with a clean face and a light heart, but the mother must or should know in what he is interested and there must, or should, be something for which he is responsible. The country boy has the advantage of his city cousin in the way of becoming familiar with all outdoors. In the first place he has what our sturdy ancestors called a 'door yard' to play in. Here the birds come and build their nests and some squirrels may also inhabit the wood pile. The boy comes to look upon these as his own private property and woe be to the luckless lad who dares to come near with the deadly slingshot. His interest in birds and squirrels has been awakened and he feels responsible for their safety. This includes not only those at home but also the birds of the community.

Natural Savages.

Some boys are natural little savages. They love to tease cats, throw stones at dogs and make the life of domestic animals miserable. Can you civilize a boy by refusing to allow him to keep a dog or a cat or both, with a rabbit pen thrown in, because they bring in so much dirt? Which is of greater importance: a hairless rug, a spotless kitchen floor, a perfect lawn not marred by a rabbit pen, or a kind-hearted, well-developed character in your boy?

Doughnuts for the Boy.

"Now, mothers, what about the doughnut and the cookie jars, and left-over pieces of pie? Away with the idea that they will ruin his digestion. They might if he is the victim of a fussy mother or a doting aunt, who keeps him in the house for fear he might catch cold or sprain his ankle or be kidnaped if he goes on a tramp with his neighbors and runs through the woods like a colt. But the natural, lively, wide-awake boy who skates and slides and throws snowballs, freezes his ears in winter and plays ball and marbles and has freckles on his nose and a sore toe in the summer—this boy can digest all the good home baking that father can provide and mother evolve from raw material, and he will appear regularly at the table three times a day with a lunch thrown in. And I maintain that it is mothers' business to see that her family is well nourished from the product of her own kitchen and oven and not from the bakery and corner grocery.

Boys' Club.

"An effort has been made in our town to form a boys' club to meet one evening a week, and make it so interesting that boys who are on the streets at night instead of at home, will come in and be benefited. The meetings are well attended and a drill occupies the first half hour and story telling the remainder of the time. But the boys, who go, all come from good homes and would not be on the street anyway. They are like the ninety-nine who need no salvation. So it is not filling the place for which it was intended.

"Last year one of our club women took a Sunday school class that had dwindled down to four or five boys who attended because they were compelled to. Several teachers had taken the class and failed, saying the boys were incorrigible. The present teacher now has a large, well-behaved class and she has achieved it through the Boy Scout movement. At Christmas time she gave each boy a scout manual and one said it was the best Christmas present he ever had. The interest is very keen, but she can find no man whom the boys unite on who will assume the work of scout master and women are barred from it.

"We have talked of various efforts being made for the betterment of the boy, but have we really accomplished anything? Not until the boys of today have laid aside their balls, their kites and their marbles. When the descendants of Tabby have died of old age, and Towser has gone where all good dogs go, when the boys we know today are full grown men, when we flush with pride instead of shame, at the mention of their names, then and not until then, shall we know whether our plans and achievements have been in vain."

SOCIAL CENTERS.

Bringing Back the Old Relation of Neighbor to Neighbor.

Mrs. C. P. Catlin of this city read the paper this tmorning at the Round Table on "What Club Women May Do to Counteract the Evils Surrounding Girls and Boys in Our Small Towns," having for her special topic of the establishment of social center work. She handled her subject in a most interesting manner as follows:

"The object of the social center movement is to make the school house the center of the community; to try to resume the relation of neighbor to neighbor, as existed in the days of our ancestors.

"I have taken no active part in social center work for the reason that the movement is so very new in our community, but will say from past experience in settlement and juvenile court work, I now more than realize the value to be gained in social centers. I will endeavor to furnish you with a few points about this movement, hoping that you, too, will realize its great value, work so valuable that many of the larger state universities have begun a propaganda of social centers as part of their extension work.

"In Houston, Tex., the city has bonded itself for $500,000 to build and equip five school houses and fit them to be complete social centers. They are going to skip the social settlement work and jump right into the social centers.

"As E. J. Ward, secretary of the national social center movement, says it is a mistake for people to do as was done in Chicago, where they continued to ask the public for more funds to put up separate buildings such as swimming schools, libraries, art galleries and playgrounds, where the school building and grounds stand ready for use. Chicago spent several million dollars before they realized their mistake.

"All sources of education and training should start in the school building and the money should not be used to put up more buildings, but to equip and put additions to what buildings we already have.

"Public money pays for our costly and handsome school houses and they should be occupied more than seven hours a day. To obtain the best results they should be open day time and evenings, all the year around and they will bring back to the taxpayers a rich revenue in good citizenship.

Must Be Attractive.

"There is no law which compels people to patronize the social center.

"Social centers have to be as attractive and magnetic to the youth as the saloon, the pool room, the dance hall and all other places of commercialized amusement. It is the greatest method of leading the delinquent youth into the path of honor and upright citizenship that has ever been brought to my attention.

"I never did approve of humiliation and repression of young boys. They need a greater amount of sympathy than discipline. Try to convince the youth of the many sorrows which he will bring not only to himself in the future, but to others dear to him should he continue to be on the street corners and in public places at night or any time when unemployed.

"Through the social center you can offer him a place of good, clean amusement that will make him happy.

"Make your social center a house of welcome, a place of greater attraction than the cheap amusements offered to our young boys and girls on the streets. Have it a place of love and kindness for the many who toil during the day and are tired and lonely for some place to go in the evening, hungry for a word of sympathy and the companionship of others. This is what all humanity longs for. Through the social center we can hope to eliminate the many social evils which surround and leave in its path only sorrow and misery for our young boys and girls, who will some day become the fathers and mothers of our next generation."

PREVENTION AND CURE.

Mrs. C. C. McCarthy Talks on New Conditions in the Home.

Mrs. C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids, vice president of the Eighth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke at the morning's session on the evils surrounding boys and girls in small towns.

"The old adage, 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' is nowhere better illustrated than in work for boys and girls," she said:

"Go into whatever home you will, where there are children and young people and note in the fond looks and watchful care of the parents the hopes and aspirations for these children. The home may be humble but if you talk with the mother or the father you soon discover that the little individualities of child nature are made much of even to the point of overdoing sometimes and thus spoiling the child; or if John is frail, what solicitude is felt and how earnestly it is hoped that he will grow into a strong, robust man; and how carefully the play is guarded that it may be of the kind and character that will develop properly—that the result may be physically, mentally and morally a well-balanced child; and haw anxiously does the really true parent watch the unfolding of the knowledge concerning self, that he may be ready at the right moment to give all aid possible in the gaining of this knowledge; and when children begin to do things, the energy and enthusiasm displayed in the doing are matters of real concern for without these characteristics little success or good will be accomplished in the world.

"And why this watchfulness and concern? The man or woman of the future is before us.

"A mighty responsibility, is it not—and the task is easy or hard according as are the home relations of the family to one another or to the community.

"In the earlier days of our civilization nearly everything used by the family was made in the home. Parents worked together, to provide for all needs, children saw much of father and mother and need it be said, the training and discipline were as much the duty of one as the other. The occupations and habits of the father were as much before boys as were those of the mother before her girls and were examples of thrift and energy, worthy of emulation.

Customs Have Changed.

"But the changes of time have made father the wage earner, away from home and to the mother has been left the duty of being the 'home builder.' Has this division of labor made mother any less a good home builder? Oh no, she has grown with her need, but it has lessened the influence of the father. Boys so love to be like father and the only time they have to look at him is an hour or so every evening and on Sunday. I was reading only the other day of a father who had never seen his babies at 1½ years old. Working a twelve-hour shift in a mine meant going to work before baby wakened and coming home at night after baby was asleep, and it is not only the wage-earner who has short hours with his family, but the business and professional men as well, and so as I have said before, the training of the children has come to be the mother's work.

"I think I hear you say, why that is not a 'social evil,' but an economic condition. True enough, but it is also a 'home relation' that is influencing our home life, and while this relation or condition has been evolving there have been community evils and relations of harmful tendencies growing into force of strength as well, and the mother upon whose shoulders has fallen the task of training the children of the family must cope with all these forces and bring one and all to mature estate unpolluted.

"Do we need to name these community evils? Plague spots they have been called, and so they are, and I have been wondering which to call the greater evil, the spot or the traffic carried on to support the spot, and the saloon, the tobacco, the stultifying drugs that we have known of children getting. To be sure, law excludes or regulates all of these evils but it has no control over our attitude towards them or our ignorance of what the law is regarding them. There are the public dance halls the cheap theaters, the pernicious picture shows where suggestion is influencing and lowering standards of morals at a very rapid rate, all community evils which derive support at the expense of the home.

Living in Excitement.

"You will say that children and young people being allowed to attend these places is due to lax discipline in the home. You possibly are right, but if so how has it come about that discipline is lax? While John and Mary have been growing up, the school curriculum has been growing up too, hasn't it? There has grown into it the exhibit, the class party, the class play, the school dance, all of which require the absence from home of John and Mary in preparation for or to attend, thus establishing the habit of living in excitement and for the next social event. In case there is no next social event, there is the theater or picture show to fall back upon. Appeal is made to the tired wage earning father or the overburdened mother for permission to go to the dance, or to the theater and usually are told, 'You may go this time.' Now where did the strong discipline end and the lax begin. It just grew—along with John and Mary, didn't it?

"A relation exists between community and home, and which has its influence, and since it is there and we are a party to it the task of counteracting these baneful and evil influences is ours, too.

"'Education and religion' is to be the war cry in the campaign and how best to carry forward the war is the purpose of this round table this morning.

"Cities seem to have plans made and well into execution but we of the smaller towns are still going to get into working order the ounce of prevention."

"VACATION SCHOOLS."

Mrs. Otis Smith Tells of What Has Been Done at Cloquet.

"The Value of Vacation Schools" was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Otis Smith of Cloquet, this morning.

Mrs. Smith spoke as follows:

"It is only within comparatively a few years that we have heard of vacation schools. Formerly it was thought that nine months' schooling in one year was not only enough, but was rather an educational luxury. It is enough. At six hours a day, nine months stretches to the utmost the time that any growing child or young person should employ in the study of books; it is the limit of consumption that should ever be allowed of youth's capital, physical strength and mental endurance. To make the school year ten months long, or vacations only two weeks in length, giving four or five of these brief rests during the year, as some eminent educators suggest, would be criminal to those whose age subjects them to the laws governing the public schools. For these reasons I have eliminated any consideration whatever of a vacation school that shall continue the regime of our public schools into the summer months. Hence you must give the vacation school a significance of its own.

"In considering this topic I thought first of the many vacation schools in the large cities about the success of which so much has been written but I decided to say nothing of them, since you can learn of them in the popular periodicals; but rather to give you the facts of the little I have seen of the practical working of vacation schools and a glimpse of the possibilities that lie in the future.

"Once, in a certain town, a number of boys, were involved in serious trouble. Their offense warranted a reformatory sentence. It was vacation time, the occupation which had been theirs for nine months of the year had been taken away, and in its place no outlet for their superabundance of energy had been provided. Speaking of one of the boys a high school teacher said to me, 'That boy is absolutely suffering for something to do. He did the best work in manual training during the school year of any boy of his age I ever saw, but I simply can't get his father to see that he needs to continue that industrial work during the summer.' Right here is the need for a practical vacation school, something for the boys from the seventh and eighth grades and the high school who are not otherwise employed.

Classes in Cooking.

"This past winter a night class in cooking was organized. It was scarcely expected to be popular, but more than twice as many applications were received as there was room for students in the school kitchen. The course covered six weeks, and the school was as popular the last week of the term as the first. In the regular cooking class of the day school there are an average of fifty-two girls, and it is a fact that many of these girls would have left school two years ago had it not been for their interest in domestic science. Of course the work is under the management of a woman with a magnetic personality—a woman with such a character is a necessity if the highest success is desired.

"These are not vacation schools, but undoubtedly within a short time, as soon as means will permit, the same branches will be continued during the summer, when the books have been put away, for it has been demonstrated that they are an unqualified success and of untold benefit.

"Aside from the schedule work of the public school this year, a course of farm lectures has been given, including every department of agriculture. The high school greenhouse, the first in the state of Minnesota, is the nucleus at the present time of 200 little garden plots that will be the vacation school of as anmy children during the summer. One hundred and ten children have entered the tomato contest which is interesting so many schools of the state.

"Last summer was the first time that Cloquet has made any attempt to teach her boys and girls. A school farm of ten acres was donated by the Cloquet Lumber company, to be known as Hornby field, after the manager of the lumber company, H. C. Hornby. Here thirty-six children planted and tended, working for a while, then being allowed to play in the woods, and on certain days being given instruction in soil and plant life. That was the beginning, a year ago, thirty-six children. This year there will be 200 children working on the farm, each having a plot 16 2-3 by 50 feet and raising all varieties of vegetables.

"I have not intended to encroach upon the subject of gardens, as this has been given to another club member, but these gardens or miniature farms are a school, teaching nature as it can never be taught in any school room, and preparing for as worthy an occupation as does any other study.

"The result of our small accomplishment thus far in contrast to what we hope to do in the future is well illustrated in one section of the city. Of the children in a neighborhood where there are thirty-five boys and ten girls on two sides of the street in one block, children who have been everlastingly idle and more or less in mischief for years, of these children, at least twenty-five boys have either a part in the school farm or a home garden, and every girl has entered the tomato contest, and several have also a plot at the farm. There is the most astonishing activity as well as rivalry among the boys of the neighborhood.

"Another vacation school of paramount importance is the home kitchen. No matter to what extent there is paid service in the home, every child, boy or girl, should be taught to wash dishes, make beds, sweep, and dust. Don't leave out of this the boys. To know at least enough of the culinary art to tide them over an emedgency will not disgrace him. The lads who help at home, not alone carrying the wood and coal, but washing the dishes and sweeping, are far more tractable, kinder brothers and sons, and make more appreciative men. Turn your boy and girl loose to play through the long days of the summer vacation, with no home duties, and you may expect 'the real returns in evil knowledge, ill manners, nervous exhaustion, contempt for restraint and laziness. Hence we must have vacation schools, and when we teach cooking, sewing, industrial work, gardening, making these subjects so attractive that we rouse the enthusiasm of children, we have gone far to solve the problem of what to do with the boys and girls during the three summer months.

THE METHODISTS AND SOCIETY.

Before the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, now in progress in Minneapolis, comes to an end, the delegates will be asked to go on record for these things:

The abolition of child labor.
Reduction of working hours to the lowest practicable point.
Safeguarding the conditions of toil for women.
Equitable division of the profits of industry.
Protection of workers from the risks of enforced unemployment.
Provision for old age and injured workers.

That is a Christian program. It is forged out of the vital elements of the Golden Rule. It is Christianity interpreted into terms of modern life.

It is entirely fair to say that until this nation has adopted and put in practice every plank in that Christian platform, it will not be a completely civilized nation; certainly not a Christianized nation.

But these things won't come unbidden, or without work. They need all the support they can get. They need support much more effective and meaningful than the fine-sounding but quickly forgotten rhetoric of party platforms.

It will be good to see a great church organization going on record for these things. It will be good for society, and it will be good for the church, because it will be vitalizing its creed.

We hope the Methodists adopt this splendid program, and that as an organization and as individuals they get behind it with all their prayerful earnestness.

Very Likely.

Is Champ Clark's alleged fondness for the Houn' Dawg song to be classified as "puppy love?"

HOW TO BEAT THE MEAT PRICES.

The prices of meat are higher than they have been for years, and in many cases they have become practically prohibitive.

But if you have twenty square feet, more or less, in your back yard, you can beat the game.

A spade costs about sixty-nine cents. A rake and a hoe cost only a little more. For half a dollar you can buy all the radish, lettuce, beet, pea, bean and cucumber seeds you need. For a little more you can buy a few tomato plants.

Elbow grease is not only absolutely free, but there is a rich profit in its use which comes through better health and better spirits.

Take that twenty square feet, that hoe, rake and spade, apply the elbow grease in liberal proportion; spade, hoe, rake, level, sow, cultivate and harvest.

You will have good, fresh vegetables, better and cheaper than you can buy, from June to September.

And now is the time to begin. If you go through with it you can laugh at the meat trust; and the doctors will lose by it, too.

No Reason Why He Should.

It doesn't seem possible that Mayor McCuen is going to let that saloon transfer resolution become the Payne-Aldrich bill of his administration.

WHY NOT CELEBRATE THE FOURTH?

The play grounds committee is to meet at the city hall tomorrow afternoon to look into the advisability and practicability of a general civic Fourth of July celebration this year.

It is to be hoped that arrangements may be made by which some suitable celebration can be held in which the whole city may take part.

It is easily possible if enough people can be induced to take an interest in it, and if money enough can be raised to carry out the plans that may be formed.

There should at least be some provision for a public fireworks entertainment on the evening of the Fourth. Last year Mayor Cullum tried to interest the public to the extent of contributing money for public fireworks, but nothing came of it. Evidently it is necessary, to bring that about, to appoint committees which will go out and get the money. It won't come in unsolicited.

Probably the playgrounds committee has larger ideas of a celebration than that, however. So the discussion tomorrow afternoon will be heard with interest.

Consideration for the lives and limbs and eyes and ears of the young folk has denatured the Fourth so there isn't much excitement left in it unless by organized effort some is provided. A proper civic celebration, sane but interesting, would be an excellent feature.

If enough of a celebration could be arranged, doubtless the railroads could be induced to run excursions in. It is all a matter of enterprise and money—and more enterprise.

As a Relaxation From Wagner?

Now who would have thought the effete Bostonians would have been so eager to rally to the tune of the Houn' Dawg song?

THE TITANIC IS AT THE BOTTOM.

When the Titanic took its last plunge, did it go straight to the ocean floor, two miles below? Or did it stop at a certain distance, where density affected it, and is it still hovering somewhere between bottom and top?

There have been many discussions of this subject, and much pseudo-science has been used to support the latter theory. However, it is all wasted. The Titanic is unquestionably at the bottom of the sea.

The Scientific American explains it thus: "Such questions are based upon the erroneous supposition that the density of the water at the bottom of the sea is far greater than that at the surface. Density is here confused with pressure. The pressure increases enormously as we descend, amounting to considerably over six thousand pounds per square foot at a depth of one hundred feet. * * * The depth where the Titanic lies is given as two thousand fathoms, which is considerably over two miles, and the pressure amounts to three-quarters of a million pounds per square foot.

"It is only natural to suppose that under such pressures the density of the water would be increased; but laboratory experiments have shown that it is almost impossible to compress water. At a depth of a mile the density of sea water is only 1-130 greater than at the surface. However, for all practical purposes we may consider that a given volume of water is not materially reduced in dimensions by pressure.

"With this clearly in mind, it is very evident that an object that would not float at the surface of the sea could not float at any intermediate point, but must surely sink to the bottom; for it could not displace a greater weight of water at the bottom than at the top, even though the water in the first case was under much higher pressure. As a matter of fact, any air-filled chambers or compressible matter in the vessel would be crushed by the enormous pressure of the water, so that the displacement of the wreck would be growing less as it went down, and it would be falling through the water at a corresponding acceleration. We must remember, also, that even steel is more compressible than water, and consequently a solid block of this material would actually weigh more at the bottom of the sea than at the top."

Or Anybody Else.

Mrs. Florence Lake of the California W. C. T. U. declaims that children shouldn't be allowed in the same house with spoony couples. This is the first recorded intimation that spoony couples cared to have children around.

SAVE THE CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

There is an additional reason why those who wish initiative, referendum and recall provisions put in the city charter by the voters May 7 should be vigilant and active in getting out their full vote.

It requires a three-fifths vote, not a majority vote, to adopt charter amendments.

If it gets only fifty-one votes out of each hundred, which would be a majority, it still would fail of adoption.

Considering this fact, and considering the fact that every individual and every interest opposed to direct popular control of city government will see to it that every hostile vote that can be reached will be at the polls next Tuesday, it is plain that if the amendment is to be carried every citizen who favors it should go to the polls and mark his ballot for it.

If it fails it will be because of a combination of the inactivity of those who favor it with the activity of those who oppose it.

One at a Time, Please.

China wants to borrow $300,000,000—now don't all speak at once.

THE SAVING CLAUSE.

The only thing that has made the recent disgraceful controversy between the president and the only living ex-president even tolerable is this:

Both, in their hot mutual recriminations, have been more or less right.

Wonderful Age!

We are living in the most marvelous epoch in the world's history. Reports from the East are that a car of limburger cheese has spoiled! What next?

A REMINISCENCE OF OTHER DAYS.

"What we want," said President Taft in South Carolina yesterday, "is prosperity.

"We want quiet and the least disturbance to business, so that capital may be invested and all may enjoy plenty."

How much that sounds like the days of McKinley and Hanna, the days of the Full Dinner Pail which could come only through a Republican administration,—but which hasn't always come during a Republican administration,—the days of the soft pedal on agitation and the full fortissimo on the beauties of the protective tariff and the grandeur and the glory of the Grand Old Party.

Of course we want prosperity. But we want prosperity for all, and the people propose to have it. Yet no gleam of a perception of that need seems to have penetrated to the president's mind. If prosperity is large in bulk, it's no matter how it is distributed. If averages are high, it's no matter how many congested fortunes and how much widespread hardship are concealed beneath them.

The president still is of those who think more of prosperity in the mass than of the prosperity of the masses. The grim, towering, menacing question of how that prosperity is distributed has no interest for him.

Small wonder, then, that the president's political prosperity has been so small in the presidential primaries where the people have had a chance to vote upon him.

Getting a Good Start.

The California suffragists will not have reason to complain that their first political experience was not in a really interesting campaign.

THE MENACE OF THE I. W. W.

The Industrial Workers of the World are growing rapidly, and their "direct method" program, their refusal to accept any compromise short of public ownership, and the intemperance of some of their members, make it a serious problem.

But the discontent on which it is feeding is a greater menace still. It is a real discontent, with solid grounds; and no indignation about the I. W. W. will make it less substantial. A discontent with low wages, with a lowered standard of living, with conditions that force women and children to work when they should be in the homes, is not to be ended by criticizing the methods of those who voice it. Ray Stannard Baker, writing of the Lawrence strike in the American Magazine, says:

> The strike at Lawrence was far more than a revolt; it was an incipient revolution. It was revolutionary because it involved a demand for fundamental changes in the basic organization of industry. Thinly veiled behind its demands for higher wages lay the outspoken declaration of the leaders for the abolition of the entire wage system, and the suppression of the private ownership of capital. Now the same revolutionary organization which conducted the strike at Lawrence with so much skill is at this moment organizing rapidly in other parts of the country. Its victory here will give it a new prestige and new enthusiasm.

The revolutionary strike is a new thing, and a menacing one. The Industrial Workers of the World are Socialists, but they are Socialists who are impatient with the wiser evolutionary policies of the party, and who seem to be separating themselves from the old organization. They form a problem which must not be ignored, but must be met. And mere criticism, with the evils they attack unredressed, will do no good, but will be oil on the flames instead of oil on the waters.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR BACKYARD GARDENER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In one of your recent issues I notice your plan regarding vacant lots and heartily approve of it. I own lot 1210-1211 Crosley Park, all told, fifty feet on the northwest corner of Fifty-third and Glendale, that anyone who would like to may cultivate and use to their heart's content. Though quite far out there may be someone in the vicinity to whom this may appeal. Sincerely yours, ARTHUR ROSE.

MODERATE DRINKING.

New York Sun: To drink or not to drink is a question which has long agitated the public mind. The solution of this problem has been rendered difficult if not improbable by the important and justifiable dominance of the moral aspect, which has created social, political and commercial antagonisms that appear to militate against fair consideration

Looking at the matter from another standpoint, the physical or sanitary, the question is not so difficult to answer, as was recently indicated in an address of the president of a great university to its students. He pointed out that while formerly it was held by many scientists that alcohol was useful as a food, or at least as conservator of force in the human organism, this idea has been abandoned in favor of the view that even small quantities of alcohol may damage the body and lead to a degree of physical depreciation which may disturb if it does not destroy usefulness in the battle of life. This is true; the preponderance of medical opinion is that alcohol is not only useless in supporting life and fostering strength but that it is almost entirely eliminated from the body as are other poisons, and that in this elimination, undertaken by the self-regulating conservative processes of the human organism, great damage to delicate tissues, especially of the liver, stomach and nerve cells, may accrue. Alcohol is practically the only fluid which is speedily absorbed from the stomach, as is shown by the rapidity of its manifestations after a cocktail in the case of the uninitiated. It is this active exhilarating action which endows alcoholic beverages with the fascination that holds the world in a delightful bondage from which cold reason appears impotent to disentrail it. In a symposium on this subject several eminent physicians and educators arrived at the almost unanimous conclusion that the dictum of a certain neurologist, that "if alcohol were suddenly withdrawn from the world the consequences to the comfort and happiness of the people would be dire," was untenable if not absurd, and that the converse could be established without difficulty. The only discordant voice arose from a professor of psychology who made a plea for beer.

A few days ago a distinguished physician, esteemed highly for his earnestness, said in a public address that many physicians, who knew the danger, had become addicted to alcohol and drugs. Replying to an inquiry, he writes that the published report was correct and that his own observations were corroborated by Dr. T. D. Crothers, a recognized expert on this subject. Although the statistics cited by Dr. Crothers are not altogether convincing, there is much truth in his inference from the high mortality among physicians in middle life as to whom there is a history of alcohol or drug taking. That there are few actually intemperate men in the medical profession is easily demonstrated, since their services are invariably personal and discovery would be unavoidable, with its dire consequences.

It is the habitual indulgence in alcohol which is prone to lead to certain well known degenerations, especially when it is imbibed before meals. It is important, therefore, not only to differentiate between moderate and immoderate, but chiefly between its moderate and habitual use. The human organism is capable of resisting the effects of deleterious agents occasionally introduced; but it becomes incompetent to eliminate them when the intake is habitual and constant. The average man who "takes an eye opener" every morning is almost certain to have a "nutmeg liver" that will eventually take him to the grave with dropsy, etc.; the man who does not enjoy his dinner without the preceding cocktail is menacing equally his future comfort and his life. It is only a question of time with the average individual and a question of idiosyncrasy with others. A recent statement by a physician of half a century's experience confirms this view, although he is himself a very moderate drinker.

A While for a Time.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: A Cleveland school teacher writes that she asked her class what was the difference between the expressions "a while" and "a time." Nobody seemed to have any ideas on the subject. Finally the light o intelligence was seen to shine in the eyes of one little boy, and the teacher called upon him to save the intellectual honor of the class.

"I know, teacher!" he cried eagerly. "When papa says he going out for a while, mamma says she knows he's going out for a time."

That's one way of looking at it.

The Troublesome Garden Tools.

Lippincott's: With the coming of spring, it is said, those who own motor cars in a certain section of Massachusetts operate them with considerably less speed, not, however, always because of the county ordinances or out of consideration for their fellow citizens' safety.

On one occasion two motorists were crawling up a highway where lately a friend (then riding with one of them) knew they had formerly gone at top speed. The friend asked why the car was run so slowly.

"Why," explained the drive rof the car, with perfect naivete, "everybody's carrying home garden tools now, and you can't run over a man without risking a puncture."

The Advance of Civilization.

Life: Food.
Cooked food.
A table to keep the food from the ground.
A plate to keep the food from the table.
A thick cloth to keep the plate from the table.
A thin cloth to keep the plate from the thick cloth.
Then another plate to keep the food from the first plate.
Then a dolly to keep the second plate from the first plate.
When the table is protected by the thick cloth and the thick cloth by the thin cloth and the thin cloth by a plate and te plate by a dolly and the dolly by a second plate, the food is protected by a diet.

The Spreading Revolt.

Chicago Tribune: From Pennsylvania in the East to Oregon in the West the people are taking charge of the Republican party again. It is a spreading revolt against the Bourbon princes. They were fat and contented, but are now in flight.

It is a healthy revolt of men whose patience has been tried and who have become utterly weary of such leadership as has been given them. They were disgusted with McKinley, Cannon and Lorimer in Illinois; with Penrose in Pennsylvania. They are overturning the princes in West Virginia, in Nebraska, in Kansas.

The revolt spreads and it will not be checked.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

In April Summer!

Mankato Free Press: Five inches of snow fell in Duluth on April 21—and Duluth claims to be a summer resort.

An Unkind Cut.

Stillwater Gazette: There is one thing about the winter clothing of the Duluth people. The moths never get a chance to roost.

A Good Move.

Mendahga Journal: Duluth may need a new jail, but an inudstrial farm such as is proposed for prisoners charged with minor offenses is a move in the right direction and should win out.

This From a Woman.

Little Falls Transcript: A Duluth barber is being sued for calling a girl a 'chicken," the chicken bringing the suit. Most girls find less opprobrium in the term "chicken" than in "hen."

They Don't Get It Everywhere.

Princeton Union: The retail merchants of Duluth have decided to close their stores on Wednesday afternoons during the summer so that the clerks may have an opportunity to enjoy themselves out of doors. Considering that the clerks work until 10 or 11 o'clock on Saturday nights this half holiday is no more than they deserve.

Good Selection.

Ely Miner: Duluth is to have the Democratic state convention on June 6. The committee made no mistake in selecting the Zenith City.

And Will Be in July.

Stillwater Gazette: The first vessels to arrive at Duluth from the Soo were the Harry Yates and Agwa, both of which came into port twelve hours over-due and covered with ice. The gale was so strong that for three hours they were held stationary, although they were working their engines ahead all the time. The ice is said to be heavily wind-rowed and is dangerous. It lays in great folds off Isle Royale, Manitou and Whitefish. Yet, it is still cool at Duluth.

They're Hit.

Mankato Free Press: This sharp thrust is from The Duluth Herald: "And to think that one single search light on board the Titanic might have prevented the turning of so many searchlights on the management of the ship." Hit 'em again.

A Song of the Trees.

Flirting with the breeze,
Of thousand trees,
Decorate the hill,
Bending and swaying,
Dancing and playing,
Or standing silent and still.

...thin their arms,
Fragrant and warm,
Nestle a thousand birds.
The music they make
I cannot relate,
It's far too grand for words.

Lifting so high
Their heads to the sky.
Standing so silent and still.
In the gathering gloom,
Just before the moon
Climbs over the eastern hill.

Then, whispers the breeze
To the silent trees
"I want you to dance with me."
Then, they wave to and fro,
Bending gracefully low,
Like a boat on a moonlit sea.

I wish I could know
What they whisper so low,
As time with the breezes they keep.
I may be wrong,
But I think its a song.
To lull all the birdies to sleep.

I may be wrong,
But the dance and the song,
Present the soul of me.
A song of length,
Of patience and strength,
A lull-a-by song to me.

An Ingenious Book Agent.

New York Evening Sun: The book agent who walked into Peter Steffen's office looked like an ingenious fellow, but Steffens, glancing up in a hurry, spied his trade in a minute and muttered to himself:

"Confound that boy. Now, how did that fellow get in?"

Aloud, he said: "You're wasting your time here. I won't buy anything today."

"If you'll only let me show you—"

"No," shouted Steffens.

"It won't take a minute—"

"It'll take five," declared Steffens.

"But, reall, my dear sir, this is something out of the common—"

"No use. I can't read," said Steffens.

"But your family, sir, would you deprive them—"

"I would," said Steffens, "if I had any. I'm an orphan."

"Well, you might want something to throw at the cat," suggested the book agent.

"Do you think," demanded Steffens, "that I would demean my cat by throwing your miserable publication at her?"

The book agent was only dashed a second.

"What about me," he asked, insinuatingly. "Don't you want something to throw at me the next time I come?"

Why Not Co-operative Buying?

Albert Lea Standard: In the business organization of the household the wife is the head of the purchasing department. In the business world the great importance of trained skill in buying is clearly recognized and the competent purchasing agent is liberally rewarded. The best organized households still lag far behind standard commercial practice.

A Kansas City teacher of domestic science in the public schools recently served a meal to 148 persons at a cost of 12 cents each. The menu comprised bouillon with wafers, veal loaf, creamed potatoes, cranberry jelly, pickles, biscuits, cabbage salad, sponge cake and coffee. After the "demonstration" had eventuated in a comfortable sense of satiety on the part of the visitors, the teacher expounded the gospel of inexpensive living by wise buying.

She said that buying in quantity was of the first importance. The 12-cent meal, she said, would have cost 20 cents if purchased in quantities sufficient for only four people.

Why should not housewives of a community form co-operative buying associations? Indeed they are doing so in Eastern cities and are making a success of it. The labor as well as expense would be greatly reduced if a dozen—twenty-five or more families should purchase their supplies together. It would cut the expense a third or more and the retailer would thus welcome the reduction in cost of running his store and in avoiding bad accounts. It is a chance to reduce the cost of high living that is as certain as it would be satisfactory and a benefit to all that shared in it.

A Case for Vaccination.

Woman's Home Companion: They were having tableaux across the road at Willie Brown's and Willie's mamma came over to ask Jack Snow if he would not like to come also. Jack's mamma was not at home, and Jack with a very sober face declined the invitation.

"Why, Jack," said the lady, "why don't you want to come over?"

"I 'spect mamma wouldn't let me," answered the little fellow politely, "'cause I's never had tableaux, and I might catch 'em!"

Chance for More Sleep.

Everybody's Magazine: A North Dakota farmer roused his new harvest hand from slumber in the haymow promptly at 3 a. m.

"You can slip down and cut that little patch of oats before breakfast," he ordered.

"Are they wild oats?" sleepily inquired the hired man.

"Wild? Why, no, they're tame oats."

"Well, if they're tame, maybe I can slip up on them in daylight."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1892.

•••The deals for the leasing of the Cincinnati, Hale and Kanawha mines to the Kimberly syndicate of Sharon, Pa., represented by John T. Jones, are practically closed. Four forties of the Rouchleau property adjoining the Biwabik mine have been leased already. The Kimberley syndicate will soon have contracts on its hands to get out over 1,000,000 tons of ore each year.

•••The Ironton Land company held its annual meeting yesterday and elected the following officers: President, J. A. Smeallie; secretary and general manager, A. M. Stearns; directors, F. C. Bowman, M. Douglas, W. C. Stearns, G. W. Lane, R. Kelly, M. J. Hulett, Marion Douglas and F. J. Stevens.

•••The Colored Men's Political club last evening passed a resolution indorsing Fred L. McGhee, a St. Paul lawyer, for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention.

•••J. H. O'Neil, at one time ranking passenger conductor on the Northern Pacific road, was in Duluth yesterday. He is now proprietor of the Great Northern hotel at Park Rapids, Minn.

•••There was an exciting shooting affray at Tower. A. R. Palmer (colored) and Clark Winchell, a switchman, opened fire on each other, and Palmer received a bullet in the neck. His recovery is doubtful. Scott Straws, also colored, met Neil Bowie later in the day and gave him a thrashing. Bowie is a friend of Winchell's, and it was on account of his being fired from a boarding house and Palmer being given rooms there that the shooting took place.

•••J. E. Drouillard has resigned his position as mining captain of the Charleston mine.

•••Edward Hazen has assumed the management of the Highland Improvement company.

•••Todd county has elected six delegates to the Republican congressional convention to be held in Duluth. They are said to favor H. C. Kendall for congress.

•••The city council last evening finally passed the Duluth, Red Lake Falls & Northern railway ordinance. The Minnesota Point Street Railway company at once served the president of the council with a summons to show cause why the Red Lake Falls & Northern road should not be restrained from interfering with its rights on Minnesota Point. The street railway company claimed that its franchise gives it the exclusive right to carry passengers and freight on all the streets and avenues on the Point.

PECKSNIFFIAN SOBS.

Chicago Tribune: Now enters Senator Joseph L. F. Johnston of Alabama, gently sighing and sniffing into his precise and virtuous cambric handkerchief. Let there be a moment's silence as the senator comes down stage, takes an impressive sip of water, looks mournfully over the audience, and with that look spreads his blessing over all pious men who are good to their folks.

"He never drank," says Mr. Johnston, controlling his emotion with difficulty, "or smoked, or used profane language, or frequented barrooms. With such a record as a moral man and of achieving success under the most adverse circumstances, it would be a great pity to every struggling boy in this great country now to convict him contrary to the law and the evidence."

The senator's face disappears into his precise cambric handkerchief, but we know that it is only to conceal the tender tears which come trickling down his cheeks and one bold tear which runs down the bridge of his sensitive nose.

There could be but one man of whom these impressive and moving words would be spoken. As you have already guessed, it is of that man the senator speaks. Every struggling boy in the land, every boy who may be sitting up nights with the story of Abraham Lincoln, every boy who may be impatient for the time when he may shoulder responsibilities and step into a man's part; every struggling, ambitious, patriotic boy will face blank future and then prospects without hope if a wretched conspiracy conquers the man who never smoked, never swore, and never drank.

And Little Hinky Dink will grieve, and John Broderick will be sad, and a blight will lie on the land. Small wonder if Mr. Johnston's shaking shoulders betray the intensity of his sniffs.

This is too bad; it is too bad. It is no salve to reflect that there is no question of "convicting" the good man, but only of declaring his election void because some bad men were paid for voting for him. It is not salve to reflect that it is not proposed to act against the law and evidence, but in accordance with it. Here is a great grief, and it is only increased when we look again at the letter written Taft:

"I have read as much of the evidence as I could get at, and am convinced that there was a mess and mass of corruption upon which his election was found that ought to be stamped with the disapproval of the senate."

There is no consolation for a great grief in that, and Mr. Johnston, thinking of the poor little struggling boys, who will be blighted, can only raise his sniffs to the dignity of sobs.

Archie Butt.

Archibald, Archibald, Willingham Butt,
You have somehow made us feel like a mutt;
Always we've made you gigles and pokes,
Gibed at you, jeered at you, laughed at you, took
A joy in just reaching for you with the hook;
Now when we think of you language is weak,
Now we sit here and with tears on our cheek,
And a lump in our throat, and a hurt in our breast—
It was good natured raillery—naught but a jest—
But we'd give the world could we only recall
The gibes and the jeers and the giggles and all!
We shall see you forever till life shall grow pale
As you stood hat in hand with a smile, at the rail,
Of the ship as she sunk, with a cheery good-bye
To those you had helped to the boats.
In your eye
There was nothing to fear. Yours to strive and to plan
For the weak, then to go to your death like a man,
With a smile on your lips and a call o'er the foam:
"Remember me, please, to the people back home."
Oh, the years of the world have been many and wide,
In each age of the world have been heroes who've died
For their fellows—whose deaths were impressive and grand,
But you—facing death with your hat in your hand!
And a smile on your lips—oh, all language is weak!
There's a hurt in our heart, and a tear on our cheek!
God rest you, brave knight, in your sleep 'neath the foam,
You're enshrined in the hearts of us people back home."

—Judd Mortimer Lewis in the Houston Post.

The Exception That Proves.

Farm, Stock and Home: Abe Reuf, political boss at one time, now behind prison bars for his political misdeeds, said recently:

"When a young man of 21, I, together with F. K. Lane, J. H. Wigmore, and others, organized a club for civic reform, corresponding with similar bodies endeavoring to awaken American public conscience, one of which was represented by Theodore Roosevelt. Today, Franklin K. Lane holds the position of interstate commerce commissioner; John H. Wigmore is dean of the Northwestern university, professor of law and authority of note. I am in a prison cell. They live in honor; I in disgrace. Their words are listened to with respect; I speak only with the consent of the guards and under their censorship. They are high in the councils of men; I in the lowest degradation. They live the lives of men; I the life of a felon."

At what point in his career he chose to break with the ideals that have lifted these associates to prominence he does not say, nor does it much matter. The point is that early association and high ideals themselves are not enough to give to men the respect and honor that can be rightly held only by consistency of life and motives. The narrow path of private and public morality leads to the broad fields of success, and he who swerves aside pays the price for his betrayal.

Progressive Definitions.

Emporia Gazette: This fight is between the Standpatters and the Progressives. And it is not fair that the Progressives should be split up and the Standpatters united. The first degree of the Progressive cause which our Standpat friends above mentioned are just taking is to get all fussed up and agonized. The second degree is to learn the beauties of practical common sense. The floor work of the second degree is perfectly grand.

Kentucky Nicknames.

Hazard, Ky., Herald: The wild and woolly West may have its "Deadeye Dicks" and "Long-Fingered Jakes," but in Perry county you will find "Kershaw William," "Sango Jim," "Kettlehead Bill," "Beanpole Jim," "Butter-eye Jack," "Toady Jim," "Natty Jim," "White Jacket John," "Blackcat Jasper," "Blossomeye Bill," "Smoker Bill," "Chigger John," "Sharper Press," "Potstick William," "Hornet John," and so on ad libitum, as the attorney would say.

Lorimer.

New York World: Because of Lorimer, Shelby M. Cullom, after thirty years of honorable service in the United States senate, has been repudiated by the Republicans of Illinois.

Because of Lorimer, President Taft was unable to stem the Roosevelt tide in Illinois and has gone down to the most humiliating defeat he has yet sustained.

But Lorimer is still a senator in the congress of the United States. Nothing disturbs him. They "put him over," and he stays put.

People Want a Progressive.

Houston Chronicle: Whatever else happens, it seems fairly certain President Taft will not be able to muster popular strength enough to re-elect himself, even if he be renominated. The Democratic party is therefore bound in honor to give the people a chance to put a progressive president in Taft's place.

They seem determined to elect a Progressive, on one ticket or the other. Should Roosevelt be nominated, or La Follette, or a Republican Progressive "dark horse," the Democrats will have no more chance for victory with a reactionary nominee than they had when Parker ran in 1904.

Water on the Side.

TO SEEK FORTUNE IN TINY SCHOONER

Capt. Slater Buys Small Craft Built Forty-Six Years Ago.

San Francisco, Cal., May 3.—The seventeen-ton schooner Alice Stofen, which is not only the smallest freighting craft but the oldest on San Francisco bay, is being outfitted for a cruise, which many old time sailors believe will be her last. The vessel bears the name of the family which first establishtd bay freighting, and was built here in 1856. Throughout its long career it has been associated with the rather prosaic freight business in the harbor, but now for the first time will set sail for a voyage of adventure.

Capt. Harry Slater, veteran whaleman and former mate of the trading schooner Rosie H., will drive his vessel through the ever changing Arctic currents and in the face of biting blasts that he may find a land of promise and reap a harvest of gold.

Slater has been following the course of the right whale for many seasons, but recently he believed he saw opportunities to pile up wealth in the trading business, and he set his mind upon the purchase of a craft of his own. Last spring he came out of the North with this intention, and after a search about the bay came upon the Stofen. The vessel appeared old and scarred through long service in stormy weathers, but its timbers were stanch and Slater paid over his savings for it.

The vessel is being overhauled at Munder's ways and its new skipper superintending the few improvements about the decks.

"After all," says Slater, "there is money to be made in the frozen North through whaling and trading with the Indians and I think I see my way clear to get some of it."

"But your vessel is very small to carry you into the Arctic," was suggested.

Slater smiled as he said that he had experienced many dangers as a boatheader in the whaling season and that he regarded his voyage of adventure as child's play. It was his first intention to make the trip alone, but he has decided now to employ another man. Not that he feared the lonesomeness which such a cruise involves, but rather that he might have somebody around to look after odds and ends.

From here the Alice Stofen will probably proceed to Nomo and thence to Point Barrow. Winter quarters will be established at that place and Slater will carry on his work of trading. He says he expects to remain in the North for years and that he doesn't intend to bring the vessel back here.

Slater's boat measures 40 feet 5 inches over all, has a beam of 17.5 and is 4.40 in depth.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Postoffice Bill Passed.

Washington, May 3.—The postoffice appropriation bill, carrying approximately $275,000,000, was passed by the house, 227 to 5. The measure carries, in addition to the appropriations necessary for the conduct of the department, a number of radical provisions. Among these were federal aid for good roads, the compulsory publication by newspapers, magazines and periodicals of the names of owners, and the establishment of a parcels post in connection with a rural free delivery system. The good roads provision added between $16,000,000 and $18,000,000 dollars to the appropriation, and this amount, it is expected, materially will be increased in the next postoffice measure.

Delays Compensation Bill.

Although Senator Reed of Missouri held the floor of the senate all yesterday speaking in opposition to the workmen's compensation bill and will continue his address today, he denied he intended a filibuster. The senate has agreed to vote during the present "legislative day," but opponents to the measure refused to agree to vote even on Saturday. The delay is in the interest of a postponement of the vote until next December. Senator Reed charged that the bill, instead of being in the interest of railroad employes, had been originated by claim agents.

Expect Fight in House.

The legislative, executive and judicial bill, introduced in the house yesterday, promises to develop a strenous fight over the provision eliminating all government clerks at 65 years of age and making other changes in the service. The measure, which carries $35,648,847, is expected to meet with vigorous assault in many of its provisions, and a lengthy debate on it was accepted as inevitable.

Agree on Pension Bill.

Conferees on both houses of congress on the general service pension bill have reached an agreement on the basis of the senate bill, with some increases for advanced age and length of service. This action is said to assure the enactment of the general service bill into law.

The conferees were Senator McCumber, Burnham and Gore and Representatives Sherwood, Adair and Sulloway. Messrs. Gore and Sulloway refused to sign the report, the former on the ground that the senate was conceding too much, and the latter because it does not concede enough. The increase grants $18 a month to soldiers 66 years old who served two and a half years, and $19 to those who served three years. Those 70 years old who served one and a half years get $21.50; two years, $23; two and a half years, $24; three years, $25. Those of 75 years who served one and a half years get $27; two and two and a half years, $30.

Senator McCumber, the author of the compromise figures, will present the report to the senate when the workmen's compensation bill has been disposed of.

It is estimated that the increase in the government's pension expenditures for five years under the terms of the agreement, will average about $25,000,000 annually.

Bolivia Gold Stories Fakes.

American investors, especially those in the western section of the country are warned against false reports of enormously rich gold discoveries in Bolivia, which already have sent a number of American fortune hunters into Bolivia with disastrous results. The American legation at La Paz has cabled the state department that many of these miners were now returning from Tipuani, bringing unfavorable reports, and that although the Bolivian government had been assisting prospectors in their search, so far no discoveries of gold warranting atrip to Bolivia had been made.

FIREMEN WANT WAGES RAISED

Railroad Organization Makes Demand on Eastern Lines.

New York, May 3.—Following closely upon the agreement of the engineers and managers of the fifty railroads east of Chicago to submit to arbitration the demands of the engineers for increased wages and changes in their hours of work, the locomotive firemen and hostlers of the same railroads have submitted to the managers a schedule requesting additional pay, changes in hours, and in some cases the employment of assistant firemen. W. S. Carter of Peoria, Ill., president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, presented the demand to J. C. Stuart, chairman of the conference committee of the railroad managers, who told him the managers would be called to meet as soon as possible to discuss the matter. Later it was stated on behalf of the managers that to grant the demands would mean an additional annual outlay by the railroads of between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Ten Hour Day.

The demands of the men were formulated at a meeting of the Eastern federated board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers held at Chicago, Feb. 15, and embrace increases in the pay of firemen in the passenger and through, local and way freight service, and on switch engines and for hostlers and helpers on electric engines. They also calls for a day's work of ten hours or less or runs of 100 miles or less. A stipulation in this latter respect is all mileage in excess of 100 miles made within ten hours shall be paid for at mileage rates.

The men ask also that firemen held at other than a home terminal shall be paid continuous time after the expiration of fifteen hours from the time they register off duty and that firemen shall be relieved from cleaning engines.

The clause in the demands calling for assistant firemen specifies that these men shall be employed on coal burning locomotives in the freight service, and that the assistant shall aid the regular fireman in the prescribed duties incident to the firing of a locomotive. The pay of the assistant is to be determined at a conference of firemen and the railroad managers committee.

ASK RECOUNT OF BAY STATE VOTES

Taft Men Claim They Were Wrongfully Deprived of Support.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—A petition was filed with the Boston board of election commissioners last night by Chairman Herman Hormel of the Republican state committee, asking for a recount of the vote cast at Tuesday's primaries for Republican delegates-at-large in every ward of Boston except Seventh ward. Today similar petitions will be filed asking for recounts for the votes for Republican delegates-at-large throughout the state.

The Taft managers hope that the recount will show that the number of ballots thrown out because crosses were marked for both Ex-Senator Frank Zeiberlich and the regular Taft ticket, headed by Senator Crane, would have been sufficient, if counted, to have elected the Taft ticket for delegates-at-large. The voters were allowed to vote for but eight names, but the proximity of the name of Zeiberlich, also pledged for Taft on the regular ticket, resulted, it is claimed, in many voters' invalidating their ballots by marking all nine names.

Dynamite in Her Kindling.

Shenandoah, Pa., May 3.—To hurry dinner Mrs. Charles Schreeves, a well known woman, put wood on a slow coal fire in her kitchen stove. A frightful explosion followed, shattering the stove and wrecking the kitchen, which also took fire. Mrs. Schreeves was rendered unconscious, but escaped serious injury. It is supposed one or more dynamite caps were in the wood.

HUSBAND IN CITY JAIL IS REMARRIED BY WIFE.

Sacramento, Cal., May 3.—Because the records of their wedding were destroyed in the big fire in San Francisco and they wanted to secure their property interests, Charles Joseph Clark, held at the city jail for parole breaking in Carson, Nev., and Agnes Roe were married again in the city jail by City Justice Anderson. Matron Phelps attended the bride, while Sergeant Butler acted as best man.

For several days Mrs. Clark has paid daily visits to her husband. With Attorney William Howe, Mrs. Clark got a marriage license from the county clerk.

Clark said that he had property in the East and that the records of his first marriage to Agnes Roe had been destroyed in the fire in San Francisco and they wished to make sure of their union by a second wedding.

CHANGES IN WEATHER START TROUBLE

Spring weather, with its sudden changes, its cold, raw, damp winds, is bad for rheumatic sufferers. It starts the aches and pains, the twinges and tortures. But every rheumatic sufferer must remember that the weather is not the cause of the rheumatism. It merely arouses the slumbering rheumatic poison and the poison is in the blood.

The only way to reach the trouble and cure it is through the blood. Liniments, oils and other external applications may relieve the pain temporarily but to cure rheumatism—really cure it, so that it will stay cured, the poison must be driven from the system.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do this. They enable the blood to absorb oxygen, the oxygen changes the rheumatic poison chemically so that it is excreted from the body through the skin, bowels and kidneys. At the same time the blood which always becomes thin in an attack of rheumatism is built up and the system is guarded against another attack. As long as the blood is kept rich and red there is no danger of rheumatism.

Mrs. J. T. Sloggy, of No. 4009 Thompson avenue, Tacoma, Wash., says:

"A few years ago I suffered a great deal with rheumatism, being confined to my bed some of the time, was under a physician's care and was unable to do any work. I was also troubled with indigestion. When spring came I was thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and was broken down in health generally. That summer I made a visit to Wisconsin and while there met an old friend, who had been a great sufferer from indigestion and had been completely cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I knew her word could be relied on so I got a box of the pills and commenced taking them. I felt benefited in a few days but continued to take them until cured.

"That winter I had no return of the rheumatism, my appetite improved and I gained in flesh and strength. My cure was permanent and I have not taken any of the pills since.

"I have told others how the pills helped me and I sincerely hope that others suffering in the same way may be induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

If you awake in the morning to find a joint stiff and that moving it causes a sharp twinge of pain, that is rheumatism. Perhaps with the use of the limb the pain in the joint will disappear, but it will come back and probably spread to other joints.

If the pain is in the muscles so that it is torture to go about your daily work, that is muscular rheumatism. This form does not disappear with exercise.

If the tender membranes surrounding the joints are inflamed and the surfaces red, angry and swollen, that is inflammatory rheumatism.

The one great symptom of rheumatism is pain, the one great danger to life is that it may attack the heart, the one cause is rheumatic poison in the blood, the one great remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

These pills have cured so many cases of rheumatism, so many forms of the disease, at every stage from a simple twinge to a body crippled and distorted with pain, that it is folly for any sufferer to go another day without giving them a trial. The benefit starts with the first dose for when you build up and oxidize the blood you are assisting the forces of nature to combat the disease. Our free book, "Building Up the Blood," tells more about rheumatism, and how to treat it and contains proof of cures in stubborn cases. Send for it today.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

DOWAGERS ARE IN POLITICS

Queen Alexandra and Empress Marie Both Wield Much Power.

London, May 3.—There are many signs at the present moment that Queen Alexandra hopes to play a part in England similar to that played with so much success in Russia, by her sister, the Dowager Empress Marie. Indeed, it is understood to be largely upon the advice of her more experienced sister that the English queen-mother has been interesting herself in affairs of state during the last few months and it must be admitted even by those most opposed to her meddling that she exerts an enormous influence.

The Empress Marie is an intriguer in high politics worthy the metal of the greatest of living diplomats. Despite the fact that she is extremely unpopular in Russia, she is the real power behind the throne, holding her puppet son in the hollow of her masterful hand. She is credited with bringing about the Franco-Russian alliance which offers an effective check to the ambitons of Germany and her ally, Austria. Similiarly, Queen Alexandra, through King Edward, is credited with a large share in the formation of the entente cordiale between England and France and she is understood to have been instigated in that by Empress Marie. Every year the latter visits Queen Alexandra in England and what passes between the two women, members of a family long used to the business of ruling, probably has an enormous influence upon subsequent European and even world politics, none the less powerful because it is secret and often indirect.

Queen Alexandra's efforts at the present moment are centered upon an attempt to impart to her rather bluff son and daughter the elements of tact so well understood by the late King Edward. It is in an effort to give the prince of Wales the very quality which his mother and father lack that he is now in Paris among the people who of all the nations of the world possess it in the greatest degree. Upon several occasions since the death of King Edward, King George and Queen Mary, have been in hot water and were only saved from a severe scalding by their exalted position.

These affairs, however, have left an ever widening trail of dissatisfaction behind them and grumbling is now to be heard on many sides.

WEALTH FLOWS INTO NEW ENGLAND RESORTS.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—So quietly, so pleasantly is it carried on, compared with other industries, that most persons would express surprise when told that the annual tourist and summer boarder business in New England reaches $100,000,000 in the aggregate.

This statement seems to be confirmed by the reports from the individual states that have taken the trouble to inquire into the matter. Take, for instance, the testimony of Secretary Bachelder of the New Hampshire board of agriculture, who says that $10,000,000 is annually left in that state by summer tourists.

If New Hampshire does an annual business of $10,000,000 what shall be said of Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut? Rhode Island and Vermont attract increasing numbers of cottagers and summer boarders each year. So it is easy to believe that $100,000,000 is not an unreasonable estimate. Most of this money finds its way into the pockets of hotelkeepers and farmers who take summer boarders. This enormous amount will easily be doubled in a few years for the business.

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally.

This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Evelyn Matson, 516 Milwaukee St., Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Kate Hawley, Waukesha, Wis., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at 50 cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

RELIGIOUS PUBLICITY

Men and Religion Congress in New York Creates New Activity.

National Bureau to Be Maintained By All the Churches.

New York, May 3.—No more radical action could be taken by the Men and Religion Christian Conservation congress, recently in session in Carnegie hall, New York, than that which was recommended in the report of the commission upon publicity, the creation of a national press bureau, representing and maintained by all the churches, for purposes of co-operation with the press.

Leaders of the Men and Religion Movement say that this will be in operation before the year is out. The congress recommends that the bureau be opened under the direction of the federal council of the churches of Christ in America, which is the organization officially standing for all the Protestant churches in North America. If the federal council is not free to do it, the International Young Men's Christian Association or the Interchurch Brotherhood council is indicated as the proper agency. The purpose of the bureau is stated to be in no sense propaganda, for it will represent all shades of belief and polity, but to be a recognition of the church's obligation officially to cooperate in all practical ways with the newspapers, which are the one agency reaching all the people all the time.

Day and Night Office.

The suggestion is that a day and night office be opened in New York, where the newspapers may get information upon any obscure point of religious news, whether it be the name and affiliations of a missionary arrested in Corea, or the standing of a minister in trouble in Missouri. This would enable the press to distinguish between the self-constituted and unauthorized representatives of religion, and those who are connected with the recognized bodies.

The statistics of religious growth would be regularly supplied to the newspapers; photographs of leaders in this country and abroad would be kept on file; all new developments in religious activity in the way of movements and conventions would be reported so that no newspaper need ever be left upon big religious news.

The men who have been studying the question say frankly that another reason why the churches, in their official and representative capacity should put themselves into a position to serve the newspapers is that they could thus deliver the editors from the special pleaders and adroit press agents who exploit particular organizations or doctrines at the expense of the whole Christian body. They cite the case of one group of Protestants, centered in Great New York, and holding special views concerning the state of the soul after death, who, while they have no standing among the organized churches of America, yet get more material into the daily newspapers than all the great denominations put together.

Reflects Trend of the Time.

The general idea which this unique publicity session of the Men and Religion congress represents has seemed to sweep over the whole country. The leader of the Men and Religion movement, Fred B. Smith, in providing for this discussion of the subject of the press and the churches on the program of the most representative religious meeting held for many years has merely discerned the trend of the time and given an opportunity for a general sentiment to crystallize.

Various individuals and special agencies have for many years been urging a closer co-operation of the churches and the newspapers, as one of the most important and needed developments in the life of America. Alert clergmen and laymen, as well as most editors, have been eager to get these two great forces working together in harness for the public service. Now the Men and Religion congress has undertaken to lay out the general lines of the science of religion and publicity, if it may so be called, marking the limits practicable for both the press and the churches to go.

From this congress in New York a nation wide movement for co-operation with the newspapers will sweep over the churches. The misunderstandings that exist on the part of both, as shown clearly by the report that was discussed recently, should be dissipated by the congress discussion as it is reported to the churches. Laymen are undertaking to make friends with the editors of their newspapers and to help them, in really disinterested fashion, to know the mind of the churches.

Interesting Idea.

One interesting suggestion repeatedly made in the report is that the church people ought to boost the papers which stand for the right things. Preachers even advocate mentioning such from the pulpits.

Most church people have not felt the need or known the method of bridging the gulf that exists between the newspapers and churches. Now stress is laid on the idea of every churchman writing to the editor of his own paper concerning the paper's treatment of religious affairs. A chapter in the congress report is headed "Writing to the Editor."

This report to the congress, which was prepared entirely by newspapermen, all of whom are church workers—and it appears from the returns that there are a great many newspaper men active in church work—is a volume of about 40,000 words. Those who have examined it say that it shows a tendency to put the case from the newspaper angle rather strongly, yet that this will increase its value to the churches. The Men and Religion movement is planning to place a copy of the report in every daily newspaper office in the land. Its greatest distribution, of course, will be among the ministers and laymen.

According to those who have studied the report, its first chapter, in which the hand of the editor of a famous Canadian newspaper is seen, is probably the best putting of the case of journalism as an expression of democracy that has ever been written.

A series of tables, summarizing the returns from various questionaires sent out by the commission, and which are the basis of the entire report, are given in the report, so that a consensus of opinion on the various phases of the subject has been reached. Hitherto it has been one man's opinion as against another's; now there is something approaching a science of religious publicity.

Should Be on Business Basis.

There is a general agreement on both sides that church notices should be paid for as advertising, and not duplicated in the reading columns. The business of the church should be put on a business basis. It would appear to be perfectly clear that within a year or two all of the churches, in large cities, at least, will be making their announcements through the newspapers in the form of advertising.

The report counsels all the churches of a city to get together for a concerted campaign of display advertising in addition to the individual church notices. It appears that already, in many parts of the land, widespread use of display advertising is made by churches; and that there are classes in religious advertising being conducted in various cities.

The real value of the report is that it provides an expression of the general sentiment of the churches and the newspapers, based on nearly 1,000 questionaires that have been returned to the commission. It makes reasonably clear to the newspapers what church people want of the press, and to the church workers what the newspapers have a right to expect of them. It is understood that the original data collected by the men and religion people will be turned over to the Pulitzer School of Journalism.

BERLIN IS TOO BRITISH

"Made in England" Labels Predominate on All Wares Sold.

Berlin, May. 3.—German writers are beginning to raise their voices against what they say to be the rapid Anglicization and Americanization of Germany, particularly Berlin and other large cities. No country on the continent has assimilated English and American ways, adopted English and American methods and learned the English language so rapidly in the last few years as Germany. To the credit of the Germans it can be said that Germany is far more Americanized today than England, and that in this the German people have shown greater progressiveness than any othre nation in Europe is not often disputed.

America and Americans are more in favor in Germany today than perhaps at any time in many years, and the English never less. As the channel beween England and Germany has widened, so the ocean between America and Germany seems to have narrowed. Politically and commercially the German government seems intent upon cultivating the good will of Uncle Sam. Reports that Germany has designs against the Monroe doctrine, which spring up every now and then, are without any apparent foundation and are characterized in responsible quarters as "machinations having for their purpose to awaken distrust of Germany in America."

Calls Halt on "English Apes."

Some of the German writers, however, are taking advantage of the present anti-English sentiment to call a halt to what they declare to be German inclination to "ape England." Under the heading of "Apes of England," one writer says that the German people are assimilating English ways so rapidly that they are in danger of losing their identity as Germans.

The "English invasion" of Germany, which is really more of an American invasion than English, because there are probably fifty Americans here to every Englishman, is particularly noticeable in Berlin, Dresden, Hamburg, Munich. So many Americans live in the "Bavarian Quarter" of Berlin that Americans frequntly complain it is useless to come to Berlin to study German because one hears little else than English.

In clothing, English predominates. Few persons of the better classes wear anything but English cloth made in English styles. The German "Schneider's" sign now reads, "English Tailor." His output he advertises and calls by the English name—ulster, cutaway, smoking jacket, etc. Every woman has an "English tailor made" suit. The fine lady speaks of "full dress" in the evening. The German priseur's place has largely become a "ladies' and gentlemen's hair—dressing parlor." Infants and small children are no longer "kinder," but babies. Their maids are "nurses."

An American Invasion Too.

"American style" is prominently displayed on the show windows of the shoe stores. The American shoe is no longer bought only by the Americans, but the Germans also appreciate its beauty and comfort and are quite willing to pay twice the price of the German article. One of the most fashionable clothing stores in Berlin is the "Prince of Wales;" another "Old England" and a third "The Gentleman." Many of the best hotels in German cities have English names, as Windsor, Westminster, Bristol, Carlton, Terminus and Royal.

In business and commercial lines, English names and terms are rapidly crowding out the German equivalents. The average dealer takes more pride in selling English and American goods to German, even though "English" articles quite frequently were made within the borders of Germany. "English" and "Americans" has much the hypnotic suggestion to purchasers in Germany that "Made in Germany' has in the United States. The "Ps," "Pferdestarke" of motor engines is now largely "HP" and "Horsepower." "Advertising literature and the daily newspapers teem with English words. Sports and sporting teams are almost wholly English or American.

It is against this "English aping" and "American hurry and rush" that some of the hardsheil ultra conservative German writers are warning the nation lest in time it be no longer distinctly Germany.

With the election of Paul Schultz, a German, as president of the Waterbury (Conn.) A. O. H., the belief is revived that the millennium is nigh.

FIRST APPLICATION DARKENS THE HAIR

A Simple Remedy Gives Color, Strength and Beauty to the Hair.

YETTA "BEATS IT"

When She Finds Husband Has Nine Children at Home.

Trenton, N. J., May 3.—Israel Sahn, who gained notoriety some time ago by naming triplet sons for Roosevelt, Taft and Cortelyou, has instituted divorce proceedings.

Shortly after the birth of the triplets the mother died, and friends of Sahn induced him to seek another wife in order that the children might have a mother. Sahn became acquainted with a young Austrian named Yetta Meiter, and recently married her.

Returning from her honeymoon to the New Brunswick home of her husband the bride was confronted with the triplets and six other children by her predecessor and immediately left in terror.

Mrs. Sahn has not lived with her husband since, hence the divorce proceedings.

VICTIM OF BLACKMAIL.

Millionaire Peacock of Pittsburg Held Up By Extortionists.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 3.—The millions of A. R. Peacock have subjected him to the plots of extortionists for a decade. This developed in the investigation of the case of William Pastorius, the Heidelberg graduate who was arrested for attempting to extort money from the millionaire by threatening his life.

Two years ago Peacock's daughter and two sons went to and from school guarded by an armed escort. Letters had been received threatening to kidnap and maltreat the children if a demand for money was not met.

Other times the Peacock mansion was guarded by detectives night and day following the receipt of similar letters.

Pastorius told the police that before coming to Pittsburg he had been admitted to the bar in New Jersey, but would not say in what county.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

The Polish Catholic Cemetery association will hold its annual election of officers Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. in Rowley hall, 112 West First street. The officers who now hold office and will no doubt have no opposition, are as follows: President, Stans Gralewski; vice president, Frank Drejma; financial secretary, Stans Kocinski; assistant secretary, Joseph Kozlarek; treasurer, Joseph Mantaj; recording secretary, W. Kempinski; auditors, J. Bostasz, Joseph Walczak and A. Kucharski.

The association was formed about eighteen years ago and purchased twenty acres of land on the Howard-Gnesen road. The association at present has ten acres cleared and a seven-room house for the sexton and barn their own accommodations for its patrons. The cemetery is laid out in lots which are being beautified by the association.

PERUSES OWN OBITUARY.

Result of Wrong Identification; Killed By Accident.

Canton, Ohio, May 3.—After spending his last cent for a newspaper and to find his obituary in it was the novel experience of William Fultz, who was supposed to have been killed by a train at Massillon recently.

The trouble arises from two men so similar in appearance as to deceive their own mothers if it had not been that one man had six inches more of a left arm than the other.

Coroner Gavin had telegraphed a description of the dead man to Fultz's father, who lives near Butler, Pa., who came to Massillon to identify the body.

VEGETABLES STILL LOWER

Belated Products of Southern Gardens Arrive in Larger Quantities.

Meats and Poultry Are High —Eggs Stubbornly Refuse to Cheapen.

Lower-priced and more plentiful fruits and vegetables from Southern gardens are the principal new feature of the produce markets of Duluth, compared with a week ago. These Southern products are not nearly so cheap as they ought to be at this time of the year, but it should be remembered that the winter was very long and cold, and vegetation of all kinds is backward this spring in all parts of the United States.

Most of the Southern garden products that are now coming upon the Duluth markets are from Florida and Louisiana. There have been some severe storms in Louisiana, which have greatly damaged some of the garden crops of that state, especially strawberries. Some reports have it that as much as 30 per cent of the strawberry crop was destroyed, but this may be an exaggeration. Louisiana had a very fine strawberry crop on hand before these storms occurred. Notwithstanding this damage to the crop, the price of strawberries has been going down. A crate that brought $5 a week ago now sells for $4.75. Duluth thus far has received seven cars of strawberries this year. The berries that are coming now are of good quality, though not so fine as the Arkansas and Missouri strawberries, which will be arriving after about two weeks.

Other Louisiana garden products which have been easing off in price with the advance of the season are wax beans, parsley, new beets and new carrots. A bushel box of beans that a week ago brought $5 is now selling for $4.25 at wholesale. The wholesale price of parsley has dropped from 75 to 50 cents a dozen bunches; new beets from 75 to 60 cents a dozen bunches, and new carrots from 80 to 60 cents. Lettuce which comes from Louisiana and Texas is a little higher, owing, it seems, to a temporary shortage. A bushel box of head lettuce, which a week ago sold for $2.50, is now bringing $3. Florida wax beans, like those from Louisiana, are cheaper. A basket of Florida peppers, whose wholesale price a week ago was 65 cents now sells for 50 cents. The wholesale price of Florida tomatoes has dropped from 75 to 60 cents a basket. Duluth has received just three cars this year.

Onions have been very high for a long time, but they are becoming more plentiful now. In addition to the Texas onions, which have been on the market for some time, and the Spanish onion, which have been on hand all winter, the market is now receiving large green onions from Illinois, which are selling at wholesale for 35 cents a dozen bunches and young, green onions from Southern Minnesota, which are being placed on the market at a wholesale price of 18 cents a dozen bunches.

Onions have been scarce and high for so long that farmers in the vicinity of Duluth have been eagerly buying up the onion sets in order to have an early Northern Minnesota onion to place upon the market. As a natural result the price of onion sets has gone up. A bushel of red sets, which a week ago brought $2.50, is now bringing $3.25.

Some of the Northern hothouse products are getting a little cheaper. Illinois rhubarb has dropped from $1.50 to $1.35 per 40-pound box.

California cabbage has likewise gone down with the advance of the spring season. A large crate that sold for $6.50 a week ago now goes for $5.50.

The wholesale price of parsnips has taken a sudden drop from $2.25 to $1.50 per 100 pounds. There is a very poor demand for them and the market is glutted. Farmers are at a loss to understand why they cannot sell their parsnips. Vast quantities of parsnips that were left frozen in the ground all winter have been dug out and offered for sale.

Potatoes have been very steady at $1 a bushel at wholesale.

Apples are strong in price and there is a good demand for them. Nevertheless, there is one variety that has gone down on price, namely, the Willow Twigs. A week ago these were bringing $6.25 a barrel but now they are selling for $5.50. The drop is attributed to the discovery that there was a larger supply of these apples in the country than was thought.

Oranges have been very steady in price. The quality of those on the Duluth market has continued to be excellent. Only the California navels are on hand. The fine quality of these oranges during the last three or four weeks has stimulated the demand, and it is thought that the price will in the near future go up in consequence.

There is scarcely any grape fruit left. The Florida supply has about played out and the California grape fruit is so inferior to that grown in Florida that the Duluth dealers seldom care to order any shipments from the Western state.

A great deal has been said and published about the extraordinary high price of meat. During the past week the wholesale price of beef at Duluth has not changed, but mutton has gone up a cent to a cent and a half a pound and lamb from two to three cents a pound. The wholesale meat dealers account for this by saying that owing to the high price of feed during the past winter, farmers and ranchers sold their sheep off for very little, rather than feed the animals. There is now, in consequence, a scarcity of both sheep and lambs. Mutton has gone up to 12 and 15 cents a pound. The price of pork loins, however, is down a cent.

Fowls have been going up. Most kinds are half a cent to a cent higher than they were a week ago. The supplies of frozen poultry are running quite low, and very few fowls are being brought to the market by the farmers. Eggs are high-priced for this time of the year and for that reason farmers prefer to keep their chickens. Moreover, this is one of the best laying seasons of the year.

Some of the local produce men commented today with a great deal of mirth on a story that was told at a recent banquet of the Greater Duluth club to the effect that a boy not long ago spent a whole day in a vain effort to sell a dozen chickens in Duluth. "He was either a very poor salesman or his chickens were not good," remarked Vern R. Culbertson. The local wholesale poultry handlers were disposed to ridicule the contention that the teller of that story made to the effect that the boy was turned down by retail dealers through fear of the wholesalers. They declare that he could have sold them either to wholesalers, or retailers or private families.

The egg situation is causing a great deal of uneasiness. Eggs are selling at wholesale for 20 to 21 cents a dozen. That is a very high price for this season of the year. This is the time when large dealers are storing them, and they are costing about 7 cents a dozen more than they did at the storage time of last year. This indicates that not a great many eggs will be put away for next winter, and that when winter comes again, eggs will be even scarcer and higher than they were last winter.

There are no signs yet of the wished for break in the butter market. The best creamery is a cent higher than it was a week ago. It will require a considerable period of good pasturage for cattle to bring butter down. Cheese, however, continues to work downwards as the factories keep turning out their supplies and storing them away for next winter. Most grades of cheese are a cent a pound lower than they were a week ago.

the senate, who declared that no longer should the house put legislation of that sort over upon them. Then there was weeping and gnashing of teeth in the house, for behold the mere house member, unless he be a committee chairman, has but one room, not at all fitted for a confidential office. For him—unlike the senate—there is no sequestered anteroom where the cup that both cheers and stimulates may be passed. One chairman of a house committee is said to have a filing cabinet, the card index drawers of which are so cunningly arranged that they hold just one quart of his Kentucky fluid each. But even this base subterfuge could not have been resorted to had he not been a committee chairman with a committee room at his disposal.

Plaything of Politics.

But returning to the original text of this article: Congress by an antiquated and unjust law governs the District of Columbia, whose 400,000 people have no voice in their own government. Upon congress descend from all parts of the country "reformers" of various sorts who want to make Washington the entering wedge for their reforms. I do not want to take sides in these matters, of some of which I heartily approve, but it is worth while to point out that one of the biggest municipal districts in the land is being made the plaything of politics. For example, Representative Henry George is assiduously and ably working to try out on the district the single tax theory. Personally I applaud that, except that the hapless property owners of the district will not have a chance to vote as to whether or not they are willing to submit themselves to this operation for the removal of the unearned increment in their real estate appendix. All is up to Mr. George's committee.

For some days past a body of itinerant denunciators of the social evil have been buttonholing congressmen, and declaring from various pulpits that the national capital is a pest hole of iniquity. A newspaper friend of mine took pains to follow the trail of these gentlemen from the West to the East and is now in possession of an interesting bunch of clippings showing their utterances in various towns. In every city they visited they assured its horror stricken residents that no such modern prototype of Sodom and Gomorrah had ever existed on the face of the land. This attitude is merely natural. The man obsessed by one idea will find its indorsement wherever he may go. Probably the right type of enthusiast could find warm approval of Roosevelt in the White House offices, of Taft in the Canadian parliament, or of Harmon in the editorial rooms of the Commoner—that is if he were not too careful concerning his facts.

Congressmen Bombarded.

However, congress is worried about this sudden assault of the reformers on the present liquor laws of the District of Columbia. The country at large may not be interested in such details as the prohibition of any saloon within 150 feet of another, or cutting down the number in the district from 500 to 200. But the national liquor dealers association, whatever may be its technical name, is fighting even such moderate and proper regulations as these. It is bombarding members of congress with letters appealing for aid. Probably before this article can be printed the prohibition forces will be organized on the other side and the District of Columbia will be made a fighting ground for the struggle between the forces of the wets and the drys.

Under ordinary circumstances of course the question as to whether there should be 300 or 500 saloons in the District of Columbia would be negligible so far as the United States is concerned. But some sixty years ago the question arose whether the abolition of slavery in the United States should be made a national issue. Everybody who knows anything about the abolition contest, knows very well that the fight was first made to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia. The plea was then made that this district, which is geographically about forty miles square; which at that time had about 17,000 people and which at this time has about 400,000, should be regarded as the spot in which the fight for national anti-slavery should be made. Curiously enough and significantly enough, the advocates of nation-wide prohibition are pressing their fight in the same way. They hold that every step toward the limitation of the liquor power in the District of Columbia will be a step toward the establishment of the prohibition of the liquor traffic all over the United States.

The bill to which I refer is a step in this direction. Anyone who is interested in the progress of national prohibition should watch it with a certain amount of understanding as to what it may mean.

AMENDMENTS ARE INDORSED

Duluth Heights Citizens Favor Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

The proposed amendment to make the initiative, referendum and recall a part of the city charter was strongly indorsed at a moss meeting at Duluth Heights last night. The gathering was addressed by Dr. D. H. Day, Alderman John Hogan and others.

Dr. Day likened the operation of the amendment to that of a cash register in business. He asserted that it enables the people to keep a check upon the men whom they hire to transact their business for them.

He stated that business men take the sons of old friends into their employ, but still retain the cash register as well as see that their bond is all right. He asserted that no one gives it a second thought, but that as soon as the initiative, referendum and recall are suggested some of the aldermen immediately begin to protest against the suspicion raised as to their honesty. He declared that the adoption of the amendment will be nothing but wise business precaution.

TITANIC WIDOW SUES.

Complaint in First Suit Based on Wreck is Filed.

New York, May 3.—Papers in the first suit for damages brought by relatives of a Titanic victim have been filed in the district court here. The suit is brought by Mrs. Louise Robins, widow of Victor Robins, Col. John Jacob Astor's valet, and is that in which the testimony of J. Bruce Ismay and officers of the sunken steamer is desired. It charges negligence on the part of the Oceanic Steam Navigation company, and asks for $50,000 damages and costs.

In the libel it is charged that the ste[illegible] company, on April 14 last, the date of the disaster to the Titanic, "so negligently, unskillfully, faultily and wrongfully conducted itself and so misbehaved in the management of the steamship Titanic, that through gross negligence, fault, unskillfullness and wrongful acts of the respondents, its respective agents, officers, servants and employes, the said steamship Titanic was caused to collide with and strike upon or against an iceberg upon the high seas, resulting in Mr. Robins' death."

The complaint alleges that the owners were negligent, first, because the Titanic had been warned that she was in the vicinity of icebergs, and in spite of the warning was going at a speed of more than twenty knots when the collision occurred; second, that proper precautions were not taken after the lookout sighted the iceberg; third, that the liner was being operated by a new and untried crew; fourth, that there was not a sufficient number of lifeboats; fifth, that after the collision the lifeboats were not properly manned.

MORGAN DECORATED BY KAISER

Given Order of Red Eagle for Gift of Martin Luther Letter, Which He Bought for $25,000 at Leipzig Autograph Sale.

Berlin, May 3.—Martin Luther's famous letter of explanation to Charles V, saved to Germany by the generosity of J. Pierpont Morgan, is to find a place in the Luther hall at Wittenberg upon a pedestal presented by the emperor. The commission to make this pedestal has just been given to the sculptor Paul Juckoff. It is to be of light limestone in late Gothic style. Mr. Morgan's representative bought the letter for a trifle more than $25,000 at a Leipzig autograph sale last May, and the financier promptly presented it to the German emperor. His reward was the order of the Red Eagle, first class, one of the highest decorations in the gift of the emperor. The letter which Emperor William valued so highly was written by Luther on his return from the diet of Worms in 1521. It describes the proceedings of the diet and defends the writer's course there. Charles V never saw the letter, according to a note written thereon by that monarch's archivist, setting forth that nobody had dared show it to the emperor.

Adopts American Ideas.

The sweeping victory of the American yachts in the international "sonder-class" races at the Kiel regatta last year is revolutionizing conditions in the German sonder-class fleet. Among the yachtsmen who are having new yachts built on the admittedly superior lines of the American boats, with which the American designers beat the German constructors in their own waters, the German imperial family is well represented. The crown prince, the most enterprising sailor of the family, who had allowed his interest in the sport to wane for a year or two, is having a yacht built in Hamburg, which will soon be ready for its trial trips. Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of the emperor, is again co-owner of this year's "Tilly," whose predecessor was one of the German representatives last year, and Prince Eitel Fritz, a younger brother of the crown prince, is also having a yacht built.

Tax on Cats.

"The government sees no objection to the introduction of a tax on cats," is the serious beginning of a seriously meant ministerial decree just addressed to the municipalities of Greater Berlin, which for several years have been anxiously searching for new sources of revenue to meet the constantly growing cost of municipal activities. The minister of the interior and the minister of finance gravely contnue that the cost of cat licenses must be in proper proportion to the license tax now imposed on dogs and that not all the regulations of the latter should be copied in any cat tax ordinance, the indentification of licensed cats by a collar and tag being particularly impracticable since many cats, owing to their habits, would inevitably get hanged by their collars and perish painfully.

Many Flying Machines.

Five years ago there were no makers of aeroplanes in Germany and until two years ago none that had achieved any real success. Today the great exposition hall in Berlin's Zoological garden is filled with an exhibit of German flying machines, German motors and other flying accessories which is hardly less than astounding. The comparison is emphasized by the presence of the original bi-plane with which Orville Wright early in September, 1909, made on the Tempelhof field, south of Berlin, the first successful flights ever made in Germany. This bi-plane, now the property of the German museum at Munich, stands beside a Wright machine just made for the German army. The comparison is striking. The old machine has two light propellers and its equipment comprises only the indispensable things. The new military machine has but one propeller and it is equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus. With its 50-60-horse power motor the military Wright weighs but 770 pounds.

One of the exhibits that attracts general attention is the Euler bi-plane in which Prince Henry gained his aviator's license. Beside the prince's machine stands the military Euler, the "aeroplane destroyer." Upon it is mounted a machine gun, or rather, a machine gun was mounted upon it once. The mounting is still there, but the war department has evidently not cared to have the gun publicly exhibited.

One monoplane exhibited has three propellers, and another presents something new—two propellers moved independently of each other by two motors. This would seem to insure against the calamity of a dead motor in midair.

Prince Frederick Sigismund of Prussia exhibits a racing monoplane which he proudly declared "was built entirely by me, without the assistance or an engineer or any mechanic." Prince Frederick is a millionaire many times over, belonging to the "rich" branch of the Hohenzollen family. He expects to reach at least seventy-two miles an hour with his new machine.

A tendency to protect the aviator is manifest in most of the new models, the majority of them proving a covered or partially covered seat for the pilot and his pasenger, within which they sit much as one might sit in the nose of a great torpedo.

rection farmers could be seen herding livestock to the levees.

No loss of life has been reported from the newly-flooded area, but many stories of thrilling escapes are coming in, and it is known that scores still are in danger.

River at Record Height.

New Orleans, La., May 3.—With an even twenty-one-foot stage in the Mississippi, a half foot above all records, orders were issued by the levee board to double the force of laborers which has been engaged in blanketing the low stretches of the dikes.

The engineers declared that notwithstanding the increasing high water, they have the situation well in hand so far as the city is concerned.

MAYOR McCUEN WILL VETO TRANSFER

the council in an interview to The Herald this afternoon, in which he explained his failure to meet the committee of West end citizens who called upon him.

"There has been no occasion for doubt as to what my action would be in this matter, and except on the basis of a personal malice back of its pretended public purpose, I cannot understand the attitude of the News Tribune in taking snap judgment and seeking to create entirely false impressions of my attitude," he said.

"Last week, after the ordinance extending the patrol limits had passed, I told a delegation of West end ladies that I would not permit a saloon to be placed in the new territory against the wishes of the people of that section. The News Tribune reported this statement, so it must have known what my attitude on this question would be.

Two Wrong Impressions.

"Yet it has contrived to leave two impressions which I cannot suffer to stand, both being maliciously false.

"The first is that I was discourteous to the committee of West end people who waited at my office to see me Tuesday forenoon, and that I knowingly permitted them to wait for me in vain.

"The facts are that I had no appointment with this committee, nor did I know it was coming, though I should have been glad to make an appointment and if it had been made would as gladly have kept it. I did have an important professional appointment at 10:30 at my medical office with another physician for a consultation in a critical case, and waited there for him until shortly after 11 o'clock, my colleague being delayed. When I learned that the committee was waiting, I said that I would go to the city hall as soon as I could get away, and so informed the two gentlemen who came to my professional office. When I reached the city hall shortly after noon, the committee had gone.

"The other impression, created by what purported to be an interview with me in the News Tribune, is that I said things tending to show that I place my private business higher than the public business. I do not hold such ideas, and I said nothing to indicate that I did.

"What I did say, in answer to a question about the mayoralty, was that I found too much politics and too little business in public affairs—a thing that must have impressed every thinking citizen.

"That my remarks did not indicate any zeal to cultivate my private business for my personal profit at the expense of public business will be understood when I state, only because it seems necessary in order to relieve me from an unfair impression that has deliberately been created, that the case which delayed me was that of an unfortunate individual in critical physical and financial condition, from whom I neither hope, expect, nor want compensation for my services."

NELSON ELECTED AT FERGUS FALLS

Supreme Court Overturns Decision of the Lower Tribunal.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. T. Nelson wins from W. H. McBride in the mayoralty fight at Fergus Falls, according to an opinion handed down by the supreme court today. The order of the lower court that McBride was the successful candidate is reversed.

At the city election held April 2, 1912, the examination judges counted 604 votes cast for Nelson and 601 for McBride. There were six duplicate votes. These were marked with a cross on a third line, under the name of McBride, and were claimed for him. Nelson appealed to the supreme court from the order of the lower court.

RAILROAD MUST PAY FIRE LOSS

Cutting of Hose During Conflagration Makes Corporation Liable.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—When a locomotive engine runs over a hose and cuts it and property is destroyed as a result, the owner of the building may recover from the railroad company, according to an opinion given by the supreme court today in the case of John Erickson, a hotel proprietor at Moorhead, against the Great Northern.

Fire in an annex to the hotel was under control, it is claimed, when the engine backed up and cut the hose, after which the entire property was destroyed.

DRUG STORE EXPLOSION STARTS CHICAGO FIRE.

Chicago, May 3.—Charles Reese, a fireman, was seriously injured, members of two families were rescued by being carried down ladders and half a dozen families were driven to the street early today by a fire which partly destroyed a large apartment building at 1655 West Eighteenth street. The fire started in a drug store and is believed to have been caused by an explosion of chemicals.

CHICAGO PAPERS ARE TIED UP BY STRIKE.

Chicago, May 3.—Differences between the pressmen's union and the principal newspaper publishers in Chicago, which interfered with the regular publication of afternoon papers yesterday and morning papers today, remain unsettled.

Preparations were made to print the afternoon papers and hope was expressed that the difficulty would be speedily adjusted.

Wagon men and newsboys complicated the situation by siding with the pressmen, and through the morning few street stands contained the regular morning papers.

Papers from smaller cities were distributed in the suburbs.

MICHIGAN POST GRAD. DROWNS IN DELIRIUM.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 3.—The body of Lester Butterfield of Belfast, N. Y., a University of Michigan student who escaped from the university while in a typhoid delirium, was found in the Hudson river. The discovery was made by Edward Kent, a fraternity brother who was one of the searchers.

Butterfield, who was prominent in university musical circles, graduated from Michigan in 1908, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts. Last fall he returned to take the work necessary to obtain a master's degree.

MARINETTE MAN HAS PATENTED BIPLANE.

Marinette, Wis., May 3.—Joseph Reimer, a young man of this city, has procured a patent on a new style of biplane. The principal new feature of Reimer's plane is its double steering gear, balancing planes and devices, which it is said will prevent it from "buckling up."

MAY NOT SEEK MORE VICTIMS OF TITANIC.

Halifax, N. S., May 3.—White Star line officials here have had a lengthy conference with Capt. Lardner of the Mackay-Bennett, discussing the utility of a proposal to send out a third steamer, to search for further bodies of Titanic victims. Capt. Lardner expressed the conviction that it would not be possible to find any more. The idea is likely to be abandoned.

CROOKSTON SELLS ITS $150,000 SCHOOL BONDS.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In open bidding the Crookston school board last night sold a $150,000 20-year 4½-per cent bond issue to the W. Harris Trust company of Chicago at par, allowing $1,500 for expenses. Work on the new high school will start soon.

ETHEL BARRYMORE HAS A DAUGHTER.

New York, May 3.—Sammy Colt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Colt (Ethel Barrymore), has a little sister.

The stork stopped at Mamaroneck, N. Y., last Tuesday night and left a little girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Colt.

She tipped the scales at 7½ pounds.

Italians Deny Ship Is Lost.

Rome, May 3.—The government today made a denial of yesterday's report from Constantinople that the Italian battleship Re Umberto had been driven on the rocks by a storm and had sunk off the Tripolitan coast near Zaura. The Constantinople story said a dispatch to this effect had been received in the Turkish capitol from Tunis.

WILL EXPERIMENT WITH MILLET CORN.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — Experiments in the growing of millet corn, a new variety that has been bred successfully by a Perkins county, South Dakota farmer, will be made under the direction of M. C. Bacheller, secretary of the North Dakota Fair association for Grand Forks, during the coming summer. He has been successful in securing a small supply of the new corn, and proposes to conduct a series of experiments in this section with the object in view of determining upon its adaptability to local conditions.

GUILLOTINE FOR MURDERERS.

Petit Parisien: The senate yesterday passed a bill under which soldiers or sailors sentence to death by a court martial will henceforth be guillotined instead of being shot, except in cases where the offence is one which comes directly under military law. This bill was brought in after the murder some months ago of Mme. Goulin by soldiers, one of whom, Graby, was sentenced to death. His sentence was eventually commuted to one of life imprisonment, it being deemed inadvisable to ask men doing compulsory military service to form a firing party. The chamber of deputies passed the bill.

THE ORIGIN OF THE BAGPIPE.

Christian Science Monitor: In a lecture in Dublin under the auspices of the department of agriculture E. Kent reviewed the history of the bagpipe and illustrated his remarks throughout with limelight views. He showed the bagpipes to have originated in the simple reed such as children construct from the rushes that grow by the river banks.

The addition in time of a bladder and a few notes to the chanter produced the first rude bagpipe. The chanter developed until various pleasing tones could be produced, and a drone was added. The lecturer showed that the drone was undoubtedly antique but could not explain its origin. From one drone to two or more was a natural and inevitable step. Then the final development of the bagpipes in Europe, with the sole exception of Ireland, was the substitution in certain cases of a bellows for the player's mouth.

Ireland makes a further advance by adding to the chanter and drones a new part known as the "regulator," this being a keyed pipe upon which a skillful player could produce pleasing harmonies. The lecturer showed by means of drawings and sculptural remains that the pipes were a favorite instrument in the fourteenth and sixteenth centuries.

A ROCKBOUND PRISON.

When the authorities of Graham county, Arizona, decided to look about for a place in which to confine criminals they found a natural depression in the side of a hill. This was enlarged into what might be called an artificial cave, divided into four compartments.

The cave was excavated parallel to the side of the mountain in which it was made, says the Wide World, and daylight admitted by holes blown out of the wall with explosives, the windows being guarded by a network of heavy steel bars.

The entrance to the depression was also closed in the same manner and a vestibule or porch of masonry built out from it to provide quarters for the sheriff and his assistants. The vestibule is also divided into compartments which are connected by gates of steel bars.

The only way of entering the prison is through the vestibule of masonry and in order to escape the inmates would have to cut their way through three sets of bars which are an inch in thickness, as the windows are so high up above the rock forming the floor of the cells that they could not reach them.

It is necessary, however, to have a very secure place, as the criminals in this part of the country are of a most desperate class and the inmates frequently include murderers and highwaymen. The mountain which has thus been turned into a prison is composed of solid quartz rock, and the excavation was made principally by the use of explosives. The jail is located in the town of Clifton, the county seat.

STUB ROO TONIC!

E. A. JOHNSON.

Manufacturer Stub Roo Tonic.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 28, 1909.

Stub Roo Medical Co.:

Gentlemen—Your Stub Roo Tonic will never be forgotten by me, for it has saved my life. I had lung trouble and was pronounced incurable by several physicians. In their opinion I had only a few weeks to live, but your Stub Roo Tonic cured me entirely. I am now well and strong and enjoy living, as life is sweet to any one. I can't speak too well of Stub Roo Remedies. It is different from all remedies I received from doctors. After I had used Stub Roo Tonic for a while I began to get hungry. I felt like living. I could eat and sleep and I soon commenced to grow stronger. I am now well and happy. Thanks to your Stub Roo Tonic. Any one sick of lung trouble like I was should not forget the Stub Roo Tonic. I am giving you this testimonial for a reference to your remedies and I think the public ought to know about it. I know it's good. Yours truly, MISS ANNA OLSON,

SCHOOL FOR YOUNG GIRLS

Plans to Use Old Washington Building Being Worked Out.

Not for Hardened Offenders But for Homeless Girls.

Sufficient progress has been made to insure the establishment of the industrial home for girls in the old Washington school building at First avenue east and Third street.

The school board has leased the building to the prisoners' aid society for a term of two years, rent free. The city council has set aside $150 per month until Jan. 1, 1913, for the public welfare board to use in the maintenance of the school. Pledges of about $600 for remodeling and equipping the building have been received by officers of the prisoners' aid society.

Some opposition to the school has developed among residents of the district in which the school is located. The impression prevails that the building is to be used as a detention home for women. Members of the prisoners' aid society say the impression is erroneous. The building is to be used as an industrial home for girls and its objects are more precautionary than remedial to the morals of the girls to be cared for there.

Many young girls have been found recently loitering around the streets, the depots, moving picture theaters and cheap restaurants. Some of them have been turned out of homes, others have homes that are not worthy of the name and still others are incorrigible and have gotten beyond the control of their parents. The object of the school is to get the girls started on the right track. The police often are called upon to deal with the children—for most of them are only children—but they are unable to do anything on account of not having a place in which to put them.

The industrial school will be fitted out as a home for the girls needing such care as it can give. Matrons will be put in charge and the girls housed there. The studies will follow out the lines of domestic science and will fit the girls to be housekeepers and home builders.

Those interested in the school believe that most of the girls found on the streets can be set right by a little attention and restraint and the school will keep many who are only wayward from going wrong.

Will be Given By the JUNIOR DRAMA LEAGUE Saturday Evening, 8 p. m., at the Endion Methodist Church. —Admission 25c.

Loss Will Be $5,000.

Further investigation of the fire at 16-18 Second avenue west last night shows it to have been more serious than at first believed. Charles Decker, proprietor of the Catholic Book store, was the heaviest loser. He said this morning that he carried a stock valued at $10,000 and that he expects that half of it will be a loss. It is partly covered by insurance. The blaze started in the basement near the furnace. The basement contained a large amount of stock and was badly damaged by water as well as by the fire and smoke.

PROGRESSIVE SPIRITS.

Los Angeles Times: Private John Allen, during his long service as Representative of Mississippi in congress, was importuned on one occasion to make an after-dinner speech at a banquet at which he was to be a guest.

"No!" said the "Private," "I will make a before-dinner speech, but none after dinner."

When reminded that a before-dinner speech was quite out of the ordinary, and was asked for his reason for desiring to make his speech before dinner, he told the following story:

"There was a ne'er-do-well that lived near Tupelo, my home town, some years ago named Bill Jones. Bill had a brother Bob, who had gone to Texas quite a while before, and reports said that he was enjoying a fair share of worldly prosperity. When a Texan, from the town in which Bob had located, came to Tupelo, he looked up Bill, who said to him:

"Tell Bob that I have a large family, and things are against me somehow, and if he can give me a little assistance it will be greatly appreciated."

He continued on this strain for some time, so that the Texan to relieve the situation proposed that they have a drink. The drink was disposed of, and Bill was cheered up considerably; began to tell what a good crop he would have this year, etc. Another drink was taken with a like result, and after about the fourth had been disposed of, he slapped the Texan on the back and said:

"When you see Bob, you tell him if he or any of his friends need any money, just draw on me for it and they will get it."

$2,000,000 WORTH OF JUNK.

Railway Age Gazette: A statement compiled at the War department in Washington shows that from sales of scrap iron and other unused material which was left on the Isthmus of Panama by the Frenchmen, who did work on the canal fifteen years ago, the government has already realized the sum of $2,112,000. Over 29,000 tons of metal from these abandoned plants have been shipped to the United States, and there is much work yet to be done. Some of the abandoned machinery has been put in order and is being used.

AMENDMENTS ARE INDORSED

West Duluth W. C. T. U. Members Want Changes in Charter.

The West Duluth branch of the W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Bert N. Wheeler, 3406 West Third street, at which time the initiative, referendum and recall amendments to the city charter were indorsed.

The club decided to send a committee to appear before the council Monday evening to request it not to grant a license to the Fourth of July association for the bringing of a carnival company to West Duluth the first week in July.

Mrs. Ruth Merritt acted as leader, "The Simple Life" being the subject of distcussion. The principal talk was made by Rev. C. E. Emery, pastor of the Merritt Memorial church. Mrs H. Carr gave a piano solo, Miss Pearl Avery, reading, and Mrs. T. R. Hancock gave the selection that won for her the gold medal in the oratorical contest conducted last winter.

Mrs. Alfred Jaques, secretary of the W. C. T. U., reported on the results that have been accomplished by the club, mentioning the boys' and girls' clubs and the gold metal contest. Mrs. E. Gustafson reported for the West end branch.

FAREWELL PARTY.

West Duluth Woman Is Surprised By Her Friends.

Mrs. Peter Gillison, 520 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, was pleasantly surprised at her home last evening by a number of friends belonging to the Swedish Mission church. There were about 100 people in attendance and a program was rendered including speeches and music.

Rev. Engstrom was the principal speaker of the evening. Vocal solos were given by Miss Elva Jacobson, Miss Lydia Molin, Mrs. Bert Strand and by the choir. Mrs. Gillison was presented with a beautiful hand-worked table cover and napkins to match. She has been a resident of West Duluth for the past twenty years and this party was given as a farewell party, as she will leave in a week to make her home in St. Paul.

WILL TALK ON AMENDMENTS.

The West Duluth Commercial club will hold its regular meeting this evening, after which an address will be made by G. W. C. Ross, who will talk on the proposed initiative, referendum and recall amendments to the city charter which are to be voted on at a special election to be held May 7.

Infant Girl Dies.

Margaret Sophia Granholme, 6-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Granholme, 4813 Grand avenue, died of convulsions early this morning. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the residence, with interment at Oneota cemetery. Rev. J. H. Grant will officiate.

Sells His Business.

Ed. Dormedy of 4107 West Sixth street, formerly with the grocery firm of Dormedy & Cruse, 406 Central avenue, has sold his share of the business to Jacob Oettinger and left the firm May 1.

Mr. Dormedy has been in the grocery business for about fourteen years and has been one of the most successful grocers in West Duluth. He will take a rest for some time before engaging in other business.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting was held in the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue and Grand and the election of officers resulted in the following being chosen: Treasurer, A. C. Ritchie; financial secretary, Oscar Lindor; clerk, Mrs. R. Y. Dunn; Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. Charles Dahlquist; organist, Miss Fern Brooks; choirister, Miss Barnes.

A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Leonard of 5814 Elinor street.

Mrs. Thomas Olafson entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of the Norwegian Lutheran church at her home, 5724 Huntington street, yesterday afternoon.

Rev Mr. Engstrom of the Swedish Mission church will preach in the schoolhouse at Midway next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A Bible class has been organized at the Swedish Mission church and officers have been elected as follows: President, Albert Johnson; vice president, Frank Wannerlund; secretary, Mr. Erickson; vice secretary, Edith Gillison; cashier, Fred Anderson. The class meets in the church every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of studying the Bible.

The Virginia & Rainy Lake mill opened up in full blast this morning, using about 150 men to each crew, working a night and day shift.

West Duluth Lodge No. 168, I. O. O. F., will confer the third degree on a class next Thursday evening. Refreshments will be served.

WEALTH OF WISCONSIN.

Wisconsin has become practically the leading dairy state of the Union, its title to the leadership being disputed only by New York, with, according to the Farmers and Drovers Journal the chances in Wisconsin's favor.

The output of dairy products has increased from nothing a few years ago to $75,000,000 in 1910. One-half of all the cheese factories in the United States are located in Wisconsin.

It is already one of the foremost of states in the production per acre of various grains, grasses and vegetables, and it is rapidly coming to the front in production of fruit, especially apples and cherries.

According to the figures of the Crop Reporter, issued by the department of agriculture among the twenty-five states producing 25,000,000 bushels or more of corn during the ten year period ended in 1910. Wisconsin stands fifth, the leading state, Ohio, exceeding Wisconsin by only 2.4 bushels an acre, Indiana by 1.5, Illinois by 1.3 and Pennsylvania by 1.1.

Among the nine states producing 1,000,000 bushels or more of barley during the ten-year period ended 1910, without irrigation, Wisconsin stands first.

Among the sixteen states growing 10,000,000 bushels or more of oats during the ten-year period ended 1910, without irrigation, Wisconsin stands first.

Among the seven states producing more than 1,000,000 bushels of spring wheat during the ten-year period ended 1910, without irrigation, Wisconsin stands first.

Among the eight states producing 10,000,000 bushels of potatoes or more during the ten-year period ended 1910, Wisconsin stands second, led only by a state using an enormous amount of commercial fertilizer.

In the unsettled, unoccupied regions of Wisconsin, heretofore considered only as a field for the operations of lumbermen, are hundreds of thousands of acres of lands, with a rich fertile soil, ample rainfall, pure drinking water and a geographical location that cannot be surpassed as far a sease of reaching the big central markets is concerned, and these rich lands, lying right at the door of Chicago, are crying aloud for settlers, dairymen, farmers, live stock breeders and feeders.

HOW A ROOSEVELT STORY GREW.

New York Tribune: There is a story about Col. Roosevelt which illustrates well the snowball rolling power of gossip.

Mr. Roosevelt some years ago, helped two boys to launch a boat at Oyster Bay. The episode passed from mouth to mouth, then from newspaper to newspaper, growing enormously, until at last it reached its climax in a Japanese journal.

This Japanese journal declared that Mr. Roosevelt had swam three miles out to a capsized sailboat and then had swam three miles back again through a raging sea with four boys on his back.

WOMAN MAY HAVE LEAPED INTO LAKE

Leaves Note Pinned to Clothing of Child on Board Steamer.

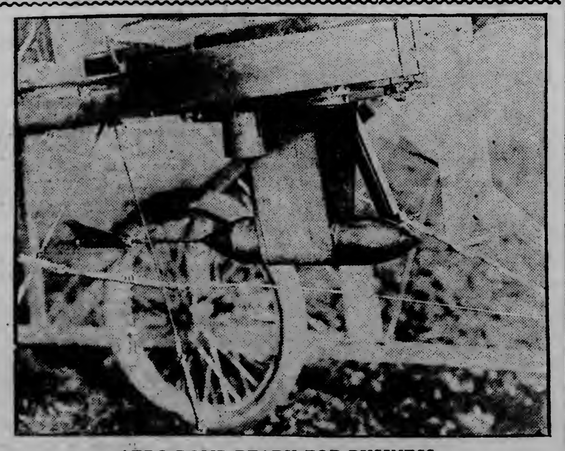
Chicago, May 3.—Mrs. Catherine Norton, aged 38, is believed to have committed suicide by jumping into Lake Michigan from the steamer Arizona somewhere between here and Milwaukee Tuesday night.

The woman last Monday caused her husband to be committed to the Bridewell, charging him with non-support and cruelty. Tuesday night she boarded the Arizona with her three children to visit relatives in Milwaukee. The next morning the woman was missing. A note was found pinned to the clothing of one of the children. It read:

"To my children: You all know who is to blame for this. God bless you. Catherine."

Two of the children remained in Milwaukee, and the oldest, Raymond, returned to Chicago and reported the disappearance of his mother. The Milwaukee authorities are investigating.

MAKING AEROPLANES WAR ENGINES



AERO BOMB READY FOR BUSINESS.

Lieut. Scott of the United States army has invented an aero bomb which is at present the subject of experiment in France. It hangs below the aviator and is released by the pulling of a trigger. The propeller-like arrangement on the end causes it to fall nose-down and to explode as it strikes the earth.

SEEK PEACE IN MEXICO

Congress of That Country Will Treat Directly With Rebels.

Secretary Knox Is to Hear Stories of Cruelty to Americans.

Washington, May 3.—The appointment by the Mexican congress of a peace commission to treat directly with the revolutionists for a cessation of hostilities is regarded by state department officials as significant. It is believed by them to indicate that the Mexican congress, wearied of a long drawn-out insurrection, has determined to act on its own initiative in endeavoring to terminate the war.

The British cruiser Algerine will arrive at Mazatlan, state of Sinaloa, on the west coast of Mexico, in about a week, to take aboard any British refugees who may desire to leave Mexican territory during the present trouble.

Madero Will Fight.

City of Mexico, May 3.—Even should this city fall into the hands of the revolutionists, President Madero will not consider the government defeated. "I will retire to the mountains in the south," he said, reiterating his previous statement that he would never resign, "and so long as the breath of life remains, I will fight to defend the flag which the people of Mexico have placed in my hands."

The town of Quatro Cienegas, west of Monclova in Coahuila, was captured by a band of rebels last night according to a dispatch received from Saltillo.

Battle at Chiuatla.

For two days a battle has been raging at Chiuatla, Puebla, between Zapatistas numbering about 2,500 and 50 federals. The federals are said to have the advantage of position, but the outcome of the engagement still is in doubt. The two Zapata brothers and other leaders are there, having met for a council of war when they were attacked by the federals.

Dispatches to Imparcial state that Cuernavaca is menaced by a large force of rebels.

Culiacan officially is reported to have been re-taken by the government troops under Gen. Ojada.

Reports from Mazatlan indicate a deplorable condition among wounded federals, who are too numerous to be accommodated in the military hospital and for whom there are neither medicines nor nurses. There is said to be a shortage of food and many lie in the open day and night, with but scant attention.

H. B. M. S. Melpomene has arrived in Vera Cruz and exchanged salutes with the forts. The vessel will probably pay a visit of courtesy to local authorities.

Attack in Rosario.

Tuscon, Ariz., May 3.—The important gold mining town of Rosario, Sinaloa, was attacked by 350 rebels Wednesday, reports received here state, but they were repulsed by the federal garrison.

A message to the Southern Pacific here reported Mazatlan and Tepic as quiet and that no attack had been made on Novolata.

Knox to Hear Stories.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—Secretary Knox, who will arrive here Saturday, will hear stories of alleged cruelties to Americans in Mexican jails. He telegraphed that he would be glad to listen to all who had complaints.

C. A. Heberlein, who recently was jail at Jiminez by General Orozco, the rebel leader, because "he did not like Mr. Heberlein's actions," will tell of the cruelties he claims he suffered. Heberlein was released on demand of the state department.

Conductors Forced Out.

Chicago, May 3.—Two hundred and fifty American railway conductors have been forced out of Mexico on account of the activity of the revolutionary forces and now are on their way to the states, according to information received in Chicago by C. A. Pinney, president of the conductors' council.

CIRCUIT RIDING IN KANSAS.

Hutchinson News: Thirty years ago Rev. Billy Williams, who is holding meetings at the Methodist church, was a Kansas circuit rider riding on horseback over a circuit thirty miles long and preaching three times each Sunday.

"I was ordained into the ministry of Kansas," said Rev. Mr. Williams. "When I rode the circuit there were three sod house schoolhouses and one church in which I held meetings. I once ran a bunch of cowboys out of one of my meetings on that circuit. I took the stove poker to do it, but they went.

"After church was over they came over to the parsonage with a lot of canned oysters and other things to eat and we had a regular little banquet. They took possession of the place and when they went away they passed the hat and took up a collection of $55 and gave it to me for the church.

"I had plenty of experiences on that Kansas circuit. Once wife and I had to go to a Dutchman's house to marry him. As no other place to stay all night was close we had to stay at his house. There was just one room in it, a big square room divided by a cloth curtain.

"After everything had quieted down and we were all in bed we were awakened by a blood-curdling scream from the other side of the partition. We jerked back the curtain and struck a light and there was the bride sitting bolt upright in bed screeching murder, with a big bullsnake which had crawled into the house hanging from a rafter overhead and swinging like a clock pendulum, with its head a few inches from her nose.

"I once rode ten miles and married a man who had no money but had quite a number of potatoes planted. He promised to give me a sack for performing the ceremony if there was a big yield and he never did. I heard later that the marriage did not stick."

CHINESE VIEW OF MILLINERY.

Pekin News: Speaking to a Chinese gentleman the other day, an Englishman asked him if the Chinese ladies will emulate the men and go in for Western headgear. In reply to the question, the Chinaman beamed a smile most childlike and bland.

Pressed for something more definite, he emarked: "Did you not know that it is a well-known fact among the Chinese that the reason so many European husbands look harassed and careridden, and the further reason why so many of your young men refrain from marriage is this very question of millinery. Ladies' hats cost so much that they spell ruin, and so we Chinese have told our women folk that we absolutely forbid them to follow Western fashions in this regard, whatever they may do in other directions."

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

ABUSE of power resulted in the downfall of Rome. History is full of four flushers and geeks playing their hands one card shy. Precedent points a stern and warning finger to those who would usurp privilege and run contrary to popular opinion. This is essentially a Democratic age; the men and women are doing their own thinking. Colleges and universities are supposed to be for the education of the youth of the land; institutions where the boys and girls are led to think and to develop their individualities. At Minnesota we have just witnessed a perversion of the privilege of popular opinion that is a leaf from the ways of the gag rule of mediaeval political tyranny. By almost a unanimous vote the students of the University of Minnesota asked to leave the conference and be rid forever of the petty rules that have prevented practically every athlete of the school from competing on the football, baseball or track teams of the school. The absolute power of decision is in the hands of the faculty athletic committee. This committee, representing not the students, not the true Minnesota spirit, but rather the imported Chicago sentiment that came with the new president, voted to remain in the moribound conference against the vote of the students and also stated that it was absolutely unnecessary to tell the students why the action was taken.

In a case of this kind radical action is necessary. Students of the school and the alumni should refuse to let the matter drop. When a few fogey and antediluvian professors can overrule the vote of several thousand students and decide to remain in a body that has practically ruined the athletics of the West, there is something radically wrong with the athletic system of a college where such action is possible.

If the students of the university have the right kind of spirit, they will never allow the matter to rest where it is at the present time. The fight of the students against the fogey and petty rule of the faculty commitee of the school should really just start at the present time, and it should not end until the balance of power is removed forever from the hands of the faculty and reposed in the student and alumni control.

Under the ridiculous ruling of the Western conference, a body that draws but a sneer from the lips of men, it is impossible to bring about the development of a football or baseball team that can be taken seriously by the students or by the lovers of football that have come to look upon the college game as one of the greatest of all outdoor sports. The death knell of intercollegiate athletics has probably been sounded by the action of the faculty committee of the University of Minnesota—a committee that is composed of men so thoroughly out of touch with student opinion that one could reasonably expect to see them reading Ibsen or Socrates while the football team was beating the socks off Michigan.

There are some men, more's the pity, who forget the fact that they were young, or were at least young in years. One can get some opinion of the mental make-up of members of the faculty athletic committee of the university. These dear professors have witnessed the humiliation of Minnesota, have stood for things that have caused the students of the school to blush for shame, and have capped the climax by gladly ruining every chance Minnesota has of placing a representative football team in the field.

It has been charged in the past that an underhand influence was at work to do away with intercollegiate athletics. This rumor was not credited for it is natural for the students to look for ideals in their instructors. But, if we will look the facts calmly in the face, it will be found that the pusillanimous rule of Western college professors has resulted in the deliberate throttling of college athletics, practically killing the interest in the football contests and placing the teams of the conference on a basis of ridicule.

When a student is debarred from college athletics because he sold tickets for an athletic game, or because he ran for a few cents when he was a small boy, the very spirit of amateur sports is being perverted to satisfy the petty conscience of the man who hates to see anyone, especially the young, enjoy themselves. The smallness, the unfairness, the holier-than-thou attitude displayed by the faculty of the University of Minnesota is quite sufficient to sicken the student and business man of college athletics for all time to come. It is sufficient, quite, to make most men who have achieved success without a college education, believe that there is something radically wrong with the ways some of the universities of the West are conducted. The entire course of action of the athletic committee faculty members of the University of Minnesota is enough to make one believe that theory and not facts or practical sense is the essence of belief of the modern college instructor.

The athletic committee of the faculty of the University of Minnesota has gone too far. Let us hope that the students resent this slap at their ability to take some voice in the sport they support, this open and obvious insinuation that it is none of the students' business what the faculty choose to do in the matter of athletics. Let the more optimistic of us hope that the students retaliate by taking the control of athletics out of the hands of men who have shown themselves unable to govern wisely or well—the members of the faculty committee.

There is such a thing as organizing an independent team, and while this would be radical and somewhat aside from the purpose of college athletics, it might be said that the situation is one that calls for radical action. The Boston tea party, you may recall, was the direct result of taxation without representation. It might be truthfully said that the students of the University of Minnesota pay for the athletics of the institution and then are refused a voice in their government.

Let the student and alumni once for all call the action of the faculty committee. Let us have at Minnesota a representative football and baseball team or let us go outside of the control of the faculty in the organization of college teams.

YOUNG CAPRON, the former Minnesota star football player, has been disposed of by the Pittsburg Pirates to the Milwaukee team of the American association, one of the baseball jokes of the season. Can it be that Capron has failed to come up to expectations? The dispatch failed to state that Pittsburg tied a string to the release of the college wonder? Many people have wondered where Capron learned to play baseball. If he proves a failure in the professional baseball field, the decision to give up his football career will cause him a lot of regret.

IT HAS been learned that they are changing the Minnetonka, the boat that defeated Dick Schell's D. B. C. here last August, the race being won after the local boat had dropped out from a bad engine. Perhaps some of those gentlemen who so strenuously raised the yell of good sportsmanship when the Minnetonka owners refused to race over again will come forward at the present time and shed some more light on the situation.

WITH the United States league in the field the hope of the baseball player with a grievance against the club owner of the regularly organized teams will be everlasting—at least it will be buoyed up until the league does an aeroplane shoot for the rocks of wreckage.

VIRGINIA OUT OF THE LEAGUE

Here is another blow that hurts. Virginia has decided at the last moment that it will not come into the Central International. The range city could have waited longer to make this decision, but as the schedule of the league is supposed to open one of these days, the franchise flirters of Virginia thought it best to come through with the information a week ahead of the scheduled opening of the season.

With Virginia and Fargo out of the running, there are three teams left—Duluth, Superior and Winnipeg. After deciding to come in and then stay out, Grand Forks sends a frenzied wire today that she is ready to come in again. Brandon is being mentioned as a compromise member of the league.

It is hard to tell what the league is going to be. Some of the officials are discovering that it is rather difficult to organize a baseball league in two weeks.

PAPKE WINS FROM NEWCOMER IN RING.

New York, May 3.—Billy Papke, former middleweight champion, practically knocked out Billy Leitch, a former New York policeman, in the second round of what was scheduled to be a ten-round bout at the National Sporting club here last night. It was Leitch's first fight as a professional. Both men were weighed in at 163 pounds.

The moment the men squared off Papke rushed Leitch to his own corner and drove a hard right swing to the head. Leitch fell to one knee. He got up but Papke was all over him and shortly before the bell again floored the former policeman with a right swing.

Leitch was groggy when the second round started and after he had been knocked down four times, his seconds threw up the sponge.

TIGERS AT OUTS.

Jennings Crew at Loggerheads Over Domineering Action of Cobb.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—Dissension in the ranks of the Tigers is blamed for the poor showing of Jennings' ball club this year and Ty Cobb, the Georgia peach, is the cause. The Tigers are all fighting, not the enemy, but among themselves. And it's all because Ty wants to play first base or pitch.

Ty insists that if he could play the whole game, or at least an infield part of it, the club would win three out of four games.

According to one member of the club, Ty begs Jennings to let him break into the infield. He also thinks he can pitch and on several occasions has posed for pictures as a pitcher. At every opportunity Ty gets on first base and tries to show up Gainor with his one-hand stabs. The rank and file of the players think he is swell-headed and several members of the club are in open rebellion against his domineering attitude.

DIRECTORS LOOK FOR GOOD SEASON

Officials of Duluth-Superior League Decide on Eight Teams.

At the meeting last evening of the Duluth and Superior Baseball league it was decided that there would be eight clubs in the organization and that the season will open May 12. The schedule is being prepared today and it is expected that the returns of the mail vote will be received by the first of the week.

By the agreement reached by the directors each team in the league will play fourteen games. There will be an open date each month. Contracts of the players will be sent to the officials of the league before the opening of the season.

Many of the players of the various teams have already been signed up. Those present expressed the opinion that the season would be most successful in the history of amateur baseball at the Head of the Lakes.

The following rerpesentatives of the teams that will be in the league were present at the Northern Hardware store, where the meeting was held: New Duluth, Frank Waeth; Jeffersons, A. Anderson and H. R. Swenson; Blue Bells, S. Jarvis; Edward M. Stones, J. Lundstrom; Duluth Heights, Kristensen; Y. M. S., Owens; Temccos, H. O. Dyer; Binghams, McAndrews.

ENGLAND HOPES BARRY WILL DEFEAT ARNST.

New York, May 3.—England, which in the old days held the acknowledged supremacy of the world in almost all the rowing championships, hopes to regain the world's sculling title in a race which has just been arranged between Richard Arnst of New Zealand and Earnest Barry of England. The race between the two professionals will take place on the Thames on July 29.

The like of the coming match has not been rowed on English waters since 1896, when Jake Gaudaur of St. Louis defeated J. Stansbury of New South Wales. English scullers were undefeated from the first race in 1831 until 1876, when New South Wales took the title.

TEN EYCK PLANS WORK FOR OARSMEN.

Coach Ten Eyck hopes to be able to make up for the bad weather of the past few days during the remainder of the week. The coach is planning to give the crew candidates some strenuous workouts during today and tomorrow, weather permitting.

It is expected that the new boats will arrive some time during the next week. It is expected that starting with the next few days there will be three eights out on the water for at least a week or so.

Coach Ten Eyck stated today that the crews were coming along as well as could be expected with the adverse weather conditions. Most of the men are in fine condition for so early in the year and are in shape to get down to hard work with the coming of good weather and rowing water.

JIM FLYNN LEAVES FOR TRAINING GROUNDS.

Chicago, May 3.—Flynn and Curley left today for Montezuma, N. M., where the "Pueblo fireman" will do his training. They expect to arrive in Montezuma within a week, making stops at Denver and Pueblo. Two of Flynn's trainers, Tommy Ryan and Howard Morrow will be in the camp May 15. James J. Corbett and Tommy Burns will arrive during the last week in June. Flynn now weighs 210 pounds. Work on the arena, it was said here today, will begin as soon as Curley arrives at Las Vegas. The plans, said Curley, were for 30,000 seats.

AMERICA WILL SEND FENCERS TO STOCKHOLM.

New York, May 3.—Eight American fencers will be taken to Stockholm to contest for the Olympic championships. Six members of the team have already been picked by Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, president of the Amateur Fencers' league, and the two others will be selected at a competition here on May 10.

The six members are: A. Van Zant Post, New York; J. A. McLaughlin, Boston; Dr. S. D. Breckinridge, Washington; Sherman Hall, New York. Dr. Hammond and Midshipman M. W. Larimer of Annapolis will be alternates.

The team will fence in the foils and dueling sword events, and Dr. Hammond, Midshipman Larimer and others will compete with the sabers as individuals. Prof. Courbesier, the navy maitre d'armes, will go along as the guest of Col. Thompson.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED.

At a meeting called for the Northern Hardware store this evening plans will be gone over for the opening of the season of the Commercial league. It is planned to have the opening of the league set for May 11. Practically all of the teams are coming back into the organization, according to the statement made by the officials, and it is expected that the pennant race will be closer and better contested than the flag fight of last season.

WHITE HOPE HAS ANOTHER MATCH.

Springfield, Mo., May 3.—Carl Morris, the Sapulpa, Okla., heavyweight, arrived here yesterday and spent several hours in a gymnasium completing his training for a ten-round boxing bout with Luke McCarty here this evening. It is not believed the authorities will interfere with the contest.

Roman Sells Catcher.

Chicago, May 3.—President Comiskey of the Chicago American league club yesterday announced the sale of Catcher Kreitz, to the Sacramento, Cal., club of the Pacific Coast league.

Baseball Gossip.

Wally Shontz, with the Indians a while last season, being secured from the Giants, has been disposed of by the Mobile club to Dallas.

If the Indianapolis team isn't nicknamed the Undertakers before the season is very far advanced it will be a surprise. The Indians are sporting black uniforms with white lettering.

Hugh Bradley, who has been playing first base for the Boston Red Sox in place of Manager Stahl, is a real big leaguer both in the field and at bat.

Style means what?
The prevailing fashion.
In hats it means the Gordon.

The new, low-crown, broad-brimmed Gordon stiff hats have won instant favor among young men.

WHITE HOSE WIN OPENER

Duluth Defeats the Superior Red Sox By Score of 12 to 2.

Game Called Early Because of Wet Grounds and Cold Weather.

In the mud and rain at Hislop park yesterday the Duluth team defeated the Superior aggregation by the score of 12 to 2 in five innings that were played with difficulty. Weather conditions were decidedly against any kind of baseball, the mud making clean fielding next to impossible.

At first glance it looked as if the game would have to be called off. Finally the teams decided to make the start, and though the five innings were played, it required nerve upon the part of the players, as the raw wind swept across the diamond and the air was better fitted for winter sports than baseball.

Kuhn walked in the first and Sam Menelce was hit. Leber swatted one over the center field fence and three runs were chalked up for Duluth.

Superior came back with two runs in its half of the initial round. Olson singled and was forced at second by Briggs. Hyzer smote one for two bags. Francis singled and the pair of runs were over.

In the second the Sox added four more to their score. With two out Hoffman and Kuhn walked. Hoffman scored when McGraw hit through third. Menelce ambled and Leber doubled, scoring the three runners.

Blum started the third by doubling against the fence in left field. Erickson likewise doubled and the Blum man was across the pan. Hoffman got the habit, doubling, and Erickson was sitting on the bench. McGraw hit over second and Hoffman came over with the third run of the round.

In the fourth Erickson strolled and was caught trying to pilfer. Hoffman walked and Kuhn walked. McGraw was hit, Menelce struck out. Leber walked, forcing Hoffman over, and Sours also was given a free trip, forcing Kuhn over.

At the end of the fifth inning the players decided that they had quite enough of the great national game for the day, and the contest was called. The two teams will play at Athletic park this afternoon, weather permitting:

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Duluth ..... 3 4 3 2 0—12	8	1
Superior ..... 2 0 0 0 0— 2	6	2

Batteries—Hoffman and Erickson; Ursella, Barr and Ford.

BRESNAHAN IS AMBITIOUS

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.——Confirmation of rumors that Roger Bresnahan, catcher and manager of the St. Louis National league baseball team, was trying to become owner of the club, came unexpectedly yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Helen Hathaway Britton, owner of the club, testified in Judge Grimm's court that Bresnahan had offered her $500,000 for the club and for the park.

Mrs. Britton was on the stand in her suit to prevent E. A. Steininger, president of the club and administrator of the estate of M. Stanley Robison, from voting the stock of Mrs. Britton and her mother at meetings of the club. Steininger's attorneys had asked Mrs. Britton what the baseball team and Robison field were worth.

"I can simply say," Mrs. Britton replied, "that Roger Bresnahan has offered me $500,000 for the team and the park."

This line of questioning was dropped abruptly and all concerned refused to discuss the matter further.

MISSIONARY TO AFRICA WILL VISIT DULUTH.

Rev. Martin Westling of Congo, Africa, will arrive in Duluth tomorrow morning and will preach Sunday at the two Swedish Mission churches of this city. He will preach in the morning at the West Duluth church and in the evening at the West end church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Rev. Mr. Westling is a missionary from Sweden and one of the most widely known in Africa and Europe. He just attended the conference at Alabama, which was called by Booker T. Washington for the benefit of the negro race. Rev. Mr. Westling represented the Swedish Mission church of Sweden at the conference.

WILL FORM NEW SUFFRAGE CLUB

The West End Suffrage club will be organized this afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Adams, 2314 West Second street. All the women in this end of the city interested in the movement have been invited to the meeting and to take part in the club's organization.

Mrs. A. T. Hall, president of the Minnesota Suffrage association, Dr. Mary McCoy, president of the Duluth Suffrage club and the West Duluth Suffrage club, and Mrs. T. F. Olson will address the assembly and outline the plans for a suffrage campaign. As soon as the club is organized the members will take up the present patrol limits controversy and assist the other organizations in this end of the city in their fight against the action of the city council and Mayor McCuen.

MERCHANTS CELEBRATING.

West End Street Car "Cutoff" Still Cause for Demonstration.

West end is still celebrating the opening of the new Twenty-first avenue west cut-off.

At the J. J. Moe & Sons' department store and the Anderson Thoorsell Furniture company a light luncheon was served yesterday afternoon and flowers were given to the women and children who visited the stores. The large flags and buntings on the two buildings are still flying and the corner is now in holiday attire.

With the additional Third street cars now passing the Twenty-first avenue west corner for the cut-off to Third street, it is estimated that a car passes this corner every minute from 8 o'clock in the morning to shortly after 6 o'clock in the evening. One West end merchant said yesterday in speaking of the new street car change: "Twenty-first avenue west is one of the busiest corners in Duluth, and a close second to Third avenue west and Superior street."

MIDSUMMER'S DAY PLANS ANNOUNCED.

The Swedish-American National league of Duluth met last evening at the Bachelors' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street, and completed the arrangements for the second annual midsummer's day festival to be given June 24 at Lincoln park.

The various features of the day, as announced in Wednesday evening's Herald, will be carried out by special committees appointed at a recent meeting. The committees made their reports last evening. Invitations have been sent to the most prominent Swedish-Americans of the country to come to Duluth and speak here during the festival.

The cast for the evening's performance will be announced within a few days, according to the report of the entertainment committee. An open air performance of "A Midsummer's Day in Daleciarla" will be rendered by the most prominent Swedish soloists of this city. A committee was also appointed to secure the fireworks for the evening and arrange for the spectacle to be featured as the last event of the day.

MISS FRANKENFIELD WILL STAGE BOYS' PLAY.

Miss Laura Frankenfield will stage the playlet, "The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood," which is to be presented by the Daniel Boone boys of the Neighborhood House at the Star theater, 2107 West Superior street, next Wednesday evening. The final rehearsals will be held at the Adams school under the direction of Miss Frankenfield.

HOUSEWARMING IN WOODMEN'S NEW HALL.

Fully 700 people attended the housewarming party and dance given by the Duluth camp No. 2341 M. W. A., at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The affair was the first given in the new building, which was opened to the public but a few hours before the dance.

Every Woodman camp in Duluth and Superior was represented and the local Camp Forester team gave an exhibition drill during the evening. Addresses were given by the officers and a short program of musical numbers and recitations was rendered. Dancing concluded the evening's entertainment.

The new building is one of the most artistic lodge structures in this part of the state. The large assembly hall on the first floor will seat 700 people and is also used as the dance hall. A large stage has been erected at the north end of the hall, which was used by the speakers last evening.

AMATEUR PLAYERS TO APPEAR IN SUPERIOR.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, scored such a success in their two recent performances of "The District School" that a special performance will be given by the members of the society at the Cummings Avenue Methodist church in Superior next Friday evening. The cast will be the same as in the performances given on Feb. 9 and March 1.

Charles W. Ramshaw, pastor of the Proctor M. E. church, is in charge of the production and also plays the role of the school teacher. The characters of the play are as follows:

WILL DISCUSS AMENDMENTS

A. G. McKNIGHT.

A special program of addresses and musical numbers will be rendered this evening at the open meeting to be held at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street. E. M. Morgan, Elmer Blu and A. G. McKnight will speak on the initiative, referendum and recall amendment, which will come up before election next Tuesday. Miss Emily Smith will render a violin solo and Miss Edith Miller will give a vocal solo during the evening.

First Dance of Season.

The Adams Athletic association opened its series of Thursday evening summer dances at the Lincoln Park auditorium, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street last evening. About 150 couples were present and Flaaten's orchestra furnished the music for the evening. The large hall was decorated for the occasion with the club's banners and pennants.

West End Briefs.

J. C. Markkanen of Floodwood, Minn., is a business visitor in the West end today.

Martin Rude of 2201 West Second street returned yesterday from Chippewa Falls, Wis., where he spent the past few days on business.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will hold its annual supper and sale of fancy articles in the church parlors Wednesday evening, May 15.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, held its regular weekly meeting in the church parlors yesterday afternoon.

A benefit dance will be given tomorrow evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

Mrs. C. E. Gilman and daughter of 1903 West First street left yesterday for Minneapolis, where they will spend several days with Mrs. Gilman's sister.

The West end library branch at rooms 9 and 10 above J. J. Moe & Sons' department store, will open to the public tomorrow afternoon. The regular Saturday morning story hour will be held at 9 o'clock.

Big Potato Acreage.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — There will be a big increase in the potato acreage in Northern North Dakota this year, according to reports received by the Commercial club and the statements of railroad freight officials, who are in touch with the situation.

In about thirty cities and towns in in the district movements are under way for the construction of potato warehouses to take care of this fall's crop, and the shipments will be unusually heavy.

DULUTH MAN WILL GIVE MONTH TO WORK OF METHODIST CONFERENCE

Word has been received here that the table presented to Bishop Henry W. Warren at the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, now in session at Minneapolis, contained a small piece of wood taken from an oak in front of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

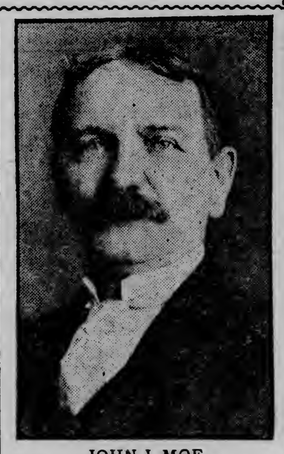
The table was made by students of the Industrial department of the Morristown, Tenn., college for colored boys and girls and was brought to Minneapolis by the president of that college, who is a delegate to the conference. The table contains 706 pieces of wood taken from every conference and mission field occupied by Methodism in the world. The chair is of Honduras mahogany and the gavel carved from a piece of wood taken from an African jungle.

J. J. Moe of 2207 West Third street, representative of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, and lay delegate for the centrol district of the Norwegian and Danish M. E. church, sent the small piece of wood early last summer. Mr. Moe is now in Minneapolis attending the sessions of the conference, which 850 ministers and laymen, representing all sections of the globe, are also attending. These delegates and ministers are to map out the work and plans for the church, elect bishops and decide church questions for 3,500,000 Methodists. Mr. Moe will spend the entire month of May in Minneapolis attending these sessions.

Mr. Moe, although a delegate for the central district, represents the First Norwegian-Danish church of the West end, which is the oldest church of its creed in the state. The local church was organized in 1883 and the first congregation of 11 members built a wooden structure, which was used until 1908. At that time the present structure was built at Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street at a cost of $25,000. There are 200 members in the church at the present time.

Mr. Moe was elected lay delegate at the district conference last year. He was appointed to 21 special committees of the general conference, on which he is now serving in the sessions at Minneapolis.

The assembly at Minneapolis, writes Mr. Moe to his son Alfred, of the J. J. Moe & Sons' department store, is recorded as being the largest in the history of the church. Delegates from points as far distant as Finland, South Africa, South America and Asia, some of whom were dressed in native costumes, were brought together when the roll call was read Wednesday morning, the opening day of the convention.



JOHN J. MOE,
Lay Delegate of the Local District of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. Church, Who Is Attending the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Church at Minneapolis This Month.

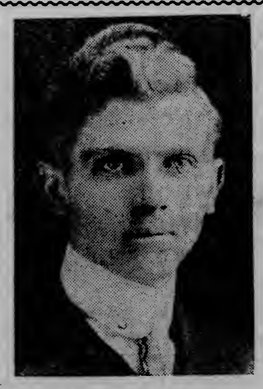
WEST END ATHLETIC CLUB WORKING FOR NEW MEMBERS

Members of the Adams Athletic association have organized into a general committee to secure the desired membership of 250 by June 1. John Geistman, president of the club, has been appointed manager of the committee and he will direct the work of securing about 150 additional members to the association.

The membership campaign was launched Wednesday morning. With the building plans drawn and a site now under consideration, the members of the club will begin to go after new members. The larger membership was necessary, say those at the head of the association, to make the new home pay.

The new building will be two stories, with a large swimming tank in the basement. The main floor will include the gymnasium proper, handball courts and reception rooms. The second floor will be open in the form of a gallery and running track. The club rooms and parlors will all be located on the second floor. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000. The plans for the structure were drawn by Abraham Holstead. The site for the building has not been selected as yet, but will probably be on First street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-third avenues west.

For the present the following board of trustees has been chosen to handle the money subscribed to the club: Chauncey Colton, Carl E. Lonegren, A. E. Swanstrom, Axel Erickson, John Geistman, Capt. D. E. Stevens and S. M. Kielley. It is planned by the members to secure sufficient subscriptions to allow building operations to start early next fall.



JOHN GEISTMAN,
President of the Adams Athletic Association, Who Is Directing the General Membership and Subscription Campaign of the Organization.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MANY AFTER HOMESTEADS

April Filings on Northwestern Minnesota Land at Crookston Record Breaking.

Not in Twenty-Five Years Have People Been So Hungry for Land.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The business at the United States land office here continues large. Last month 300 homestead filings were made on land in Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Beltrami counties. During January 111 filings were made, February 153, and in March 192, showing a steady increase, with the April record far above all, and the heaviest month in the history of the local land office during the past twenty-five years. May opened up strong with sixteen filings yesterday, which, if that pace is kept up will result in May exceeding April.

This is a good indication of how the new settlers are flocking to Northern Minnesota. The demand for land exceeds all past records. In addition to the homestead filings and the sale of improved farms, all the land men are getting numerous inquiries from people who expect to come up to the Red River valley after the crops are all up and look the country over. There is no question but that there will be a sharp advance in the price of farm lands before the summer is over, and a great deal has been advanced already by people who would sell, while a great deal more is no longer for sale, those intending to sell having changed their minds and instead are buying more.

Country Looks Fine.

The country never looked more attractive at this season of the year. The fields are like garden plots, the grain is coming up very even, and the cool weather has favored deep rooting and the grain is consequently very dark in color and vigorous.

Since early spring the shipment of thoroughbred stock to various points in the valley through Crookston has been noticeable. Seaton Works of Mankato has completed a shipment of 500 head of heifers to his Beltrami ranch, having fenced in an entire section, and is now looking after a large tract which he purchased a year ago near Fosston and will colonize. The early rains have started the pastures so that the season promises to be a most profitable one for fattening stock for the market as well as for the increasing dairy herds. The co-operative creameries have all started up, as well as the cheese factories, and as a rule they started up a month earlier this season than usual, barring those which run through the winter also.

CROMWELL WILL HAVE CREAMERY

Co-operative Association of Farmers Will Build and Operate It.

Cromwell, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers of this vicinity have organized the Cromwell Co-operative Creamery association. They have sixty or more stockholders and over 400 cows. They have elected seven good men as officers with Edward Benson as their president and Edward Walker, secretary. They have adopted a full set of by-laws and have signed articles of incorporation and have received plans and specifications for their building, and placed their order for one of the finest creamery outfits in Minnesota.

The Northwestern Telephone company is putting in an exchange in the Hotel Lenox. With one farmers' telephone line now in operation and one other under completion with forty subscribers, this will give the people in this vicinity the very best of communication with the larger cities.

WINNEBAGO BANK CLOSED.

Institution Is Temporarily Embarrassed—Examiner in Charge.

Winnebago City, Minn., May 3.—Kelsey S. Chase of Faribault, state bank examiner, has temporarily closed the Bank of Commerce of this place and is now making an examination of its books and accounts.

This action was taken because of the absence of H. W. Parker, vice president of the bank, who left here on Friday afternoon, saying he was going to St. Paul to attend a lodge meeting. The examiner was informed that Parker just before his departure cashed a Bank of Commerce draft for $2,000 at the First National bank here and was supposed to have taken the money with him.

Whether a further shortage will be shown at the bank has not as yet been determined. Special Examiner Regan is here to assist his chief in the examination.

Vice President Parker has been with the bank many years and has had the respect and confidence of all patrons. He is about 40 years of age and has a wife and three children here.

The Bank of Commerce was organized as a private bank in 1903 and became a state bank the following year. It has a capital stock of $20,000, a surplus of $3,000 and deposits of $210,000. John Sharp is president and Glenn Bassett, cashier.

It is expected the suspension will be only temorary.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

We submit the following as our ideas of the probabilities under Fulton's Renal Compound in Bright's and kidney disease:

Where patients are seriously weakened and crises may be expected in from ten to twenty days probably not more than ten per cent to twenty per cent respond. Where physicians aid by holding up the heart, increasing the eliminations, etc., the efficiency can be increased. In cases where patients have from thirty to sixty days of life we look for correspondingly better results.

Where patients do not wait until bedridden we believe three-fourths can be controlled and that in cases that take the treatment on the appearance of the disease that nearly nine out of ten will respond with final recovery or prolongation of life.

Albumen, casts and dropsy do not prevent recovery. The point is that the renal inflammation should be attacked before the heart and recuperative powers are too greatly weakened.

Fulton's Renal Compound is used both with and without physicians' prescriptions. The motive of the Renal Compound being to relax the kidney (the Old School having nothing for reduce inflamed kidneys) it will be seen that the heart, eliminative and tonic treatment usually prescribed in Bright's and kidney disease do not conflict but are often required in extreme cases.

We desire patients not improving the third week to write us. Literature mailed free. John J. Fulton Company, 645 Battery, San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

RATHER DIE IN STATE PRISON

Lifer From Hennepin County Refuses to Be Free Again.

Stillwater, Minn., May 3.—Frank Johnson, sentenced in Hennepin county to serve a life term in the state prison for murder in the second degree, ten years ago turned down an offer for freedom and to go to a farm of a friend near Graceville and be provided with a good home where he could live in ease the remainder of his days.

He stated then that he would not go out and expected to end his days in prison. He has accumulated over $1,228 by working overtime in prison and the money is in the custody of the state, subject to any disposition he may want to make of it.

Frank Johnson is one of 105 lifers in the prison, five of whom are women. He has served longer than any of the others. He was admitted thirty-six years ago on April 11 and is 64 years old. He was never married. Of the lifers now in prison seven of them were there when Warden Henry Wolfer became the head of the institution twenty years ago. Johnson has been an ideal prisoner. He has long since been eligible to parole.

START BUILDING BEMIDJI PLANT

Bemidji, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans for the actual construction of the Kenfield-Lamoreaux box and crate factory to be located between the Crookston and Bemidji mills have been completed. Negotiations for all the land needed have just been successfully consummated and work on the new building will begin without further delay.

The new factory will be built of concrete and steel and will be as nearly fireproof as possible to build a structure. Only the most modern box and crating machinery will be installed, and the entire plant will be operated by electrical power furnished by the Warfield Electric company of this city. The capacity of the present building will give employment to about 100, but the building will be so constructed that additions can be built from time to time.

Had Rapid Growth.

The Kenfield-Lamoreaux company first began operations at Washburn, Wis., a few years ago, and its growth has been especially rapid since that time, until today it is one of the biggest box and crating concerns in the country.

The company which will have charge of the Bemidji plant will be newly organized and will have a capital of about $100,000, with M. S. Lamoreaux of Chicago as president.

CLOQUET COUPLE WEDDED.

Joseph Gleason and Miss Loisel Are Married.

Cloquet, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Alphina Loisel and Joseph Gleason were married yesterday at the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Fathers Lemire and Lemmer officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Loisel of Cloquet and has grown to young woman hood here, and both young people are well known. The bride was charming in a white satin gown beautifully trimmed, and bridal veil. Her maids were Miss Minnie De Mers of Cromwell and Miss Agnes Holmes of Cloquet. The bridesmaids were attired in white voile, lace trimmed and carried white carnations.

The bride carried a white prayer book. The groom was attended by George Loisel and William Gleason. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, and many guests were received there during the day. Last night in the Nelson opera house there was a reception and dance to which about 250 guests were bidden.

THIEF RIVER HOSPITAL.

Plans Afoot for Raising Enough for Substantial Building.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a largely attended meeting of citizens held in the Auditorium, steps were taken to raise funds for the erection of a hospital.

An executive committee consisting of Mayor Lars Backe, J. H. Hay, Daniel Shaw, Dr. Swedenberg and W. B. Fuller was selected to canvass the city and surrounding country. It is expected to raise from $20,000 to $25,000 in this manner as a beginning and complete the canvass within one month.

This city has long suffered from inadequate hospital facilities, and since it has become a railway center ample accommodations for the sick have become imperative.

BOY PUSHED INTO FIRE DIES OF BURNS.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 3.—Little Willard Bahr, aged 5 years, is dead from burns sustained Wednesday, it is alleged, when he was pushed onto a bonfire at the side of a railroad track near his home on the outskirts of the city by a 16-year-old neighbor's boy who is said to be demented.

The mother of the boy who died declared that eye witnesses told her that after her boy was pushed into the fire repeatedly that the lad who did the pushing stood around shouting and dancing while he burned. The coroner is investigating.

FINAL DEBATE AT CROOKSTON

St. Paul and Crookston Highs to Settle Differences Early This Month.

Crookston, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — The final debate for the high school championship of Minnesota between the Humboldt high school of St. Paul and the Crookston high school will be held here at the Grand opera house May 10 or 11.

The Humboldt high chose the negative of "Resolved, That the United States Should Establish the Parcels Post," and Crookston will take the affirmative.

The Humboldt high preferred to have the debate in Crookston rather than in Minneapolis and this was also satisfactory to Crookston.

Must Select Judges.

All that remains now is the selection of the judges. President Vincent of the University of Minnesota will probably select one; President McVey of the university another; and some other college or university president will select the third, unless the choice of the third is left to the first two named judges. The Crookston high has debated the affirmative side of the question twice and the negative twice and has won each time, thus they had little preference in the matter and as Humboldt high desired to take the negative side they were allowed to take their choice without further negotiations. The Crookston debaters are Leslie Lee, Harry Sylvester and Walter Baumgartel.

NEGLECTS CHILD; LITTLE ONE DIES

Marquette Woman Comes to Duluth and While Absent Offspring Expires.

Marquette, Mich., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pneumonia contracted by a 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Beals of this city, who is said to have been neglected by his mother who fled to Duluth to escape being a witness in a slander suit, caused the death of the boy and the coroner is investigating.

The father of the child, George Beals, is an employe in the South Shore repair shops. He is an honest, hard working man who has done the best he could for his family and has not left his child nor his wife in want.

A slander suit was started against a Marquette man and Mrs. Beals was wanted as the principal witness. But she left the city two weeks ago for Duluth, leaving the child in the care of a girl. The child's physical needs were taken care of, and it was cheered up when it cried for its mother, but the girl left.

Tot Alone at Home.

The child was all alone at home while Mr. Beals was at work. It wandered in and out of the house for three days, lonesome, hungry and cold, too weak and small to make its wants known. The neighbors saw the child playing on the street. Some pitied it and had words of disapproval for the action of its mother in leaving it. Others took the child in, fed it, and tried to smooth over its little troubles. The father waited patiently for the child's mother to return and trusted to the neighbors to see that the boy did not get into any serious trouble.

But three days of exposure proved too much for the child.

WORKED 50 YEARS WITHOUT SALARY

An Interesting Negro Character Who Didn't Want Wages

HIS ORIGINAL WAY

An old negro who died last year in Richmond occupied a curious position in one of this country's busiest tobacco factories, having worked there for fifty years without salary.

Darkey John had been a slave in the family of the founder of the tobacco company and after the war John "just naturally stayed around," found himself work to do, did it in his own way, and came in time to regard his position as one of much importance. His authoritative ways were smiled upon by the management and taken as a matter of course by other darkies who were employed there. In fact, John rather thought the running of the factory depended on him and if he was sick for a day would send word down to lay off his imaginary subordinates until he could get back.

But John's greatest oddity was his attitude toward money. He pretended not to need any. Evidently he would have thought it belittling to draw money like ordinary wage earners. One day some one asked "What is John's salary?" Whereupon it was discovered John drew no salary. This looked like a curious oversight until it was learned that John had, with the silent consent of those "higher up," solved the money question in his own way. When he wanted cash he got it in odd sums and at odd times at the pay window. The orders were to let John have what he wanted, but John's native shrewdness was shown in the fact that he never drew in excess of a reasonable amount. The arrangement suited him entirely and seemed to help preserve his dignity and importance to the end.

John was always devotedly loyal to his old master and to the great business he had founded. He was a stout champion of "Tuxedo" tobacco. He regarded himself as sharing in the growing fame of the wonderful smoke produced by the Patterson process. When sales outran the best possible shipments John felt all the anxiety of a full partner in the business. His death removed a faithful and picturesque character.

TUXEDO TOBACCO

The Pipe Smoke for Gentlemen, the Pipe Smoke for Gentlemen

Tuxedo.—Away back in [illegible] founder of the R. A. Patterson Company discovered a remarkable process that resulted in the production of the famous original granulated "Tuxedo."

Tuxedo represents the greatest modern triumph in tobacco. It has a cool fragrance, and a ripe, mellow flavor due to fully matured tobacco and the special process by which it is treated.

We have had to increase our factory facilities to keep pace with the extraordinary demand for Tuxedo. Now we have begun to tell the wonderful story of its success. It's a big story—a story of [illegible] for it.

WHAT THE BISHOPS SAW

Large Body of Clergy Visit a Tobacco Factory

On the occasion of a religious conference in a Southern city, a conference attended by a large company of clerical delegates from both sides of the Atlantic, the manager of a big tobacco factory sent an invitation to the members to come and see how and by whom tobacco was made.

The invitation was accepted by practically the entire body, many famous bishops among them, and the factory never was inspected by a more interested group of men. Evidently most of the visitors were wholly unfamiliar with the methods of tobacco making. They asked many questions of the officers and employes and seemed particularly attracted by details of the Patterson process by which "Tuxedo" tobacco receives its mild, fragrant, stingless quality as a smoke.

One old bishop came to the factory three times during the period of the session and certainly acquired unusually full information on a subject that seemed to interest him deeply.

The factory management was very cordially congratulated not only on the conditions prevailing in the factory, but on their success in producing a tobacco of such wholesomely high quality.

BROKEN JAW JOINED.

Miner Injured in Baron Mine Has Unique Operation.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 3.—John Denore of Humboldt sustained a compound fracture of the lower jaw Tuesday at the Baron mine. He was brought here for treatment. Denore's head was crushed between a moving skip and timber, and those who examined the place where he was caught could not understand how he escaped having his skull fractured. The operation necessitated the joining together of four sections of the jaw by the construction of an interdental splint. It will be at least two weeks before Denore will be able to resume his work.

North Dakota Nurses to Organize.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Moses Fish, a well known Negaunee young man, died Wednesday after a year's illness with tuberculosis. Mr. Fish had been at the Morgan Heights sanitarium for three months and returned to his home much benefited. Although his death was not unexpected, it came as a surprise to his friends.

Ishpeming—Several Ishpeming and Negaunee mines have started to ship ore to the docks. The ore movement over the Lake Superior & Ishpeming line started Tuesday, when two train loads were sent to the Presque isle docks. Four train loads went down Wednesday.

Marquette—The first meeting of the new library board of the city was held Wednesday at a dinner given by F. H. Begole, the retiring president, at the Marquette club. J. A. Malhiot was elected president and A. E. Boswell was elected secretary. Mr. Malhoit recently handed in his resignation from the board, but it was not accepted.

Houghton—The golf committee of the Portage Lake Golf club expects to announce shortly the schedule of state events for the season, which schedule will open June 1.

Marquette—The Marquette county members of the Alumni association of the Michigan College of Mines recently participated in the annual election of officers, the election being by mail. The officers selected are all Copper Country residents, as follows: President, J. L. Harris, '88, Hancock; vice president, E. W. Walker, '96, Mass City; treasurer, H. T. Mercer, '98, Palmesdale; secretary, B. F. Sparks' '07, Houghton.

Negaunee—Moses Fish died Wednesday at the home of his mother, after an illness of about a year. He was 26 years of age and leaves a mother, Mrs. Harriet Fish, and one sister, Miss Florence Fish of Chicago.

Calumet—Prof. David Friday, one of the University of Michigan extension course lecturers, will come to Calumet Wednesday, May 8, to lecture in the Calumet high school assembly room Wednesday evening on "Tax Reform in Michigan" or "Popular Economic Fallacies."

Marquette—Rt. Rev. G. Mott Williams, Episcopal bishop for the Marquette diocese, Wednesday observed the sixteenth anniversary of his consecration as bishop. Bishop Williams was elevated on May 1, 1896. He held a brief service at 10 o'clock in the morning at St. Paul's church.

Calumet—Miss Clara A. Blom, aged 21, died Tuesday at the family residence in Blue Jacket, following a three months' illness. She was born and raised in the Blue Jacket home. She is survived by her mother and several sisters and brothers. The funeral was held Thursday.

Houghton—Houghton now has five fewer saloons doing business than last year, those going out of business owing to failure to receive licenses being Henry H. Feidman, John Verrier, Camillo Croze, Matt Eskola and Matt Olkarainen.

Calumet—August Jeannot, aged 89, died Wednesday, old age being the cause. The decedent resided with his son Joseph at North Tamarack. He was an old Copper Country pioneer, having resided for a number of years at Allouez previous to removing to North Tamarack. He was born in Tamarack. Several grown children survive. The funeral will take place Saturday morning.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Aberdeen, S. D.—Henry Shultz of near Arlington, S. D., had a narrow escape from death when lightning struck the barn while he was unharnessing his team upon his return from a trip to town. The bolt killed one horse and stunned Mr. Shultz.

Fargo, N. D.—The appointment of M. S. Hyland as superintendent of waterworks was made by Mayor Sweet and confirmed by the council. August Johnson was appointed to succeed himself as street commissioner.

Minot, N. D.—City Treasurer W. L. Snell resigned as city treasurer Monday evening, and A. J. Brunner was unanimously appointed to the position. Mr. Snell will leave Minot.

Bismarck, N. D.—Williston Electric Construction company has been incorporated. The directors are Sidney J. Dorothy, Elmore C. McCall and William C. Tatem of Williston and George H. Moellring and W. W. Wirtz of Ray. The capital stock is $25,000.

Fargo, N. D.—The Associated Charities board has elected the following officers: President, John Watson; vice president, William D. Sweet; secretary, William Ballou; treasurer, Herbert L. Loomis. In the reports that were submitted there was a statement of a gratifying increase in the use that the citizens make of the employment bureau.

Minot, N. D.—Passenger and express service will be instituted on the Stanley-Powers Lake branch of the Great Northern next Monday. A mixed train will leave Stanley Mondays, returning Wednesdays and leaving again Fridays returning Saturdays. This is the first passenger service to be provided on the line.

Bismarck, N. D.—The annual meeting of the Capital City Tennis club was held Monday afternoon. G. H. Russ, Jr., was re-elected president and J. L. Bell, secretary and treasurer. It was decided to increase the annual dues from $3 to $5, leaving the initiation fee at $3.

Valley City, N. D.—The Bijou theater here has changed hands, going back to its original owner, George H. Webster, owner of the Orpheum at Fargo and a string of houses throughout this section of the Northwest. Mr. Webster has returned to this city to make his home. A. B. Fulmore, former owner, has gone to Winnipeg.

Fargo, N. D.—The students and faculty of Fargo college Wednesday paid high tribute to the memory of Dr. Daniel K. Pearsons, the Chicago philanthropist, whose gifts which totaled $73,000 made the institution possible. Dr. R. A. Beard, one of the first presidents of the institution, presided and read many interesting letters written by Dr. Pearsons.

FRECKLE-FACE

Now Remedy That Removes Freckles Costs Nothing.

Here's a chance Miss Freckle-Face, to try a new remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles, while if it does give you a clear complexion, the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength, from Boyce Drug Store and one night's treatment will show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask Boyce Drug Store for the double strength othine, as this is the only prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

La Crosse—The corn crop of La Crosse county will be increased 20 per cent as a result of the work of the La Crosse county school of agriculture and domestic economy. Practically every portion of the county has been visited by the faculty this spring to show the farmers by tests the actual condition of their own seed corn.

Eau Claire—Mrs. Robert Walker died Wednesday in the town of Wheaton. The funeral will be held Saturday forenoon. She leaves a husband, three sons, Irvine Walker of Wheaton, and Edward and Chester of Eau Claire, and one daughter, also three brothers, two at Portage, Wis., and Julius Seoka of Eau Claire.

Ashland—The first game of ball at Fairmount park this season will be held next Saturday afternoon when the Northland college nine will play the Superior normal nine. This is the first game of the season for both teams but they have some very fast players and a good game should result.

Madison—According to the announcement just made Gen. B. F. Bryant, commandant of the Waupaca Soldiers' home, will deliver the Memorial day address here.

Madison—Adolph T. Swedson, aged 31, was killed while attempting to jump on a moving Milwaukee road passenger train in the West Madison yards.

Milwaukee—Capt. John G. Barry, last season commander of the revenue cutter Seminole, stationed at Wilmington, N. C., has been assigned to command the cutter Tuscarora, here.

Fond du Lac—The strike of all the building trades which was believed would occur Wednesday, is said to have averted. William H. Somers of Milwaukee, who was employed as local organizer, says that all the unions asked for is the closed shop and that the majority of the employers have agreed to it.

Neenah—In the effort to effect better discipline, Capt. J. B. Schneller, commanding Company I, has issued "bobtail" discharges to several members of the company. They refused to attend drill. To be served with a discharge of this nature deprives the recipient of the right to ever hold a government position. The next serious discharge deprives the person of citizenship.

Eau Claire—The trip in search of adventure in the "wild" woods of Northern Wisconsin begun by Master Philip Conley of Chicago came to a sudden termination Wednesday when he was taken in charge by the Eau Claire police, and sent back home.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Sabin—A large barn on the farm of John Connelly, near Sabin, was struck by lightning during an electric storm Tuesday night, and in addition to causing considerable damage to the monster structure four of the most valuable horses on the farm were killed outright.

Mapleton—Two nonegenarians passed away Wednesday, John Keller of this place, 92 years old, and Abraham Van Aernam of Amboy, 90 years old. Keller's death was due to a stroke of paralysis, sustained Friday last, and Van Aernam's was due to heart failure, being found dead in bed.

Fergus Falls—The Otter Tail county sanatorium commission has selected a site for the proposed Otter Tail county tuberculosis hospital on the north shore of Lake Blanche, about three miles from the village of Battle Lake, and very nearly in the center of the county. Work on the building is to be begun as soon as the site is approved by the state board of health.

Red Wing—The Stanton Farmers' Elevator company has petitioned the district court for the appointment of a receiver in order to wind up the affairs of the corporation. The liabilities of the company are about $3,000, and the assets $1,200.

North Branch—Mattie Heck, the 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Heck, living west of town, has gone just about totally blind the past week from nervous causes. She is now under the care of doctors who hope to bring her out all right in time.

Moorhead—Jacob Moss, who disappeared from his home in the eastern part of the city on Friday evening, April 26, returned Tuesday night and informed his friends that he had been at Staples visiting old acquaintances. The disappearance of Moss caused great uneasiness among his family and friends, as it was feared that he had met with an accident.

Crookston—The North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota declamatory contest will be held at Fargo, May 8, and the Crookston high school will be represented.

Bemidji—Peter Pearson, aged about 40, committed suicide in the Svea hotel; the body being found Tuesday. Pearson had come in from the woods about a week ago and had $100 when he arrived. Forty-three dollars were found in his pockets and this will be used to bury him if no heirs are found.

International Falls—William Joyce of Margie was given a preliminary hearing Wednesday on a statutory charge and was bound over to the grand jury. Miss Laura Brown of Margie was the complainant.

Perham—Louis Fehr, while working on a corn shredder at the farm of Charles Spillman, in some unaccountable manner, had his right hand badly crushed. He was brought to St. James' hospital and it was found necessary to amputate the four fingers of the hand, leaving only the thumb.

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

BY A SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BROOKLYN TO REMAIN "DRY"

Hibbing Council Declines to Allow Transfer of License to Suburb.

Oliver Mining Company Asks Council to Vacate Two Streets in Sellers Pit.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council last night considered two sewer propositions offered by A. P. Silliman, who has been studying the subject. One involved changing the present route of the sewer and would mean an expenditure of about $48,000. The other proposed extending the sewer southeast along Third avenue, taking in Brooklyn and Alice, meaning the construction of about 8,500 feet of sewer at a cost of $70,000. While the latter is a large proposition, the benefit of giving Brooklyn and Alice sewer connections is patent. The council put the matter over. The protest against the transfer of Joe Flower's saloon license from Third avenue to Brooklyn won out, as the council declined to grant the request of Flower, although he had petitioners asking for it. The council declines to allow saloons south of the tracks, so Brooklyn will continue dry.

Want Streets Vacated.

The Oliver Iron Mining company asked the council to vacate portions of Pine and Cedar streets, about 100 feet, lying mostly in the Sellers ground, where the company owns property on both sides. This is asked so that in running engines across the Sellers on Pine and Cedar the company will not be violating the injunction. The matter will be heard May 11.

An extensive park program was mapped out. The council approved the lease of forty acres south of the cemetery, which a Minneapolis landscape artist will beautify. A car load of trees has been ordered to be set out in this park and in parks at the fair grounds and the detention hospital.

DREXLER'S FATE WITH HIS PEERS

Twelve Men Considering Charge Accused Killed Virginia Man.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case against John Drexler, charged with killing Axel Pakkula, a local saloonkeeper, last winter, was submitted to the jury late this afternoon.

The defense concluded its evidence this morning when some character witnesses were called. All gave the accused a good reputation. Dr. W. E. Harwood of Eveleth was the last witness for the state today. He testified in rebuttal that he did not think Drexler was "doped" as his medical witnesses testified, but that the accused was just drunk. This evidence was contrary to that of Dr. Stewart and Dr. Webster for the defense, who alleged the accused had been drugged. Warren E. Greene spoke an hour for the state in summing up, urging the jury to convict. This afternoon Alex Marshall spoke an hour for the defense, the court charged the jury and the twelve men retired.

GOOD TEMPLARS OF EVELETH INSTALL

Eveleth, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gustaf Adolph lodge, No. 59, Indepednent Order of Good Templars, installed officers at their regular meeting in Monitor hall last evening. The following officers were installed: Past chief Templar, Carl Anderson; chief templar, Ben Johnson; lodge secretary, Gunnard Olson; assistant secretary, Calm M. Olson; treasurer, Andrew G. Strand; financial secretary, C. O. Johnson; marshal, Miss Hildar Jacobson; assistant marshal, Haakon Sand; chaplain, Nels J. Nelson; inside watch, Augusta Viberg; outside watch, Gust Verner; superintendent of juvenile department, Miss Emma Israelson; organist, Miss Anna Niemie.

The lodge is planning to hold a social next Thursday evening in Monitor hall. An interesting program of literary and musical selections is being prepared for the occasion and a Swedish play, entitled "Hitte-Barnet" ("The Foundling"), will be given by members of the lodge. The following is the cast of charcaters: Koryander, E. Nelson; Kattong, A. G. Strand; Fru Walstrom, Mrs. E. Nelson; Fru Kattong, Miss Hildar Jacobson; Berlin (nurse), Christ Olson; Betjent (servant), Oscar Johnson; Allenberg, Carl M. Olson; Charlotte, Miss O. Nyman; Skoterskan, Miss Anna Niemie.

THIRTEEN WILL BE GRADUATED

Two Harbors High School Commencement Will Be Held May 29.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school this year will graduate a class of thirteen, five girls and eight boys as follows:

Wm. Fortman, Astor Anderson, Ruby Headley, Harold Irwin, Ida Johnson, Edward Kernan, Robert McCurdy, Ella Olson, Margaret Peterson, Svea Peterson, Leo Streeter, Fred Switzer and John Woodward. Harold Irwin won the class honors with Margaret Peterson a close second. Harold Irwin will deliver the valedictory. Nine of the graduates plan to attend college next year.

Class Day May 24.

Class day will be on May 24, at the High school assembly. The seniors will give a farce entitled "The Cool Collegian." Miss Cambell, supervisor of music is training the choruses for the class and commencement programs. Miss Steichen is training those who take part in the farce. At the class day exercises there will be an address by Class President Will Fortman and the remainder of the program will consist of the class will, class prophesy, class characteristics and the valedictory.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Sunday, May 26, at the First M. E. church by the pastor, Rev. J. F. Pickard.

The commencement exercises will be held on Wednesday evening, May 29 at the Minnehaha auditorium. At the close of the commencement exercises the ladies of the Norwegian Lutheran church will serve a banquet in the upper corridors of the school. During the banquet a musical entertainment has been planned.

MINE PRESIDENT VERY OPTIMISTIC

Head of New York State Steel Company Looks Over Range Mines.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—President F. E. Porter of the New York State Steel company, who has been inspecting his company's iron properties on the range, is very optimistic over the iron situation. His company operates the Kellogg mine at Biwabik, the Knox at Mesaba, the Roberts at Biwabik and the Larkin at Virginia.

The Kellogg mine has been operating with a full crew and from this property there will be shipped 160,000 tons this season. An output of 115,000 tons will be mined at the Knox, 20,000 tons at the Roberts and 50,000 tons at the Larkin. The four last named properties have been closed down since last fall, but will be opened soon. The general offices of this company are in Virginia. It is expected the year 1912 will be one of the busiest in the history of the company. H. F. Kendall is general manager of the properties and G. I. Williams is the superintendent.

BADLY INJURED BOARDING TRAIN

Former Baudette Man Falls at Roosevelt, and Probably Is Fatally Hurt.

Baudette, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—While attempting to board a moving train yesterday afternoon at Roosevelt, Martin Larson, a former resident of Baudette, suffered painful and serious injuries.

Larson attempted to board No. 22 of the Canadian Northern railway, while it was moving and narrowly escaped being thrown under the wheels. He had one leg broken in one place while the other was broken in two places. He was also badly injured about the head and shoulders. It is doubtful if he survives.

SUES VIRGINIA FOR $5,250 ALLEGED DAMAGES.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — Matt Mattson, who claims $5,250 damages on account of a fall on an icy walk Jan. 17, has brought suit against the city. He says that at a point on Virginia avenue, 500 feet north of the Great Northern tracks, the street was unlighted and icy, that he fell breaking his right clavicle. He desires that the city shall pay him $5,000 specific damages and $250 for loss of time and expense he was at on account of the injury.

To Begin School Work.

Hibbing, Minn., May 3.—Tomlinson & Egan, the Ashland builders who were awarded the contract for the construction of the new Lincoln school, are prepared to begin work on the structure. The contracts have not yet been received from Architect Ittner of St. Louis, but as soon as they are executed work will begin. A large force of men will be put to work when the excavation begins.

Spooner Man Found Dead.

Baudette, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack Solman of Spooner was found dead in bed Wednesday morning. Deputy Coroner F. E. Johnson was summoned and decided that death was due to heart failure caused by excessive alcoholism.

ENGINEERS ARE SURVEYING ROAD

Highway Tapping Goodland Section Now Being Staked Out.

Keewatin, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The preliminary survey of the new judicial road tapping Goodland is being made by engineers and the work is expected to be completed in a few days.

The engineers are stopping at Connor's camps in section 13, 56-22. Considerable delay is experienced because stakes are extremely hard to locate because of brush fires that have been burning through this territory in recent years.

Mississippi Mine Shipping.

The Mississippi mine is shipping a train load of ore from the shaft every twenty-four hours. As soon as a new spur track leading to the stock pile is completed by the Great Northern a steam shovel will be put to work loading cars from the enormous stock pile which has been milled the past winter. The Mississippi mine is at present employing a force of over 300 men.

NAMES COMMITTEE FOR CITY ELECTION

Progressive League Men Who Will Carry on Recall Contest.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Carl R. Johnson of the Progressive league today announced the committee at large that will conduct the campaign for the recall of the following six aldermen at the special election to be held May 28: Carl R. Johnson, Conrad Mattson, Max Lewis, R. J. Montague, Charles Johnson.

TO SHIP PULPWOOD.

Duluth Concerns Waiting for Boats at Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Curry & White and Martin Bros., Duluth firms, who have been handling pulpwood received here during the last winter, have completed their rail shipments, and the wood is now stored in the yards here ready to go East as soon as the boats arrive.

The supply received here this winter has been exceptionally heavy. Most of it has been shipped in by rail although about 250 cords have been bought from the local farmers. The pulpwood will be all shipped to the Hammermill Paper Company of Erie, Pa., by boats.

JARVINEN AT AURORA.

Finnish Wrestler Will Meet Mat Artists Next Monday.

Aurora, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alex Jarvinen, the Finnish wrestler, will appear at Aurora in a wrestling contest Monday night, May 6.

Jarvinen has agreed to throw two local men twice each in one hour and as theiocal men in question are said to be very good at the wrestling game there is considerable interest being taken. The local men are John Paavola and Emil Mattson.

Jarvinen has also offered any range man $1 a minute, or $50 for a man who will last fifteen minutes with him. There will be good preliminaries Monday before the contests with Jarvinen and the local men.

HUNTED ILLEGALLY.

George Bushnell Fined for Killing Deer Out of Season.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Bushnell was taken before Justice Overland on Wednesday, on the complaint of August Tabor, deputy game warden, charging him with having venison in his possession out of season. The prisoner was found guilty and fined $50, and in default of payment of the fine was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail.

LUMBER MILL TO RUN.

Vermilion Lumber Company to Start Its Tower Plant.

Tower, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Vermilion Lumber company started its sawmill Wednesday morning and will probably begin its night run on Monday night next. The mill furnishes employment to about seventy men in both shifts. The Trout Lake Lumber company is rapidly getting its mill in shape and will operate it, also, both day and night.

F. C. Burgess has purchased the building in the rear of the bank and is having it repaired and otherwise improved and will move the Tower Weekly News plant into it.

A rich body of fine iron ore was struck at the Mud Creek property of the Walsh group and much excitement is prevailing. The ore is of the same quality as found in the Zenith at Ely and is easily worked.

The steam shovel was started Wednesday at the Soudan mine and preparations are progressing for a big season.

The Duluth & Iron Range put on an extra crew May 1 to handle the ore business that has started at a brisk pace.

A dance will be given Friday night at Vermilion opera house under the auspices of the Friends' club. The Knutson orchestra of Ely will furnish music.

James Heatlie, a foreman for the Vermilion Lumber company, who recently underwent an operation at Soudan hospital, is about again.

MUCH LAND BEING CLEARED NEAR AURORA.

Aurora, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is considerable land being cleared immediately south of Aurora this summer and many acres will be put into hay and other crops.

Matt Alto owns three forties near the St. Louis river and has a clearing of many acres and will raise hay, potatoes and other crops this year. He has a modern dwelling and a well and will soon have a number of barns. August Knutti owns two forties which he is clearing and will put into hay this season after which he will pull the stumps and put in other crops adapted to this locality. John Gersich and John Grahek each have a forty which they are having cleared for hay meadows.

PREPARING FOR VERMILION TOURISTS.

Tower, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Camiel De Calgney has secured control of a piece of property at Vermilion Dam and will prepare to arrange for the care of tourists the coming season. The steamer Erma will be launched probably by Monday next and will then be ready to care for the business which Mr. De Calgney is rapidly working up to good-sized proportions. His stopping place on Crane Lake Portage is a popular resort, and there is a possibility that an automobile service may be established between that point and Vermilion Dam.

Gilbert Mines Busy.

Gilbert, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mines are increasing their forces gradually. No. 2 shaft at the Gilbert mine is now being operated and the Pettit mine has a steam shovel loading its stockpile. The mines are now shipping from the pockets. The Genoa mine is also loading ore in the pit.

The trials of the blind-piggers have been proceeding the past week and City Attorney Radermacher has secured several convictions, which will add materially to the village treasury.

Aurora Ladies' Aid Social.

Aurora, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church held a May social Wednesday night at the K. P. hall, which was a very successful affair. A splendid musical program was rendered and an excellent lunch was served.

After Unpaid Taxes.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sheriff's office here has undertaken to collect nearly $8,000 in overdue personal taxes owed by people on the range. This tax was due March 1 and after that date 10 per cent is added to cover the cost of collection.

Announce Homecroft Prizes.

Virginia, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The homecroft committee of the commercial club is about ready to finally announce prizes to be awarded for gardens, lawns and well kept premises. It is expected that prizes of an aggregate value of $200 or over will be given.

North Dakota U. Class Play.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senior class play, which will be presented by the seniors of the University of North Dakota this year, is "The Professor's Love Story." The members of the class who will participate are Garth Howland, Terence Quirke, Earl McFadden, George Shafer, Maurice Letson, Herbert Mackhoff, Anna McIlraith, Annabelle Batten, Clara Hyslop, Marion Dickinson and Bertha McKechnie.

AWFUL SIGHT FOR MOTHER.

Sees Baby Dangling From Teeth of a Galloping Mule.

Eminence, Ky., May 3.—The thud of galloping hoofs on turf and childish screams brought Mrs. Newton Roberts, wife of a stock breeder near here, out of the house to see a mule charging across a field in front of the house with her 3-year-old son dangling from its mouth.

When Mr. Roberts and a field hand cornered the mule it required their united effort to make the animal release its teeth from the child's foot. The boy probably will die.

ENOCH EMERY ESTATE NEARING SETTLEMENT.

New York, May 3.—A Moscow cable to the World says: Ex-Senator Nathan Bay Scott of West Virginia and O. Kilburn a New York banker, have arrived here to close up the celebrated Emery estate.

Enoch Emery, a rich American, died insane in Moscow four years ago. Since then the estate has been in litigation. The dispute between the heirs has raised novel points in Russian law, and the government is puzzled.

Emery left a will, but the Russian ministry of justice has no means of telling whether he had testamentary capacity when he made it, as he died in a state lunatic asylum in Moscow. The ministry of justice has had to hold the estate until it ascertains who are the rightful heirs. All parties in the case have united to retain ex-Senator Scott and Mr. Kilburn to arrange the matter with the Russian authorities.

The case of Enoch Emery excited great interest in 1905, when he mysteriously disappeared in Paris. He was discovered in Dusseldorf, Germany, and subsequently returned to Russia, where he had large commercial interests. His frequent losses of memory and eccentric conduct resulted in his being placed in the asylum where he died.

SAVE MILLIONS TO TOBACCO MEN

University of Wisconsin Has Found Way to Control "Black Rot."

Madison, Wis., May 3.—That they are on the eve of a discovery that will save the tobacco industry of Wisconsin and the nation millions of dollars from the ravages of "black rot," is the belief of officials of the agricultural experiment station of the University of Wisconsin. Authority for this statement is James Johnson, assistant in horticulture.

"Black rot" appears in tobacco after it has been packed. A buyer is not able to ascertain what the waste from this source will be until the tobacco is sampled after it has been curing in bundles for several months.

"Our experiments," said Prof. Johnson, "have brought some important results which will not be given in detail to the public until placed in bulletin form.

Can Be Controlled.

"Black rot can be controlled by proper sweating and curing processes. Many theories have been advanced as to how to control the disease, but the packers who suffer most from it admit they know nothing about the cause or the remedy. One packer is hit hard one year and another the next. Our remedy when announced will not be in the care and growth of the plant, but in showing the proper methods of curing tobacco so that this variable loss, reaching as high as $2,000,000 in 1892, can be eliminated."

TRANSFUSION, DAUGHTER TO MOTHER, MAY SAVE.

Oregon City, Or., May 3.—An operation calling for personal sacrifice was performed here when Mrs. D. A. Thompson, who resides about four miles from Barlow, submitted to the operation of blood transfusion.

Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. Edward Hilton, residing near Barlow, has been a sufferer from pernicious anaemia for some time, and her condition became so critical that this step was considered the only means of saving her life.

An artery in the wrist of Mrs. Hilton was severed and the blood from Mrs. Thompson's wrist allowed to flow into that of the sufferer. Mrs. Hilton, shortly after the operation, was much improved. Her cheeks soon showed color and the pulsation increased.

ACCUSE MR. BRYCE OF TREASON TO BRITAIN.

London, May 3.—Unionist members of the house of commons are preparing to catechize the government regarding what they characterize as Ambassador Bryce's "treasonable act" in supporting the proposals made by President Taft in the matter of Canadian reciprocity.

Arthur Shirley Benn is anxious to know if Mr. Bryce was aware that the object of reciprocity was to "take Canada as an 'adjunct of the United States" and if his acquiescence therein was not treasonable.

NAVY LIEUTENANT'S BRIDE IS MADE WIDOW.

New York, May 3.—Lieut Ray Straith McDonald, U. S. N., is dead in Brooklyn as a result of a fractured skull sustined in a fall from a trolley car.

Lieut. McDonald, who was stopping with his bride at a Brooklyn hotel, attempted to board a car at the Brooklyn end of the bridge when his foot slipped and he was hurled against an elevated railroad pillar. He was taken immediately to a hospital, but died shortly after. It is understood that McDonald was on waiting orders and intended to return to duty at Washington today.

Lieut. McDonald was married about a month ago in Washington to Kathryn Hellner, daughter of the late Capt. L. C. Hellner, U. S. N.

FIRE DAMAGES STOCK OF ART STORE.

Fire of unknown origin broke out in basment of the brick building at 16-18 Second avenue west about 11 o'clock last night, damaging the building to the extent of about $200 and causing a loss of several hundred dollars to the stock of Charles Decker's art store. The smoke slightly damaged the undertaking rooms of J. L. Crawford in the upper half of the building. The second floor is conducted as a rooming house by Mrs. A. M. Devlin. She and two roomers, who were home when the fire broke out, reached the street without difficulty. The quick work of the salvage corps prevented the loss from being much heavier in the art store.

ELWELL LAW BRIEF FILED.

State's Contentions as to Law's Constitutionally Set Forth.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3. — William J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general, has filed the respondent's brief in the case concerning the Elwell road law. The case is set for hearing before the supreme court next Monday morning. In its brief, the state contends that the law is constitutional for the same reasons practically that the ditch law is legal. It is set forth that the assessments for the roads built under this law are made proportionately, that the citizens of the state are willing to pay their share of the cost of the roads, and that the roads are of public benefit.

CONSIDERING ESTABLISHING BEMIDJI CAR SYSTEM.

Bemidji, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an effort to obtain a street car system for Bemidji at the earliest possible moment, Mayor Fred M. Malzahn spent this week on a tour of inspection in Grand Forks, Fargo and Wahpeton, N. D., and Breckenridge, Minn. The mayor has learned that the Wahpeton-Breckenridge Railway company, working with a population much smaller than Bemidji, has paid dividends from the beginning. On his present trip the mayor hopes to be able to arrange for a street car expert to come to Bemidji and give his advice relative to the cost and practicability of constructing a line here. Mayor Malzahn has received assurances of support from unexpected sources, and feels confident that Bemidji will have a street car line in the near future.

PROTESTS USE OF OIL ON LOCOMOTIVES.

Ottawa, Ont., May 3.—To protest the law compelling all railways in British Columbia to use oil after December, 1914, William Ross, minister of mines and forests in British Columbia is here interviewing Premier Borden. He declares it will be a blow to the coal industry. The new regulation is to protect forests. The minister wishes the new provincial system of forestry patrol to be given a trial.

IOWA TOWN CAN BOAST OF ITS QUINTET OF FAT MEN.

Iowa City, Iowa, May 3.—North Liberty, a town of 250 population, just north of Iowa City, claims to have the largest percentage of big men of any town in the Middle West.

Five men in this village total an aggregate weight of 1,580 pounds, the average weight being 316 pounds. They are: Milo Gordon, 371 pounds; J. H. Lininger, 329 pounds; C. E. Stewart, 310 pounds; M. J. Stoner, 285 pounds, and S. P. Finch, 285 pounds.

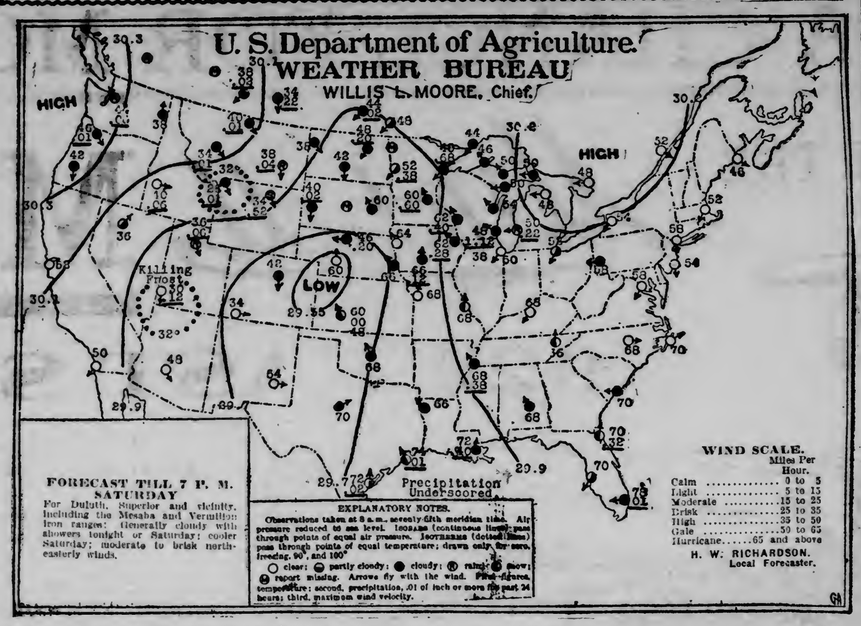
SUGAR REFINERS SUED FOR $116,000 BACK TAX.

New York, May 3.—Suit against the Federal Sugar Refining company for $116,000 was filed by the government in the federal district court here yesterday. The amount represents alleged back duties on importation of sugar entered at the custom house between 1902 and 1909, a difference due to the recently discovered errors in the original liquidated weights.

Found Guilty of Murder.

Escanaba, Mich., May 3.—Arthur Lindquist was found guilty yesterday of second degree murder in connection with the death of Alvin Fogarty, a traveling man. Lindquist pleaded self-defense.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER



RAIN

The sun threatened to shine this morning, but thought better of it and drew into retirement behind the clouds again. This state of affairs is getting monotonous, but there is no relief in sight for the next thirty-six hours. "Generally cloudy weather with showers tonight or Saturday and cooler weather Saturday," has a familiar ring.

Fair, chilly weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 8:49 and it will set at 7:21 this evening, giving fourteen hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low barometer in the Middle West remained about stationary during the last twenty-four hours. In the meantime light to heavy precipitation resulted throughout the Northwest and in Gulf states, and the temperature rose somewhat over Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northern Michigan and Iowa. Killing frosts occurred last night in Southern Utah. Cooler weather prevails in the Western Dakotas. Continued northeasterly winds and showery weather may be expected at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 3.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin — Unsettled; probably showers tonight or Saturday.

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday.

Minnesota — Unsettled: probably showers tonight or Saturday; cooler Saturday and in west portion tonight; probably frost tonight in northwest portion.

Iowa—Unsettled; probably showers tonight or Saturday; cooler Saturday and in west portion tonight.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; somewhat cooler in east portion tonight; frost tonight.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; cooler in east portion tonight; probably frost tonight in north and west portions.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; rising temperatures Saturday; frost tonight.

Upper Lakes—Moderate easterly winds; unsettled showery weather tonight and Saturday.

SKIN TROUBLES VANISH WHEN POSLAM IS USED

Eczema or any skin affection treated with Poslam immediately becomes responsive, the skin is soothed and cooled, itching stops and the trouble grows less annoying, less extensive until it finally disappears and the skin regains its normal color and texture.

All skin diseases, including acne, tetter, psoriasis, piles, skin scale, salt rheum, barbers' and all other forms of itch are quickly eradicated by Poslam. Minor troubles, such as pimples, red and inflamed noses, rashes, dandruff, complexion blemishes, etc., respond so readily that overnight treatment is often sufficient.

Lyceum Pharmacy, W. A. Abbett's and all druggists sell Poslam (50 cents) and POSLAM SOAP, the beautifying skin soap (25 cents).

For free sample of Poslam, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

A CHANCE FOR MOTOR BUYERS

TO SEE THE Mitchell Motor Show

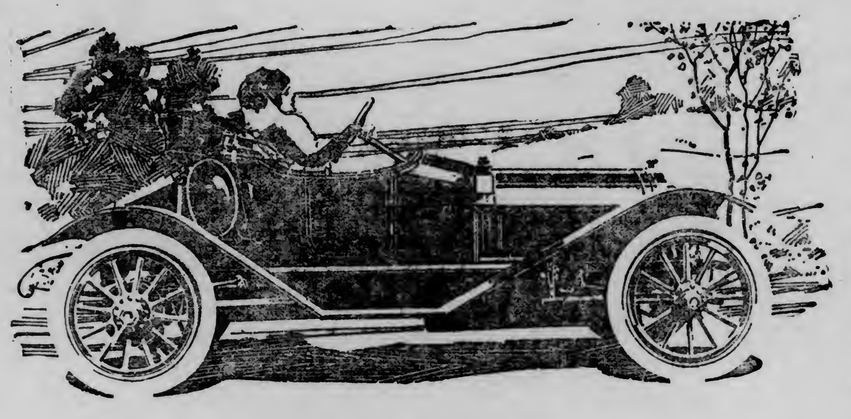
922 EAST SUPERIOR ST.



Mitchell Five Passenger, Six-Cylinder Touring Car, $1,750.

Its Equal at the Price Has Never Been Built.

Everyone knows of the stampede there has been to the long stroke motor this year. Few people know exactly why this is so, but they accept the fact of long stroke superiority and let it go at that.

Here is a chance to find out all about motors and long stroke motors in particular. There will be frequent lectures all this week during the Mitchell motor show by Mr. J. P. McAnulty, graduate of McGill, a mechanical engineer and one of the first men to become identified with the motor industry.

He will tell you all about Mitchell cars—their construction, their features — their big value points—in such a way that any lay mind can comprehend. Moreover, he will lecture on "Long Stroke Motors" day and evening. These lectures on "Long Stroke Motors" were the big hits of the Grand Forks, St. Paul and Minneapolis winter shows. Hundreds of owners and prospective buyers listened to Mr. McAnulty and added to their store of motor knowledge.

You will begin to understand why it is that Mitchell cars are famous for their SILENCE, POWER, STRENGTH, SAFETY, DEPENDABILITY and LONG STROKE MOTORS.

AND REMEMBER—If anything about your car proves defective, no matter whether it be one year old, two years old, or more, it will be made good free to you without questions, without charge and without delay.

See this show—hear these lectures—whether you are going to buy a car now or not.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Carelessness, pure and simple, is responsible for a surprisingly large percentage of the losses reported to the police department.

The failure to observe even the most ordinary precautions has caused scores of men and women to be deprived of their money, jewelry and valuables. How people can be so utterly thoughtless is a constant wonder to the authorities.

Many people do all but actually invite themselves to be robbed, although they probably would not look at it that way, at least not until after they have been separated from some of their property, when they ask themselves how they could have been such apparent fools.

Yesterday a young woman came into headquarters and reported the loss of her trunk, with most of her wearing apparel, and some jewelry. She explained that she had received an offer of a position in one of the range towns. Being of a rather cautious disposition, she wanted to visit the place personally before accepting. For convenience she packed her trunk with the largest part of her belongings and checked it at the depot. In case she decided to stay she would not lose any time in getting the trunk, and if she decided not to go it would be an easy matter to have the trunk returned to her boarding house.

When she reached her destination she made her investigation and concluded to remain. She became acquainted with another girl of about her own age who was coming to Duluth. To this girl, whom she had not known a week, she gave her trunk check with the request that she forward it to her at her new address. In addition to that she let the girl wear one of her bracelets and a couple of rings.

The day she said good-bye to her ephemeral acquaintance was the last time she saw her. When the trunk or the girl did not appear in a week, she became very nervous. She wondered what had happened. To find out, she came to Duluth. She learned that the trunk had been taken away from the depot and had gone to parts unknown with the girl, along with her jewelry.

The loss of the trunk is a severe blow to that girl. She has to make her own living, and it will take her a long while to replace what she lost, to say nothing of the articles which she can never replace. She was cautious enough to investigate her job before she took it, but she was careless enough to place about all she had in the world with a girl about whom she actually knew next to nothing. She wasn't even prudent enough to learn that the girl had no home in the town, and now she is suffering the consequences of her carelessness.

Every once in a while a man or woman walks into the station to ask the police help them find money which they have lost. Without any good reason they carried $50, $100 or more in their pockets. Not only do they take the risk of losing it, but in every city of any size there are men who would go a long way to relieve them of their roll. Robbery has been the motive in numerous murders in all parts of the country. They do not think that it would be safe for anybody else to be carrying so much coin about with them, but as for themselves—well, the other person would lose it, but not them. That would be impossible. But after they find out from bitter experience that they are not any wiser than the other fellow, they sing a vastly different tune.

The records show dozens of instances illustrating the prevalent carelessness of the public, and the list grows larger every week. The people seem unable to get over their expensive habit of being careless with their wealth.

Patrolman James Wood is looking for his revolver. He lost it some time Thursday night and a careful search has failed to bring it back to him. It is the regulation gun used by the police department, and unless the person who found it is honest enough to return it, it will be up to him to replaceit. And good revolvers are expensive.

The parents of William J. Seaman, 39 years of age, reached the city from their home last evening to claim the body of their son, who was found dead a couple of mornings ago in a room at the rear of 224 Lake avenue south.

They are grief-stricken over his death and left their home at Marquette, Mich., immediately upon receiving word of his demise. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Flood and Horgan. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery.

Two women formed part of the small grist in police court this morning. Both had been arrested for drunkenness and admitted the allegation. Emma Star, who has been up for the same offense more times than she can remember, got ten days in the county jail. It was the other's first offense and she was given a suspended sentence.

Eugene Hanna, who was arrested last night on a charge of having wrongfully obtained $17 on a check which he found, was released this morning. The complainant would not prosecute and the evidence in the case was not strong. He is known as the "Minnesota Chicken" and in earlier days of the city was quite a ring artist. Many of the old timers will remember him, more particularly in connection with the old Parlor theater.

Minnie Esterlund, who drank whisky containing morphine a few night ago, has been discharged from St. Luke's hospital, where she was removed. The morphine was placed in her booze by another woman, who intended to play a "practical joke." It didn't turn out to be much of a joke, at least not for Minnie.

John Jacobson, an aged farmer, said that if the court would let him go when he was arraigned yesterday afternoon. There is nota prominent hotel to him home immediately.

The court asked him where he lived. "Six miles from the end of the West Duluth car line," he answered.

"And you say that you will go at once?" continued the court. "How do you expect to get there?"

"Walk out, because I haven't got a cent."

The judge figured that any one who was willing to walk that distance ought to be given a chance, and suspended sentence. To help him along the court handed him a nickel with the suspended sentence.

HIGH PRICED CIGARS.

St. Louis Republic: The demand for cigars selling at $5 each is so great that it cannot be supplied, according to B. F. Alexander, a cigar salesman of Havana, Cuba, who arrived in St. Louis yesterday.

"We could dispose of ten times as many $5 cigars if we were able to turn them out," declared Alexander. "The difficulty is in the wrapper, which must be very large. You are likely to sort 100 bundles of tobacco and find only 100 wrappers suitable for this kind of a cigar."

From a sample case containing 462 different sizes and prices of cigars Alexander took one of the $5 brand known in the trade as "promenties," just as the 25-cent straights are called perfectos.

One feels like taking off his hat and bowing as the apex of nicotine luxury comes into view. It looks more like a yellow colored Roman candle than a cigar. In size it is between 15 and 16 inches long and 100 will contain 120 pounds of tobacco, as compared with 14 pounds to 1,000 perfectos.

"These are bought mostly by people who enjoy the novelty of smoking such a cigar," said Alexander. "Banquets and smokers attended by wealthy men are the best buyers of the $5 kind. The one place in the world which takes more than any other is Heidelberg, Germany.

"The students at the university there never seem to get enough of them. I have been told that besides buying them for smoking them in the ordinary way they sometimes will put one of these into a water pipe of the Oriental type; then five or six students will get around the pipe and smoke it."

Size does not always indicate value, according to Alexander. One insignificant little cigar which most people would take for a "stogie" really sells at $1.50, while a larger and prettier one sells for a beggarly 50 cents each.

"These stories about the big financiers of the East and Europe smoking cigars a foot long are all bosh," declared the salesman. "While they pay as much as $3 and $4 apiece for their cigars these are, generally speaking, of the ordinary size and shape. The cost is in the extra quality of the wrapper and filler, not in the size of the cigars. Such cigars generally are made to order."

"I saw a want ad the other day that I intended to answer, but was prevented. Perhaps it may appear again today." Such a remark helps to explain why some ads ought to have more than one publication.

"ALMA WHERE DO YOU LIVE?"

English Version of Famous French Musical Play at Lyceum.

Jean Briquet's haunting harmonies have carried Paul Herve's French comedy, "Alma Where Do You Live?" through two translations and have made it successful in America in spite of many handicaps.

"Alma" was originally a French farce comedy with music. It was translated into German and it was the German version that New York first saw. New York theatergoers went and heard the music and whistled it, even though they could not understand the German lines. The Alma music has had almost as great a vogue as "The Merry Widow" and it has the same haunting quality.

Duluth saw the German version, "Alma Wo Wohnst Du?" last year, and those who understood German admired the music, while they held their breaths at the lines. Last evening the English version was presented at the Lyceum. The suggestiveness has been eliminated and a passably good farce has been made of it. The osculatory exercises of the principals might be materially reduced without detracting from the pleasure of the audience, but the music is still there, and that is the chief bid that Alma makes for popularity.

The company last evening was perhaps not quite as strong as that seen here last season in the German version, but it was adequate.

The vocal duet, "Kiss Me, My Love," by Miss Nanette Flack, as Alma, the heroine of the play, and Aubrey Yates as Pierre Le Peach, her lover, included a kiss or two to punctuate almost every pause. This was encored again and again. In general the musical numbers made quite a hit. Eleven songs, fanciful and frivolous like the play itself, were ably rendered by Miss Flack, Mr. Yates, Charles A. Murray, Charles Walton and Miss Bae Hamilton.

Mr. Murray displayed considerable ability as a comedian. As Theobald, the nominal head of the house, though domineered over by his spouse until he is driven by the terms of a will to assert his authority or lose a fortune was the central figure of many intensely amusing situations.

Miss Flack as Alma, who saves the fortune of her lover, while she pretends to be in a conspiracy to get it from him, handled her role well.

Miss Vivian Gill as Antoinette, Theobald's wife, gave a realistic presentation of "petticoat government."

Edwin Carewe as Count Bollvario, who makes ardent and hopeless love to Alma, was amusing.

Amusement Notes.

One of the genuine successes that New York has known in years will be found in the sparkling music show, "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," to be seen at the Lyceum tonight.

It is rarely recorded where a musical play can draw capacity business for a half year at a Broadway theater as this charming song play did, while receipts on the road last season were remarkable. It is also safe to say that nine out of every ten persons who read that George McManus' Newlyweds' Baby is coming to town, wonder how on earth even a fair musical comedy could be written around a baby whose total vocabulary is "da-da."

But it has been done and the result is a funny production.

The evolution of the Newlyweds' baby from a McManus pen and ink sketch into a gale of laughter is made possible by little James E. Rosen's delightful and versatile humor. He plays Napoleon Newlywed and then Maj. Knott Much, an abbreviation who is substituted for Napoleon when the latter is stolen. He is most ably assisted by D. L. Don, a German comedian.

Surrounding these two dyspepsia renovators is a large company of clever people and a lot of pretty dancing girls. Among those who help along the funmaking are Leo Hayes and Margaret Braun as Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed, Ralph C. Bevan, W. A. Orlemond, Frank Christie, Beatrice Flint and the big chorus.

Here are a few interesting facts regarding the performers on this week's Orpheum bill.

Salerno, the juggler, is a German aviator and carries a license from the German government. His right name is Adolf Behrend, and for fourteen months he was employed giving exhibition flights in Germany. He quit because he said too many people remained outside of the fence.

Earl Reynolds, who presents classic dances on roller skates, holds the record for 100 yards on ice skates, he covered the distance in 8 4-5 seconds, which he claims is the fastest time ever made for the distance by any man not using other than human motive power.

The Boudini Brothers, who have a very entertaining act consisting of selections on accordians, make their own instruments. An accordian such as they use costs nearly $1,000 and takes months to make. They are now working on new and larger instruments.

Miss "Milke" Berkin, is the daughter of a prominent Butte mining man, and this is her first week in vaudeville. She studied under the same instructor as Maud Powell in New York.

Bert Leslie, who is presenting the slang sketch "Hogan the Painter," tries to invent a new slang phrase every day. He claims to have originated more than 400 slang words and phrases which have been in common use during the last few years.

Commencing with the matinee on Sunday afternoon, the Empress will present one of the biggest features yet brought to Duluth by the Sullivan & Considine circuit. Mercedes, the mysterious, will headline the coming week's bill. This wonderful young man, through telepathy or some other scientific means, has mastered the art of thought transference. Mlle. Stantone, his assistant, sits at a piano placed on the stage while Mercedes walks through the audience and requests different persons to name any piece of music, ragtime, classic, patriotic, in fact anything in the musical line, and the moment the composition is named Mlle. Stantone plays it without Mercedes speaking a word. This is only one of the marvelous experiments accomplished by this mysterious young man and everywhere he has appeared has proven a puzzle to thousands who have seen him. "Dollars and Cents" is the title of the playlet chosen by William A. Grew & Co., in which to display their talents. The playlet is said to be an excellent one and a great laugh producer. The engagement of Hellstrom & Myhre, Swedish singers and dancers, should awaken considerable interest among the Scandinavian people of this city. Both Miss Hellstrom and Mr. Myhre are well known and popular in this city and will need no introduction to the amusement-seeking people of this city. Stanley's trained goats and the two Georges, acrobatic comedians, complete the list of attractions for the week.

SEDATE LIFE FOR WALES

Heir to British Throne Will Not Travel the White Way.

Will Be Sheltered From All Gay Attractions of Montmartre.

Paris, May 3.—If France is pleased by the presence in Paris of the Prince of Wales—and France is openly as tickled as can be—America has reason for taking pride in the visit also. The prince's hostess is an American lady, formerly Miss Edith Garner of New York, now the marquise de Breuteuil.

The future king of England will remain here for three or four months, as his trip is for educational purposes. Those in a position to know say King George used method in his choice of hosts for the youth, and that there was special reason why the Marquis and Marquise de Breuteuil were selected from among all the wealthy nobles of his acquaintance. In Europe, while great restraint is placed upon the girls of a household, usually very little is put upon the young men; and King George is said to desire ardently that while in gay Paris, his son should feel just that touch of refined restraint certain not to be wanting in this Americanized home. Too much freedom, even for royal princes, he believes is bad.

Not the Usual Paris Education.

Most young Frenchmen indulge rather freely in love affairs of a kind, in their process of "sowing wild oats." That has been the "European idea," seemingly for so long that fathers, remembering their own youth, are inclined to be indulgent, though keeping a watchful eye open lest the son get hopelessly caught in an unfortunate entangling alliance.

Now the marquis de Breuteuil, of one of the oldest and most aristocratic French families, is 64 years old. He is not in sympathy with the average young Frenchman's mode of living. He has two sons, one 20 and the other 18—thus slightly older than the Prince of Wales—who are said to be model young men and quite American in type.

When it is first announced that the prince of Wales, the future king of England, was coming to Paris for a prolonged stay by way of education, a knowing smile played over the lips of the wise ones. The "education" of a prince here is almost a joke. Usually there is the query: "Who's the lady?" The kings and emperors of Europe for centuries have been "completing their education" at Paris.

Careers of other Princes an Example

Furthermore, the people the prince of Wales is meeting are the flower, not of butterfly society, but of workers; men and women who have done something, who have distinguished themselves in literature, art and science.

Enormously wealthy, the marquis and his American wife possess one of the most beautiful homes in Paris, in which the best of French and American customs are blended to make a household approaching the ideal. The marquis is a keen sportsman and his hunting parties over the grounds of his chateau of Bevilliers-Breuteuil are famous. The marquise is a charming, unaffected American woman. Their home is in the rich and aristocratic Avenue Boise de Boulogne, the prince's suite, overlooking the private garden, being composed of a salon, private dining room, bedroom and bath.

Sightseeing, visiting historical places, study and conversing with brilliant people who gather under the roof of the marquis, the prince of Wales is getting exactly what King George wanted him to get—knowledge and poise. The visit of the prince to France is, of course, the working out of the entente cordiale; but is not the fact that the prince's hostess is an American woman an indication of another "entente cordiale" between England and the United States?

In certain quarters one hears it said that Gaby Deslys, the pretty French actress, was the cause of the overthrow of King Manuel of Portugal. In Paris it is the common talk that the boy king met Mlle. Gaby when he was in Paris two and a half years ago.

King Alfonso XIII of Spain is reputed to have a favorite or two in Paris. At least one is accustomed to hearing some one say of this or that beauty: "She's a favorite of Alphonso." The late King Leopold of Belgium, it seems, never got his diploma, so to speak, as his "education" continued until his death.

It is understood here that King George of England is not going to tolerate that sort of "education" for his oldest son. In the first place, Prof. H. P. Hansel, the prince's tutor, is the chief member of the suite here. Latin, Greek, history, mathematics are boned regularly, and amourology is left languishing up in Montmartre. M. Escoffier, a French scholar, is teaching the prince French, or rather is polishing off the royal young man's course in this language.

The Prince Will Require Police.

Furthermore, the people the prince of Wales is meeting are the flower, not of butterfly society, but of workers; men and women who have done something, who have distinguished themselves in literature, art and science.

Not for chicken soup.

When you're eating Campbell's Chicken Soup you don't depend on "thought waves". You get solid chicken-meat—plenty of it.

Juicy chicken, too. We make the stock out of separate portions the same way you do. And a rich nourishing broth it is. The rice we import specially from India—Patna head-rice. Then we add crisp celery, fresh parsley and fine leeks.

Isn't it an old fashioned mistake to spend time and energy over home-made chicken soup?

PRISONERS' STRIPES

Are Reproduced in Rats Bred By a Kentucky Convict.

Frankfort, Ky., May 3.—Prenatal influence has been the study of scientists for ages, and many wonderful results have been recorded, but the most remarkable case known has come to light in this city. White rats striped with brown have been bred at the penitentiary here by Newton Trusty, a convict, and to the association of the rats with the convicts wearing striped colors, the body of the clothes being white and the stripes brown, is believed to be due these freak rats.

Trusty was sent to the penitentiary years ago for murder, and was to have served a life sentence. Hope of securing a parole or pardon caused him to study out some method of making money while in the prison, and he decided to breed white rats and sell them. He had been conducting the rat-breeding farm within the prison walls for years before the first white rat striped with brown made its appearance.

It was sold, and then the same female gave birth to another litter of striped rats, which laid the foundation for the freak rats, which were good enough sellers to earn Trusty a snug sum of money, so that when he was paroled recently, he had money enough to go to his native county and buy a farm.

Millet's Body at Boston.

Boston, Mass., May 3. — By the Halifax express came the body of Frank D. Millet, the artist, who was one of the Titanic victims. The funeral will be at the Mount Auburn cemetery.

Bohart, George Markonto, hotel proprietor, attacked Bohart with a revolver. Bohart managed to escape by jumping out of a window, breaking his leg and otherwise injuring himself. Markonto is under arrest awaiting the result of Bohart's injuries.

OBJECT TO TOMBSTONE WITH FLING AT HEAVEN.

Bristol, Pa., May 3.—Efforts are being made to have removed from the historic cemetery in Morrisville the three-foot tombstone over the grave of Samuel McCracken, because it bears the following inscription:

In Memory of
who died April 18, 1862.
If leading politicians and priests
All go to heaven, then I'm bound
To stop at some other station.

Surrounding the headstone are the graves of revolutionary and Civil war heroes, statesmen and other distinguished citizens.

Alongside McCracken's grave is that of his wife. The headstones are alike, but inscription on that of Mrs. McCracken reads:

In Memory of Phoebe,
wife of Samuel McCracken,
who died March 30, 1860.
She died a firm believer in Christ, her Saviour.

It has been found that McCracken, before he committed suicide, made a contract with the cemetery association that the shaft over his grave should never be removed. The present plan is to take it from the burying grounds without the consent of the association.

IS LIKE A JACK LONDON NOVEL

Gets Hard Knocks, Making His Way to Win Bride.

Greeley, Colo., May 3. — Like a chapter from a Jack London novel, filled with love, adventure and finally wealth; sent upon a 6,000-mile trip without a cent and forced to make his way as best he could as the result of a sweethearts' quarrel; even spending time behind the bars, in one instance in Weld county, where he was held as a suspect in the $10,000 post-office robbery which occurred here some months ago—this in brief covers a year which proved the most exciting in the life of George von Schull Sturm. Sheriff S. J. McAfee, who arrested Sturm here, has recived a draft payable on a New York bank for a Greeley man who befriended Sturm while the latter was in the Weld county jail and hastened, by this means, the day upon which Sturm came to his own.

Sturm was arrested here several months ago, a few weeks after the local postoffice had been robbed of $10,000 worth of stamps. He was suspected of being one of the trio believed to have turned the trick. Sturm only laughed at the charges and said it could easily be proved that he was not the man. When he was instructed to go out in the jail yard and have his picture taken, instead of demurring as does the usual crook, he only laughed and readily consented. The camera caught him with the usual smile on his face.

At that time he gave the name of Harry Brown, at the same time admitting that it was only an assumed one.

With the draft which the sheriff received was a brief note:

"Please give this draft, which I have made out to Mr. W. to him. I have added a little for interest. I told you a straight story, sheriff, and hope you believe me now."

The "little" he added for interest, the sheriff says, is just ten times the sum the Greeley man loaned him. The story he told the sheriff was this:

That he is the only son of well-to-do parents living in Germany; that he had a quarrel with his sweetheart in San Francisco; that she told him he was worthless and if dependent upon his own resources and brains would starve. In anger he replied that he could make his way in the world if he had not a cent. Finally as a test she told him if he would make his own way to New York within a year and have $100 to the good she would marry him.

He said he made excellent progress until he got in bad with the Weld authorities and his journey was interrupted by a stay in the prison, but when the sheriff had satisfied himself that Sturm was not a postoffice robber he went on his way, aided by the loan he secured from the local man.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Old Soldier" writes: "I would like to know what to do for rheumatism, as I am so crippled that I cannot walk. Please answer at once."

Answer: Here is the best remedy for rheumatism that is known, and if taken according to directions you will soon be out again and be strong and well. Get 2 drams of iodide of potassium; 4 drams sodium salicylate; one-half oz. wine of colchicum; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort, and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

"Laura" says: "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cold and cough. I have tried many remedies, but they do not seem to help me at all. I wish you would advise me what to do."

Answer: What you need is a laxative cough syrup, one that will drive the cold from your system. The following prescription will cure your cold and cough: Get a 2½ oz. package of concentrated essence mentho-laxene and make according to the directions on the bottle. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two or until your cold is better. This will cure you in a very few days.

"Stenographer" writes: "I can scarcely do my work on account of the terrible distress in my stomach after eating. I have a heavy feeling in my stomach and gas forms. I am also constipated."

Answer: This condition if neglected will cause appendicitis. You should begin at once and take tablets triopeptine, which can be bought in any drug store at small cost. They are packed in sealed cartons with full directions accompanying the package. I am sure many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by the use of triopeptine.

"A. R." writes: "Please send me a prescription for a good tonic. I am weak and languid all the time, have no appetite and cannot sleep at night."

Answer: Obtain the following ingredients from your druggist and take for several weeks and you will be strong and healthy. Syrup of hypophosphites comp. 5 ozs.; tincture cadomene comp., 1 oz. (not cardamon), and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Shake well before taking.

"Mrs. G." writes: "Please prescribe a safe treatment for reducing flesh. I am getting too stout for comfort, but I have always been afraid to try anything."

Answer: A reliable and quick acting formula for reducing weight is: Aromatic elixir, 5 ozs.; glycol arbolene, 1 oz. Mix, shake well in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after each meal for three days, then take two teaspoonfuls. Continue a sufficient length of time to properly reduce your weight.

"Unhappy May" writes: "I suffer constantly with headaches, indigestion and kidney trouble. My skin is pimply and oily."

Answer: Three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets) is the best known remedy for the blood. They are made from sulphur, cream of tartar and herb medicines which act directly on the blood, purifying it, thus causing the pimples to disappear and the skin to become fresh and healthy looking. These sulpherb tablets are packed in sealed tubes and can be bought at any drug store. They will also cure your kidney trouble and indigestion.

"Mrs. O."—The best remedy for bedwetting in children is to give them 10 to 15 drops in water before meals of the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.

"Mrs. D. R."—The treatment for leucorrhea which you used so successfully a year ago and which you have lost the prescription, is: Antiseptic vilane powder 2 ozs.; tannic acid, 1 oz. Mix and use a teaspoonful twice daily to a quart of warm water as an injection with syringe. Yes, you may give the prescription to your friends since you can advise them of its prompt curative action. As a tonic and flesh builder in connection with the above, take three grain hypo-nuclane tablets.

"Sorrowful May" says: "My scalp is covered with dandruff, my hair is oily and straggling. Please help me so that I may look like other girls."

Answer: You can very easily "look like other girls" if you will get at the drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minyol and use it regularly according to the directions given. It will cure your dandruff and make your hair soft and fluffy and make it grow. This treatment differs from all others and I have actually seen the most wonderful transformations when people have used this only two or three times.

"Ann" writes: "Could you prescribe something to increase my weight? I am tall and thin to such an embarrassing degree that I am frequently subjected to slighting remarks."

Answer: Hypo-Nuclane tablets have been prescribed with great success as indicated by gratifying letters from hundreds of girls who suffer as you do. These tablets can be purchased in sealed packages from any well-stocked drug store and full directions are given inside. These should be taken regularly for about two months, and you will be surprised to note the color in your cheeks and lips and your weight will increase from 15 to 30 pounds.

HOW TRILBY WAS FINISHED.

Acton Davies in the New York Evening Sun: Somebody was talking about famous plays when someone else—it was Paul Potter, the playwright—said:

"Well, just for fun, let me tell you the true story of the finale of a famous novel. Years and years ago when I made the dramatization of Du Maurier's novel, Beerbohm Tree was in this country and liked the play so much that he at once obtained the English rights. After the play had been running here a long time with Miss Virginia Harned in the title role, I went to England and then eventually met both Mr. Du Maurier and his entire family. It was his son, Gerald, now a widely known actor, and one of his sisters who told me this story just as I am telling it to you.

"One night when Du Maurier was at work in his study we were all sitting round the supper table when I happened to say what a wonderful idea it was that he had made 'Trilby' such a fine hypnotic singer. Everyone began to laugh. Of course, I didn't know why. Finally Miss Du Maurier said:

"'Quite unconsciously you have stumbled on one of our family jokes—at least we call it a joke, but upon my word, I believe father regards it as his family skeleton. You see, originally "Trilby" was published serially, and all of us children were just as enthusiastic about the story and just as much in the dark about how the story was going to turn out.

"'Finally one night father came in to dinner and announced that he had finished "Trilby." Of course, we asked for immediate particulars and we were all fearfully disappointed when we got them.

"'Trilby had just died, that was all. There wasn't any singing episode, any hypnotic influence, and Svengali simply was her music teacher, and nothing more.

"'"But, father," one of us said to him, "do you mean to say you have just gone and killed her off without making her famous or a great prima donna or anything like that?"

"'"I most certainly have," was his reply. And he was pretty cross, too, for as a matter of fact he was fearfully tired of the story.

"'Then we all opened fire on him at once. We pointed out how extravagant he had been to let poor Trilby take all those lessons from the great singing teacher and then never do anything with her voice. In a word, we all scolded him, and finally father left the table in a regular rage. He locked himself up in the library and none of us saw him again that night. It was late the next afternoon when he emerged from his library, and in the meantime, as we learned later, tremendous changes had taken place in Trilby's career. Svengali had been invested with hypnotic power, Trilby had become his slave and pupil—in fact, the story had been changed into the form in which it achieved its fame. And, honestly, if we youngsters had not objected to Trilby taking all those music lessons and then getting no good out of them, "Trilby" would probably just have gone the way of others of father's books.'"

MINNESOTA PIONEER DIES IN DULUTH HOSPITAL

Joseph O. Gadory, 79 years of age, one of Minnesota's pioneers and a resident of Duluth the last twenty-two years, died at 4:30 o'clock at St. Luke's hospital of complications resulting from old age.

Mr. Gadory was born at Barthier, P. Q., Canada, May 21, 1833, and came to St. Paul, Minn., in 1853, at which time that city was still merely a trading post, composed of a few rude log cabins. He later made his home at Faribault, Minn., and still later at Duluth. He was a man of broad education and by profession a teacher of music, having taught both string and brass bands throughout the state, the French band of Duluth being one of the last which he had charge. During the past few years he has been interested in a small confectionery store at 1412 West Superior street.

His nearest surviving relatives in this part of the country are Peter Dalcour, W. N. Dalcour, Mrs. C. S. Heath, Mary Dalcour and Lydia Dalcour. Mr. Gadory is mourned by a wide circle of warm friends.

Arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

HOTEL MEN OF THE NATION TO SPEND DAY IN DULUTH

Delegates to National Convention Will Stop Over Here July 10.

About 300 Visitors Coming From All Parts of the Country.

Delegates to the national meeting of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit association, the largest hotel men's organization in the world and composed of the owners and managers of the most famous hotels in America, will visit Duluth July 10.

Edwin H. Lee, president of the Duluth Hotel Men's association, and one of the livest boosters of this city, today telegraphed from Chicago that he had secured the final decision of the directors of the association to spend a day in Duluth as the guests of the Commercial club and the Duluth Hotel Men's association.

Securing this visit of something like 300 delegates to the national convention of the big Hotel Men's association, which will be held at Yellowstone National park, was not the work of a day. The final decision expressed in Chicago today is the culmination of some of the traffic men and was assured that arrangements would be made that would send the hotel men to Duluth with the least possible delay in their schedule. Every possible obstacle in the way of landing the big delegation was carefully removed before Mr. Lee left for Chicago last evening.

According to the short communication that Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Lee had yesterday afternoon the coming of the hotel men will be made the occasion of a gala day. Duluth is going to show her best side to the visitors, who are coming from every part of the United States. Naturally no definite plans for the entertainment of the visitors have been made as yet.

Mr. Lee originated the idea of bringing the hotel men here and then going after the delegation with the spirit of the true Duluth Booster.

Last season Mr. Lee brought the Northwestern hotel men to this city. This season he was one of the men that secured the state hotel men's convention for Duluth. He is a thorough believer in the convention idea, and with his co-workers of the Duluth Hotel Men's association is helping advertise Duluth as one of the most desirable cities in the United States for summer conventions.

That Duluth will derive the very best kind of advertising from the visit of the national hotel delegation goes without saying. Hotel men are the best boosters in the world.

E. H. LEE.

months of persistent labor upon the part of President Lee.

When in Chicago at the big dinner of prominent hotel men, Mr. Lee put in a good word for Duluth; in fact he put in several good words for this city. At the conclusion of his talk he asked that the big delegation to the national hotel men's convention stop off for a day at Duluth, Mr. Lee taking the responsibility of giving the hotel men the best time of their lives and showing them one of the most picturesque cities in the country.

At that time Mr. Lee hardly hoped that his request for the Duluth visit would be successful. Yesterday Mr Lee received a telegram that there was a chance to land the big delegation. That was enough for Hustler Lee. He boarded the train last night and his telegram stating that the delegation will come to Duluth is the answer to the work he has accomplished.

The national hotel men's convention is one of the big gatherings of the year. There is not a prominent hotel in America that is not represented. From New York to where the gentle surf touches the coast of Southern California, and from the land of Dixie to the northernmost boundaries of the international line, delegates are sent to the convention. Men of international prominence in the hotel world are delegates to the annual conventions, and Duluth will have as its guests one of the most important delegations that has ever visited the city.

Commercial Club Joins.

Before leaving for Chicago, Mr. Lee, acting on behalf of the Duluth Hotel Men's association, asked for an expression of opinion from the Duluth Commercial club. In hearty response President Ferguson stated that the Commercial club would formally welcome the hotel men to the city and would see that their stay of a day here was made memorable.

Mayor J. A. McCuen joined in the invitation and gave Mr. Lee a letter officially inviting the delegates to the city, stating that the key to Duluth would be handed over upon arrival.

Special correspondents traveling with the delegation, and in addition to the publicity that is given it through the daily press, every hotel publication in America has a correspondent with the special train that carries the hotel men across the continent. But few stops are made during the trip, and for that reason the decision of the officials of the association to stop at Duluth for a day speaks well for the persuasive powers of Booster Lee.

As soon as it was found that there was the least chance to bring the hotel men to Duluth, President Ferguson of the Commrecial club got in touch with

OBITUARY

Robert Watson, pension attorney and widely known in G. A. R. circles, is dead at Eitel hospital in Minneapolis after an illness of two weeks. Mr. Watson was 74 years old. He was born in Indiana and served in the first Wisconsin Light artillery, and at the close of the war was lieutenant of the Twenty-fifth Indiana battery. He was adjutant of Morgan post, G. A. R., and had been a member since 1883. Mr. Watson lived with his son, Hugh Watson, 2104 Chicago avenue. Mrs. Watson has been in Pasadena, Cal., and is returning to arrange for the funeral. A son lives in Pasadena.

Emil Boas, resident director in New York and general manager of the Hamburg-American line, died May 3 at his home in Greenwich, Conn., of pneumonia. He had been ill since last Saturday and grew rapidly worse. Mr. Boas was 58 years of age.

BYRON AT PREVESA.

Pall Mall Gazette: The Turko-Italian war is likely to provide the literary gossips with plenty of "reminiscences." For instance, it is interesting to recall that it was at Prevesa, in the Gulf of Arta, where the first shot of the war was fired, that Byron landed for his tour through Albania and there also he began the second canto of "Childe Harold," which he finished by the way, at Smyrna, another landmark in the present war, for an Italian squadron was reported in that quarter the other day. Prevesa is in the vilayet of Janina, where, it is recorded in the Hon. Roden Noel's biography of Byron, the post was supplied by order of the pasha with a house, horses and all necessaries gratis. All himself being absent besieging Ibrahim in Illyria.

Readers familiar with "Childe Harold" will remember the very graphic description of the Gulf of Arta given by Hodhouse in a note to the poem. It is a vivid account of a night scene round the camp fires, with a background of rugged rocks and Albanian soldiers dancing in the firelight and singing fierce bandit songs with the refrain, Klephtels pote Parga! ("robbers all at Parga"). On leaving Janina, Byron went to Missolonghi, thence to Vostizza, where he caught his first glimpse of the heights of Parnassus.

STANDS ALL TESTS!

BRIDGEMAN-RUSSELL CO.'S MILK is real milk in its natural state; cleansed, cooled and sealed in bottles to prevent contamination.

If not properly cared for our milk will sour, as all good milk should do. But if you will keep it cool and leave the cap on until ready to use, you will find it always sweet and palatable, with nice, rich cream at the top—the ideal food.

Order a bottle or two and try it. That's the true test. Our wagons pass your house every day.

Woman Claims Husband Deserted Her Twenty-Three Years Ago.

Borrowed Money to Come to America—Husband Ignores Her.

A story of how she had been deserted in Finland twenty-three years ago, of unanswered letters in which she had pleaded for seventeen years with her husband to send her money with which to come to America, of how after she had borrowed the money from neighbors and freinds in Finland and had come to America to join him, he had refused to have anything to do with her—is related in the divorce papers which Mrs. Hilda Marie Kellonen filed in district court this afternoon against John Erick Kellonen, alias John Makl.

Mrs. Kellonen is in the winter of life. She will soon reach her sixty-fourth birthday. Her husband is ten years her junior and since he has been a resident of this country has been known under the name of John Makl. He lives on a farm in section 14, 23-19. The property is said to be valued at $1,500. Mrs. Kellonen has secured an order from Judge Dancer of the district court requiring Kellonen, alias Makl, to appear in court tomorrow and show cause why he should not be restrained from disposing of any of his property during the pendancy of the divorce action. She has also asked trict court requiring Kellonen, alias her suit money.

The Kellonens were married in Finland thirty-one years ago. They have one son, who is now of age. In her bill of complaint she charges that in May 1879 at Karstula, Finland, he without any provocation, deserted her. Five years later, she located him in Minnesota and wrote him. He paid no attention to her letters, she claims. For the past seventeen years she says that she has incessantly requested him to send her money with which she could buy her transportation to America.

Last year, she claims that she borrowed $125 from friends and neighbors in Finland and came to America. She had heard, she said, that if she came to this country that her husband was willing to resume the relations of man and wife again. When she arrived in Minnesota she was told that she was not wanted and her husband refused to live with her, she claims.

FATAL KNIFE DUEL OVER CARD GAME

Florida Man Killed and Georgian Badly Cut at Atlanta.

HAS $13,000,000 FOR GULF ROAD

Bond Sale in Paris Provides the Funds for Work to Begin.

Salina, Kan., May 3. — A cablegram received by H. Leone Miller, president of the proposed Salina, Winnipeg & Gulf railway, states that the contract for the sale of $13,000,000 bonds for the road has been closed in Paris and that the money will be available at once. It is stated that construction will begin this month or early in June.

NEED NOT SHOW STATE'S HAND

County Attorney Wins His Appeal to the Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — The supreme court today held that county attorneys cannot be compelled to disclose before the trial, evidence trey have against indicted persons. The decision comes from an order of Judge Steel, who sought to make the Hennepin county attorney produce evidence he had against Michael McGuirk, charged with arson.

McGuirk gave some evidence to an assistant deputy fire marshal, later taken down by a stenographer. The evidence, it is claimed, was not presented to the grand jury, but when the motion to quash the indictment came before Judge Steel, he ordered that the county attorney should produce it. The county attorney refused and appealed.

GOVERNMENT TRACHOMA EXPERT IN ST. PAUL.

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — Dr. Tallafero Clark, detailed by the federal government to assist in stamping out trachoma among the Indians in Minnesota, arrived today and conferred with Dr. H. M. Bracken of the state board of health. It is expected that they will decide in a couple of days as to the methods of procedure, making a trip to the reservations.

Dr. Clark, who is in command of the United States marine hospital at Evansville, Ind., has been treating trachoma for twenty years among the immigrants at New York, Boston and other ports.

TO PUNISH SULTAN OF SOCOTRA

His People Looted Wrecked British Vessel and Threatened Lives of the Crew--Must Restore Loot.

London, May 3. — An expedition will be dispatched shortly from Aden to punish the sultan of Socotra unless loot taken from the British steamship Kuala, which was wrecked on the island of Socotra, is restored and an apology given.

The punitive expedition will consist of a cruiser of the East Indian squadron and the steamship Dalhousie, which will convey a company of native infantry from the Aden garrison. The command of the party will be given to Maj. Gen. Sir J. A. Bell, political resident at Aden.

The Kuala, bound from Dundee to Singapore, went ashore in November and one of the crew was compelled to travel 300 miles in an open boat for assistance. The lives of the crew were threatened and the vessel was looted by the natives. Subsequently the crew was rescued by a Russian ship and landed at Singapore.

Socrota is an island of the Indian ocean lying near the entrance of the Gulf of Aden. It is eighty miles long and contains 1,380 square miles, though virtually part of an Arab sultanate, Socotra is under British protection, constituting a dependency of Aden.

Famous Ruby Safe.

The Timur ruby has been a part of the British crown regalia since it was presented to Queen Victoria in 1851 by the directors of the East India company. There has been more or less mystery in the history of this jewel, some experts even contending that it had been lost. The recent visit of the king-emperor and his consort to India resulted in the publication of a history of the jewel, written with the idea of clearing away the misapprehensions surrounding it.

The Timur is the largest known spinel ruby, weighing just over 352 carats. It is uncut but polished, and was probably discovered in one of the old ruby mines of Badakshan. It was seized by Ameer Timur, better known to Western historians as Tamerlane, when he plundered Delhi in 1398. In due time it descended to his grandson, by which time the great Tartar empire was on the wane and during one of the many wars between the Tartars and the Persians the ruby fell into the hands of the kings of Iran. Shah Abbas I presented the ruby to his friend the Mogul emperor, Jehangir, in 1612. When his favorite wife remonstrated with him for inscribing his name on the jewel, Jehangir made the striking prophecy that the ruby would more certainly carry his name down to posterity than written history, for it would always remain in the possession of the ruler of Hindustan, a prophecy which has been fulfilled to the present day.

In 1740 Nadir Shah sacked Delhi and carried the ruby away with him. When Nadir was assassinated in 1747, Ahmad Shah seized the ruby with other booty and, proceeding south, founded the kingdom of Afghanistan. When his grandson was expelled from the country, he sought refuge in the Punjab, where he was compelled to surrender both the Koh-i-noor and the Timur.

When the Punjab was annexed by the British in 1849, the Koh-i-noor, the Timur and all other state jewels were taken over by the board of administration and the first-named jewel was taken directly to London, where it was presented to Queen Victoria. The Timur was later packed up with other jewels and taken to London for the great exhibition of 1851. At the close of the exhibition the ruby was presented to the queen by the court of directors of the East India company, since which time it has been one of the crown jewels.

Too Much Charity.

During a conference of the Societies for the Relief of Foreigners in Distress held at the Manston house, the lord mayor declared that he was inclined to agree with the American critics of England, who asserted that there were too many charitable societies in this country. He was almost disposed to think that there was one society very much missing in London and he would like to give it the name of the Society of Education in Industry and Thrift. The two qualities were scarcely known among the proletariat of this country; otherwise they would scarcely need the work of the numerous societies formed and managed for the relief of people who did not help themselves.

Beet Sugar.

The annual report of the British Sugar Beet council shows that the raising of sugar beets in England has passed the experimental stage. The greatest advance reported by the council was the establishment of a factory at Norfolk. There the farmers will be able to test their beets and those who have not yet planted their lands will be given instruction.

The members of the council are convinced that the industy will soon be placed on a sound financial basis without any assistance from the development fund, which could not be drawn upon because the International Sugar convention prohibits subsidies or grants of any kind by the government for an undertaking planned to produce sugar for commercial purposes.

Many Bones Found.

The collection of bones, the remains of at least 11,000 people, in the crypt of Rothwell church, near Kettering, Northhamptonshire, has been rearranged and placed on shelves, to save them from decay by damp.

The crypt containing the remains was accidentally uncovered by workmen some 200 years ago. Many suggestions have been ventured as to the origin of the bones, among them that they mark a monastic burial place, or that they were the skeletons of the victims of a plague, or that the bones are those of the slain at the battle of Naseby. A recent theory is that the remains are the bones of villagers buried in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries.

J. LEADSTRAND

Better known as "Jack the Candy Man" will open his new confectionery and grocery store at 109 East First street Saturday, May 4. All old patrons are cordially invited.

SPOONERISMS.

A "Spoonerism" is the name given in England to one of those involuntary inversions of words that occasionally enliven conversation. As for instance, when the returned traveler tells of "rambling up the scalps" while in Switzerland and one knows that he meaner "tambling up the Alps," but has simply perpetrated a "Spoonerism," so called after a canon of New college, Oxford, who achieved a long and exhiliarating list of these slips, says the New York Sun.

Some of the most famous "Spoonerisms" are recorded in the Strand in the form of a narrative of a returning vicar who on reaching the station left his "rags and a bug" with a porter while he went to the refreshment room for a "bath of milk and a glass bun."

During the course of an address on "Kindness to Animals" to the local branch of the Girls' Friendly society, he remarked that "in Piedmont, where the sheep were so cherished, a flock would willingly follow a shoving leopard." The meeting in question was very sparsely attended, most of the forms in the school room being unoccupied; the vicar attributed this to the fact that it had been "roaring with pain" ever since noon, and added that, as it was "beery work speaking to empty wenches," they would close by singing the well known hymn, "From Iceland's Grassy Mountains."

The tale of his ecclesiastical mishaps is long. One chilly Sunday morning he electrified his hearers by informing them, in the course of his sermon, that he felt a "half-warmed fish" rising in his bosom. To a lady whom he found in possession of his stall in the college chapel he gently observed: "Excuse me, madam, you are occupewing my ple."

Among his other verbal arrangements was his apostrophizing of an amazed audience of farmers as "you tons of ot"; his inimitable rendering of certain line in "The Burial of Sir John Moore," "as his horse on the ramparts we curried"; his inquiry as to the suitable "tax for a tipsy-cab" and his complaint to the stationmaster of the continued unpunctuality of the "town drain."

THE STATION AGENT'S JOB.

Sioux City Journal: "Do you suppose No. 17 will be in on time day after tomorrow? Why not?"

"Can you tell me if a young lady in a blue dress and straw hat got off the train which got in from the North at 2:10?"

"What time does the 5 o'clock train leave and is it going to leave on time?"

"Is the train going to get into Fort Wayne on time, do you think?"

"What made No. 7 so late a week ago last Tuesday?"

"Do you thing it is safer to ride in a parlor car or is there apt to be a rear end collision?"

"Why is No. 13 marked up for fifteen minutes late?"

"Have you noticed an old gentleman with white whiskers and a telescope go through the gate any time today?"

"How do I get to Bink's Corners, Tex., without changing cars?"

"I lost a back comb on the southbound train three weeks ago last Wednesday. Can you tell me where I can find it?"

"Will you watch for my sister and tell her how to get up to my house? I haven't time to wait for her train."

Store-competition is the mother of bargains.

EVADING THE PURE FOOD LAW

Short Weight "To Even Up" for Purity—Cutting Down Boxes, Bags and Barrels—Fights for Net Weight Laws.

By JAMES P. HEATON.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

"A false scale is an abomination to the Lord but a just weight is his delight," said King Solomon. It has always been necessary to curb deceitful tradesmen. The sealer of weights and measures in this country is a direct inheritance from the mediaeval towns in England. Until recently in New England the office existed in slumbering disuse along with such time honored official jobs as measurer of lumber and tan bark, tithing man, fence viewer and poundkeeper.

The framers of the National Constitution deemed this subject important enough to justify giving to congress specific power "to fix the standards of weights and measures." In 1836 congress supplied a complete set of standards to each state. After nearly seventy-five years people began to discover how poorly the states by routine methods were enforcing the prescribed standards in every-day transactions. With increased cost of living causing uneasiness and distress, frauds formerly held unimportant, began to strike home. Indifference disappeared when the United States bureau of standards showed that 60 per cent of the scales and measures in retail stores throughout the country were incorrect. This condition cost New York alone $10,000,000 annually, according to the state superintendent of weights and measures.

Scalers of weights and measures throughout the country responded to the opportunity for making their work a more valuable protection than the efforts of recent years had proved themselves. But they soon discovered that while the retail storekeeper could be compelled to use honest weights and measures there was no way to force the big manufacturers and packers of carton foodstuffs and other products to sell by any measure or standard of quantity except what their own whim dictated. The national pure food law, although a big victory for consumers, has one important defect. It does not give adequate protection in regard to the weight of goods in original packages because it merely requires that the weight or measure shall be given correctly if stated at all.

"Why grumble over the pure food law's restriction?" was the happy thought of one manufacturer, "when a little more package and a little less contents, or a little less of both, will make my profit as big as ever." Others agreed with him and in the last five or six years breakfast cereals have shrunk 40 per cent in weight while the prices in many cases have advanced. The manufacturers have found a handier profit than that derived from using adulterants or benzoate of soda.

Everything has been done that could be—crusades, legislation and advertising—to wean the householder from purchasing bulk goods and to wipe out the old unsanitary way of selling oatmeal and crackers which were exposed to dirt, mice and the grocery cat. But bulk goods were at last nominally sold by standard measures and weights while the housewife has no protection at all in most states from the shrinking quantities of packed goods.

The only states in the West, until month, which ensured at all fully to the public quantity as well as quality, were Connecticut and Florida. New York has just secured a net weight law compelling manufacturers and packers to mark on the outside of the package the true weight or measure of the contents. The passage of the Brooks bill in the Empire state after several futile attempts will encourage those working for similar laws in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Illinois, where such a law has been defeated. West of the Mississippi net weight laws are on the statute books in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming and Nevada. In congress the Stevens bill to amend the pure food law by requiring the weight or measure of contents of food packages to be printed on the labels is pending.

The need for strict protective laws is evident when we know that in Chicago, which the United States government found had at the time of its examination the best record of the larger cities at least, there was some degree of short weight or measure either through custom or design in every trade, according to the city sealer of weights and measures.

Net weight laws have produced tangible benefits. In North Dakota one result has been that the gross weight in ounces for canned goods has increased "in spite of the fact that prices for food products have very materially increased and we might expect slack fillings were not our law being enforced," as is pertinently pointed out in an official state report.

If the North Dakota law were in force throughout the country the lard pail at the housekeeper's elbow would still be branded with its weight. The "large" size, successor to the three-pound pail would not scale but 2 pounds and 5 ounces. Once the gay rolled oats package weighed 32 ounces; today it has shrunk to 22. The plain ordinary cracker or English biscuit formerly bought by the pound comes now in a package which holds less than half, or but seven ounces. Pickles now are packed in bottles which contain but about two-thirds of a pint, the former size, although the imported pickle is still sold in full sized jars.

Nor is the consumer the only one who suffers from shortage. Shoulders, ribs and loins of pork come from the Chicago beef barons nicely packed in boxes stenciled "consignee must accept goods as billed irrespective of actual weight," except where the local authorities have intervened.

In contrast to the food producers to whom "getting even with Wiley" has meant skimping in quantity since they no longer can in quality, are a number of manufacturers who have not compromised with their conscience. Most of them belong to the American Specialty Manufacturers' association. Members of this body, which favors net weight legislation, have given strong support when protective measures for the consumer's benefit were in the balance owing to the concerted onslaught of manufacturers and wholesale grocers.

To compel the manufacturer to tell what his package holds does not of course force him to increase its size. But it will induce the consumer to consider more carefully how much he is getting for his money. Competitors after attention is clearly drawn to quantity can more easily bid for trade by offering more. Net weight laws are a step toward conducting business the open where all can see the cards. They make it impossible to disguise an increase in price.

Flour, when compressed, will keep for an almost indefinite time. It's bulk is decreased by the process one-third.

New Zealand now has over 2,760 miles of railway. Electrification of certain sections is now under contemplation.

CROP NEWS BULLS WHEAT

Bulge General on North American Markets---Durum Up Three Cents.

Lighter Offers of Flaxseed From the Country Cause Higher Price.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 3.—Wheat had a general rise on the North American markets today by reason of more reports of damage to winter wheat and decreased acreage in the spring wheat country. Duluth May wheat closed at an advance of 1c over yesterday. Durum closed 3c higher. There was a considerable demand today for foreign export and as the market was narrow, the increase in price took place readily. Duluth cash wheat closed at $1.14¾, being ½c over Duluth July. Duluth May flaxseed closed at an advance of a cent, and July closed ¼c up.

The morning was decidedly bullish on the wheat markets of North America. The primary receipts on the North American markets showed some falling off from those of a year ago. There were more reports of decreased acreage in both the spring and winter wheat areas of the United States. The Modern Miller of St. Louis published a summary of recent reports showing the condition of winter wheat to be generally much lower than it was on April 1. The document was considered a very bullish one.

Duluth May wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.13⅝ bid, opened today at $1.14 bid and at noon was selling for $1.14½. There were likewise higher quotations from Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Foreign wheat quotations were mixed, some being higher and others lower. Liverpool showed some reaction from yesterday's slump, wheat closing on that market ½d to ½d higher, although most of the market news received there was bearish. There were reports of immense Argentine shipments and larger world shipments, other than North American, good arrivals at Liverpool and free Platte and Canadian offers.

Flaxseed Dull and Steady.

There were not many offers of flaxseed on the Duluth market today and the demand was not brisk. Arrivals were fairly heavy for this time of the year, with 12 cars on track, but most of the seed was what had already been sold. As has been the case for a long time, the demand fell off just about enough to keep the price steady with the offers at hand. At noon today Duluth May seed was ½c up at $2.17 and July was 1c up at $2.13½. Canadian news was slightly bullish, Winnipeg May being 1c up at $1.95 at noon today. Minneapolis bid, on an average, about 3c under the Duluth price for the cash seed. Buenos Ayres May last evening closed at $1.70⅞ or ⅜c up. London Calcutta May and June today closed at $2.17¾, or 1¾c down.

MARKET GOSSIP

The following is from Reynolds, Grand Forks county, North Dakota: "We have finished seeding wheat and the acreage is about 20 per cent less than last year. There is plenty of moisture in the ground. Considerable spring plowing for corn and oats is yet to be done."

Broomhall estimated this week's world shipments, exclusive of North America, at 9,200,000 bu.

India shipments: Wheat, this week, 488,000 bu; last week, 504,000 bu; last year, 344,000 bu.

Australian shipments: Wheat, this week, 1,216,000 bu; last week, 680,000 bu; last year, 1,592,000 bu.

Argentine shipments: Wheat, this week, 5,392,000 bu; last week, 4,496,000 bu; last year, 3,252,000 bu; corn, this week, 1,635,000 bu; last week, 782,000 bu; last year, none.

Argentine visible supply: Wheat, this week, 5,112,000 bu; last week, 5,560,000 bu; last year, 3,568,000 bu; corn, this week, 4,726,000 bu; last week, 3,562,000 bu; last year, 196,000 bu.

Canadian bonded grain receipts: Wheat, 35 cars; oats, 5 cars; barley, 2 cars; flax, 1 car; total, 43 cars.

Cars of wheat received: day, year.

Foreign closing cables: Liverpool, wheat, ¼d to ½d higher; corn, ⅛d to ¼d higher. Paris, wheat, ½c to ¾c higher; flour, ⅜c lower to ¼c higher. Berlin, wheat, ⅜c lower. Antwerp, wheat, ⅝c lower. Budapest, wheat, ½c lower.

Duluth car inspection: No. 2 northern, 6; No. 3, 1; winter, 1; total wheat, 8, last year, 10; rye, 2, last year, none; flax, 18, last year, 3; total of all grains, 28; on track, 45.

Bradstreet's weekly report of business conditions at Duluth was issued today as follows: "Very little change is noted in the wholesale and retail lines. Seasonable goods are in fair demand. Collections are slow. Lake navigation is now in full swing. Considerable grain and ore are to be moved."

B. W. Snow makes the following comment on the Kansas state report: "The Kansas state report as wired to Chicago yesterday purported to give an estimate of the crop for the state of 93,000,000 bu. The full report as received today contains no such figures, not anything like them. On the contrary, it is the most sensational statement of the Kansas situation that has yet appeared. The average condition on May 1 for the past ten years is shown by the report to be 83.6, and the average resulting final yield for the same period is shown as 11.7 bu per acre. The condition this year is put at 81.2, which therefore forecasts a yield of 11.4 bu, and on the 6,065,000 acres claimed in the state, the report shows a crop probability of 69,141,000 bu. Secretary Coburn's report shows the Kansas crop to be worse hurt than any traveling expert had claimed, and the government report this month will show about the same figures."

Minneapolis indemnities: July puts, $1.12⅛@1.12¼; calls, $1.13¾.

The weather map today showed temperatures over the Canadian Northwest ranging from 34 to 48, and partly cloudy: American Northwest, 36 to 60 and cloudy.

American primaries: Wheat receipts today, 323,000 bu; year ago, 335,000 bu; shipments today, 592,000 bu; year ago, 269,000 bu; corn receipts today, 687,000 bu; years ago, 426,000 bu; shipments today, 428,000 bu; year ago, 660,000 bu.

Clearances: Wheat, 73,000 bu; flour, 7,000 bbl; corn, 47,000 bu; oats, 3,000 bu; wheat and flour equal, 105,000 bu.

The Modern Miller, St. Louis, says: "The condition of the crop and the abandoned acreage in eleven winter wheat states as reported by millers are given below: Michigan, condition, 64; April 1, 80; Indiana, condition, 50; April 1, 61; Missouri, 70-76; Kansas, 80-85; Texas, 90-85; Kentucky, 85-90; Ohio, 45-63; Illinois, 52-62; Nebraska, 85-93; Oklahoma, 86-82; Tennessee, 75-81. Abandoned acreage: Michigan, 17 per cent; Ohio, 36 per cent; Indiana, 38; Illinois, 35; Missouri, 16; Nebraska, 6; Kansas, 17; Oklahoma, 15; Texas, none; Tennessee, 12; Kentucky, 9. The area abandoned in these states amounts to 4,660,000 acres, whereas last year the abandoned was 1,940,000 acres in the whole country."

A wire from St. Louis says: N. G. Larimore says that on his company's farm land in North Dakota they have 2,100 acres sown against 1,000 acres last year. He estimates the short acreage in North Dakota at 20 per cent to 25 per cent."

Gay & Sturgis received the following wire from New York: "The demand for copper is very quiet, as the result of heavy buying in March and early April. Several of the large sellers, including Phelps, Dodge & Co. and the United Metals Selling company, are holding their metal for 16½c a pound, but purchase can be made at a lower figure. Electrolytic sold this morning on a 15,50 cents delivered Europe basis, and although as yet there has been no pressure to sell, in view of the flat demand it is difficult to get better than 16c for electrolytic delivered thirty days."

"Producers will make their report for April next Wednesday, and it is generally conceded that some increase in stocks will be shown, estimates in quarters usually well informed running five million to ten million pounds. Authors of reports to the effect that the April statistics will show heavy gains in surplus copper in this country are likely to be disappointed, since the producers' exports total will run considerably in excess of the government figures of April, approximately 48,000,000 pounds, and domestic deliveries will be heavy. Consumers are so well bought ahead that for the present at least they are in a position to play a waiting game."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Bullish on Reports of French Milling Action.

Chicago, May 3.—Probability that French millers would obtain an extension of time to export flour made from imported grain had a bullish effect here today on the market for wheat. The idea was that the outlook for shipments from the United States would be considerably improved. Besides, there was a feeling that some upturn in prices would be natural in view of a decline of 4c here since Monday. Another influence against the bears came in the form of assertions that the Kansas state report, rightly interpreted, would mean a crop of 69,000,000 bu instead of 93,000,000, the popular estimate. Opening prices were ⅛@⅝c higher. July started at $1.10⅞@1.11⅛, a rise of ⅛@⅝c to ½@⅝c, and seemed inclined to hold within that range.

Additional advances when ensued resulted to some extent from a material decrease in northwestern stocks. Selling for a prominent speculator caused a reaction. The close was steady with July ⅜c net higher at $1.10⅞@1.11.

Corn eased off on account of better weather. There was also word of big shipments from Argentina. July opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 77⅞@77½c, touched 77½@77⅝c, but again fell back to 77⅜c.

Promise of heavy receipts for some time southwest led to a further backset. The close weak at 76⅝@76¾c, for July, ⅞c under last night.

Steadiness prevailed in oats. The reason was the absence of any pressure to sell. July started ¼c higher at 54⅛c, rose to 54¼c and reacted to 54c.

Scalpers did most of the business in the provisions crowd. They were impartial, and did not move values much in either direction. Initial sales varied from 2½c lower to 5c higher, with September delivery $19.45 for pork, $11.25 for lard and $10.62½@10.65 for ribs.

BIG AMOUNT OF SELLING

Prices of Stocks Fairly Crumble Away in the Last Hour.

Decline Regarded as Representing More Than Mere Bear Drive.

New York, May 3.—The break in the negotiations between the Eastern railroad managers and their engineers, together with the unexpected demands of the firemen on the roads in that territory, was reflected in general heaviness of today's stock market at the opening. United States Steel lost a material fraction with declines elsewhere. The only notable gain was in Canadian Pacific, which followed its rise in London with a 1-point advance here.

The undertone remained heavy during the first hour, despite a 1-point rally in Reading and some recovery in Union Pacific and United States Steel. There was a considerable pressure on Missouri Pacific and Tennessee Copper. Rock Island preferred and Consolidated Gas were down a point.

Disappointment was felt in speculative circles over the unexpected changes in the industrial situation and this found expression in further selling of the standard shares in the railway group. Union Pacific was the weakest of these issues with sympathetic heaviness in Reading, Lehigh Valley, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville and St. Paul, although the decline in the latter was more directly attributed to its poor earnings for March.

United States Steel sold under yesterday's low and Missouri Pacific continued under pressure. Trading fell off in marked manner before noon.

Bonds were steady.

Buying orders were executed in various specialties including the Copper and Fertilizing issues. Amalgamated Copper was notably buoyant, rising to 83¾. Railroad stocks also made a better showing, but most of the important shares still ruled considerably below yesterday's final figures.

The rise in the coppers was followed by another drive against Union Pacific and Reading, which sent those stocks to lowest prices of the week with resultant weakness in United States Steel, St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and other important issues.

The market closed weak. Prices fairly crumbled away in the last hour on the most extensive selling movement of some weeks. Practically every stock of importance then approached its lowest prices of a fortnight. The decline evidently represented something more than a mere bear drive and the support so generously provided in recent downward movements was almost altogether lacking. The general average at the end was from 3 to 6 points under the best prices of the week.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 3. — The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 2 points and sold off to a net loss of from 4 to 6 points right after the call, under scattered liquidation, which appeared to be inspired by the failure of the weather map to show as much rain as privately reported late yesterday. Liverpool made a fairly steady showing, and the market here steadied up during the first hour on covering.

Offerings were not heavy and the market was about steady during the middle of the morning with prices 2 or 3 points net higher.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points lower; middling uplands, 11.30; middling gulf, 11.55. Sales, 2,200 bales.

Futures closed steady. May, 10.91; June, 10.93; JJuly, 11.03; August, 11.06; September, 11.03; October, 11.12; November, 11.13; December, 11.22; January, 11.15; February, 11.15; March, 11.25.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR ADMINISTRATION—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Herman Smith, Decedent.
THE PETITION of Henry Taylor, British Vice-Consul, having been filed in this Court, representing among other things, that Herman Smith, then being a resident of the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, died intestate, in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, on the 31st day of January, 1912; leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said petitioner is the legal representative of the absent heirs of said decedent, and praying that Letters of Administration of the estate of said decedent be granted to Henry Taylor.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Duluth, in said County, on Monday, the 27th day of May, 1912, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this Order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this Order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., May 2nd, 1912.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN,
Judge of Probate.
(Seal Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minn.)
HUGH J. McCLEARN,
Attorney for Petitioner.
D. H., May 3, 10, 17, 1912.

FLOOD CONDITIONS ALONG MISSISSIPPI ARE GROWING WORSE

Some Towns Are Ten to Twenty Feet Under Water —Current Is Rising.

Part of Baton Rouge Will Suffer If Fight for Levee Fails.

War Department's Relief Fund Is Completely Exhausted.

New Orleans, La., May 4.—Flood conditions in the Lower Mississippi valley continue today to grow worse. No one, not even those who have dealt with similar problems, will forecast the outcome of the passing of the greatest volume of water ever recorded in the great stream. At New Orleans today the former record was buried by almost a foot.

The water at Torras, La., is pouring through that levee crevasse with an ever widening gap, and another breach is threatened there.

Reports from the inundated section north of New Roads are of a gloomy character. The flood is traveling at arapid rate towards the Atchafalaya river and is nearing the main line of the Texas & Pacific railroad.

Town Deep Under Water.

A telephone message from Lettsworth early today said the town was deep under water and hundreds of persons in the surrounding country

SHOTS FIRED IN CHICAGO STRIKE

Stereotypers Join With Pressmen on Windy City Newspapers.

Chicago, May 4.—The strike of the pressmen on the principal Chicago daily papers took on a more serious aspect early today, when the stereotypers in all of the offices affected left their work in sympathy with the original strikers. This made the third union to join in the strike, the wagon drivers having previously quit work.

The walkout of the stereotypers compelled the publishers to condense the morning papers. Only one edition was issued, and this without any advertisements. It was expected that the afternoon papers would act similarly and issue only one edition in condensed form.

Shooting Resorted To.

For the first time since the strike began shooting was resorted to today. Several shots were fired in the street in front of one of the newspaper buildings at Madison and Dearborn streets. No one was injured, but the police made several arrests. Newspaper wagons, under the guard of policemen, were being loaded at the time of the shooting.

Policemen were summoned this morning when four men entered the Fullerton avenue station of the Northwestern elevated road and threatened a woman who was selling newspapers. The men disappeared before a patrol wagon arrived and no arrests were made. The woman was not beaten.

TO IMPEACH ARCHBALD?

Commerce Court Judge Accused of Grafting on His Office.

Wickersham Sends Papers to House, But Suggests Further Inquiry.

Washington, May 4.—President Taft today sent a message to the house in response to the Norris resolution asking for the papers in the case of Judge Robert W. Afchbald of the commerce court, charged with having used his office to procure favors from railroads.

Mr. Taft said it was not compatible with the public interest to make all the papers public at this time, but that they had been sent to the judiciary committee of the house for such further investigation as it might desire to make. It will rest with this committee whether impeachment proceedings shall be begun.

Attorney General Wickersham today sent to the house judiciary committee the result of his investigation of charges that Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court had used his office to secure favors from railroads.

The attorney general, it is understood, recommends further investigation at the hands of the committee as to whether impeachment proceedings shall be begun.

FAMOUS FEUDIST IS ASSASSINATED

ED. CALLAHAN.

Lexington, Ky., May 4.—Ed Callahan, famous Breathitt county feudist, was assassinated this morning as he stood in the door of his store at Crockettsville, twenty miles from Jackson. The assassins hid on the same hillside from which Callahan was shot and wounded two years ago. The feudist was riddled with bullets.

WALL FALLS; KILLS SCORE

Part of New Building in Toronto Collapses on Employes.

Women and Children Caught in Crash While at Work.

Toronto, Ont., May 4.—The south wall of the new five-story building of the William Neilson company, limited, collapsed today, burying a score or more of employes. Two persons are known to have been killed and five others seriously injured. Many others are believed to be dead in the ruins.

The building was occupied on the first and second floors by manufacturers of ice cream and chocolates. One hundred employes, the majority of whom were women and children, were engaged in this work when the accident occurred, shortly before noon.

The entire city fire brigade turned out and made a hard effort to rescue the imprisoned ones.

The first bodies recovered were those of a man and a woman who apparently had been killed instantly.

Five girls, still alive but badly hurt were removed next.

Police and private ambulances hurried the injured to the hospitals.

At 1 o'clock it was impossible to estimate the number of missing or their identity ,but it was feared that between twenty and thirty dead would be found.

GETS FIVE YEARS FOR 89 DEATHS

Berlin Druggist Blamed for Wholesale Poisoning Last Christmas.

Berlin, May 4.—The trial, begun on March 26, of the men charged with being responsible for the wood alcohol poisonings which occurred at Christmas among the inmates of the municipal night shelter for the homeless, ended today.

A druggist named Scharmach, who prepared the deadly spirits, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. Two salesmen named Zastrow and Meyen were each given two months in jail.

The indictment against the accused, which specified eighty-nine cases of death and five of total blindness from the effects of wood alcohol poisoning, alleged the violation of the pure food law by the preparation and selling of harmful substitutes and thus causing serious bodily harm.

The figure eighty-nine given as the number of deaths was taken merely for convenience. Many more deaths in the past, it is now known, were due to wood alcohol poisoning, and the sale of the deleterious liquor is known to have been going on for years.

HONOR FOUNDER OF GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY.

Washington, May 4.—The unveiling of a heroic bronze statue of Rev. Dr. John Carroll, first bishop of Baltimore and founder of Georgetown university, was the occasion of a notable gathering at Georgetown today. The list of speakers included Cardinal Gibbons, Chief Justice White, Speaker Clark, Baron Hengelmuller, the Austrian ambassador, and Rev. Alphonsus J Donlon, president of the university. The statue, by Jerome Conway, was given to the university by the alumni, who selected Chief Justice White to make the presentation.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT GIVE HOT WINDUP TO MARYLAND CAMPAIGN

President and Ex-President Both Seek Support at Monday Primary.

Taft Denounces Predecessor's Attacks Upon Him as False.

Grows Sarcastic While Making Speech at Hyattsville.

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—This, the last day of the primary election campaign in Maryland, found President Taft and Col. Roosevelt early on the move, with speaking programs that will occupy them until bedtime and cover nearly every part of the state.

The Democrats have planned a series of rallies, but Speaker Champ Clark, Woodrow Wilson and Governor Judson Harmon, the presidential preference candidates, have made their last personal appeals to the Democratic voters.

Maryland has awakened to the importance of Monday's primaries. The new law gives voters the opportunity to bind the delegates to the state convention to act on a presidential candidate as their constituents instruct them, and a majority of delegates to the state convention acting as thus instructed, can choose a delegation to

DEMANDS LID OFF DANCING

Newark Man Presents Resolution at Methodist Conference.

Some Ministers Prepare to Oppose Bishops' Recommendations.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — An emphatic demand that the Methodist Episcopal church abandon its anti-amusement rules is made in a resolution offered at the general conference today by Benjamin F. Edsall of Newark, N. J. The resolution read:

"That section 260 of the discipline be amended by striking therefrom the words dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse racing, circuses, dancing parties or patronizing dancing schools or taking such other amusements as are obviously of misleading or questionable moral tendency."

To Show Disfavor.

To show that the church would not stand in the position of favoring these forms of amusement, the resolution reiterated from the church's "special advices" the following:

"We lift up a solemn note of warning and entreaty particularly against the-

LOS ANGELES IN SHRINERS' HANDS

Week of Festivities in Honor of Visitors Is Begun.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 4.—Shriners' week began here today, although there was no session of imperial council, Ancient Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which convenes in annual session here on Monday. The day was given over to the reception and entertainment of arriving guests. For the evening an illumination of the downtown streets was scheduled.

Forty-five special trains, bringing thousands of visitors from points east, north and south, are due to arrive today and Sunday, and when Monday comes it is expected most of the delegates will be comfortably housed for the week of festivity. The Milwaukee delegation's special train was due today.

CHICAGO FREIGHT HANDLERS STRIKE

"THE GLEN" IS FLOODED

Men and Women Driven From Beds By Rising Water.

Will Cost About $5,000 to Repair Damage Already Done.

Weather Man Holds Out No Hope of Better Conditions.

THE RAINFALL.

From 7 o'clock last evening until noon today, 1.6 inches of rain had fallen at Duluth, according to records of the United States weather bureau. At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the wind was blowing at a rate of forty-eight miles an hour from the northeast. The northeast wind and accompanying rainfall will continue into Sunday.

Rising waters in the Glen flooded a score of men and one woman out of their beds, punched out a section of the Soo retaining wall at the foot of Twelfth avenue west and caused a considerable property loss at midnight last night. The rainfall was unusually heavy and did much damage throughout the city.

The authorities fear that the fill under Michigan street at Twelfth avenue west may be entirely washed away as a result of the break in the retaining wall, causing the collapse of a section of the street, the principal connecting artery between the city and the western suburbs.

Building Inspector S. M. Kielley estimated that it will cost from $4,000 to $5,000 to replace the damage already done to the retaining wall. Should the street sink the damage will be much heavier. Traffic would also be seriously interfered with, but it is

ESSON SENT TO REFORMATORY

Canadian Tried for Death of Port Huron Man Is Sentenced.

Port Huron, Mich., May 4.—George Esson of Petrolea, Ont., convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death last winter of Thomas Major, a local yatchtsman, today was sentenced to from four to fifteen years in the state reformatory at Ionia, with a recommendation that the maximum period be five years.

Major's body was found under the steps of the Baptist church, where he is thought to have died from exposure after having been left there in a stupor by Esson and a stranger whose identity has not been revealed.

SUES FOR IRON LANDS WORTH TEN MILLIONS

UNREST IN THE CHINESE EMPIRE

Fresh Hostilities Are Reported at Port of Swatow.

Amoy, China, May 4.—Dissatisfaction is general in the interior districts of China, due to the revival and at the same time an increase in the likin or transit duties, and to the inadequate protection afforded merchants against marauders.

From Swatow, a treaty port in the province of Kwang Tung, comes the news of the renewal of hostilities between the local troops, under the command of Gen. Ling and the leader of 2,000 Cantonese soldiers, who occupied the city on April 5.

The assassination of the superior judge is reported from Fee Chow, a treaty port, and the capital of the province of Fe Kien.

Mrs. Julia Case Begins Action Against John M. Longyear.

Nathan M. Kaufman of Marquette Takes Up the Widow's Cause.

Detroit, Mich., May 4.—Mrs. Julia M. Case of 208 Ferry avenue east, this city, widow, is the central figure in a legal battle which involves some of the most valuable iron properties in the upper peninsula, worth $10,000,000, and in which two of the wealthiest men of Michigan shortly will meet each other in the circuit court of the county of Dickinson.

The mighty antagonists are John M. Longyear, formerly of Marquette, but now a resident of Boston and Nathan M. Kaufman of Marquette.

Kaufman is acting in the interest of Mrs. Case and has entered the lists in order to recover from Longyear, property the woman says her husband, Julian M. Case, pledged to Longyear, as security for a $30,000 loan, twenty-three years ago, which property since has developed into a bonanza. Longyear claims that the transfer was absolute and not in the nature of a mortgage, and has refused to accept a money settlement or give an accounting.

How Dispute Originated.

About thirty years ago John M. Longyear and Julian M. Case were prospectors in that part of the country. Case picked out the lands and took up the claims and Longyear did the financing. Whatever the mutual arrangements, Longyear accumulated millions and Case accumulated debts. In 1889 Case got hold of some property about Lake Superior that turned out to be a marble mine of immense value. He went to London, Eng., to interest English capital for the devedopment of this property. In order to defray the expense of his trip abroad, and likewise to pay some pressing debts, he obtained a loan of some $30,000 from

TAFT MEN CLAIM THE TEXAS VOTES

Precinct Conventions Are Held in the Lone Star State.

Dallas, Tex., May 4.—After Democratic and Republican precinct conventions throughout Texas had been progressing for some time today, supporters of President Taft declared delegates to the county conventions to take place May 7 would be instructed to support the chief executive in the naming of delegates to the state convention on May 28. Friends of Col. Roosevelt issued no statement of predictions.

On the Democratic side, supporters of Harmon and Wilson alike issued statements forecasting success. They explained their declarations were based on information received from all parts of the state.

ITALIANS SAID TO HAVE TAKEN LEBDA.

Paris, May 4.—Gen. Reisoli, commanding the Italian forces to the east of the city of Tripoli, has, according to information received here through an Italian source, attacked and captured the Turkish positions at Lebda, after a lively combat. The Turks resisted fiercely and lost 300 men killed. Eight Italians were killed and fifty-seven wounded.

PARADE FOR SUFFRAGE

Twelve Thousand Women and 3,000 Men in Big Demonstration.

Affair Is Biggest of Its Kind in History of New York.

New York, May 4.—The weather man provided a warm sun and a cloudless sky today for the biggest woman's suffrage demonstration in the history of New York city. For nearly a year preparations for the great parade have been under way, and there was little for Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch and her assistants to do except to marshal the various divisions of their forces for the big parade at 5 o'clock and the mass meeting in Carnegie hall at 8.

The 15,000 women—and men, too—who had asked for places in the parade, received a last word of exhortation from Mrs. Blatch during the morning.

For Public Judgment.

"Remember ," she said, through a printed card with which each would-be parader was provided, "you march

GARY LAND COMPANY WILL BEGIN BIG SELLING CAMPAIGN

In the incorporation of the Gary Land company this week, Andrew C. Volk and others interested in the development of the new Gary townsite of Duluth, which is building up at the door of the big Minnesota steel plant, took the first step in launching a mammoth selling campaign which will be vigorously prosecuted during the coming year.

The Gary Land company, capitalized at $25,000, has been incorporated by Andrew C. Volk, M. A. Volk and Theodore H. Jones. It will be the selling corporation of the A. C. Volk X Co. concern, which has handled the Gary townsite proposition since its inception.

The campaign is expected to result in a large influx of people to the city and will probably be a wonderful factor in the ultimate development of the steel plant suburb.

Agents will represent the company in every good-sized town in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, and the advantages of Duluth, its splendid shipping and commercial facilities and with reference to the Gary townsite, the almost unlimited opportunities for new industries, manufactories and building sites, will be extensively advertised through the entire Northwest.

A. C. Volk, president of the company, said today: "The big Minnesota steel plant, or at least the first unit of it, is nearing completion. It is paving the way for a greater industrial development in the steel plant suburbs. Duluth is just about to reap the benefit of it all."

Mr. Volk is much interested in seeing the street car extension made to the steel plant and the Gary townsite this year. "Every merchant in the city ought to be a booster for this project," said Mr. Volk. "It will help downtown business as well as that in the suburb."

Thirty-three lots were sold in Gary during the past week. Sales were made to people residing at Cleveland, Ohio, Clyde, Ohio, Channing, Mich., and Virginia and Chisholm, Minn. Inquiry was never better than at the present time, said Mr. Volk.

BENEFIT CONCERT AT HIGH SCHOOL

Children Will Raise Money to Buy Glasses and Dental Material.

For the purpose of raising money to pay for eye glasses for children with defective eyes and for the material necessary for the dentistry work for children with defective teeth, a benefit concert will be given at the high school Thursday and Friday evenings of next week by about 1,000 children of the public schools of this city.

Classes of from twenty-five to thirty-six children have been selected from the various schools and will give exhibitions of calesthenics, folk dances and drills under the direction of Prof. M. C. Alletzhauser.

The physical examinations in the public schools led to the detection of imperfections in eyesight and in the teeth of the pupils in many cases where it was impossible for the parents to pay for their care and this benefit performance was planned, the fund to be used to pay for the glasses and materials necessary for the dentists in this work. Specialists have promised to give their time and services in this work.

The program follows:

Calisthenics ..... Salter School.
Broom drill ..... Endion School.
Rhythmical stepping ..... Ely School.
Dumbbells ..... Franklin School.
Club swinging girls ..... Jefferson School.
Hoop and flag exercises ..... Lester Park School.
Minuet stepping ..... Nettleton School.
Calisthenics ..... Irving School.
Club swinging boys ..... Nettleton School.
Bean bag games ..... Lakeside School.
Rhythmical stepping with scarfs... Washington School.
Wand exercise ..... Jackson School.
French rhythmical stepping..... Washburn School.
Club swinging, illuminated, boys... Jefferson School.
"Good Night" lullaby, with stepping ..... Lincoln School.

DID IT RAIN TODAY

WELL, I SHOULD SAY SO!

And many got wet, but not any one of you who had on one of our waterproof raincoats, for ladies or gentlemen.

Don't put off getting one tonight.

You can have one by paying $1.00 down and a little every week. Our prices are from $10 up, which are just the same as if you payed cash.

Your own employer wouldn't hand you your whole year's salary all at one time—he finds it much easier to pay you so much a week, or so much a month, or so much every two weeks. Why not apply the same principle to the buying of your clothes?

MANY BIDDERS ON PAVING JOB

East Fourth Street Owners Have Long List to Consider.

The board of public works has figured up most of the bids for improving East Fourth street between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues.

The board expects to award the contract Monday morning and will hold a meeting to ascertain the wishes of the property owners as to the kind of pavement to be used. The hearing will start at 9:30 o'clock and any one interested is invited to attend.

T. W. Wahl of the firm of Wahl & Messer is in Boston and has wired back that he has investigated Bithulithic pavements and laboratory tests and would advise considering it. He said that he has examined streets ten years old.

More bids were received on the Fourth street job than on any other which has been completed in the city, as far as can be learned. They covered a large number of different propositions and their computation took much time.

They include concrete pavement with sandstone and concrete curbs and with brick and sandstone between the street car tracks; asphalt with brick or sandstone between the tracks and sandstone and concrete curbs, and asphalt blocks, sandstone blocks, Bitulithic, Donnelite, brick and creosote blocks with variations of the same propositions. The prices range from $54,000 to $68,000, in round numbers.

There will be a meeting of property owners at the council chamber tonight, and the figures will be available then.

CENTRAL SUNDAY SCHOOLS MEET

Last of Series of Four Institutes Held at the Y. W. C. A.

The institute of the Central Sunday school district of Duluth was held last evening at the Y. W. C. A., with eight schools represented. Addresses on "The Older Boy" were given by W. B. Patton and Julius Nolte. A. M. Locker spoke on "Sunday School Organization," and illustrated the standing of the different counties by a map. The standard is 12 points and St. Louis county has less than 5. St. Louis county Sunday school workers hope to bring the county up to standard before the next state convention.

Officers of the Central district were elected as follows: President, Dr. R. W. Bowden; vice president, L. A. Marvin; secretary, Brewer Mattocks; treasurer, Fred Wieland; elementary superintendent, Mrs. A. G. Schulze; secondary division superintendent, E. H. Mirick; adult and home department superintendent, H. A. Sedgwick; teacher training superintendent, Mrs. E. G. Field. The schools represented were: First M. E., Pilgrim Congregational, Hope Evangelical, Union Disciples, Bethel, First Presbyterian, Duluth Heights Presbyterian and First Christian.

The institute was the fourth of a series held in Duluth under the direction of the St. Louis County Sunday School association. About 200 teachers and officers attended the sessions from thirty-two Duluth Sunday schools.

REBELS WIN BIG BATTLE

Mexican Federal Army Defeated By Orozco's Forces.

Zapata and His Brother Escape From Situation in South.

Washington, May 4.—The Mexican federal army has been defeated by the rebel forces under Gen. Orozco in a big battle at Torreon, according to advices received by the treasury department today from the southern border. No details were given.

One company of the Twelfth infantry, U. S. A., which made preparations to leave Monteney, Cal., for the Mexican border, will divide itself between Yuma, Ariz., and Calexico, Cal. The imperial valley irrigation canal leaves American territory at Yuma and returns at Calexico and it is probable the troops will guard the works.

It was declared at the general staff headquarters here today that these were the oly troop movements which have been ordered or are in contemplation.

Zapata Gets Away.

City of Mexico, Mex., May 4.—Emiliano Zapata and his brother, Eufemio, rebel leaders in the south, who were reported to have been bottled up at Chiautla by the federal troops, have escaped with the greater part of their forces. The Zapatistas were forced to leave their dead and wounded on the field, contrary to their customm, which led to the belief that they were hard pressed by the federals. Details of the engagement have not reached the city.

Take Britons, Too.

San Francisco, Cal., May 4.—It was learned here today from an unofficial source that the war department had ordered the army transport Buford to take aboard not only Americans on the west coast of Mexico, but British and Spanish subjects as well.

This order is said to have been sent by wireless to the Buford from the Mare Island navy yards yesterday.

MARINE

BIG FLEET TAKES GRAIN

Nearly 10,000,000 Bushels of Wheat on Way to Buffalo.

Twenty-three boats that have been ice-bound at the Canadian Head of the Lakes during the winter, waiting for the Fort William harbor to open, began to move last night and will be out of the ice field by this evening. Word was received here that the northeast wind and warm rain of yesterday morning broke up the ice.

The steamer Easton was the first boat to dock at the Canadian ports, but the boat was compelled to wait for the ice tugs. The steamers J. S. Ashley, D. B. Meacham, J. C. Wallace, W. G. Pollock, Eugene Zimmerman, A. B. Wolvin, Ward Ames, Thomas Barlum, F. H. Peavy and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy are now on their way to Buffalo, having cleared from the Canadian harbors early yesterday morning. The steamers all had cargoes of grain, the total being estimated at 4,500,000 bushels. With the large Duluth shipment during the past week, about 10,000,000 bushels of grain is expected to arrive at Buffalo during the next few days.

Nine other steamers with the following Canadian boats, D. A. Gordon, Saskatoon, Renvoyle, Plummer, Pellatt, Canadian, Turrett Court, Beaverton and A. E. Ames, left for eastern ports this morning.

With the leaving of the steamer Easton from the port at Fort William with ten passengers and the opening of the passenger season on Lake Erie by the steamer City of Buffalo, the regular passenger season on the Great Lakes is now considered open at the various harbors. The steamer City of Buffalo arrived at Buffalo yesterday morning with about sixty passengers and considerable package freight. The steamer Western States is expected in Buffalo some time today with passengers from Detroit.

The heavy storm today and yesterday did not retard the lake traffic to any extent and the average arrivals and departures are recorded at the various ports on Lake Superior. Several boats arrived last evening and immediately went to the ore docks for loads. They are: Wisconsin, Edward O., Princeton, Mullen, Fulton and Watts. Other arrivals last evening were the North Star, merchandise, and Widener, coal.

This morning the following ore boats arrived: J. P. Morgan, Corlla, Ellwood, Rensselear. Other arrivals today are the Samuel B. Morse, coal; Stein Bros., light for grain; Duluth, freight, and the J. A. McKee, light for grain. The departures last evening were the W. A. Rodgers, Frick, Phipps, ore; W. E. Fitzgerald, grain, and the North Wave, merchandise. The Andrew Carnegie left this morning for Buffalo with grain and the J. P. Morgan and Harry Yates departed with ore cargoes.

MARINE NOTES

Capt. Tim Heagerty, master of the Lake Shore tug, Manning, was seriously injured at Asthabula yesterday afternoon by being struck by a piece of timber.

Work on the western division of the Erie canal is practically finished and water will be let into this section Monday. The official opening of the canal will occur May 15.

The steamer Powell Stackhouse, which was ashore at Lanshing shoal, was released yesterday morning and is now on her way to Chicago for repairs.

The Shipmasters' association of Buffalo has gone on record as being in favor of widening the harbor there as recommended by the city council several days ago. A committee was appointed to work with the council and the chamber of commerce.

RAILROADS UNABLE TO KEEP PACE WITH COUNTRY.

W. T. Cross of Edmonton, Alta., is a guest of the Lenox today. "A bumper wheat crop for Canada this season will mean that the railroads of the Dominion will be unable to handle the crops," said Mr. Cross. "Sending Canadian wheat by way of the United States means that the railroads of the Dominion find the resources of the country growing so that they have gained a lap, perhaps two or three, on the railroads.

"That, too, in the face of the fact that there is more railroad building in Western Canada at the present time than in any other country anywhere near its size.

"The immigration to Western Canada is probably the heavies: at the present time in the history of the country. The railroads are a lap behind the procession. We are in a similar position to that of the United States in 1906. You were unable to get cars for the handling of the immense amount of tonnage, and this was not due to car shortage, but rather to lack of terminal facilities."

BLACKLIST OF WOMEN.

Temperance: "Women now provide a disproportionately large part of the habitual drunkards," says the head constable of Liverpool, England. Thus, during 1910, in the class of three or more convictions within twelve months, there were 133 men and 184 women, and in the class of six to sixty convictions (all told) there were 733 men and 774 women. For two years the "blacklist" in Liverpool has consisted solely of women.

SENSATION IN ELECTRIC CARS

New Flanders Promises to Be Very Popular Here.

In spite of the fact that precedent in selling electrics has it that the fall and not the spring is the time to promote the sales of electric cars, the Flanders colonial coupe, which has been introduced in Duluth this week by the Murphy Automobile company of Minneapolis has kept up its pace of breaking all records, upsetting all established methods and has won its way into the good graces of the fair motorists of Duluth.

While electric cars in general, and Flanders electrics, too, are popularly supposed to be made and sold principally to women, there are many heads of families in Duluth who have frankly "thrown their hats in the ring" in favor of the Flanders electric.

First of all, the Flanders is recognized as an efficient car, having speed and endurance per charge that is remarkable and it is priced in a way that takes away not one whit from the value or appearance of the car, but in a way to give the public more for its money than ever before. Hard-headed business men realize at a glance that the selling expense for each Flanders car is lower than for other makes of electrics because of the decided improvements and advantages in the car; and therefore the price of $2,250 is seen to be based on quantity production with a smaller margin of profit. These facts appeal to men and when coupled with such an appealing car as the Flanders, it doesn't take much effort to take orders.

Dozens of Duluth families are interested in this newcomer from the factories of Walter E. Flanders, than whom there is no better-known figure in the motor industry. In the face of disagreeable weather conditions the factory experts and salesmen, representing the Flanders electrics, have been busy night and day this week. In taking over the agency for the Flanders electric, Mr. Rightmire, manager of the Packard Service company, promises the electric buyers the same consistent service as that enjoyed by Packard owners.

DEPOSITORS MAY PURCHASE BONDS.

Depositors of the United States postal savings bank, may, by applying on or before June 1, 1912, exchange the whole or a part of their deposits for United States registered or coupon bonds in denominations of $20, $100 and $500.

These bonds will bear interest from July 1, 1912, at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from date of issue and both principal and interest payable twenty years after that date in gold coin.

Postal savings bonds, depositors have been informed, are exempt from taxation of any kind. Deposits converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor, and there is no limitation on the amount of available postal savings bonds which may be acquired finally by a depositor.

The exchange is considered as taking effect on July 1 next and a depositor who has applied to convert all or part of the maximum balance of $500 may deposit an additional amount in July, though the bonds may not yet have been delivered.

Postal savings bonds will be issued to none but actual depositors.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Steve Stanovich is a lover without the courage of his convictions.

Steve lives out in West Duluth and for some months past corresponded with a young lady in Austria, whom he had never seen. She is 19 years old and in the eyes of the average citizen would not be considered particularly beautiful.

After the exchange of numerous letters Steve finally got his courage up to the sticking point and wrote her a request to marry him. She replied that she would. Steve thereupon forwarded her the money for her passage and incidental expenses.

But when she was due to reach the city Steve did not have the backbone to meet her at the depot. He stayed at home and sent two of his countrymen instead. She came in on schedule and they had no difficulty in picking out Steve's bride-to-be. They quickly informed her of their mission, offering some excuse for Steve's absence.

But she would have nothing to do with them. She was afraid that they might have evil intentions and so informed them in no doubtful terms. She then made her way to West Duluth and was taken in at a boarding house containing a large number of men.

That was several days ago. Yesterday afternoon Steve called up the police station and asked Capt. Fiskett for an officer to accompany him to the boarding house. He said that he had heard that the men in the place had become greatly enamored of the recent arrival, and that he feared for his life if he went there to claim her for his own. In short, he wanted the cop to help him present his proposal to his intended bride.

The genial captain was quite willing to accommodate Steve and he telephoned the West Duluth station to send a copper with him to the boarding house which was being graced by the presence of the girl of his dreams. With his heart in his throat, Steve, in the role of willing lover, and the policeman, acting as life-saver, went to see the young lady whose popularity was so great that Steve was afraid that he might be killed if he took her away.

Once they reached the boarding house Steve's hopes were quickly dashed. The girl whom he had brought from afar refused to have anything to do with him. She wouldn't even listen calmly to his agitated proposal to become his wife. She scorned him most cruelly, telling him that it would be impossible, absolutely beyond possibility, that she could even think of marrying a suitor who didn't have enough "get up" about him to clasp her to his bosom as she alighted, a stranger in a strange country, at the station.

Steve then appealed to the police to make the girl marry him. He evidently thought that the police could do anything. But again he was doomed to disappointment. And now Steve is in the throes of the agony which is besetting him. He is deeply grieved, not only because of the loss of a wife, but over the hard-earned dollars which he expended to bring her to him.

Detective Crummy of the Minneapolis police force reached the city today to take Howard A. La Duke back to Minneapolis to answer the charge of obtaining money on a check without funds in the bank on which it was drawn. La Duke gives his occupation as a private detective and it is stated that he has made Duluth his headquarters for several months. The warrant charged him with getting $20 unlawfully, but the Minneapolis plain clothes man said today that he had passed several checks under the same circumstances.

BADGER SOLONS READY TO QUIT

Black River Falls Is Given $106,000 Relief Fund.

Madison, Wis., May 4.—By refusing to send the bill to engrossment, the senate this afternoon decided to take no action on water power legislation at the special session and paved the way for final adjournment before nightfall. The decision was almost unanimous, only Senator Linley voting otherwise.

The non-partisan election bills, applicable to all cities in the state, went to the governor today after the assembly had concurred in two amendments designed to apply the primary and general election laws to it.

The Ingram substitute for the Jefferson club bill by which he sought the introduction in Wisconsin of the Massachusetts ballot, was turned down and the Jefferson club bill also was killed.

The real purpose for which the special session was called, was fulfilled when both houses adopted a conference report appropriating $106,000 for the relief of the city of Black River Falls which was devastated by a flood from the breaking of a dam last October. Of the amount granted, $71,000 will be used to build a retaining wall and dikes and to fill in some washed out land, and $35,000 will be devoted to repairs of the sewer system.

INDIAN HOSPITAL OUTLOOK IS GOOD

Senators Incorporate Miller's Plan in the Appropriation Bill.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 4.—Prospects for the enactment of a law providing for the construction of a hospital and sanitarium for the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota improved today. The senate committee on Indian affairs, after a hearing given Representative Miller, decided to incorporate his measure in the Indian appropriation bill, which will be reported to the senate shortly.

The bill provides for an appropriation of $85,000 for the site, building and equipment, and $16,000 for maintenance for the first year. The hospital is to be in charge of a governing board to be composed of the secretary of the Minnesota state board of health, one member to be appointed by the secretary of the interior and a third to be elected by the Indians.

The Miller proposition was strongly indorsed by the commissioner of Indian affairs and the sercetary of the interior, and Mr. Miller believes it will be accepted by the house of representatives when the Indian appropriation bill again reaches that body.

The New Baronial Brown Fibre Furniture.

This type of furniture meets with the growing demand for strong, sanitary and serviceable furniture appropriate for the den, library, living room, veranda, summer house, lawn or clubhouse.

In addition to the adaptability of this furniture for general purposes it has the desirable feature of harmonizing with the various types of furniture now in general use, a single piece lending a tone of added luxury to any furnished room.

Since the advent of Arts and Crafts furniture with its ever growing popularity, appealing to those appreciative of quiet elegance and refinement, fibre furniture has been in greater demand for the reason that the quiet tones, the modest yet graceful lines, comfortable, proportions particularly blend with the Arts and Crafts

Our fibre furniture is made of a tough, tenacious fibre subjected to a process of treatment that increases the strength of the fibre, giving it wearing qualities that make it practically indestructible. It is then converted into strands of great strength and tenacity and woven by hand into the dainty and comfort-insuring design shown. Fibre furniture is not affected by heat or moisture and has a finish that will not scratch, splinter or show the effect of hard usage or time. You can wash it if it is dusty, or scrub it if it is dirty—you cannot hurt it.

Not Affected By Heat or Moisture

Superior to any porch or summer furniture made today. Widely known as bungalow furniture and unexcelled for durability and wearing qualities. The material of which the furniture is made is a special tough fibre woven into endless strings and braids, which are exceptionally strong and durable, yet very pliable. Owing to its toughness and pliableness, it makes the most elastic and comfortable furniture possible. Fibre furniture is not affected by water, heat or cold, will not peel or crack. Made with exceptionally strong frames and finished in a rich Baronial Brown, which will harmonize beautifully with any kind of interior decoration, or as outdoor furniture.

SPECIAL—We are offering for this week a large, roomy Baronial Brown Rocker (not like cut) with roll arms and back closely woven fibre, guaranteed in every way, at..... $3.25

BRAVE RAIN TO ATTEND

Weather Fails to Put Damper on Neighborhood Meetings.

Proposed Charter Changes Are Discussed at Five Gatherings.

The initiative, referendum and recall were strongly indorsed at meetings held throughout the city in various churches and halls last evening. It is estimated that despite the rain fully 1,500 people turned out to listen to the addresses of the several speakers.

The ground covered was largely similar to that gone over at other meetings the last few weeks. The different audiences were deeply attentive and showed great interest in the amendment which the voters will undoubtedly approve at the special election next Tuesday.

Anticipation of the passage of the amendment was credited by some of the speakers with having had much to do with the vetoing of the council resolution granting the application of T. Pinsonnault for a transfer of his saloon license to 2403 West Superior street. They pointed out that if the recall can have such a powerful effect before it has been enacted into law it will be even more powerful when the people can make actual use of it.

The workings of the initative, referendum and recall in other municipalities of the United States was gone into in some detail and the beneficial results called to the attention of the voters. Mention was also made of the initiative, referendum and recall in Switzerland, where all three propositions operate in the national government.

The meetings were held at the Woodmen's hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street; the First Swedish Lutheran church, Sixth avenue east and Third street; the Polish church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fifth street; the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, and at the West Duluth Commercial club. The speakers included W. E. McEwen, chairman of the general committee in charge of the campaign; E. M. Morgan, A. G. McKnight, G. W. C. Ross, Elmer F. Blu, C. R Magney and Dr. David H. Day. All of them had a thorough knowledge of their subject and were very successful in making it clear to the people who heard them.

FEAR LABOR TROUBLE ON GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

Prince Rupert, B. C., May 4.—Railway contractors are expecting labor troubles in the construction camps along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific between Hazelton and Frazer Lake. Organizers of the Industrial Workers of the World have enrolled many of the men and are urging a general tie-up.

Railway contractors have agreed that at first sign of trouble they will suspend operations indefinitely, refuse to furnish the men with food and let them walk out of the country. The men will be hundreds of miles from settlements in some cases.

PENN COLLEGE BOY DROWNS IN RESERVOIR.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, May 4.—Walter Tabor, son of James C. Tabor of Colorado Springs, a junior student in Penn college, was drowned yesterday in a reservoir near this city. Spencer Mortimer of La Velle, Wis., narrowly escaped death in attempting to save Tabor.

TO STOP HAIR LOSS AND RID YOUR SCALP OF DANDRUFF, USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Do you have dandruff? Does your hair fall out? Is it getting thinner and the parting more pronounced every day? If so, we advise you to get busy right away or before it is too late.

We are not trying to scare you. We are simply telling you the truth. If you would ward off impending baldness you must check that hair loss and rid your scalp of dandruff.

Don't resort to the use of an untried, off brand hair preparation when genuine Herpicide costs no more. You are liable to disappointment if you experiment. Start right and start now with the right remedy and stick to it—Newbro's Herpicide.

Use Herpicide daily for a while, then three times a week will be sufficient. Watch the change which takes place in the condition of your hair and scalp. The scalp is clean and free from dandruff. The hair looks strong and healthy and does not fall out. There is vigor and snap where before the hair was dead, dull and brittle. The itching which is so annoying stops and you enjoy a feeling of coolness and cleanliness hitherto unknown.

Any dealer will sell you Newbro's Herpicide in 50-cent and $1.00 sizes and guarantee it. If it doesn't do as promised, if you are not satisfied he returns your money. But you'll be satisfied. The first application will convince you that Newbro's Herpicide is the very thing for the hair. Its odor is delightful.

Applications may be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Taft Managers Said to Be Talking Compromise—Roosevelt Men Refuse to Enter Into Any Agreements—Claims of Rival Organizations—Ellsworth Out for Congress in Second District.

Make Compromise Approaches.

Do the Taft supporters in Minnesota see their chances of controlling the state convention disappearing?

Compromise is always the last stand in political campaigns and the Taft men are said to be feeling out their opponents on a plan for sending an uninstructed delegation to the Chicago convention.

Roosevelt supporters in St. Louis county have been approached with the suggestion that uninstructed delegations be sent to the state and district conventions from this county. The approaches have been spurned.

Rumors of a compromise candidate to be brought out by the reactionary wing of the party in order to capture the uninstructed delegates to the Chicago convention and defeat Theodore Roosevelt have come as an inspiration to Taft men in this state—or at least to one ostensible Taft man—E. E. Smith.

Mr. Smith has never taken very kindly to the acrimony of the presidential campaign. His interest is wrapped up in Governor Eberhart and Mr. Smith's principal business is managing the administration. While Taft appeared to have the Minnesota delegation tied up, Mr. Smith was strong for Taft, as he would have an opportunity of controlling the first convention, but Mr. Smith's ardor has waned. He thinks a bitter contest will hurt Eberhart's chances of renomination.

Roosevelt men say there will be no compromise in Minnesota. They are out to battle for their chief. If they win, they will be jubilant. If they lose, they say they will console themselves with the reflection that their fight was good.

In St. Louis County.

The approaches of the Taft men seem to indicate that they are not as certain of carrying St. Louis county as they were two months ago. The Roosevelt sentiment is crystallizing and the success of the colonel in the county depends only on attendance at the caucuses.

The Roosevelt committee will have candidates in every caucus. The caucus tickets will be labeled with Roosevelt's name, so there may be no mistake. Roosevelt instructions will be moved for the district and state delegations.

La Follette in the First.

Delegates favorable to La Follette will probably be presented at caucuses in nearly all counties, but the La Follette men evidently intend to concentrate their attack on the First district, which James A. Tawney triumphantly declares will be for Taft.

Congressman Sydney Anderson is the only member of the Minnesota delegation in congress to stand consistently by La Follette and Anderson's personal organization is working for a delegation favorable to the Wisconsin senator.

Tawney has by no means lost his influence in the First district. He is an important political factor and all his influence is being thrown into the contest for Taft.

Both Sides Make Claims.

The Taft men are counting on the Fourth, Fifth and Eighth districts as safe. They are probably right on the Fourth and Fifth, but the Eighth should be placed in the doubtful class.

The Sixth, Seventh and Ninth districts are fairly safe for Roosevelt, although the Taft men are working hard for the delegations.

The First, Second and Third are being claimed by both Taft and Roosevelt organizations, while the La Follette men also lay claim to the First district.

The caucuses will be held during the coming week. Beltrami county will hold its caucuses May 7 and other counties will hold them on remaining days of the week. Saturday will be the big caucus day, but before Saturday there will be some indication of the way the state is going.

Every effort is being made to get the people out to the caucuses. The Roosevelt men realize that attendance at the caucuses is their strong point. Unless the people get out, Taft will carry the state, as the men who control the organization and in other years have been allowed to run the caucuses to suit themselves, are for the most part Taft supporters.

The Caswell presidential preference plan has been adopted in the Seventh district and in a number of counties in other districts. There is great interest in the results as the greatest objection made to it was that it was impracticable.

Ellsworth Out for Congress.

F. F. Ellsworth has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress in the Second district. Mr. Ellsworth wrested the nomination from A. L. Ward of Fairmont after a bitter contest two years ago and the wounds caused by the factional strife have not yet healed. It was thought Ward and Ellsworth would both keep out, in the interests of harmony this year. Ward has decided to keep out, but Ellsworth is in. Pleaders for harmony have urged State Senator J. E. Haycraft of Medelia, Watonwan county, to get into the race, but Haycraft doesn't show any anxiety to fly to evils that he wots not of. The impression prevails in the Second that Congressman Hammond will resist efforts to make him the Democratic nominee for governor and will be a candidate for re-election to congress.

Davis May Have Opposition.

Announcement was made some time ago that Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota had given up congressional ambitions for this year. Rockne talk is being revived, however, especially since Congressman Davis' recent visit to his district. The Democrats will have a candidate in the Third this year. Senator Julius Coller of Shakopee and Senator Harry Weis of Le Sueur have been mentioned as prospective candidates.

Congressmen Are Shy.

The members of the Minnesota delegation in congress are keeping hands off in the presidential contest in this state. Congressman Davis has put in a few words for Roosevelt, and Congressman Anderson is known to be for La Follette, but other congressmen have made no announcements recently, and their personal organizations have been inactive in the campaign. In that connection the Wadena Pioneer Journal says of the Minnesota senators:

For the first time in seeming ages a well-established and cherished Minnesota custom is to go by the boards, for when the Republicans meet in state convention for the purpose of naming delegates to the Republican national convention, no man will rise in his seat and move that the two United States senators be included in the list of delegates-at-large.

Strange as it may seem, both Knute and Mose are this year making every possible effort to keep out of the limelight and perhaps remain forgotten until this little bit of business is concluded.

Senator Mose is making lots of noise in various parts of the country, but evidences no disposition to hobnob with the boys around the Merchants' hotel, as of yore, while canny Knute is sticking fast by the business in hand, just as though Jonathan Bourne had been successful in his demonstration of the idea that the people will see to it that good service is all that is necessary for the continuance of a senator in office.

This year some one of more common clay will have to attend to the job of president making. We wonder why?

Candidate for Coroner.

The St. Louis county Socialists, in announcing their candidates for county offices, neglected to include the name of Dr. M. S. Hirschfield, who was nominated for coroner. No nominations have been made for county attorney or judge of probate, but those places on the ticket will be filled.

GEORGE D. McCARTHY.

BUST OF "LA FRANCE" PRESENTED TO AMERICA.

Crown Point, N. Y., May 4.—The final ceremony in connection with the presentation of the bronze bust of "La France" by the French people to the citizens of the United States was fulfilled here yesterday. The exercises were presided over by Senator Knapp, and Governor Meade of Vermont and Acting Governor Conway of New York delivered addresses. Gabriel Hanotaux, the French historian, delivered the principal address of the day. L. F. Lafontaine received the bust of "La France" on behalf of the Champlain commission of New York and Vermont.

BY ORDER OF TRUSTEES.

MACVEAGH'S O. K. ON MONEY PROBE

Secretary Thinks It Will Reveal Evolution at Work in Finances.

Atlantic City, May 4—Franklin MacVeagh, secretary of the treasury, believes that the house banking and currency committee investigating the "money trust" would find an evolution of financial affairs tending toward a concentration of larger power in the hands of a few institutions, or even of a few men.

Speaking here before the New Jersey Bankers' association last night, the secretary gave his approval to the inquiry. A closer relation of financial forces, he declared, had resulted in large measure from the panic of 1907, when large interests entered upon a policy of co-operation for self-protection, made necessary by the country's inadequate monetary system.

While the secretary favored the "money trust" inquiry as a necessary step in reforming the banking and currency system of the United States, he deplored that congress was not contemplating legislation on the basis of the plan of the national monetary commission. The general features of this plan received Mr. MacVeagh's approval, but he criticized the fact that it did not forbid the ownership of the national bank stock by another bank. He declared that he had been told that some of the "strong men of New York" felt that any more monetary legislation was wholly unnecessary, "because they could themselves handle all the difficulties growing out of the system."

THREE WAREHOUSES IN WINNIPEG BURN.

Winnipeg, Man., May 4.—Three large warehouses in the heart of the wholesale section were destroyed by fire yesterday. The losses are sustained by the Waldon company, wire property of the Pittsburg Wire Fence company, the Hobbs Manufacturing company and the Glass, Tees & Persse company. The total loss amounts to $75,000. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

Welcome Papal Delegate.

New York, May 4.—A notable gathering of Catholic clergy and laymen welcomed the new apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Giovanni Bonzani, when the steamer Koenig Albert reached her pier yesterday.

She Stayed In Bed

Ingram, Texas.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall, I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years." You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it.

ARE SIMPLY BLACK SHEEP

McNamaras So Characterized By Speaker at Union Labor Rally.

Opening Meeting of Labor Forward Movement Held at Moose Hall.

The Duluth Labor Forward Movement had its opening meeting last evening at Moose hall, 224 West First street. There was a good attendance, considering the fact that the weather was such as to make it impossible for any one to go out, without extreme discomfort. The meeting was addressed by Collis P. Lovely of St. Louis, general organizer of the boot and shoe workers, and W. S. Best, organizer for the cigar makers.

Mr. Lovely took occasion to disavow, on behalf of union labor, the actions of the McNamaras in blowing up the Times building at Los Angeles and committing other crimes. He declared it was not surprising that a vast organization including 2,500,000 members in this country should have some criminals, just as most families had their "black sheep." He said the crimes of the McNamaras, though they were prominent in union labor circles, had nothing to do with the cause of union labor. He also expressed disgust at what was done by the Industrial Workers of the World in tearing down the Stars and Stripes during the May day celebration at New York. He said his organization had nothing to do with the Industrial Workers of the World, whom he denounced as revolutionists. Mr. Lovely spoke heartily in favor of the proposed initiative, referendum and recall.

Mr. Best spoke for union labor in general, declaring that it stood for the social elevation of the workingmen by peaceful and lawful methods.

A meeting of the labor forward conference will take place next Wednesday evening in Kalamazoo hall.

It is expected that Mr. Lovely will again be in Duluth a week from tomorrow to address a mass meeting in one of the churches.

VISITING STAR MINING DISTRICT

Minneapolis Men Interested in Properties Near Milford, Utah.

Milford, Utah, May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of Minneapolis investors has been making a thorough inspection of the Star mining district during the past few days, and a number of the principal mines of the district have been inspected. It would be hard to find a more enthusiastic group, and they are all loud in their praises of the district and the future prominence it will have as a producer of lead and silver. The activity that has been apparent for some time among the smelter interests of the state of Utah in their desire to make contracts with the principal producers of lead-silver ores has caused a great deal of activity in the camps devoted to the production of these metals. More activity is now noticeable in the development of properties in this district than has been seen for some time.

The Moscow and Red Warrior mines of the present time are leading the way in active development, and the production of ore, both of these mines forwarding regular shipments to the American Smelting & Refining company's plant at Salt Lake City. A very large amount of development work has been accomplished at both of these properties, and arrangements are now under way for connecting the workings of both companies.

A thorough inspection of these two mines is now being made by the Minneapolis people who are here, and they are very enthusiastic over the outlook for these two properties. The late developments on the lower levels of the Red Warrior, according to these men, are the best that have yet been made on the property. High grade ore and a large amount of it is now being blocked out preparatory to increased shipments, and both the north and south drifts on the 550 level are going forward in ore. Those who have been through the mine lately express the opinion that this ore will likely prove to be an entirely independent chute, leading clear to the surface. Such being the case, it will mean a greatly increased tonnage.

During the past two years a great many outside interests have inspected the Star district, and all af them have unanimously agreed that the future of the mines of the whole district is very bright. At the moment the Red Warrior is occupying the center of the stage, on account of the fact that this mine has the deepest shaft in the district and is carrying on a very active campaign of development.

WOULD BAR AMERICANS.

Canadian Railway Employes Object to International Runs.

Winnipeg, Man., May 4.—A large deputation of the firemen, engineers and conductors and brakemen of the Canadian Northern railway interviewed Premier Roblin in connection with the operation of the American crews on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific trains.

This is the second step which the federated board has taken in its fight to have the American crews stopped from running into Canada. The first move was the application for a conciliation board and the men named T. J. Murray as their representative.

General Manager McLeaod of the Canadian Northern said that, so far, he had not received word from the minister of labor to nominate a representative.

J. Bruce Walker, immigration commissioner, stated that the immigration law was powerless to exclude American crews. The section reads, "by an immigrant, this shall not be held to exclude a master or member of the crew or any person in charge of the train."

The labor deputation laid its side of the case before the premier, but decided that no definite action could be taken until the arrival of the head official of the organization. They are also waiting word from Ottawa as to the appointing of a conciliation board.

EXPECT TO END MINING DISPUTE

Union Officials Call Convention of United Mine Workers.

New York, May 4.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America, who have been in conference here for two days, express confidence that a strike of the mine workers of the three anthracite districts, who have been idle since April 1, has been averted, and that a satisfactory agreement will be entered into with the operators before the end of this month. The three anthracite boards have issued a call for a general convention at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on May 14, to consider the tentative agreement entered into by the sub-committees representing the operators and the mine workers, which was rejected by the full committee of the miners in joint conference with the operators. The convention also will be urged to empower their committee of ten to enter into a second joint conference with the operators and conclude an agreement subject to ratification by a referendum vote of the miners.

Delegates will be chosen from 400 local unions in the three anthracite districts to the Wilkesbarre convention.

PLAN VALUATION OF RAILROAD PROPERTY.

Topeka, Kan., May 4.—To devise plans whereby the states interested may assist each other in making physical valuation of railroad property, representatives of the public utilities commissions of Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Oklahoma and Kansas have met here. Although all these states are making up railroad valuations, it was found no two states were doing the work alike. To make it uniform, the conference was called.

No Autos in National Park.

Billings, Mont., May 4.—Word was received here by the chamber of commerce from Secretary Fisher of the interior department, denying the request that permission be given for the use of automobiles in Yellowstone park from the eastern gateway to the Canyon and Lake hotels.

ALLEGED MURDERER OF FIVE CAUGHT IN CANADA.

Topeka, Kan., May 4.—A man believed to be Charles Marzyck, alleged to have killed the entire family of William Showmun, father, mother and three children, at Ellsworth, Kan., Oct. 15 last, is under arrest at Kamloops, province of British Columbia, Can., according to information received here. Sheriff Samuel Bradshaw of Ellsworth county has applied to Attorney General Dawson for extradition papers. The family was killed with an ax.

A Good Spring Medicine is Found in Hood's

Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and tonic that for more than a third of a century has been taken as needed in thousands and thousands of homes by every member of the family.

Its wonderful results in cleansing the system of all humors, curing scrofula and eczema, overcoming that tired feeling, creating appetite, giving strength and animation, warrant us in recommending it to you as the best Spring Medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the people's medicine—agreeable, effective and economical.

Take it this Spring. Get it today.

"When my neighbors ask me how I like Hood's Sarsaparilla I tell them that there is no medicine made that is equal to it to build up one's system and to purify the blood. I am surely living evidence of its great curative power. I have had a bad cough and weak lungs from a child until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and today my lungs are strong, and I never have any cough even when I take cold. I find Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills work together in fine shape, and taken promptly will save much sickness and prevent many doctor's bills." Mrs. Addie P. Cooper, Ring's Island, Newburyport, Mass.

If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Substitutes may pay the dealer more profit, but they are as a rule disappointing and unsatisfactory. Be sure you get Hood's. Prepared only by C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

An introduction to our line of Watches and our prices will surely be a pleasure to you. There is nothing that is more necessary to the man or woman of today than a reliable watch. We ask you to call and look over our stock of Elgin, Waltham, Howard and other American and imported movements before making your purchase.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

STOP SALE OF NARCOTICS

West End Commercial Club Members Indorse New Drug Ordinance.

Members Brave Rain to Hear Talk on Charter Changes.

Unanimously indorsing the proposed morphine and cocaine ordinance, which comes up before the council Monday evening, the West End Commercial club last evening passed a resolution asking the support of Alderman Hoar and the other members of the council for it.

Sanford W. Hill read a letter sent him by the Associated Charities requesting the club to take up the proposed drug ordinance. Dr. D. H. Day, who spoke at the meeting on the initiative, referendum and recall amendment with William E. McEwen, gave a short talk on cocaine and morphine. He asked the support of the club and urged the resolution in behalf of the West end.

About fifty West end business and professional men braved the heavy rain storm to attend the meeting of the club at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The addresses given by Mr. McEwen and Dr. Day were well received and the members voted to support the recall amendment in a body.

George M. Jenson gave a short talk the latter part of the evening on "The Future of the West End Commercial Club." He suggested a number of plans to be followed out during the coming year. The garden committee did not make its report last evening on account of the many speakers on the program for the evening. The report will be made next week and plans for the white way campaign will also be taken up at that time.

SUFFRAGE CLUB IS ORGANIZED

West End Women Organize to Secure "Votes for Women."

Mrs. L. Q. Greeley was elected temporary president at the organization of a West End Suffrage club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Adams, 2314 West Second street. A complete set of officers will be chosen at a meeting to be held at the same place Monday afternoon, May 14.

About thirty West end women were present at the meeting and addresses were given by Mrs. A. T. Hall, president of the state organization; Dr. Mary McCoy, Mrs. Milton Fish, Mrs. T. F. Olsen and Mrs. Johnson, president of the Superior club. Plans were made for a membership campaign and steps will be taken to encourage the men to also join the club.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WILL HOLD REGULAR MEETING.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will hold its regular meeting in the church parlors next Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. S. A. Blair will review the book, "Light of the World," during the afternoon. A short discussion will be held, after which a tea will be served by the following committee: Mesdames Henry Nelson, chairman; E. E. Williams, George Craig, Pfleger, Luetke and Kerns. An invitation has been extended to all women interested in the work of the society.

Move Into New Hall.

The Sophia lodge, auxiliary of the order of Sons of Vasa, moved into its new quarters at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, yesterday afternoon. The members met in the lodge rooms last evening and initiated a class of forty new members. The lodge now has a membership of 100. A special program of musical numbers and recitations was rendered during the evening and a luncheon was served by the members of the lodge.

NEARLY 100 SWEDISH PEOPLE WILL LEAVE DULUTH FOR OLYMPIAD NEXT WEEK

FRED W. ERICKSON, Who Is in Charge of Party.

Probably the largest party that ever left Duluth for a lengthy trip will leave here Monday evening at at 6:15 o'clock over the Omaha road. The members are bound for New York, from where they sail for Sweden to witness the Olympic games to be held at Stockholm from June 22 to July 29.

The party is in charge of Fred W. Erickson of 2032 West Third street, who will leave Duluth with the members Monday evening. He will go as far as New York, where he will arrange for the sailings and then return home. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Erickson. About fifty Scandinavians from Duluth and vicinity will leave with Mr. Erickson Monday evening and a similar number will leave at the same time Wednesday evening.

The party will arrive at Chicago Tuesday morning and will spend several hours visiting at the stockyards. The members will then leave for Niagara Falls at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, arriving there at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. After a brief stay at the falls, the party will leave for New York. Those who leave here Monday evening will sail from New York at noon Thursday on the Baltic. The ship is scheduled to arrive at Guttenberg, Sweden, May 22, planning on a very slow trip on a southerly course for the safety of the passengers. The Duluth party will be met at New York by similar parties from all parts of the country, all planning to visit their old home in Norway and Sweden and to attend the Olympic games during the summer.

The second party will leave Duluth at 6:15 o'clock Wednesday and is scheduled to arrive in Chicago Thursday morning. The same trip will be taken and the members will sail from Montreal instead of New York at noon next Saturday on the Megantic. The party will arrive at Guttenberg the same time as the Baltic.

The members of the party will visit their homes and relatives for several weeks after their arrival, finally returning to Stockholm about June 15 to attend the Olympic games. Special reservations have already been made by the steamship company for the American tourists. Following the games the party will break up and the members will spend about a month visiting through Europe. They will all leave Guttenberg the latter part of August and are scheduled to arrive in Duluth the first of September.

NOTICE!

O. G. Pearling, formerly with C. P. The new firm will hereafter be known as Pearling & Peterson. They will continue to maintain the high standard of the new firm, the same as the old, by handling only the choicest line of fancy groceries at the lowest prices.

PASTOR TO PREACH SUNDAY EVENING.

Rev. and Mrs. George E. Silloway of 310 North Twenty-second avenue west will return this evening from Davenport, Iowa, where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Silloway's father, Dr. Fayette L. Thompson, who died at East Orange, N. J., last Friday evening. The funeral was held Monday afternoon, following which Rev. and Mrs. Silolway spent several days with the latter's relatives at Davenport and Minneapolis.

Rev. E. B. Savage of Minneapolis will occupy the pulpit at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, tomorrow morning and Rev. Mr. Silloway will conduct the services in the evening.

FORMER DULUTH PASTOR VISITING IN WEST END.

Rev. H. C. Munson of New York, former superintendent of the Red river valley district of Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches, is visiting in the city for several days. Rev. Mr. Munson is the guest of Rev. Edward Erickson of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, where he will preach at the regular morning services tomorrow. Rev. Mr. Munson was a resident of Duluth for six years, prior to his leaving for New York.

In the evening tomorrow A. G. McKnight will speak at the church on the initiative, referendum and recall amendment, which comes up for election Tuesday.

Informal Reception.

Mrs. Carl Abrahamson was the guest of honor at an informal reception given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Victor Johnson of 318 North Twenty-first avenue west. The afternoon was spent in music, after which refreshments were served to the following guests: Mesdames Olaf Peterson, Charles Johnson, Ernest Saff, John Tronsdahl, Peter Johnson, N. Peterson, E. Swanson, McIntyre; Misses Evelyn, Brendline and Dorris Abrahamson and Grace Johnson.

Exchange Pulpits.

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Harmann of 113 North Twenty-eighth avenue west will leave for Litchfield, Minn., Tuesday morning for a two weeks' visit with relatives. Rev. Mr. Harmann will have charge of the Immanuel Presbyterian church of Litchfield during his stay in the city and Rev. E. G. Erickson, pastor of the church, will conduct the services at St. Peter's Episcopal church during Rev. Mr. Harmann's absence. The two pastors will exchange pulpits for two Sundays.

PROSPERING IN SOUTH.

West End Man Says Former Duluthians Making Good in Florida.

J. W. Charrier of 3516 West Third street, who returned yesterday morning from a visit in the South, reports the most favorable conditions in that part of the country and also said that he met a number of Duluthians now living in various parts of Florida.

Mr. Charrier made a special trip through Florida in the interest of a number of Duluth people and is very enthusiastic over the conditions in the southern part of the state. Mr. Charrier spent several days with A. E. Zimmerman, formerly of the city clerk's office, who is now residing near Palm Beach. He also met E. J. Bunker of the Bunker Lumber company of Duluth. Both men are now located in the Palm Beach country and have met with splendid success in their garden and produce work.

Mr. Charrier said in speaking of the soil and climatic conditions in Florida: "I found a soil there of a sandy loam, which cannot be excelled if properly taken care of. Many Northerners are down there making money and enjoying life. In fact Northern energy and capital are making all of these wonderful changes in Florida. Of course the entire state is not fit for cultivation, but a return of $400 and $500 per acre from good lands is not at all uncommon.

"The only people who might complain about Southern Florida are those who go down there with very little capital and expect the gold dollars to come rolling in without any exertion on their part whatever. Over 600 men and women, representing every state in the union and many sections of Canada, attended the distribution of 7,000 fruit farms and town lots, which was held at West Palm Beach about two months ago. I was present at these distributions and saw a number of Northern people secure excellent orchard lands and gardens.

"Everyone I have met so far is satisfied with the South and from interviews I have had with many of these men, I find that it pays a man to go down there only when he has sufficent capital to make both ends meet. A man without any money can never find success, as it takes considerable capital to work the land before any returns are visible."

FINISHING REPAIRS.

Cody Block in the West End Has Been Remodeled.

Workmen are finishing the repairs to the Cody block at 1925 West Superior street. P. George Hanson & Son, who bought the property from "Buffalo Bill" Cody several weeks ago, will move into the structure the first of June. The building is expected to be ready for occupation by the middle of this month.

P. George Hanson & Son are in charge of the repair work. About $5,000 is being spent on improvements and repairs to the building. The entire front has been changed and a direct entrance has been built into the structure from the sidewalk. In the past there was a raised step from the sidewalk into the building. The steps have been placed on the inside of the new hallway. The exterior is being remodeled and repainted.

The interior of the structure is also being repaired. The first floor has been made over into offices, which are to be used by P. George Hanson & Son. The upper two floors have been remodeled into flats. The basement will be occupied by the present barber shop.

Bible Class Meeting.

The Servo Adult Bible class of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will conduct the services at the church tomorrow evening. The members will present 100 stereopticlan slides showing the growth of the Bible movement. The slides are the same used here recently by the experts during the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign. The men's chorus of the church will render several numbers during the evening.

Confirmation Classes.

Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will confirm two large classes tomorrow. The Swedish class, which has thirty-nine members, will be confirmed at 9:15 o'clock in the morning and the English class of sixteen members will be confirmed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. On the following Sunday special communion services will be held for the new members of the church.

West End Briefs.

A daughter was born yesterday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Lovridge of 618 North Eighteenth avenue west.

The vestrymen of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will meet Monday evening with Rev. W. E. Harmann in the rectory, 113 North Twenty-eighth avenue west.

Mrs. Henry Morse and daughter of Hibbing left yesterday for their home after spending the past two weeks with West end relatives.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church will hold its annual church supper and festival May 22 at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

Rev. W. E. Harmann of St. Peter's Episcopal church will hold English services at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and Swedish services at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The West end library branch opened in its new rooms above the J. J. Moe & Sons' department store this afternoon. The library will be open every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and Saturday evening until 9 o'clock.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society held its monthly meeting last evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Newlyweds and Their Baby."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

"NEWLYWEDS AND THEIR BABY"

The Newlyweds and Their Baby are a chuckling, cooing loving trio, whose antics are a delight to an audience. The two parents and "own darling, loving, cunningest snookums," created by George McManus, are the characters in "The Newlyweds and Their Baby."

Surrounded by a large chorus of girls, who dress and look exceptionally well, the three principals of this musical novelty coo through two acts of fun and music. The various song numbers, ensembles, comedy dialogues and humorous situations are well blended and a well rounded performance is presented. The scenes are well staged and colored.

Ferdinand Newlywed as played by Leo Hayes is the foolish fond father seen so often in the cartoons of George McManus. Mr. Hayes plays his part well and manages to score a success by his clever dancing and stage play. He is ably assisted by Miss Margaret Braun as Mrs. Newlywed, who is the beautiful wife of this homely man, both of whom devote their lives to this baby.

The real hit of the show is James E. Rosen's presentation of the baby. His antics and "cute" little baby ways kept the large audience yesterday in continual laughter. As Mayor Knot Much, another character which he portrays, Mr. Rosen is convincing and the many changes he made during the performance from the mayor to the baby are a real scream.

Others in the company deserving of mention are Adolph Nichol, the German waiter, as portrayed by D. L. Don. His playing and dancing in the second act during a travesty on the stage craze was the comedy hit of the production. He assisted Miss Calls Van Vliett, who plays Gwendolin, the maid, in the musical number. "Girls Who Want to Go Upon the Stage." Their imitations of stage acting are well done. Tom Travers by Carl Von Schiller, Dr. L. Curem by Frank Christie and Polly Jolly by Miss Eulalie Young are other characters worthy of mention.

The play opens showing the nursery of young Newlywed and a birthday party going on in his honor. He is stolen from the house by an incubator manager and a search is started by the frantic parents. It is here that so many complications begin. Mr. Rosen changes to Maj. Knot Much and continues the changes throughout the performance.

The song numbers are of the whistling kind and "Can't You See I Love You" was the musical hit of the show. Other songs are: "Our Picture Book," "Slumber, My Little Love," "Love Time," "Every Baby is a Sweet Bouquet," "My Sweitzer Bride," "Mr. Jigger," and "Girls Who Want to Go Upon the Stage."

The performance was repeated this afternoon and the company will complet the engagement with another performance this evening.

DULUTH WILL HAVE "INSPECTED MILK"

The St. Louis County Medical society has appointed three of its members as a committee to co-operate with the health department in improving milk conditions in the city. The committee will devote its efforts to seeing that the dairies are in the best possible shape as well as that the milk shall come up to the requirements of the law. Special caps will be issued to the dairies whose product comes within the standard fixed and will be labeled "inspected milk."

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

More for House Clerks.

Washington, May 4.—After cutting the salaries of clerks and minor employes of the various departments of the government, the house by 53 to 48 voted $226,000 additional funds to itself for individual clerical assistance.

In doing so, Democrats refused to listen to the warnings and pleadings of Representative Johnson of South Carolina, in charge of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, and turned an equally deaf ear to Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the committee. Nothing that either could do availed. Another amendment by Representative Bartlett of Georgia, Democrat, making it compulsory to place the names of all clerks or secretaries so employed on a special roll of the house, was adopted 76 to 20. This, he said, would answer the accusation that members were putting the clerk hire into their pockets. The debate was spirited and at times bitter.

Hear Money Probe Roasted.

After listening to caustic criticism of the "money trust" inquiry, the house adopted a resolution appropriating $25,000 for the judiciary committee to prosecute its part of the investigation. Minority Leader Mann and Republican Leader Hill of Connecticut each denounced the manner in which funds were voted for the inquiry.

Will Rush Lorimer Vote.

The minority members of the senate committee which investigated the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois are planning to begin the fight against him on the floor of the senate next week. Senator Kern of Indiana, who is drawing the minority report, which will declare against the Illinois senator's right to his seat, will call up the case and seek to force an immediate submission of the majority report. Senator Kern's plan to avoid delay in getting the case on its merits before the senate has the support of the others of the minority.

No Cut in Mileage.

The house declined by an overwhelming majority to cut down the mileage allowance to members.

Davis Denounces Labor Bill.

The senate, after three remarkable speeches, failed again to reach a vote on the workmen's compensation bill and when it recessed there was a general impression that final vote would not be reached until Monday. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, in his first senate speech, freely criticized the federal courts. Senator John F. Davis of Arkansas condemned the bill in unmeasured terms, declaring that he would resign his seat in the senate before voting for it. Mr. Davis charged the railroad lobbyists with a persistent effort to have the measure railroaded through the senate. Asserting that President Brown of the New York Central lines and his claim agents had been sitting too close to the throne in the preparation of the bill, he declared the measure was "loaded."

"In the hand of proffered friendship is concealed the dread dagger of the railroads," he concluded.

"SUCKER" DRIVE AT SCHENEVUS.

Griffin Herald: About 100 men took part in the annual sucker "drive" at Schenevus in the pond of the electric light company, and the number of suckers caught by actual count was 1,245. The fish are not hooked, but caught in a large net which is put down through a channel in the ice.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF HOUSE CRITICALLY ILL.

for the mightiest reform the world has ever seen. The orderly appearance of our procession depends upon each individual marcher. Remember the public will judge, quite illogically, of course, but not less strictly, your qualification as a voter by your promptness."

The men marchers, a host which Mrs. Blatch thought might reach 8,000 in number, were disappointed to learn that Col. Roosevelt had declined the invitation to lead their division.

The program of the parade provided for a procession made up of eleven divisions, led by an equestrian squad of 100 riders, a band and a company of outdoor suffragette orators, each carrying her little green platform slung like a knapsack across her shoulder.

"Baby Carriage Brigade."

The eleventh division, bringing up the rear of the parade, was assigned to Mrs. C. H. P. Belmont's organization of department store clerks, preceded by the newly organized "baby carriage brigade."

The tenth division, which comprised the regular members of the women's suffrage party, hired a dozen bands for their section of the parade, and provided each member with a yellow pennant and a tiny yellow electric torch.

DR. MITCHELL

300 COLUMBIA BUILDING.

Deafness, Head Noises, Stomach, Kidney, Heart, Rheumatism and Paralysis, Cured in a Short Time.

Duluth and Superior people testify to the wonderful cures performed by Dr. Mitchell. Mrs. K. Evans, 1214 Twelfth street, Superior, Wis., says: "For over twelve years I suffered with a complication of diseases—catarrh of the head and stomach, and the past two years a large tumor formed in my side. I had constant pains; I felt as though I would die. Hearing of Dr. Mitchell and of many cures he has made, and that Dr. Mitchell has practiced in Duluth for nearly eighteen years, is a guarantee that he is making the cures, I began treating, and I now enjoy good health. I advise anyone suffering from disease to consult Dr. Mitchell and get his advice, for his treatment saved me from a serious operation."

Dr. Mitchell has thousands of testimonials of leading citizens of Duluth and surrounding towns. Those out of town should write, arranging for time, for there are times when people have to wait two or three days before they can consult Dr. Mitchell.

LAKESIDE CHILD DIES FROM BURNS

Death Ends Terrible Agony of 6-Year-Old Myerl Bogan.

Myerl, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byrel Bogan of 4629 East Superior street, died yesterday from terrible burns received Thursday afternoon while playing about a gas stove with her 9-year-old brother. Her dress caught fire and she ran screaming out of the house. In a minute she was a veritable human torch. Her small brother made a futile attempt to extinguish the flames but was practically helpless. When assistance arrived it was too late to do anything but relieve the child's awful agony. Her burns were dressed by Dr. C. H. Clark.

ater-going, dancing and such games of chance as are frequently associated with gambling, all of which have been found to be antagonistic to vital piety, promotive of worldliness and especially pernicious to youth."

But, it declared, "compulsory good behavior was not the essence of religion, and the present rule was ineffective."

The resolution was referred to a committee.

For Selection of Editors.

Marvin Campbell of South Bend, Ind., offered a resolution asking that the twenty-nine editors and publishers of the church publications be investigated by a special committee as to their qualifications before their selection, and that their election be not left to a vote of the conference, "80 per cent of whose members were ignorant as to whether the candidates were qualified."

Some Ministers Oppose Plan.

Two proposals to throw restrictions about ministers in the choice of their churches promised to arouse lively debate at the conference, which began the fourth day of its quadrennial session here today.

The emphatic statement of the bishops that ministers should discourage a growing tendency to go where the salaries were highest rather than to where their services were most needed, was scheduled to bring out discussion as to the relation between the cost of living and the salaries paid in many parts of the country. The bishops, in their message to the conference, described "bargaining for salaries a form of commercialism inconsistent with Methodism."

Oppose Five Year Limit.

Another recommendation to limit to five years as the longest time any minister shall remain in a given pulpit also is expected to develop opposition. Many ministers already have held meetings to prepare protests to this proposed change. Opinion appeared to be equally divided today as to whether the proposal would pass the conference when it comes to a vote.

Divided on Amusements.

Ministers appeared to be evenly divided last night on the question whether the church law prohibiting dancing, card-playing, gambling and going to theaters and horse races should be abolished, as recommended by the board of bishops.

On the ground that their investigations showed that two-thirds of the 3,150,000 members of the church either danced or went to circuses and theaters without regarding it as being sinful, the bishops declared that the church law against these diversions, in force for forty years, had become obsolete.

A demonstration which greeted Bishop Earl Cranston's reading of the recommendation was taken as indicating a lively debate on the question which comes up for a vote of the 800 delegates. A motion declaring that the rule "always had been a source of constant irritation and unrest in the church," and asking that it be referred to the committee, was promptly voted down, arguments being presented that the full conference was "going to settle that question soon."

Cited Schoolboy's Case.

No sooner was the motion made than James I. Bartholomew of New Bedford, Mass., had the floor.

"I know of a high school boy who, in studying English, went to see Macbeth. It was the duty of the pastor, without option, to expel that boy from the church, on the ground that he had violated this supposed law. A jury acting under that rule would have to expel, but a jury acting under Wesley's rule would certainly not."

Arguments against the anti-amusement rule as at present framed were:

"That the majority of church-goers never have refrained from dancing and theaters because of the churches, and the violation of this rule has tended to bring all church discipline into contempt.

"That many people regard Shakespeare on the stage the same as a book.

"The majority of people refused to condemn all plays because some of them are justly condemned.

"That gambling is fundamentally wrong and does not need a rule to prohibit it."

Against abolishing the rule the arguments were:

"It would give the impression that the church was leaning toward laxity and that the church was indorsing the things which it formerly opposed. It would remove the restrictions which held people from these forms of amusement."

Blame Taft, Wilson and Knox.

In adopting a resolution offered by James W. Anderson of Keokuk, Iowa, denouncing Secretary of Agriculture Wilson for accepting the honorary chairmanship of the brewers' congress last October, the conference declared that President Taft, Secretary Wilson and Secretary Knox "have forfeited all claims on the future franchise of the Christian and sober manhood of the nation," because they had ignored appeals that no government official attend the congress. Secretary Wilson's explanation that he attended the congress because he was interested in the growth of hops and barley was described as "an insult and frivolous."

The conference appointed a commission of thirty delegates to consider the demands of some of the negro delegates that they be given a negro bishop to supervise the affairs of 125,000 members of the church in Southern states.

Total Preference May Not Control.

Since delegates to the state convention are elected by counties, except in Baltimroe, where the legislative district is the unit, the presidential preference vote will be significent only as it gives majorities in the various counties and legislative districts. In other words, the total preference vote of the state will not necessarily decide which candidate will get the Maryland delegation.

Col. Roosevelt spent the night here after his concluding speech yesterday and left this morning for a tour of the western part of the state. He had speeches scheduled at half a dozen towns, winding up with an address this afternoon at Cumberland.

President Taft entered the state shortly after his rival's train left Baltimore and campaigns today through eastern Maryland, traveling by both train and automobile. He will reach Baltimore late this afternoon and tonight will end his tour with a speech at the Lyric theater, where Col. Roosevelt spoke last night.

Taft at Hyattsville.

President Taft began his fight for the support of the Maryland voters in Monday's presidential primaries early today with speeches at Hyattsville and Laurel, in which he again attacked Col. Roosevelt, accused him of misstatement and misquotation of his speeches, said Mr. Roosevelt, for seven years while he was in the White House consorted with the bosses he now preached against and assailed bitterly and at length Mr. Roosevelt's doctrine of the recall of judges and decisions.

"I'm a man of peace," shouted the president at Hyattsville, "and I don't want to fight. But when I do fight I want to hit hard. Even a rat in a corner will fight."

Forced Into Campaign.

The president said he deprecated the necessity that forced him to come out in a political campaign like an ordinary candidate.

"If only my personal ambition was concerned," he said, "if only my personal reputation was at stake, I should not bother you, but I consider that I represent a cause.

"The innovator is abroad in the land and we are told there are new things that should be introduced, for instance, the recall of judges. If this policy is adopted it will mean that in Democratic years the decisions upon laws will be Democratic and in Republican years they will be Republican. So we'll have varying interpretations of the Constitution, depending on a single vote.

"Only Asks Square Deal."

"I am courageous enough to come out and tell the people what they already know—they recognize the shortcomings of a sudden decision of the people. All I ask is a square deal," said the president. "Mr. Roosevelt believes in referring to the standards of sport as maxims of life. I don't object to it. But all I ask is that he give me a square deal."

The president declared that Mr. Roosevelt's charge that Mr. Taft's political friends were bosses and his were leaders, was foolish and not borne out by the facts. When the president asked at Hyattsville if he had received a square deal from Col. Roosevelt, several persons shouted "No! No!"

"We accept the support that comes to us," said the president at Hyattsville.

Votes and Characters.

"If John Smith wants to vote for me I don't say, 'Go first to your church and get a certificate of character.' I tell him I'm very glad to have his support, and if he has not been all that he should be, the fact that he is going to vote for me is evidence that he is reforming. Isn't it ridiculous to blame me for the shortcomings of every man who votes for me?"

"Yes, yes," echoed the crowd.

The president said he believed his "job" was to be the executive head, while Mr. Roosevelt believed it was to foment "social revolution."

Gets Sarcastic.

"No, the job is to introduce social revolution, according to Mr. Roosevelt," said the president. "I tremble to think what would become of the country if Theodore Roosevelt were to die with so much depending on his life."

The president replied at Hyattsville to Former Attorney General Bonaparte's remark that the American people did not want him elected president in 1908.

"Well, a good many people voted for me anyhow," said Mr. Taft. "If anybody is to be charged with being an oligarch or an aristocrat I don't believe Mr. Bonaparte could escape."

are marooned in their homes, in cotton gin houses and on housetops. Motor boats have been sent to Letts-worth for rescue work.

A special train arrived at New Roads last night with several hundred refugees from the deluged country. Most of them were negro women and children.

A relief expedition arrived at Rachelor, ten miles south of Torras, last night with a large number of victims who were on the verge of starvation.

Part of Baton Rouge Menaced.

Conditions at Baton Rouge are hourly growing more menacing. A force of 1,000 men—citizens, both rich and poor, and convicts—worked all night, aided by searchlights on steamboats in the river, trying to prevent a break directly in front of that city.

Another large force was engaged in closing up the gaps in the protection embankment just south of Baton Rouge, where it is hoped to prevent the waters from finding their way to the rich sugar lands in the Pontchartrain district. In the event the fight to save the main levee is lost, Baton Rouge is built on a bluff and a crevasse there would not do serious damage except to the wholesale section.

Bayou Sara, where a break occurred yesterday, is today under water ten to twenty feet deep.

Starving and Almost Nude.

Vicksburg, Miss., May 4.—There has been a great amount of suffering among the flood refugees of the Black river district in Louisiana. Reports reaching here say that of the hundreds of persons from the Black river country who have gone to the concentration camps at Harrisonburg, great numbers were at the point of starvation and many were almost naked.

Up to this time there has been comparatively little disorder in the concentration camps, but last night there was a row in a white refugee camp here. Four white men got into a dispute with a passing negro and he shot all four. Probably they will survive.

Army Relief Fund Gone.

Washington, May 4.—The army has reached its limit in the distribution of relief to the Mississippi river flood sufferers, the entire appropriation for the commissary department having been used. Maj. Normoyle, in charge of the relief work, today was instructed by telegraph to contract for no more supplies, as to do so would make him subject to prosecution under the law.

Congress has been asked for an appropriation to reimburse the commissary department and it is expected the present order of the war department will have the effect of immediate action.

his friend Longyear, and gave him as security, seventeen deeds to property located in the counties of Marquette, Iron, Ontonogan, Gogebic, Baraga, Menominee and Alger.

Julian M. Case was in London. His mission was almost successfully completed, when just before the final arrangements he took sick and on June 26, 1890, died. His wife, Mrs. Sophie L. Case, brought the body over to this country. Twenty-two years have elapsed. The widow, who is now a lady nearing the age of 70, now wants Longyear to return to her her husband's property, or to give, at least, an accounting of his administration of it.

That is practically all there is to the lawsuit.

But now come the complications. When Case gave his partner the seventeen deeds as collateral, he got in return a written agreement from Longyear to the effect that upon payment of the $30,000 loaned he would return to him the seventeen deeds. This option ran until 1900 and was renewed until 1910. Another stipulation was to the effect that Longyear could at any time sell or dispose of the property enumerated in the deeds and apply the purchase price in reducing the loan.

Finds Wealth Untold.

Twenty-two years have passed since this agreement was made. During that time the miner has opened the veins of the earth up there, in the north of Michigan, and has unbared wealth untold and riches undreamed of. In this short space of time the United States Steel corporation and the Cleveland Cliff company have built up their gigantic fortunes on the lands of the Upper peninsula and the adjoining part of Minnesota.

Case's property—that covered by the seventeen deeds—is among the richest of all. The estimate of its market value today runs as far as $10,000,000.

Longyear has syndicated it and it is now owned by the well known Albany pool and the Davenport pool, groups of eastern financiers. This immense change in the value of the property is the first—and perhaps the most important—complication. Following the death o fher husband, Mrs. Case found herself in straightened circumstances. She remained a while in Marquette and then with her four children moved to this city. A few years ago Nathan M. Kaufman, who had been well acquainted with her husband and also knew her well, interested himself in her behalf and agreed to pay up all of her late husband's debts, including that to Longyear for one-half of her interest in the estate. This was accepted. The money now was tendered Mr. Longyear, but he refused to reconvey the deeds or render an accounting. Hence the lawsuit. Longyear's claim is that the deeding over of the property was absolute, practically a sale for the $30,000 given Case. The option, he claims he has revoked.

Answer to Bill.

In his answer to the widows' bill of complaint he states that he had always intended to restore the residue of the property, after deducting loan, interest, cost of administration and moneys advanced, as a gift to the widow. But now, since Nathan M. Kaufman has joined the claim, he refuses to do so, because Kaufman has taken advantage of the widow's lack of acumen and would be the beneficiary of his act of generosity. He thus compels Kaufman to fight. That is the second complication.

Mrs. Case has four children: Daniel L. Case and Julian M. Case of this city, and Rex Case, who is prominently connected with a New York newspaper.

She has a daughter, Sophie, who married John F. Peters, formerly connected with the probate court here. Peters became the administrator of his father-in-law's estate. Mrs. Case now alleges that he has been too subservient to the Longyear interests, and is made co-defendant with the millionaire. This, of course, is another complication.

There are several other complications, but the foregoing are sufficient to show the mixed-up condition of the litigation.

In his bill Longyear dwells at great length upon the benefactions he bestowed upon Mrs. Case since she became a widow.

Says He Paid Woman.

He alleges that on learning of Case's death he cabled $2,500 to London and that from 1893 to 1895 he paid the widow $150 per month, besides supplying her with various sums of money to the amount of $5,000; that he paid out $1,600 for the education of the widow's sons; that when her home was foreclosed in Marquette he bought it for her and spent $3,000 in repairs for it, and finally, that through his action, she received $50,000 in royalties from the Mansfield mine, which had been mortgaged to him by her husband. He wants all this money back with interest should the courts hold that the deeds given him by Julian M. Case were, in effect, mortgages to secure the loan. Longyear, at one time, was Marquette's most prominent citizen. He had a beautiful palace erected for himself. He felt, however, that his prominence was not duly appreciated by his obtuse fellow-citizens. So, in a spirit of pique and wounded pride, he had his palace taken down, brick by brick, and removed to Boston, where the mansion was rebuilt in all its original splendor. He himself then bade adieu to the rude state of Michigan and became a citizen of the city of culture and pork and beans.

Mrs. Case's lawyers are: S. T. Douglas of Bowen, Douglas, Eaman & Barbour of this city, and Scott W. Shaull and A. B. Eldredge of Marquette. The attorneys for Longyear are: M. J. Sherwood, D. H. Ball and Allen F. Rees of Marquette.

RAIN WASHES AWAY RETAINING WALL

not thought that it would be completely shut off.

Culvert Blocked.

The flooding of the Glen, a hollow on both sides of Twelfth avenue west, was caused by the blocking of the concrete culvert inclosing Buckingham creek from Superior to Michigan streets. Unable to escape through its natural channels the water poured over the culvert and rose to the level of Michigan street.

The basements of the two buildings at 1123 and 1125 West Michigan street are occupied by more than a score of people. They woke up shortly before midnight to find the water over two feet deep on the floors, coming into their beds and rapidly rising. Some succeeded in donning part of their clothes while others fled in their night clothes. A number of men were forced to make their escape through the windows.

The furnishings of the rooms were badly damaged and practically all the possessions of those living there were destroyed. Their aggregate losses will amount to several hundred dollars. All of them were rendered homeless. The floors were covered with several inches of mud, everything was watersoaked, and the yards littered with debris of every description.

The only family in the two basements was that of John Bolan. He and his wife occupied one room while several boarders were in other parts of the basement. They live in the front of 1123 West Michigan street. Back of them is Bill Habnrk and several boarders. Most of them are Austrians.

At 1125 are a number of Italians. They are all single and do their own cooking. Among them are Frank Conduluci, Angelo Niagro, John Conduluci and Jim Razzo. The names of the others could not be learned.

Other men who lost their possessions and who were forced to flee for their lives were George Hay, Frank Smith, John Dutchak, John Nekora, George Unork, Pete Unuliak, George Chabiba and Pete Moroz.

All of them were taken in by people living above them or in the neighboring houses. Those who were scantily clad managed to borrow some clothing so that they could go to work this morning or seek temporary quarters.

Had Narrow Escape.

Th surface of Michigan street, which marked the top of the water, averages about seven feet above the floor levels. Had any of those living in the basements been caught in inside rooms there would have been small chance for them to escape with their lives. They would have been trapped like rats in a sinking ship.

A number of the roomers were in the vicinity this morning and told some thrilling stories of narrow escapes. Some of them said that they feared for a few minutes that they would not be able to get out with their lives. They said that they were first awakened by the water between 11 and 12 o'clock but did not know the exact time. From then on it continued to rise steadily until 2:30 or 3 o'clock, when it began to subside. In a few hours the surface was again exposed, but the water was still gushing through crevises of the retaining wall and running through the big gap in the wall, which was forced outwards by the pressure of the accumulated water early this morning.

The part of Michigan street lying in that vicinity was originally a gulch. It has been filled in with various substances and is not solid, while on both sides of it there are considerable quantities of rock. The water coming down from the hillside and in the creek concentrated at this one point. The retaining wall is not reinforced and was unable to withstand the thousands of pounds of pressure placed upon it. The hole was torn through it towards the bottom, but a large section of it was the remainder of the wall, the divisions being marked by large cracks. Part of the iron posts supporting the fence along the top were wrenched apart.

The water did not reach the floors of the stores which are along the block. But considerable quantities of wood and other material which had been piled in the yards was washed away.

Damage Is General.

The damage throughout the city was general. Many streets along the hillside in the suburbs as well as in the downtown district were partially washed away. Many sewers were clogged by logs, sticks and gravel. The telephone service was impaired in some places; there was some interruption to the street car service and in some places the electric lights went out for a time.

"We have had reports of damage from all parts of the city," said H. Murchison of the board of public works early this afternoon. "As yet we have been unable to learn the extent, but it will be considerable. Many basements have been flooded, and I understand that the losses will run into large amounts.

"Wherever possible we are doing all that we can possibly do to relieve conditions. We put men to work in all parts of the city the first thing this morning. The first crew was sent to the Glen as soon as we could get them together. They have succeeded of them were rendered homeless. The of them were rendered homeless. The culvert which is believed to have caused the flood last night and it necessary men will be kept there until the rain is over."

People living in the Glen say that the rain has demonstrated that the culvert over Buckingham creek is too small to take care of the water which comes down with a heavy rain. They say that it should either be removed or a larger culvert constructed. They say that damage has been done in the past with heavy rains, but that never before were the lives of any people endangered or so much property destroyed.

GOING AFTER THE "BIG SIX"

Virginia's Campaign to Recall Aldermen Is Getting Lively.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The campaign launched by the Progressive league to recall the six aldermen known as the "Big Six," is warming up. Candidates announced are: William Ketola in the First ward, opposing Alderman Alfred Staft; S. A. Nelson in the Fifth ward, opposing A. D. Heritage; George Harvey in the Sixth, opposing Alderman Frank Beber; C. W. Lundstrom, alderman-at-large, opposing Alderman L. A. Peterson. Claud Gill has been mentioned as a candidate in the First ward, in opposition to Michael Boyland, president of the council. The general committee in charge of the campaign as stated in the Herald, is Carl R. Johnson, Conrad Mattson, Max Lewis, R. J. Montague and Charles Johnson.

Buhl, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. A. Nichols & Co., of this village, who have the contract from Bowe, Burke & Co., the general contractors, to build the foundation for the new village hall, have started to work. The new building will cost about $50,000.

Goes to Golden Wedding.

Hibbing, Minn., May 4.—George Steuber left yesterday for Milwaukee, to attend the golden wedding of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Steuber, of that city. Six brothers and sisters of Mr. Steuber will also be present from different parts of the country.

A Dainty Toilet Article.

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at theater, attending receptions, when shopping, while traveling and on all occasions should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouraud's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered leaves which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable when the face becomes moist and flushed and is far superior to a powder puff as it does not spill and soil the clothes.

It removes dirt, soot and grease from the face, imparting a cool delicate bloom to the complexion. Put up in white and pink and sent anywhere on receipt of 10 cents in stamp or coin. F. T. Hopkins, 37 Great Jones street, New York.

TELL KING ABOUT PANAMA-PACIFIC

Commission Headed by John Hays Hammond Presented at London.

London, May 4.—The members of the Panama-Pacific exposition commission, of which John Hays Hammond is president, were presented to King George at Buckingham palace today by the American ambassador, Mr. Reid. The king inquired as to the plans of the exposition and scanned with interest the etchings and plans of the buildings.

His majesty expressed the opinion that the California spirit which rebuilt the city of San Francisco after the great fire and earthquake of April, 1906, was sure to make the exposition a success.

The king chatted cordially with each member of the commission, and subsequently the commissioners were the guests of the earl of Granard at luncheon.

SEX HYGIENE WILL BE TAUGHT IN THE SCHOOLS

Superintendent Will Outline Course of Instruction for Pupils.

Janitors and Engineers for the Coming Year Are Named.

Sex hygiene will be taught in the public schools of Duluth if a plan proposed by Supt. R. E. Denfeld at the regular meeting of the board of education last evening is carried out.

Mr. Denfeld reported that he, with a committee of teachers, principals and science instructors, would formulate a course in sex hygiene, and it will later be submitted to the board for approval. Mr. Denfeld reported:

"In my last report I mentioned the fact that the matter of sex education should be undertaken in some way. During the past month I have received the report of the committee appointed at the state humane society in November last, covering the subject of sex hygiene in public schools. I will endeavor, with a committee of teachers, principals and science instructors, to formulate a course looking to this end. I understand, however, from the report that leaflets are to be prepared by the agricultural college and as soon as there leaflets are placed in our hands we will undertake the work. We believe that it is a move in the right direction and that the teachers must supplement the work of the home in this regard, and even where it is taught in the home it should be continued in the school. Often, however, it is neglected entirely and on this account it must be taken up by the schools if taken up at all."

Mr. Denfeld would have teachers give a certificate of health before taking up their work each year. "While it is a hardship to a teacher to be unable to attend her school duties, it is certainly an expense to the board to employ a large corps of substitutes," he reported. "If a teacher is not in good physical condition at the opening of the year, she certainly ought to take the necessary steps to improve her health, because it not only interferes with her own comfort, but at the same time militates against the progress of the pupils. The schools are established in the interests of the children primarily. The most favorable conditions should be thrown around the child so that no year or portion of year will hinder his progress. It is both his due and a matter of economy to the board. Every child is entitled to a strong, vigorous, helpful teacher, if such can be found."

The superintendent recommended that a dental clinic be established in the Washington school. Mr. Denfeld referred to school gardens and commended the objects of Arbor and bird day. He referred in his report also to the practical work being done in the industrial departments of the schools. A course in manual training for a summer school was presented. A charge of $5 for the six-weeks course for residents and $10 for non-residents was suggested and the superintendent said he believed the school would be self-supporting.

The enrolment of the schools for March was 12,150 against 12,110 in March, 1911.

OPPOSITIONS TO THE PLAN

Objections to Use of Washington School for Industrial Home.

Committee Still Has Authority to Make the Lease.

Opposition to the proposed industrial home for girls at the old Washington school building developed at the meeting of the board of education last evening.

In a letter to Supt. Denfeld, Principal Leonard Young of the Central high school offered the objection that the location of the school so near the high school would be inadvisable and quoted Dr. Yost, chairman of the public welfare board and Miss Jean Poirier in support of his position.

Director Brewer also opposed granting the use of the building for the purpose, saying that there is no present necessity for it, as no more than twenty girls will be cared for and some other organization could extend its activities to care for them.

Director Crosby declared that the board had no reason for going outside of educational matters in leasing the building. He said that if responsible parties would sign the lease and the school were to be used for a proper purpose, the board would have done all that might be required of it. Mr. Crosby said it is purely a business proposition with the board.

The matter rests with the committee on schools. At the special meeting at which the proposition was first submitted, the matter was referred to that committee with power to close the deal as soon as responsible parties expressed their willingness to sign the lease. The board did not withdraw the authority after the discussion last night.

Principal Young's letter follows:

"I am asking for definite information regarding the nature of the detention home for delinquent girls that it is proposed to establish in the old Washington school building. This is opposite the Central high school and I think the matter should be clearly understood before any final action is taken, when it will be too late to correct a mistake already made.

"It has been reported to me that it is to be a detention home for girls who are on the street and who are incorrigible and delinquent, but not to the extent that they should be placed with women more confirmed in ways of evil, or sentenced to confinement in a city jail.

"If this is the case it seems to me that it is unwise to permit the location of such an institution so close to a school in which there are boys and girls of the age of those attending the Central high school. I do not see that it will be possible to prevent the boys' attention being called to these women and girls in a very pronounced way.

"Dr. Yost, the chairman of the Welfare Committee of Duluth, spoke to me about the matter and said that if it were the kind of institution suggested above, he doubted the wisdom of placing it near any school, especially a school containing so many boys of the teen age. Miss Poirier tells me that she does not think that it is at all proper that a home of this kind should be placed near the school.

"I do not think the public knows just what is being considered. No one to whom I have talked has been able to give me definite information. For this reason I think the matter should be carefully looked into and weighed thoughtfully before any final action is taken. Respectfully,

"LEONARD YOUNG."

SUPERIOR

SUPERIOR CONTESTANTS DEFEATED AT IRONWOOD.

In the declamatory contest held at Ironwood last evening, Superior was represented by Miss Margaret Crosby and Hermia Mueller. Miss Mueller took second place, being beaten by Ruth Hitter of Ashland, Wis.

In the oratorical contest Lawrence Ferguson of Superior high, took third place; Chester Campbell of Park Falls, taking first place and Eugene Sullivan of Ashland, second. The Superior delegation returned home this morning.

PROPERTY OWNERS WANT PAVEMENT EXTENDED.

The property owners on Tower avenue are not satisfied with the decision of the commission to place the limit of paving on Tower avenue from Sixteenth street to the north line of Third street, and it is quite likely that a petition will be circulated in favor of extending the improvement north to First street and then around to Tower bay slip on account of the large number of people daily using the ferry lines.

The city commission has already asked for bids on the paving of Tower avenue, on seven different kinds of material used for paving purposes.

Bowlers Have Banquet.

The Superior Bowling league held its fourth annual banquet at the Hotel Rossiter last evening. It was attended by over fifty members and their friends, including several former members of the Superior Baseball club. Nearly every member of the league responded to a toast. Charles Wedge, acting as toastmaster. He opened the speechmaking by presenting the Floan-Leveroos team with the silver trophy cup.

Police Appointments.

John A. Kelly has been appointed as lieutenant of the police department and Carl Wilson as examiner for the board.

A proposition has also been placed before the board to record the resignation of Lieut. Scoon from the Superior police department, so that if he should, at any time, desire to return to his duties, he will get credit for his past services.

Three Men in Danger.

A boat containing three men became wedged between cakes of ice in the bay last night. Had the men's position not been seen by A. W. Anderson, 1308 Seventeenth avenue, who notified an officer, they might have perished. They were rescued by a tug.

Factories Inspected.

All factories and other places where labor is employed are being inspected by Iro J. Lockney, deputy state factory inspector of the industrial commission. He is laying special stress on the sanitary conditions and the safeguards in case of fire. In many cases stairways have been found without the railing required to protect those unfamiliar with the surroundings of the factory. Sanitary conditions in most of the Superior factories are all that could be expected.

REPORT BY GRAND JURY

Eleven True Bills Are Returned to the District Court.

Eleven true bills were returned late yesterday afternoon by the May term grand jury, which made a partial report to Judge Dancer of the district court. The grand jury then adjourned its sitting until Monday, when it will resume the consideration of a number of other cases, which County Attorney John H. Norton will present.

In the cases of Bartol Ignatz and John Catich, the grand jury found no true bills. The men were charged with having broken into a vehicle shop owned by M. W. Turner at 215-20 East Superior street and taking a number of tools.

Joseph Kenney was indicted on a charge of having taken liberties with Mary Kolarek, a 16-year-old girl, on April 13 last. The girl has since been committed to a state institution. She appeared as a witness before the grand jury.

Gertrude Warnberg is accused by a grand jury indictment of having stolen $100 from Frank Robertson and is charged with grand larceny, second degree. She was arrested in Minneapolis and brought to Duluth, where the offense is alleged to have occurred on April 13 last. She was arraigned in municipal court and bound over to the grand jury. Robertson lives at Proctor.

Frank Di Baissi was indicted for grand larceny, second degree, and is accused of having on April 3 last in this city stolen a watch and chain, valued at $22.50, and $2.50 in cash from Oscar Johnson. Albert Miller was also indicted on a similar charge. It being claimed that with an accomplice he stole a suitcase and a quantity of clothes from J. W. King at the Lincoln hotel on March 1 last.

John Debillis was accused by a true bill of second degree forgery. It is claimed that, on Jan. 17 last, Debillis passed a forged check signed by "A Moose & Co. and "The Western Scrap Iron & Metal company," and calling for $14 on Andrew Peterson, 113 St. Croix avenue.

An indictment was also returned against Harry King, charged with attempted abduction. King it is claimed, wrote letters from Litchfield, Minn., to 17-year-old Catherine Cain of 701 Garfield avenue, this city, in an attempt to induce her to elope with him. It is understood that King is a married man.

Five other secret indictments were returned.

FRIGHTENED BY THREATS

Settled Case Against Hospital for $1,000 While Confined to Bed.

Whether a sickbed settlement, alleged to have been made under threats of ejection from the hospital in which she was confined for treatment, is valid will be one of the issues to be decided by a jury in district court when the case of Hilma Maki vs. the St. Luke's Hospital association comes up for trial at this term of court. Papers in the case were filed with the clerk of court today. The hospital is not directly involved in the settlement, which was made by the agent for the liability insurance company.

The action for damages is one in which Hilma Maki, a foreigner, employed in the laundry room of the hospital last October, is asking for $9,000 because her left hand was crushed in a steam mangle. The woman admits having received $1,000 in settlement, but claims that it was tendered her while in duress and suffering from her injuries.

The plaintiff claims that the steam mangle in the laundry room was not properly safeguarded and holds that the hospital association is liable for damages on this ground. She alleges that she was employed as an ironer and that on Oct. 6 last, while working in the vicinity of the steam mangle, her hand was drawn into it and severely bruised, burned and crushed.

The woman claims that as a result of her injuries, her left hand has been permanently maimed and that she has been incapaciated to to laundry or house work, the only kind for which she is fitted. She asserts that her injuries are of such a nature as to make it impossible for her to dress herself and that she is helpless in a number of other ways.

From the papers, which have been filed in the case, it appears that she was confined in the same hospital for a period of time immediately after the accident and that while on her sick bed, a representative of an insurance company, on behalf of the hospital association, called on her and urged her to sign away any cause of action for the "inadequate sum of $1,000."

The plaintiff claims that being unable to read or write the English language or even understand it except with difficulty, she was unable to comprehend the nature of the papers which she signed. She also contends that the settlement was made at a time when she was suffering from her injuries and that it followed a threat on the part of the claim agent that she would be put out of the hospital unless she agreed to his terms of settlement.

The woman claims that she was inexperienced with a steam magle and that she had not been instructed as to its operation.

DULUTH MEN ARE HOPEFUL

Optimism In Regard to Rate Case Strengthened By Arguments.

Railroads Fear Extension of Twin City Basis to Other Points.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that Minneapolis presented no new arguments in the lake and rail case before the interstate commerce commission yesterday and local people still believe that Duluth has made out a conclusive case.

The feature of the arguments, according to the press dispatches, was the application of J. D. Armstrong, attorney for the Great Northern railroad, for the right of the railroads to adjust their rates so as to preserve their revenue, in case the commission should find that the present rate adjustment is unjust. The railroads seemed to fear that the commission will order the low rate basis now in effect to the Twin Cities, extended to other interior points.

The arguments in behalf of Chicago opposed the application of Duluth that lake rates be the same to Chicago and Duluth, but supported Duluth in the contention that rates west of the lake ports are too low.

The attorney for the lake lines combatted Duluth's case only in reference to some testimony as to expenses of operation of ships on the lakes.

"WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST."

The Titanic catastrophe should not be allowed to sink into the pages of history without its yielding still another lesson to humanity.

And this may be the one great lesson to be had from this terrible happening which was so charged with tragedy, pathos and the finest developments of human nature.

The one big, fine thing that stood out above all others was the application of the ancient creed of civilized man in time of stress: "Women and children first!"

What a beautiful thing it was! Men—brave men and true—stood calmly back to die, that women and children might be saved. Not only their own women and children, but others—the women and children of the steerage, too, passed on to life while first class cabin men—brave, staunch men and gentlemen like Archie Butt and John Jacob Astor and Benjamin Guggenheim—stayed to die.

What a beautiful thing it was! Men gave their lives that others might live. Self-interest was forgotten, and men paid the supreme price to be men—and gentlemen.

"Women and children first" was the word and the law in that dark hour of dread when death swept the sea.

But how about "women and children first" in the prosaic pursuits of humdrum dry land?

How about restraint of self-interest there? It was a fine thing to see on the deck of a sinking ship. Wouldn't it be a fine thing to see in the quiet battle of commercial and industrial pursuits?

The women and children of the Titanic were saved. How about the women and children who toil in the factories of the land? How about the factories and the factory owners who pay so little that fathers cannot support their families, and that mothers and little children must labor for a pittance?

Has the supreme sacrifice of the men of the Titanic brought no lesson to the employers of the land? Have they realized that the splendid law of "women and children first" would be as fine a thing on land as it is on sea?

There are owners and managers of mills and factories, employing women and children at pitiful wages and living fatly on their profits, who would not have hesitated, if they had been on the Titanic, to stand back from the boats while the women and children—even those of the steerage—were carried to safety, though they knew that it meant death to themselves.

If they had been passengers on the Titanic and had died that women and children might live, they would have been heroes—these owners and managers of factories.

Yet they can take the rich profits yielded by the labor of women and children who at the best gain but a scant livelihood out of their toil, without a thought of "women and children first!"

Men who could not live when they knew that saving their own lives meant sacrificing the lives of women and children, can live luxuriously on the products of the toil of oppressed women and children—women denied the right to give their babies a fair start in life, and children denied their birthright of a playtime.

Is it, perhaps, because they do not think of the consequences of their attitude? Or is it because courtesy and kindness to toiling women and children is not so spectacular as courtesy to sea-imperilled women and children?

They Get Frazzled.

Such times as these are trying alike to the strenuous and judicial temperaments.

THE MINNESOTA PRIMARY.

Commenting on The Herald's reply to its suggestion of conventions to propose candidates before the primary, and on this newspaper's suggestion that the only changes needed in the Minnesota primary election law are to extend it to presidential candidates and state officers and to provide for candidacies on some other initiative than that of the candidate himself, the St. Cloud Journal-Press says:

> We agree with The Herald as to the amendments, and the third proposed amendment is really the hub of the whole matter. The one serious defect in the present primary law—as far as it goes—is that candidates bearing the party name are often in no sense of the word party candidates, and are only self-seekers who used the official machinery to appropriate the party name, and frequently kept off the ticket men who do not care to make a fight for an honorary office, and who are really wanted by a majority of their party. We have discovered no better way than to give the candidates a try-out within their own party, and to make the rules so liberal that the final decision will be made by the voters of each party in the nominating primary. However, if The Herald has a better plan we are open to conviction. Will The Herald get down to details and specifications?

Gladly. It's very simple.

First, however, it will be well to illuminate the difference between The Herald's notions and those of the Journal-Press. The Journal-Press would have admission to the primary made through a narrow door, guarded by the party organization. The Herald would make admission to the primaries free to all comers without regard to the party organization.

So far not much good to the nation has come out of party organizations. They have served chiefly as convenient machinery by which special privilege seeking interests could control governmental processes. These interests were always ready with campaign funds, and with money as the key they have had little difficulty in entering the citadel of government through the backdoor of party control.

The Herald would put the emphasis on public service. The Journal-Press puts the emphasis on party solidarity.

The Journal-Press would have party conventions intervene between the voters and the primary election. These conventions, as before, would be managed by the party organization; and in most cases the party organization would be controlled by special interests which were free with campaign funds.

The Herald would abolish conventions entirely, so far as candidates are concerned.

The need of providing other initiative than that of the candidate himself is imperative. However, The Herald wouldn't introduce the convention again to provide it. A provision for proposing primary candidates by petitions would serve the purpose completely.

Many good men who ought to be in office shrink from announcing their desire for office, as they are now required to do. Without depriving any man of the right to file for any office within the gift of his party, let the law provide also that candidates at the primary may be proposed by petitions of a certain number of party members. The office then may seek the man; the present primary provisions absolutely compel the man to seek the office. Better men can be brought out that way, because men can be brought out who never, under any circumstances, would put themselves in the position of pursuing the office, no matter how much they were urged privately to do so.

This amendment, with an amendment extending the primary law to state officers and presidential candidates, would give Minnesota as good a primary election law as there is going. It needs no other amendments.

Same Old Trouble.

The political choir is in no way better than the traditional aggregation of church vocalists. Every last member is determined to grab the solo part on Monday in "Maryland, My Maryland."

THE GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL HOME.

There seems to be some misapprehension as to the scope and purposes of the movement to establish in the abandoned Washington school building an industrial training school for girls who for any reason require public care.

As we understand it, the aim is to provide a home where girls may be cared for and taught some means of self-support, if it is nothing more than housework. It is not intended for "incorrigible" and "delinquent" girls alone, but so far as it is intended for them its purpose is to make them otherwise than incorrigible and delinquent. It is for all young girls who lack proper parental care, who have no training to fit them for self-support, and who if not cared for by some such means as this may be expected to drift down the rapids of temptation to ruin.

There oughtn't to be opposition to a movement of this character. It ought, on the other hand, to have everybody's cordial support.

It is the understanding that the Washington school arrangement is only temporary, and is made because of the lack of anything better. Ultimately it is hoped to have a pleasant home in the country; but first a start must be made.

Those who are working earnestly to make this start should be helped and encouraged. The Washington school building isn't the best place in the world for a start, but it seems to be the best place available.

Efforts are now being made to raise a thousand dollars for necessary repairs and equipment, and to get the county board to join with the city, which has already acted, in supporting the institution. Both efforts deserve success.

Tuesday!

Tuesday! Don't forget Tuesday. Initiative, referendum and recall. Tuesday!

SOME MISTAKEN RHETORIC.

Writing in the Outlook about the need of reforestation, Overton Westfeldt Price says:

> Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota are facing more and more earnestly the huge task of bringing back the forest upon that wide northern strip from which fire and the careless use of the ax have driven it; an area once covered with growth which for size was exceeded only by the giant forests of the Pacific Slope, and now a dreary useless wasto of sand—a man-made desert with nothing but blackened stumps and charred fragments of great tops to tell of the glories which are gone.

Mr. Overton Westfeldt Price shows commendable zeal in a worthy cause, but he also shows need of restraining it. There is such a thing as zeal in a worthy cause which does harm, not only to other things but to the cause itself.

He draws a dismal picture of the land where the white pine forests of Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota once stood; but we wish he had come up to look over the scene before he had painted his tragedy. He would have found it dotted with thriving communities and filling with prosperous farms. He would have found vast areas of it producing a thousand times as much good to society per acre as it ever could produce from its timber. He would have found that a very large proportion of the land from which the ravages of fire and the woodsman's ax have taken the timber is covered with the richest and most productive soil on earth. He would have found that in increasing numbers farmers are swarming upon this soil and making it yield wealth.

Mr. Price would have returned from such a visit a no less ardent advocate of forestry, but a saner one.

There are thousands of acres of land in these three states which are more suitable for forestry than for farming. There are many more thousands of acres which are more suitable for farming than for forestry. The thing to do is not to draw false pictures of conditions, as Mr. Price has permitted his zeal to make him do, but to bring about as speedily as may be the practical use of all these acres—to put settlers on those acres best fitted for farming, and to plant trees on those best fitted for forestry.

To that end, each state, in conjunction with the Federal government if that can be brought about, should make a thorough survey of all its timbered and cut-over lands, so that it may know what acres should be preserved for forestry purposes, and what made available for farming. Then, by cooperation between national, state and private interests, let the forestry areas be conserved and planted.

Minnesota has adopted the best organization for this purpose going, and it has been unusually fortunate in its selection of men to guide it. Its legislature has yet to provide, however, for a soil and timber survey.

But we hope that before he writes another piece for the Outlook Mr. Price will come up to Northern Minnesota and see what is going on upon these cut-over acres, and what riches man is harvesting from the fertile leaf mold deposited through countless generations by the trees that are gone.

Rather.

Nineteen spoons in a live man's stomach. Gee! That's worse than "sixteen men on a dead man's chest."

MAYOR M'CUEN'S VETO.

In vetoing the resolution putting a saloon into a new district in the West end against the overwhelming opposition of the people of that district, Mayor McCuen has done the only right and fair thing there was to do, and the only thing he could be expected to do as a thinking, public-spirited public official.

The incident is closed, therefore; but its lessons showing the weakness of the ward system of government and the need of the commission form of government in Duluth should not be forgotten.

You Know Who.

It is scientifically estimated that more than 1,000,000 square miles of Africa remain unexplored. Maybe he'll go back.

HOW NORWAY PROTECTS HUMAN LIFE.

Half a dozen years ago the Danish-American steamship Norge, with nearly six hundred people on board, struck the sunken rocks off the north coast of Scotland and sank. Not a soul was saved.

Largely as a result of this catastrophe, Norway adopted rigid regulations for the safety of passengers and crews, and refused clearance papers to all vessels failing to comply with them.

Every passenger ship which put to sea was required to have

1. Boats under davits enough to take at least one-third of the largest number of persons permitted to be carried on the voyage;

2. Other boats, collapsible life-saving boats or such, enough together with those named under the first head to carry at least two-thirds of the largest number of persons permitted to be carried on the voyage; and

3. Life rafts, floating deck seats or other such, placed on the deck, enough to take the rest of the largest number of persons permitted to be carried on the voyage.

This, in a manner, would care for every person on board, passengers and crew alike.

But later even these rigid regulations were made more rigid. It was provided that there must be lifeboats under davits enough to care for fourtenths instead of one-third of the human freight. Under the third head the words "floating deck seats or other such" were stricken out. So that now Norway requires every passenger vessel except coastwise vessels to carry boats under davits, collapsible boats or life rafts enough to care for the largest number of persons permitted to be carried.

Says the Survey, from which these facts are drawn: "Had the Titanic been supplied as required by the Norwegian regulations of 1906 (before they were strengthened), it would have had lifeboats under davits alone sufficient to take off more than 2,000 people, i. e., practically all that were on board; and its other provisions would have been sufficient, in amount and in character, to have taken care of 4,000 more persons. In other words, it would have been prepared to keep afloat more than 6,000 people, all it could have carried at its maximum capacity."

If other countries, including the United States, adopt such regulations as Norway now has in effect, and provide rigid regulation also of the wireless service, they will go far toward preventing a repetition of the Titanic horror.

Hardly.

You've just got to admit that this campaign is no mollycoddle.

CURING THE "LOAN SHARK" EVIL.

Milwaukee attacked the "loan shark" difficulty in an aggressive manner, and it has said that the campaign there has put the moneylenders who charge exorbitant rates of interest out of business.

Three of them were sentenced to jail, and actually served their sentences. One very wealthy man spent six months in jail. That's why the loan shark business has failed in Milwaukee.

Commenting on this, the Kansas City Star says: "The same medicine administered in Kansas City would be the greatest aid to the welfare board in its efforts to stop usury. It is believed that because of these efforts conditions here are much better than they were some years ago. But we need more of the Milwaukee official spirit and less of the spirit which so long held back the pawnbrokers' ordinance."

That's all very well, and good so far as it goes.

But it does not go far enough.

If every "loan shark" were driven out of open business the problem would still be unsolved. Back of the "loan shark" is a real need which he serves, however brutally: the need of men of small means for the opportunity to borrow money when they must have it to meet some of the emergencies that come into every life.

Supply that need by public or semi-private agencies prepared to lend money to people of small means on reasonable terms, and the "loan shark" problem is ended.

The need of the man on salary or wages to borrow money is as great and as legitimate as that of the business man. He has no place to borrow it, so the moneylender who exacts rich tribute fattens on his need. That is because society has given the moneylender this opportunity by neglecting a duty.

Col. Roosevelt declares that he is entitled to the votes of members of all parties. Judging from his recent remarks on reciprocity, he is even willing to reach out after a few from Canada.

Kentucklans want the Taft administration to buy the Mammoth cave. Good idea. It would be a bully place in which to nurse a mammoth judicial temperament next winter.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

LAKE SUPERIOR COMPANY AND THE SUPREME COURT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The powers of the Lake Superior company are about to be considered by the supreme court of the state of Minnesota. It is probable that some of your readers do not know that the Lake Superior company is the holding company for most of the Hill interests, and the ramifications of which have never been fully gone into by the interstate commerce commission.

The court is to pass upon a decision of Judge Bunn rendered when sitting as district court judge in Ramsey county, and the outcome of which was a complete victory for the defendant Lake Superior company. The company's right to play at ducks and drakes with property held as stock by private citizens is in issue. Primarily, it is a case of the mighty corporation endeavoring to sustain its acts as against a plaintiff who is making a fight for a principle.

Permit me to point out that Judge Bunn is a member of the supreme court which is to pass on a decision of Bunn J., former district judge. I hope that the judge will go fishing when the court votes on the appeal, for surely even a judicial tendency to say nothing of a natural tendency, would be to vote to uphold the decision of the lower court.

May I add that Governor Eberhart appointed Judge Bunn knowing full well the appointee's brother is of counsel to the Great Northern railroad, (if not chief counsel), and that if anything had been needed to show the close alliance between the Hill interests and the spineless executive department of Minnesota it was then furnished.

Because I believe The Herald is opposed to railroad aggression, I have ventured to send it this note, and I venture further to ask it whether the so-called upset of the Northern Securities merger ever really amounted to anything, for I have never had any reason to suppose that the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific are not as fully amenable to Hill orders today as before the action to dissolve the merger. Did the order against the merger bring any practcal results? I confess I do not know, but to a citizen on the side lines it did not.

I have always had high respect for the supreme court of Minnesota, but the wire-pulling and corporation politics since Eberhart had a chance to put men on it, has made me at least less inclined to view its deliberations with confidence. Yours respectfully,

INGOMAR BOYESEN.

Duluth, May 3.

Kearny at Seven Pines.

So that soldierly legend is still on its journey—
That story of Kearny, who knew not to yield!
'Twas the day when with Jameson, fierce Berry and Birney,
Against twenty thousand he rallied the field.
Where the red volleys poured, where the clamor rose highest,
Where the dead lay in clumps through the dwarf oak and pine,
Where the aim from the thicket was surest and highest—
No charge like Phil Kearny's along the whole line.

When the battle went ill, and the bravest were solemn,
Near the dark Seven Pines, where we still held our ground,
He rode down the length of the withering column,
And his heart at our war-cry leapt up with a bound;
He snuffed like a his charger, the wind of the powder,
His sword waved us on, and we answered the sign;
Loud our cheers as we rushed, but his laugh rang the louder,
"There's the devil's own fun, boys, along the whole line!"

How he strode his brown steed! How we saw his blade brighten
In the one hand still left—and the reins in his teeth—
He laughed like a boy when the hollidays highten,
But a soldier's glance shot from his visor beneath.
Up came the reserves to the mellay infernal,
Asking where to go in—through the clearing or pine?
"Oh, anywhere! Forward! 'Tis all the same, Colonel!
You'll find lovely fighting along the whole line!"

Oh evil the black shroud of night at Chantilly,
That hid him from sight of his brave men and tried!
Foul, foul sped the bullet that clipped the white lily,
The flower of our knighthood, the whole army's pride!
Yet we dream that he still—in that shadowy region
Where the dead form their ranks at the wan drummer's sign—
Rides on, as of old, down the length of his legion,
And the word still is Forward! along the whole line
—Edmund Clarence Stedman.

The Difference.

Boston Globe: What a difference in candidates for the presidency, as well as in everything else. Two, one a Republican and one a Democrat, spoke to great audiences last night. Col. Roosevelt held forth to thousands in Worcester and Governor Wilson addressed other thousands in Boston.

Roosevelt, the impetuous, delivered a speech full of denunciation and invective. He was advertised to reply to President Taft's criticisms. He did not do so, but hid behind denunciations of the president as untruthful, as a "crooked dealer," the "creature of the bosses" and altogether as an "undesirable citizen."

Wilson, the scholar and student, in a calm and logical argument, attacked no one, praised equally his opponents, Republican and Democrat, for their good attributes and works, and made it absolutely clear that this contest was one of party principles and not of men.

Even in the heat of a strenuous political campaign, when applause and cheers can be won by irresponsible statements and unwarranted attacks, how refreshing to listen to or read a sane, simple and calm presentation of facts and issues.

He's Cogitating Yet.

Judge: It was on the Augusta Victoria, homeward bound, that two Americans, a Frenchman and an Englishman were discussing the relative value of European and American waiters, with the balance much in favor of the trans-Atlantic variety. To illustrate his point, the American related the experience of a New Yorker in a Broadway cafe, whose bill of fare afforded a choice of mince pie, cherry pie, custard pie and apple. "You may bring me," said the guest, "a piece of apple, of cherry and of custard pie."

"Well," ejaculated the waiter, "what is the matter with the mince pie, sor?"

After the laugh had subsided, the Englishman leaned across the table. "Beg pardon, Dr. Smith, but what was the matter with the mince pie?"

The Power of the Press.

De Tocqueville: A newspaper can drop the same thought into a thousand minds at the same moment. A newspaper is an adviser who does not require to be sought, but comes to you briefly every day of common weal, without distracting your private affairs. Newspapers, therefore, become more necessary in proportion as men become more equal individuals, and more to be feared. To suppose that they only serve to protect freedom would be to diminish their importance; they maintain civilization.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

He Needs Strength, Too.

Cambridge North Star: Governor Eberhart doesn't seem to have made himself any stronger with the people by supporting Taft and denying the people the right to vote upon presidential candidates.

And They're Weak.

Sauk Centre Herald: "The Man of Destiny" thinks he has a cinch on the situation. Maybe he has, but it looks to a man up a tree as though he was hanging on by his eyebrows.

Gordon and Lee Lead.

Luverne Journal: It looks now as thought the first two men who declared themselves as candidates for governor against Eberhart will be practically the only men who will come to the state Republican convention with any kind of following. Gordon and Lee are on the friendliest terms and after the first test of strength the high man should readily command the support of the other. If this should be the outcome of their campaign the present governor will very probably be defeated for renomination.

Maybe He Did—Later.

St. Peter Herald: Perhaps Ed Weaver should have consulted Ed Smith.

Some Popular.

Bemidji Sentinel: Spooner's announcement that he is a candidate for governor is proving to be about as popular as a prune in a boarding house.

Who'll Win?

Long Prairie Argus: The reports from the different parts of the state show that the governorship fight lies between Gordon and Eberhart.

The Politic Governor.

Battle Lake Review: Governor Eberhart's right hand does not know what his left hand doeth. At the state committee meeting he let it be widely known that he stood unfalteringly, vociferously and everlastingly for a presidential primary, but all his friends and appointees voted solidly against allowing the people to register their choice as he proposed. Frank Eddy now asserts that the night before the committee meeting Smith and Eberhart and the other bosses gathered in a hotel back room and fixed it all upon the quiet to knock the proposed primary galleywest. Eberhart agreed to the program as carried out the next day. And Eddy was present and saw it all and heard it all!

Well, We'll Bite, Who?

Aitkin Age: Governor Eberhart said—but who cares what Governor Eberhart says?

The Wireless.

Kin of the flaming thunderbolt,
Child of the storm-swept sky,
I leap and race through the roads of space,
Voice of the Sea am I.
No winding channels guide my flight,
No threads my sinews chain,
For I take my flight on the wings of light,
The Mercury of the main.

Over the crests of the writhing sea,
Under the clouds, low hung,
I flash my way through the spume and spray,
Giving the lightning tongue.
I laugh while the tempest yields me way,
I scatter the driving rain,
And the sluggard wind lags far behind
The Mercury of the main.

Where the masts of the churning ships point up
To the stars through the silent dark,
I take my quest, north, east or west,
Sped by the spitting spark.
And I scour the waves and I search the land
Till the destined goal I gain,
And hearts that sigh are gladdened by
The Mercury of the main.

When Neptune scourges his sullen waves
With the lash of the tempest's breath,
And the brave ships shake and the captains quake
And the engines race with Death,
'Tis to me they turn in their tortured fear,
And seldom they turn in vain;
For succor flies, to the trumpet cries
Of the Mercury of the main.

Kin of the flaming thunderbolt,
Child of the storm-swept sky,
I leap and race through the roads of space,
Voice of the Sea am I;
For the newer gods of the newer years,
Gods with the Titan's brain,
Have made of fire and their high desire
A Mercury of the main.

What Weighs With the Heart.

Balzac: There are no little events with the heart. It magnifies everything; it places in the same scales the fall of an empire of fourteen years and the dropping of a woman's glove, and almost always the glove weighs more than the empire.

The Burnt Field.

Fire in this field that wasted all;
Never a blossom, a blade of grass,
Survived the ruin—but let that pass:
Now the good earth heeds the new Spring's call.

A magic touch—and the black grows green
(How could the burnt clod guess this hour!)
Up starts the clover, the bee in its flower,
And never least trace of the old wrack seen!

Fire in this field . . . and my heart the field!
How could I know, in that fiery bath,
That the Spring would come despite all scath—
That the seeds of joy lay safe concealed!
—Edith M. Thomas in May Lippincott's.

Once More.

Judge: The miner dropped his pick and stared with bulging eyes at the yellow mass which a stroke of the implement had just laid bare. For a minute he was struck speechless. Then, like one gone mad, he gave forth a mighty shout.

His mate came running from the mouth of the tunnel.

"What is it?" he cried breathlessly.

"Gold!" yelled the other. "Pure gold! Tons of it!"

"Is that all?" exclaimed his partner disgustedly. "From all the hullaballoo ye were makin' one 'ud think ye had drug into a firkin o' butter!"

Those Political Meetings.

American Farmers in Alberta.

Daily Consular Reports: An official of the line says that "in Alberta lands alone the sales of the Canadian Pacific railway in the last two years have amounted to more than $10,000,000 each year, 85 per cent of the land sold having been taken by farmers who came from the United States."

Dilemma.

Of men there are but classes two,
A diagram I'll show to you:
The kind you do not dare to know,
The kind you do not care to know,
The shocking, fascinating kind
With ways of passion swift and blind;
And those, unknown to beauty's lores,
Correct, good-hearted, deadly bores.
The wicked ones who madly woo
Are ever charming—never true;
And never cruel, wild or fast
The stupid ones we wed at last!

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Hobab of Akaba.

Let me hazard the guess, my reader, that you will experience some hesitation in exactly placing this gentleman. Even in the Scripture story he is not drawn as a life-size character. We see him once and he vanishes from the scene. But he leaves suggestions behind that are capable of present-day application.

Hobab was an Arab sheik, whose services to the Israelitish people during their migration to Canaan were much needed and warmly appreciated. He was not himself a member of the congregation. Like iron-nerved Miles Standish, who did yeoman work for the Puritan colonists in the wilds of New England, though himself standing apart from their church fellowship. So Hobab stayed in the Jewish camp for a time as an adviser and helper, but not as a member of the host.

In the hour of his proposed departure for his own land, Moses pleaded mightily with him to remain. The patriarch's first argument looked to the man's self-interest. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good," he urged. The advantages of sharing the faith and fellowship of the chosen people were clearly set forth. He might win peace, happiness and salvation; moreover, a stake in the promised land of milk and honey should be his. But Hobab flatly declined the offer.

Then Moses put forth another argument. If Hobab did not care for what Israel could do for him, would he not bear in mind what he could do for Israel? "We are to encamp in the wilderness," said Moses, "and thou mayest be to us instead of eyes." Put your desert craft at our disposal; scent the dangers; spy out a pathway for us through the wilderness; guide this great people safely into their promised possessions. And from later history we gather that Hobab accepted the invitation. He marched with the host. In appreciation of his services his name and family were held in everlasting honor.

The chance to do a job worth doing is a mighty strong argument with a great many modern men, as it was with Hobab of old. You can generally enlist a man's interest if you put a task before him worthy of his powers. He will often respond to the call of some genuine and concrete service when the invitation to self-culture or personal advantage leaves him listless and unmoved.

Religion has often been conceived too exclusively as a passive and emotional experience. One must be conscious of inward raptures or aim to "sit and sing oneself away to everlasting bliss." Some of the noblest and most spiritual souls of the past have bequeathed to us a notion of religion that yet seems imperfect, judged by the standards of the twentieth century. There isn't action enough in it. It does not give sufficient scope for the desire of right-minded folk to work definitely for some great and worthy end. That heaven would be no heaven to them in which there is nothing to do but to "loaf around the throne." They would be inclined to follow the sailors in Kipling's "Last Chantey," who flung down their golden harps and steered for the open sea with all its perils and labors.

Today we conceive of religion as being not so much like an unruffled pool, which all the streams are seeking to fill, as like a flowing river, which itself is to carry verdure to a wide stretch of country, give drink to thirsty travelers, turn the wheels that grind grain and weave cloth for humanity. Men are saved not so much that they may, at last, contrive to make their own way into a comfortable place called heaven, as that they may help bring about something like an approach to heaven on this present earth for all the toiling sons of men.

This attitude, shared by millions of the very finest ment and women of all churches, bespeaks high hope for the world's future. When we all begin to work with religious zeal for the building of a new social order, the millenium is already on the way. Nor is any man going to scorn religion or patronize it any longer when it yields the impulse that reconstructs society.

Men never really find themselves till they begin to work with ideal motives for great ends. "Ich Dien"—"I serve"—is the motto of one royal house. But that is only the echo of the Master's word. "He that would be great among you shall be servant of all." And it is the lesson of Hobab.

THE PARSON.

In School Days.

Still sits the schoolhouse by the road,
A ragged beggar sunning;
Around it still the sumachs grow,
And blackberry vines are running.

Within, the master's desk is seen,
Deep scarred by raps official;
The warping floor, the battered seats,
The jack-knife's carved initial.

The charcoal frescoes on the wall;
Its door's worn sill, betraying
The feet that, creeping slow to school,
Went storming out to playing.

Long years ago a winter sun
Shone over it at setting;
Lit up its western window panes,
And low eaves' icy fretting.

It touched the tangled golden curls,
And brown eyes full of grieving,
Of one who still her steps delayed
When all the school was leaving.

For near her stood the little boy
Her childish favor singled;
His cap pulled low upon a face
Where pride and shame were mingled.

Pushing with restless feet the snow
To right and left, he lingered—
As restlessly her tiny hands
The blue checked apron fingered.

He saw her lift her eyes; he felt
The soft hand's light caressing,
And heard the tremble of her voice,
As if a fault confessing.

"I'm sorry that I spelt the word:
I hate to go above you,
Because."—the brown eyes lower fell—
"Because, you see I love you!"

Still memory to a gray haired man
That sweet child face is showing.
Dear girl! the grasses on her grave
Have forty years been growing!

He lives to learn in life's hard school,
How few who pass above him
Lament their triumph and his loss,
Like her—because they love him.

"We don't keep 'em," the clerk replied.

"Don't keep 'em!" the city man replied in deep scorn. "Don't the men around here wear collars?"

"Naw," said the clerk, "men don't wear collars. Some dudes does."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

For the second time in the history of the city, St. Paul has elected Republican officials. Mayor Smith was defeated yesterday by Col. Fred Wright, the Republican candidate, by over 3,700 majority. McCardy for comptroller, and Miller for treasurer, both Republicans, were also elected. Every Republican assemblyman is elected, and the board of aldermen will have eight Republicans and three Democrats.

At the Wisconsin Central docks in Ashland a few days ago, fourteen men put 1,515 tons of iron ore on board the steamer George T. Hope in forty minutes. This is the best record ever made on the chain of lakes and also the best in the world.

The Sixth district Republican convention was held at Brainerd yesterday afternoon. Senator W. P. Allen of Carlton was chairman, and A. N. Brace of Sharne, secretary. F. H. Hilliard of Verndale, and R. C. Dunn of Princeton, were elected district delegates to the national convention, and J. M. Markham of Aitkin, and E. Dunham of Anoka, were chosen alternates. Senator F. B. Daugherty of Duluth was indorsed for delegate-at-large.

Charles Nordstrom was instantly killed yesterday in the Cloquet Lumber company's mill at Cloquet. A board flew back from the slasher and struck him on the neck, breaking it.

Division Supt. F. Greene of the Northern Pacific road, stationed at Staples, and formerly at Brainerd, has resigned. He had some trouble with a roadmaster and discharged him, and because of incident friction resigned. The officials at St. Paul have declined to accept the resignation.

Rev. L. A. Hocanza arrived here yesterday and will take charge of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church at West Duluth.

C. E. Johnson of Moline, Ill., arrived yesterday and will locate at West Duluth. He is a brother of C. A. Johnson, the real estate broker.

Adjt. Gen. Mullen has issued a commission to Harvey Page Smith of West Duluth, naming him as second lieutenant of Company G, Third regiment.

Miss Sullivan of St. Paul is visiting Miss Addie Lydon and will spend the summer here.

Miss Nina Burke, daughter of the city clerk, is home from Minneapolis on a ten days' vacation.

J. D. Kenna, who was injured at a fire at New London several days ago, is still confined to his home.

F. B. Ross, the well-known Northwestern passenger agent for the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City road, is in the city.

A party of surveyors left yesterday on the steamer S. B. Barker for Grand Marais. Its announced purpose is to "look over the country for the building of a logging railroad to Grand Marais or to Kakabeka Falls." The party is sent out by a number of Saginaw lumbermen, who own large tracts of pine land in that section.

A MUGWUMP'S ULTIMATUM

By SAVOYARD.

Some time ago the unspeakable William R. Hearst made announcement that Woodrow Wilson is not good enough Democrat for him, and now that colossal impudence is supplemented by a manifesto from the impossible George Fred Williams, who says that Woodrow Wilson is not good enough Democrat for him. Twenty years ago this same Mugwump had the effrontery to tell the Democratic party that the late Charles F. Crisp was not good enough Democrat to beat Thomas B. Reed for speaker of the Fifty-second congress. On that occasion Mr. Williams, a member of congress from Massachusetts, shed bitter salt tears when the Democratic caucus nominated Crisp for speaker and refused to vote for the caucus nominee when the election came on in the house of representatives.

Mr. Williams is a native of Dedham, Mass. He is the scholar in politics, having been educated at Dartmouth, at Heidelberg, and at the University of Berlin. He mugwumped in 1890 and got into congress that year, along with Sherman Hoar and J. F. Andrews, the mugwump fad was fashionable in those days, when even Garrisons and Quincys broke into the Democratic party. Mr. Williams would tell you that Theodore Parker was a greater preacher of the Gospel than the apostle Paul, and Charles Sumner a better example of the Democratic creed than Thomas Jefferson.

At this writing Mr. Williams is on the stump to persuade the Democratic party to indulge a cumulative suicide—the nomination of Champ Clark for president. You can bet that Champ grimly recollects the furious speech his colleague, "Old Farmer" Hatch, made in congress about George Fred, when he said he would not give one recruit like the sockless statesman of Kansas for a regiment of auxiliaries like the mugwump from Massachusetts, or words mighty like those, their sense precisely the same.

This is the same George Fred Williams who sought to intimidate the South in those days when he threatened that section with a force bill if it did not abandon its advocacy of 16 to 1 and advocate the gold standard. But a while later we find Mr. Williams himself as enthusiastic a champion of free silver as William J. Bryan or Richard P. Bland. He is an agitator, a natural born mugwump. In congress he got into a row with old Joseph Henry Walker, who came up from the shoemaker's bench. Some very bitter words were used and the controversy was very unparliamentary. There was talk of censuring the old cobbler, a martyrdom he rather courted, but nothing came of it.

George Fred was a rather conspicuous man in the Fifty-second congress. It was a very able body, with many brilliant orators, including William L. Wilson, William J. Bryan, Isidor Rayner and others, among them B. F. Shively and Joseph W. Bailey. These were on the Democratic side, and with them were such veteran statesmen and consummate leaders as Crisp, Mills, C. R. Breckinridge, Turner, Springer, Bynum, Holman, Catchings, Bland, McMillin, Culberson, Tucker and others.

On the Republican side were Reed, Dalzell, Burrows, Hitt, Dolliver, Dave Henderson, George D. Perkins, Dingley, Boutelle, Lodge, Ezra B. Taylor and others. Jerry Simpson came from Kansas, Tom Watson from Georgia, Tom Johnson from Ohio, Tim Campbell from New York, and Thomas Dunn English from New Jersey.

In that house the Democrats had the largest majority that any party ever had in any congress of our history, and that majority was about double the total Republican membership. But that minority was led by Thomas B. Reed.

Like the Forty-sixth congress and like the present congress, the Fifty-second congress held its chief mission to be the making of a president. The great majority of the majority were for Grover Cleveland. Most of the minority of that majority were for David B. Hill. A considerable number from the trans-Mississippi states were for "Silver Dick" Bland. There were some jackals who hoped to nominate Arthur P. Gorman.

It is not only possible, but likely, that Cleveland would have been nominated despite any event that was in the control of congress; but when on that bleak, dreary, surly, snowy, tempestuous March night, 1892, the house of representatives killed the last of the "Bland bills," providing for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, the nomination of Cleveland became almost inevitable, for then and there for the campaign of 1892 the tariff became paramount and silver a secondary issue. Hill was unsound on the tariff and on the tariff Gorman was simply rotten. Yet even then the result possibly would have been different had Henry W. Grady of Georgia and John S. Barbour of Virginia not died.

I shall never forget that March night. Crisp was for silver, else Bland would have been as powerless to report his bill as he was during the six years Carlisle was speaker. The first test vote astonished everybody, resulting in a tie and Crisp saved the bill for the moment by voting with Bland. That was about sundown. Then the fight became furious, the fiercest parliamentary contest I ever witnessed. For silver were Bland, Bryan, Hatch, the "Pops" and the Silver Republicans like Pickle, Sweet, Broderick, Burrows and others. Opposed to silver were the Cleveland Democrats, most of the Republicans under the lead of Reed, and the mugwumps under the lead of George Fred Williams. Until long after midnight Reed, Bourke Cockran, Amos Cummings and George Fred stood side by side on the Democratic side, George Fred keeping tab of the vote as the roll was called time and time again.

There was intense, but suppressed excitement. The vote on each roll call was very close. There was a little dodging, but finally, not a great while before daylight, silver was beaten, and it never since has pestered the American congress. What changed history we would have had if every Democrat had taken that night's work as final! There would have been no panic of 1893. There would have been no party perfidy and party dishonor in the Wilson tariff. There would have been no war with Spain, and as an accident the Republican party would have died as did its granddaddy, the Federalist party, and its daddy, the Whig party.

But they would not have it so, and as a result the Republicans gave place to the empire. George Fred was invited down to Memphis on some swell mission or other and it was then that he shed his mugwumpery and took on Democracy and a "regular" he has been ever since.

And now he threatens to mugwump again if Wilson gets it. I think it would be a good thing. Don't you? Mr. Williams is a friend of Mr. Champ Clark. So is Mr. Hearst.

WORKING FOR BETTER AND SAFER STEEL RAIL

Committee of Nationally Prominent Railroad and Steel Men Now Endeavoring to Solve the Problem.

(Copyright, 1912, by E. J. Edwards.)

ONE would probably search in vain to discover half a dozen men whose combined knowledge of the practical side of railroad management and of steel manufacture, and of the relation that those two great branches of industry bear to each other, would be greater than that possessed by the special sub-committee recently appointed by the American railway association to investigate what is now undoubtedly the greatest problem before the railroads—the problem of the rail. Each member of the committee is qualified to speak on some phase of the problem with the authority of an expert, and yet the committee as a whole is much more than a commission of experts. It is a body of men who have been long accustomed to exercise in large affairs those mental attributes—foresight, judgment and diplomacy—which are as much a part of the equipment of the successful director of big business as they are of the great statesman.

Great improvements have been made in the form and quality of steel rails during the past ten years or so. The work of such experts as Dr. Pilmmon H. Dudley of the New York Central lines has brought about almost revolutionary advances in the construction of rails designed for heavy express service, without which the operation of the palatial trains that now make 1,000 miles in less than a day would be impossible. But the demands of the operating departments of the railroads have kept the rail experts hard pressed. No sooner have the rail experts devised new and better rails to meet new requirements than further improvements have been demanded of them. And quite recently there has been a notable agitation in favor of the general use of rails of a still higher standard, suited to still heavier traffic conditions, and providing a still greater margin of safety, and it is as a result of this agitation that the committee of railroad and steel men is now at work.

It is one thing to devise an ideal steel rail and quite another thing to bring about general manufacture and use of it. The narrower problem is one for the chemist and physicist to solve. The broader one, which is what the committee of the American Railway association has set out to solve, involves the narrower, but also includes most far-reaching questions relating to finance and business policy, and to manufacturing and operating conditions.

An idea of the magnitude and complexity of the problem which the committee has undertaken to solve may be gathered by stopping to consider what would be some of the results, if, as a result of the committee's labors the railroads should adopt generally a new standard of rail. There would be the question of the financing of replacement of many thousands of miles of old rails with new ones, involving the expenditure of many millions of dollars. There would be the adoption of new and perhaps revolutionary methods of handling the metal in the mills, causing perhaps entirely new conditions in the steel trade. And the ramifications of these questions would undoubtedly extend to every department of trade and business.

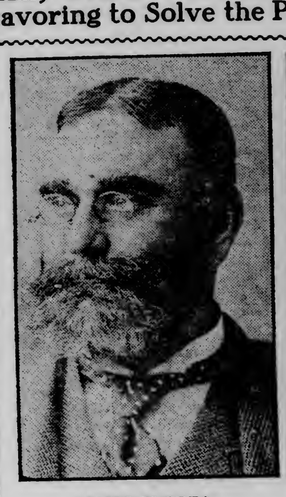
It is interesting to note, therefore, that the members of the committee of the American Railway association are qualified to deal with the problem from either its technical and scientific side or from its business side. Almost all of them have gained an expert knowledge of the problem of the rail either in the mills or in the construction departments of railroads, and all of them are of broad business experience.

The Pennsylvania's President.

James McCrae, who has been president of the Pennsylvania railroad since January, 1907, is one of the members of the committee who are equally noted as experts in a technical sense and as business men in the broadest comprehension of the term. It has long been the policy of the Pennsylvania to select for its highest executive positions men who had experience on the engineering side of railroading. Mr. McCrea's predecessor as president of the system, the late Alexander J. Cassatt, had a large experience as an engineer of construction and a superintendent of motive power and machinery before he became connected with the operating and executive departments of the system. Mr. McCrea followed practically in the steps of Mr. Cassatt, with this difference, that whereas Mr. Cassatt's specialty was motive power, Mr. McCrea's was the permanent way.

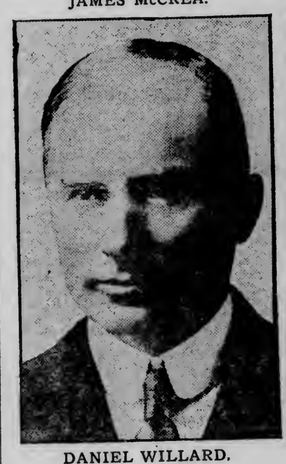
Mr. McCrea went into the railroad business a little more than forty-five years ago, when he was only 17 years old. He had taken a course in the Philadelphia Polytechnic college, which qualified him to enter upon the work of railroad construction but most of his skill as a railroad engineer is the result of practical experience and the solving of actual problems as they arose. His first job was that of rodman on the Connellsville & Southern Pennsylvania railroad from which he was promoted in about a year to the position of assistant engineer. He held the position of assistant engineer of construction on several other railroads until 1871 when he went to the Pennsylvania as principal assistant engineer of construction. Soon thereafter he was made engineer in charge of maintenance of way on the Philadelphia division of the system, a position which he held for several years before beginning his career as an operating official of the line.

Mr. McCrea knows the Pennsylvania system like a book. He has worked on every branch of it from New York to the Mississippi and had a large part in making it what it is today. He had not been long in the operating department of the railroad when he began to disclose exceptional ability as a financier and business man in the highest sense of the word. This resulted in his election as a director of the company, and made him one of the leading spirits in the shaping of the policy of the system for years before he succeeded to the presidency.



JAMES McCREA.

E. A. S. CLARKE.



DANIEL WILLARD.

FREDERICK A. DELANO.

In some respects Mr. McCrea and his predecessor, Mr. Cassatt, were strikingly different,—the former president a man of reserved manner and few words, Mr. McCrea outspoken almost to the point of bluntness, though never to the point of harshness, and overflowing with good nature. Yet different as they were in temperament, they worked in entire sympathy in carrying out the great projects for improving the system which were begun during Mr. Cassatt's regime and have already been partially completed under Mr. McCrea's—notably the great terminal improvements in New York city.

Mr. McCrea is one of those men who are always looking for work to do and who always manage to find it. They tell a story of him when he was a young engineer of construction that illustrates this. There was an accident on the line where he was working, and he rushed at once to the scene of the disaster. In spite of his haste, however, he arrived some time after the wrecking gang, and found the debris all cleared away and the track repaired.

"Isn't there something I can do?" he said to the foreman of the wrecking gang.

"Don't see that there is," the foreman replied.

"Everything's done now except carrying up those ties from that ditch over there."

The young engineer without a word bounded over to the ditch and gave a hand in hauling out the ties, and he did not stop until the last one had been removed.

It has been remarked that Mr. McCrea knows the men of his railroad almost as well as he knows the railroad itself. Somehow he has always managed to keep track of them and measure their capacities and possibilities even when they have not risen so high in the scale as the position of despatcher, and when a vacancy occurs even in a very minor position he is pretty sure to have in mind some man who is qualified to fill it.

A Boy Telegrapher Was President Gardner.

William A. Gardner of Chicago, another of the railroad men on the committee, has been identified practically throughout his career with the Chicago & Northwestern railway, in the presidency of which he recently succeeded Marvin Hughitt. Mr. Gardner has long ranked as one of the leading railway operating executives of this country. As a boy he learned telegraphy, and he was only 13 years old when he got a job as a telegraph operator on the Chicago & Alton railroad. His association with the Northwestern system began when he attained his majority, his first position being that of a clerk in the superintendent's office. The story of his career is one of gradual and steady promotion in the operating department of the Northwestern until, on the retirement of Mr. Hughitt, he became the administrative head of the whole system.

His career furnishes an example of an ambition steadfastly held and ultimately realized. He could have been a railroad president long before he did become one if he had chosen to leave the Northwestern. Tempting offers were made to him from other lines at various times. But his aspirations were bound up in the great railroad with which he had practically begun his career, and no other goal seemed quite so desirable as the very top of its administration. He had seen its lines grow from a road of some two thousand miles to a system of more than nine thousand, including subsidiaries, and he took a personal pride in it. So when tempting offers came from other lines it was not hard for him to resist them and stay with the Northwestern.

Although Mr. Gardner is a specialist in railroad operation and as a railroad man has always been connected with the operating department, he has none of the narrowness of vision that often characterizes the specialist. On the contrary, he is a man of versatile mind, capable of looking at important questions from widely different points of view. For instance, he was one of the first of prominent railway executives to recognize that the railroads would have to submit to government regulation. At the same time he has been one of the most outspoken defenders of the rights of the railroads to retain the profits resulting directly from the skilful and economical management of them.

Mr. Gardner stated this position in a way that attracted much attention when he was a witness some time ago at the hearings before the interstate commerce commission in Chicago on the question of railway rate advances. Counsel who was examining him called his attention to the Northwestern surplus and suggested that it was in itself evidence that the existing rates were high enough.

"The surplus," Mr. Gardner said in reply, "expresses an efficient administration as well as remunerative rates. If the position were sewpet away that efficient administration produces a surplus as well as high rates, there would be no incentive for efficient administration."

Both as a writer and a speaker Mr. Gardner has in recent years discussed many of the great railway problems that agitated the public mind. As a speaker, he is uncommonly effective, not merely in the clear presentation of intricate questions, but also in the graceful presentation of lighter themes. His after dinner speeches are always bright and witty.

A great believer in administrative efficiency, Mr. Gardner is a strict disciplinarian, yet he has always been popular with the men under him. The secret of this is perhaps contained in a remark that he made when he became president of the Northwestern system. "I have always tried to be a good subordinate," he said.

A slender man, of nervous temperament, Mr. Gardner is a tireless worker, who disposes of vast amounts of business systematically and with extraordinary dispatch.

Erudite Frederick A. Delano.

Frederick A. Delano, president of the Wabash railroad, still another of the men specially engaged on the rail problem, is one of the most distinguished for scientific attainments of executive railway men of the present day. He could, if he chose, fill a chair of metallurgy or engineering or physics in a technical school for the education of experts, such are his attainments in science. His standing as a scientist has been recognized by such bodies as the American Society of Civil Engineers and the American Institute of Mining Engineers, of which he is a member. He is also a member of the American Society for the Advancement of Science.

The steel rail has been perhaps more than any other feature of railroads the object of Mr. Delano's special study throughout his career. He has investigated it and experimented with it both as a working railroad man and as a scientist, understanding fully the theory of the matter.

Mr. Delano is a graduate of Harvard, and he went into the railroad business much later than Mr. McCrea and Mr. Gardner. His first railway work was in 1885, the year of his graduation from college, when he obtained a position from the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, first engaging in engineering work in Colorado, and a few months later entering the company's shops at Aurora, Illinois, as a machinist apprentice. There, in the course of two years, he rose to the position of acting engineer in charge of tests and soon afterwards was placed in charge of the company's rail inspection bureau at Chicago, where he did much of the work that has made him prominent as a rail expert among the leading railroad men of today.

Mr. Delano's experience while connected with the Burlington system covered many departments, however. He never he advised the war department regarding the development of railways in the Philippines.

Mr. Delano's connection with the Wabash dates from the early part of 1903, when he became first vice president of the system. He was elected president in the fall of the same year.

To the discussion of the various problems relating to railroads which has been going on in recent years, Mr. Delano has been a contributor, and a number of articles from his pen dealing with railroad matters have been published.

Three Steel Company Presidents.

The steel men who have been appointed members of the rail committee of the American Railway association are all business men of large and various interests who have worked their way up through the industry and have familiarized themselves with it on its technical side. They know from practical experience how steel is made, and all of them have been in rail mills.

One of these men is E. A. S. Clarke of New York, president of the Lackawanna Steel company. He is a Harvard graduate of the class of 1884, and he went into the steel and iron business soon after his graduation. Like other college men who have succeeded in the great manufacturing industries and the railroad business, he started in to learn the steel business thoroughly on its technical and industrial side. For a time he was connected with the Illinois Steel company and was superintendent of the company's smelter works at Chicago. Later he became general manager of the manufacturing department of the International Harvester company. He has been president of the Lackawanna Steel company since 1904.

Mr. Clarke is president and director of many other steel and iron companies, and is a member of the American Institute of Mining and various other scientific organizations.

Mr. Willard, who fills today one of the very highest positions in the railroad world, is known not only as an expert of long and varied experience in railroad operation, but as a deep student of the broader phases of railroad management and an original thinker on the great railroad problems of the present day. During the past few years he has given public utterance to his ideas on these subjects and his words have attracted much attention.

His career is often referred to by railroad men as one that strikingly illustrates how ability supplemented by faithful application to duty succeeds. A little more than thirty years ago Mr. Willard, as a lad of 18, who had been born in the mountains of Vermont, and had been reared and schooled there in plain fashion, was beginning his railroading career in a very humble capacity in a freight yard. He had to tend a small stationary engine used for pumping. The foreman under whom he worked discovered after a while that the boy was getting on the job an hour or so before the day's work was supposed to begin so as to get a good start, and it was not long after that that he had a better job. Thereafter, his story was one of steady promotion in the service of various railroads, culminating in his election to the presidency of the Baltimore & Ohio two years ago.

DREXLER GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Slayer of Two Men in Virginia Must Go to State Prison.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Drexler, slayer of Axel Pakkala, was found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree by the jury after having been out from 3 in the afternoon until 10:30 last night. The crime carries with it a sentence of from one to twenty years in the state prison.

Drexler is about 28 years old. He has a wife and child residing at Milwaukee, his former home. His father, Andrew Drexler, has been here during the trial. Drexler is a machinist by trade and came to Virginia about a year before the tragedy of Dec. 24 last, when in Pakkala's saloon he shot and instantly killed Axel Pakkila, shot and wounded John Koski, who died three weeks later, and shot and wounded Joe Puras, who recovered.

The defense was that he was irresponsible at the time on account of drugs admistered in liquor.

Judge Hughes remanded Drexler pending sentence.

CROSBY MINE ALSO IS SHIPPING ORE

Nashwauk Property Is Sending Stockpiled Output to Duluth Docks.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crosby mine started shipping ore Thursday to the ore docks in Duluth. A small tonnage was ordered shipped at once, but whether the mine will continue operations after the desired amount of ore has been shipped from the stockpile is not yet known. One shovel has been placed at the stockpile.

The mine has a stockpile of 90,000 tons and it is expected that if the stockpile is removed this summer the mine will continue operations throughout next winter. The mine has been shut down since last fall owing to the low price of ore.

Brewster, Trust Auditor Visits.

William Dye, chief auditor for the International Harvester Company of Chicago, was in the village Sunday, looking over the concentrator plant of the Hawkins mine.

The Hawkins mine will erect several houses near the washing plant this summer for the men operating the plant. The road leading to the plant has been changed by the township overseer because the old road was located too close to the tracks. Only about 150 rods of new road was constructed.

NEW SETTLERS COME RAPIDLY

Country Around Deer River Is Being Settled Up By Newcomers.

Dear River, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—This section is getting its share of the new settlers who are coming to the north country. During the past week several new families moved onto lands either purchased or being homesteaded by the settlers. Considerable activity in the line of getting settlers into this section is being manifested.

During the past week the following new settlers have come in and are settling on lands near Deer River: George M. Kneeland and Alex Rassmussen of Brownsdale, who will go onto lands out near the sand hill, north, east of town; Joseph Berglund and Ed. Erickson, both of whom were but recently married, arrived the first of the week from Harris, Minn., and will settle on homesteads in the Bowstring country; D. Ellithorp of Columbia Heights, who has some land on Cottonwood lake, north of Deer River; G. H. Fox of Rochester, who is settling on a homestead five miles northwest of Deer River. Mrs. Fox and their five little children arrived Monday and went out to the farmstead.

MARBLE WOMAN'S OFFER.

Five Hundred Dollars for Recovery of Body of Drowned Husband.

Mandan, N. D., May 4.—In a last effort to recover the body of her late husband, who was drowned in the Missouri river here, Mrs. E. C. Johnson announced that she will pay a reward of $500 for the recovery of the body. For some time a reward of $100 has been standing, but, in the hope that some one would increase the constant effort to locate the body, the reward was increased. Several large and small parties of citizens and farmers have been patroling the river, which is now within two or three feet of normal, but no results have been reported. Mrs. Johnson has left for her home in Marble, Minn. The body, if recovered, will be shipped to that place for interment, the $500 offered for the recovery, being on deposit in the First National bank.

VIRGINIA NOTES.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library board has elected the same officers who managed the affairs of the board last year: M. E. Fanning, president; C. C. Butler, vice president; E. C. Pickering, secretary. Permanent committees will be appointed at the meeting of the board in June.

The park board has decided to establish a playground for children near the corner of Mesaba avenue and Magnolia street.

Supt. M. S. Hawkins of the Oliver Iron Mining company for the Virginia district has returned from a visit to Western Canada, where he owns a large ranch.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. CATHOLIC MISSION SERVICES PLANNED

Both Eveleth Churches Will Have Services for Whole Week.

Eveleth, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beginning Sunday mission services will be held for one week including the following Sunday in both of the Roman Catholic churches of Eveleth.

At the Holy Family church, Rev. Michael Martiniano, a missionary of the Congregation of the Precious Blood, from Rome, Italy, will conduct services in the Italian language. Each day there will be mass and services at 8:30 a. m. and Rosary, sermon and benediction at 8 o'clock in the evening. Father Martiniano is an eloquent and forceful speaker. He has given missions and attracted crowds in Brooklyn, Chicago, Milwaukee and Kenosha, and lately in Duluth and in Cumberland, Wis. From Eveleth he will go to Nashwauk.

At St. Patrick's.

At St. Patrick's church the services will be conducted in English, and the priest, Rev. Timothy Culligan, will be assisted by Fathers Hanley and Molloy of the Order of St. Vincent of St. Louis. Both Rev. Bilban of the Holy Family church and Rev. Culligan of St. Patrick's church extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend these services.

SCHOOL PUPILS CLEAN STREETS

Ely Pupils Observe Arbor Day in Very Practical Manner.

Ely, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arbor day was celebrated in a unique way this year. Formally the idea of beautifying the school grounds has been impressed upon the pupils but this year the idea of the care of public streets was shown. The day set for observance of Arbor day was so rainy that it was postponed and a day set apart this week in which one street of the city should be cleaned. Harvey street between the high school and the Lincoln school was chosen and the three schools located on that one street all joined in the work of cleaning. The high school grade pupils began at the high school and worked toward Central school, those from Central school working in two parties, one toward the high school, the other toward Lincoln school, the Lincoln school working down toward the Central school meeting the party coming out from there. This is the first time that any work has been done in anything like this among the schools.

MRS. FENSKE'S FUNERAL.

Last Rites at Ely for Pioneer School Teacher.

Ely, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. A. J. Fenske, who died Wednesday morning, was held today at 2 p. m. from the Catholic church, the Rev. Father Buh reading the mass. Burial was in the Ely cemetery. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. Fenske was one of the best known residents of Ely, having resided here many years, being the first school teacher. Death was caused by an internal goiter. Besides her husband, two children, Earl and Elane, both of whom are in high school, survive her.

VIRGINIA BUILDING.

Large Amount of Construction Work in Sight.

Virginia, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library board is about ready to let the contract for the new building which will cost $40,000.

The Elks' club will in a short time accept plans for its new building, which will be finished this fall.

Preliminary work is being done on the site of the North side school.

Work will commence soon on the Canadian Northern depot.

VIRGINIA PUPILS TO HONOR SOLDIER DEAD.

Virginia, Minn., April 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are under way in the city schools to make the Memorial day parade greater this year than ever. The schools take charge of the exercises because there are few veterans in this city or anywhere on the range and few graves of veterans here or in any range cemetery.

ITASCA COUNTY FAIR TO ENCOURAGE BREEDERS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Itasca county farmers, having well-bred dairy herds, will be given an opportunity to enter their herds in competition at the Itasca county fair, the prize for the winner to be a splendid $50 cup, given to the county fair association by the state dairymen's association. The competition will be entirely for competition between dairy herds.

There is much interest in breeding dairy stock up to a higher standard in this county and it is likely that there will be considerable competition.

Grand Rapids Wedding.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Thursday evening occurred the marriage of Miss Euretta Wilkie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Wilkie, who live north of town, to William E. Gibson of Des Moines, Iowa. Rev. J. J. Parish of the Methodist church officiating. The couple will go to Des Moines, where they will live this year. Next spring it is the intention of Mr. Gibson to move here and go to farming on his land.

VIRGINIA PARISH NOW INDEPENDENT

Former Superior Rector in Charge, Eveleth Having Own Rector.

Eveleth, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. A. Carswell, who for several years has been in charge of the Episcopal parishes at Eveleth and Virginia, will soon be relieved of his charge at Virginia. St. John's church in that city has been declared an independent parish and Bishop Morrison has appointed Rev. H. J. Wolner, late of Superior, as the rector.

No appointment having been made for the Eveleth church, it is presumed that Rev. Mr. Carswell will remain in charge for the present.

STORK IS IMPARTIAL.

Calls at Each Home of Three Co-partners in Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anton Zalar, Martin Shuckley and Charles Cornsich are engaged in the grocery business on a co-partnership basis, the three sharing alike in the profits, and business matters have progressed so nicely that they have carried the co-operative plan still farther, for the home of each partner, almost simultaneously, has been blessed by the arrival of a son. All three youngsters are doing nicely, and the fond fathers hope that they will succeed to the business some day.

OLD RESIDENT CALLED.

Mrs. Hannon, Pioneer of Two Harbors, Passes Away.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Mary Hannon passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. R. Sullivan, Thursday, of paralysis and a general decline, caused by advanced age, deceased being nearly 82. Mrs. Hannon was born in County Clare, Ireland, and came to America with her parents in 1847. In 1850 she was married to Thomas Hannon in New York and came to Two Harbors twenty-six years ago. Mr. Hannon die dtwelve years ago and deceased is survived by John Hannon of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Joseph Cramons of Whitefish, Mont.; S. C. Hannon, Winnipeg; Mrs. D. R. Sullivan of this city and Theodore Hannon of Buffalo, N. Y. The arrangements for the funeral have not been made, pending the arrival of her children. Interment will be made in Ironwood, Mich., where the body of her husband is buried.

TWO HARBORS BALL GAMES.

Schedules Being Prepared for City Teams This Season.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delegates representing the "Gophers," "Cubs," "Giants" and "Argonauts" baseball teams met at the Y. M. C. A. this week to arrange the schedule for the city league for the coming season.

A committee was appointed to interview the business men in an endeavor to raise $50 for the support of the league, and another committee was appointed to investigate the condition of the ball grounds and arrange to have them put in good condition.

President Manville was instructed to prepare a schedule of fifteen games, the opening date to be May 20, and the schedule to be finished July 26. Games will be played on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week, on the ball grounds at the west end of Second avenue.

RAIN

The cold rains of the past week are expected to continue tomorrow, and the weather man holds out no hope for an improvement in conditions. The sun rose this morning at 4:43 and will set this evening at 7:25, making fourteen hours and forty-two minutes of sunlight. The weather a year ago was fair and warm.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The storm centered over Nebraska and Kansas has moved but little during the last twenty-four hours. In the meantime it caused light to heavy rains or thunderstorms throughout the Northwest, West and Southwest and snow over Wyoming. Moderate to brisk northeasterly winds and fog continued on Western Lake Superior, and much the same conditions with showers may be expected at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours. Many reports are missing on account of wire trouble."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 4.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. Sunday:

Wisconsin—Unsettled with showers and thunderstorms tonight or Sunday; cooler Sunday in central and southwest portions.

Upper Michigan—Showers tonight and Sunday.

Minnesota—Unsettled tonight and Sunday with showers; cooler in south and west portions.

Iowa—Unsettled with showers and thunderstorms tonight or Sunday; cooler tonight and in east portion Sunday.

North Dakota—Showers tonight with colder in east and south portions; Sunday cloudy.

South Dakota—Showers this afternoon and probably tonight with cooler in east and central portions; Sunday generally fair.

Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; frost tonight.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.

Itasca County Board Plans Spending Large Sum.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Itasca county boarad has entered upon an extensive road improvement campaign during which $15,000 or more will be expended in making highways more serviceable.

The roads that it is proposed to improve are the Lydick road in township 55, range 26 and 27; a road in township 148, range 28; county road No. 93, in township 143; county road No. 89; roads in township 55, range 27; township 148, range 28, and county road No. 47.

A petition for the survey of section lines in the Swan river, Cohasset and Ardenhurst districts was laid over until the next board meeting.

The town of Bass Lake was granted an appropriation of $100 to aid in the upkeep of the county road.

Five hundred dollars was appropriated for the repair of the Nashwauk road in commission district No. 5.

Anton Payment of Cohasset was recommended as section man for the roadway between Cohasset and Grand Rapids.

David Montcalm was appointed section man temporarily on the road between Grand Rapids and Prairie River.

Commissioners Nelson and King recommended the construction of five miles of new road each in the towns of Alvwood and Goodland. This will mean an approximate expenditure of $10,000, as the cost of constructing new roadways in unimproved districts of the county averages $1,000 a mile.

Pike River Bridge Finished.

Tower, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—N. J. Benson was a passenger for Duluth Friday afternoon.

The new concrete bridge over Pike river is ready for use and the removal of the old wooden structure will begin Saturday.

Rev. W. T. Hughes of Ely was in Tower, Friday.

John Hackey, who has done considerable logging the past season for the Vermilion Lumber company, was a Tower visitor Friday.

The Commercial club will hold its regular session on Monday night. Applications for membership are to be acted upon that evening.

New Deer River Plant.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Articles of incorporation of the Everton Electric Light & Power company of Deer River have been filed with the secretary of state and the register of deeds. The incorporators are Warren A. Everton, L. B. Everton and Leonard Scott, all of Deer River, and the capital stock has been placed at $50,000.

Ely Caucus.

Ely, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A call has been issued for the Republican caucus for the election of delegates to the county convention to be held in Duluth, May 13. The primaries here will be held May 11. The poles will be open just two hours from 7 to 9 in the evening. Ely is entitled to send three delegates.

Ely Church Supper.

Ely, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will give a supper in the basement of the church on the evening of May 8. A special meeting of the society was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. J. Thomas, to perfect the plans for the evening.

Bear River Institute.

Bear River, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—This community is making great preparations for the farmers institute to be held here in the Woodmen hall, May 17, and it is expected large delegations from farming sections all over the range will be present. Plans will be formulated to secure an experimental station for this place.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Ibsen's "Pretenders" Presented By the Masquers Before Large Audience.

Features of Alumni Day During Commencement Week Announced.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday night at the Shubert theater the Masquers, the dramatic club at the university, gave before a house filled almost to capacity, Ibsen's "Pretenders." Although the past efforts of the Masquers have been considered well finished pieces, none of them have succeeded in reaching the high standard of perfection which was attained in the "Pretenders." Every person in the cast was well fitted to his part, each showing a clear understanding of the character of his impersonation and lacked the usual signs of amateurish self-consciousness. Miss Myrna Pressnell of Duluth, as Sigrid, had one of the leading parts, which she played with her usual cleverness and originality.

Dr. Mazo Nitobe, president of the First Higher college of Tokio, delivered his introductory lecture on the history and social significance of modern Japan, in chapel Thursday. Dr. Nitobe comes as a representative of the Japanese universities.

The first "college sing" of the year was held in chapel, Friday noon. Ever since the memorable "sing" held on the knoll last year after the May fete, students have urged that these pleasant events be held more often. From now until the end of the year one will be given every week.

"The South and the Nation" was the title of a talk given in chapel by Prof. Hardin Craig. He commented on the fact that while our attention is constantly being drawn to other sections of the country, it is but infrequently called to the South, which constitutes one-third of the United States. He discussed conditions in the South, attempting, as he explained, only to give a general impression.

All precedents were set aside and traditions shattered as a result of the Gopher elections held last fall. For the first time in the history of the institution an engineer was elected to the position of managing editor. This is a result of a conviction upon the part of those in the professional schools, that the academics have been monopolizing everything in the line of student activities. This has been particularly so in the past Gophers, the departments claiming that their sections have been reduced to give the academics more space. After several attempts at organization in past elections, the sophomore classes of the professional schools held together, and cast a solid vote for Renville Rankin, a civil engineer, electing him to the position of managing editor of the 1914 Gopher.

Registrar E. B. Pierce, chairman of the committee having charge of Alumni day arrangements, yesterday announced the features of the Alumni day to be held during commencement week. A picnic will be held at 6 o'clock, followed by various athletic events on Northrop field. A vaudeville program will be given in chapel, and the festivities will close with a "song-fest" on the campus. Following is the program for commencement week:

June 7—Senior prom at the Leamington.

June 9—Baccalaureate service at the University armory. (Speaker to be announced).

June 11—Class day.

June 12—Alumni day. Arrangements in hands of E. B. Pierce.

The following classes will hold reunions, 1907, 1902, 1897, 1892, 1887, 1882, 1877.

There is a rumor to the effect that the seniors plan to challenge the faculty to a baseball game during commencement week.

Archie Glass, D. C. H. S., 1909, was among the eight sophorome fraternity men elected to the Mitre club. This is an acknowledgment of prominence in college cetivities and in fraternity life. A short while ago he was elected to Sigma Rho, the mining fraternity.

Gerhardt Ringsred, D. C. H. S., 1909, has pledged to Zeta Psi fraternity.

Miss Mary Reed of Duluth was the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority held the first part of the week. She was also the honor guest at a box party given by the sorority at the performance of "Pretenders."

A gigantic parade, composed of floats representing the various divisions of agricultural work will be one of the features of the Agricultural College County Fair, to be held on their campus, May 18. A great many big features are being planned for this event. It is rumored that President and Mrs. Vincent have consented to give a little skit.

NORTH DAKOTA CADET DISMISSED

Newburgh, N. Y., May 4.—Cadets Charles Carroll Fitzhugh of North Dakota and Frederick Hurd Van Horn of Connecticut, have been dismissed from the United States military academy at West Point by Gen. Barry, the superintendent. They were charged with being off the reservation limits in civilians' clothing.

ECZEMA BURNED SO COULD NOT SLEEP

Began in Small Red Spots on Arms and Neck, Soon Spread Over Body. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In One Week Completely Cured.

Smithville, Ind.—"My eczema began in small red spots accompanied by a rash. It started on my arms and neck but soon began to spread over my body. It was worst on my neck and arms, and it burned so that often I could not sleep nights. I tried bathing in borax water, but to no avail. Then I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I bathed with Cuticura Soap and hot water and applied the Cuticura Ointment every night and morning and in one week I was completely cured through the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Miss Josephine McCormick, Nov. 7, 1911.

FOR BAD CASE OF PIMPLES

Physician Recommends "Cuticura."

3890 Third Ave., New York.—"About three months ago my face and neck became covered with small red pimples which later developed into large boils and my face was in such a condition that I was ashamed to go out of the house. After using salves I went to a hospital for treatment. The head physician told me I would have to report for three or four months for treatment before the boils would even start to disappear.

"A young physician while treating me recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment and told me to treat my face every night before retiring with both the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The results obtained were far better even than the physician expected and I was completely cured in a short time by the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Fred Viehmeyer, Sept. 7, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— GARY LAND COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we the undersigned do hereby associate ourselves together and agree to be and become a corporation under and by virtue of the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota, 1905, and the acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and to that end and for that purpose we do hereby adopt and sign the following Certificate and Articles of Incorporation, to-wit:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be Gary Land Company. The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be:

To mine, smelt, reduce, refine and work ores and minerals, and to work coal mines and stone quarries, and market the product of the same; to own or operate stone and rock crushers or gravel pits, and market the product of the same; to manufacture brick, stone, iron, steel, copper and other metals; to acquire, purchase, lease, own, hold, mortgage, sell and convey mineral lands and other real estate, whether improved or unimproved, wherever situate, and to survey; subdivide, plat and improve the same; to lend money upon real estate, personal or other security; to indorse, guarantee and discount notes and other commercial paper; to buy, own, hold, collect, foreclose, hypothecate, transfer and deal in bonds, notes, mortgages, accounts, tax certificates, tax titles and other property and securities; to purchase or otherwise acquire, hold for investment or otherwise, use, own, sell, assign, transfer, mortgage, pledge and otherwise deal in stocks, bonds, debentures and other obligations created or issued by any person, firm or corporation; to acquire, purchase, lease, sublease, own, hold, mortgage, sell, convey, and sell, trade and traffic in both real and personal property of every description, either within or without the State of Minnesota; to do all the foregoing for itself or as agent for any other person, firm or corporation; and to do all things necessary or convenient to the proper carrying out of any and all the foregoing purposes.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The period of duration of this corporation shall be thirty years from and after May 1, 1912.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of this corporation are as follows: A. C. Volk, Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota; M. A. Volk, Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota; T. H. Jones, Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota. The government of this corporation and its management shall be vested in a board of three directors, who shall be stockholders of the corporation, and shall be a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. The offices of President and Treasurer may be held by one person; or the offices of President and Secretary may be held by one person; or the offices of Secretary and Treasurer may be held by one person. Said Board of Directors shall be elected at the annual meeting of stockholders of this corporation which shall be held on the first Monday in January in each and every year, (except when same falls on a legal holiday, in which case said meeting shall be held on the following day), at the hour of three o'clock in the afternoon, and said President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer shall be elected by the Board of Directors at its annual meeting to be held immediately after the annual meeting of stockholders. Any resolution in writing signed by all the directors individually shall have the same force and effect as a resolution of the Board of Directors passed by unanimous vote at a regular meeting of the Board of Directors. Any resolution in writting signed by all the stockholders of the corporation shall have the same force and effect as a resolution, passed at a regular meeting of stockholders by unanimous vote of said stockholders. All officers and directors shall hold their respective offices and positions until their successors are duly elected and qualified. The annual and other meetings of stockholders and of directors may be held at any place within the State of Minnesota. The names and addresses of those composing said Board of Directors until the first election are: A. C. Volk, Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota; M. A. Volk, Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota; T. H. Jones, Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota. The officers of the corporation until the first election are: President, A. C. Volk; Vice President, T. H. Jones; Secretary, M. A. Volk; Treasurer, A. C. Volk.

ARTICLE IV.

The amount of capital stock of this corporation shall be Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars, to be paid in cash or property, or both, as may be determined by the Board of Directors. Said capital stock shall be divided into five hundred (500) shares of the par value of One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars each.

ARTICLE V.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 1st day of May, A. D. 1912.

SETTLEMENT OF THE BUTTE MINERS' WAGES EXPECTED

Miners' Union May Withdraw From the Western Federation.

Butte & Superior Concentrator May Be Completed Next Month.

Butte, Mont., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Amalgamated Copper company's contract with the miners' union, which expired on April 1 and which, according to the terms of the agreement, had thirty days to run before either party could cancel its terms, has not yet been renewed and everything is moving along as usual. A committee of the union has been in existence for some time to bring the question up and ask for $4 a day for both muckers and miners, and it is more than likely that within the next few weeks an agreement extending over a period of years will be reached. It is stated that the companies are not adverse to paying the miners $4 a day under certain conditions, but there is a very decided objection to granting the same pay to muckers. The conservative element of the union is now in complete control and there is not the slightest possibility of any trouble, except the Western Federation of Miners, with headquarters in Denver, seeks to make it. In that case, it is stated by a prominent member of the union, the Western federation officers are liable to be without their principal source of revenue. A few years ago at a Western federation convention the agreement or conract system as regards the wages was condemned, and it was decided that after the contract between the miners' union of Butte and the Amalgamated company expired no further contract would be recognized. Should the Western federation people attempt to live up to this decision and the miners' union enter into another contract, the latter organization will withdraw from the Denver crowd, controlled by Haywood, Moyer and others. When the Butte union entered the federation some years ago, it had a well-filled treasury, but today it is practically without a treasury, due to the fact that it has been the mainstay of the Western federation crowd and contributed more than generously to every demand upon it. Now that the treasury is about depleted through contributions to all kinds of demands for assistance, the conservative element of the organization is once more taking control of affairs, and any attempt on the part of the Western Federation of Miners to dictate to the local union will be met with a decided rebuff. Before Mr. Ryan's return to the East it is more than likely the wage question will be settled for the next five years.

Butte & Superior.

The Butte & Superior company may get into possession of its concentrator about June 1, but there seems to be very much doubt whether it will be in a position to handle much ore inside of the next three months. Some of the machinery is now being removed from the Basin works, and it is only a question of a short time when the plant at Basin will have to be abandoned.

By a cancellation which was received by the First National bank last week the Butte & Superior company retired its original bond issue of $500,000, which was floated in the early part of 1908. The bonds were issued for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of additional properties surrounding the Butte & Superior holdings, but only about $200,000 of the bonds were issued. The First National bank acted merely as trustee in the matter. While the cancellation was made last week, the bonds were taken up sometime before the last bond issue of $500,000, which was taken by Hayden, Stone & Co. At the present time, therefore, only the one bond issue exists, and as the latter bonds are being converted quite rapidly into stock, the indebtedness of the Butte & Superior company is nominal. The sale of the recently announced 30,000 shares will give the company ample funds with which to pay for the construction and installation of the new concentrator and leave a substantial amount in the treasury for all operating expenses for a long time to come.

Distinguished Visitors.

Butte is attracting the attention of the world more than ever through the richness of its mines. Within the past few days two distinguished parties of capitalists have been in the city looking over the copper properties. One was the party headed by John D. Ryan, who had with him the greatest representation of American capital which ever visited the West, while the other party represented foreign capitalists, Baron Bethman nof Frankfort, Germany, Count Paul Villestren and Maurice Berand, prominent bankers of Paris were in the party. They took in the large mines of the Anaconda company, and went underground in the Black Rock of the Butte & Superior and the High Ore of the Anaconda company. After returning from a trip underground in the High Ore, Maurice Berand said: "The immensity of the Butte mines is wonderful. Everything is done on such an immense scale and with such system that possibly the people of this country do not realize the importance of the immense mining plants which produce nearly one-half of the world's copper. From what we saw in the underground workings of the Black Rock mine of the Butte & Superior company we believe this district has a wonderful future as a zinc producer." Mr. Berand said that the principal object of the visit of the party to America was to see for themselves the copper mines of Butte. He said that the mines were famous throughout the world, and that he and his companions had expressly crossed the Atlantic to learn for themselves if the mines were such as had been represented. After inspecting the Butte mines the party was taken to Anaconda where they were escorted through the Washoe smelter and shown the various processes of treating the ore from the time it arrives until it is finally turned out and sent to the refinery. After returning to this city the party left for Utah for the purpose of inspecting various properties in that state of which they had heard considerable. The foreigners are all young men and speak the English language fluently. Speaking about the listing of stocks on the Paris bourse, Mr. Bernard said that but two American copper stocks were listed, the Miami of Arizona and Utah Copper. He said that the Rio Tinto of Spain was the principal copper stock handled in both Paris and Berlin. Count Bethmann was very enthusiastic concerning the transportation facilities of America and said that they were far in advance of those of Europe.

Great Falls Smelter.

Official announcement has been made of a proposed enlargement of the Anaconda company smelter at Great Falls in accordance with plans which had already been prepared and submitted to him. It is said that the enlargement will admit of the treatment of between 3,000 and 4,000 tons more than the present capacity. This work has been forced on the Anaconda company through the ability of the mines to hoist more ore and the inability of the Washoe and Great Falls smelters to treat anything like the amount of ore which can be sent forward.

New Idaho Company.

W. Jay Macy of Philadelphia heads a company which has filed articles of incorporation in this city for the operation of properties in Leadore, Idaho. Some of the ore taken from a claim on shaft sunk to a depth of forty-five feet showed assays running all the way from 3 to 38 per cent copper. An average sample from the bottom of the shaft gave returns of 11.6 per cent copper with a strong trace of gold and silver. Work is to be started at once in sinking the shaft. It was twenty years ago that the shaft was sunk to its present depth. It is now being retimbered and repaired and just as soon as sufficient ore is brought to the surface a traction engine will be placed in commission to haul the ore to the railroad station.

Boston and Corbin.

A mining man who came in from the Corbin district a few days ago reports that in a very short time the work of erecting a concentrator for the Boston & Corbin company will be commenced. He said that word had been received there that the financial end of the arrangements had been satisfactorily arranged and that it had been demonstrated beyond a doubt that there was sufficient ore to keep a 200-ton mill going at a good profit for several years.

LAKE SUPERIOR & NEVADA COMPANY

Reports By Officers Are Presented and Directors Elected.

The fifth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lake Superior & Nevada Development company was held in this city last Tuesday. Exhaustive reports were presented by H. E. Olund, superintendent of the Arizona Mascot gold mine near Crown King, Ariz., and by A. E. Lind, a Swedish mechanical engineer, in which all features of the new milling plant were critically reviewed. President Hagberg's annual report covered the main events of the year, plainly told the needs of the company, and expressed high hopes for the future.

At the evening session it was unanimously decided to put the company on a sound financial footing and ways and means to that end were adopted.

The energies of the company have been confined chiefly to the Arizona Mascot gold mine for over a year past. A power plant, crushing plant and cyaniding mill have been installed with a capacity of 100 tons of ore per day. The plant is in perfect running condition with the exception of the slime filter. Two Oliver slime filters of fifty tons daily capacity each have been ordered and will be installed so as to permit steady operations by June 1.

The stockholders have provided about $170,000 for expenditure at the Arizona Mascot in addition to very substantial sums at the three other mines owned by the corporation.

The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: August Hagberg and Albert Johnson, Duluth; Felix Durocher, South St. Paul; John Peterson, Hibbing; August R. Norman, Carlton; Albert Kolstad, Ely; Edward Falk, Coleraine; Andrew Bjorkman, Iron Mountain, Mich., Magnus Olson, Ironwood, Mich. Officers for the year will be as follows: President, August Hagberg; vice president, Andrew Bjorkman; secretary, August R. Norman; treasurer, Albert Johnson.

COPPER OUTPUT BREAKS RECORD

The United States geological survey has just issued an advance statement of the production of copper in 1911. This statement, prepared by B. S. Butler, gives the final figures of production as made up from reports from all the reduction plants. The preliminary estimate of the smelter output of the country, issued by the geological survey Jan. 2, 1912, differed from the final figures by but a fraction of 1 per cent.

The total smelter production from ores mined in the United States was 1,097,232,749 pounds. This was the largest production in the history of the industry and compares favorably with the output of 1,080,159,509 pounds for 1910.

Arizona again heads the list of copper producing states with a production of 303,202,532 pounds, the largest production ever made by the state. Montana is second, with 271,814,491 pounds; Michigan third, with 218,185,236 pounds; and Utah fourth, with 142,340,215 pounds.

The most notable gains were made by Alaska and Utah, the production of Alaska increasing from 4,311,026 pounds in 1910 to 22,314,889 pounds in 1911, and that of Utah from 125,135,455 pounds in 1910 to 142,340,215 pounds in 1911.

The states showing the most marked falling off in output were California and Montana. The former decreased from 45,760,200 pounds in 1910 to 35,835,651 pounds in 1911, and the latter from 283,078,473 pounds in 1910 to 271,814,491 pounds in 1911. In California the decrease was due to difficulty in controlling smelter firms; in Montana is was caused by voluntary curtailment due to the condition of the copper market.

The total production of refined copper from primary sources, both domestic and foreign, was 1,433,875,025 pounds in 1911, compared with 1,422,039,135 pounds in 1910.

In addition to the copper produced from ore a total of 214,000,000 pounds was recovered by the treatment of old copper and brass, copper and brass scraps, filings, clippings, tec.

The consumption of copper in the United States for 1911 was apparently somewhat smaller than in the previous year, but the amount exported was considerably greater so that the stocks of refined copper held in the United States were materially reduced.

STRIKE MADE BY ALGOMAH

Rich Copper Ground Encountered in the No. 7 Drill Hole.

Indiana Still Opening Rich Ore in So-Called Falsite Bed.

Houghton, Mich., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Algomah Mining company, operating next south of the Lake mine, has encountered rich copper ground in the No. 7 drill hole. The strike was made at a depth of about 1,000 feet and is in the presumed horizon of the Lake lode. Other work in this horizon is centered in crosscutting on two levels in the exploratory shaft sunk on the Algomah ore body. These crosscuts have developed little of importance to date, but are drawing close to the presumed strike of the Lake lode in this acreage, and important developments are expected shortly. The ore body upon which considerable work was done in the past has proven rather disappointing. A very good grade of ore was opened in the immediate vicinity of the shaft but was found with further development to carry only a short distance laterally and to a lesser depth.

Indiana.

The Indiana continues to open copper ground of exceptional richness in the so-called felsite bed. The crosscut on the 600-foot level has been turned into a drift on the formation. About fifty feet of most excellent mineral-bearing ground has been developed to date on this level. The shaft is sinking steadily and at the moment is passing through a bed of sandstone at a depth of 770 feet. At about 800 feet a station will be cut and a second crosscut sent out to the felsite bed already opened on the 600-foot level. The shaft itself will cut the felsite at a depth of between 1,400 and 1,500 feet.

Isle Royale.

The Isle Royale is preparing to sink a new shaft to the southwest of No. 6 shaft. Ground will probably be broken for this work within the next month. A drift in this direction on the seventh level of No. 6 shaft has attained a length of 1,900 feet and will be extended somewhat further for the purpose of facilitating the sinking of the new No. 7 shaft, which can then be opened by sinking and raising simultaneously. The company continues to ship around 1,700 tons of rock daily and the situation generally is little changed from the past.

Ojibway.

The Ojibway continues to open copper ground of excellent character at depth in No. 1 shaft. The situation in No. 2 shaft is without encouragement. No. 1 shaft is sinking at a depth of about 1,800 feet and apparently is into a zone of commercial value. No official announcement concerning the results obtained in the recent mill test are forthcoming, but it is said in unofficial circles that the yield obtained in this test ranged from eight pounds to fifteen pounds fine copper with a general average somewhat under 12 pounds fine copper per ton of rock milled. The mine is easily capable of making a much better showing.

Hancock.

The Hancock is centering activity in the big vertical shaft which, at a depth of about 3,650 feet, is expected to intersect the underlay of the formation opened in the Quincy property. The shaft is sinking at a rate of eighty feet per month and has attained a depth of 3,600 feet, so that expected developments are not far distant. A formation, thought to be identical with the so-called west vein of the Quincy-Pewabic series, was cut at a depth of 3,445 feet. This lode occupies a position approximately 200 feet west or above the Quincy main vein.

Champion.

The Champion, a subsidiary of the Copper Range Consolidated, is planning to work the territory south of the "E" shaft through drift extensions from that shaft. This will obviate the necessity of sinking a new shaft in that acreage. Four electric locomotives have been ordered and will be put in commission on as many levels to handle the rock mined in that ond of the property. The new plan satisfactorily solves the question involved in mining this area, which is overlain by an exceptionally heavy overburden, through which shaft sinking could be conducted only with utmost difficulties, and will be the means of saving from $300,000 to $500,000 estimated cost of putting a shaft down at that particular point in the company's territory.

SIXTY WORKING AT SHATTUCK

Bisbee, Ariz., May 4.—With further work the importance of the discoveries in the Shattuck mine becomes more evident. This property is now employing a force of sixty men and is devoting especial attention to recent ore encounters on the fourth and fifth levels. On the latter there was encountered last week a fine deposit of rich ore. It is on the same fault as is the oncounter that is being explored from the fourth level but several hundred feet away. This ore, from present reports, is of very good quality, but does not run quite so high as the remarkable deposit that is being explored from the 400 level.

Work of exploration and raising from the 400 level was continued last week. This is where the encounter was first reported of remarkably rich copper glance. The exploration work here has brought the raise to the 300 level and has determined the fact that this rich body extends from at least as deep as fifty feet below the 400 level to the 300 level. The ore in this body varies from 18 to 40 per cent in copper, and besides this carries high values. Ore taken out in this exploration work is being shipped to the Copper Queen smelter at Douglas, and no shipments are made of ore running lower than 12 per cent. As this ore is an oxide it is especially desired for smelting purposes, and it is understood that the contract for reduction now in operation is the best which the Shattuck company has ever obtained.

No announcement of location of smelter site has as yet been made by this company. Mr. Shattuck made two trips to Douglas on this matter last week, but after neither of them did he make any announcement.

IS WAITING FOR NEW EQUIPMENT

Ore Body at Capote Mine of Greene-Cananea High Grade.

Cananea, Mex., May 4. — The Greene-Cananea company is working along the same lines as heretofore, but is preparing for the installation of new equipment which has been ordered for about a month. This includes two new 375-horse power Sterling boilers, two converters of the Great Falls type, a converter blower, electric crane, balloon flue for the converters to the main stack and other smaller equipment necessary with the two when the new equipment is in use. Two Sterling boilers have been already added to the powerhouse equipment, being moved over from the Duluth mine, and the blower is now being installed. Material for the other equipment is now on the way from the various manufacturers.

Last week the company received twelve new Ingoldsby ore cars of twenty-five tons capacity for use on its narrow gauge railroad.

The ore body at the Capote mine has been shown to run as far down as the seventh level and the extent of it not known yet as no great amount of development work has been done. However, the body is known to extend from the third level down to the seventh and averages 10 per cent copper. No actual mining operations are being carried on at the Capote, all work being confined to prospecting and exploration.

Considerable water is being encountered at the Cananea-Boston mine in the drift on the 200-foot level and before much work can be done a pump will have to be installed. The water is being baled out with the use of a whim and bucket. The drift had been run a distance of about eighty feet when the flow was increased and no more work can be done in drifting until the water is controlled. Several stringers of ore were encountered just before the water was made.

MINING BOOM AT VIRGINIA CITY

Duluth Man Inspecting High-Up Group for Eastern Capitalists.

Virginia City, Mont., May 4.—A great deal of activity in a mining way has been going on in this city the past week that bids fair to make Virginia City a good live camp the coming summer. S. J. Bukvich, a prominent mining man of Butte, has been in town most of the week and has purchased the mining property of "Governor" Bell, consisting of the Bell mine, a half interest in the Grand Union and a half interest in the Bell Fraction. This property is located in Alder gulch, about three miles above Virginia City, and possesses an unlimited amount of low-grade milling ore. Mr. Bukvich has four men at work on the property at present and will employ a number of others at once. He is negotiating the lease of the Grant mill, which is in the neighborhood of the mines and if successful in leasing the mill will run it to full capacity the coming summer. The Grant is a 15-stamp mill and to keep it running to full capacity would give employment to thirty-five or forty miners. In case he is not successful in leasing the mill, Mr. Bukvich states that he will erect a mill of the same capacity near the mines.

Prof. Kerr of Duluth, Minn., has been in town the past week inspecting the High-Up group of mines owned by E. W. Merritt. A large body of high grade shipping ore was recently uncovered in this group and Prof. Kerr is making the examination in the interest of a party of Eastern capitalists who are considering the purchasing of the mine.

ADIRONDACK VEIN OF NORTH BUTTE

Recent Developments Highly Encouraging for the Pilot-Butte.

Butte, Mont., May 4.—Recent developments on the Adirondack vein of the North Butte property have been highly encouraging. The ore on the 2,200-foot level is said to be averaging from 6 to 7 per cent copper and to carry about seven ounces of silver to the ton. The ore body is showing a width of about seven feet on the average. This development is regarded as of much importance, as the general width of the ore body is greater than on the 1,800-foot level, which, in turn, is much wider than on the 1,600-foot level. The average value of the ore is also greater on the 2,000 than on the 1,800 and 1,600 by about 3 per cent copper and three ounces of silver to the ton.

From the Snowball vein, as well as from the Berlin, the North Butte company is now shipping the greater portion of its high grade ore. Some of the ore runs as high as 30 per cent copper.

Both of these veins are developed as far as the end lines of the Pilot ground, and in order to prove their continuity through the Pilot, of which there does not seem to be a doubt, the Pilot-Butte company is now sinking its shaft to a depth of 2,000 feet. This work is being accomplished at the rate of between eighty and ninety feet a month, and, as the shaft is now down about 1,000 feet, in less than another year the Pilot should be a producer of high grade ore to such an extent as to make the Pilot one of the great mines of the district. It is confidently expected, however, that with its showing on the 900 and 1,300 foot levels, the Pilot should be in the producing class in considerably less time from its upper levels.

MICHIGAN MEN VISIT J. D. RYAN

Calumet & Hecla Officials Paying Visit to the Butte Mines.

Butte, Mont., May 4.—"Our visit to Butte has no special significance," said Vice President R. L. Agassiz and General Manager James Naughton of the Calumet & Hecla Copper company at the Thornton. "We are in Butte especially to visit John D. Ryan."

"You know Mr. Ryan and I are boyhood friends," said Mr. Naughton, "and I have been so busy during the past several years that I have not previously taken advantage of his invitation to visit him here. I had looked forward to this particular visit with a great deal of pleasure."

Mr. Ryan and William Thornton, president of the Greene-Cananea, were conversing with the distinguished visitors when the reporter asked Mr. Agassiz for an opinion on the general outlook for copper.

"What, with these copper magnates on either side of me?" laughed Mr. Agassiz. "We have got these genelemen away from home," rejoined Mr. Ryan.

"We have just arrived in your wonderful city," said Mr. Naughton, "and it is a bit too soon to be able to say anything of interest."

This is Mr. Naughton's first visit to Butte. Mr. Agassiz was here for a few days about twelve years ago. They will remain the guests of Mr. Ryan for a week or more and will visit Anaconda, Great Falls and other cities during their Montana visit.

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

YESTERDAY there was a man from Los Angeles in our midst. Boosting Los Angeles in general, as they have a way of doing business and increasing population on the coast, the native son declined absolutely to grow enthusiastic over Jose Rivers. The gentle stranger in our midst says luck, spelled with the large "L" and raised letters, is the explanation of the Rivers boy. Thus are some of our suspicions confirmed by one of the roamer from the land of sunshine. "The first time he fights outside the city of Los Angeles he will be beaten," said the dweller on the gentle slope of the Pacific. "They robbed Johnny Kilbane in his first fight out there. Even those who placed their money on the Mexican stood up and yelled at the referee. In the second fight there was no chance for Rivers to get the decision, for you may happen to remember that Kilbane knocked him out.

"We have a great country, son, and some town. We have increased 290,000 in the last ten years, and, mind you, I am not in the real estate business. I am in line with the other boosters and have been innoculated with the bosting germ; but, and I pause for deep reflection, don't get me mixed—I am not one of those who harbor the hunch that Jose Rivers is a great fighter.

"If Wolgast is anywhere the man he was before the medical men consulted over him and then searched for and found his appendix, stealing the same from him—why he will make the Mexican look like a dray horse that has started through mistake with a bunch of thin-legged equine greyhounds for some stake event.

"Though I don't like to get promiscuous with this stuff, it has ocurred to me in the past that this Rivers person has a streak of ochre up his back. This Wolgast is built for destructive purposes. Believe me, brother, this thing looks to me like leading a Mex to a beating that the police may be called upon to prevent.

"So long, I got a date. We will meet here again."

BARNEY OLDFIELD is training for a come-back in the automobile game. He boxes and runs and fights fat and two husky trainers. He looks not upon the champagne, so they say, while it bubbles. Barney loves life, which, you may have observed, is composed of things that cost money ,and that is the answer to his re-entry of a sport that he promised Mrs. Oldfield and J. Alex Sloan he was through with for ever. One of these days, though it is of no use being pessimistic, he may run into a fence or a bad rut or a streak of ill luck, and then there will be no use of trying to persuade him to leave the track.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

SOME of the more optimistic say that there are prospects of having some work started on the automobile road between Duluth and the Twin Cities. Auto owners at the Head of the Lake are certainly restricted in the number of drives they can take in their financial investments. Maybe we should not place it as an invesement. But one could suggest that the automobile club of this city let some of the outsiders know that it was fond of doing things. We need some agitation on the good road proposition in this part of the state—well, the answer is the automobile club.

Human nature is like the measles and the rash—it is liable to break out in unexpected places. Thus we should not be surprised in the least to hear George Stoval say something about the Naps under the rudder hand of Harry Davis, nor would it be strange to have Hank O'Day say that umpiring was after all more difficult than the running of a baseball team, despite what Clark Griffith might have to say to the contrary.

To be serious, just for the moment, it might be said that what small chance Jim Flynn has against Jack Johnson depends entirely upon how far Artha has suffered from dalliance and that deep flirt with the wassail and the tilting of the flagon. How awful he must be! Time and J. Barley Corn are the most prominent white hopes at the present time. Jim Flynn thrives because it is an off year, pugilistically speaking. We spoke yesterday with a man who witnessed the fight between Flynn and Langford at Los Angeles. He shook his head sadly when pressed for details, allowing after being pressed, that there was nothing to it but worry regarding the recovery of Flynn. After he left the hospital—but, here now—really, there might be such a thing as Johnson slipping woefully.

Howard Morrow is going to be one of the trainers of Jim Flynn. What the Pueblo can't do to Johnson he will probably be able to do to Morrow.

Homestakes Want Games.

The Homestake baseball team has been practicing every day rain or shine for their game this afternoon with the boys team of the Ely school which will be played on the Fifty-second avenue grounds.

There is some talk of organizing a six-team league for the kid teams of the city and the Homestakes are ready to meet any 16-year old team for the championship of the league.

GERMANY RANKED AS OLYMPIC CONTENDER

Teutons Have Some of the Best Track Athletes in Europe, and Should Prove Dangerous Rivals for America.

The contention that America will clean up in most approved style and score even more points than at the previous Olympiads is considered by those who have studied records from abroad somewhat untimely. Though America may win for the fifth time, it doesn't follow that Uncle Sam's boys will wipe up the sod with their foreign brethren as easily as they did before.

The Swedes, for instance, figure on capturing the championship trophy, while the Germans, too, are brimful of confidence. Ernie Hjertberg, who has been preparing the Swedish material for the last year or so, writes to friends in New York advising Americans to be on their mettle.

Kaiser Wilhelm's subjects are dangerous contenders for the leadership of athletics in the world. Germany's foremost stars, who are depended upon to score many points, include Ralph Pasemann, who won the Harvey cup for scoring the greatest number of points in the English championships; Hans Braun, one of the best middle distance runners to be found anywhere, and Herman Rau, one of the most consistent winners of sprints from 75 to 220 yards.

German Papers Confident.

You can't help but admire Germany's nerve when her newspapers chronicle what these three star athletes will do to America's best in several of the most important events on the Olympic program.

Pasemann is an all-round athlete of ability. He is a high jumper of note and can pole-vault several inches over twelve feet. He is also a good broad jumper and has been credited with over twenty-two feet a number of times.

Rau has easily defeated "Tex" Ramsdell at 200 meters. Braun and Rau have never been put to a real test, so that one cannot say much about them, except elaborate on their records and from what has come second-hand from the other side.

Rau belongs to the Berliner Sports club. He is considered the best German runner at 75, 100 and 200 meters distances.

The doughty German showed he was to be classed with champions in the sprint line and hurdles by scoring the most points in the international meeting held at Stockholm, early last September. He captured firsts in three events, the 100 meters, 200 meters and 110 meters high hurdles.

His time for the first event was 10 3-5 seconds, aided by a strong wind. For the hurdles, he did 15 9-10 seconds, and running with the wind was clocked in 22 3-10 seconds for the 200 meters.

These are only a few choice wins Rau has to his credit.

Smiling Hans Braun.

Then there is Braun, nicknamed "Smiling Hans," who also holds a victory over an American, none other than Harry Gissing. Braun trimmed the former American half-mile champion in the English champs in the 880-yard run. Gissing declared, upon his arrival home last summer, that he considered Braun the equal of the best champion middle-distance runners in America. The German did 49 seconds, but had he been pushed a little harder he would have fared better. As it was, he clearly showed he was to be considered among the best in future competition.

For the 1,500 meters he has done 4 minutes 14 3-5 seconds two or three times. He is a member of the Munchener Sports club.

Pasemann is the German and English title holder in the jumps and pole vault. Next to Braun, Pasemann performed second best in the English championships. He won first places in the running high jump with a jump of 6 feet, and the pole vault with 12 feet. He is a consistent 6 feet 3-inch man for the high jump.

Germany has never scored a first in any event of the four Olympiads to date.

Carey Looks Good.

In acquiring the services of Sprinter Carey of Annapolis, Track- Captain Matt Halpin of the New York Athletic club, captured a trump card, and sooner or later he will bolster up the team and make it as strong as it ever was. Halpin will steer the "middle" for a place on the Olympic team, and if his past performances are taken into consideration he is entitled to defend the Stars and Stripes in Sweden.

He has a record of 9 4-5 seconds for 100 yards, which he made at the dual meet between Annapolis and the University of Pennsylvania last May. He has done 21 4-5 seconds for the furlong, but it is said he can do better and is looked upon to join the record holders for that distance in the time of 21 2-5 seconds.

Carey, who is attached to the battleship Vermont, is considered one of the best sprinters ever developed in America. He is in strict training at Annapolis with a view of satisfying the selecton committee he ought to make the bg trip.

When he won the 220-yard race he trounced G. W. Minds, who was a close runner-up to Ralph Craig, when the latter came home in 9 4-5 seconds for the intercollegiate championship.

CONNIE MACK STILL HAS GOOD PITCHERS

Morgan, Coombs, Plank and Bender Expected to Give Good Service in American League Race.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 4.—There have been stories printed earlier in the year by out-of-town critics who have made predictions that Mack's staff might crack, and thereby cost the team the going to shrivel up. In the first game of earnestly striving.

This pessimistic dope was not based on any facts or tangible evidence, says he North American, but simply on the silly speculation that "the pitchers might go wrong this year." In one season four powerful, healthy, competent pitchers are to see their arms drop helplessly to their side and their pitching days gone!

Possibly the only reason for framing up such a tragedy is because Messrs. Bender, Coombs, Plank and Morgan have been such consistent winners in the past and, therefore, can't keep up much longer. The same might have been said of Mathewson in 1905, Walsh in 1908 and Cy Young in 1892, but all of these accomplished curvers, nevertheless, were able to make good batsmen pop them up for many years afterward.

Coombs Good at Start.

Surely the Athletic pitchers didn't start the season as if their arms are going to shrivel up. In the first game of the season Coombs didn't let a Washington player make a base hit until after one man had been retired in the eighth inning. In all, he was touched four times, showing his usual mastery in pinches. It was wonderful work for a first-game effort.

In the second game played, Morgan held the same team to one fluke swipe. Only three faderalists reached first base and after the fourth inning the Washington players were retired in order. Morgan, in early April, gave one of the greatest pitching exhibitions ever seen in Philadelphia.

These two games hardly show that something is wrong with Mack's pitching staff. As a matter of fact, Mack's big staff should last indefinitely. Chief Bender led the American league pitchers last season, and was never forced.

Mack nursed Bender through the entire season, and probably no other leading pitcher in the league had less wear and tear on his pitching arm. It must be remembered that Bender is not an old man and didn't spend several seasons pitching in the minors. He joined the Athletics as a youth in 1903, and is still under the 30-year mark. Bender has been so well taken care of that he should be good for several years more of competent work.

Coombs is by no means an old man, coming to the Athletics in 1906. He was never used much except in the last three seasons. Coombs is still in his prime. There isn't the slightest thing the matter with him. He is a big-brained, giant New Englander, who simply can't help being successful.

Great in Big Games.

At Colby college Coombs represented his alma mater in the sprints. He is a natural athlete. Like Mathewson, Coombs represents the last word in pitching. There has been no surer pitcher on record in an important game.

He has never been defeated in an important game. His work in the 1910 and 1911 world series was wonderful. Mack says of Coombs: "In an important game away from the home grounds, I would select Coombs to pitch for me in preference to any other man."

Coombs is truly a wonder. He is likely to break up a game at any time, for he is always a dangerous hitter, and he is the fastest pitcher on his feet in the country today. Coombs has no weakness in baseball, and must be ranked with celebrities like Cobb, Jackson, Collins, Lajoie and Wagner.

Bender should be just as effective this season as he was last. Like Coombs, Bender is a Marshal Ney in a tight place. He is the greatest home-ground pitcher in the country. He is unbeatable at Shibe park; he doesn't even have an off day.

Timed by Mack.

Mack preps Bender himself, and, when Mack sends him in, Bender will win in the majority of games. Mack knows just what he can do and just how far he can go. He wouldn't think of pressing him. Bender has been nursed better than any other pitcher in the country. Mack is still holding him for important games in 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915. He knows he can deliver.

The tall Chippewa, like Coombs and Mathewson, can do something besides pitch. He fields his position fine, and he can hit. One of the great strengths of the Athletics is that nearly every pitcher on the team can hit, excepting Morgan. From the first baseman down to the pitcher, there is not a weakling in batting on the list, when Coombs, Bender, Plank, Krause and Russell are pitching. Every one of these five pitchers can whale the ball, and this counts greatly in a season.

Plank is the dean of the pitching quartet. Last season he had one of the best years in his career, for it was his great work at the start of the race that prevented the Athletics from being left at the post.

Why Plank Will Last.

Plank is another pitcher that Mack doesn't overwork, and in his veteran days he still shows all of his former strength. Plank is a man of good habits, and, while he is starting his twelfth year as a major league pitcher, he should be good for several more seasons on that account.

If anything, he is getting better. Plank couldn't beat the Giants in the world series of 1905, but he came back in 1911 and out pitched and out gamed Rube Marquard, a young left-hander, heralded as the best in the National league. Good American league batsmen will tell you that Plank's crossfire is today one of the hardest deliveries pitched to them to hit.

Harry Krause, the second string left-hander, reports this season about thirty pounds heavier than last season. It was only a lack of beef that injured Krause's chances.

Mack has never lost the slightest faith in Krause, and still thinks that he is going to be a big winner for the Athletics. With Krause bigger and heavier than a year ago, he ought to win more games than he did in 1911.

Lefty Russell's career here is a matter of doubt. Reports from the South credited him to be in better health and a much more promising pitching candidate than a year ago. Russell blamed his poor showing of last year to illness, and Connie agreed with him. Russell may yet vindicate his purchase from Baltimore.

Danforth Shows Promise.

David Danforth is picked by nearly every member of the team to make good this season. He did a wonderful work for a recruit a year ago. Danforth is in the best of shape and ought to earn his salary.

The only juvenile pitchers who have attracted the attention of Connie are Brown, Houck and Salmon. The first two named did excellent work against the Phillies in the spring series and will receive a good trial.

Mack isn't worrying about his pitchers, for he thinks he will show just as much curving strength this year as he did last season.

McFARLAND HAS EARNED FORTUNE

New York, May 4.—According to a statement by Packey McFarland here, his $10,000 reward for defeating Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, brings his total winnings in the ring up to an even $110,000. His figures show that an additional $90,000 represents his earnings in theatrical sidelines, making a grand total of $200,000 since he knocked out his first opponent, Pete West, in two rounds, eight years ago. He received only $25 for that initial appearance.

McFarland, as is well known, is thrifty and economical. Most of his earnings are carefully salted away. He has no bad habits, his friends say and is only 24 years old, so that he expects by the time he retires from the ring, to find himself within reaching distance of the millionaire class.

When McFarland left the garden after whipping Wells, he hurried back to his quarters in the Bronx and sent out for a quart of ice cream. As he slowly got away with it, he remarked:

"This is my weakness, boys. It makes me feel fine."

Contrary to the old habits of victorious fighters there was no popping of champagne corks, no expensive cigars and no all-night revelry. McFarland was in bed fast asleep two hours after he had disposed of the British champion.

JOHNSON PREPARING TO BEGIN TRAINING.

Chicago, May 4.—Jack Johnson said today that he would start for his training quarters in about three weeks.

"Johnson's party will consist of Clyde Brooks, Marty Cutler, Jim Smith, John Perkins and Walter Monihan, trainers; his wife and mother, a piano player and a chauffeur. Tom Flanigan, who trained Johnson at Reno, may join the camp later. By a special clause in the fight articles, Johnson will be permitted to take two automobiles with him.

Johnson is doing a little light work now. He weighed 226½ pounds, stripped today.

BAD YEAR FOR CHAMPIONS, SAYS FIREMAN JIM.

Kansas City, Mo., May 4.—"There is going to be a bad year for champions" said Jim Flynn, the Pueblo heavyweight, who was here a few hours today en route to Las Vegas to begin training for his fight with Jack Johnson on July 4.

Flynn said he weighed 221 pounds but he does not expect to tip the team at more than 190 when he enters the ring with the negro champion.

"I am just right at that weight" he said.

FOUR TEAMS IN LEAGUE

Duluth, Superior, Winnipeg and Grand Forks the New Arrangement.

Meeting Will Be Held in Duluth Monday to Prepare Schedule.

Virginia has refused to come into the Central International, the men interested in baseball at the range city saying that a four-team league has no allurements for them and that such a league is too small to create any interest in baseball.

With the refusal of Virginia to come into the league Grand Forks was admitted and with Duluth, Superior and Winnipeg will compose the league.

The season is expected to open here next Wednesday with Winnipeg opposed to Duluth. Grand Forks is scheduled to play at Superior.

Sometime after May 24 the men interested in the league say they will make an attempt to get two other clubs into the organization. Now in the case of a close pennant fight, how would the flag be decided? But that, perhaps, is leaping ahead for trouble.

Grand Forks has signed some players, and will complete a team between now and next Wednesday. Winnipeg, Duluth and Superior have their players.

While the schedule has not been definitely settled upon as yet, the smallness of the league will make fewer trips imperative and will also necessitate the stay of one club to be prolonged.

A meeting will be held here Monday to adopt the schedule.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 4.—The Grand Forks baseball club, recently organized temporarily, will make application for admission to the Central International league, and when the meeting of the league is held at Duluth next Monday, this city will be represented.

Last night at a meeting of local baseball fans, it was found they had been successful in securing sufficient funds to swing the league club, and an executive committee, which was appointed will meet tomorrow with Harry Lohr of Winnipeg, expecting to close a contract with him as manager for the year.

Lohr already has a number of men lined up, including "Wild Bill" Donovan, and his team will be here within seven days after the deal is closed. The league is scheduled to be arranged in Duluth Monday.

FOOTBALL MEN WILL GET "M'S"

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Vincent will award football "M's" to fifteen members of the 1911 squad in chapel Monday, May 6. The custom of "Letter Day" was originated by President Emeritus Northrop and is to be continued under the new administration.

In addition to the gold "M's" to be placed on maroon sweaters, the men will be given silk watch fobs, engraved with their names and the record of the squad. A large maroon blanket bearing a gold "M" is also awarded to players receiving the college insignia for the first time. Eight of the fifteen men are thus receiving blankets, among them being Wallinder from Duluth, called the "Thundering End." The others receiving blankets are: Tobin, Aldsworth, Capron, Hayward, Johnson, Elder and McAlman. The veteran members of the squad include Capt.-elect Morell, Powers, Frank, Smith, Robinson, Stevens and Rosenwald.

CHAMPIONS WIN A WEIRD CONTEST.

Philadelphia, May 4.—Philadelphia defeated New York yesterday, 18 to 15. Thinking he had the game safe, Manager Mack sent Salmon, a young southpaw, in to pitch in the ninth. Salmon was wild and ineffective and Russell, who was sent to the rescue was no improvement. After ten runs had been scored off their pitching in this inning, Plank went to the rubber and the game ended when Simmons was doubled up trying to steal second as Cree fanned.

WHITE SOX ARE STILL WINNING.

Chicago, May 4.—Chicago defeated Cleveland yesterday 7 to 4. Bases on balls with the assistance of errors gave the locals the lead, but bunched hits and an error enabled the visitors to tie the score. A batting rally in the eighth gave Chicago three runs and the game. Lajoie strained some of the muscles in his side while practicing before the game and was unable to play. It was said that it is an old ailment, and it may keep him out of the game for some time.

JOHNSON HOLDS BOSTON HELPLESS.

Washington, May 4.—Walter Johnson held Boston to three scattered hits yesterday, struck out eleven batters and Washington won, 5 to 1. The locals bunched a triple, single and double in the first inning on O'Brien, scoring two runs and practically winning then and there.

MILLERS WIN FROM LOUISVILLE.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—Clean support would have given Young a shutout over Louisville yesterday, but errors helped the visitors to their two runs in the last game of the series, Minneapolis winning 4 to 2. Seven of the Millers' ten hits were bunched in the fourth and fifth innings for four runs.

FRANK BAKER.

FATE UNKIND TO NAP RUCKER

New York, May 4.—"The Life of an Unbeatable Slabman with a Tail-End Club," is to be the title of Nap Rucker's first and last story (that is, if he ever writes one) of major league baseball. The star southpaw has worked for five seasons with the Brooklyn National league club, and always this team has finished in the second division, the Georgian winding up each year with a winning percentage higher than that of his club.

Nap Rucker, as all in these parts well know, hails from Alpharetta, Ga., Born and raised on the farm he was a typical backwoodsman when he first came to Atlanta to try out with the Cracker baseball club. This was way back in 1904, when Abner Powell was manager. Having been at the game only on back lots he knew but little and failed to make good with even a Southern league club.

When he first worked with the Cracker outfit Rucker did not think he had anything on his benders and was content enough to stop the game when turned adrift by Atlanta. He took his walking papers good naturedly, and went back to the farm, where he remained for the remainder of the season. It was the following summer before the baseball fever again got the best of him, and he then and there signed with Augusta, Ga., which club occupied a place in the South Atlantic league. This time he made good.

During a few months of 1904 Rucker was with Augusta, and the following season worked out the entire schedule, pitching such remarkable ball that he was drafted by Brooklyn, and there he has shined ever since.

Rucker is a southpaw that has "everything." He does not rely on a slow ball, fast one, the curve or his noodle, but mixes them all, and this carries him the limit usually with success. He does not use the spitter. He does not think it is any too good for a twirler's arm, and for this reason has never attempted to master it. But he has just about any other old assortment that the best can ever hope to boast of.

His first year in the majors Rucker set his best record. That season, which happened to be in 1907, Nap got away with 15 wins and met only 13 defeats. Since that time his average has not been so high, the decrease being easily explained when it is known that every other National league club, with the possible exception of Brooklyn and Boston, has strengthened materially in the last four years. This makes it much harder for the Georgia boy to get away with a game.

It is practically the unanimous opinion of all baseball experts that Rucker is the best southpaw in the National league and a runner-up for first in all baseballdom. He always turns out great work, which under the handicap of playing on a second division club is nothing short of marvelous. With a club like New York, Pittsburg, or Chicago, he would lose but very few games during a season, and would be right at the top of the pitching list.

Of unusually good habits, Rucker always takes the best of care of himself. During thewinter months he remains on the farm and spends his time in hunting.

ANGLERS WAIT UPON WEATHER

The Sun's Coming Should Bring Some Very Good Fishing.

If the weather shows the least sign of letting up and the sun should come out, and start to warm up on the ambrosial sidelines, there will be a merry bunch of fishermen hiking for the wooded streams and the mossy dells. The local colony has been vainly waiting for the sun to get on the job and the rain to stop. Once the weather becomes normal it is believed that the fishing will be good.

There has been comparatively little fishing done so far this season. Cold weather has kept the fish from biting and very few good catches have been reported. About the nearest that most of the regulars have got to the sport is to go down to the hardware stores and purchase needed tackle for the season.

Some of the bunch have their tackle ready since the opening day of the season and have not found the occasion to use it. Yesterday there was some fishermen from Minneapolis in our midst. These followers of the habits of Isaac Walton were on their way to the Bruel, one of the best early fishing spots in the Northwest..

POOR WILLIE HOPPE HAS A CASE OF NERVES

New York, May 4.—As a champion should be, Willie Hoppe is very nervous. A whisper disturbs him. Billiard playing becomes impossible if he can hear the conversation of the spectators. An unexpected noise sends him shuddering skyward. So that when he was practicing with Harry Cline the other night for a forthcoming championship match, his aides put in most of the time repressing airy gossip on the part of those who watched. In the Hoppe billiard rooms is a miniature bleacher, built up from Hoppe's table against the wall. On its various shelves many chairs are placed loosely. The people in the first row of chairs sibillated to each other. "Please," said Mr. Hoppe, turning to them, "do not talk."

They apologized. A moment later the people in the second row of chairs began to whisper. Mr. Hoppe's assistants shushed at them until they settled down. The people in the third row ventured on a teeny little gossip, and Hoppe assured them that he would not go on playing if all that noise was not stopped at once. Several of them apologized hurriedly, and for a time the billiard room was as still as a tomb at midnight. One could hear only the tap of the cue and the click of the colliding ivory balls, and the soft purring as they whisked across the green cloth. Then the gentleman with yesterday's jag, who had been asleep in the top row of chairs, rose, and mistily gazed at the scene. And then he thought to stretch.

Half a dozen assistants rushed for him, but none arrived in time. He had been standing sidewise to the wall, which he had not observed at all, and, when he shot out his husky fist in a soul-satisfying stretch, that fist hit the wall—and the first's owner came hurling through the bleachers, bringing with him the entire available supply of loose chairs south of Hudson's bay. It took the aides five minutes to pick enough chairs off so that he could be thrown out with proper circumstantiality. By that time Mr. Hoppe was trying his feelings on the German, plain language having utterly failed to give him relief.

PRESENT DAY PITCHERS FAIL TO SHOW ENDURANCE OF BY-GONES

Good pitchers are almost priceless. The $22,500 that was paid for Marty O'Toole by the Pittsburg club last August shows how eager the big league magnates are to get good pitchers and how willing they are to part with their money if they think they are getting a winner. O'Toole was only a minor leaguer, but he was considered the best of the season's crop of youngsters and he brought the price.

If the three National league contenders had been able to get a star pitcher like Walsh or Johnson last July it would have been an easy matter to get the money back before the end of the season. The fact that the team could win would bring out the crowds at home and abroad in increased numbers so that the money would be brought in at the gate, and then it is worth nearly $100,000 to a club to get into the world's series these days.

Almost invariably after Mr. Baseball Rooter asks "Who won?" and the question is answered, he adds: "Who pitched?"

The late Addie Joss, famed hurler of the Cleveland club, during his entire career in the big show a box artist of wonderful ability and as clean-cut a soul as ever was identified with baseball, had it figured just about right when he remarked dring the training trip of 1911:

Eighty Per Cent of Game.

"Pitching is 80 per cent of the game."

Yes, the baseball winner must have a good, brainy catcher. Also a good, active infield. Also a good, clever outfield. And be led by a clever, crafty pilot.

And withal the good pitching must be there—must be there regardless of how well the team is directed, how brilliant its fielders, how hard it hits pitchers or how speedy its base runners.

Joss' little statement was backed up by about eighty of every 100 men whose opinions count. So Addie probably hit the nail squarely on the head when he did his figuring and gave out his example.

Practically every winter, the time of the year when the magnates go to bat, the pitching legislation comes in for argument. Honestly, baseball, aside from the pitching end of it, has experienced very few important changes since the old "one-old-cat game" was elaborated on and the game professionalized and placed first in America's list of sports.

Eight Balls Allowed.

The pitcher used to be allowed as many as eight balls. Now he gets but four and annually of late years certain club owners have striven hard to have the limit cut down to three. Then, it is not so many years since the pitching distance was changed from 45 feet to 60 feet 5 inches.

Furthermore, the pitcher is no longer allowed to make any bluff throws to first. Nor to soil the new ball—to rub it in the dirt, as formerly, so as to take off the gloss and thus be able to gain a firm hold. The pitcher is also allowed but five warming-up balls before each inning, whereas it is but a few summers ago when he could not only rub the ball around in the dirt, but could take as many warming up balls as he wanted to and also pull bluff throws to the first baseman.

Then into the game has come bunting and the hit and run. The old-time pitcher did nothing but pitch. Rather he was nothing like the infielder of the modern-day hurler. Then pitch outs—wide balls signaled for by the catcher when he and Mr. Base Runner are in the midst of a guessing match—have only recently come into baseball. They, too, go to make the work of the pitcher all the harder.

The big league teams of twenty years ago are scarcely carried over three pitchers. There were the famous St. Louis Browns, champions of the old American association of 1885, 1886, 1887 and 1888, baseball's lone four-time winners, the team directed by splendid Charlie Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox. Bobby Carruthers, who died last summer in an Illinois town, and Dave Foutz did the lion's share of the pitching and bringing the four championships to the mound city.

They alternated practically on the slab, especially in the Browns' important series, as Comiskey never had a third-string pitcher of much consequence until he landed Silver King in 1887.

Pitched and Played Outfield.

Then on such afternoons as Carruthers did not pitch he performed in the outfield. Foutz gave his club like service—pitching one day and keeping the slugging Tip O'Neill and the speedy Curt Welch company in the pastures next. Not until Tommy McCarthy, now engaged in the bowling alley and saloon business in Boston, joined the old Browns did Comiskey ever have a third outfielder of any ability, and, as the records will show and as the veteran baseballgoers know, the old Roman relied upon Carruthers and Foutz, his two premier pitchers, to complete the gardening work with O'Neil and Welch.

The old pitchers could perform on those lines—pitch one day and cavort in the outfield the next. Why? Primarily, of course, because the game was different. Just as the old heroes of the prize ring did nothing else but fight until Jim Corbett rewrote the ring sport and brought science into it—feinting, jabbing, shifts, footwork and all—our old diamond stars did nothing but hit 'er out, run wild and play individual ball.

The Pitcher But One-Ninth.

For the old time pitchers there were no bunts to handle; no pitchouts to give. He did nothing but pitch—serve up the ball as swiftly as he knew how, go after the strikeouts and trust to Providence for the ball to land inside of the yard and to be handled by his fielders.

In those days the pitcher was but one-ninth of the game. The scores were bulky. That proves he was not 80 per cent of baseball, as he is today. The infielders and outfielders have been left alone. Yes, they fill their stations differently nowadays—all hands playing for the batters, switching around as the different stickers come up and playing deeper fields. But there is precisely the same number of them and they cover precisely the same amount of territory.

Pardon the interruption, but when all is said and done the wisest man that was ever mixed up in baseball is easily the chap who hit upon the distance of ninety feet between the different bases. The game changes more or less practically every summer. But those ninety-foot distances remain unchanged and season in and season out the plays on the bases are the same—to borrow a race world appellation, "noses" at first between runner and ball and inches at second on the force plays and steals.

Change Pitching Distance.

The club owners have changed the pitching distance and the pitching requirements; the catcher has been made to stand behind the bat from start to finish; the fielders have developed into smarter and superior ground coverers, playing deeper fields and improving on their throws; the weight and "give" of the ball have been changed; monstrous, slow-footed men have given way to small, speedy youths and the brainy generals have devised new attacks and new defenses. But through it all—throwing baseball's advance from the stage where salaries were small and plants were cheap, to the stage where the best lawyers and the biggest business men scarcely receive sweeter stipends than the most famous of our ball players, and where $1,000,000 and $500,000 plants are growing common—the old ninety-foot distance between the bases remains unchanged, and every season it is proved that eighty-nine feet would be too short and ninety-one feet would be too long.

Need Lay Off Now.

Could the modern day pitchers do like their old confreres—pitch one day and perform in the outfield the next? No. In the National and American leagues nowadays there is scarcely a manager who as much as asks Mr. Pitcher to show up in uniform the afternoon following the one on which he has worked. He needs the lay off and he gets it.

Even such Sandows as big Ed Walsh, who forms 80 per cent of the Chicago White Sox; Christy Mathewson, who for upward of ten years has comprised fully that portion of the New York Giants, and Walter Johnson, who probably embraces 90 per cent of the Washington club, are not physically able to come back in less than four days.

That is because the pitching mighties nowadays must pitch with their arms and do practically as much infielding as the second baseman, third baseman or shortstop. The pitcher who cannot cut off the yard hits and go after the force plays, or dash in and scoop up bunts is worthless to his manager, even if he has as much speed as Amos Rusie or as puzzling a drop ball as Tom Ramsey.

WEATHER KEEPS OARSMEN IDLE

There will be no rowing by the Duluth Boat club candidates today. Weather has made it impossible for the men to get out on the water on all but two nights of the present week. Last evening the new men were sent for a jog and the veterans of the squad were fitted out with row boats and told to torture their rowing muscle and to laugh at the peeve of the elements.

If the express company keeps its promise the new eight and two new fours will be on the sliding in the yards Monday morning. It has been planned to have the boats taken down to the vicinity of the aerial bridge nad have the members of the squad carry the boats over the bridge.

Weather such as is prevailing at the present time makes the progress of the crew impossible and when the weather man finally comes out of it there will be some extra hard work to make up for the time that has been lost.

Another letter was received today from Delafield, Wis., suggesting that the members of the Duluth crew go there for a race in June. Nothing definite has been done about the race invitation of the Wisconsin school, but the chances are that there will be no race.

EDDIE MAPP WINNER OF GYMNASTIC TITLE.

Edde Mapp, crack oarsman and one of the best all-round athletes at the Head of the Lakes, won the all-around gymnastic championship at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening.

Henry Anderson and George Pyfer were the only two other entrants. Mapp scored 740 points, Anderson finishing three points behind and Pyfer scoring 470 points.

The work of the evening consisted of work on the horse, horizontal bars, parallel bars and some floor work.

MILWAUKEE MAY "CAN" PITCHER DON MARION.

Don Marion is slated for release by the Milwaukee team. The miserable showing made by the former member of the Duluth team, is the reason for the threatened can attachment upon the part of the Milwaukee management. Mrs. Havenor, controlling owner of the Milwaukee franchise, has ordered that the old players who have not made good be given their releases. "Biddy" Dolan is also among those who may be looking for work within a few days. Marion showed some form in practice before the opening of the season, but has been hit hard every time he has been sent to the mound.

BASEBALL NOTES

Pitcher Eddie Plank of the Athletics has started his twelfth year in fast company like a whirlwind.

Jack Kleinow, the former New York-Boston catcher, is doing some nifty backstopping with the Baltimore team.

If the Quakers continue to break into the hospital there will soon be no one left but Horace Fogel and the bat boy.

"Big Chief" Meyers, the Giants' backstop, is hitting like a pile driver. In his first nine games he made eighteen hits in twenty-nine times up.

With Jordan, Bradley, McConnell and Holly on the job, the Toronto infield looks like a page from a big league score book.

Pitcher Walter Johnson is still the party that keeps Washington on the map. The old Kansas boy makes the heavy hitters jump through a hoop.

"Hub" Perdue continues to be the winning pitcher for the Boston Braves. Without "Hub" the Braves would have been backed off Cape Cod by this time.

Bill Sharpe's Oakland team made a swell start in the Pacific Coast league. The Oaks lost the opening game and then won thirteen straight games.

During the absence of Manager Bill Dahlen, who was set down by President Lynch for hanging one on Umpire Rigler, "Wee Willie" Keeler was in charge of the Superbas.

You can't beat the White Sox when it comes to flashing real class. The Sox ride to and from the baseball yard in touring cars and a special car is provided for the war scribes.

Major league clubs all along the line are reducing the number of 25-cent bleacher seats. It is only a question of time when the two-bit boys will be a thing of the dim past.

Two years ago Johnny Evers sent Rollie Zeider a postcard after the Sox player had made five errors in one game. Rollie got even recently when the little Trojan booted five in one afternoon.

Several New York papers call the Highlanders "Pilgrims." Wonder what the Plymouth colonists would call them if they could see the baseball played by the Yanks so far this season.

Evidently a change of management has helped Providence and Jersey City in the international league. The "Clam Diggers" and the "Skeeters" have been going as fast as a scared "dinge" in a graveyard.

Wisconsin furnished a unique case this spring in which a ball player figured. About three months ago Frank Schaub, a former Fond du Lac player, was paroled from the state penitentiary after completing one year of a two years' sentence for perjury in a divorce case. Schaub was paroled with the understanding that he join the Appleton team, but before the season opened he got into another scrape and was returned to the penitentiary to complete his sentence.

Klaus Wins on Points.

New York, May 4.—Frank Klaus of Pittsburg out-pointed Jack Dillon of Indianapolis in a rather tame ten-round bout at Madison Square garden last night. The men weighed in the ring, Klaus turning the scale at 168 and Dillon two pounds lighter.

Schultz vs. Stanley.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 4. — Louis Schultz of Milwaukee and Bert Stanley of Racine were signed yesterday to meet in a ten-round boxing bout at Barnickels club on May 8. "Steamboat" Bill Scott and Bob Tracey of Milwaukee will also meet at the same show.

Likes Nickname Best.

Chicago, May 4.—"Jack Curley," manager of Jim Flynn, and promoter of the Johnson-Flynn heavyweight championship fight, doesn't like his real name, Armand Schuhl. He applied to the circuit court today, asking for a decree permitting him to change his name to "Curley."

Morris Knocked Out.

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—Luther McCarthy of Springfield, Ill., last night knocked out Carl Morris of Tulsa, Okla., in the sixth round of an eight-round bout before the Springfield Athletic club. Edward W. Cochrane, sporting editor of a Kansas City newspaper, refereed the bout.

THE INDIAN MOTOCYCLE

Ride a motorcycle. It's the most fascinating of modern vehicles. It makes you wholly independent and self-reliant—gives you the means to go anywhere, any time, at a moment's notice. For regular trips or just running about as the mood suggests, the Indian is the vehicle you need.

Count the Indians on the Road!

4 H.P. Single Cylinder, $200
7 H.P. Twin Cylinder, $250

Free Engine Clutch enables you to slow down and get off without stopping the engine and to start again without pedaling or running alongside. You simply move a lever. Maintained at small expense. The Indian has run nearly 32 miles on 1 pint of gasoline. Any speed from 4 to 50 miles an hour.

FIGHTER'S HANDS ARE TOOLS OF HIS SUCCESS

Cleveland, May 4. — After all, the hands are the thing. Without them the ideal fighting face or the perfect fighting build is as naught. And with them the head, the power and all the other requisites of the successful ring artist can have but secondary consideration.

Battling Nelson, who has stopped more battery charges than any fighter of a decade, had to go into temporary retirement a month or so ago because his maulers gave out. He banged Sammy Trott so often on the head at Springfield, Ohio, that the bones of his crippled punishers could not stand the strain after ten rounds and he had to stall out the rest of the fight. Just imagine the Dane having to quit on account of his hands! Talk about the irony of fate! Most of us pictured the battler sprawled out over five feet and a half of canvas, knocked "dead" by a punch. That seemed the plausible exit of Nelson from the game. We figured he couldn't stand the wallopings forever, even though he "ain't hardly human."

Hugo Kelly, the Italian middleweight of Chicago, fought Eddie McGoorty at South Bend recently and took a beating. The battle was the first go for Hugo in some months. He had been nursing a pair of bad hands. These game hands possibly kept Kelly from a title. He gave Papke more trouble than any fighter outside of Ketchel. The Italian was a clever fellow, with a cutting left hand, who administered more punishment than he received. But he had to take periodical layoffs on account of tender hands which were always getting hurt.

Until he injured his hitters, Frank Erne was champion of them all in the lightweight division. He was the possessor of a terrible punch, and many of the bones in both hands were splintered at one time or another, causing him much agony. While he was generally willing to put all his steam into a blow despite the pain he knew it would bring, in his later career he didn't take as many chances. Consequently a great deal of his effectiveness was lost.

Another fighter whose period of money making within the ropes was lessened by his hands failing him was Bob Fitzsimmons. Bob, of course, was old enough to quit when knocked out by Bill Lang three years ago, but he could have parleyed with the gloves for at least a year longer but for his fighting apparatus. It is remarkable, however, that Fitz's hands lasted as long as they did, for he was a terrific hitter.

If Bob Moha fails to cop the middleweight belt he may attribute his failure in large measure to weak hands. For the build of him and the strength, Bob has unusually frail hands.

Before his championship battle with Johnny Kilbane, Abe Attell made a special trip to Bonesetter Reese, at Youngstown, Ohio, to have the bones in his left hand set properly. If the great bonesetter had not relieved him Abe might have called off his bout with Kilbane.

It's a peculiar fact that the clever men are usually most bothered by weak hands. Kelly is clever, and so are Moha and Attell. Packy McFarland, too, has had trouble with his hands and he is very careful not to hurt them. It seems that the hands of boxers who place their blows cleverly are broken oftener than the clouters of such sluggers as Stanley Ketchel, Jim Flynn, Tom McMahon and Chicago Knock-Out Brown, a type that lets the gloves fly regardless of consequence. Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight king, has a set spot for most of his punches, and yet last year he was handicapped by a broken thumb on his right hand.

It is the object of all pugilists to save their hands, for they realize their worth. Better a slow head or a lack of science than bad digits. But even so, there are few fighters whose hands have stood the severe usage to which they are put. Mike (Twin) Sullivan is the only veteran I ever ran across whose hands had not been broken.

The next time a man with a known K.-O lick is content to neck away at an opponent with light jabs or frawy punches when it appears obvious he could knock his opponent for a goal, do not fay him for holding back. He is saving his most valuable possession —his hands.

JOHNSON TELLS WHY HIS DEMANDS ARE BIG

"Why have I insisted on $30,000 for my end, win, lose or draw, before I would enter the ring to defend my title?" says Jack Johnson, heavyweight champ. "Why, the answer is easy. I had a hard time to win the title, the climb to the top was harder for me than it was for the other champions. And there's another reason—as champion I am entitled to a champion's purse.

"I remember back in the old days when the matchmakers talked to me regarding a battle they would say: 'How much will you fight for, Jack —sixty-five dollars?'

"I would shake my head.

"'We'll make it seventy, then,' they would say.

"I have never forgotten those days, and I don't think I can be blamed for trying to get as good offers as I can while I am champion.

Wouldn't Touch $15,000.

"When I came back from England there were many who said that I was broke, that I would be willing to fight for most any kind of purse. I brought back three new automobiles with me, and before I had been back here two days I had any number of offers of $1,500 a week for theatrical dates and $15,000 offers for fights. I wouldn't touch $15,000. That proved pretty convincingly that I wasn't down and out.

"Up to the time I signed to meet Jim Flynn for the championship next July I had been ready for a long time to give any good heavyweight a chance at my title. I am not over anxious to fight, but being title holder it has been up to me to defend it if the right man came along. I believe that Flynn is the right man; he is the best fighter of the lot to my way of thinking. Many, however, seem to want to dodge the issue.

"One illustration will show what I mean. Some time ago I happened to be visiting the sporting department of a certain Chicago newspaper. While there one of the writers told me that a negro heavyweight had been telling how he would floor me if he ever got me in the same ring with him.

A Few Words With Klondike.

"This boxer was a man named Klondike. He is a big, rangy fellow with a good record. Klondike was working in a saloon at the time I am referring to, and the boxing critic offered to call him up and see what he had to say. He got Klondike on the wire, and I sat near by to hear what was going on.

"'Hello,' said the critic. 'Is this you, Klondike?' Then the critic asked him if he was sincere in his talk about wanting to fight Johnson.

"'You bet!' exclaimed Klondike; 'I'm ready to scrap with him at any time.'

"'Wait a minute,' said the critic. 'Here's Johnson now.'

"I took up the receiver and spoke quietly to Klondike :'What's this I hear?' I inquired. I guess he must have caught a cold in those few seconds, for his voice became hoarse in an instant.

"'I—I can't talk very well over the 'phone, Mr. Johnson,' he managed to say. 'Got an awful cold.'

"Handed It to Him."

"I was sick and tired of the talk he had been handing out in the newspapers, so I gave it to him good and plenty.

"'I don't think you are good enough to fight me for the championship,' I said. 'But if you want to meet me alone in some room in Chicago, leave $500 outside the door and the man who is able to return outside gets the coin. I'll take you on.'

"Klondike gasped, then excused himself and hung up the receiver. That's the way it goes. I don't think you could have dragged him into the ring with me.

"There's a chance that I may retire some day, the undefeated champion. Of course I'd like to do that for no fighter who has held a world's belt likes to have it taken away from him. If I stay in the ring long enough somebody may slip over the sleep punch one of these days.

"A fighter can't keep in his prime forever. Look at Joe Gans. He always was a grand fighter, way above his class. Yet his age got him finally, and he lost. I'm no longer a youth in years, even though I do think I have many more good fights left in me. I won't fight forever, however, and some day the time will come when I no longer can uphold the honor of world's championship—unless a fighter drops me before that.

"I've met many a good fighter in my time. One of the gamest who ever faced me was Kaufmann. I beat that fellow so badly that I literally cut him up and then sewed him together again. But there wasn't a whimper from him—he seemed to like it. They don't make any gamer fellows than Al, and I take off my hat to him, even though I defeated him. He has been game all through his career. When he was only a youngster Jack O'Brien beat him frightfully, but his spirit wasn't hurt a particle. Kaufmann's the kind that champions are made of. I'll back him against most of the heavyweights in the world today.

"For that matter, there aren't many really high-class heavyweights in the business. You can count them all up on the fingers of your two hands, and have a couple of fingers left over. Jim Flynn comes first. Then there are Sam McVey, Sam Langford and Joe Jeanette. I would like to have met Bombardier Wells over in England to see how good he really was. But some day I may have that opportunity.

"Every champion has his own special recreation. Mine is motoring. I've got my cars trained so that they'll do everything but eat out of my hand. Honestly, my favorite car is so well trained that it'll turn the corner at Thirty-third street without my knowing it. I may be thinking of something else, but when that street comes along the car turns.

"And, as a last word, don't forget the fact that Jack Johnson's going to do his level best to keep the belt when he faces Jim Flynn in that ring next July."

THE SURRENDER OF FRANK LEROY CHANCE

Injuries Force From Active Baseball One of the Gamest and Greatest of Modern Players.

Slew-foot, the stout-hearted, Slew-foot the undaunted, has passed away.

Know you who is meant by Slew-foot?

Perhaps not. Only his team mates and most intimate friends know him by that name. It was a name given him in affectionate, loyal derision by those who had fought many battles under his commanding leadership, and who had captured battle flags until the trophies contained dates that made them look like calendars.

Slew-foot is no Indian, as perhaps you may have imagined. Not he. Neither has he departed from this life and gone to the happy hunting grounds, where all good Indians and their favorite war ponies go when things on this mortal coil have become things of another life.

Gentle reader, if one may be bold enough to call you so, in plain English and letting the "cat out of the bag" Slew-foot is none other than Frank Chance, otherwise known as the Peerless Leader, who has quit the active playing field and has now retired to the little coop where the players get their ice water and rest between innings.

It was only a few days ago that short dispatches from the Eastern battlefields announced that Frank Chance had quit the diamond.

Had to Quit.

It took pain and sickness to drive Chance from the first sack from which position he has led the Cubs to many a hard fought victory. However, he did not give up until the doctors told him that his wise, scheming brain, wherein many cunning baseball stratagems had been evolved, to be executed brilliantly next day on the baseball field, would not stand the fierce rays of the summer sun beating down on an unshaded ball field. Chance has suffered too many blows in the head by a five-ounce ball hurled with all the tremendous speed of the fastest pitchers in the business, to stand the heat and fierce tenseness of a major league game.

This is no obituary of Frank Chance, as his name as a leader, if possible, is even greater than his name as a ball player and among these latter he has always stood in the front rank. In fact, some of the shrewdest judges in the business have said that Frank Chance is the greatest ball player that America ever produced. That is saying enough, as ball players are produced nowhere else, except in a few isolated places where they grow in small patches like palm trees in the desert.

Started Early.

When Frank Chance came to the Cub team fourteen years ago, he was a big overgrown kid. He was so big and strong for his years that he was awkward. But awkward was the only criticism that could be written against his name. He was fast. Heaven above, but he was fast. He weighed 190 pounds, and could do 100 yards in ten seconds flat, when he had to. And a bear didn't have to be chasing him, either.

Baseball fans in Chicago dearly love to recall the first time that Chance appeared in uniform as a regular player on the Cub team. But it wasn't called the Cub team then.

Adrian C. Anson, old "Pop" Anson, had just retired from the diamond, and the most popular term for the team among the Chicago sporting writers the first year following his departure was "The Orphans."

Chance was signed by the Chicago management as a catcher. He had absolutely no league experience whatever. He had not even played in a bush league. Most of his experience was gained at a little fresh water college at Irvington, Cal., and with the team from his native town called the Fresno Tigers.

The Grand Muff.

Chance appeared behind the bat in a game, and the first ball pitched the batter fouled high and straight up into the air. It was perhaps the easiest foul that a catcher could have been called upon to grab. There was no wind and the ball sailed straight up without a twist or a curve, and then began to slide gently back to earth. Chance fluttered under that foul like an old hen at the edge of a pond watching her brood of ducks on their first swim. He turned and twisted, ran back to the edge of the grandstand, and then nearly half way back to the plate. The foul fell with a dull sickening thud in the very spot Chance was standing when the batter hit it. People in the stand stood upon their feet and howled. They demanded that Chance be immediately taken out, and boiled in oil, while the more charitable yelled for a more merciful death in the form of hanging.

The young catcher merely gritted his teeth and stood up behind the plate. It would make a nice story to say that he starred from then on, cracked out three-baggers, threw runner after runner out at second, and performed other miacles of the N. P., which is code for national pastime.

But, sad to relate, he didn't. He did not miss any more fouls, but he committed other sins so grievous that to say that he "caught the game" would be rank hypocrisy. He just stood behind the bat, that was all.

But the young backstop showed qualities that afterwards made him famous. He was game. There was not a quitting hair in his head. He just kept trying. Finally he was tried out in right field. One game in particular, it was on the Fourth of July, and the bleachers in right field were filled, will always be remembered by the fan who saw the contest.

The right field bleachers were in a joyous mood, and they had plenty of giant firecrackers. Chance they didn't like, on account of his failure as a catcher. They goaded him and they threw their firecrackers at him. He misjudged two fly balls and let another one drop. But he did make three catches. After the game, Frank Selee, who was manager, said to Frank:

"Well, old boy, the firecrackers had you going."

"Firecrackers had me going?" yelled Frank in astonishment. "Like deuce they did. If it hadn't been for those murderers and porch-climbers trying to kill me I wouldn't have caught the three flies I did. I was determined to show them that I could catch a ball if it took both legs."

History, at least, baseball history, says that after that Chance was put on first base. By that time he had his baptism of fire, and he made good from the start. It would be useless to tell the story of his success from then on, as every fan old enough to read knows more about Chance's history than they do about the history of the "Father of His Country." Sufficient to say is that Frank Chance stands out as one of the greatest and most heroic figures in baseball. He has displayed on the field, qualities of bravery that would have made many a general a world-famous hero. Even the astute Connie Mack said of him:

"I take my hat off to Frank Chance. Last year with a team without a dependable pitcher, he was second in the National league, a feat which I think stands out as the most remarkable in his more than remarkable career."

Therefore, hats off to Chance.

A combined silencer and bayonet for rifles has been invented to save a soldier carrying both implements and having to change one for the other.

LOBERT RELATES OF HIS RISE TO MAJORS

Cincy Captain Says a Player Needs Nerve and Fighting Ability to Get Into Big Leagues.

(By Hans Lobert.)
Third Baseman of the Philadelphia National Club.

In these days when baseball has become a great profession as well as a great game and so many thousand American boys are looking forward to a big league career, perhaps a few words from one who has been through the experience might be acceptable.

The life of a professional ball player appeals to the healthy boy more than ever before, and it is right that it should. I believe one of the most wholesome effects of the national game has been the influence which it has exerted on the outdoor life and physical exercise which it inspires in the young. But, like all ideals, I must say it fades on realization, for it involves a great deal of hardship and disappointment. However, in the end it certainly repays a man for all his anxiety and labor.

The boy who is to make the big league player of the future gets his experience on the sand lots, in the back yards, or on the outlying fields of his home town. Here he receives his first valuable lesson in that training upon which his future success is built.

This is perhaps the most pleasant experience of a big league player's life, for any petty worries or cares which may come to him then are quickly lost sight of in the dreams he builds for the future. I suppose every boy taking part in these games sees himself sometime as a Ty Cobb or a Hans Wagner and the fact that most of these dreams never come true doesn't make the battles of the corner lot diamond any less pleasant.

Most of the boys, of course, who engage in these childhood pastimes go to higher schools or drift into other occupations or lack ability enough to progress in the ranks of the professionals. But those who have the most ability and most opportunity in time make a good enough showing to be taken on by some independent club. Here the training is more exacting, more steadying and more according to schedule. There is some of that system which was lacking in the first games of the player's earliest experience when he sometimes engaged in a game with seven men on a side and a ball made out of carpet rags. Here he begins to lose some of his ideal view of baseball in the hard knocks of practical experience and it is here, if ever, that he makes progress enough to call his work to the attention of some major league scout.

The First Contract.

It is a proud day in the life of any ball player when he signs his first contract. It does not make much difference how small the league is or how far down in the list of Class D clubs, it is at least a part of organized baseball and he is a real professional ball player. He does not stop to consider that there are thousands of players signed up yearly in this way and that only a few of them can ever hope to rise to a big league standard. He knows in a general way that many will fail, but he feels sure that he will not be one of this number.

It is here that the coach or manager begins to drill into him his first lessons in professional baseball. He learns much in fielding, batting and base running which he never dreamed of before. He learns to see how really little he did know about the game and how much he must improve if he is ever to attain his ambition. This minor league practice is a great school and like all schools it involves hard work and many disappointments.

The young player in the minor leagues has his eye fixed from the first on the majors with their high salaries and bright honors. He pictures himself as standing on the diamond some afternoon with many thousands of spectators applauding his brilliant feats. The picture looks very good to him so he works for it accordingly.

He may stay in the minor leagues one year or several years, but some day, if he is perserving and has it in him, his work will attract the attention of a major league scout. In this way he is recommended to some one or more of the big league clubs and after a good deal of negotiation he reaches the first step in the final realizations of his hopes and is signed on as a big league player.

He is now fairly entered upon the career for which he has worked and struggled so long, but after all he is no more than fairly entered. What he will do after he gets there and how nearly he will live up to his ambitions is a problem which no one can solve, least of all the player himself.

Ranks Crowded.

The ranks of the big leagues are continually overcrowded. In them, more than anything else, to my knowledge, there is a competition which is fierce and constant and which keeps a man keyed up to his maximum endurance from start to finish of the season's pennant race. The young player finds himself thrust rudely into this grand mix-up, where it is every man for himself, where the ties of friendship or appreciation of past service amount to nothing and where a man is judged solely and wholly upon his present abilities.

It is here that the young player is to experience harder knocks than have been his lot at any previous time in his career. He usually reports in the spring to the major league club and goes south to fit himself for the coming season. This is a trying period for him, and he invariably has to play for all that is in him to persuade the manager of his fitness for a place on the club. He has against him the very men whose record he has been trying to follow; those men who have already made a success in the vocation he has chosen for his own and he finds it a hard struggle to displace these tried veterans. Usually he doesn't succeed the first year; sometimes he has to spend two or three years or more of waiting for an opportunity which he sometimes thinks will never come, and when it does come, it is apt to be a failure. It is certainly far from an encouraging outlook.

After one of these trying spring trips when he has shown enough life and ability to persuade the manager to give him a chance, he comes north to take this chance only under the most discouraging conditions. At first all is pleasant enough. The newspapers have been watching his record in exhibition games and are almost always glad to give him a boost. Generally they give him too much of a boost, and this is bad all around. It raises the expectations of the public and it makes it so much harder for the new man to make good.

When the new "phenom" finally appears on a major league diamond, he finds himself watched by thousands of curious eyes. He knows that these people expect great things of him, for they have read the flattering notices of the press. He feels very anxious to live up to their expectations of his work, and because he is so anxious, he grows nervous and unable to do himself justice. Perhaps he fails to hit, he may field poorly or get mixed in some bad play on the bases.

It is here that the older players on the team begin to give him advice, and quite often blame him for plays which are not really his fault. If the young man has any spirit, it is up to him to resent this and argue the matter out with his teammates.

Usually the young player doesn't make good from the start. He takes part in several more games, perhaps fails in some of his best opportunities and is benched by the manager. It is here the older players begin to get after him and make life miserable for a while, just as the older students haze the new men in many colleges.

This is the time when the young player is having the crudeness and lack of finish of his bush league days ground out of him and the polish and finish of the big league player's work substituted in its place. This, I believe, is the real turning point of a big league player's life. If he has natural ability and faith in himself and has spirit enough and perseverance enough to stand the abuse and sarcasm which is heaped upon him from the other players, he is bound to make good, but if he becomes disheartened and discouraged, which is more than likely to be the case, he loses his nerve and has no prospect but a speedy return to the minors.

In short, this is the last and most strenuous experience of all. If the young player fails here, he fails for all time, but if he weathers the storm he is fairly embarked on a career as a major league player which should last, barring accidents, for several years, and which should repay him in good measure for the difficulties and hardships he has had to undergo in its achievement.

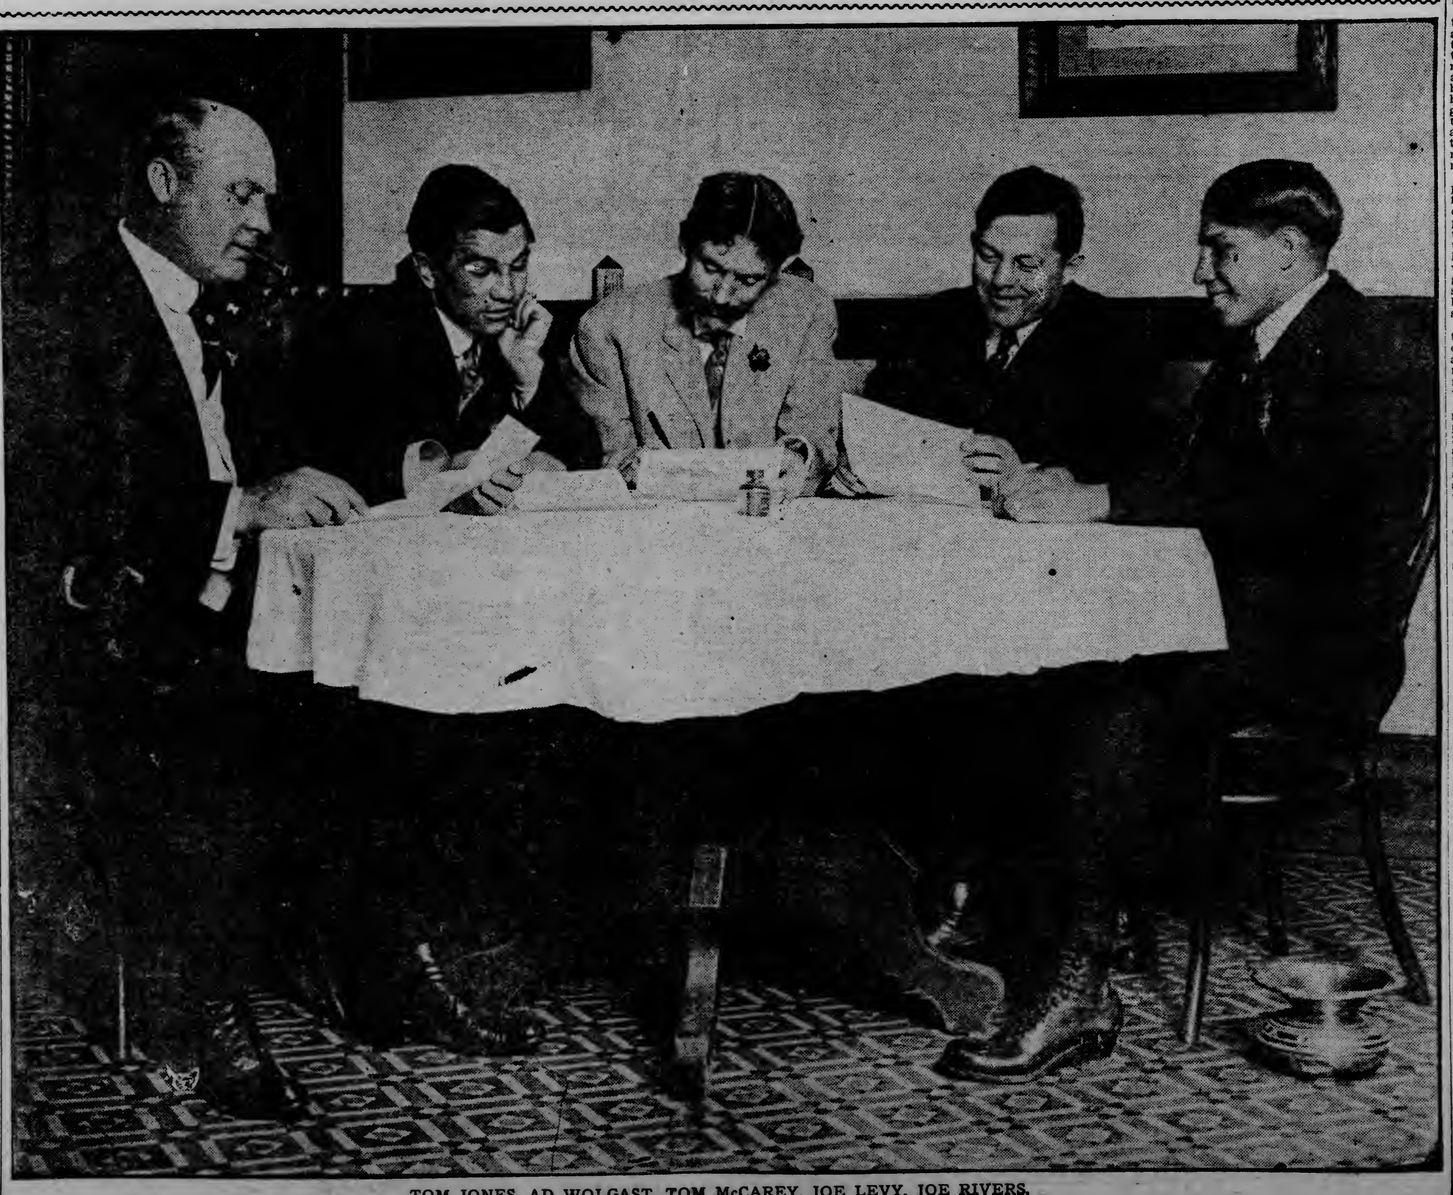
SIGNING THE WOLGAST-RIVERS FIGHT ARTICLES



TOM JONES, AD WOLGAST, TOM McCAREY, JOE LEVY, JOE RIVERS.

MINNESOTA ORATOR WINS SECOND PLACE.

Chicago, May 4.—Glenn Franks of Kirksville, Mo., a senior of the college of liberal arts, Northwestern university, won first prize in the annual contest of the oratorical league last night. His subject was "Morals and Machinery." Herbert J. Burgsahler of the University of Minnesota won second place. Honorable mention was given Harold P. Janisch of the University of Wisconsin.

Part of Swift Plant Burns.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 4.—Fire last night destroyed the fertilizer department of the packing plant of Swift & Co., in South St. Joseph. The fire was not under control until after midnight. Officials of the company refused to place any estimate of the damage.

AUTOMOBILES

WITH DULUTH AUTO DEALERS

The Mutual Auto company unloaded two carloads of Overland cars the past week, consisting of Models 59 and 60. Four of the cars will be driven through to the range towns, where they were sold, next Saturday. These two models at $900 and $1,200 are proving wonderful sellers, and the great difficulty is in getting them fast enough to fill the orders.

Mr. Filiatrault made a special trip to the Overland factory in the past week in order to have his allotment increased.

In addition to the above, the Mutual Auto company also unloaded a carload of Hudson 33 touring cars. They also have a carload coming through, via Anchor line boat, which will arrive in Duluth Sunday or Monday next.

Mr. Filiatrault has made three trips to the range towns via auto route in the past two weeks to deliver cars, and reports the roads in fair condition but somewhat rough after the frost left the ground. He also reports that work on the roads has been started in some places, and in a short time they should be in fairly good shape for auto traffic. The roads between the range towns are in excellent condition, and a great deal of work has already been done on them.

J. G. Moran of the Duluth Automobile company, 316 West First street, left Wednesday night for a visit to the Peerless factory at Cleveland, Ohio. This factory has announced the 1913 models, and Mr. Moran has gone down there to inspect them and to go through the factory and see just what improvements have been made in their manufacture, etc.

The Rapid Transit Auto company, 2110 West Michigan street, report active business in the repair and vulcanizing line during the past week. There is also a large demand for their Detroit-Abbott two, five and seven-passenger cars.

James Gannon, formerly connected with the Duluth Auto Supply company, has dissolved partnership in that firm and is now in business for himself at 21 East Superior street, handling the Stearns-Knight cars.

Duluth's first auto show is being held this week at the garage of the Electric Service & Repair company, 922 East Superior street. Large crowds have been in attendance and much satisfaction has been expressed in the showing made by Duluth agents.

W. R. Jenney of the Detroit Electric company, arrived in Duluth last Wednesday with a 1912 demonstrating car and is highly elated over the performance of the "Detroit" on Duluth hills, and is more than pleased with the reception given him by Duluth people and the interest shown by prospective buyers of electrics.

In giving a demonstration to one of Duluth's most prominent bankers last Thursday, Mr. Jenney was told to take the short cut to the boulevard, at the same time he was taken to First avenue west and told to go up around Cascade park. Mr. Jenney was surprised himself at the way the Detroit negotiated the hill to the boulevard. Mr. Jenney can be reached at the Spalding hotel or at the Mutual Auto company garage, for demonstrations.

The Interstate Auto company had a Kissel "50" run through to Cloquet and the drived reports that the road is bad, but he was able to get through in fairly good shape. The roads around Duluth are reported as being fairly good and very day finds them improving, especially on the other side of the bay.

Mr. Tozier, manager of the Minneapolis branch of the Diamond Rubber company, is in the city. He is very much pleased with the business outlook in Duluth and says that the demand for tires at the opening of the season will exceed the supply.

MURPHY WANTS THREE GOOD ROADS

Says Duluth and Twin Cities Should Work for Highway Improvements.

F. E. Murphy, one of the most widely known automobile dealers in the Northwest, has been in Duluth this week in atendance at the Mitchell auto show at 922 East Superior street.

During his visit here Mr. Murphy has been trying to arouse interest in better roads between Duluth and the Twin Cities. He not only urges the need of one good road connecting the three cities, but says that no less than three routes should be available.

He is introducing the Flanders electric car, and has met with a good measure of success.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM IN BIG CITIES

A serious problem confronts the authorities charged with making the laws and ordinances governing the regulation for control of vehicular traffic in the larger cities, owing to the conditions which have so changed as to warrant a modification in restriction as well as in other respects.

This is necessitated by the steady elimination of the horse from the congested thoroughfares, the education of drivers and pedestrians, improvement in motor vehicles and skill in their operation, coupled with demands for expeditious transit.

With the present agitation in New York city for a reasonable modification of the ordinance regulating the speed of motor vehicles, in which the Touring Club of America has been foremost in advocating, it is suggested that authority should be given to the police commissioner providing for the designation by him of such street intersections as may be deemed necessary, such as Fifth avenue at Forty-second street, where the traffic police would have the same jurisdiction over pedestrians as they now have over drivers of vehicles.

There are many other points in New York city which could be designated under such police authority, this recommendation being one of several offered by the Touring Club of America, which met with instant favor at the conference held last week at the City Club of New York, which was attended by police officials, members of the board of aldermen and representatives of the leading motoring organizations.

AUTO SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

Many Duluth People Inspected Mitchell Models at Show Room.

Duluth enjoyed its first real automobile show this week, and in spite of the very unfavorable weather, it proved a big success. There was a good attendance every afternoon and evening at the garage at 922 East Superior street, where Glen S. Locker had the Mitchell cars on exhibition. Several sales were made.

Had the weather been such as to turn the thoughts of Duluthians to automobiles, the showrooms would doubtless have been crowded throughout the week.

The success of this first show will probably pave the way for future shows of the kind, for no better method could have been devised of introducing the merits of the new models of the Mitchell car to Duluth.

SPEED MANIACS ON MOTOR TRUCKS

That distinctly revolutionary type of hilarious individual known as the speed maniac, who became particularly progressive with the advent of the automobile, now looms up as a special menace to the motor truck industry.

Experts interested in the commercial vehicle because of its economic possibilities, declare that the driver who throws reason to the wind in the operation of a truck and hits up too fast a pace, is unquestionably the most expensive feature of truck maintenance.

The manufacturers, in particular, attack the speed maniac and his methods. They argue that speeding is by all odds the most expensive of all the deteriorating influences to which tires are subjected.

A tire manufacturer recently said: "It makes no difference how well solid tires are made, or to what extremes the manufacturer goes to fortify them against the incessant knocks of road travel, they will not withstand the abuses of the speed maniac. Speeding is an evil that can result in but one thing—decreased tire mileage and increased tire expense. And the particularly aggravating feature of this is that it is a matter that cannot be regulated unless a driver obeys instructions and spends the truck along at a moderate pace. Reliable drivers do this, but there is always the other fellow who, as soon as he is out of sight of the boss, throws open the throttle and burns up the pavement. Such a man is decidedly expensive to the truck owner."

TOLL ROAD FOR AUTOMOBILES

An automobile toll road with specially constructed automobile birdges is one of the latest noveltles encountered in touring.

Two college men who recently made a tour of the Southwest have reported to the Regal factory, among their many other experiences, a run of over 100 miles on a road of this kind. The highway connects the towns of Roswell and Vaughn in New Mexico and as the other roadways of this district run through stretches of almost impassible sand this toll road, in spite of the fee of 5 cents per mile, is very popular with tourists.

The bridges along the route are most peculiar, being suitable only for automobiles. Over the ravines two troughs are built about four feet apart at their inside edges. In these troughs the wheels of a crossing automobile are guided and the sides of the troughs prevent the car from sliding off into the ravine. There is no planking between the two runaways for the wheels, thus the middle of the bridge is open the entire length and horse-drawn vehicles cannot cross over.

Such toll roads and bridges are being constructed in other parts of the West and these college boys state that in spite of the bad roads in many sections, touring in this part of the country is a most fascinating sport. Covering a course of 4,000 miles together in a roadster proved an ideal vacation and the men assert that they and their car are ready to enjoy an even longer run as soon as the cessation of class room activities permits.

MOTORCYCLE CLUB.

Meeting of Duluth Enthusiasts Will Be Held Next Tuesday Evening.

A meeting of the enthusiastic motorcycle riders will be held next Thursday at Walter Holmberg's shop, 528 Lake avenue south, to form a motorcycle club.

The object of this club will be to promote interest in motorcycle riding, arrange road races and endurance runs, etc., for the coming summer.

A great deal of interest is being shown this spring and from all indications more will be heard about Duluth's motorcycle club.

BIG JOB FOR THOMAS CAR.

Old New York to Paris Car Again on the Road.

Four years ago a stock Thomas car was racing from New York to Paris to maintain the prestige of American built automobiles and to win a bronze trophy offered by the New York Times and Le Matin of Paris.

Today the same car is again on the road to determine that Thomas technical service is an established country-wide institution and to prove to automobile owners that the Thomas slogan: "Nothing Counts Like Service," is not just a mere advertising phrase.

Neil Nohr and Elmer Miller, factory service men, are in charge of the car.

While primarily the dealer from whom a Thomas car is bought looks after the necessary adjustments and service work, the Thomas company goes a step farther and keeps a corps of expert service men on the road all the time to assist its dealers in the inspection of owners' cars and to see that all Thomas cars are giving the most efficient service possible.

The Thomas New York to Paris racer was a stock 1907 car and was undoubtedly the most talked of car in the world. Illustrations of the car appeared in newspapers and magazines so that it will be a familiar friend to the majority of motorists as it makes the towns and cities throughout the country.

Messrs. Nohr and Miller left Buffalo yesterday to cover New York state and New England. Rochester will be the first stop. They were given a great send-off by a number of Thomas owners, and newspaper men from New York, Chicago, Boston and Buffalo accompanied the service car to Rochester.

CHINESE PARTIAL TO AMERICAN AUTOMOBILES.

Authentic reports on the condition of the automobile market in China and other Oriental countries have just been made public as the result of the recent return to this country of R. M. Lockwood, head of the foreign department of the Regal Motor Car company.

In speaking of his adventures and impressions Mr. Lockwood said:

"Aside from being in India during the Durbar ceremonies I had the unique experience of passing through the scenes of the Italian-Turkish war, the Chinese revolution and the Mexican uprising.

"With regard to the automobile conditions in the countries I visited, it is a pleasure to report that the Chinese are very partial to American motor cars. The field, however, is limited, as the use of automobiles is confined almost exclusively to Shanghai and Tientsin. None of the other large cities have suitable streets or roads. In Egypt also automobiles can be used only in two cities: Cairo and Alexandria. There are no suitable roads elsewhere. As yet Egypt cannot boast of many cars and most of those that are in use are either of English or French make.

"In India I found the roads excellent, but nearly all the cars are of English make. The dealers themselves are Englishmen, and it is difficult to overcome their prejudice against American-made cars. These same conditions exist in Ceylon, though the field for automobiles is somewhat more limited."

1,000,000 MILES OF ROAD WILL RECEIVE ATTENTION.

A million miles of road in all parts of the United States this year will receive attention of one kind or another, as a result of the greater use of the highways, brought about mainly by the increased number of self-propelled vehicles.

In making this estimate, Chairman George C. Diehl of the A. A. A. national good roads board, believes the total is a conservative one, for there are now 2,000,000 miles of roads, of which easily one-half comes in for a substantial amount of daily traveling. In the spring reports which the good roads board receives from all parts of the country there is an unusual grist of information, indicating positive progress.

Down in Texas, the Texas Good Roads association and the Texas State Automobile association are combining in what will be known as a Farmer's run, a condition of which stipulates that the entrant must live on a farm or ranch, own his own automobile, and drive it himself. In the Lone Star state the percentage of cars sold to farmers has more than doubled during the past six months.

In Nebraska the legislative committee of the State Automobile association is preparing three measures to be introduced at the next session of its legislators. First there is provision for a state highway commission, and it follows as a natural sequence that there must be state aid in construction and maintenance. Another law will be one permitting the use of convicts on the roads, a plan followed most successfully principally in the South, though also being adopted quite generally in the West. Even New Jersey's legislature adopted a law permitting the use of convicts in road building. The particular reason why the Nebraskans are starting this early is because they intend to consult with legislative candidates, and will only support those who believe in up-to-date highways laws.

COAST-TO-COAST TRIP IS NEARING AN END.

Battling its way from Los Angeles to New York across the desert sands of the Southwest, the plains of the Central West, the rolling country of the Mississippi valley and the mountainous country of the Alleghanies and the Rockies, the Case "30" Ocean to Ocean car is nearing its goal. The car is piloted by Harvey Herrick, the world's road racing champion.

Like all trained drivers Herrick, when the problem of driving this car from the Pacific to the Atlantic was broached to him, gave it minute thought. Among the other problems that such a gruelling drive presents is the ever-recurring question of ignition equipment. Herrick guided by the past achievements of magnetos, decided to equip with the famous Remy. And today while the car is forging its way east, having turned its back on the Mississippi, Herrick is using the vital spark furnished by a Remy magneto to explode his engine and eat up the miles of road.

Herrick was guided in his decision by the J. I. Case company, which equips all its cars with Remy magnetos and with the record of the ignition device. This magneto furnished the spark that sent Bob Burman's Blitzen Benz hurtling across the sands for Daytona beach in Florida, a little more than a year ago, at the rate of 142 miles an hour and gave to the Speed King the world's straightaway records up to and including two miles.

Pointers for the Motorist.

At this season of the year when roads, in consequence of spring showers, are often muddy, most motor cars are coming in for their share of washing.

Washing tires and washing a car are two different propositions, says the Michelin tire expert. Water alone should be used to wash tires and as little of it as necessary. After every run the envelope should be wiped clean with a damp sponge or well-wrung cloth.

A common mistake made by motorists is to mix kerosene with water. This may be advisable when washing the body of a car to remove mud and dust from the varnish, but it should never be done when washing tires, because kerosene eats rubber. This fact can be readily proved by immersing a small piece of rubber in kerosene and allowing it to soak. The rubber will soon swell and lose its elasticity. The reason for this is apparent. Kerosene is rich in fatty properties, which remain after the evaporation of the gases. Every time a tire is washed with a kerosene mixture the rubber is deprived of more of its strength.

When washing tires it is best simply to dampen a sponge with clean water, care being taken that the sponge is not soaked and dripping. Then wipe the tires dry with a cloth or handful of waste.

This, and many other phrases of the tire question are fully covered in the "Books of Bibendum," sent free to motorists upon request by the Michelin Tire company of Milltown, N. J.

BURY TITANIC DEAD.

Fifty-Six Unidentified Rest in One Grave at Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., May 4.—Memorial services held here for the Titanic victims were largely attended. The Protestant service was attended by the lieutenant governor, a number of members of the legislature and by relatives and friends of the victims in the city.

There were burial services at Protestant and Catholic burial grounds, which were attended by 100 seamen from the Canadian cruiser Niobe. Of the fifty-nine unidentified dead seven were women. Fifty-six were placed in one grave at Fairview cemetery, and the three others were buried in the Mount Oliver cemetery.

There was one body identified at the morgue yesterday, that of the body of Maurice de Zacarian, by his brother.

The cable steamer Minia has picked up two more bodies, Joseph Finney of Liverpool, Eng., and Thomas Mullins, a steward.

If You Were an Expert, What Car Would You Buy?

The time has passed when automobiles can be sold to you on their appearances or claims. This is a day when you and every purchaser must be shown what the car for which you pay your money will actually perform; what it will do. Beware of an automobile salesman who attempts to beguile you with a pleasing story. Tell him to show the goods and prove to you that his cars are worth the money. Find out whether his car is a real car or only an assembled automobile built to sell.

You have a right to your money's worth, but it is up to you to see that you get it. Deeper than all appearances, there are a few expert tests which ought to be applied to every car.

Who makes the car? Is it an assembled car or made from top to bottom by one manufacturer? What kind of a guarantee is on it? Does the manufacturer respect his own product with a real guarantee, or does he want you to take the chance? What do parts cost you and how conveniently can you get them? How many cars of this make are in service and how many are giving satisfaction? Questions like these go deep into the heart of the case, and if you put them rigorously upon any car you will find out with a certainty whether or not that car is worth its price.

We are selling Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars because we know that, dollar for dollar, their equal is not sold in the market today. The records of many thousands of cars in all kinds of service have convinced us absolutely. Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are built to run, and because they run they sell. If we cannot prove to you under the most searching test that Studebaker cars are absolutely the best automobile values in the market, we do not want your business; but we can prove it, and your neighbors who drive these cars will tell you the same thing.

Be an expert when it comes to buying a car. You can, by getting from us some further ideas on real tests of an automobile. Clip the attached coupon and send it to us now because we have something new to tell you which you ought to know, whatever car you have in mind.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Edward J. Hoppman, 422 W. First St., Duluth, Minn. says: "I have looked upon Doan's Kidney Pills as a good kidney medicine ever since I first tried them about twelve years ago. An account of my experience was given for publication at that time and in 1904 and in 1908, I again endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. At the present time I take pleasure in confirming my statement. My kidney trouble was evidenced by sharp pains in my back and I was also annoyed by a kidney weakness. In the morning when I got up, I was tired and all run down. Doan's Kidney Pills completely stopped these troubles. Since then, I have used this remedy and it has done good work."

(Copyright, 1912, by E. J. Edwards.)

THE soldier who has risen from the ranks to a position of high command is in a certain way a more striking figure than his brother in arms who has started with an academic military education and a commission. The least military of men recognizes that to climb in the army from the very foot of the ladder to the top means the overcoming of great handicaps and implies the possession of abilities of a very unusual order. For that reason the highest places in military life have been attained only exceptionally by those who have begun as enlisted men; yet instances of successes of this sort are not so rare as most persons, probably, would suppose.

There are living today several men of the rank of major-general in the United States army—and two men of the still higher rank of lieutenant-general—who fifty years ago were serving as privates. They were then typical young citizen soldiers who had gone into the army, not with the purpose of following a military career, but as volunteers in response to the call of the Union in its hour of peril. That they followed the profession of arms afterwards was due to the fact that the severe school of actual warfare proved to them their true vocation.

A typical and very distinguished example of the American soldier who has climbed every rung of the military ladder is Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, who is now living in Los Angeles, having been retired at his own request six years ago after more than forty years of service in the regular army.

At the beginning of the Civil war, Gen. Chaffee was just 19 years of age. He was born and reared on a farm in Ohio, and his education was obtained in the public schools. His outdoor life on the farm afforded him the opportunity to acquire one very useful art in military life—the management of a horse—and it was because of his fondness for and skill in riding that he chose to enter the cavalry arm of the service. He enlisted in the Sixth United States cavalry in Pittsburg in July, 1861. His career as a private was not a long one, for in a few months he was promoted to be sergeant, and in a year to be first sergeant of his company. From the very first Gen. Chaffee showed those qualities that made him distinguished afterwards as a fighter and commander and account for his advancement to the highest rank in the army. Those were an extraordinary daring and coolness in action, and the power of grasping instantaneously, by a mere glance, an entire situation, and of determining as quickly the best course to pursue.

This remarkable power of grasping a situation in the heat of action, which is probably the quality in Gen. Chaffee's make-up as a soldier that has most distinguished him, was due in part to his wonderfully keen vision. He had the reputation of being able to see farther and more clearly over plains or mountains than an Indian. But his mind worked just as quickly and accurately as his eyesight, and in campaigning, while others were still studying the lay of the land, Chaffee would give the order to move in the right direction.

In battle he was just the same, cool, quiet mannered man that he is in time of peace, a man whose manner is self-contained yet earnest; yet he was always able to inspire his men to acts of dashing gallantry and high courage. There was that in the square set jaw and keen gray eyes of the man that aroused more enthusiasm and confidence in his men than words could evoke.

Gen. Chaffee won his shoulder straps in March, 1863, when by a brilliant exploit he captured a Confederate wagon train during one of Morgan's raids. He distinguished himself for gallantry on the field of Gettysburg and in the final campaign in Virginia, and at the close of the war he had attained the rank of captain. He then resigned but was reappointed within a month or so.

In the years following the Civil war, Gen. Chaffee saw much active service in the West and became known as a great Indian fighter. Still, at the beginning of the war with Spain in 1898, he had reached only the rank of lieutenant colonel. The Spanish war, in which he distinguished himself, resulted in rapid advancement for him. He commanded a brigade in the Cuban campaign, from Las Guasimas to El Caney, where he charged the stone fort, captured the Spanish line and practically brought the Santiago campaign to its close. The close of that war saw him a major general of volunteers. His promotion to the same rank in the regular army came two years later, following his services in command of the American troops in the relief of the besieged legations in Pekin during the Boxer outbreak. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-general in January, 1904, thus passing through all grades in the service in a little more than forty years.

Another Lieutenant General Who Began as a Private.

Lieut. Gen. Samuel B. M. Young is another famous soldier who began his military career as a private in the ranks. He is two years older than Gen. Chaffee and he reached the supreme rank in the United States army just about two years sooner. But the earlier part of his military career was somewhat different from Chaffee's.

Gen. Young is a native of Pittsburg, and he had barely attained his majority when President Lincoln's call for volunteers for three months was issued in April, 1861. Gen. Young enlisted in Company K of the Twelfth Pennsylvania Volunteers, which was recruited in Pittsburg, and was mustered into the service at the state capital Harrisburg, on the 29th of the same month.

This regiment was soon thereafter ordered to take position on the Northern Central railroad running from Baltimore to Harrisburg, and guard it. The bridges on the line had been destroyed by Southern sympathizers after the passage of the Massachusetts troops through Baltimore en route to Washington, but they had been rebuilt and trains were running again by the second week in May. The men of the Twelfth Pennsylvania had expected to go to the front, and they were disappointed when put to work guarding the railroad, as there were so signs of trouble there now, and their duty seemed a mere formality.

But there were two companies of the regiment that had not even this formal duty entrusted to them, and one of those was Company K, of which Gen. Young was a member. Those two companies were stationed at a place called Cockeyville, where there was nothing for them to do but to drill. Able officers were entrusted with the duty of making them proficient in handling guns, and they did their work well. In less than three months the two companies were almost as proficient as veterans. But drilling was all the experience they got, for they were honorably discharged in the first week in August at the expiration of the term for which they enlisted, without having seen an enemy or had occasion for firing a gun.

Such was Gen. Young's experience as a private soldier.

A month after he had been mustered out he was commissioned a captain in the Fourth Pennsylvania cavalry, and after that he say plenty of fighting. At the close of the war he was brevetted a brigadier general of volunteers for gallant and meritorious services in the campaign ending in Gen. Lee's surrender.

He had climbed pretty high in the volunteer service during the war. After the war he entered the regular army and in doing so he gave up the eagles of a general for the simple shoulder straps of a second lieutenant. In the three decades following he rose to the rank of colonel, and gained fame in Indian warfare. Then came the war with Spain, in which he was major general of volunteers, and three years later, after his success in putting down the insurrection in the Philippines, he attained the same rank in the regular army. He became lieutenant general in command of the army of the United States in August, 1903, and was retired on reaching the age limit in January of the following year.

Gen. Young is most famous as a dashing cavalry leader. He is a man of commanding height and splendid physique, and he is a superb horseman.

The First Volunteer to Become a General.

Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greely is more famous as an explorer than as a soldier, but his military career is none the less remarkable. He has the distinction of being the first man who was a volunteer private soldier in the Civil war to attain the rank of brigadier general in the regular army of the United States.

Gen. Greely was just 17 years old, and still a high school boy in his native town of Newburyport, Mass., when the Civil war began. While the enlisting of three months' regiments was going on, young Greely kept on his studies, though the military enthusiasm which ran like a contagion among the boys of Massachusetts was difficult for him to resist. In the middle of the summer, however, when the enlisting of regiments for three years' service began, he could hold out no longer, and in the latter part of July, 1861, he joined the Nineteenth Massachusetts as a private.

The Nineteenth Massachusetts saw hard service during the war, and Greely, who, in spite of his youth was soon promoted to be sergeant, was wounded twice at Antietam and once at Fredericksburg. The Nineteenth was in the thick of the fighting in the Peninsular campaign in 1862 and at Fair Oaks or Seven Pines, May 31 to June 1. It took part in the repulse of the famous Hampton legion.

Gen. Greely won his shoulder straps when he was only 19 years old, being appointed second lieutenant in a regiment of colored infantry in 1863. He was a brevet major of volunteers at the close of the war.

He entered the regular army as a second lieutenant in 1867, and ten years later, soon after his return from his famous expedition to the Arctic regions, in which he was employed by the United States government, he was appointed brigadier general and chief of the United States signal service. He attained his major-generalcy in 1906.

One of the Unions Millions of Boy Soldiers.

One of the first of the 75,000 men who volunteered for service in the Union cause at the beginning of the Civil war was Major Gen. William S. McCaskey, U. S. A., retired, who is now living in California.

He was one of that total of nearly one million "men" who were really boys who fought on the Union side before the war was over. He was just 18 years old, when on April 20, 1861, he was mustered into the volunteer service of the United States as a member of Company F, First Pennsylvania volunteers.

His company was recruited in Lancaster county, where he was born and reared. There was immense volunteering enthusiasm there, as there was in the whole state at the time, and men were much easier to find than equipments. I known some light on the way with which the volunteer regiments were raised and the lack of preparation for sending them into the field at that time, when the national capital was believed to be in peril, to recall the conditions under which Gen. McCaskey as a private soldier marched to the front. After the regiment had been mustered in at Harrisburg, the men received muskets, muslin haversacks, bacon and hardtack, and about twelve rounds of ball cartridge, but no ammunition boxes. They had to carry their ammunition, and what they could in pockets. It was not until nearly two months later that they received uniforms.

The regiment was first ordered to guard the railroad running from Baltimore to Harrisburg. Relieved of this duty by the Twelfth Pennsylvania in which Gen. S. B. M. Young was a private, it was ordered farther on to guard the road leading to Frederick, Md., and Harpers Ferry. For two weeks the regiment was stationed in Frederick City, and was then moved on to Martinsburg, Virginia. It remained in Virginia until the latter part of July when its enlistment expired and it was sent home. It took part in no battle, but was of service in holding the Confederates in check.

Within a month after he returned home Gen. McCaskey enlisted in the Seventy-ninth Pennsylvania Volunteers, and was immediately appointed first sergeant of his company. The regiment became a part of the Army of the Cumberland, and Gen. McCaskey was in all of the battles in which that army engaged. He also marched with Sherman form Atlanta to the sea.

During the war he rose to the rank of captain of volunteers, and the year after the war he entered the regular army as second lieutenant. He commanded the Twentieth Infantry in the Spanish war, and later served in the Philippines. He attained the rank of major general in 1907.

For some time before his retirement Gen. McCaskey had the distinction of being the only man on active duty in the regular army who served throughout the Civil war.

A Hardy Artisan Fifty Years Ago.

Another volunteer private soldier from Pennsylvania of fifty years ago who reached all but the very highest rank in the regular army of the United States is Maj.-Gen. George M. Randall of Denver, Colo.

A newspaper dispatch from Washington in the early part of May, 1861, noted the arrival there of the Fourth Pennsylvania infantry, about 900 men, under the command of Col. John F. Hartranft, and referred to them as "a fine body of hardy yeomanry and artisans who left field and shops to rally in defense of the national capital." One of the young men in the regiment which made that favorable impression in the national capital more than fifty years ago was Gen. Randall.

He had enlisted in Company A of the regiment, which was recruited at Norristown, Pa. The regiment was sent first to Philadelphia, and then on to Washington, where it was quartered in the assembly rooms and in a church for a time. Later it was encamped outside the city until on the 24th of June it was ordered to Alexandria, Va., in anticipation of an attack by the Confederates. The time of service of the regiment expired just before the battle of Bull Run, and it was accordingly honorably discharged and sent home. If it had remained in the service a little longer, it would have taken part in the first big battle of the Eastern and Southern arms. Gen. Randall thus just missed taking part in a big battle as a private soldier.

When he re-entered the army, which was three months later, it was not as a private soldier, but as a commissioned officer. He was appointed a second lieutenant in the Fourth United States Infantry from Pennsylvania, and served with that organization and subsequently with the Fourteenth New York artillery until the end of the war, when he was mustered out of the volunteer service with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was brevetted several times during the Civil war for gallant and meritorious action on the field, and after the war, as an officer of the regular army he gained distinction and promotion as an Indian fighter. His promotion to the rank of brigadier general in the regular army followed soon after the war with Spain, and his appointment of the rank of major general occurred in 1905, just three months before his retirement upon reaching the age limit for active service.

He Fought With Grant at Vicksburg.

Maj. Gen. Jesse M. Lee, U. S. A., retired, began his military career as a private soldier in Company B of the Fifty-ninth Indiana Volunteer infantry in the latter part of 1861. He took part as a private soldier in the operations in the West during the early part of the following year, notably the siege of Corinth, but he was soon promoted to the rank of sergeant and just eleven months after his enlistment, he won the shoulder straps of a second lieutenant. Gen. Lee went all through the Vicksburg campaign with Grant, took part in the battles of Raymond, Jackson and Champion Hill, and in the assault upon Vicksburg. He also marched from Atlanta to the sea with Sherman. He entered the regular army as second lieutenant at the close of the war, and in 1906, just forty years later, attained his major generalcy. He retired in 1907.

At the beginning of the Civil war Maj.-Gen William A. Kobbe was a student of mining engineering in Germany. He returned to his native city, New York, in 1862, and in the spring of the following year enlisted as a private soldier in the One Hundred and Seventy-eighth New York infantry. His career as a private was very short, for the regiment saw active service and he had opportunity to distinguish himself. Just six months from the time he enlisted he had risen to the rank of first lieutenant. He was successively promoted and brevetted for gallant and meritorious action on the field, notably at the battle of Nashville and at the capture of Fort Blakely, and at the close of the war had attained the brevet rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Like the other general officers who rose from the ranks in the Civil war, he entered the regular army at the close of that conflict as a second lieutenant. He attained the rank of brigadier-general in the regular army in 1901 and the rank of major-general in 1904, just a little more than forty years after he began active military service as a private soldier. In recent years he has served as military governor of Mindanao, in the Philippines, and his last command was the department of Dakota. He was retired at his own request in 1904 after forty years' service, and has since made his home in Pasadena, Cal.

Maj.-Gen. Charles F. Humphrey began his military career in the third year of the Civil war as a private soldier in the Fifth artillery. He is the only one of the living major-generals who began as private soldiers in the war who did not attain the rank of commissioned officer before the close of the conflict. He started very nearly even with them, however, after the war, for, as soon as the conflict was over, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the Fifth artillery. He had reached the rank of lieutenant-colonel when the war with Spain began, and in that war he won the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1903, when he became United States quartermaster-general, he was promoted to the rank of brigadier-general in the regular army.

Like the other generals who have been mentioned above he has won honor as an Indian fighter. He had also served in China and the Philippines. Gen. Humphrey retired five years ago, soon after attaining his present rank, and has since made his home in Washington, D. C.

HONORS PAID TO ROBERT BACON

Many Dinners and Receptions Given for Retiring Ambassador to France—Valuable Violin Bought By Young Clerk for $2.

Paris, May 4.—Few, if any, ambassadors to France have been paid the honors which came to Robert Bacon in connection with his departure after a most successful service as representative of the United States. Government and private organizations of French people offered a series of dinners and receptions to Mr. and Mrs. Bacon, and at innumerable functions was expressed the sincere regret of the French people that the ambassador should have retired. The fact that Mr. Bacon has been elected a Fellow of Harvard university is greatly appreciated here and incidentally has led to a renewed interest in Harvard university. This is so, not only because of Mr. Bacon's position there, but as well because of the new official relations between Harvard and the Sorbonne growing out of the arrangement for additional exchange professors every year between the two universities.

Col. Bailly-Blanchard, first secretary of the embassy, who has left to go to Tokyo, also received many expressions of regret, for during his long tenure of office in Paris he has won a warm place in the hearts of the French people. Among his intimates the news of his transfer was received with something akin to consternation, for Col. Blanchard had come to be regarded as a permanent member of the American embassy. For twenty-seven years he has served the American state department in Paris and elsewhere on the continent. Like Henry Vignaud, his predecessor in the office of first secretary, Col. Blanchard's value to the state department was enhanced by his intimate knowledge of French.

A poor workman out of employment, carrying an old violin, entered a shop near Geneva recently and offered the instrument for sale, stating that he and his family were impoverished. A young clerk, from a sense of pity, bought the violin for $2, and after having it repaired, began to play upon it.

He was surprised at the melody. When a musician to whom he had shown it offered him $20, he became suspicious and took the violin to an expert, who declared it to be an Amati and that it was worth a large sum of money. A few days later Ernest Schilling, a well-known American musician who lives near Paderewski, offered the clerk $4,000 for the violin, but the negotiations have not yet been concluded. The clerk, on his part, intends to make a generous return to the workman from whom he bought the instrument.

The American minister to Spain, Henry C. Ide, and his daughter, Miss Ide, gave a dinner in honor of Fred W. Carpenter, the United States minister to Morocco, who was passing a few days in Madrid as the guest of the minister. Among the other guests were the British ambassador, Sir Maurice de Bunsen, the Russian ambassador, Baron Rudberg, the counsellor of the Russian embassy and Madame Leyzhontoff, the American military attache and Mrs. Lansing, the American consul and Mrs. Hoover, and the secretaries of the British embassy.

An attempt is to be made to revive the former prosperity of the Palais Royal quarter. This object has long been before the municipal council, but in order to avoid the great expense of expropriation, it was deemed wiser to proceed by degrees, and accordingly the surrounding houses were bought up as they happened to be offered for sale.

Now, after thirty years, this operation has been completed, and the work of regeneration will very shortly begin; it comprises the demolition of the rue Radziwill, a quaint old street full of historical memories, and the enlargement of the two streets running on each side of the famous garden and the widening of the approaches.

An extensive new building for the Bank of France will be constructed on part of the rue Radziwill at the north end of the Garden, making a fine pendant to the famous old palace of Cardinal Richelieu.

The little band of music lovers organized by the Chalgneau sisters with the object of giving a hearing to the lesser known works of the great composers, and the greater works of the less known masters, has resulted in a number of excellent and instructive concerts. Many of the prominent conductors and instrumentalists co-operated, including Vincent d'Indy, Pablo Casals, Sylvio Lazzari, Oesip Gabrilowitsch and Camille Chevillard. The programs were made up of works within the scope of a small orchestra and possessed strong antiquarian as well as musical interest, special prominence being given to the little known masters of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries.

Most of the work of editing and arranging the more archaic compositions was done by the young American musician, Walter Morse Rummel, and his researches have been the means of rescuing many delightful old-time works from oblivion.

JESUIT QUESTION IN GERMANY

Has Sprung Suddenly to the Fore and the Imperial Chancellor Is Placed in an Embarrassing Position.

Berlin, May 4.—The Jesuit question has sprung suddenly to the fore in Germany and now has in the newspapers an importance almost as great as in the days of Bismarck's famous and unsuccessful "Kulturkampf" or struggle against the Roman Catholic church.

One of the first acts of the new Bavarian ministry, coming into power in consequence of the victory of the Clerical Center party in the Bavarian elections, was the issuance of a decree modifying the severity of enforcement of the long-standing imperial legislation against the Jesuit order in Germany, and in the resulting controversy it was brought out that an "interpretation" of the imperial law, not at all unfavorable to the Jesuit order, had been issued in Prussia.

As it is the duty of the emperor and his responsible representative, the imperial chancellor, who is also as it happens prime minister in Prussia, to watch against infractions of imperial laws, the opposition papers have made much of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's embarrassing dual role and there is no doubt that the question, which arose after the emperor's departure for Corfu, formed a most important part of the chancellor's deliberations with his majesty during his Easter visit in Corfu.

The new military Zeppelin airship is fast approaching completion at Friedrichshafen, and the work of filling its ballonettes will be begun in a day or two. This will make the second perfected Zeppelin in military service, and the third has been ordered. The war department possesses also a Zeppelin of an older type, but it is already obsolete, or virtually so. The new airship is expected at least to equal and possibly surpass her sister airship in speed. The specifications call for a speed of about 38 miles an hour, but this will undoubtedly be greatly exceeded and will probably reach 48 miles, the record of "Z2," as the existing Zeppelin is known.

A dirigible balloon unlike any existing type is receiving the finishing touches at Duisburg. Its chief peculiarity is that it is to consist of three separate balloons each complete in itself. Each balloon will be 300 feet long and 60 feet in diameter. They will be non-rigid, but each will be composed of many compartments, giving the airship one advantage of the rigid type. Five gondolas, connected by vestibules as the coaches of a passenger train are connected, will be carried. They will be equipped with ten motors, which will generate 1,000-horse power. The gondolas will have heating and lighting appliances. They are designed to carry 100 passengers.

The new armament bills, which have just gone to the reichstag, contain one feature not published in advance. This is the government's proposal to build six submarines yearly for the coming six years, which would give the navy seventy-two of this type of craft in 1918. There are now fourteen submarines in commission, but these will be obsolete in six years.

THE REVOLUTION OF THE SEA

Scurvy and Lime Juice Are Becoming Reminiscences—Steam Dethroned Captains as Absolute Monarchs—Double Work and Less Pleasure for "Jack."

By REV. GEORGE McPHERSON HUNTER.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

Since the steamship has displaced the sailing vessel great changes have been wrought in sea affairs. So gradual has been the transformation that few have awakened to the fact that the sailor himself has changed essentially. In the popular mind he is still "Jack" of the sailing ship days.

In the days when the winds blew ships from port to port, ships were small, voyages long and hardships and adventures as plentiful as weevils in the sailor's biscuit. Sailors were sailors, men of brawn, able to "reef, knot, splice and steer"; keen eyed, strong limbed, deep-chested, tatooed, ingenuous men. Yet life at sea was hard for him for captains were captains, and orders were obeyed or men were carried below, mangled and bleeding. A sailing vessel represented, as nothing on land ever did, an absolute monarchy.

When the engineer and his grimy satellites climbed over the rail a revolution began on this floating kingdom. The engineer has been its ringleader. Revolutionist is too mild a term for him—magician would be more appropriate. He defied nature and made ships comparatively safe. The engineer dispelled mystery and sobered the romance of the sea by introducing regularity, haste, noise, smoke, oil, sage navigation and the possibility of a ship large enough to carry a whole city.

While the actual command of a ship still lies in the hands of the captain, the divine right of the captain, like the "divine right of the king" has gone. He is a constitutional monarch, with limited delegated powers ruling, instead of the old unsophisticated sailor, a host of highly skilled specialists.

The engineer set up a little kingdom of his own with oilers, stokers and coal passers as his subjects. Fellow craftsmen, electricians, hydraulic and refrigerating engineers and other specialists form his cabinet.

Steamships created the "globe trotters" who has called forth the boat designed for passengers only. Another tributary monarch of a little kingdom was crowned aboard the ship to meet new demands—the chief steward. The old-fashioned ship's cook, known to the deep water sailor as the "doctor," was metamorphosed into a "chef" with butchers and confectioners to work out elaborate menus worthy of the best hotels ashore.

Steam has revolutionized the propulsion and navigation of ships, the loading and unloading of cargo and has introduced dispatch and organization in sea life. It has turned comfort into luxury for passengers, robbed the sea of two-thirds of its terrors and half of its romance, and made ships depart and arrive with the regularity of railroad trains without materially helping the man of the sea. Their vicarious lives and deeds have benefited the nations of the world in a measure no one can estimate with but little addition to their wages and many subtractions from the things that make life enjoyable and worth living.

In sailing vessels officers and men formerly had long tedious voyages and exposure to weather and physical strain. By way of compensation they had longer periods of rest in port and stretches of time at sea, especially in the trade wind regions, where sailing ship life was full of charm. Steam and labor saving devices have transferred the strain from the sailors' muscles to the whole crews' nerves, reduced the size of the crew and made a small number bear a double burden. Steamers, particularly cargo vessels, go to sea when loaded night or day. In coal and ore exporting ports the loading goes on night and day. Modern sea-faring men get less sleep than any class of men we know about and have fewer Sundays. It is not an extraordinary thing for a man to have no Sunday in port for months and years, if engaged in passenger service, as a sailing schedule may be so arranged that a ship is always at sea on Sunday.

Personal touch between a ship owner and his crew has ceased. Ships are not owned by private individuals as they were in the days of sail. The amount of capital invested necessitates corporate ownership with all the strict business management of the corporation. The large steamship companies are quasi naval companies. They have fleets of ships with rules and regulations like the articles of war in the navy.

Seamen are longer at sea now than they were in sailing vessels. In these men went to sea for months and stayed ashore for weeks or months. With steam propulsion instead of seamanship on deep water he goes to sea for weeks and stays ashore for days. Ships are chartered to stay on one route for a whole year, then go home, enter dry dock, be surveyed, renovated and be off again in a week or ten days for a period of one or two years.

Also accompanying the decline of sailing vessels is the art of seamanship and the passing of the deep water sailor. In his place has come a number of specialists, from the educated, well trained marine engineer to the illiterate, unskilled coal passer. Seamen are now more migratory in their habits, going into vessels of other nations in a way unknown before the era of steam. American ships on the coast have sometimes Spanish firemen, Italian sailors, French cooks, colored walters, German or Scotch engineers and American officers. American trans-Pacific steamships carry Chinese exclusively as sailors, firemen, cooks, stewards and waiters.

There are more educated men on board ships, but there is an increase also of uneducated, unskilled men. Scurvy, beriberi and lime juice are becoming reminiscences. A sentiment against drinking is growing among seafarers. The total number of abstainers has not increased but the men use liquor more temperately then they did when it was to be had only at the end of a long voyage. Wages have increased, but if the shorter voyage is considered I question whether the advance is worth getting hilarious over. The seaman has been left with all the hazards of the sea without its pleasures to cheer the unending and wearing work of the steamer.

LANDED.

Los Angeles Times: Walter Damrosch, at a musical dinner in New York, told a leap year story.

"There was a bachelor," he said, "who had courted a young lady for a long time without coming to the point, and one evening in leap year, the young lady being very musical, he took her to a concert.

"The orchestra played No. 6, a selection that seemed to the bachelor very beautiful. He bent over his companion and whispered:

"'How lovely that is! What is it, do you know?'

"She smiled demurely and replied in a low, thrilling voice:

"'It is the "Maiden's Prayer."'

"And at the same time she handed him her program, pointing to No. 6 with her finger.

"He read and started, for the real name of the selection was 'Mendelssohn's Wedding March.' The bachelor bought the ring, I believe, next day."

THE OLD-TIME ATTITUDE.

Los Angeles Times: Miss Martha Van Rensselaer, professor of home economics at Cornell, said at a tea at Sage college:

"Woman today considers the conduct of a house a science worthy of study. That is a proper and laudable attitude. It is a modern attitude, too. For in the past housework was looked down upon.

"I shall never forget the remark of a poor, worn-out slattern of a woman in a slum. She was washing a heap of dishes. She hadn't scraped them first, and her dishwater was in consequence thick with grease, while lumps of refuse floated on its surface.

"Plunging her hands into that horrible, lukewarm stew, the woman said to me:

"'And to think, miss, that I'd ever come to this! Me that was so highly educated that before I was married I couldn't fry a steak.'"

MISSOURI PIONEER'S TRIP.

Kansas City Journal: John Lovitt, 89 years of age, left his home at Harrisonville, Mo., yesterday morning for a 1,600 mile journey. He is going to visit at the home of each of his twenty-four children.

The trip entered upon yesterday morning he expects to occupy his entire winter, although his numerous progeny are scattered over no great area. Twenty of his children are boys and four girls. One unmarried son lives with him at Harrisonville. He left here late in the afternoon for St. Joseph, where he will make his first visit with a daughter, Mrs. Mary L. Lott. He will divide his time equally among his children, staying a week at the home of each. From St. Joseph he intends going to New Cambria, Mo., and then into Western and Northern Kansas. Before returning he will go to Iowa, where he formerly lived and where the remainder of his children now reside.

"I try to get around to see my family nearly every year, but I have not been able to see them all the same winter since 1907, when I made a trip to each of their homes."

Mr. Lovett was born in the mountains of Eastern Tennessee in 1822. He came to Missouri in 1856, walking every step of the way, he said, from his home in Macon county, a distance of 1,050 miles. His wife walked with him, and he carried his oldest son, who was then a baby, in his arms, while his rifle was slung over his shoulder. Their goods they hired transported in wagons. When war was declared against Mexico Lovitt enlisted and served with the First regiment Tennessee infantry. In the Civil war he served with the Twenty-third Missouri regiment.

TOWN PATRIOTISM IN LUXEMBOURG.

London Chronicle: Though "town patriotism" exists all over the world, nowhere, perhaps, is it fiercer than in the little Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. The tourist can turn it to excellent advantage. When he arrives at the inn of any little town he should get into conversation with the master, or better still, with the mistress, of the house, and mention that at the last town at which he stayed the best and cheapest meals he ever had in h's life were served.

Madame will depart to the kitchen determined to demonstrate to the tourist that he has never in his life before really had a decently cooked meal. And by the time for coffee and cigars he will come near to believing it. The finest cooks in Europe are women of Luxembourg.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Duluthians have had several treats this week in a dramatic, musical and literary way.

The presentation of "Halfback Sanday" Wednesday at the Lyceum theater by boys of the cathedral high school was artistically given with an unusual professional finish and ease. The dancing of several litle folks at the matinee performance added to the charm of the entertainment and the children of the children's home and the St. James' orphanage were delighted spectators at this event.

More delightful than ever, Miss Alice Sjosellus appeared before an appreciative audience last evening in concert at the First M. E. church. Her fine voice was at its best and every one of her numbers was exquisitely rendered.

Miss Valborg Gunderson pleased with several violin numbers, which were very well given, and Mrs. W. S. Wingate played several piano numbers.

Miss Laura Frankenfield read delightfully and was enthusiastically encored by the audience.

The club convention with its programs and social sessions was a big feature of the week for many women of the city, and several interesting weddings and social affairs were enjoyed during the week. Among the hostesses who gave larger affairs were Mrs. C. A. Duncan, who entertained at a May day reception for Mrs. David Duncan, at which about eighty guests called; Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, who entertained at a delightful tea Tuesday afternoon for twenty guests, and Mrs. Richard Fairchield, who was hostess at two large bridge parties on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

Y. W. C. A. Concert.

The second membership privilege concert will be given Tuesday evening at the Young Women's Christian association, to which members will be admitted on the presentation of thier membership ticket and a small charge will be made to non-members.

Sigurd Erdtman, the young Duluth singer who has been so highly praised by the artists who have visted Duluth and whose voice they say may rival the great Caruso's, will give two numbers at this concert. Mrs. Eva Sawyer Parker, always a delightful reader, will give two of her clever dialect readings. Little Miss Elizabeth Magie and Master Donald Wells, who have made such a hit with their dancing of a little Dutch dance, will be seen, and Master John Magie will give his Russian dance. Both of these numbers will be under the direction of Prof. Leo.

Little Miss Helen McCormack, a youthful singer, will give some popular song numbers, which should prove attractive. She charmed the student members of the Matinee Musicale with her singing at their frolic a short time ago.

There will also be piano and other instrumental numbers. These programs are planned solely for the entertainment of the members of the association and their friends, and a large attendance is expected.

EXTENSION WORK OF THE DULUTH Y. W. C. A. GROWING RAPIDLY

Association Is Trying to Reach Every One of the 6,100 Wage-Earning Women and Girls in City, and Add to Their Pleasure or Improve Their Conditions of Life

A SEWING CLASS

A SWIMMING CLASS

A GYMNASIUM CLASS.

PHOTO'S BY McKENZIE.

ONE of the biggest departments of the Young Women's Christian association work is the extension department and a bird's-eye view of the conditions in Duluth will reveal the fact that the employed workers in this department of the Y. W. C. A. cannot begin to carry on the work in its various phases. During the past month no less than forty volunteer helpers have given their time in the work of this department.

The junior work of this association is at present carried on under the direction of the extension committee and consists of sewing classes, followed by a story hour and gymnasium games. More than 100 children go to this class which meets each Saturday afternoon. Instruction in the lives of great women, memorizing of certain helpful poems, cooking, nature study, helpful talks on such subjects as thrift, health and first aid to the injured are among the subjects given to these little girls and they are immensely interested and are deriving a good deal of helpful knowledge in these meetings which are as great a pleasure to them as they are an educational force.

Since the first of the year seven clubs have been organized while one junior club organized in the hall was increased in membership from thirty to seventy girls.

Encouraged by the work of the past the committee in charge of this work expects to carry it on to the fullest possible extent under the present possibilities of the association and will probably make it a big factor for good in the city.

Eight-Day Campaign.

Members of the association are especially interested at present in the eight-day campaign for the raising of $8,000 which will be carried on this month commencing Thursday, May 16. The plans for the working of this campaign are being carefully worked out by the board and committees and ten captains with ten workers each will canvass the city for donations. A membership campaign will also be carried on at the same time with the view of adding 500 members to the list.

In preparation of these campaigns the following interesting facts have been stated in regard to the work:

What the Young Women's Christian association is doing:

Three hundred ninety-five girls meet in weekly combination clubs for education and recreation.

One hundred and thirty-seven girls meet in clubs and classes for the study of home-making arts.

Two hundred and eighty-six girls attend the gymnasium classes weekly.

One hundred and fifty women and girls use the swimming pool each week.

Three hundred and fifty meals are served daily.

One hundred and fifty girls and women were given free lodging last year.

Six hundred and fifty free meals were served to young women coming to the city without funds last year.

Three thousand children, women and girls were assisted by the Travelers' Aid workers last year.

Reasons for Existence.

The following reasons are also given why the Young Women's Christian association exists in Duluth:

There are 6,100 wage-earning young women in the city.

Training is needed for home life, a business career, and for service to others.

Women in business life today need a downtown home for rest and recreation.

Hundreds in large industrial centers long for fellowship, a broader outlook and inspiration for right living.

All young women need development in their social, physical, intellectual and spiritual lives.

An organization is needed that unites young women of all conditions in life, of all religions, and those of no creed, into a sisternood for mutual helpfulness.

OPEN MEETING ON SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN BRINGS CONVENTION OF CLUBS OF THE EIGHTH MINNESOTA DISTRICT TO CLOSE

Mrs. A. T. Hall, Dr. Mary McCoy and Miss Mary McFadden Present Arguments for Equal Suffrage —State President Speaks at Afternoon Session.

THE argument for the right of suffrage given by Mrs A. T. Hall, president of the State Women's Suffrage association, last evening at the suffrage session, which closed the convention of the Eighth district of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, presented the subject in a purely logical form which the most indifferent person would be forced to consider.

She used none of the stock arguments of most suffrage speakers, but urged the right of suffrage along the rights of the family pointing out that some one member of the family should represent all the vital questions concerning family life. She presented her facts in a quiet way, taking up the question from an evolutionary standpoint and following the progress from the prehistoric people down to the present time, when she said the great natural law of development is forcing the ballot into the hands of the women.

"Sex plays no part in the problem of the world's advancement," she said. "The human interests of man and woman are identical. This is a question worth our consideration and study and women must assert themselves or they will be considered as not caring. Many shirk this responsibility, but men and women should stand shoulder to shoulder.

"I want equal suffrage because I want the ballot. I want it because I should share the responsibility of getting pure food, pure water as a mother, a wife and a housekeeper. I want it because I should assume the responsibility of municipal housekeeping; because it will hasten the time of the establishment of a single standard of morals; and because it will hasten the establishment of an equal standard in commercial life for my boys and girls.

"Philosophers agree that since the first state of existence there has been but one purpose, that of reaching a greater height of strength, beauty and liberty and through it all two qualities of the race stand out, that of self-preservation and its equivalent reproduction, and this great force of self-preservation will lead to the equal standing, for in the past the man has always token the responsibility and where this is so there has been extinction.

A Better World.

"At the present day the world works with a direct purpose and we are attempting to make the world conditions better and to do this both sexes must co-operate. What is there in history to justify one-half of the people taking all the responsibility? Nothing. The great natural law of self preservation denies this and when we reach the point where we know what is needed the fight is almost won.

"People with intelligence first created civilization, and out of this grew government and the government came to be controlled by the ballot and out of this form may come altruism, the greatest gift nature has to give with its carrying out of the great progress."

Mrs. Hall spoke of a number of great men who believed in the equal suffrage mentioning Plato, Lincoln, Wendell Phillips, Phillips Brooks, Mark Twain, Longfellow, David Starr Jordan and others.

Dr. McCoy Talks.

Dr. Mary McCoy, president of the Duluth Suffrage association followed with an excellent talk on the subject based upon the surest knowledge of her subject which she handled with interest and power. She used as one argument the scientific fact that sons inherit their mental equipment more largely from the mother than from the father and from this she said it follows that any nation that restricts the freedom of its women does so at its peril and will invariably reap what it sows.

Miss Mary McFadden paid a tribute to the men at the polls and said that the argument that women would be insulted at the polls used against the cause is ridiculous and untrue. "We suffragists," she said, "feel that every woman has a right to be heard, not just a few of us but every woman and one thing which club women must guard against is the idea that just a few women are able to handle these things well. You must be truly democratic."

Mrs. Lucia Judd McAuliffe was heard with pleasure in two numbers which she sang with exquisite charm and she responded to a hearty encore with a delightful little lullaby number. Miss Loretta O'Gorman played two piano numbers with unusual ability and musicianly interpretation.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were presented by the resolutions committee and adopted by the convention:

"Resolved, That we, the delegates and visiting members of the federated clubs of the Eighth congressional district, extend to the club women of Duluth, and their friends, the ladies who were our hostesses at the annual meeting, our sincere appreciation of their cordial hospitality;

"Resolved further, That to the men of the Duluth Commercial club, we, the delegates to this convention, and all the club women of the district, express our gratitude for their loyal co-operation.

"Resolved, That the club women of the Eighth district cannot too forcibly express their condemnation of the desecration of the American flag, when it was hissed and trampled under feet by a body of men in New York city on May 1, they raising in its stead the red emblem of anarchy.

"Resolved further, That to the patriotic woman, who rescued our flag, is due the honor and reverent gratitude of the men and women of the nation.

"Resolved, That the club women of the Eighth district, desiring above all else the purification of the surroundings, business and social, of our young men and women, voice our determination to use every means that may be brought to bear toward the wiping out of the social evil and the raising of the single moral standard. Signed,

"MRS. E. N. SIMONS, Virginia.
"MRS. J. D. LAMONT, Virginia.
"MRS. J. B. GALARNEAULT, Aitkin.
"MRS. ANNA M. CAROLINE, Sandstone.
"MRS. OTIS SMITH, Cloquet."

Mrs. Loyhed's Talk.

What has been done by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, what is being done and what is being planned by the present committees was the subject of a most interesting talk given by Mrs. E. H. Loyhed, state president at the afternoon meeting yesterday at the Young Women's Christian association.

Mrs. Loyhed spoke on general lines and in particular urged the club women of the district to do all in their power to bring interest and diversion to the country women away from clubs and cities, and to broaden out their work to include the women living on farms near their cities.

"The monotony of the life of the farmers' wives and the young people on a farm and their loneliness is simply terrible and it is up to you club women," she said, "to help them. Make some plan whereby you can reach them, invite them to your meetings, help establish social centers in the rural schoolhouses, reach them in any way you can. I am not suggesting how, that is for each club to work out for itself but do meet this obligation in some way."

She also made an appeal for the strengthening of patriotism in every way. "We owe a deep debt of gratitude and allegiance to the flag to which we look for protection," she said.

Miss Faith Rogers played a group of piano numbers instead of Miss Ruth Rogers, who was unable to appear and she was most enthusiastically received in every selection.

Miss Gladys Reynolds sang delightfully and talks by Mrs. K. Ostergren and Mrs. G. S. Richards on musical subjects were of value.

Altogether the convention was a decided success and the program of talks and papers given was full of profitable information and interesting matter for the club women and their guests.

DR. MARY McCOY.

"Conservation of Youth."

One of the important papers read yesterday at the Round Table meeting of the convention of the Eighth District of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs was that on "The Conservation of Youth," read by Mrs. Andrew A. Kerr of this city. The paper follows in part:

"So complex has our modern life become that the necessity of utilizing every atom of energy in the most condensed and effective way is imperative.

"Steamboat lines and railway systems aim at a saving of time in transportation and economy in administration policy. Manufacturers are studying methods by which all products may be saved and put to use; for example, as some one said, 'everything but the squeal of the hog is used' by the packers. Everywhere we find that effort is being made to check needless waste, and to turn it into a force for usefulness.

"Conservation of water power, of forests, of all natural resources is the watch word today in the material world, and it is of vital importance, for our natural resources have been a source of great temptation, even graft.

The United States government states that 37,000,000 of water power which represents 370,000,000 men working eight hours a day are in the hands of private individuals. The oil resources we know about. Ninety-six per cent of the anthracite east of the Rocky mountains is controled by one railroad company, three thousand billion tons. Natural gas is largely in the hands of private individuals, and so on.

"These matters are of tremendous interest and importance, but what of the conservation of manhood and womanhood which must begin with the conservation of the youth? How about the conditions under which our young people grow up? For a large number do just grow up with little direction or guidance. If today rowdies and street walkers infest our streets, if common councils and men in offices fall in their duty it is because years ago, when the present generation were boys and girls the municipality as well as the parents did not see to it that all their boys and girls played the proper games in the proper way—says Clarence Perry of the Sage Foundation. Clean, normal boys and girls are more precious than natural resources, and municipal and rural improvements, for such boys and girls make for good citizenship and citizenship is the fundamental need in the world's work.

Amusements.

"Leaving out of this discussion the withering influences of the industrial grind, bad home influences either from viciousness or over-indulgence and indifference, heredity, congested housing conditions and so on except to say that they all lead to the importance of recreation so necessary to the life of the people, let us then consider with somewhat more definiteness the subject of amusements, or when actively indulged in by the young we call it play, which is a hunger for expression and experience.

"Out of play life comes the development of inherited powers. Recreation, too, gives to the tired mind and body relaxation and change from the monotony of the daily grind and a more symmetrical development physically, mentally and morally will result, for you know all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

"Mr. Perry of the Sage Foundation sums it up in saying the deliberate movements of work must be supplemented by the quick and unpremeditated movements of play.

"The late Governor John A. Johnson once said 'There must be enough of recreation and amusement to keep the vinegar out of one's life;' here, then, comes the importance of the right kind of amusement, for that which fosters the taste for wholesome amusement will help mightily toward a sane, successful and optimistic life. This means fewer people in poor houses, insane asylums, sanitariums and hospitals.

Commercialism.

"This is a commercial age, and so insistent has been that trend that this country awoke to the fact that in the cities the very amusements of the people were commercialized, and under commercial auspices often with no regard to the evil effect upon young people. This is largely because of the development of the great industrial cities with the overwhelming need for recreations and the neglect of the community to provide them. But all this is rapidly changing and organizations are earnestly seeking a way to supply this need. But it must always be borne in mind that whether the amusement be furnished by commercial agencies, municipalities or independent organizations, there must always be supervision. Experience has shown that amusement places not supervised are a nuisance. The purpose of supervision is two-fold: First, believing that in every character there is an element of good, the judicious direction of wholesome amusement will help greatly to make that quality dominant.

"If the recreation is a game, and the participants are bound to 'play fair' they have had a lesson in obeyance of law and order, team work, co-operation and loyalty and so on. In other words a character is formed or reformed. If the tough gang instinct predominates, a keen, sympathetic supervisor will, instead of repressing that utterly, turn that quality into leadership and fraternalism. Therefore, the second purpose of supervision is watchfulness toward cutting off evil tendencies and training away from them, for without this along with development of right things, progress would be set back several generations. But such directors should be people of broad minds and large hearts, who would understand people and forces, and recognize possibilities. They should be able to direct and yet to seem to keep in the background.

"In the commercialized amusement places it is absolutely necessary that there should be supervision for in most of them such hordes of young people go. Every mother ought to know where her child is going, and what is seen and done there.

"When we realize that there are 310 cheap theaters and picture shows in Chicago visited by 400,000 children daily and 275 public dance halls with all the amusement parks and lake steamers for excursions, while New York has 600 picture shows with a daily attendance of nearly 1,000,000 people, and more than 600 commercialized public dance halls, the inference is very plain as to the need of supervision.

"The motion picture is of wonderful educative value and should be in schools for class work and social centers. Let me emphasize the importance of working to have the theaters and picture houses free from the objectionable, especially so because so many young people attend them, for if you feed the impressionable and unregulated mind with the coarse and suggestive it will in time become more and more open to all that is deplorable.

"A member of the Woman's Council amusement committee is the Duluth representative of the national board. This entitles Duluth to the weekly bulletins of the board. Fifty other cities are represented in this way.

"The public dance hall in every city is a serious problem. Dancing when rightly indulged in and in proper surroundings is healthful and enjoyable. It is just as natural for a young person to enjoy dancing as it is for a kitten to play. But there is no greater danger spot, unless strictly regulated and supervised, than the public dance hall. It must be municipal supervision to fix responsibility. But just the usual police supervision is not sufficient.

"The humane society and police matrons can best help to do this. There is absolutely no question but that many public dance halls are recruiting places for white slavery. All the vice reports say this. It has occurred in all cities and our own is no exception. Time will not permit my going further into the needs of supervision. The playgrounds and all such places come in this classs.

"All the speakers at that great social center conference at Madison emphasized supervision. Let me say with those who have so ably spoken upon the social center that it is the next great thing to do.

"Its scope is so broad, so human, so preventive of evil because of its means for opportunity to develop. God speed the day when it has a fund and is as permanent a thing as our regular school course."

MANY BRANCHES OF ART WILL BE REPRESENTED IN EXHIBIT

C. C. ROSENKRANZ of this city, chairman of the committee of the Duluth Art society in charge of the selection of the exhibit to be brought to this city, who, with the other members of the committee, Miss Gertrude Carey and J. H. Edwards attended the exhibit held in St. Paul this week, states that practically the entire exhibit which was displayed in St. Paul will be brought to Duluth for exhibition from June 6 to 16, at the St. Louis county courthouse.

"It is a very good exhibit," Mr. Rosenkranz said, "and will be of general interest. It is comprehensive and representative of art work of Minnesota, as about one-half of the exhibits are work of residents of this state.

"Practically all branches of art are represented and the exhibit should prove of interest to every one in the city.

"There are some 300 pictures which are really very interesting. There are five loaned from the Chicago Art institute, thirty-one from the American Federation of Art, sixteen exhibited at the McDowell Art club of New York and five illustrations loaned by the American Federation of Art, and the rest are the work of painters in various parts of the state, including a small amount of students' work."

Mr. Rosenkranz has three of his own pictures in the exhibit and David Ericson, formerly of this city, also has three paintings in the lot.

Of the former's work the Minneapolis Tribune printed the following in their account of the exhibit: "Mr. C. C. Rosenkranz of Duluth shows three landscapes of rare beauty and excellence of execution. Mr. Rosenkranz is an artist who follows nature as he sees it, depending upon thoroughness, rather than the bizarre for his success."

Other Duluthians who have articles in the exhibit are Mrs. S. R. Greene of 1504½ East Third street, who has three baskets in the collection of basketry and Robert Rhone, who displays some photographs which he has taken.

C. C. ROSENKRANZ.

The handicraft exhibit contains metal work of silver, copper and brass, tooled leather, laces, stained glass, hand woven textils, hand-made jewelry and other arts and etchings and statuary, all of which the three members of the committee unite in pronouncing most interesting and of great merit.

A demonstration of lace making and of weaving which will be given at the local exhibition promises to be of special interest and Duluth art lovers are looking forward to a treat in the ten days' exhibits of these paintings and articles here.

SUCCESSFUL IN BRANDON.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Takes Canadian Town By Storm.

BRANDON, Man., May 4.—When the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra had completed its program at the music festival in Brandon, the audience of 2,000 spontaneously commenced singing "America," while Emil Oberhoffer, the conductor, and the players stood at attention during the singular demonstration. The festival chorus of 300 voices on the stage joined in the singing and the volume of sound was deafening.

Not to be outdone in gallantry Mr. Oberhoffer, after the demonstration had died down, ordered his men to strike up "God Save the King," the same air which the audience also joined with vigor, using the British lyrics. The applause at the end lasted minutes, and tried players who have been with the orchestra on its six years of concert tours said they never witnessed anything like the enthusiasm of the Brandon citizens.

More than half of the audience escorted the orchestra to the train after the concert and cheered as the Minneapolis musicians were borne away. Wishes for their return to Brandon next year were heard on all sides. It was the first time the orchestra had ever played in this city and two capacity audiences heard the organization.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will appear here on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, at the Lyceum.

POPULAR CONCERTS.

Series Will Be Given at Orpheum Theater Following Close of Season.

A SERIES of popular Sunday evening concerts will be given at the Orpheum theater, following the closing of the regular season. The first concert will be given Sunday, May 26, by the Orpheum orchestra under the direction of Fred G. Bradbury and augmented by musicians from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago orchestras. There will be thirty pieces in the orchestra, and soloists will be secured for each concert. At least two concerts will be given and more if they prove popular.

Annual Meeting.

THE third annual business meeting of the Linnaen club will be held next Tuesday afternoon at Forrester's hall, Room B, at which time election of officers and reports for the year will hold the interest. Owing to the extra business to be transacted the meeting will be called at 2 o'clock instead of at 2:30 o'clock and every member is urged to be present. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Charles Ehling, Mrs. David Sall and Mrs. Joseph Olson.

Theosophical Society.

NEXT Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Duluth lodge of the Theosophical society will observe "White Lotus Day" with appropriate exercises. May 8 is the anniversary of the death of H. P. Blavatsky, president founder of the Theosophical society, and has been named white lotus day. The local branch has also chosen this time as its own annual memorial day. A musical program has been arranged and remarks in keeping with the theme are anticipated from many members. An invitation is extended to all theosophical members in Superior.

An informal reception, with refreshments served, will follow at the conclusion of the program, which will be presented at Room 28, Winthrop block, corner Fourth avenue west and First street.

A lecture on reincarnation will be given in the same room Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Browning Centennial.

DR. JOHN WALKER POWELL will celebrate the centennial of the birth of Robert Browning tomorrow morning with a sermon on "The Soul's Adventure" at the morning service at the Endion M. E. church at 10:30 o'clock.

Will Repeat Service.

The musical service held at the Trinity pro-cathedral last Sunday afternoon at the even-song service at 5 o'clock proved such a delightful success that it has been decided to give such a service on the last Sunday in every month instead of the regular church service. The entire choir will sing at these services and Miss Pearson, the organist and choir director, will give organ numbers both during the hour and at the organ recital which precedes every Sunday afternoon service commencing at 4:30 o'clock.

Benefit Concert.

A CONCERT will be given at the Lyceum theater, Tuesday evening, May 14 under the auspices of the Guild of St. James for the benefit of St. James orphanage which should prove attractive. The Duluth Symphony orchestra which has made such a name for itself under the direction of Gustav Flaaten this winter in its series of concerts at the Y. M. C. A. will play and Miss Wally Heymar, violinist, Miss Florence Lawson, 'cellist, and Miss Alice Mae Brown, vocalist, will be the soloists of the evening. All of the Catholic churches of the city are interested in the success of this entertainment the arrangements for which are under the direction of the following committee: Mrs. T. W. Wells, Mrs. John Killorin, Mrs. C. N. Whiting, Mrs. Thomas Mahon, Mrs. Emil Wagner, and Miss Lillian Gowan. Mrs. J. D. Kenna, treasurer of the guild and Mrs. O. C. Hartman, president, also have charge of the distribution o ftickets. The general admission tickets can be exchanged for reserved seats for the concert on May 13 with no extra charge.

Will Interpret "Maud."

FRIDAY evening of next week a musical and dramatic interpretation of Tennyson's "Maud" will be given at the Pilgrim Congregational church for the benefit of the Duluth Women's Suffrage association. Some of the selections from this beautiful poem will be given a musical interpretation by well-known singers, Mrs. Leo Ball, Mrs. Jane Everington Scully and Louis Dworshak being among those who will sing. The rest of the poem will be given a dramatic interpretation by Miss Laura Frankenfield. Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Dworshak will assist with her piano work in both the musical and reading sections.

At Music Convention.

An interesting event of the Minnesota Music Teachers' association annual convention, which will be held in St. Paul in June will be a recital which will be given on the evening of Wednesday, June 5, on which every number will be a composition of a native Minnesota composer. Another interesting event will be an organ recital on Tuesday evening, June 4, at the Park Congregational church there, at which W. E. Milligan, assisted by Mrs. Milligon will be the artist to appear.

Pupils' Recital.

Miss Violet Flaaten will present some of her piano pupils next Saturday evening in a recital in Foresters' hall, room B. Miss Mabel Fulton will assist with some vocal numbers.

Guild of St. James.

The Guild of St. James will hold its regular meeting next Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Bishop's clubrooms. A large attendance is expected as business of importance will be taken up.

Business Meeting.

The business meeting of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Z. D. Scott, at which time officers for next year will be chosen.

DULUTH BOY IS EARNING FAME IN PARIS MUSICAL CIRCLES

FRIENDS of Walter Smith here will be interested in knowing of the great success with which he is meeting in the musical world in France where he is studying with Jean de Rezke the famous tenor. During the past season he has been most popular and has sung at a large number of big concerts and continually at teas, receptions and other large social affairs and various operatic directors who have heard him say that his voice is ready for anything and is unusually fine.

Mr. Smith, who is a Duluthian, went abroad two years ago after teaching piano and voice here for several years and was studying the piano especially. One evening he accompanied Jean de Rezke, who, after the concert, complimented him on his playing of the accompaniments and after hearing him sing, immediately offered to give him lessons. This alone was on honor and Mr. Smith has profited by it with hard work. He sings twenty-one operas, in French, German, English and Italian and will soon go into grand opera. He will probably sing one season in opera in Paris before returning to this country.

Bible Lecture at Armory—Prof. P. S. L. Johnson of New York will speak at the Armory Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the International Bible Students association, an interdenominational organization for the purpose of stimulating Bible study. Seats will be free and no collection will be taken, and it is anticipated that a large audience will greet Prof. Johnson, who is said to be one of the leading thinkers and speakers upon the Bible.

Prof. Johnson will take as his subject: "The Great Hereafter." He has spnt the best part of his life in the study of the Scripture and he claims that the Scriptures, although seemingly contradictory in places, when rightly understood are wonderful in their harmony and beauty. All are told that "God will have all men to be saved, and come to a knowledge of the truth," and then again, the Good Word states "There is only one name whereby we may be saved." Which is to be believed? Are the many heathen who have died in ignorance, outside of all hope? Have the infants and insane who have died without coming to know the "only name," lost all opportunity of a future life? Prof. Johnson takes the Bible only for his authority and claims to answer these pertinent questions in a clear and thoroughly satisfactory manner.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

In the preliminary tryout for the oratorical representative in the Wallace cup contest, Arne Bergum, Andrew Johnson and Homer Holdren, were awarded positions in the finals by the judges, Miss Mary Goodhue, Robert Brackett and De Witt C. Sprague of the faculty. The finals were held during the chapel period Wednesday morning and after a lengthy consultation between the judges, Andrew Johnson was declared the winner and has the honor of representing Central in the important dual meet, "Gettysburg" was the selection given by Mr. Johnson.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
Winner of Oratorical Trials.

Friday morning in chapel the winners in the preliminary declamatory contest which took place Thursday afternoon, competed for the position of school declaimer in the Wallace cup meet. Wanda Bergevin, Dorothy Patton and Clara Fider were the contestants in the finals and their selections were: "The Battle of the Strong," "The Last Word," and "The Perfect Tribute," respectively. The decision of the judges has not been given out but will be officially announced next week. Miss Agnes Wells, Miss Ella Shields and Harry O'Brien of the faculty acted as judges of the meet.

The tickets for the Freshman dance were put on sale yesterday by the members of the committee. The preliminary arrangements for the hop are nearly completed and the members of the comittee are manifesting an active interest in the work. Some novel effects in decorating will be inaugurated by those in charge of this work and if the enthusiastic predictions of the first year students are fulfilled one of the most brilliant social functions of the year will be credited to the class of 1915.

The baseball outlook was talked over by the members of the board of control of the high school athletic association at a meeting of that body in the physical laboratory Wednesday afternoon. After a thorough discussion of the question of a coach and manager, it was decided to invest Capt. Ward Brown with the managerial powers and duties. Capt. Brown has announced that J. Whitney Wall has been tendered the position of assistant manager. If he decides to accept the important position, Central will have an experienced manager, as Mr. Wall directed both the football and basket ball teams.

Several members of the faculty were suggested as coach, but as most of them are very busy at present it was decided to let the matter stand for a short time.

A special meeting of the junior class was held in the assembly hall at the close of school yesterday afternoon. The students discussed plans relative to the annual junior-senior dance and elected Miss Florence Mars chairman of the committee on arrangements. Miss Mars is well qualified for this important office, as she held a similar position on the committee of the very successful junior hop which was held two months ago. Lawrence Dow was selected to assist Miss Mars and they will announce their appointed associates next week. A report of the progress of the work in connection with the third-year section of the Zenith was read by the editor.

After a discussion of the baseball situation it was suggested that only the boys of the class should be entitled to a vote in the election of a captain, so it was decided that the boys interested in the nine, meet next week and duly elect a leader.

A cast chosen from the members of the Junto literary society will present the comedy farce, "The Dress Rehearsal," at the regular weekly meeting of that enthusiastic organization next Thursday afternoon. Those who will take part in the play are: Dorothy Patton, Mary Sayer, Muriel Smith, John Shields and Franklin Neff.

President Homer Holdren has announced that the members are planning on giving several social events before they disband.

The April report cards will be distributed to the students at the close of school Monday. This will be the last monthly report before the final averages come out in June.

A short business session of the freshman class was held Wednesday afternoon in the assembly hall. The members discussed plans for the class dance which will be held next Saturday evening, and Miss Margaret Taylor, advisor, in a short address to the students, touched on several important matters appertaining to the function. Robert Gunderson was unanimously chosen captain of the class baseball team.

Dr. Berglund, president of Albert Lea college spoke to the students during the chapel period Monday morning on "Education as Liberty." President Berglund illustrated his address with several extremely humorous examples and the talk was thoroughly enjoyed by the students.

The German library which was started several years ago by the Schiller Bund Literary society has been greatly augmented by the addition of sixteen copies of short stories by prominent German writers. The works were presented to the library by the members of this year's society, and the addition of the set brings the total number of volumes up to sixty-six. Miss Augusta Ziegler, head of the German department, is planning on another meeting of the club before the close of school, and the members of the organization will undoubtedly give some social event in the near future.

Alan Phillips of the physics department has conceived a novel method of obtaining funds for the support of the athletic association. Mr. Phillips has made some miniature photographs of the football and baseball teams, which are being distributed to the students. The pictures, which are backed by attractive cardboard mounts, are exact reproductions of the official pictures of the Central teams.

The net proceeds derived from the sale of the souvenirs will go into the treasury of the association.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Some Promises Made by the Press Agents for Coming Attractions

AT THE LYCEUM

Having added attendance records in San Francisco and Los Angeles and every other large western city to the formidable list of such trophies, which it brought with it from the East, Henry W. Savage's production of "Excuse Me," Rupert Hughes' justly famous farce, will come to Duluth to inaugurate here a laughter season that will endure for two nights. The engagement at the Lyceum will begin Friday, May 10.

Good news frequently travels as fast as bad news, and to judge by the interest already manifest in the approach of this particular offering, tidings reached Duluth some time since concerning the unusual merit of "Excuse Me." Inquiries at the box office regarding the exact date of the beginning of its engagement and the possibilities of obtaining seats in selected locations, to witness the "Pullman Carnival," have been received at the theater in unusual numbers every day for the past two weeks. Indications, based upon this fact, are that "Excuse Me" will easily repeat in Duluth the success that has been its share everywhere else it has been shown.

"Excuse Me" is a novelty. All of its scenes are laid on board an overland limited train bound from Chicago to the Pacific coast. The scenes of the three acts show, in turn, the interior of a Pullman sleeper, the combination library-buffet car, and another view of the sleeper. The characters which figure in the unusual story are those which constitute the passenger roster of that particular coach, and the train crew and Pullman attaches. The passengers are of widely different types, actuated by conflicting impulses, and accepting conditions and incidents of the trips with varied feelings. Each individual and each couple has a separate story, each of which is of necessity joined with all of the others thus producing the central story of the play. Critics in every large city of the country have labelled "Excuse Me" as not only the most original, but the most laugh-compelling stage work that has been offered in at least a decade. To attempt to tell even a few of the minor stories which are cemented into the main theme, would require the space ordinarily given to a novel. Besides, the tribulations of the passengers, the mishaps and occurrences of the four days' ride across the country must be visualized to be fully appreciated.

Henry W. Savage, maintaining the high standard he established many years ago, has sent to the Pacific coast the best possible cast for the interpretation of "Excuse Me." Except for the players of several of the minor roles, it is the original New York company. Willis Sweatnam, Ann Murdock, and Charles Meakins have the three principal roles, and in addition to these, there are Lottie Alter, Sydney Greenstreet, Isavel Richards, Rita Stanwood, E. F. McCarthy, Thomas Walsh, E. H. O'Connor, Lalive Brownell, and more than a dozen others almost as well known.

Miss Elsie Janis, who for three or four seasons was known as the wonder child of the American stage by reason of her marvelous mimetic ability as demonstrated in her imitations and characterizations of famous actors and actresses of Europe and America, has now graduated to full stellar honors as a comedienne, and at the early age of 21 has also gained some slight fame as a dramatic author. Everybody knows of the success Miss Janis made under Mr. Dillingham's management in "The Hoyden," and later in George Ade's whimsical college comedy, "The Fair Co-Ed." Last season Mr. Dillingham secured for her a vehicle which required a considerable extension of her abilities and talents along the lines of legitimate comedy, while it still offered her ample opportunity to display her matchless gift of mimicry and her protean accomplishments as a dancer and interpreter of humorous songs. This new musical comedy—for it is a musical comedy, in three acts—is entitled "The Slim Princess," and, as the title will sufficiently indicate to most readers of light fiction, the play is taken from George Ade's ludicrously funny novelette dealing with the adventures of a Turkish belle of high degree who found it impossible to accumulate sufficient avoirdupois to even enter the beauty class among the women of her native country where the criterion of feminine charm is measured by a redundency of curves. The Princess Kalora simply couldn't get fat enough to please her "pa" and her "ma" and the many fastidious young gentlemen who might have been envious candidates for the honor of her hand in marriage. Taking Mr. Ade's whimsical idea from the novelette, Henry Blossom, author of "The Red Mill" and "Mlle. Modiste," wrote a libretto to which Leslie Stuart, the composer of "Floradora," furnished a bewitchingly illustrative musical score. Miss Janis was never seen to such advantage as in "The Slim Princess," which ran for nearly a year at Mr. Dillingham's Globe theater, New York. From there it comes to the Lyceum theater Saturday night, May 11. Miss Janis is supported by Joseph Cawthorn, one of the best known and most popular comedians now before the public, who will again appear in this congenial character, Herr Louis von Schloppenhauer, tutor of the Princess Kalora, and most of the principals of last season's notable cast. "The Slim Princess" will be given here with every detail of the elaborate scenic production which gained such well deserved favor during the long season at the Globe theater. Besides Mr. Cawthorn, other well known principals in the cast are Miss Julia Frary, Eugene Revere, Neil Walton, Miss Queenie Vassar, Sam Burbank, Oscar Ragland, Miss Florence Williams, Louis Baum, Charles Judels, Douglas Stevenson, Miss Estelle Baldwin and Albert Stuart. The orchestra will be under the capable direction of W. A. Mecquinn.

Olive Vail, the clever comedienne, will return to this city in the big Mort H. Singer musical review, "Miss Nobody From Starland," on Monday, May 13, at the Lyceum theater. The cast of principals supporting Miss Vail includes Bertie Beaumont, in her graceful dancing characterization of Nina, the Italian girl; Raymond Payne, Joseph H. Neimeyer, the whirlwind dancer; Maude Emery, Otto Koerner and others who have become favorites during the two years' successful career of "Miss Nobody From Starland." The big dress rehearsal scene, the reproduction of the deck of a trans-Atlantic liner and the view of the audience as the actors see it from behind the footlights are still much-talked-of features.

"Miss Dudelsack," the new Viennese operetta in which Lulu Glaser will come to the Lyceum May 20, is said to be replete with tuneful music of the kind that has made those other Viennese operas, "The Merry Widow" and "The Chocolate Soldier" and "The Spring Maid" famous. A few of the song hits that are likely to be whistled and hummed all over town are: "Oh, You, You Darling," "Ride, Red Captain, Ride," "Pluck Not the Rose," "We Are the Macks" and "They Call Me Dudelsack." Miss Glaser is surrounded by a company of twenty principals, a chorus of trained voices and a special orchestra. Important roles are in the hands of Thomas Richards, Arthur Hyde, Rosetta Nier, Berenice Whittier and others. This will be the first time Miss Glaser has visited the coast in six seasons.

Octavia Broske, who is playing the part of the Comtesse de Montanvert in Klaw & Erlanger's company, now on tour in "The Pink Lady," and which is to be seen here soon, will be recalled for her work in "The Prince of Pilsen" last season and numerous other big musical shows. She is possessed of a grand opera voice, having been trained for that field before going into musical comedy.

AT THE ORPHEUM

To the thoughtful person one of the unalterably sad features of American life is the conflict that comes between the new and the passing generations of Jewish families. Many of the fathers and mothers of Israel face one of the most bitter conditions that parenthood is called upon to bear. Their children, teeming with the spirit and newness of America find the old orthodox customs and ceremonies irksome, and to their minds un-American. The fathers of the passing generations must look on in bitterness of spirit, while the ceremonies of their fathers are disregarded.

This is the problem which provides the conflict in the one-act play to be presented as the headline act at the Orpheum next week, beginning with tomorrow's matinee. "The Son of Solomon" is the name of the little sketch, and it was written by Aaron Hoffman. The East side of New York is the locale of the play, and the simple and touching story is told most effectively. Laughter and tears are happily mingled. The hero is one of those fathers who finds in his own home in the son and daughter he loves with the passion that marks the devotion of Jewish life, these new feelings and desires of a new world. The little play is told with interest and strength. There is no ridicule of alleged racial characteristics. This type of Jew is presented with dignity and sympathetic understanding, his loyalty, his native shrewdness, his love of the old and his fear of the new, his generosity and bigness of heart are shown in a truly dramatic manner. "The Son of Solomon" should prove one of the most interesting of the little dramas seen in Duluth this season.

With the increased interest in the one-act plays during the last season, the students of the drama in Duluth should be particularly interested in this headline act. The appeal of the story and the splendid acting of Hugh Herbert in the title role should please every patron of the theater.

A comedy quartet, the Empire Comedy Four, which has but recently returned from European triumphs, will be one of the attractive features of next week's bill. The personnel of the quartet is Joe Jenny, the German comedian, James Cunningham, tenor, James Kelly, contra tenor, and Al Greene, basso. The quartet has an international reputation in the vaudeville world and the members have been hailed as America's funniest quartet.

The Four Famous Vanis accomplish marvelous feats on a tight wire with an ease and grace that is captivating. The work of this group is well known on the Orpheum circuit and the members are always well received. Miss Ollie Vanis is considered one of the most expert tight wire performers before the public.

A dancing act out of the ordinary will be presented by Max Hart's Six Steppers. The company consists of four brothers and two sisters and their solo and ensemble dancing is done with grace and charm. A clog dance in military costumes in which bugle calls and martial music are simulated with their dancing steps is an effective and popular feature. The Six Steppers present a dancing act that is popular with every lover of vaudeville.

Harp music seems as popular as it is scarce. The enthusiasm with which the average auditor greets a harp solo would almost lead more people to make greater effort to win a residence in the locality where a harp accompaniment is always provided. Until that time arrives Mr. and Mrs. Elliott do their best to bridge the yawning chasm of harpless living. These two performers present an act of harp music and singing that is tremendously popular. Instruments valued at $1,000 are used and everything from grand opera to ragtime music is played. The act is refined and popular.

The lightest moments of the bill are provided by Dick Ferguson, comedian and in his act he supplies mirth of the most delightful sort.

Miss Martha Custis Harl, and Ray Belmont and a piano constitute "The girl, the man and the piano." Miss Harl is a grand neice of Gen. Robert E. Lee, once head of the Southern Confederacy. The act which Mr. Belmont and Miss Harl present is a refined and gracious one and the piano numbers, the songs and Miss Harl's words without song to piano accompaniment constitute a most charming act.

The new pictures of the kinodrome and the Orpheum concert orchestra complete the bill for the week which will be presented at a matinee tomorrow and continue every afternoon and evening during the week.

The modern comedy, "The Battle Cry of Freedom," in which May Tully will be seen over the Orpheum circuit, is the joint effort of Miss Tully and Bozeman Bulger. The latter is a well known sporting writer, and like Miss Tully, is a baseball expert. He has also written a number of successful comedies.

Miss Ada Reeve has completed her Orpheum circuit and first American tour and will return to London to fulfill engagements there. Her route will be via the isthmus of Panama, where Miss Reeve will inspect the Panama canal. Martin Beck has arranged for the delightful English comedienne to return to America next season, and as was the case this year, she will be seen exclusively on the Orpheum circuit.

There is more than usual importance attached to the coming production of "The Drums of Oude." It marks the second of the series of the one-act plays David Belasco, by arrangement with Martin Beck, is presenting for the Orpheum circuit, and it will be in every respect a Balascoian premier, being the first presentation of the dramatic episode in America. The initial performance will be given at the Palace theater, Chicago, on May 6.

For some reason Bertha Kalish's tours as a dramatic star never extended to the extreme West. Her first appearance on the Pacific coast will be over the Orpheum circuit, and it is expected she will prove one of the biggest of the many "big" Orpheum engagements.

MERCEDES, THE MUSICAL ENIGMA,
At the Empress Next Week.

AT THE EMPRESS

Mercedes will headline the show which comes to the Empress for the week commencing matinee Sunday. This wonderful young man has been called the Musical Enigma, and he presents an act which is easily the most marvelous ever brought to the Empress. Mercedes is a young man favored with the remarkable power of second sight and who, with the aid of this gift, is able to transfer a thought from the minds of his audience to that of his assistant, Mlle. Stantone. Mercedes passes through the audience and requests them to think of music of any kind; ragtime, classical, patriotic; in fact, anything that has ever been published in the line of music. He then places his hands upon the shoulders of the person giving the test, and, immediately, his assistant, who is seated blindfolded at the piano upon the stage, plays the selection thought without a word being spoken by Mercedes.

The patrons of the Empress have seen many mind-reading and second-sight performances, but it is safe to say that never have they seen anything that could equal the performance of Mercedes. This attraction has appeared in most of the big cities in the East and the newspapers in each city have written column after column about it. While appearing in Cincinnati, Mercedes created a sensation and both the public and the press were loud in the praise of his work. The Cincinnati Enquirer said of the performance: "To have one's mind so attuned to that of another as to make it possible to have both minds work in harmony by thinking the same thoughts and receiving the same mental impression may be dabbling in the occult, but it is accomplished successfully by Mercedes and Mlle. Stantone on the bill at the Empress theater this week. To demonstrate the power of telepathy, Mercedes walks up and down the aisles and asks for the name of any piece of music. Seated at the piano on the stage, Mlle. Stantone plays at will the various musical compositions, the names of which have been whispered to Mercedes, who conveys them on thought waves to her. It took a number of demonstrations last night to prove to the doubters that there was no trickery in this mental telepathy game which neither of the demonstrators understand as a physic phenomenon. The act seemed simple enough when one remembers the catch phrases which are used in many of the telepathic public demonstrations. But down in the corridors of the theater building basement, the act which seemed so plausible before was now more mysterious and complicated. Locked in her room, Mlle. Stantone read and added a row of figures which were written on paper in the dark, read the name of the firm of hatters printed on a man's hat band and read the time on a closed face watch which had been wrongly set." This is the candid opinion of one of the largest newspapers in the country and should give the theatergoing public of Duluth a slight idea as to the merits of this attraction.

The engagement of Hellstrom & Myhre should prove of special interest to thousands of Duluth's theatergoing public as these two capable entertainers are products of this city. Miss Hellstrom and Mr. Myhre will offer a series of Swedish songs and folk dances which should bring back memories of their childhood days to the Scandinavian people of this city. They sing a number of songs in both the Swedish and English tongues and dance the national dances of their native land in a finished and artistic manner. Mr. Myhre is blessed with a rich baritone voice, while Miss Hellstrom possesses a clear soprano of wonderful range and purity. Their dancing is expected to prove a revelation, as they execute the intricate steps of the Swedish national dances with an ease and grace that is pleasing to the eye. This attraction has been secured especially for the entertainment of the Scandinavian people of the city and it is expected that they will turn out in large numbers to witness the performance of two of Sweden's cleverest performers.

The two Georges, acrobatic comedians, are expected to prove one of the comedy hits of next week's show. The Georges are said to be wonderfully clever acrobats and they will offer a line of gymnastic entertainment which is said to be highly thrilling. In addition to their skill as gymnasts, the Georges are excellent comedians and throughout their turn they will offer a line of comedy which is said to be of the side-splitter order. The Georges have met with favor in every one of the Sullivan & Considine theaters in which they have appeared and it is expected that they will meet with the same cordial reception during their engagement in this city.

Trained animal acts of different sorts have been seen at the Empress from time to time, but the engagement of Stanley's troupe of trained goats is expected to prove somewhat of a novelty. It is generally known that the goat is a stubborn and headstrong animal and animal trainers, as a rule, steer clear of attempting to train it for theatrical performances; but after spending much time and patience, Prof. Stanley has succeeded in teaching this commonplace animal to perform various tricks, which require almost human intelligence. Stanley's goats are said to be remarkably well trained and they go through their performance with scarcely an assistance from their trainer. This attraction should prove of special interest to the children attending the Empress during the coming week.

As a special added attraction for the week William A. Grew & Co. will present the fascinating comedy playlet, "Dollars and Cents." This playlet is from the pen of one of America's best known writers of vaudeville sketches and it is said to be highly entertaining. While on the comedy order, "Dollars and Cents" is said to contain many grains of philosophy and it is said to handle a problem common in every day life in an excellent manner. This playlet is said to contain an excellent plot about which is woven a fabric of clean and refreshing comedy. The situations are developed naturally and the lines are handled in an excellent manner by Mr. Grew and his clever support.

The motion pictures for the week will be up to their usual high standard and in keeping with the excellent attractions which they will follow. A bargain matinee will be given daily at 2:45 and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either telephone. Special attention is paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

A new comedy, "Just Like John," by George Broadhurst and Mark E. Swan, was first presented by William A. Brady at the Teck theater, Buffalo, on April 18. Walter Jones, Wallace Worsley, Herbert Yost, Rapley Holmes, Florine Arnold, Theodosia De Coppet, Elsa Lorimer and Diva Maroll were in the cast. This play is expected to open Brady's new Forty-eighth Street theater in August. "Little Miss Brown," a new comedy by Philip Bartholomae, was produced by Mr. Brady in Cleveland on Monday.

"The New Sin" is the title of a new play just purchased by George C. Tyler, managing director of the Lieber company, who is in Europe on his annual pilgrimage in search of dramatic novelties. Just what this sin is is a matter causing much conjecture among playgoers.

The Viennese operetta, "The Doll Girl," production of which Charles Frohman had to postpone this season because of illness, will be shown next season.

Fritzi Scheff, it now appears, is not to sing in the revival of "Patience" which the Schuberts and William Brady are to make. She will continue on tour in "Die Fledermaus," the Strauss opera, till the end of May.

Annette Kellerman, who is abroad appearing in "Undine," which was staged for her at the Winter Garden, may upon her return to this country star at the head of a musical production.

William Faversham is busily engaged in gathering together one of the most formidable companies which the stage is likely to see next season. In the organization, besides Mr. Faversham himself, will be Tyrone Power, E. S. Willard, Frank Keenan and Fuller Mellish. It is an established fact that several of these players already have signed contracts with Mr. Faversham, and the latter is confident of obtaining the cooperation of them all. Mr. Faversham is said to have ample backing in his new enterprise. The company will appear in repertoire, care being taken to produce at least one play each week wherein one of the quintet will be given stellar prominence, and in which the others may not participate at all. The full complement of all stars will, however, appear once each week in "Julius Caesar," the roles thus far having been assigned as follows: Antony, Mr. Faversham; Brutus, Mr. Power; Caesar, Mr. Willard, and Cassius, Mr. Keenan. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is another play already chosen for the repertoire, and in this comedy Mr. Power will be cast for Bottom. While the majority of the plays will be Shakespearean, at least one or two modern pieces will be produced during the season. The organization will begin its season in September, and tour through Canada until after the presidential election. Then the company moves on New York, where Mr. Faversham hopes it will remain until spring.

When "Patience" is revived at the Lyric theater, New York, on May 6, Marie Doro will be seen in the role. De Wolf Hopper as Bunthorne, Cyril Scott as Grosvenor and Eva Davenport as Lady Jane. Other principals will be Christine Nielsen, Viola Gillette, Alice Brady, Eugene Cowles, George J. MacFarlane and Arthur Aldridge.

"Oliver Twist," in its big-cast revival, has proved such a success in New York that the Liebler company has decided to tour the country with the famous organization intact. The company includes Nat C. Goodwin as Fagin, Marie Doro as Oliver, Constance Collier as Nancy and Lyn Harding as Bill Sikes.

"The Garden of Allah," which opened at the Century theater, New York, seven months ago, will be continued at that mammoth playhouse until the early part of June. It has already broken all known attendance and box office records.

Mme. Emma Trentini has sailed for London. While there she will play an engagement at Hammerstein's opera house, creating the principal role in Parrelli's new opera, "The Lovers' Quarrel," and appearing in "The Tales of Hoffman."

George Blumenthal, business manager for Arthur Hammerstein, will accompany Mme. Trentini on the trip. He is going abroad on business connected with Mme. Trentini's production of next season.

The translation of Arthur Schnitzler's comedy, "Anatol," which Winthrop Ames will produce at the Little theater next season, will be made by Langdon Mitchell, author of "The New York Idea" and of Mrs. Fiske's version of "Vanity Fair," entitled "Becky Sharp."

Joseph M. Gaites will produce about May 6 an all-star revival of "The Chimes of Normandy" at either the Illinois or Colonial theater, Chicago. Gaites already has Ralph Herz engaged, and is negotiating with Lina Abarbanell and Raymond Hitchcock.

William Spenser of Philadelphia has written a new opera. The piece is entitled "A Wild Goose," and Fred C. Whitney has undertaken its production. The opera will reach the boards of the Lyric theater tomorrow night, and Mr. Whitney is convinced that there it will remain through the summer. Ethel Jackson will sing the prima donna role. Others in the cast are Mabel Weeks, Gretta Risley, David Reese, Will Philbrick, George Richards, Frank Belcher and Bernhardt Niemeyer. Al M. Holbrook is in charge of the stage.

Nazimova closed her season last Saturday night in Philadelphia and expects to spend the summer abroad. She returns here next August to open her season in a new play, the title of which has not been divulged.

George Lederer has re-entered the theatrical field with "Mama's Baby Boy" at the Chestnut Street theater, Philadelphia. By an arrangement with B. F. Keith the Chestnut Street theater changes its policy temporarily atleast, and Mr. Lederer's production, if successful, may be the opening gun in a campaign waged for a circuit of musical comedy theaters at moderate prices. "Mama's Baby Boy" is not altogether new, although it never before has been seen in its present guise. Once it was known as "The Lovely Liar," and Louise Dresser starred in it. Antedating that eventful period the piece was a farce, which May Irwin called "Mrs. Black Is Back." Junie McCree has been hard at work upon the latest edition, and has made numerous changes in the manuscript, all of which are said to be in the nature of improvements. Mr. McCree also will act one of the principal comedy roles. A vaudeville team will figure conspicuously in the cast, and Bobby Barry will be notable among those present.

A new piece by Henri Bernstein has been accepted by Charles Frohman. According to that American manager's present plans it will very likely be assigned to John Mason. Mason, who has been playing in "As a Man Thinks," will be under Charles Frohman's direction next fall, and his season will open early in September. If Mason doesn't land with the Bernstein play he will resume in his present vehicle.

"The Law and the Lawless," in rehearsal for some time and with the day night for it to open on the road, has been shelved.

Robert Edeson's closing of his season in "The Indiscretion of Truth," was believed to be for the current season. It is now stated that the piece has been permanently shelved.

Miss Lelia Hughes, the "Nadina" of the Western "The Chocolate Soldier" company, is now singing the role in "Two Little Brides," first allotted to Miss Christine Nielsen. Miss Nielsen will understudy the prima donna role in the coming revival of "Patience," which is to be made by the Shuberts at their Lyric theater, New York.

Al Jolson, the leading comedian at the Winter Garden, has been put under contract by the Messrs. Shubert for a term of years. After he leaves the Winter Garden he is to be starred in a new comedy with music.

The "Texas Tommy Dancers," now at the Winter Garden, got their name in a singular manner. They originated their peculiar dance in a Barbary Coast resort in San Francisco, and were seen by a Mrs. Thomas Smith, wife of a wealthy Texas rancher, who was then living in that city. She engaged them to dance at one of her social functions, and, because her intimate friends called her "Texas Tommy," the dancers became known as the "Texas Tommy Dancers."

James T. Powers says it is a good thing to be a "specialist" in any occupation. He once knew an actor who specialized on impersonating policemen. He got to be one of the best stage policemen in the world, but no manager would employ him for any other kind of a part. When he finally got out of work—for the dramatists didn't seem to be writing any police heroes at the moment—he joined the New York police force and got his revenge by chasing actors from their favorite corners on Broadway.

There are two prima donna roles in "Two Little Brides," the new musical comedy by Gustave Kerker in which James T. Powers is starring at the Casino theater, New York. These two title characters are impersonated by Frances Cameron, who is a Hungarian by birth and won her first success in the title role of "The Merry Widow;" and by Lelia Hughes, who returned a year ago from her musical studies in Paris and has this season been singing "Nadina" in "The Chocolate Soldier."

Evelyn Beerbohm, who plays the comedy role in Lewis Waller's production of "A Butterfly on the Wheel," now being presented at the Thirty-ninth street theater, New York, is a nephew of Beerbohm Tree, the famous English actor-manager. Before he went on the stage he was a soldier in the regular British army and saw service as a field officer in South Africa.

Charles Hawtrey, who is now playing a limited engagement in "Dear Old Charlie" at Maxime Elliott's theater, New York, once wished to borrow a considerable sum of money from a firm of English private bankers. He of course had ample security to offer, and the bankers naturally agreed to let him have the amount needed, but with a certain air of solemnity as if to magnify the importance of the transaction.

"When shall you require this very large sum of money, Mr. Hawtrey?" asked the head of the firm in his most ponderous manner.

"What time is it now?" retorted the comedian, glancing carelessly at his watch!

Lina Cavalieri, the noted diva, will accept the offer of the Shuberts to appear at the Winter Garden provided they engage a tenor or baritone of high reputation to support her. Negotiations are still pending. Cavalieri is in Paris.

Fritzi Scheff, it now appears, is not to sing in the revival of "Patience" which the Shuberts and William A. Brady are to make. She will continue on tour in "Die Fledermaus," the Strauss opera, till the end of May.

ADOPTION OF THE POLISH CONSTITUTION OF MAY 3, 1791

By PROF. THOMAS SIEMIRADZKI.

May 3 is a great day for every Pole, whether he lives under the rule of czar or kaiser or under the shadow of the Stars and Stripes. On this day the Poles throughout the world celebrate the memory of their famous and successful effort to save the honor if not the existence of their country by adopting a new progressive Constitution. There were in 1791 only four nations which knew the meaning of the word Constitution and enjoyed the blessings of a popular form of government. England was followed in this line by the young republic of the United States. Revolutionary France came after them as the third member of the family. And besides them and above all there was the venerable old Switzerland, which can be styled rightly as the mother of all popular governments in modern history.

Poland was laboring at that time under a peculiar kind of despotism. Here was not a despotic rule of one man, as was the case with most of the nations. It was the despotism of a whole class, the despotism of the nobility, which was ruining Poland, and threatening to deliver her, body and soul, into the hands of her enemies. The power of the king was only nominal; the peasants were in a condition bordering on servitude; the inhabitants of the cities, the merchants, artisans, laborers, did not possess any political rights at all. There was no army to speak of; the finances of the republic were in a poor condition, and the rich were exempt from taxation. A diet composed entirely of members of the nobility was the only power in the country, ruling the whole in the interests of one class.

After the first partition in 1772 everybody in Poland saw that some radical reforms must be adopted to save what was left of the once powerful republic. Almost everybody knew what these reforms had to be. The only difficulty which presented itself to the patriots was that it was a council of nobles which had to be induced to put an end to the privileged position of the nobility, to break the power of its own class, to endow with political rights the other classes, to increase the powers of the crown, to impose taxes on the clergy and the large land owners, in a word to modernize thoroughly the antiquated political structure of the country. The diet alone had to do all that, as there was no other way to produce such a sweeping change, short of a bloody revolution, as was the case with France in 1789.

And the Polish diet did it all. Its action stands unique in the history of mankind—that an all-powerful class voluntarily renounced most of its privileges under no other pressure than that kind of the feeling of pure patriotism and under the command of sound statesmanship.

On May 3, 1971, the Polish parliament in Warsaw passed, after a short discussion, almost unanimously (the few members of the opposition remaining silent) an act which is known in history under the name of the Constitution of May 3. There were only eleven articles in it, but they removed almost all the iniquities of the old system and gave Poland a regular, modern, constitutional government. The election of the kings by the nobility was abolished and the crown became herditary. The legislative power was to be vested in the diet, with the right of the senate to postpone bills to which it did not agree to the next session of the parliament. The so-called "liberum veto," which gave every member of the diet the right to stop any measure adopted by the majority, was annulled.

The king became the only executive and was given a cabinet of six ministers, who were to be responsible to the people. The so-called "third state"—that is, merchants, artisans and laborers in the cities—obtained the right to elect their own representatives. The peasants were put under the protection of the laws of the country, instead of being dependent on the good will of the landlords.

A section of article VI read: "We do proclaim complete freedom to all. Whoever shall cross the border of Poland will become free ipso facto the moment he puts his foot on Polish soil."

The clergy and the nobility were taxed to the amount of 10 per cent of the net revenue from their lands. The standing army was raised to the strength of 100,000 men. Every twenty-five years the constitution was to be revised by an extraordinary session of parliament in order to introduce such changes as might be required by the course of life.

This statute put Poland almost on equal footing with the other four countries, which, as we said above, enjoyed at that time a popular system of government. It raised Poland enormously above her nearest neighbors, such as Russia, Austria and various German states of central Europe, where the despotism of emperors, kings and princes continued to flourish to the detriment of the people. Not a drop of blood was shed in this radical reversal of about 12,000,000 population. The people received the news of the reform with wild shouts of enthusiasm; all the best spirits of Europe hastened to congratulate the king and the parliament on account of their achievement. Poland, rejuvenated, started joyously on her way of reorganization from a medieval aristocratic republic into a modern constitutional monarchy.

But the enemy remained watchful all the time. Already in the beginning of the movement which was to end in the adoption of this Constitution, Russia had notified the king of Poland that she would consider any attempt at changing the old system on Poland's part as casus belli, Empress Katherine II saw clearly that the vicinity of constitutional Poland, with a comparative equality of classes before the law and a strongly pronounced tendency toward a complete emancipation of the peasants, would constitute a continuous source of disquietude among her own subjects. With free and modern Poland at her side, Russia would have to modernize herself, too, or suffer under a series of revolutionary troubles.

The other way out of the difficulty was to destroy Poland, and this way was quickly resorted to by Russia. On May 18, 1792, scarcely one year after the adoption of the reform, the Russian ambassador in Warsaw handed the king a note informing him that his sovereign ordered her troops to invade Poland and to proceed to the capital, unless the Constitution he repealed immediately and the old system restored. Sixty-five thousand Russian regulars entered Poland under the command of the famous Kutuzow. The king was able to muster against them only 45,000, most of whom were raw recruits. Some Polish nobles who never became reconciled to the reform joined the enemy. The campaign was short and disastrous to the friends of liberty and the new Constitution was drowned in the blood of the best sons of Poland.

Then came the second partition. Russia and Prussia occupied and annexed a considerable part of the territory of the republic, and the rest was allowed to drag an inglorious existence under the protectorate of Russia, which restored forcibly all the iniquitous and antiquated laws of the past. And then the eyes of the whole Polish nation turned to Kosciuszko, who came in the spring of 1794 back from the exile to assume the title of chief of the nation and to lend his sword to the almost impossible task of saving his country from the clutches of three great military powers.

Poland lived only one year under her new Constitution, but so much was done in that short space of time that one easily can imagine how splendid would have been the further development of the people and of the country if they were left alone to shape their destinies according to their own ideas. The brutal and morally inexcusable intervention of Russia was the only cause of all the subsequent misfortune of Poland.

The memory of the beautiful day of May 3, 1791, is always alive in the hearts of the Polish people; they cherish it not only as the last sunny day of their unfortunate country, but what is more, as a sign that Poland proved on the very eve of her fall to be thoroughly capable of self-government, and fell not through her own fault but through perversity of her powerful and unscrupulous neighbor.

Pretty Mothers

Health is the foundation of all good looks. The wise woman realizes this and takes precautions to preserve her health and strength through the period of child bearing. She remains a pretty mother by avoiding as far as possible the suffering and dangers of such occasions. This every woman may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

DRINK TO YOU MEANS FAILURE

It May Come Soon Or It May Come Late, But Come It Will—Successful Men These Days Are Those Who Do Not Drink.

For Years the Neal Treatment Has Been Curing the Drink Habit Without Hypodermic Injections or Any Disagreeable Features

THE NEAL TREATMENT commends itself to all those whose nervous system demands liquor, because there are no bad aftereffects and no hypodermic injections—the treatment is so mild and so harmless a child could take it.

The nervous symptoms disappear after the first few doses of medicine are taken, the appetite for wholesome food returns, sleep becomes natural and dreamless and the liquor appetite leaves.

And the liquor appetite will never return unless the drinker deliberately repoisons his system by drinking alcoholic liquor deliberately, with no physical or nerve demand for it, just as he took the original first drink of liquor in his life. No man ever craved that first drink.

Thousands of responsible, sober business men the country over, who were one time drunkards, are examples of what the Neal Treatment means to the liquor drinker.

Just three days from the day you enter the Neal Institute you will leave it with no more appetite for liquor than the day you were born.

The Neal Institute contracts, in writing, that all craving and desire for liquor will disappear in the three days of treatment and that you are to be entirely satisfied with the Neal Treatment or the full fee paid shall be returned at the end of the third day.

The Neal Home Treatment is for those who cannot come to the institute for three days.

Call, Write or Phone for Copy of Contract and Free Booklet Concerning the Treatment. Everything Strictly Confidential.

MORE MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

Lack of Support by Public Hurting North Dakota Rural Schools.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Decries Conditions.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. J. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction, believes that public opinion is essential to the betterment of the rural school conditons. He declares that success in school work can only be attained when the schools are backed by the people of the district.

Out of the 1,700 districts in North Dakota, he says 1,200 district levied less than 10 mills for school purposes, and that 500 levied less than 5 mills.

The statements were made in an address before the Tri-County Educational association, which is in session here.

CIVIL CASES ARE NOW BEING TRIED

Famous Damage Suit Against City of Cloquet Before Carlton Court.

Carlton, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.) — The district court has been busy this week with civil actions and three have been tried by jury.

The case of Ed Walker of Cromwell vs. Jonas Raihl was on for two or three days. Mr. Walker sued to recover $389.71, which he alleged the defendant owed him for a store account. Raihl in defense set up a counter claim for $479.85 for breach of contract. The jury gave Mr. Walker a judgment against the defendant for $244 and another judgment against him on the counter claim.

Frank La Duc sued Ernest Rohlf for damages for a horse which died in the spring of 1910. The jury gave a verdict this time for $156. It was the second time it was tried.

The case of N. E. Barnard vs. J. C. Johnson was settled in court, an amicable adjustment having been made. The plaintiff sued to recover payment for a note of some $400.

Again Sues Cloquet.

The personal injury damage case of William A. Anderson vs. city of Cloquet is being tried again. The case has been in court four times. The plaintiff sues to recover $3,240 for alleged neglect in the construction and care of a railing on the bridge across the river at Cloquet. The plaintiff says that in July, 1909, while on the bridge he leaned his hand against a railing and it gave way, precipitating him into the river where he landed on a pile of logs. He was damaged by broken bones and hospital bills and seeks to recover. It was first tried here in 1910, and the verdict was in favor of the city, or rather it was thrown out on account of an error in pleadings. Walter L. Case, for the plaintiff, appealed to the court for a new trial and it was granted. The city then appealed to the supreme court for a denial of the new trial, but let it go by default. Then the case come on last fall and after being warmly contested it resulted in a disagreement by the jury.

The next case is expected to be that of Bertha Klug vs. Peter Belkiewiscz of Cloquet. This is to be a personal damage suit for slander in connection with church attendance and promises to be quite interesting in its testimony and general nature.

NEW CANCER CURE METHOD IN VOGUE

NEW YORK, April 28.—At a surgical clinic in the New York Skin and Cancer hospital yesterday afternoon, Dr. William Seaman Bainbridge read a paper describing his success in treating cancer by the new fulguration method, which was brought from Paris last year by Dr. De Keating Hart.

Dr. Bainbridge said he had used this method on more than forty cases of cancer, on all of which it was believed operations would be impossible, and had most encouraging results. In many of the cases where he seems to have had success the patients had asked to have operations performed at hospitals and were told that the cancer was chronic.

Dr. Bainbridge explained that, despite his encouraging results, it was promature to pass on the merits of the fulguration method before three years had elapsed from the time of the operations.

The "fulguration treatment" of cancer is a combination of surgical operations and electrical treatment. First part of the cancerous tumor is removed with the knife and then 400,000 volts of electricity are immediately applied to the wound. This tremendous electrical force is called the "long spark" and only one spark is allowed to touch the wound.—(Reprint from News Tribune).

This fulguration method has been in vogue only for a short time, and while it is new, it has proven to be a great success and is not lokely to die out, as scientists the world over are waking up to the fact that the knife alone is a dangerous implement, not only in the case of cancer, but also in a good many diseases of different character. The doctors of this new school, who have introduced a new method in the treatment of cancer and other diseases, are the Electro Medical Doctors of Duluth, who have their new institution at No. 26 West Superior street. While there are very few cancer patients in this healthy climate, and the doctors had not the opportunity of thoroughly demonstrating their superior methods, the few patients they had have proven to be a success, as was previously published in this paper. In fact, this sort of treatment has been administered by the Electro Medical Doctors in many other diseases and has resulted in the same gratifying outcome—a complete recovery—in men as well as in women. All this is proving the theory that electricity is the spark of life, and wherever it is applied correctly, and in sufficiently high enough voltage, it can not help but to cure where other methods failed.

ACQUIRES LAND FOR MORE TRACKS

Northern Pacific to Make Carlton Freight Terminal and Transfer Point.

Carlton, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. B. Walker, right of way agent for the Northern Pacific railway has completed negotiations whereby the railway company acquired a strip of land about two miles long and thirty or forty rods wide, the strip running west along the tracks from the depot here. On this land the company will build a lot of passing tracks, a roundhouse to hold about thirty engines, and in fact everything to make Carlton the freight terminal and transfer for this territory. Mr. Walker says it will mean that freight will be sent out here from Duluth to be distributed and routed, and it will be something similar to the Minnesota transfer at Hamline.

Plan Another Sales Day.

The arrangements are being completed for another sales day here on May 18. It has been rather difficult to get enough articles to sell, as everyone seems to want to buy and not many have anything to sell, however, enough stuff has now been promised so that the committee are working out the details for the sale and it is expected it will be a big day.

The Carlton stock market received two carloads of horses and cattle this week which were purchased at points in Southern Wisconsin by E. E. Goman.

HEADACHE CURES HIT.

North Dakota Pure Food Department Scores Nostrums.

Agricultural College, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota department of pure foods here has issued a bulletin following analyses of so-called headache cures in which the board scores them as dangerous.

"We find that," says the board, "first, nearly all of them contain acetanilid as their active constituent. If acetanilid is not present then one of the other so-called coal tar derivatives, as phenacetin, or antipy, is present, each of which is recognized as a poison derived from the same class of products as are the coal tar dyes which have in the past given us so much trouble.

"The headache cures or remedies are to the adult what 'baby-killers' or soothing syrups are to the infant. Soothing syrups have never removed the cause of colic and pain; they have stupified and dulled the sensibility of the infant, injured the child, and, at times, been to cause of death. So the headache powders are not a cure; are not in reality the remedy for headaches and other ailments for which they are so often administered; and, like soothing syrups, they too have many victims charged to the indiscriminate use of this class of preparations; the result of false and even at times malicious advertising and claims made on the part of the manufacturers."

Mr. Parshall officiating, for Andrew Wheaton, a war veteran, who was once in the public eye because he had twice changed his name, who died at the home of his sister, Ruth Sawyer, aged 69. A native of New Brunswick, he came to the United States during the Civil war and joined a Maine infantry, serving through the war.

He came west in the early 70s, after marrying Myranda Haynes in Pennsylvania, going to Custer, Mont., where he took the name of John Nelson. He went to Grand Rapids in 1878 under the name of Jack Quigley, and in 1899 came to Cass Lake. His application for a pension developed in a mix-up showing that a woman claiming to be his widow, was drawing a pension. Wheaton was arrested for pension fund fraud and following long drawn-out proceedings in the federal court the case was finally dropped, after Wheaton had sent to Maine to secure proof who he was.

MORE MONEY NEEDED.

State Consumptives' Sanitarium Crippled for Lack of Funds.

St. Paul, Minn., May 4.—That more appropriations for the state sanitorium for tuberculosis at Walker are needed, is the keynote of the report to the state board of visitors made by Secretary J. C. Matchitt, who visited the sanitarium April 18 and says the appropriation of enough funds to run the institution properly is a matter which should be attended to the legislature.

Many while waiting to be taken into the hospital, Mr. Matchitt says, do not receive proper care, and become incurable. The law forbids the sanitariums to take incurable patients and they lose their chance for life and proper treatment because no funds are available now to allow the sanitarium to fill up to its capacity.

Many persons are brought to the Walker sanitarium who are so far advanced that they cannot be overtaken. To such persons the trip to Walker is very trying and they are allowed to stay there for a few days to rest. But they have to be sent back as soon as they are able to travel. The report urges that the law be observed in this respect and that friends of patients ascertain beforehand that they will be received before attemepting the journey to Walker.

EXPECT SOME LOGS.

Neils Lumber Company Hopes to Keep Its Plant Running.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Neils Lumber company expects a supply of logs from Long lake soon and will have a sufficient amount on hand to keep the mill running steadily. Water in the lake is rising gradually and it is expected that the company will be able to replenish their supply at any time during the summer, thus doing away with occasional shut-downs.

W. F. Koeneman has this week sold five houses in the southeast part of town to men who are working in the saw mill, who either have their families here or are expecting them shortly from the Old Country.

WAS CASE OF SUICIDE.

Jury Finds Edmore, N. D., Man Took His Own Life.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. J. Donahue died from poison taken with suicidal intent, according to a verdict returned by the coroner's jury following a lengthy probe. Donahue was found dead at his home near Edmore an hour after he quarreled with his wife and she had left home. In his stomach were found three grains of strychnine.

MINNESOTA BOATS UNSAFE?

Governor Finds Law Is Inadequate to Protect Passengers.

St. Paul, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the result of the Titanic disaster complaints concerning alleged lack of safety appliances on board boats plying in Minnesota lakes, including Lake Vermilion and Lake Minnetonka, have been sent to Governor Eberhart, who has secured from Attorney General Smith an opinion that the statutory provisions in this state are broad enough to warrant the enforcement of reasonable regulations as to lifeboats, rafts and other safety appliances on crafts operating within the state.

Ferries operating on any waters in this state are also subject to the provsions.

CHURCH GROWTH SHOWN.

Congregationalists of Mouse River, N. D., Section Advancing.

Granville, N. D., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—Progress was made during the past year by the Congregational church in this section, according to reports at the annual meetings of the Mouse River Loop association, held here. New churches and increased membership are the means by which the growth has been attained.

W. A. Whitcomb of Maxbass was elected moderator, and Rev. C. L. Rotch of Velva secretary. The district includes all counties in the Mouse river section, eight in number.

BOY OF 6 DROWNS.

George Jarvis of East Grand Forks Falls Into Red River.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 4.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Jarvis, aged 6 years, was drowned in the Red river last night. The lad was playing with several companions on some logs when he fell in.

ST. PAUL BOY BEHEADED WHILE STEALING RIDE.

La Crosse, Wis., May 4.—Edward Fryllinger, aged 16, of St. Paul, after being put off a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul train at West Salem, Wis., yesterday attempted to board the next one passing at thirty miles an hour and was thrown under the wheels where his head was cut off.

PRESIDENT'S COUSIN HAS ACCEPTED ROCHESTER CALL.

Rochester, Minn., May 4.—Rev. Mr. Reed Taft Bayne has accepted the invitation to become the pastor of the Congregational church of this city. For the past three years he has been at McCook, Neb., where he took a prominent part in civic affairs, being a member of the library board, as well as being appointed by the mayor of McCook as censor of moving picture shows. He refused the Republican nomination for member of the school board. Rev. Mr. Bayne is a second cousin of President Taft, his mother being Julia Taft Bayne.

North Dakotan Disappears.

Abercombie, N. D., May 4.—Olaf Stafne of this place has disappeared and it is believed that he has become demented. He left a note saying that he was "going away from here" and that he would leave his property to a relative.

Sheyenne, N. D., Boy Shot.

Sheyenne, N. D., May 4.—Lawrence Nolan, a son of Thomas Nolan, who lives eight miles west of Sheyenne on a homestead, was accidentally shot through the left arm by a neighbor boy. The two were hunting. The wound, while painful, is not serious.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Arthur W. Hallam, chairman-elect of the Badger, has been acquitted by the student court of the university of the bribery charge in connection with co-ed campaigning, recently brought against him. Although several co-eds admitted receiving chocolates from Hallam, there was no testimony to show that the bitter sweets influenced the feminine vote.

Mr. Snell has accepted the position as general manager of a branch sash and door factory of the Radford Wright company of Oshkosh, Wis., Duluth and Winnipeg.

Might Not Be Alive

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Ocie Jett, of this place, writes: "I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed for 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but he did me no good. Finally, he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even do my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggist's.

WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Louisiana, Mo.:—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women.

"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time. I would hardly get over one spell when I would be sick again. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is worth more than mountains of gold to suffering women."—Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 503 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

REAL ESTATE

APRIL BUILDING RECORD WAS NOT ENCOURAGING

But Architects Claim to Have Plenty of Work in Sight.

Wrecking Operations Begun on Old Windsor Hotel Building.

While the report of the building inspector for April was not the most encouraging and indicated a falling off both in the number of permits taken out and the estimated cost as compared with the corresponding month of the previous year, local builders say that the outlook is good and architects claim to be busy preparing plans for residence and business structures.

In April, last, 151 permits for improvements to cost $172,728 were issued during the month. This is a considerable falling off as compared with April, 1911, when the number of permits taken out was 170 and the estimated cost was $285,105. During the past week, twenty-five permits were issued representing an expenditure of $45,638.

Wrecking operations on the old Windsor hotel building at the southwest corner of Superior street and Fifth avenue west to make way for the erection of a four-story stone and steel structure were started this week.

The new block will carry three stories on Superior street and four on Michigan street and will front forty feet on both streets. The frontage on Fifth avenue will be 135 feet. It is to be erected for C. E. Henderson and will cost about $40,000. The contract for the steel girders and frame work has been let to the American Bridge company.

Contractor George H. Lounsberry this week began work on the construction of the new building to be erected at Eighteenth avenue west and Superior street for the Minneapolis Brewing company. The foundation is now being laid. The building will be 50 by 180 feet in size, will be two stories high and of brick construction. The entire floor space of the second story will be given over to a hall. The estimated cost of the new structure is $20,000.

Appleby Bros., contractors, were awarded the contract for the construction of two new residences this week. From Architect E. S. Radcliffe they secured the job of erecting a $8,000 brick and terra cotta residence for E. M. Tredway on Second street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west and from Architect J. J. Wangerstein the contract to build a new $6,000 home for Dr. E. G. Peterson on Fifth street near Woodland avenue. This structure will be of frame and stucco.

Plans are being prepared in the office of J. J. Wangenstein for the construction of a two-story and basement hotel building at Wahkon, Minn., for the Duluth Brewing & Malting company. The new building will cost in the neighborhood of $18,000, and will be 40 by 125.

The same architect is also preparing plans for the construction of a four-flat apartment house to be erected for George Harris on East Second street.

Vernon J. Price, architect, will receive bids for the alterations for headquarters police station at his office up to May 10. The plans have been completed and are now out for figures. The work will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000.

A five-room bungalow will be erected this year at Thirteenth avenue east and Fifth street for A. W. Terrence on property which was purchased this week from George H. Lounsberry for $1,200. Austin Terryberry, a local architect, is now preparing plans. The bungalow will cost about $2,500.

Bids have been called for by Architect Anthony Puck for the remodeling of a store building owned by Axel Reid & Co. at Virginia. The alterations will cost about $15,000.

F. L. Young & Co., architects, this week let the general contract for the construction of a Brooke Park school building to William Stromberg & Co. of Milaca, Minn., on their bid of $7,783. There were seven bidders for the work. The heating and plumbing contract was awarded to Contractor Jerlbeck of Paynesville for $3,590 and the Burgess Electric company of this city will handle the wiring contract for $190.

P. M. Olsen, a local architect, will receive bids next week on the construction of a $5,000 residence for William Clifford on the lower side of Second street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east.

L. Grandy is erecting a frame dwelling house on Ninth street between Eighth and Ninth avenues east. The structure will cost $1,000.

A building permit has been issued to Ragna Powell for the erection of a frame dwelling house on Wadena street between Sixty-fourth and Sixty-fifth avenues west. It will cost $1,000.

H. Laine is constructing a frame dwelling house to cost $1,000 on Ivanhoe street between Fifty-second and Fifty-third avenues east.

A $2,000 frame house is being constructed on Seventh street between Lake and First avenues east for F. Tarnoski.

Repairs costing $11,000 are being made on the Clarkson coal dock on Garfield avenue between Ash and Birch avenues.

F. L. Young & Co. have prepared plans for a residence to be erected at 1725 Jefferson street for Frank Justyn. It will cost $4,500.

McLeod & Smith have been given the contract for alterations in the store of J. J. Friedman, tailor. A new and modern front will be put in.

A double frame residence costing $10,000 will be erected for W. C. Brown by Anderson & Gow, contractors. The house will be modern throughout.

Plans have been prepared by Architect Puck for a twenty-six-room hotel to be erected at the new town of Manganese, Minn., on the Cuyuna Iron range. It will cost $10,000.

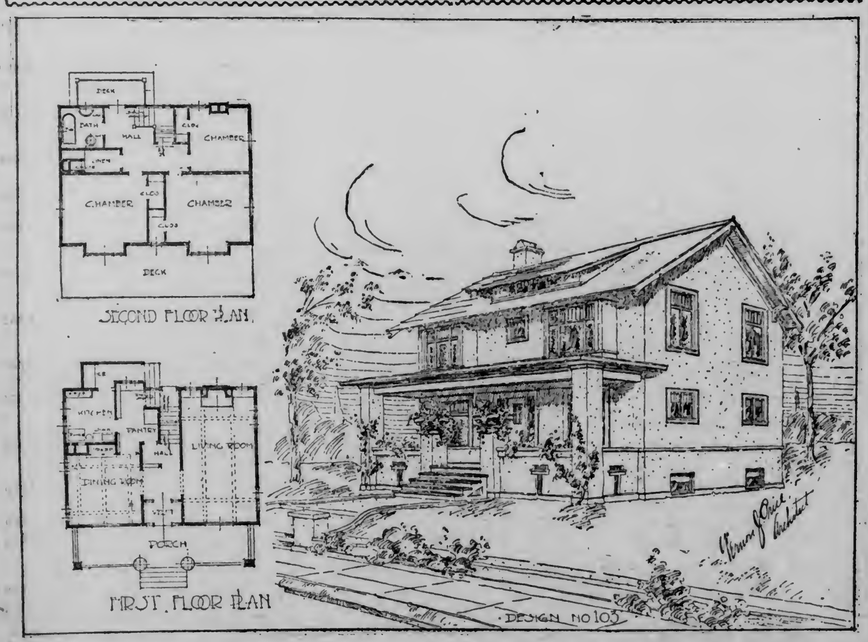
HERALD'S POPULAR-PRICED HOMES



The tendency of city people toward suburban life demands a house of the above design. The effect is obtained by the use of a stucco exterior. On the first floor the arrangement calls for a large living room with a fireplace off an entrance hall, which is well protected by a vestibule. The dining room, kitchen and pantry are exceptionally well arranged and connected. The front porch is spacious and artistic, giving the building a home-like effect. The second floor contains three large bedrooms with ample closet space. The two front chambers have window seats. The bathroom is spacious and conveniently arranged, the plumbing being directly over the kitchen. The second floor hall is large and well lighted and has a door leading to the outside deck. The cost of this home in Duluth or vicinity would be about $4,000.

DELAYED APRIL SHOWERS DEPRESS REALTY MARKET

Good Inquiry But Prospective Buyers Cannot Inspect Lands.

Watterworth Residence Is Purchased By W. H. Cook for $28,000.

While the past week in realty was not productive of many deals of any considerable importance, the transfers showed that there has been no falling off in the trading, both in city property and acreage.

Delayed April showers and the inclemency of the weather has worked to the disadvantage of the real estate man whose office is swamped with inquiries but who is unable to show prospective buyers his properties.

"As soon as we get clear weather again" said a dealer yesterday, "and we are in a position to get around and show our stuff, there is no doubt in my mind but that things will liven up considerably."

The Lakeside Land company reports three sales during the past week. A house on Fifty-fifth avenue east near Superior street was sold to Roy Catherall for $3,000; a residence on Robinson street near Forty-second avenue east was disposed of to Archie McDougall for $6,000 and a house and lot on the southeast corner of McCulloch street and Forty-fifth avenue east went to Arthur C. Gyllenborg for $2,250.

Ebert, Walker & Mcknight declare that inquiry for acreage is more than holding its own and that the weather has been the only drawback in showing people the lands. This week an 80-acre tract in Carlton county was sold to Alex Payne, a Michigan miner, who contemplates actual settlement. Another eighty on the Brule river was also sold. In city property, the firm disposed of a property at Lakeside and also a house at Seventeenth avenue east and London road. The latter was purchased by I. Aarons, the consideration being $3,000.

A good deal in residence property was recorded in the real estate transfers of the week in the sale of a Woodland avenue home by Simon Clark to W. M. Hubbard. The consideration was given as $10,500.

George W. Strayer has disposed of an undivided third interest in a flat building at the southwest corner of Second avenue west and Third street to Elizabeth S. Williamson.

A 25-foot frontage on the lower side of London road between Sixteenth and Seventeenth avenues east was sold for $2,600 by George W. Davis to Ella Peacock this week.

A house and lot at Fifteenth avenue east and Fourth street has been sold by H. E. Walker to A. Bridenthall through the H. J. Mullen agency.

For a consideration of $1,300 Cyrus G. Fawkner this week sold to Henry A. Rude a house and 25-foot frontage on the upper side of Eighth street between First and Second avenues east.

The most important sale of the week which has been reported is the transfer of the home of J. A. Watterworth, 2501 East Second street, to Wirt H. Cook. The deal was closed this week for a consideration of $28,000.

The Watterworth residence, which is of brick and stone, was built four years ago. It is a handsome structure, belonging to the newer type of high-class residences. The house occupies a double lot at the northeast corner of Twenty-fifth avenue east and Second street, fronting 100 feet on the street and 150 feet on the avenue.

Mr. Cook will take possession of the property on May 15.

George W. Davis for $1,500 this week purchased from Elsie M. Rathbun a house and lot fronting fifty feet on the lower side of Eighth street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east.

Walter J. Greenfield has sold a fifty-foot lot on the upper side of Second street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues east to Carl A. Carlson for $650.

Jacob D. Siegel this week purchased from James Clarence White a twenty-five-foot frontage on Second street between Sixth and Seventh avenues east. The consideration was $1,200.

John Proff has sold to T. H. Johnson for $2,800 a frontage of 150 feet at the southeast corner of Eleventh avenue west and Ninth street. The lots front on Ninth street.

Thomas Janetta this week bought from Charles R. Haines a fifty-foot lot on the upper side of Third street between Tenth and Eleventh avenues west. He paid $950 for it.

Harry B. Raymond this week sold to Herman H. Bartling for $1,200 a twenty-five-foot frontage on the upper side of Oneota street between Thirty-eighth and Thirty-ninth avenues west.

Edward F. Madden this week purchased from Kate Kenny for $2,800 a house and fifty-foot frontage on the west side of Sixty-second avenue west between the Northern Pacific right-of-way and Raleigh street.

TENNYSON'S CLAY PIPE.

London Daily News: Tennyson was an unwavering devotee of the clay pipe. "I take my pipe," he wrote to a friend in 1842, "and the muse descends in a fume, not like your modern ladies, who shriek at a pipe as if they saw a 'blackmuck'"—being the word which the dwellers in Brobdingnag applied to a man.

When invited on a visit to Mr. Gladstone, in 1876, Tennyson wrote: "As you are good enough to say that you will manage anything rather than lose my visit, will you manage that I can have my pipe in my own room whenever I like?"

WHEAT LOSS IN KANSAS

Starts a Renewed Bullish Movement on North American Markets.

Closes Are Very High—Duluth Flaxseed Market Dull and Steady.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 4.—Reports of worse wheat crop conditions in Kansas than had yet been given out came today from Inglis and Le Count and caused a great deal of bullish excitement on the Chicago Board of Trade. Shorts rushed to cover and the price of wheat went up at a bound. Other North American markets were not slow to follow, and there was a general bullish movement, which ended in the highest close that wheat has yet seen during this bullish year, except on April 27. On that day cash No. 1 northern wheat on the Duluth market closed at $1.17. Today it closed $1.16⅝.

Duluth May wheat today closed at an advance of 1⅝c, and July at an advance of 1⅞c. There were likewise big bulges at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Duluth cash wheat closed 1½c over May. Durum gained 2c and oats ⅜c. Rye and barley closed unchanged.

Another fairly powerful bullish wheat factor was a report sent out by the Rosenbaum Grain company of Chicago to the effect that that company's crop observer in Michigan had reported that the wheat crop of that state under the most favorable conditions could not exceed 20 per cent of a normal yield. Moreover, the car receipts of wheat on the leading American markets were away below what they were a year ago, indicating a large falling off of receipts of wheat from the country.

Foreign wheat reports were generally bullish. Buenos Ayres closed last night with wheat ⅛c to ¼c higher. The foreign demand for Canadian export wheat was brisk. Liverpool wheat today closed ¼d to ⅝d higher. The principal bullish factors were the Modern Miller report of yesterday, showing a larger abandonment of winter wheat acreage in the United States than had yet been conceded and the announcement that France was purchasing Pacific coast wheat.

Flaxseed Dull and Steady.

There was not a great deal of flaxseed trading on the Duluth market today. Offers were light and the demand amounted to little. There were but three cars on the track for inspection. Duluth May closed unchanged at $2.17½. July closed ¾c up at $2.13½ asked. Winnipeg at noon was slightly off at $1.94½. Buenos Ayres May closed last night at $1.72¼ or 1¼c higher. London May and June Calcutta seed closed at $2.18⅝, being ⅞c up. India flaxseed has begun moving to the United States, though in no such volume as at this time last year.

MARKET GOSSIP

The Chicago Paint, Oil and Drug Review says:

"The linseed oil market is about the same as it was last week, and the crushers generally are reporting heavy shipments being made on old contracts, that the demand for oil shows a heavy improvement and trade generally is very much more active than it has been. One noticeable feature is that all buyers are calling for a completion of contracts and taking all oil bought on any kind of options. This, of course, is natural in the face of the higher price of linseed oil and the fact that futures cannot be purchased below the cash price.

"Purchasers are closing up their May contracts with considerable activity, and this is requiring large quantities of flaxseed. Buyers are not inclined to pay the high prices which are now being asked for spot and future oil, but it does not appear that there is goinng to be very much relief, as the present level of prices of flaxseed has been ruling for a number of weeks past, and there are no arrivals coming in which can be bought at any price which would enable the market to be shaded. While the prices may not advance very much, on the other hand they cannot decline, and with a heavy demand for May, June and July there would be a strong tendency to force prices upward, and this is probably the best view of the market which can be made at this time."

Le Count wired from Colby, Kan.: "From Wankeeny west wheat has deteriorated rapidly. I autoed from Oakley today. Half the crop was totally destroyed and the rest may possibly make half a crop. There are high winds here today and dust is drifting like snow. There is a good shower from Russell east and prospects are about average. There is plenty of submoisture here, but the stand is poor and the plant is spindly and small."

Rycroft wired from Chicago: "Corn is working into a very bullish position from the standpoint of both the old and the new crop. Mr. Snow tells me that in his travels this spring through the wheat belt he has seen almost no corn in the farmers' cribs and hardly any in the railroad cribs. Plowing for corn is only just beeginning now, a month late, when planting should be in progress. At best the crop was three weeks to a month late in starting and this must bring tasseling and earing into the hot weather of July and the month of August. If to short stock of old corn we add a July crop scare on the new, there is no telling where the price will land."

The following reports have been received from B. W. Snow:

"Waukon, Iowa—Weather is wet and cold, but the seeding of oats is nearly done and things are in fair condition. The oats acreage will be about the average and the first seeded are up. A considerable acreage of winter wheat is killed and the balance is not looking well."

"Hugo, Okla.—Corn is coming out but it is not yet all planted. There is a large acreage of oats and corn."

"Winfield, Kan.—All farm work is delayed; 75 per cent of the corn acreage is yet to be planted."

"Fairbury, Neb.—Wheat is coming out better than was expected."

"Hillsboro, Neb.—Oats are growing nicely. Winter wheat is not thrifty. Corn plowing is well along."

"Huntington, Ind.—Wheat will hardly make seed and bread."

The weather map today showed temperatures over the Canadian Northwest ranging from 32 to 48 and over the American Northwest from 40 to 50. Weather was cloudy in both regions.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Sharp Rally in Wheat Comes on Bullish Crop News.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—Bullish reports from Kansas and Nebraska caused a sharp rally in wheat today and prices sold up to the highest level since last Monday. Trading was more active. May closed 1½c higher than yesterday; July, 1½c higher and September 1⅛@1¼c higher. Local elevator stocks decreased 150,000 bu for one day.

Car lot wheat receipts—Minneapolis today, 106; week ago, 125; year ago, 172. Duluth today, 33; week ago, 39; year ago, 11. Winnipeg today, 213; week ago, 258; year ago, 129.

Cash wheat in excellent demand and quoted steady. Offerings light and met ready sales. No. 1 northern sold for 1⅛@¼c above May.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 2,227 tons. Mills sold well ahead, but brokers report even demand. Prices unchanged.

Wheat—May opened, $1.12; high, $1.13⅞; low, $1.12; closed, $1.13¾. July opened, $1.13 to $1.13⅝; high, $1.14¼; low, $1.12⅝; closed, $1.14½. September opened, $1.06⅛; high, $1.07¾; low, $1.06⅛; closed, $1.07½.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard, $1.17; No. 1 northern, $1.16¾@1.16½; to arrive, $1.16¼@1.16½; No. 2 northern, $1.14¼@1.14½; to arrive, $1.14¼@1.14½; No. 3 wheat, $1.12¼@1.12½; No. 3 yellow corn, 76@77c. No. 3 white oats, 55@55½c; No. 2 rye, 90c. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $24.00@24.50.

Flour—Prices advanced on account of strength in wheat. Demand slow but shipping directions active. Shipments, 57,296 bbl. First patents, $5.20@5.50; second patents, $4.85@5.10; first clears, $3.60@3.95; second clears, $2.50@2.80.

Flax—Receipts, 11 cars; year ago, 6; shipments, 4. Demand continued slow for all grades of flax except the very choice seed. Spot No. 1 seed sold for 1c below the Duluth May contract. Closing price, $2.16¼.

Barley—Receipts, 9 cars; year ago, 5; shipments, 112. The barley market remained steady. There was an excellent demand for all malting grades but slow for feeding which composed a large portion of the light receipts. Closing range, 70c@$1.30.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Crop Damage Reports From Oklahoma Tend to Lift Wheat.

Chicago, May 4.—Crop damage reports from Oklahoma today tended to give the wheat market a lift. A large number of points in that state sent word of harm amounting to as much as 10 per cent. Bulls were also encouraged by statements that France had become a purchaser of Pacific coast cargoes, and that the Paris market was strong. Wet weather, however, in the Trans-Missouri territory made the tone easy at the outset. The opening was ⅛@¼c lower, to ⅛c up. July started at $1.10¾ to $1.11, varied from ⅛@⅛c loss to a shade advance. A rise to $1.11½ followed.

Prices later hardened rapidly owing to dispatches telling of dust blizzards and cracked fields in parts of Kansas. The close was steady with July at $1.12¾, a net gain of $1¾@1⅞c.

Corn showed some weakness early but rallied on account of buying on the part of a couple of leading houses. Selling was only of a scattered sort. July opened unchanged to ¼@¼c off, at 76½c to 76⅝@76¾c and then turned upward to 77⅛c.

An additional bulge ensued as a result of sympathy with wheat. The close was firm, ¾@⅞c net higher for July at 77½c.

Oats suffered from general unloading until corn recovered. After that, the selling in the underwent a decided change. July started a sixteenth to ⅛c lower at 52⅝@52¾c to 52¾c, sagged to 52⅜c and snapped back to 53⅛@53¼c.

Offerings of provisions soon dried up and the market developed an appearance of strength. An advance at the yards furnished aid. Initial transactions ranged from the same as last night to 7½c higher, with September delivery $19.35 to $19.40 for pork, $11.25 for lard and $10.62½ for ribs.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.15½@117; No. 3 red, $1.13@1.16; No. 2 hard, $1.15½@1.18; No. 3 hard, $1.13@1.17; No. 1 northern, $1.18@1.20; No. 2 northern, $1.17@1.19; No. 3 northern, $1.16@1.18; No. 2 spring, $1.14@1.19; No. 3 spring, $1.12@1.17; No. 4 spring, $1.00@1.12; velvet chaff, $1.00@1.17; durum, $1.00@1.18.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Stocks Decline Early, With Reading Again Attacked By Bears.

Prices Improve in Late Dealings and Some Net Gains Made.

New York, May 4.—Opening prices of today's stock market indicated further unsettlement. Gains and losses were quite evenly divided but the extent of the decline was greater. United States Steel opened with a block of 9,000 shares at 68⅝ and 68¾, compared with 69⅛ at yesterday's close. Reading, after opening at a slight decline, gained ⅜. Erie first preferred was off a point and Illinois Central ¾, with some heaviness in Great Northern, Northern Pacific, St. Paul, Amalgamated Copper and Utah Copper. The few slight gains included Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Canadian Pacific.

Early irregularity changed to heaviness soon after the opening, with a moderate resumption of yesterday's late selling. Reading was again the object of bearish attacks, declining 1⅜ with losses of 1 to 2 points in United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and some of the less prominent issues. At best recoveries were exceedingly light, and support only lukewarm.

The market closed steady. Prices improved generally in the late dealings and a considerable part of the early losses was recovered with a sprinkling of net gains. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley were the strongest of the standard shares with underlying steadiness in Reading and United States Steel. International Harvester and National Biscuit rose more than a point and some of the specialties, including American Beet Sugar, were well above yesterday's final quotations.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 4.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of from 8 to 10 points. Realizing by yesterday's buyers for a reaction was quite heavy at the initial advance and the market broke 4 or 5 points in consequence but rallied up by the eastern belt forecast for further showers and during the middle of the morning ruled about 12 to 13 points net higher. Business was only moderately active and much of it was probably in the way of evening up for over Sunday after the excited fluctuations of the earlier week.

STORM DAMAGE.

Lake Forms at Corner of Grand and Fifty-Ninth.

The continual rain of the last several days has done considerable damage to property in West Duluth.

This morning people who had to pass in the vicinity of Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues were somewhat surprised to see a miniature lake reaching from Fifty-ninth avenue to the bridge. The water covered the sidewalks as well as the street and in some places was three feet deep. A clogged sewer is thought to be the cause.

The foundation for a store building, built by Louis Ramstead last fall on Fifty-seventh and Grand, was filled with water and the west wall caved in leaving only two walls complete, as a building on the east had been moved and the east wall was not completed.

The basement of the new Carnegie library was flooded doing some damage, also the basement of the Ely school.

Child Dies.

Laura Helen Laberg, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Laberg, 110 North Sixty-fifth avenue west, died early this morning after a short illness. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Royal League Meeting.

West Duluth Council No. 255, Royal league, will initiate a large class of candidates next Tuesday evening. A smoker and social will be held, at which the first of a series of card parties will be given.

Remodeling Station.

Work was started yesterday morning on remodeling the West Duluth police station. The floor in the stable will be made of cement and the horses' stalls will be remodeled. There will also be new paper and a few other changes made in the offices.

Republicans to Meet.

A meeting of the West Duluth Republican club will be held this evening at the West Duluth Commercial club. A committee will be chosen to select a candidate to run for one of the county offices at the coming election this fall. The main subject of discussion will be the charter amendments.

Funeral of Child.

The funeral of Margaret, the 6-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grandholme, 4813 Grand avenue, who died yesterday morning, was held this afternoon from the residence. Interment at Oneota cemetery with Rev. Krantz officiating.

S. F. G. Club Activities.

The S. F. G. club will meet next Friday evening instead of Tuesday on account of the membership entertainment Tuesday evening at the Y. W. C. A.

In spite of the weather there were a large number of little girls present at the sewing class this morning. These classes meet every Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and under the careful tutorship of Miss Mae Anders and her assistants the little girls are becoming quite expert in the art of sewing.

In three weeks a contest will be held in gymnasium work by the different schools. The girls of the club are quite busy working in their gymnasium in hopes of capturing some of the honors.

The play to be given by the club in the near future has not arrived yet but as soon as it does the parts will be given out and preparations made for its staging.

Poolroom Entered.

The pool room of J. A. McDonald, 301 Central avenue, was broken into Thursday night by some unknown party, but nothing of value was taken with the exception of a few cigars and some gum. There was a large piece of tin on the door instead of glass and this was forced in at one corner, making it an easy matter to reach in and unlock the spring lock from the inside. It is thought that the work was done by some person who wanted a warm place to stay over night.

G. W. C. ROSS SPEAKS ON AMENDMENTS.

The regular meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club was held last evening in the club rooms, but owing to the inclement weather, the attendance was small. After the regular routine of business the members were addressed by G. W. C. Ross, who spoke on the charter amendments to be voted on next Tuesday.

A committee of the Fourth of July Celebration association was present to ask the club to reconsider the stand against the holding of a carnival in West Duluth the first week in July. It was decided to discuss the matter further at the meeting next Friday evening and take final action then.

The club also received communication from K. M. Nicoles, superintendent of the Northern Pacific railroad, stating that the gates at Fifty-seventh, Fifty-ninth and Sixty-third avenues west and Raleigh street will be in place in a very short time as the material has been shipped.

West Duluth Briefs.

E. Willie of 5032 Raleigh street left yesterday for a three weeks' business trip to Chicago and the East.

John Bourget, 4618 Oneota street, will leave Monday for Ironwood, Minn., where he will be employed by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, doing electric work. He expects to be away about four months.

Rev. C. R. Oaten of Lester Park Methodist Episcopal church will occupy the pulpit of the Merritt Memorial church tomorrow morning, Rev. C. W. Emery taking his place at Lester Park.

Rev. Gustave Oberg will preach at Arnold tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Watch repairing, Hurst, West Duluth.

Rev. Mr. Engstrom will preach in the schoolhouse at Midway tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Mary Blaisdale of Chicago, who has been visiting friends in West Duluth for the past week, left for her home today.

Found—A sum of money in the Reliance pharmacy yesterday afternoon. Same can be had by identifying and paying for this ad.

H. W. Lanners, attorney, has moved his law offices to the Silvey block, over Spencer's Drug store.

For Sale—Carman, No. 1 seed potatoes, guaranteed, raised on sandy soil. Cruse and Oettiker. 406 Central avenue.

SNAIL WALKS ON A RAZOR.

"When photographing the snail," writes Prof. Ward in the Strand, "I was surprised at the fact that even the rough cut edge of a sheet of glass presented no difficulties to its locomotion; its even pace was continued in spite of the fact that the sharp corner appeared to be penetrating its body. There, too, we have exhibited the animal's delicate sense of touch, and this led me to make a further experiment.

"After I had placed the snail on the butt of a razor's blade it slowly moved along the back of the blade and then climbed completely over the sharp edge, the razor being in excellent condition. As the successive waves brought the fore part of its foot near the edge of the blade its head was held low down, and the lower and shorter pair of feelers nearly touched the blade, as if feeling the way.

"At the moment when the sharp edge was reached the small feelers were fully extended toward it, and just at the very instant when I expected to see them cut off they were both instantly retracted. They were little more than a hairbreadth away, and though the lower feelers possess no eyes, yet by their sudden movement I was quite convinced that the snail at that instant recognized danger.

"Still the foot traveled on, and slowly the snail dragged its whole weight of exactly one and a half ounces over the edge, later moving toward the butt and remaining perfectly unharmed. The species experimented with was the Roman or edible kind, which accounts for its comparatively large weight, it being the largest of British snails."

DICK CARLE'S MEMORY.

Chicago Evening Post: "Cashing" on a valuable memory is a part of politics practiced in everybody's notice. The actor who is a good mixer also adds tremendously to his popularity. Few of them are good mixers, but of those who know that it pays Dick Carle is the most remarkable.

When Richard was playing in Springfield his friend Bill Shutt gave a little blowout for him at the Sangamo club after the show. The stories had passed and the party was about to break up when one of the Springfield men said:

"We have had a jolly time, Mr. Carle, and we hope to see you again. It's doubtful, though, if you will remember any of us."

"On the contrary," replied Carle. "I'm pretty handy at that sort of thing."

And with that he ran over the names of eighteen present and missed only two.

CONQUERING THE WORLD'S ILLS.

Journal of the American Medical Association: Enough evidence has been gathered in very recent years to make it clear that at least one of a series of diseases which occur in more or less epidemic form is not infectious. Among the group including scurvy, pellagra and beriberi, the close relation of which to the food supply has long been appreciated, the cause of beriberi has become sufficiently clear to point the way to effective curative as well as preventive measures which have already been successfully tested.

Eykman pointed out that beriberi is not attributable to rice in general, but that certain kinds of rice or rice prepared in certain ways are more liable to produce the disease. It is possible to produce in birds fed on white or polished rice a nerve disease resembling beriberi in several respects. The same changes in diet which either prevent or cure beriberi in man act in a similar manner in respect to the polyneuritis of the fowl. Here once more animal experimentation has been of value in discovering the cause and cure of disease.

The practical experiences with beriberi and unpolished rice in the Philippines, as reported by the director of public health, Prof. Victor G. Heiser, leave little doubt that medical science has placed a weapon in the hands of preventive medicine for the eradication of another of the world's dangerous and costly diseases.

A MISCONSEPTION.

Los Angeles Times: The late Frederick Glahe of Chicago, the originator of the free lunch, was once talking to a reporter about new ideas.

"New ideas are always misunderstood," he said. "They are always suspected. Even my free lunch was suspected at first. Because it consisted of ham sandwiches in the main ,people said it was just a dodge to make them thirsty and increase the beer sales. However, in the end the free lunch brought me wealth.

"But new ideas are always misunderstood. Take hair singing, for example.

"I was sitting in a barber shop one afternoon at the time when hair singeing first came out and a middle-aged chap with a thin, sparse thatch was having a singe at the hands of the head barber.

"Two laboring men sat and watched the singe for a while with awed eyes. The burning taper passed to and fro across the thin, scant crop of hair, and the laboring men couldn't understand it at all. But finally one of them brightened up, and, putting his big, rough hand to the side of his mouth, he whispered to his companion hoarsely:

"'He's lookin' for them with a light.'"

THREE GENERATIONS OF FAMOUS BRITISH FAMILY

—Copyright by George Grantham Bain.

JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN, JOSEPH, JR., AND AUSTIN CHAMBERLAIN.

Three generations of the chamberlain family are represented here. There is Joseph Chamberlain, formerly secretary for the colonies and a power in British politics; his third and last wife was Miss Mary Endicott of Washington. He has been out of politics for many years on account of ill-health. On the left is J. Austin Chamberlain, his son by his first wife, who has held important positions under the government—among them that of postmaster general. In the middle is Joseph Chamberlain, Jr., the son of Austin Chamberlain. He is only 5 years old, but his grandfather and his father believe he already shows mental qualities which will fit him for a place in public life.

McGONAGLE AGAIN HEADS PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

President Ferguson of Commercial Club Announces His Appointments.

W. A. McGonagle again heads the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, which was appointed today by President James A. Ferguson. Mr. McGonagle has been chairman of the committee for two years.

The new committee consists of 125 members. Numerous changes have been made in the personnel of the committee. The committee was appointed in bulk by the president of the club and the subdivisions will be made by the chairman.

Industrial Committee.

The members of the recently appointed industrial committee were also reappointed to the public affairs committee by the president, and will probably be continued on the industrial bureau. They are: C. A. Duncan, C. S. Wilson, A. D. Thomson, J. R. McGiffert, C. A. Congdon, W. M. Prindle, Whitney Wall, Geo. A. French, J. L. Washburn, E. P. Towne, A. M. Marshall, David Williams, R. B. Knox, R. A. Horr.

Advisory Committee.

The advisory committee follows: H. M. Peyton, John Miller, W. C. Agnew, T. F. Cole, F. A. Patrick, G. G. Hartley, A. L. Ordean, W. J. Olcott, A. M. Chisholm, M. H. Alworth, George H. Crosby and T. W. Hugo.

Duties of Directors.

In making his appointments for the year, President Ferguson also assigned the directors to special duties. H. R. Armstrong, George A. Sherwood and J. J. Lenning were appointed on the membership committee and they will be responsible for that branch of the work. W. J. McCabe, C. A. Luster and R. B. Knox were appointed a committee to initiate means of publicity to produce in birds fed on white or polished rice a nerve disease resembling beriberi in several respects. The same changes in diet which either prevent or cure beriberi in man act in a similar manner in respect to the polyneuritis of the fowl. Here once more animal experimentation has been of value in discovering the cause and cure of disease.

The following additional appointments were made by President Ferguson:

Finance and auditing committee—Colin Thompson, chairman; H. W. Nichols, Ray W. Higgins.

Membership committee—H. S. McGregor, chairman; H. J. Mullin; Hans B. Haroldson, J. R. Higgins, Leon J. Selig, Charles Beuglet, Dr. E. L. Cheney, R. C. Jameson, Norton Mattocks and R. B. Sellwood.

MEN WHO REACHED THE SOUTH POLE

CAPT. AMUNDSEN AND HIS AIDES.

This picture, just received from Hobart, Tasmania, is the first picture of Capt. Amundsen made since his discovery of the South Pole. With him in the group are Hansen and Lindstrom. Hansen is one of the three men who were with Amundsen when he arrived at the Pole. Unlike Peary, he did not refuse to share the honors of the trip with the associates who had done so much to make success possible. Hansen and Lindstrom were with Amundsen when he discovered the Northwest Passage some years ago.

STREET NAMES FROM DICKEN'S CHARACTERS.

London Chronicle: Although Dickens is commemorated in street names abroad there is no street named after him in London. But there is a near approach to it in Copperfield road, Stepney, not far from the People's palace, and to prove that this was inspired by "David Copperfield" we find a Dora street and an Agnes street in close proximity.

"PRO ELLA" CROSSES.

Wide World Magazine: In the Island of Ushant, the "Isle of Fear," there exists a custom probably unknown in any other part of Christendom. When a native dies abroad or is lost at sea his relatives have a small wax cross made, some seven inches long.

This is solemnly taken to the church and presented to the priest, who deposits it in a box, shaped like a cinerary urn, that hangs on the south side of the altar of St. Joseph. This is called the "Pro Ella" cross, and is supposed to stand for the spirit of the dead. These memorial symbols are allowed to accumulate in the box till the next church mission comes round.

A day is then set apart for their solemn interment. It is the great day, the climax of the mission. The church is draped in black and crowded with a mourning congregation, many of whom break out into loud wailing. The crosses are brought from their urn in solemn procession, a requiem mass is said over them and then they are carried to the churchyard, the iron door of the tomb is unlocked, and they are interred with full honors.

PROTESTANISM IN FRANCE.

Westminster Gazette: According to an official census the number of Protestants in France is decreasing. They now number 700,000. The Lutherans, who numbered more than 250,000 in 1870, can now boast of a membership of only 80,000. The Calvinists are the most numerous sect left, numbering over 500,000. But they are losing ground. At the same time the political influence of the French Protestants is out of all proportion to their numbers. This the writer attributes to their sturdy characters, to their superior system of education, and above all to their great wealth. Their wealth has, however, tended to sap their exclusiveness. They now pay less attention to their religion, and the result is, says the writer in the Revue, that Protestantism in France will in the near future be a thing of the past. This is a rather bold conclusion, and it would be interesting to know if this alleged decrease in the Huguenots is correct.

RAILROAD SAVES BEAUTIFUL TREES.

Sharon correspondence Cleveland Plain Dealer: Some of the so-called soulless corporations are not so soulless after all. At least, that opinion is held by residents of Sharpsville and in favor of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The Baltimore & Ohio company went to the trouble to purchase extra land for tracks and a station in order to allow two beautiful specimens of silver maple trees, each nearly seventy-five feet high, to keep on growing on the right-of-way when by chopping them down many hundreds of dollars could have been saved.

When the engineers ran their grades into the town the plans called for the tracks to be laid over the ground now occupied by the pair of stately trees. Then some of the big officials inspected the route and discovered the trees. Incidentally a few lovers of the trees in Sharpsville went to the magnates with "Railroad men, spare that tree." The plea was heeded and the engineers had to run new lines and make plans for a curved track in order that the trees might stand undisturbed.

WHEN SHE GROWS UP.

Washington Star: The latest addition to the prize compositions from children of the public schools now rests at the Franklin building, the headquarters of the local school system, and is a most naive dissertation on "When I Grow Up." The author of the composition is an 8-year-old girl, who plays with dolls and is in the third grade. The teachers all believe she has the correct idea of leap year, for she has announced in her composition that she intends to marry the little boy who sits cross the aisle from her.

"When I am 19," begins this work of art, "I am going to be a school teacher. When I am 25 I am going to get married to ——"

Here follows the name of the fortunate lad of 8½ years.

"If the first child is a girl it will be named Freida Egbert. If it is a boy it will be named Lucullus.

And then the concluding line brings a sadly prophetic vision:

"Maybe I will be an old maid."

MAIL BAGS OF RULERS.

The mail bag at the Vatican probably contains the largest number of letters that are addressed to any single person or institution. After the pope, the kaiser receives the greatest number, fully half being addressed to him personally.

Emeror William has never less than 7,500 letters daily, a goodly proportion of which, according to Harper's Weekly, are appeals to right wrongs about which he knows nothing and would be powerless to act if he did. Many are private diplomatic letters.

After him comes the president of the United States, who gets a daily average of 5,000 letters. The mail of the present king of England has dwindled to 2,500 letters, probably a third of the number received by his father. The mail bag of the czar is smaller still, about 500 persons writing daily to one well known to be hedged in by officialdom.

It is said that the royal palace in Madrid gets 300 letters, addressed for the most part to King Alfonso, but a share falling to the lot of the queen. The Italian king gets only about 200 letters daily, while the mail bag of the president of France varies greatly.

When the foreign population in Paris is most numerous his mail reaches as high an average as the American president, but in other months the average is comparatively small. It is said that the emperor of Japan has only recently begun to be troubled in this manner, letters to him being mainly in the nature of appeals to add by swift and glorious war to the territory of the sun kingdom.

FAMOUS BEST SELLERS.

Many best sellers have been the first books of their authors. Mark Twain, then an impecunious newspaper man with little more than a local reputation for journalistic practical jokes, persuaded the publishers of a Western paper to pay his expenses on the widely exploited excursion of the Quaker City. The letters which were the result of this journey grew into the book "The Innocents Abroad" and the name of Mark Twain became an American household word.

Archibald Clavering Gunter, who had been a mining and civil engineer and a broker on the San Francisco exchange, possessed a manuscript that no established publisher could be induced to touch. So he issued it at his own expense and in a very short time the question of the hour became "Have you read 'Mr. Barnes of New York?'"

The pastor of a church in a small town on the Hudson river visited Chicago just after the great fire, saw in the catastrophe the background of a novel with a strong religious appeal, and in the course of a few months awoke to find himself famous as the author of "Barriers Burned Away."

An impetuous Southern woman, the author of one or two books that had been lost in the turmoil of the great civil struggle, went to New York at the close of the war with the manuscript of a novel and a year or two later the traveler in Southern states was progressing on land by St. Elmo coaches, on water by St. Elmo steamboats, staying in St. Elmo hotels, smoking St. Elmo cigars and drinking St. Elmo punch.

It was a very different matter with Frances Hodgson Burnett's "Little Lord Fauntleroy," says the Bookman. That book was the work, not of a novice, but of a writer who knew her metier, who had years before won a reputation for imagination and good workmanship and who had already produced eight books of conceded quality.

Store-competition is the mother of bargains.

RICH MEN'S SONS WHO "HIT THE ROAD"

SIDNEY R. FRANCIS, HAYWOOD BROWN, A. B. DUPONT.

These three sons of millionaires know what it is to be hungry, to sleep in a box car and to "hit the ties." In other words, they have gone through the experiences of tramp life, buoyed, however, by the knowledge that at any minute they could command the accustomed luxuries by appealing to their parents. Sidney R. Francis is a son of the former secretary of the interior. George D. Little of New York has been with them also. They started from St. Louis to beat their way around the world just for the experience, and they have got as far as San Francisco. Dupont and Francis broke their resolution when they were arrested in a California town, locked up with some tramps and given hours to leave town. Dupont had a certified check in his pocket, and with the money obtained on this, he and Francis travelled comfortably the last stage of their journey. But Brown and Little went into San Francisco on the "blind baggage."

MARYLAND VOTES ON CHOICE OF NOMINEES FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Roosevelt and Taft Only Aspirants There for Republican Honor.

Three-Cornered Democratic Contest Complicates Question for That Party.

Rain Promises Big Turn-out in the Country Districts.

Baltimore, Md., May 6.—The Maryland primary election today will determine whether President Taft or Theodore Roosevelt will capture the state's sixteen votes at the Republican national convention, but owing to a peculiarity of the Maryland law, there is a possibility that the complexion of the delegation to the Democratic convention will not be determined until the state convention.

Under the new law the candidate that wins a majority of the 129 delegates for the state convention will get all the national delegates also. Since there are but two candidates for the Republican presidential preference, the division of the state delegates must result in a majority for one or the other.

Three Democratic Candidates.

Uncertainty may cloud the Democratic situation, because there are three candidates in the field, Speaker Champ Clark, Governor Judson Harmon and Governor Woodrow Wilson.

If none of the three Democratic candidates receives a majority of the state delegates, the contest for national delegates may be fought out at the state convention. On the first state convention ballot the delegates instructed today for each of the three candidates will be bound to give them their votes, but if this ballot fails to result in a choice, no one ventures to say just what will happen. The belief is expressed that the candidate with the smallest number of votes will release his delegates, who thus will be free to vote for either of the candidates still in the race.

Rain Helps Rural Vote.

The polls opened today at 6 o'clock in Baltimore and 8 o'clock in the country, and will close at 5 o'clock here and at 6 o'clock outside the city. The rain yesterday and today encouraged those who anticipated a big vote for their candidates in the rural districts.

MAY EXTEND FREIGHT STRIKE

President Flannery Says Chicago May Not Be Only City Affected.

Chicago, May 6.—Officials of the twenty-four railroads affected by the strike of 6,000 local freight handlers planned to resume the movement of freight today with the assistance of 1,000 non-union men. Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler has taken personal charge of the police arrangements for maintaining order, and has detailed a large force of patrolmen to guard railroad property.

President Flannery of the Freight Handlers' union declared that the strike would spread to other cities unless the railroads granted the demands of the men in Chicago.

The freight handlers ask a 9-hour working day, an increase of pay and a Saturday afternoon holiday.

TAFT IN HIS OWN STATE

Says He Comes, Not as Native Son, But for Plain Justice.

Attacks Walter Brown, Roosevelt Leader, as Political Boss.

Athens, Ohio, May 6.—Declaring he came to Ohio, not to seek favors as a son of the state, but as a matter of simple justice, President Taft today accused Col. Theodore Roosevelt of consorting with Ohio's "only boss," Walter Brown. The president attacked Brown, who as chairman of the Republican state central committee of Ohio, is the acknowledged leader of the Roosevelt forces in the state, in his first speech of the day at Nelsonville.

"Mr. Roosevelt says I am in favor of an aristocracy of the bosses," said the president. "Now if you go to work counting bosses you will find just as many on his side as on mine, only when a man is on his side he becomes a political leader and when he is on mine he is a boss.

Attack on Brown.

"You have Walter Brown in this state. He is the only active boss in commission in Ohio who is hustling around for the purpose of getting

TALK ABOUT IMMIGRANTS

Methodists at Minneapolis Discuss Work Among Incoming Aliens.

Church Extension Report Shows $14,562,754.63 Spent Since 1865.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Americanizing and Christianizing of the millions who are coming to this country from various parts of the world is one of the great problems of the church today, according to the report of the board of home missions and church extension, made to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in its session here today. The total appropriation for work among non-English speaking people in the United States, according to the report, is $613,768.

"The immigration problem is a fact that is fast involving all national problems," says the report. "One-half of the people of the United States are foreign born or of foreign parentage. The three largest cities of the Union are more foreign than American.

C. M. HAYS' BODY FOUND BY MINIA

Another Vessel Goes to Seek Victims of the Titanic Disaster.

Halifax, N. S., May 6.—The cable steamer Minia, which relieved the Mackay-Bennett in the work of searching for the Titanic's dead, returned to port this morning with flags at half mast.

The Minia met much heavy weather during her trip and covered a large area, the bodies being found widely separated, the last two picked up being forty-five miles apart. The Minia communicated with every passing steamer daily, inquiring for bodies.

Among the bodies brought ashore was that of Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk railway. Officials of the railway took charge of the body, and it was taken to his home on a special train.

Another Boat Sent Out.

The search for bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster is to be continued and the Canadian government steamer Mont Magny sailed today. The Minia and the Mackay-Bennett, the two cable ships which have been searching are required for their regular work.

The Mont Magny is about four knots faster than either of the cable ships and well adapted for the work she will have to do. Supplies were taken for a cruise of ten days or more. Ample material required by undertakers was put on board. The cruiser will cruise along the edge of the gulf stream and it is expected that bodies will be found in cold water as far north perhaps as 100 miles from the place where the Titanic went down.

CLARK MEN CLAIM WASHINGTON VOTES.

Walla Walla, Wash., May 6.—Sentiment among delegates to the Democratic state convention here today lies between Speaker Clark and Woodrow Wilson. Clark leaders claim a majority of from 75 to 100 of the 719 delegates.

REDUCTION OF LIVING COST

Effect of Co-operation in Foreign Countries Told By Consuls.

Reports Transmitted in Message to Congress By President Taft.

Washington, May 6.—President Taft today sent to congress the second installment of the reports of consular officers on co-operation and the cost of living which are the result of the investigation he some time ago directed should be made. The countries included in this installment are France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Denmark. The reports are accompanied by a letter from Huntington Wilson, acting secretary of state.

It appears, from the information collected, the acting secretary says, that the rising cost of living has directed attention to and augmented the membership of the co-operative societies, more especially in France and Belgium. The French co-operative associations are in the main arranged upon the same system as those in the United Kingdom. The tendency is toward small societies, and the gfireat majority of the associations represent groceries and bakeries. The most successful distributive societies are in the manufacturing cities of Northeastern and Central France. Among these societies relief funds are administered and insurance against illness and forced non-employment is supplied. Arrangements are made with dentists, doctors and artisans for their services by members on a commission basis.

HILLSVILLE JUROR TELLS HIS STORY

Says He Hid in Vault When Allen Bullets Were Flying.

Wytheville, Va., May 6.—At the trial of Floyd Allen, the commonwealth today continued its effort to show that the Allen gang had conspired to "shoot up the court and shoot down the law," at Hillsville last March.

When the trial was resumed the prosecution placed on the stand, M. C. White, a member of the jury which found Floyd Allen guilty in the Carroll county court. White declared he had seen Floyd and Claude Allen hold a whispered conversation just before the shooting occurred.

When firing began, White said, he dropped to his hands and knees and crawled out of the court room to the clerk's office adjoining. Thoroughly terrified, White jumped into the fire proof vault in the clerk's room and remained there until the firing had ceased. He declared he did not see the shooting.

With nearly 100 witnesses yet to be heard, the trial of Floyd Allen for the murder of Commonwealth's Attorney Foster at Hillsville entered today upon its fourth day. It probably will be near the end of the week before the commonwealth rests.

REBUKE FOR THE LEADERS

Vote in Illinois Was Against the Distributors of Patronage.

More Democrats Nominated for the Legislature Than Since 1888.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the clearing house of the great political states. Here where no resident can vote we gather information of all that is being done throughout the nation. For example, take Illinois.

Illinois presents the most contradictory condition, politically, of any state of great importance in the nation. The last vote as between Taft and Roosevelt, and Clark and Wilson, was not suggestive of anything nationally political. The vote for Roosevelt over Taft concerned itself very little with either Roosevelt or Taft. The federal patronage of the state has been in the hands of eighteen men for twenty years. This was the first opportunity the Republican party in the state generally had to rebuke the Republican leaders who had been having the monopoly of this privilege. That accounted for the vote against Taft. It

CALLAHAN MAY SURVIVE WOUNDS

Kentucky Feudist Shot From Ambush Has Best of Care.

Jackson, Ky., May 6.—Good fortune which brought Ed Callahan, the noted feud leader, safely through the consequences of gunshot wounds inflicted by hidden enemies once before, is attending his bedside in a hospital at Buckhorn, where he was taken after being shot from ambush Saturday. A party of prominent physicians and surgeons from Lexington, who had been fishing in the mountains, were at Buckhorn when Callahan was carried to the hospital. They gave him prompt attention and believe he will recover.

HARDWARE EMPLOYES GO BACK TO WORK.

Reading, Pa., May 6.—The 1,000 employes of the Reading Hardware works who went out on a strike twelve weeks ago, returned to work today. There were concessions on both sides. The men lost over $200,000 in wages during the layoff.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the engine painted from cowcatcher to watertank with Shrine emblems, the Imperial Special, section 2, arrived in Los Angeles on the Salt Lake road, bearing the Aad Temple delegation and patrol, chuck full of enthusiasm and determined to make a showing that will put Duluth on the map in big red letters.

Aad Temple patrol, headed by Capt. Thomas P. Bradley and followed by El Zegel Temple patrol from Fargo, Imperial Potentate Treat's own contingent, formed in line at the Salt Lake depot and escorted that official to his quarters at the Alexandria hotel, thence marching to the Van Nuys hotel, several blocks distant, where they will make their headquarters. JANE ADDAMS ON STUMP IN KANSAS

Enters Campaign for Woman Suffrage in That State.

Kansas City, Kan., May 6. — Jane Addams of Chicago entered Kansas today on a four days' campaign to help the women of the state to gain full suffrage. She headed a gaily decorated automobile parade through Kansas City, Kan. Her program included two addresses, one in the factory district and one at a high school.

It was the opening demonstration of the campaign that the Kansas suffragists declare is not to end until election day next November, when the voters will decide whether the women of the state shall be given full suffrage.

Chicago Newspaper Striker Saved By Police From Being Lynched.

One Man Stabbed During Argument Over Labor Trouble.

Chicago, May 6.—Alexander Hickey, 28 years old, a striking newspaper delivery wagon driver, was severely beaten by a crowd of citizens early this morning after he and several other strikers are said to have assaulted an old man who was selling newspapers at a North side elevated road station. The newspaper dealer was unconscious when the police arrived.

Hickey was knocked down and citizens who had witnessed the attack upon the news dealer were kicking him when the police arrived. Cries of "lynch him" were heard in the crowd,

WILSON IN LEAD IN TEXAS VOTING

Lyon Claims Roosevelt Will Get at Least Twelve Districts.

Dallas, Tex., May 6.—It will require the county conventions tomorrow and possibly the state convention on May 28 to decide whether Taft or Roosevelt for the Republicans and Wilson or Harmon for the Democrats will receive the Texas delegations to the respective national conventions.

Saturday's precinct primaries showed Wilson strength which surprised the Harmon leaders, making him the favorite for the county conventions tomorrow on the face of the returns. The Harmon people point out, however, that the full result of the primary voting will not be known until the county conventions meet, and they claim it is likely to take the state convention to render a final choice.

The result as between Taft and Roosevelt is left in even more doubt. The Republicans have their county conventions tomorrow simultaneously with the Democrats.

Cecil A. Lyon, Republican national committeeman from Texas and Roosevelt leader for this state, issued a statement today claiming twelve out of the sixteen congressional districts for Roosevelt and declared that Roosevelt probably would carry all the districts.

"Favorable to Taft."

Houston, Tex., May 6.—H. F. McGregor, President Taft's Texas campaign manager, today said:

"I consider the result of Saturday's primaries fairly favorable to Mr. Taft. I have not received sufficient reports from several districts to make an intelligent estimate of the outcome, and it will not be possible to gauge the results in advance of the county convention tomorrow.

SOUTH CAROLINA IS PROBABLY FOR WILSON.

Columbia, S. C., May 6.—Conventions of select delegates to the Democratic state convention May 15 were held today in every county in South Carolina. Declarations of presidential and gubernatorial preferences were the features. It was expected Governor Wilson would be indorsed. Practically no campaign for any other candidate has been made.

REFUGEES TELL ABOUT FATALITIES

People Seen to Slip From the Roofs of Floating Houses.

Part of Refuge Train Capsizes in Water—Some Tracks Washed Out.

Town After Town Submerged By Water That Pours Through Levees.

New Roads, La., May 6.—Flood refugees reaching here early today declared there has been loss of life in that part of Louisiana inundated by the Mississippi river which rushed through the breach in the levee at Torras.

It is said that motor boats sent to take numerous persons from floating housetops arrived too late.

How many persons perished cannot be determined. Refugees brought to the concentration camps are hurried hither and thither, sometimes families are separated and persons have been reported missing who simply have been sent from one camp to another.

Saw Families Swept to Death.

Nevertheless, large numbers of the refugees claim they have seen entire families swept from housetops. Leaders of the rescue corps admit that several times they have sent motor boats to points where families had taken refuge on the roof of a house and that when the boat arrived its crew found only the building, buffeted about by currents, and half its roof surface submerged.

BEEF TRUST TO DISINTEGRATE?

Amicable Dissolution Said to Have Been Proposed By Packers.

Chicago, May 6.—The National Packing company, which figured in the recent trial of the Chicago meat packers, contemplates an amicable dissolution, according to a report in the federal building today, after a conference between Ralph Crews, chief counsel for the company, and United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson.

Neither Mr. Crews nor the district attorney would discuss the conference in detail, but it generally was believed a tentative proposition looking to the dissolution of the concern without the necessity of judicial proceedings was the subject discussed.

STATE ROAD LAW ARGUED

Elwell Case Is Heard By the Minnesota Supreme Court.

Friendly Suit to Test Constitutionality Soon to Be Decided.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The test suit against the Elwell road law, passed at the last session of the state legislature, was argued before the state supreme court today, on an appeal from an order by Judge Lewis of the Ramsey county district court, made March 27, 1912, sustaining the demurrers of the defendants.

The action, which is a friendly one, is brought by Fred H. Murray, mayor of White Bear, against State Treasurer Smith, State Auditor Iverson, C. M. Babcock, Clarence I. McNair and F. S. Bell of the state highway commission, and G. W. Cooley, secretary of the commission and state engineer. The arguments for the state were presented by Assistant Attorney General Stevens, with Attorney Thomas McDermott for the applicant.

WHILE YOU WAIT

"HOW CAN WE WASH?" SINGS CHORUS OF HOUSEWIVES

The washing problem has reached serious proportions.

No: it isn't the bathing question—it is the washing of clothes. It has rained for a week and when has the housewife had the chance to hang out the clothes?

"We'll wash tomorrow, Mary or Gusta or Emma," says the mistress of the house to the girl, whatever her name might happen to be. There have been seven or eight "tomorrows" since the mistress first spoke about tackling the washing, and they have all been days when it would be quite useless to hang out the clothes.

Some of our sad citizens—and perhaps some mournful citizenesses, are going about with garments that have missed their usual mingling with aqua pura. The clothes lines about the city have been hanging empty, mournful and dismal to match the complexion of the weather.

If the present brand of weather continues there will be some strange makeshifts resorted to. It is said that the amalgamated union of washwomen is thinking of taking the matter up with the weather bureau—but then if stern protest would do any good, there would have been a change in the weather before this.

When the weather does sober up and get back to the normal again there will be a washing reunion of the accumulated clothes that threatens to strike terror to the stoutest heart.

OBJECTIONS TO LICENSE

People Living Near Lincoln Park Do Not Want Dance Hall.

Another fight over a West end license is expected in the council tonight when the application of Carlo Mainello for a license to operate a dance hall at Lincoln park comes up for action.

A petition containing 368 signatures was filed with the council last Monday night asking that the license be refused. The petitioners assert that they do not want any dance hall located adjacent to the park. They take the position that it is undesirable and that the park should be kept free of any influence which might have a demoralizing effect.

It is believed that the aldermen of the Seventh ward will vote against the license. Should they do so, some of the aldermen who voted for the transfer of the saloon license have started that they will vote with them on the proposition. In that case it is unlikely that the application for the dance hall will be passed.

The new ordinance regulating the sale and use of cocaine, morphine, opium and other narcotic drugs is due to come up for final passage, as is the ordinance regulating the handling of boats and dumping foreign substances into the harbor. It is not expected that either of them will meet with opposition.

Mayor McCuen will send in his veto of the transfer of T. Pinsonnault's saloon license at 2103 West Superior street. This had been already announced and it is not likely to cause any unlooked for flurry.

The board of public works will also send in a number of small contracts for approval. It is not likely that the Fourth street contract will be let today. Some of the property owners want a 38-foot street instead of a 42-foot street, and it is likely that the council will be asked to make this change. This cannot be done by the board of public works. In that case it will be necessary to readvertise for bids.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Hilja Sudja didn't keep her promise to the court a couple of weeks ago that she would leave the city and go to work.

Wherefore she is again in the tolls of the police, booked up on a charge of vagrancy. She pleaded not guilty in police court this morning and her trial was set for this afternoon.

Hilja's case appears to be another which could well be handled under the board of public welfare, but as that body is yet without funds no help can be secured in that direction. It is another illustration of the necessity of providing a place for girls who come into the hands of the police authorities.

According to reports Hilja has been leading rather a gay sort of life since she was given her liberty in police court about two weeks ago. At that time she was taken from the back of a downtown saloon which is equipped with a string of private rooms and entered a plea of guilty to loitering in a saloon, being under 21 years of age. The saloonkeeper was arrested and paid a fine for allowing her to be in the place.

Hilja has been traveling the streets in the downtown section quite frequently and at unseemly hours. She evidently forgot all about her promise to be good, Saturday she was strolling along Superior street with two young men. She and her escorts went past the police station. An officer who was familiar with the case saw her and promptly placed her under arrest on the vagrancy charge, alleging that she has no visible means of support.

It is claimed that some of the uninitiated had a hard time to quench their thirst with alcoholic beverages yesterday. Some say that certain retailers of the stuff that cheers have been getting very careless lately and that complaint has been made against them. Fearing that arrests might be made it is alleged that no one was taking any chances yesterday, which is said to have made it almost impossible for one not onto the ropes to get alcoholic refreshments. The lid was on tight.

John Kenna, one of the old timers, admitted that he had been begging when arraigned in police court. The police reported that he was "tackling" every man he met on the street. He got $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail.

"I don't care what you do with me so long as you don't put a rope around my neck and hang me," said Eureka Langley in police court this morning after she had admitted that she had become voluntarily intoxicated Saturday afternoon. The court called her attention to the fact that she had been in quite a number of times before and that she had escaped without being hanged. She got $5 or five days in the county jail. She is about 50 years of age and is no stranger to the police.

Peter Morozowski was arrested Saturday afternoon by Detective Frank Schulte on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of having stolen pig lead worth $90 from E. Engle, the contractor, who has a job near Fifteenth avenue west. Two other men were with Moronzowski when the arrest was made, but they took to their heels and made their escape when they saw their companion taken into custody.

Working for the Salvation Army has not had the effect of saving Frank McCabe. He found a number of blank checks in a coat which he received from the army authorities. After he had accumulated a good-sized jag he filled out and tried to pass some of the checks, but was placed under arrest before he was able to realize any cash on them. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness and got $15 and costs or fifteen days in the county jail. He went over the hill.

The case against Fred Schofield, charged with appropriating a water tank unlawfully, was dismissed in police court this morning. The complaint against him was sworn out by Morris Stein. It seems that Schofield sold his house to Stein and believed that he was entitled to possession of the tank.

The case against Oscar Paulson, charged with the theft of a coat, was dismissed in police court this morning. The complaining witness had disappeared. Paulson spent ten days in the county jail waiting for trial.

The grist this morning was the largest for several weeks. Some of the court attaches have been having some amusement by stating that the smallness of the grist was due to the absence of Chief Troyer from the city. They are "josking" Capt. Fiskett, asking him whether he had everybody "bluffed" while he was in charge, or whether the force "lay down" on him while the chief was gone. "Anyhow, it's easy to see that the chief is back again," one man remarked this morning, as he waved his hand towards the grist.

John Donovan got out on a suspended sentence when he was brought in Saturday morning for drunkenness. He evidently didn't get much further than the nearest saloon. Before the night was over he was in again on the same charge and this morning he got $10 and costs or ten days.

Philip Smith adorned the grist today, this time on a charge of begging. He said that he had been trying to get the price of a street car ride to Superior. Of course, he had a job waiting for him if the court would only let him go. Philip's job is a standing joke. But he will not take it for at least ten days, as he was given a ride for that length of time after he had pleaded guilty.

Henry Sabrowski, arrested on a charge of stealing $8.06 from N. H. Witt, for whom he had been working, pleaded guilty when brought into court. He said that it was the first time that he had been in trouble of that nature and that he would repay the shortage as soon as he could earn the money. The court continued the case until this afternoon for disposition.

ORGANIZING NEW LEAGUE

Season Will Open May 14 in Duluth and Superior.

Beginning work shortly before noon today, the magnates of the Central International league made little progress before the noon hour. Work on the schedule and the details of the constitution of the league will be taken up this afternoon, when it is expected that all of the preparations incident to the opening of the season will be completed.

Before adjourning for luncheon the magnates decided to make the agreement between the various club owners a three year contract instead of a year's, which was the original idea of the various club owners. This idea was adopted at the suggestion of the Duluth people.

While work has not progressed very far on the schedule, an understanding has been reached regarding the opening of the league. The opening game will be played on May 14, Winnipeg opposing Duluth here and Grand Forks starting the season at Superior.

M. Stanchfield of Grand Forks, James W. Brown of Winnipeg and W. J. Sommer of Superior are the magnates representing the out of town clubs. J. A. McCuen and Robert Blackwood of Duluth are the representatives of the Duluth club.

Much of the routine work of the short session before noon was given over to some minor details of the agreement. Grand Forks and Winnipeg are, according to the two representatives here, enthusiastic over league baseball, though the fans of Grand Forks are somewhat disappointed at the refusal of Fargo to come into the league.

According to Stanchfield of Grand Forks, work will be started toward the securing of a fast team to represent the Flickertail town. Winnipeg has already some players signed and expects to send a fast team here for the opening of the season.

THINKS NON-PARTISAN LAW IS IMPORTANT.

Madison, Wis., May 6.—That the non-partisan bill enacted by the special session of the legislature last week is one of the most important pieces of legislation put upon the statute books in recent years, is the claim of Assemblyman John E. McConnell of La Crosse. He thinks the non-partisan law will operate to combine the advantages of commission and council forms of government and still allow cities to retain their special or city charter.

Roseau Electric Light Plant.

Roseau, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Commercial club arrangements were made to buy a site for the electric light plant to be built. It will be near the L. O. Peterson elevator and the lot has been donated by the citizens to the promoters. S. F. Bonaime is promoting the project and citizens have given it substantial encouragement. The plant is expected to be ready for operation in the fall."

ACTION ON PENAL FARM

County Board Will Consider Plans at Tuesday's Meeting.

Definite action on the proposed penal farm for county prisoners may be expected tomorrow at a meeting of the board of county commissioners. Considerable correspondence to the board which has accumulated since the last meeting, will be officially reported and it is probable that a committee will be appointed to investigate the merits of the proposition and possibly to make some recommendations regarding the purchase of a site for such an institution.

Besides taking up the penal farm proposition, the board has a number of other matters to attend to. The major portion of the work will be of a routine nature. Several road contracts will be let, principally in Second, Fifth and Sixth commissioner districts.

Deputy County Auditor Walker, secretary to the board, reports that thirteen petitions for new roads have been filed with him since the last meeting of the board. He is also in receipt of a petition asking that a division be made in School District No. 45 in 61-20. It is claimed that the district is too large and is getting unwieldy.

The proposed annexation of 1,300 acres of valuable mining roperty to the city of Virginia, which is being opposed by the Steel corporation, will be up before the county board tomorrow. The matter came up for consideration at the last meeting, but was adjourned for a month.

The various committees of the board, which have reports to make tomorrow, are in session today.

COUNCIL TO FIX WIDTH OF STREET

The board of public works will leave it to the council to determine whether East Fourth street between Fourteenth and Twenty-fourth avenues east should be paved to a width of forty-two or thirty-eight feet.

The property owners decided at a meeting Saturday night that they wanted the narrower street and a resolution to that effect will be put on all bids. The board cannot narrow the street and will lay the matter before the aldermen. If the request to narrow the street is not granted the board does not think that any more favorable prices could be secured than those submitted Friday. If it should be narrowed it will be necessary, it is believed, to re-advertise for bids.

The property owners also informed the board this morning that they desire a concrete curb and gutter with the pavement to be selected. No contract was awarded this morning because of the decision to present the situation to the council.

An estate of $12,000, consisting principally of mortgages secured by real estate and left by William Jory, who died recently at Hibbing, will be divided between two sisters and a brother of the dead man, all living in England.

The matter of the Jory estate came up in probate court this morning before Judge S. W. Gilpin. The court appointed Henry Taylor as administrator.

Mrs. Mary Yoakum was appointed administratrix of the estate of her father, Asa Sheperd, the aged Civil war veteran who was brutally murdered at Kelsey last February. Sheperd left but a small estate.

Judge Gilpin appointed the widow as administratrix in the estate of Robert P. Dowse, the Duluth real estate dealer who died in this city a short time ago. The estate involves about $2,000 and some real property.

The estate of Patrick Bennett was closed this morning, Judge Gilpin allowing the final account. The widow, Mrs. Mary Bennett, administratrix, reported that after all bills were paid there was left $871 and a house and lot at 2620 West Helm street.

WISCONSIN DRYS MEET JUNE 11

Madison, Wis., May 6.—"Had good men had the courage, sense and wisdom of bad men," the liquor traffic would have been driven from Wisconsin long ago, according to a statement contained in the call for the state convention of the Prohibition party, issued by State Chairman J. B. Smith today. The convention will be held in this city June 11.

Mr. Smith called attention to the fact that the party began its existence in Wisconsin exactly thirty years ago. He declared that until recently the party has been misled by deceptive methods and a middle-of-the-road policy. Two years ago, he said, a great change in the leaders was made, and the plan of political partisan action was started.

AMERICANS AT MAZATLAN SAFE

Washington, May 6.—The state department today made public a dispatch from Claude E. Guyant, consular agent aboard the Buford, stating that Americans are safe at Mazatlan and conditions there tranquil.

Going to Topolobampo.

Mazatlan, Sinaloa, Mex., via Nogales, Ariz., May 6.—The transport Buford arrived here at 7 a. m. today direct from San Diego, Cal. The transport had passed the Yorktown at sea, merely exchanging greetings. The Buford will leave for Topolobampo and Altata this afternoon, returning and taking Americans from here Tuesday.

"Victory for Federals."

San Antonio, Tex., May 6.—Consul Estava has received dispatches from Eagle Pass, telling of a victory of federal troops over rebels at Cuatero Cienogas, a point near Monclova, Coahuila. His advices says 700 rebels were killed. The message stated that the federals commanded by Jesus Carranza had encountered a force of 1,800 rebels, but failed to state how many federals there were.

The rebels under Salazar were marching upon Piedraz Negras, across the river from Eagle Pass, and believing they had an easy time ahead, became careless. The federals suspected this situation, and while the rebels were carousing in Cuatro Cienogas, surrounded the town and defeated them. The message to Estave said that at the time it was sent a running fight was still in progress south of Cuatro Cienogas.

"Victory for Rebels."

Washington, May 6.—The Mexican federal forces, according to advices from American agents, have been defeated by Gen. Orozco's army at Cuatro Cienegas in Coahuila. The federals apparently retreated to Monclova, where another fight was expected today.

CANDIDATES' PUBLICATION.

Bismarck, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The contract will be let today by the state printing board for the state publicity pamphlet, a new wrinkle in North Dakota politics for which the last legislative assembly stands sponsor.

This pamphlet is to be published for the benefit of the candidates for state, judicial and county offices, giving them an opportunity to deal with such matters relative to their candidacy that may be deemed proper.

WEST END AMENDMENT THEIR THEME

West End Pastors Urge Adoption of Proposed Charter Changes.

Say the Initiative, Referendum and Recall Are Needed.

Most of the West end pastors yesterday morning urged the male members of their congregations to get out and vote tomorrow on the initiative, referendum and recall amendment. The pastors pointed out the necessity for the adoption of the amendment in the city charter and the recent patrol limits agitation in this end of the city was urged by many as an issue.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, spoke in part as follows during his morning sermon:

"If we had the initiative, referendum and recall we could stop such resolutions as recently passed through the council, relative to saloon extension, without all this recent undesirable publicity. The issue before the people is clean government. There are a few good people in Duluth who say the church should not meddle in politics. But all good Christians who are lovers of good government acknowledge that they cannot have a clean government without a Christian spirit being shown in drawing a line between the good and evil.

"The Bible says the Christians are the 'salt of the earth.' Then Christians must enlighten the world and be the advocates of clean government. This cannot be done in a better way than by the church taking a prominent part in the political activities of the country."

Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, who was one of the members of the special committee representing the 1,194 West end residents in the recent patrol limits agitation, especially urged the voters to cast their ballots tomorrow. He said:

Recall Necessary.

"It is the duty of every good citizen to get out and vote on the amendment. The people in this city today need the power of the initiative, referendum and recall in order that the rule will be by the people and for the people. The recall is necessary that the people may have the power of discouraging officials who prove unfaithful to their office.

"If the people opposed to the saloon and who do not wish it in their neighborhood are in the majority they should rule; if they are in the minority, then the saloon element should rule."

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, another member of the West end committee which attempted to see Mayor McCuen last Monday morning, said during the services yesterday morning: "This is neither the time nor place to indulge in personalities, but we sometimes deserve to have them mentioned. I believe the city of Duluth is tired of being ruled by the brewery interests, or by the people who are dictated to by these interests.

"At this time the citizens of this city have within reach the opportunity of possessing themselves with the power of discharging their unfaithful public servants, of voting obnoxious ordinances, and initiating righteous ordinances. It is up to the people to say on Tuesday if they want this power. I believe the majority of the people want the right thing, and we shall say May 7 that the brewery interests shall no longer dictate the policies of the city council. It is exasperating to be engaged in rescuing drunkards while 184 saloons are authorized by the city to make them."

GROWTH OF ADULT BIBLE CLASSES SHOWN.

Under the auspices of the Servo Adult Bible class of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, stereopticon pictures, showing the growth of adult Bible classes throughout the country and the work they are doing, were featured at the special service held in the church last evening.

Scenes and pictures of many of the classes held in camps, shops, factories, among the cowboys, in boxcars and on board war vessels were included among the slides shown last evening. The pictures were originally shown by the social service experts during the Men and Religion Forward movement campaign held here several weeks ago.

ANNIVERSARY OF POLAND'S FREEDOM.

Polish-American residents of Duluth fittingly celebrated the 121st anniversary of the adoption of the Polish constitution at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, last evening.

All the various societies and organizations of St. Peter's and St. Paul's Polish Catholic church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fifth street, took part in the services. The program for the evening consisted of addresses and vocal and instrumental numbers. Addresses were given by Rev. S. A. Iciek, pastor of the church; Frank Grygie, Rev. J. Osadulk of Cloquet and Rev. C. J. Cleminski.

The musical numbers were rendered as follows:

Piano Duet .....
Misses A. Szymciak and T. Adamiak.
Song .....
Polish Male Quartet.
Piano Solo .....

MISSIONARY TALKS.

Delegate to Negro Conference Speaks in West End Church.

Rev. Martin Westling, a delegate from the Swedish Mission Covenant of Sweden to the recent international conference on negro questions held at Tuskegee, Ala., at the request of Booker T. Washington, preached last evening on "Missions in the Congo Districts of Africa" at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Rev. Mr. Westling is one of the best posted men on the conditions in Africa, having spent nearly twenty years in the Congo country. He is one of the fifty-five missionaries now working in Africa. During the past thirty-one years, in which missions have been supported in Africa, the Swedish Mission Covenant has sent upwards of 131 missionaries to that country. Of these, said Rev. Mr. Westling, fifty-four met their death, either at the hands of the natives, or because of the climatic conditions.

The Bible, concluded Mr. Westling, has recently been translated into the native language of the Congo negroes.

Former Pastor Here.

Rev. H. C. Munson of New York, former pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, and at one time superintendent of the Red river valley district for Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches, preached yesterday morning at the West end church. Rev. Mr. Munson conducted the services and later held a reception for his old friends in this end of the city. During his stay in the city Rev. Mr. Munson is the guest of Rev. Edward Erickson, 510 North Twenty-fourth avenue west.

Behrens-McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Behrens of 1728½ West First street have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Johanna, to William McDonald of Devils Lake, N. D., formerly of the West end. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church will read the service, following which a reception will be held for the immediate friends and relatives of the couple. They will make their home at Devils Lake immediately after the marriage.

Confirms Large Class.

Rev. C. G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, confirmed a class of fifty-five members yesterday. The Swedish class of thirty-nine members was confirmed at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and the English class of sixteen members during the afternoon. The new members of the church will attend special communion services next Sunday morning.

Club Entertained.

The "Ought-To-Be-In-It" club was entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Dorothy Kennedy, 2510 West First street. The afternoon was spent in music and games, after which a luncheon was served to the following guests: Misses Evelyn Phillips, Margaret Evans, Germaine Emerson, Agnes Ninnan, Eleanor Vondrashek and Mildred Harris.

Linnaea Society.

The Linnaea society will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the Foresters' hall. Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, by the Mesdames Charles Ehling, David Russell and Joseph Olsen. A short program of music and readings will be rendered during the afternoon to be followed by a luncheon.

Gadory Funeral.

The funeral of Joseph O. Gadory, 79 years old, who died Friday morning at St. Luke's hospital after a short illness, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of C. S. Heath, 2210 West Third street.

West End Briefs.

Miss Ann Morgan of 4605 Rene street spent the week-end with friends at Minneapolis.

Mrs. McIlish of 1823 Piedmont avenue returned this morning from a week-end visit at Brainerd, Minn.

Mrs. E. Gerloff of Detroit, Mich., has returned to her home after spending the past week with West end relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marlutz of Detroit, Mich., who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brightfelt for the past few weeks, returned to their home Saturday.

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Harmann of 113 North Twenty-eighth avenue west will leave tomorrow morning for a two weeks' visit with relatives at Litchfield, Minn.

Mrs. David Sodberg of Crookston, Minn., returned to her home Saturday evening after spending the past week with West end relatives.

The Westra Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will hold a festival in the church parlors Thursday evening. Rev. C. O. Swan of the First Swedish Lutheran church will speak during the evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace M. E. church will be entertained next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Muir, 320 North Twenty-seventh avenue west.

The bishop's committee of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will meet at the rectory this evening.

The Young People's Society of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will hold a business meeting in the church parlors Wednesday evening.

Miss Cecil Thomas of 1715 West Piedmont avenue returned Saturday from a two months' tour in the West.

ELECTION ON AMENDMENT

Duluth Will Vote on the Initiative, Referendum and Recall.

Charter Changes Expected to Be Adopted By Large Majority.

Tomorrow Duluth will hold its special election to pass upon the proposed amendment incorporating the initiative, the referendum and the recall, as part of the city charter.

The law requires that the amendment must receive a three-fifths vote of all the votes cast in order to become effective.

There is no reason to doubt that the amendment will pass and the indications are that it will receive a heavy majority. Interest in the election is general throughout the city and there has been no open opposition to the amendment.

The polls will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. The polling places will be the same as have been used for past city elections, with few exceptions. The judges will be the same as those who officiated at the general state election in the fall of 1910. The voters are not obliged to be registered to vote tomorrow, but they can be sworn and examined by the judges.

Provisions of Amendment.

Under the initiative the people may cause the passage of any ordinance which they deem necessary. If the council does not approve it when presented with the petition the aldermen are obliged to call a special election to give the people an opportunity to pass upon it. Under the referendum the people may kill any ordinance which may be passed by the council to which they object. Under the recall the voters may discharge any elective public official whose acts appear to warrant their removal.

The committee which has had charge of the campaign has been very active in the interests of the proposed amendment. Speakers have addressed meetings in all parts of the city and a large quantity of literature has been sent out. The letters and pamphlets have explained the purpose and the workings of the three propositions in detail. In hundreds of instances people who were doubtful of their stand on the amendment came out for it after they had gained an understanding of the three provisions. Many others were reached through the meetings and at all of them the speakers were ready to answer any questions which might be asked.

The amendment is drawn along lines similar to those in other cities where the initatve, referendum and recall have been in effect for several years past. It has not been necessary to enforce them very extensively, experience having demonstrated that the mere fact that they are available has had a decidedly salutary effect.

The list of the polling places is as follows:

GIVEN JUDGMENT FOR LABOR AND MATERIAL.

August Baker, who sued Contractor Frank L. Johnson and the Wahl-Messer company at the last term of district court for $572.15 for labor and material furnished in the construction of the new Wahldorf apartment house on First avenue west, was given a judgment for the amount sued for and costs in findings filed today by Judge Dibell.

The judgment, the court holds, will be a lien against the property, but the claim will be inferior to that of a $10,000 mortgage now on the flats.

FIRE IN FLAT BUILDING

West Fourth Street Blaze Causes Loss of Several Thousand Dollars.

Fireman Frank Close Injured in an Explosion of Gas.

Fire this afternoon gutted the new Era flat building at 122 West Fourth street, causing a loss of several thousand dollars. Frank Clore, a fireman on No. 1 chemical, was badly burned in an explosion during the blaze.

The fire broke out in the basement about 1:30 o'clock. It ran up a frame porch at the back to the flat on the third floor, occupied by Charles Harris, and destroyed all of the furnishings and fixtures there. The flats on the two lower floors escaped with but little damage, owing to the fact that the rear entrances were closed, while the rear entrance of Mr. Harris' flat was open.

Mr. Clore was standing on the front porch of the lower flat, when the explosion of gas occurred. It blew open the front door and hurled him from the porch to the ground, a distance of about ten feet. He was quite badly burned and bruised, but his injuries will not have any serious results.

The two lower flats were occupied by Frank E. McDowell and G. A. Larson.

New Trial Denied.

Judge Dibell has denied a motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Berthlaume against the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, which was decided by a jury against the plaintiff at the last term of court. Berthlaume brought action for $30,000 against the wholesale grocery firm, alleging that he had been discharged from the company's service on a trumped-up charge and that his reputation had been injured. Berthlaume was employed as a blacksmith.

Drs. C. H. and L. E. Clarke

Boat Club Meeting.

The annual meeting and smoker of the Duluth Boat club will be held Tuesday evening, May 14, at 8 o'clock at the ball room of the Oatka branch of the club, Thirty-ninth street Park Point. The reports for the year and election of officers will be followed by the customary program.

First Jury Case.

The first of the jury cases for the May term of district court went on trial this morning before Judge Ensign. It is one of the White Iron Lake fire cases, being an action brought by Jacob Rajala against the Duluth & Iron Range railroad for $3,200 damages. Rajala claims that fires, which started on the railroad right-of-way through negligence of the company, swept over his farm and caused considerable damage. The fire is alleged to have burned out the Rajala farm on June 9, 1910.

DID DULUTH A GOOD TURN

Edwin H. Lee of the Spalding returned today from Chicago, after securing the promise of the National Association of Hotel Men to visit Duluth.

"The Northern Pacific railway agreed to switch the hotel men around this way without an extra cent of charges, though it is the longer way," said Mr. Lee. "Wives and children of the hotel men are coming with them. The big special trains will be switched off in the yards here while Duluth is entertaining the visitors. I believe that this is one of the biggest delegations of important men that Duluth has ever secured and I believe that Duluth will derive a lot of advertising out of the visit of the hotel men."

Mr. Lee stated that it was because of the good time the Northwestern hotel men had here that the national hotel men gladly accepted the invitation to come here for a day.

MAY STRIKE ON GREAT NORTHERN

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great Northern freight handlers and checkers intimated today that they might join the Chicago strikers, who walked out Saturday. J. Flannery, president of the International Union of Freight Handlers, is expected in St. Paul and Minneapolis today or tomorrow, when a conference with officials of local unions will be held.

Officials of the Great Northern road are concerned over the possibility of a strike. William P. Kennedy, acting general traffic manager, will leave on a secret mission tonight. It is said he will go to Chicago to try to forestall any attempt to involve the northern roads in the strike.

The Northern Pacific expects no trouble, as it is operating under an agreement with its freight handlers and checkers, which will not expire until Aug. 1. Officials of other roads here assert they do not know whether their lines will be involved.

Members of the Freight Handlers' union employed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road will meet here early next week, to discuss the strike situation. Minneapolis members of the order will meet tomorrow evening in that city.

MORLEY FOUND GUILTY IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

Lincoln, Neb., May 6.—Charles Morley, the only surviving member of the trio of state penitentiary convicts who broke jail March 14 after killing Warden Delahunty, Deputy Warden Wagner and Guard Hillman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. The jury recommended that he be sentenced to life imprisonment.

HEAVY RAINS HAVE RAISED MISSISSIPPI.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rain of the last four days has raised the Mississippi river thirty inches. The rainfall Saturday in Brainerd was 2.08 inches. The three days' rainfall in St. Cloud measured 5.81 inches.

"Fire's Out"

THEN comes the matter of insurance. You get out your policy and note the company in which you are insured. Certain questions should not arise to worry you at such a time.

You should not be worried by the question of whether you are insured in a company that dickers and delays over settlement.

You should not be worried over the question of whether the company can pay the claim.

You should not be worried by the question of whether you have had enough protection to cover your loss.

To be insured in the Hartford Fire Insurance Company eliminates the first two of these worries. By consultation with a "Hartford" agent before taking out your policy, he will tell you the proper proportion of insurance to carry, and that eliminates the third worry.

The evident thing to do before the fire, in order to eliminate worry, is to be insured in the right kind of company.

INDIANS GET $3,000,000

Court of Claims Approves Demand of Mille Lac Chippewas.

Attorney General May Appeal to the Supreme Court.

Washington, May 6.—A $3,000,000 claim of Mille Lac Chippewa Indians of Minnesota on account of losses sustained by them through the opening of their reservation to public settlement was approved today by the United States court of claims.

Chief Justice Peile and Judge Howe dissented from the majority of the court, and indorsed the contention of the federal department of justice that the law did not intend to give the Indians a valid claim against the United States.

It is expected the attorney general will appeal the case to the United States supreme court.

COUNTERFEIT COINS SEIZED

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Counterfeit gold coins having a face value of $11,000 have been seized in St. Paul and in Waterville, Minn., by Secret Service Agent Thomas R. McManus. The coins, which are an imitation of the Spanish 25 peseta piece, having a money value of $4.78 in United States money, were discovered in a local jewelry store, where 200 of them had been plated with gold.

Mr. McManus said W. H. Johnson of Waterville, Minn., was the man who brought the coins to be plated.

On Saturday Agent McManus seized more than 2,000 of the coins in the possession of Johnson at Waterville.

Agent McManus has Johnson under arrest at Waterville, pending orders from the secret service department in Washington.

SUPERIOR

DAMAGE BY STORM.

Soo Line Tracks Washed Out and Greenhouse Is Flooded.

The heavy rains of Saturday caused considerable damage to the Soo line tracks near Ladysmith, causing the trains to be several hours late. The tracks in many places are in bad condition from the continual downpour, but at a point a few miles past Gordon the trains could not pass until late Saturday afternoon.

The greenhouse belonging to G. Tjensvold, located at 3302 Twenty-first street, was greatly damaged by the clogging of the sewer. The heating plant which is located in the basement of this building is completely submerged in water. It is hard to state just how soon the owner will be able to repair the damage done, as there is no immediate way of letting the water out of the basement, the outlet pipe being stopped up and the sewer is not of a sufficient depth to take off the water quickly. The damage is estimated at about $1,000.

Kitchen Too Expensive.

It is quite probable that the Commercial club will abandon its culinary department in the near future on account of the small income through the cafe. At the last regular meeting the secretary's report showed a deficit in the cafe's receipts, and it is thought that in order to cut down expenses the business men's luncheon will be dispensed with.

Gordon Funeral.

The funeral of William W. Gordon, who died several days ago at Leavenworth, Wash., was held this morning from the Sacred Heart cathedral, with a delegation of the Knights of Columbus in attendance.

Mr. Gordon was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Order of Foresters. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gordon, 1413 Tower avenue. He is also survived by a wife and two small children.

Contest for Members.

The contest for new members for the Commercial club is still in full swing, the number of new members now being over forty. This contest has been going on for only one week, and it is hoped that this number will be more than doubled before it closes. A special meeting will be called some time this week by the chairman of the new membership committee and plans will be made to push the campaign.

Declamatory Contest Friday.

The annual declamatory and oratorical contest for the Wallace cup, in which representatives of the Superior Central and Nelson Dewey high schools of Superior and the Central and Irving high schools of Duluth will participate, will be held at the Superior Central auditorium Friday evening. There will be eight speakers, one boy and one girl from each school.

Pavilion Contract Let.

The contract for the erection of the municipal bathing pavilion at Billings Park has been let to Pagander & Olson, a contracting firm of this city. The work will cost $1,000 and the construction of the building will start tomorrow. The structure will be ready for use by the first of June.

Board Will Take Action.

Action in regard to the construction of the proposed air line highway from Superior to Washburn wi.. be taken by the county board at the next meeting May 9. The work will cost the county about $10,000.

Find Floater in Slip.

The body of a man clad in blue overalls and jumper to match was found in Tower bay slip early yesterday morning by Deputy Coroner Le Sage. The body was in such a decomposed condition that identification was almost impossible. He was of slender build, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, and nothing in his pockets gave the slightest clew as to his identity.

Appoint City Chemist.

The commission this morning announced that Dr. C. R. Searle has been appointed city chemist in the place of Dr. Walter E. Hatch. Dr. Hatch has held the position for the past two years.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH PLANTING

Charles Kauppi returned yesterday from Crookston where he has been visiting some old-time friends. He also visited Thief River Falls, Middle River and a few other towns in Marshall county.

Mr. Kauppi says that the outlook for the summer crops in that territory is very good. In the southern portions the farmers will be through with their planting in a week or ten days but further north they will not be through for a couple of weeks or more. He also says that the roads in that vicinity are very good.

Mr. Kauppi was formerly county commissioner of the fifth district and held that position for twelve years. He expects to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner at the election this coming fall.

Mr. Kauppi is very much in favor of a penal farm for Duluth. He says that under the present system the prisoners are worse off when released than they were when arrested, and are not given a chance to redeem themselves. He thinks the county commissioners should appoint a committee or go themselves and investigate the work being done by other institutions of this sort. It should be located within a short distance from the city proper, where the transportation would not be an important factor.

MISSIONARY TALKS ON CONDITIONS IN CONGO.

Rev. Martin Westling, a missionary of the Swedish Covenant of Sweden to the Congo Free State, Africa, gave an interesting lecture on the conditions in Africa and the needs of the people there at the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street yesterday morning. He is visiting the different parts of the United States giving these lectures for the benefit of the mission societies. He says that the great difficulty in getting foreign missionaries to go to Africa is the intense heat that one must endue in that country.

GIRL'S RELATIVES WILL SUE HOTEL COMPANY.

Relatives of 16-year-old Alma Lakso, who was crushed to death in the elevator shaft of the St. Louis hotel, where she was employed as a kitchen girl on April 8, last, are preparing to bring suit against the St. Louis Hotel company for damages.

The girl was the daughter of Jacob Lakso, a farmer living eight miles from Brule, Douglas county, Wisconsin. He has retained Victor H. Gran, a local attorney, who is preparing the papers in the case.

This morning in probate court, Mr. Gran secured the appointment of Frank D. Peito as administrator of the estate of the girl. She, however, leaves no property, real or personal, and the appointment was made simply for the purpose of bringing action against the hotel company in the district court. The suit will be brought in the name of the administrator.

On the morning of April 8 the Lakso girl was crushed between the gate and the platform of the freight elevator of the hotel.

In Minnesota the maximum amount which employers can be held liable for in cases of deaths in which negligence is proven is $7,500.

AFRICAN M. E. MEETING OPENS

Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—The twenty-fourth quadrennial session of the general conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church met here today with delegates present from all parts of the United States and many foreign countries.

The meeting, which is to last three weeks, was expected to be one of the most important in the history of the church. In addition to the electing of four bishops, the conference probably will revise the law of the church relative to restriction of amusements.

The conference was called to order by Bishop Henry Turner of Atlanta, Ga. A report of the finance committee showed that more than a million dollars was raised for educational purposes during the fiscal year and $140,000 for missionary work.

MINERS PICK MEN FOR CONVENTION

Philadelphia, May 6.—The call having been issued for a tri-district convention at Wilkesbarre on May 14 to consider the wage arrangements agreed upon by the sub-committee of miners and operators, the anthracite mine workers will this week occupy their time by electing delegates to the meeting.

Sentiment on the question of ratifying the agreement in the face of the action of the executive boards of three districts in voting it down, appears to be divided.

The total suspension of anthracite mining has now been in force five weeks and it is probable two more weeks will elapse before the men return to work, providing they ratify the tentative agreement of the sub-committee of operators and miners.

Murderer Electrocuted.

Ossining, N. Y., May 6.—Salvatore Candido, an Italian laborer, was executed in Sing Sing prison early today for the murder of Reginald F. Balls, superintendent of a stone crushing plant in Rockland county, on Oct. 3, 1910. Candido had been discharged by Balls and struck the superintendent over the head with a piece of pipe, inflicting injuries from which he died two days later.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CITY CHARTER

To Be Voted Upon At a Special Election to Be Held Tuesday, May 7, 1912.

Amend the Duluth City Charter by adding at the end thereof, CHAPTER XXXII, in the following words:

CHAPTER XXXII.

Recall, Initiative and Referendum.

Sec. 501—The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent in the following manner: A petition signed by such electors, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote cast for all candidates for the last preceding general municipal election, demanding a special election of a successor of the person sought to be removed shall be filed with the City Clerk, which petition shall contain a general statement of the grounds on which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall state his place of residence, and street number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath that the statements therein made are true as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose signature it purports to be. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition, the City Clerk shall ascertain from the voter's register whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and, if necessary, the Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose; and shall attach to said petition his certificate, showing the result of said examination. If by the City Clerk's certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said Clerk's certificate. The City Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect; if the petition is deemed sufficient, the City Clerk shall submit the same to the Council without delay, and thereupon the Council shall order the same filed. Within ten days after the filing of said petition, the Council shall fix a date for holding said special election not less than forty days nor more than fifty days from the date of said filing.

In the published call for the election there shall be printed in not more than two hundred words the reasons for demanding the call of the officer as set forth in the recall petition, and in said call in not more than two hundred words the officer may justify his course in office.

Except as herein otherwise provided said special election shall be conducted, returned and the result thereof declared, in all respects as are other city elections. But nominations of candidates for the office to be voted upon at such special election shall be made without the intervention of a primary election by filing with the City Clerk at least ten days prior to said special election a statement of candidacy subscribed and sworn to by said candidate giving his full name, and address, and stating that he is a qualified voter and containing a request that his name be placed upon the official ballot as a candidate for election to said office at said special election; which said statement must be accompanied by a petition requesting such candidacy signed by electors entitled to vote at said special election equal in number to at least ten per cent of the entire vote for all candidates for said office at the last preceding general city election. Said petition must be verified by one or more persons as to the qualifications and residence with street number of each of the persons so signing said petition, and must contain a statement that the petitioners are qualified electors of the city, and that they know the said candidate to be a qualified elector of the city, a man of good moral character and qualified in the opinion of said petitioners, for the duties of such office. No petitioner shall sign more than one such petition.

The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and unless he requests otherwise in writing, the City Clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. At such election if some other person than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor, but if the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

No recall petition shall be filed against any officer until he has actually held his office for at least three months.

No person who has been recalled from office, or who has resigned from such office while recall proceedings were pending against him, shall be elected or appointed to any office within one year after such recall or resignation.

Sec. 502—Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Council by a petition signed by registered electors of the City equal in number to the percentage hereinafter required.

The provisions of Section 501 respecting the forms and conditions of the petition, the mode of verification, certification and filing shall be substantially followed, with such modification as the nature of the case requires.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to twenty per centum of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding general municipal election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election then the Council shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition; or,

(b) Within twenty-five days after such certification, proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance without alteration shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least ten, but less than twenty per centum of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general municipal election at which a Mayor was elected, and said ordinance be not passed by the Council as provided in the preceding subdivision, then such ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election occurring at any time after twenty days from the date of the City Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

Wherever any ordinance or proposition is required by the Charter to be submitted to the voters of the City at any election, the Council shall either cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed and mailed by the City Clerk with a sample ballot to each voter, at least three days prior to the election, or order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper and published in like manner as ordinances adopted by the Council.

The ballots used in voting upon such proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the Ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the City.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

The Council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any general municipal election; and should such proposition receive a majority of the votes cast at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly. An ordinance proposed by petition or adopted by a vote of the people cannot be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

There shall not be held under this section of the Charter more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Council may, by ordinance, make such further regulation as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

Sec. 503—No ordinance passed by the Council shall go into effect before ten days from the time of its final passage, except when otherwise required by the General Laws of the State, or by the provisions of this Charter respecting street improvements, and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a three-fourths vote of the Council; provided that no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgent measure, but franchises shall be subject to the referendum vote as provided in Section 460 hereof. If during said ten days a petition signed by qualified electors of the City equal in number to at least twenty per centum of the entire vote cast for all candidates for mayor at the last preceding general municipal election at which a mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same be not entirely repealed, the Council shall submit the ordinance as provided in Section 502 of this Charter, to a vote of the electors of the City, either at the next general municipal election or at a special election called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. The provisions of Section 501 respecting the forms and conditions of the petition, the mode of verification, certification and filing shall be substantially followed, with such modifications as the nature of the case requires.

No action of the Council making any contract or other provision for the furnishing of heat, light, power, transportation or any other public utility to the city or its inhabitants, or for the acquisition of any property for any such purpose, shall be taken except by ordinance.

Any ordinance or measure that the Council or the qualified electors of the City shall have authority to enact, the Council may of its own motion submit to the electors for adoption or rejection at a general or special municipal election, in the same manner and with the same force and effect as is provided for ordinances or measures submitted on petition.

The Council may, by ordinance, make such further regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

Mayor's Proclamation

Mayor's Office, City of Duluth.
Duluth, Minn., May 6, 1912.

Tomorrow, Tuesday, the 7th day of May, 1912, being the day of Special Election in said City of Duluth:

Now, Therefore, Pursuant to Law, I, John A. McCuen, Mayor of said City, do hereby give notice and proclaim that the provisions of the Laws of the State will be strictly enforced, to-wit:

"No person licensed to sell intoxicating liquors shall sell or otherwise dispose of such liquors at any of the following times:

"1. On any day between 11 o'clock p. m. and 5 o'clock a. m.

"2. On any general, special or primary election day.

"3. At any hour on Sunday."

The penalty prescribed for violation of the foregoing provisions is a fine of not more than one hundred dollars and not less than fifty dollars with costs or prosecution, and imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than three months and not less than thirty days.

TRAINED NURSE CURES DIABETES

A letter from a trained nurse, Miss Isabelle M. Potter of Portland, Oregon, condenses to the following:

"I have care of a patient who is taking your Diabetes Compound. It has been my pleasure to have several of these cases. I say pleasure because it is quoted as incurable, but I cannot see it that way. This patient was in a very despondent mood, staying in bed most of the time. Today he was out walking several times, walking nearly three miles. I am not an advocate of drugs, as a rule, but when a patient thinks he needs one thing or another I never oppose. My patient is improving fast. His sight was failing, but already shows decided improvement."

The plain fact is that Diabetes, although supposed to be incurable, is now being cured every day in people of middle age and over. We marvel that physicians and hospitals can be content to see patients slowly succumb under codeine, arsenauro, etc., when many of them can recover by the simple use of a mild infusion under which specific gravity and sugar begin to decline in most cases within twenty days.

There is no uncertainty as to the results for the sugar can be weighed and the specific gravity recorded and the results noted from day to day. Fulton's Diabetic Compound is harmless and delicate persons take it without injury. It contains no sedatives.

APPLE MAN HEARD FROM

A. R. Johnson of Muskegan Has a New Mail Order Scheme.

Duluthians Who Sent Money for Apples Never Received Them.

Last fall A. R. Johnson of Muskegon, Mich., advertised that he would furnish apples to Duluth people at a ridiculously low price. Many people fell and mailed him their money. Some never received the apples.

This spring Mr. Johnson turns up in Miles City, Mont. His apple patrons have received letters from him advertising a quantity of groceries at $14.98, headed off with forty pounds of the best granulated sugar at $1. On the bottom of the circular is a penciled note: "Also credit due you for apple Money."

Mr. Johnson's new offer is sincere on its face, as it promises a three-days' trial with a bank draft attachment to the bill of lading. It may be a sincere offer to make good, but few people who went into the apple deal are anxious to do any more business with Mr. Johnson. The apple transaction was put into the hands of the postal authorities, but nothing ever came of it.

RARE PLAYET AT THE ORPHEUM

"The Son of Solomon" a True Picture of Jewish Life.

Rarely does a vaudeville playlet carry such a direct appeal either to the emotions of the auditor or to his sense of humor as does "The Son of Solomon," which is headlining the Orpheum bill this week.

"The Son of Solomon" is as faithful a little portrayal of Jewish life as Graham Moffatt's "Concealed Bed" was of Scottish life. For years the only type of Jew that has been seen upon the stage is the burlesque or caricature, but "The Son of Solomon" is a more serious attempt to present the Jewish character. The old orthodox father, with his strict notions of religious observance, his deep love for his family, his thrift and his underlying generosity, is wonderfully well drawn by Hugh Herbert, who is featured in the little company. His support is excellent. Miss Margot Williams handles the role of the young daughter in a charmingly natural and easy manner and Thomas Everett gives a true picture of the young son, who has acquired all that is bad and none that is good, of American ways and customs.

The author of this little playlet, Aaron Hoffman, has taken the contrast between the old and the new types of Jewish character for his theme, and the problems that arise for the Jewish parents when their children lose their respect for the old religion and old customs. Humor and pathos are delightfully blended and the sketch is a gripping little drama.

Next to the playlet Max Hart's Six Steppers probably scored the hit of last evening's bill. They have a very clever and lively dancing act of a distinctly American type. Their dance steps consist entirely of the buck and hard shoe dances, but some of the steps are new and all are well done, and the bright costumes and the rapid action of the entire act pleased last night's audience immensely.

The Empire Comedy Four provided the comedy hit of the bill, thanks to the efforts of a really funny German comedian. The Empire Four is a male quartet and the best that the Orpheum has offered this season, both musically and in their comedy work.

The Four Vanis present a first class tight wire act, the work of one of the young women, Miss Ollie Vanis, being sensational and very much out of the ordinary. She works with amazing speed.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott present a very pleasing novelty with their harp playing. Both are good harpists and both have good voices. They sing several numbers ranging from grand opera to ragtime, but probably the most popular was a medley of old time favorite ballads. It is the first harp act of the season and was much appreciated.

Ray Belmont and Miss Mattie Hart offer about fifteen minutes of very good entertainment with an act they call "The Man, the Girl and the Piano." Mr. Belmont has a robust baritone voice and Miss Hart plays the piano and gives some entertaining musical monologues.

Miss Virginia Rankin presents the seventh act on the bill, singing four popular numbers in a very pleasing soprano voice.

The moving pictures this week show the burial of the battleship Maine, and the film is one of the most interesting shown this season.

TELEPATHY AT THE EMPRESS

Mercedes, "The Musical Enigma," Provides Novel Feature Act.

Mercedes, styled the musical enigma, is an easy headliner on the Empress bill this week. With the aid of his clever and accomplished assistant, Mlle. Stantone, Mercedes gives a remarkable act of mind reading. To all appearances, he transfers a thought from the mind of any one in the audience to Mlle. Stantone, his assistant, who is seated, blindfolded, at the piano on the stage. She will play any selection from classical to ragtime and the puzzling part of it all is she will tell the person what selection he is thinking of before she plays it. The person giving the test, however, must first tell Mercedes. He then asks his assistant what selection is wanted and she has not yet failed to name it or play it. The performance is an unusual demonstration of mental telepathy which is well worth seeing.

Swedish-Americans of Duluth are familiar with the work of Hilda Hellstrom Gagne and Carl Myhre, who are appearing this week at the Empress. Madame Gagne, whose stage name is Miss Hellstrom, possesses a soprano voice of considerable range and sweetness, and her partner, Mr. Myhre, is blessed with a rich baritone. Both are familiar with the Swedish folk dances and songs and give a very creditable exhibition. Mr. Myhre is a West end boy. They were well received at both performances yesterday.

The acrobatic antics of the two Georges are one of the comedy hits of the bill. Their gymnastic gyrations coupled with a line of horse-play furnish fun fast and furious. They have a new line of twists and turns and judging from the hand they were given by yesterday's audiences, their act was appreciated.

Stanley's group of trained goats provides a novelty feature for this week's bill. With scarcely any assistance from the trainer, the angoras perform several tricks, such as walking the tight rope, rolling a sphere, etc. This act was much enjoyed and met with much favor among the children yesterday afternoon and evening.

This week's comedy playlet is entitled "Dollars and Cents," and is ably presented by William Grew & Co. The sketch is replete with many humorous situations and was good for a laugh a minute yesterday. Mr. Grew is an accomplished actor and is well supported by his company of four.

The picture films for the week are entertaining and instructing. Performances of the bill will be repeated every afternoon and evening during the week.

FAREWELL RECEPTION WILL BE TENDERED MR. AND MRS. BEVIS

Citizens of Duluth will have an opportunity of bidding farewell to Phil Bevis, the retiring secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., and Mrs. Bevis, at the Y. M. C. A. building next Wednesday evening, at a public reception to be held from 8 to 10 o'clock. The affair is in the hands of a committee consisting of Rev. A. W. Ryan, acting for the ministers of the city; Watson S. Moore, representing the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., and three others representing the general body of Y. M. C. A. members.

Addresses will be made by Oscar Mitchell, chairman of the executive committee of the association; F. E. House, vice president and acting president of the association; Rev. J. W. Powell, representing the ministers of the city, and Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, on behalf of the Y. W. C. A. The program will also include several musical numbers by an orchestra.

The receiving line will include Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Watson S. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hegardt, Mr and Mrs. W. A. McGonagle and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bevis.

The program is in the hands of a special committee, of which I. K. Lewis is chairman. The committee on decoration consists of G. Hopkins and H. J. Sopher.

Mr. Bevis is due at St. Louis on May 16, to assume the duties of his new position as metropolitan secretary of the Y. M. C. A. city work. He will have six branches under his management instead of two, as at Duluth. Mr. Bevis and his family will probably leave Duluth for St. Louis two or three days before that date.

Mr. Bevis yesterday afternoon delivered a farewell address to the members of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. in the association auditorium. "I would gladly remain at Duluth," said he, "for I love the city. I have found the work strenuous during the eleven years I have held this post, but I have enjoyed it nevertheless. But, I feel that I am called to a larger field of work and that it is my duty to go."

Mr. Bevis dwelt at some length on the campaign for the present magnificent Duluth Y. M. C. A. building. He declared that he went into that struggle with some trepidation. Raising funds for Y. M. C. A. buildings was a comparatively new thing then. But the call was plain and the struggle was successful. The speaker emphasized the point that the apparent magnitude of a task and even a long series of failures should not deter one from keeping right on, when the call of duty was plain.

BURGLARS BREAK LAUNDRY SAFE

Get Away With $100 in Cash and Same Amount in Checks.

Burglars broke the safe of Lutes' laundry at 808 East Second street some time Saturday night, securing about $100 in cash, checks of about the same amount, and insurance and other papers. The papers were found in another part of the laundry this morning. They had been examined but not injured. The safe was opened by knocking off the knob and drilling the combination. Two drawers and the cash box were lugged away. It is assumed that the thief or thieves wished to make a careful examination of the papers. The burglary was discovered about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Mr. Lutes went to his office. He reported the matter to the police immediately and the authorities are making an investigation. No clew has been discovered which will lead to the arrest of the burglars.

IT IS NOT BLOOD POISON

That Causes Splitting Headaches and Sores—Human System Is Made a Storehouse of Other Poisons, Say Doctors.

The day of wonders has not passed, nature is a wonder, and the application of natural methods in any disease will not only bring relief, but will bring a cure. Such natural wonders are produced in the office of the Electro Medical office at No. 26 West Superior street every day. Talk to any of their numerous patients and they will testify to this. The application of natural principles to the science of diagnosis and treatment is the most difficult of all application, however. The Electro-Medical Corporation has secured the services of one of the very best doctors in this country. He has perfected greatly the System of Natural Healing by Electro Medicine in Europe, his skill is unsurpassed and his method has never before been applied in Duluth.

In explaining the wonderful powers of Electro Medicine, the Doctor said: Take the paleness of some women, for instance. This is due to a derangement of some organ which is either obstructed by poison or growths, such as tumors, cancers, stones, or casts, like in Bright's disease and others. The paleness is due to diminished circulation in the surface tissue, or to poison in the blood which you have to find out by the microscope. Take the Nerve tension to this and the contraction of the pores of the skin which checks all elimination and you will have a pretty picture of a poisoned condition. I had a very dear friend who had suffered ever since she was a child 30 years ago. For days she had the most severe headache and nothing would stop it. Often during these periods she was actually demented and did not know what she was doing. This headache returned periodically, and of all the doctors there was not one who could help this poor woman, because they didn't know the trouble. It was simply a chronic intoxication due to the retention of poisons which the organs of the system and the skin failed to eliminate, so the spasmodic headache was due to the heroic effort of the body to throw off the poisons.

Rheumatism and neuralgia show still greater deposits, or more toxic compounds of poisons. Bronchial exudates show reaction, and an effort of the mucous glands to free the blood of its retained elements.

We trace symtoms singly to that which produces them. We may take any one of these symptoms and trace it back to the closure of the pores of the skin. Take bronchial exudates, etc., it is from a toxic condition of the blood; this is from retention by the skin. Take rheumatism, it is from toxic deposits in the tissues; these are from a circulation overloaded with the same, and this is from retention by the skin. Take neuralgia, it results from congestion and toxic irritation of a nerve; this from decompositions that recomposed toxic compounds in the blood retained by a closure of the dermal pores.

In the case above, the disease is retention. Every symptom depends on retention as its producer. Treat the retention successfully and every symptom vanishes, and a state of health ensues. Retention, as a disease, has many forms, and these forms are only symptoms of the real disease that produced them.

In all these diseases Electro Medicine has proved to the sick and suffering of Duluth to be a real god-send; it cures the disease and not the symptoms. It restores the patient to vitality and health.

The hours of the doctors are from 9 to 12, 1 to 5, and 6 to 8; and Sundays, 10 to 1. The offices are at No. 26 West Superior street, upstairs.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Last Week of Republican Presidential Campaign in Minnesota—Progressive Combination in St. Louis County—Gordon Invades Kandiyohi County With a Warning—Plan to Throw County to Lee to Discredit Gordon, Charged—Pfaender Boomed for Governor.

Last Week of Campaign.

This is the last week of the Republican presidential campaign in Minnesota. One week from today, the county conventions will be held. By midnight next Saturday, the caucuses all will have been held, and then the choosing of the Minnesota delegates to the Chicago convention will be out of the hands of the people.

Taft and Roosevelt men both claim the state. Each side concedes some district delegates to the other, but claims the control of the state convention and the election of the six delegates at large. Roosevelt is undoubtedly the popular choice. The state organization, with its various strings, is for Taft and the president thus has an advantage. Under the caucus system, organization counts for much and the Roosevelt men are working under the handicap of opposing a long-standing organization.

The Minnesota Progressive Republican league, the La Follette organization, will center its fight on the First district. The state league seems to have settled down to a policy of opposition to Roosevelt in the other districts, despite the fact that such opposition is an aid to Taft. The league is flooding the state with circulars declaring that the Harvester trust is seeking to destroy the Minnesota binding twine plant, that Roosevelt protected the Harvester trust in 1907 and that it is backing him in the present campaign. The circular reads like a Taft campaign document.

Progressives Combine.

In contrast to the attitude of their brothers of the state at large, the La Follette men in Duluth are making a combination with the Roosevelt men in order to prevent the election of Taft delegates by a split in the Progressive strength. Where there is danger of a split in the Progressive vote allowing the Taft caucus candidates to slip through, no La Follette candidates will be offered. There will be La Follette candidates in some precincts, but only where the La Follette strength is regarded as positive.

The fight in St. Louis county will thus be an open battle between the Roosevelt and Taft forces. Both sides are claiming the county. Both sides are working hard. Caucus candidates will be offered by both factions in every precinct in the county. The Roosevelt tickets will bear the ex-president's name, so there may be no chance of a mistake by the voters.

Gordon Issues Warning.

The Kandiyohi county caucuses to be held Saturday are attracting more than ordinary attention for the delegates to the county convention preceding the state nominating convention will be elected at the same caucuses at which the delegates to the county convention May 13 will be elected.

The governorship candidates are to give some attention to Kanidyohi county this week. Gordon, who seems to be the most aggressive, has already started. Circulars in the form of "A Warning to the Voters of Kandiyohi County," have been mailed to the voters of the county and others will follow this week. Gordon has invaded the county personally. He will speak at New London tomorrow, Atwater on Wednesday, Raymond on Thursday and Willmar on Friday.

The Gordon men suspect an Ed Smith-Eberhart plot to throw Kandiyohi to Lee in order to discredit Gordon in his own congressional district. The county is the first in the state to hold caucuses for the last convention. If Kandiyohi should go against Gordon, the Eberhart men would "give Sam the laugh."

The game will not work if the Gordon men can prevent. Besides Gordon himself, several able lieutenants are working in the county and they intend to acquaint the voters with the true state of affairs. Eberhart is thought to have no chance in the county and a game to beat Gordon at any cost is a natural one under the circumstances.

Gordon's "warning" sets forth the reasons for the opposition of the liquor interests to his nomination. He points out that immediately on his nomination for lieutenant governor, he arose in a meeting of state officers and opposed Eberhart's selection of Ed Smith as chairman of the state central committee.

The circular says:

> For years this man Smith, through the assistance of certain well known persons, sat in the halls of the state legislature, there conniving and voting for the enactment of legislation not in accord with the best interests of the state, and conniving and voting against progressive legislation demanded by the people.
> I knew that Mr. Eberhart had, while lieutenant governor, himself placed this boss at the head of the very important committee on taxes and tax laws in the state senate; but when I registered vigorous objection to further continuing this man in any important position in the politics of this state, I did think that the governor would at last be shamed into stopping him from going any further. The newspapers of the state, at that time, recognized the fact that I had attempted in every vigorous and decent manner within my power to thus stop this king of bosses.
> After I was elected lieutenant governor, I had all the powerful influence of the governor's appointees, under the leadership of this boss of bosses, with his aligned forces to fight me at every turn of the road. I have kept up the battle. Although the gang brazenly and boldly attempted to take the organization of the state senate out of my hands, I stood my organization of the state senate appointed committees that reported out bills and forced members to vote on all important measures. This and other matters I succeeded in accomplishing at the expense of calling down on my head the vengence and the powerful influences of these political dogs of war of many years training.
> After appealing to the voters to attend the caucuses, the circular continues:
> This machine expects to round up the voters in every county, with their local oil inspectors, game wardens and other appointees, figuring that the people, not understanding the situation, will sleep while this is being done, and in counties where they figure that they cannot get the delegates for their man in the open, they then start out to do their work behind doors—to throw the vote to some other candidate, who is sure not to be nominated, keeping the votes away from me at any cost.
> I shall make the fight as I started in the beginning, whether I am continued in office or not, and I only regret that I have not the time and opportunity to visit you personally and go into this matter more in detail, but I know of no other way at present than to briefly express my views in this circular. I warn the voters of Kandiyohi county that the liquor and allied interests are now seeking to steal this county out of my district, away from me, so they can cripple me and defeat me in my original and continued purpose. The fight has been a hard one for me, being practically unaided by means or leaders. I have stood for abuse and ridicule of these interests and their hirelings that have continuously misrepresented and maligned me for no other reason than that I have stood for the people's interests in the performance of my official duties.
> I am now a candidate for governor, and I want the voters of your county to turn out to these caucuses and help me make this fight, and not be fooled by either the local office holders or other representatives of this political ring in putting up delegates to the county convention who will say, "Well, yes, we are against Eberhart and his machine," and then when they get down to St. Paul throw their votes away to some man who has no chance of nomination, thus defeating me under cover. I have no bosses or so-called leaders in your county or elsewhere, but your county is in my congressional district. You helped to nominate and elect me; I started out when elected, in a vigorous manner, and kept it up all through my term—to kick out of our party and out of the politics of this state the men who for years back have throttled good legislation, and who have been able, with the office holders under them at their command, to turn this state and the party to which I belong over to the corrupt influences to which I know the voters of Kandiyohi county and the people generally are strongly opposed. Every man in this state knows that the brewery interests are determined on my defeat and downfall at any cost.

House Prospects.

The Fergus Falls Free Press devotes considerable space to a discussion of the prospects for the legislative campaign in the Fifty-ninth district and brings out the interesting information that Elmer Adams, editor of the Fergus Falls Journal and a former member of the house, may again become a candidate.

The four men who represented the district in the last session will probably be candidates for re-election They are J. T. Johnson of Fergus Falls, Alex Nelson of Perham, H. A. Putnam of Amor and R. J. Lindberg of Henning. A. G. Anderson, former mayor of Fergus Falls, is considering running for the house.

The Free Press ventures the opinion that if Eberhart is defeated at the state convention, Elmer Adams will try for the house. Mr. Adams made an unsuccessful campaign as an independent two years ago.

Pfaender for Governor.

The Mankato Daily Review, edited by John C. Wise, long prominent in Democratic politics in Minnesota, comes out for Albert Pfaender of New Ulm for the Democratic nomination for governor. Mr. Pfaender was the floor leader of the Democrats in the last house and showed ability that won him warm commendation from the Democrats of the state.

The Review says:

> The time is not far distant when the Democrats of Minnesota will be called upon to select their standard bearer in this state for the coming fall election, and in so doing, the very best and strongest man available should be chosen. Various names have been mentioned in connection with this high honor, all splendid gentlemen, good Democrats, and would prove a credit to the party they represent. But after a careful consideration of all of the names mentioned the Daily Review is firmly of the opinion that the very strongest man the Democrats could nominate for governor would be Attorney Albert Pfaender of New Ulm.
> Mr Pfaender is one of the prominent and rising young men of the state, an able and brilliant attorney, and a good, sound, conservative business man. He is a Southern Minnesota man, yet his acquaintance and popularity is not confined to that section but extends throughout the entire state. At the last session of the state legislature he represented Brown county in the house of representatives and was one of the leaders in that body. Mr. Pfaender is an eloquent speaker and possesses every qualification necessary for the conduct of a successful and winning campaign.
> The Daily Record would like to see Mr. Pfaender head the Democratic ticket in Minnesota next fall. It is a Democratic year both in the nation and state, and the chances for success in both elections were never better.

Frank Doesn't "Sabe."

Commenting on the Minneapolis Journal's "Objections to Eberhart," published in this column recently, the Fairmont Sentinel, Frank A. Day's paper, says:

> This paper does not pretend to understand Minnesota Republican politics and policies. They are beyond the ken of the ordinary intellect and are Greek to voters outside of the charmed circle over which General Edward Smith presides. Naturally one would say that the article in the Minneapolis Journal would destroy all chances of Governor Eberhart's renomination.
> It strips him of the dignity that belongs to his position, makes him out a weakling, and finally passes him up as a joke. If the article is not slanderous, we doubt if Governor Eberhart can withstand the attack and secure a renomination. If he can he will defy the rules that ordinarily obtain in the game of politics. In any event the article is a most unique political production and will attract widespread attention.

"NEWLYWEDS" IN TROUBLE

Company Disbanded in Duluth All Debts Will Be Paid.

"The Newlyweds" company, which has been playing at the Lyceum theater, last night canceled all its next week's engagements to play in the various cities of the Copper country, and abruptly brought its season to a close. Financial difficulties were the cause.

L. S. Leavitt, manager of the company, remarked that the company had done a very discouraging business all through this region, and had found money so tight that it was deemed best to close the season. Mr. Leavitt said the company was about $200 in debt, but he was confident that these obligations would be promptly taken care of, as soon as he could hear from the Leffler-Bratton company of New York, the firm employing the "Newlyweds" troupe.

"The Leffler-Bratton company," said Mr. Leavitt, "has plenty of money. Besides our troupe, it has out the 'Buster Brown,' 'Let George Do It,' and 'The Dingebat Family.' There are fifty-four people in the 'Newlyweds' company. Of these we only have to deliver fourteen in New York city. The other forty are free to go where they please. We have had bad business, but we are not stranded. All of our obligations will be paid."

"The Newlyweds" is a musical comedy, patterened after the cartoons of George McManus.

MINING DEAL BASIS OF SUIT

William T. James Wants to Enforce Verbal Agreement.

Asking the court to enforce a verbal agreement made with reference to the purchase of certain mining stock, William T. James has started suit in district court against John Costin, Jr. James alleges that Costin failed to keep his word and that as a result, he had been defrauded out of his half of 125,000 shares of the Chandler Mining company's stock now held by Costin.

James claims that there was an agreement between Costin and himself, whereby they were to take over the lease of the Chandler mine from the fee owners and share alike in the profits and expenses. He alleges that Costin secured the lease in his own name and that the Chandler Mining company was organized to work the property.

According to the claims of James, Costin received 125,000 shares of the company's stock as a consideration for the lease. The stock was then worth $1 a share, but since has advanced to $1.50, says James. He asks the court for an accounting which will hold Costin to the original agreement.

SAY STREET IS TOO WIDE

East Fourth Street Owners Want Board to Readvertise.

The Fourth street property owners who met at the city hall Saturday night to discuss the kind of pavement to be used in improving the street between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues east, decided to ask the board to advertise for new bids.

It was noticed that the specifications call for a pavement 42 feet wide, whereas the property owners at the meeting declared that they wanted a pavement 38 feet wide. The vote was taken on the basis of frontage and when the totals were secured they showed 2,780 feet for new bids to 845 feet against.

A committee consisting of G. R. Laybourn, M. F. McLaren and G. W. Buck was appointed to lay the matter before the board of public works at its meeting today. Mr. Laybourn, president of the East Fourth Street Improvement club, acted as chairman of the meeting and W. D. Underhill as secretary.

The kind of pavement desired was lost sight of in the discussion over the width of the pavement. A committee appointed by the improvement club made a trip to the Twin Cities last week to investigate various pavements and reported in favor of creosote blocks. No action was taken on the report, which was laid on the table. Bert Fesler, former city attorney, gave it as his opinion that a delay of about two weeks would be caused by advertising for new bids.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, May 6. — The railroad equipment shops were overwhelmed with orders for cars and locomotives last week and in turn the steel mills benefitted from additional heavy contracts for steel products.

With the opening of May the railroads placed orders for 23 cars and 165 locomotives. Since April 1 contracts have exceeded 46,000 cars and 500 locomotives calling for about 500,000 tons of steel bars, plates and shapes. Similar contracts are on the point of being closed, which will require about 400,000 tons of steel. The principal orders last week were given by the Harriman interests, the St. Louis & San Francisco and Canadian Pacific systems.

Rail contracts aggregated nearly 200,000 tons including 30,000 tons for the St. Louis & San Francisco, 36,000 for the Wabash, 85,000 for another Western trunk line, 40,000 for the Grand Trunk Pacific and 15,000 for the Canadian Pacific. Since April 1, rail contracts have exceeded 400,000 tons.

All the steel companies are operating as close to full capacity as possible. The Steel corporation has 94½ per cent of cappacity active and produced 340,000 pounds of steel ingots during the last week of April. New orders during the same time averaged 60,000 tons daily, exceeding shipments by about 7,000 tons per day. Shipments during the first quarter aggregated 2,800,000 tons. The second quarter shipments will be heavier and a larger revenue will be derived because of the more representative prices prevailing.

Many small orders for fabricated steel to be used in commercial buildings came out during the last few days of April, so that orders for the month exceeded 100,00 tons.

Merchant salos of pig iron in April aggregated 1,000,000 tons.

Appeal From City Ordinance.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—Preliminary steps have been taken by the St. Paul City Railway company to appeal to the United States supreme court from the decision of the Minnesota supreme court, compelling the company to build a line on Maryland street from Rice to Como boulevard under an ordinance passed by the city council.

their new spick and span uniforms of white and blue satin and their gorgeously decorated swords.

A trip filled to the brim with fun and something stirring all the time from the moment the train left Duluth until it reached Los Angeles, is the report Capt. Bradley had to make of the journey westwards. At Salt Lake City the crowd enjoyed an organ recital in the big Mormon tabernacle. Mrs. W. Warner, one of the party who hails from Chicago, sang several solos and had the pleasure of being complimented by the official organist as the possessor of one of the most beautiful voices ever heard in the big tabernacle.

A. P. M. Custance, official music master of the Duluth delegation, also took part in the program.

Picked Some Oranges.

One of the most delightful incidents of the trip was a stop at Redlands, where the entire party visited the Bradley orange ranch, owned by the father of Capt. Thomas P. Bradley, and picked oranges from the trees.

Late last night it was estimated at official headquarters that fully 40,000 Shriners and other visitors had come during the day on thirty-two special trains.

cieties has been especially successful in Southern France. The French government has given encouragement to these societies by furnishing expert advice, granting subventions, and permitting long term loans by agricultural credit associations. The general buying is done principally through district unions. High grade farm machinery, such as is beyond the reach of many individual members, is purchased from the surpluses or is loaned gratuitously or upon the payment of nominal fees.

Government employes are to a large extent organized into co-operative societies. Many of the associations are affiliated with labor unions that restrict their membership to persons engaged in a given occupation.

Co-operative Production.

In regard to industrial co-operative production it appears that plants owned and operated by the operatives are not uncommon in France. In Lyons, for example, the enterprise is conducted by societies composed of their own operatives, including printing and engraving, building, plumbing, tailoring, weaving, tanning, carpentering, paper hanging, the making of pasteboard boxes and the making of metallic furniture.

The consular reports state that the French co-operative societies usually sell at prices which are neither higher nor lower than those of private stores and that they have a tendency to keep prices throughout the district where they are located down to a fair level as well as to enhance the purity and quality of the goods. The degree of reduction in the cost of living is almost wholly contingent upon the capability and the altruism of the management of the respective districts.

In Belgium, the consular reports state, a large proportion of the co-operative societies sell at prices lower than those of the regular markets, allowing only members to purchase, and have only minimal profits to distribute. Many societies guarantee a 6 per cent dividend on all purchases and distribute all remaining profits to various funds for insurance, pensions, strike relief, indemnities for injuries and the like. The consular reports state that the virtual beginning of the general co-operative movement in Belgium is said to have been due to the growth of the various socialistic and labor parties in 1880 and the years following. The socialistic societies are reported to have no affiliation with the International Co-operative Alliance. The development of many of the agricultural co-operative societies has been aided very greatly by the Clerical party, the league of church societies comprising 480 associations.

Movement in the Netherlands.

In the Netherlands the co-operative movement has had its largest growth since 1890. The association includes domestic supplies, agricultural supplies, creameries, farmers' loan banks and savings banks. A cash basis is strictly maintained. The annual dividends returned to the purchasers average between 8 and 10 per cent. Arrangements are made with dentists, doctors and merchants who sell goods, which the society does not handle, to give the society a commission on business done with its members.

In Denmark sales are confined to members of the co-operative societies unless the latter wish to subject themselves to taxation. The joint association of Danish co-operatico societies operates numerous factories and warehouses throughout Denmark. At present the average dividends range from 5 per cent to 12 per cent. The statement is made in the consular reports that the prices charged by private dealers are kept down.

If this is found true in your case, the thing to do is to quit the cause—coffee or tea—and shift to

HILL LANDS TURNED BACK

All Property Not Being Mined Released By Steel Corporation.

Corporation Retains Control of But 1,400 Out of 48,000 Acres.

All except 1,400 acres of the Hill ore lands under lease to the United States Steel corporation have been turned back to the Hill interests. About 48,000 acres were under lease.

The Steel corporation has retained control of the 1,400 acres on which actual mining operations are being conducted and they will not be released until Jan. 1, 1915.

As no mining operations are being conducted or were contemplated by the Steel corporation on the remainder of the lands, they were released recently and are now under control of the Great Northern interests.

President Louis W. Hill of the Great Northern intimated in a recent interview that the Great Northern would go into the mining business on the iron range. President Hill and local mining men have been engaged recently in looking over the undeveloped lands to determine points at which development will be conducted.

The Steel corporation will continue to supply the tonnage required under its leases until the release of the remaining lands is made Jan. 1, 1915. The company is behind the lease requirements, but last year more than the required tonnage was furnished the Great Northern and the same will be true this year.

It was estimated that the Hill ore lands would furnish mining for forty-one years before exhaustion. By the time the lands are all released, the Steel corporation will have mined about 27,000,000 tons or a small portion of the total ore tonnage estimated to be contained in the lands.

Official notice of the release is shown in a statement made by Mr. Reed, attorney for the United States Steel corporation, during the Stanley investigation. Capt. Joseph Sellwood of Duluth was on the stand and was being questioned in regard to the Great Northern ore lands. Mr. Read interposed:

"Mr. Gardner, right in that connection perhaps I can help to straighten things out a little. If I explain that by a recent agreement with the Hill trustees a large part of the Hill ores which were not being operated at the present time, were released to the trustees. The Steel corporation at the present time has the right of possession only to that part of the Hill ores which it is operating, so a very large part of these ores are already released, just as much as they will be in 1915."

ATTACKS OLD MAN; MOBBED

and the police were obliged to stop a passing taxicab and drive away with the striker to save him from more serious attack.

Hickey suffered cuts and bruises about his head, face and body. After he had been given medical attention he was locked up on a charge of assault.

One Man Stabbed.

Joseph Murray, 41 years old, was stabbed in the shoulder while engaged in an argument with two men at a North side street corner over the newspaper pressmen's strike. He was taken to a hospital by the police, who later arrested two suspects.

Although under a handicap of labor troubles with webb pressmen and stereotypers, the morning newspapers printed their regular Monday editions. For several days it has been practically impossible to get Chicago newspapers at the street stands because of violence by sympathizers of the pressmen. Many bundles of papers have been seized, torn up or burned and newsboys intimidated.

The publishers said that everything was going smoothly inside the newspaper offices, and that hourly additions were being made to the mechanical forces.

Roosevelt elected with a view of enlarging his power.

"Now, all I ask is that you look into these conditions and give me a square deal. If I am a son of Ohio, I am at least entitled to justice at your hands, and that is all I ask. But I ask that you be not stirred to class hatred by the intimation that everybody is oppressed.

Third Primary Fight.

The primaries will be held May 21. This is the third time since Col. Roosevelt entered the race that Mr. Taft has entered a primary contest. His speeches are arranged for Nelsonville, Hamden, Athens, Chillicothe and other towns in Southern Ohio. L. C. Laylon, Republican state chairman and several other political leaders met the president at Parkersburg, W. Va., and accompanied him to Athens.

TALK ABOUT IMMIGRANTS

grown until it includes most of our other problems. It means tenements where people are herded like cattle, and in surroundings more unsanitary. New York has more rooms without windows than any city of the world—360,000—largely peopled by foreigners. This means disease; the sweatshops and the slum."

In connection with the church extension, the report says that an average of one church a day has been added for a generation and that the total net receipts from 1865 to Oct. 31, 1911, including home missions, were $14,562,754.63.

Bishops All Preached.

Twenty-four bishops who are here attending the quadrennial conference, preached from as many pulpits in Minneapolis and St. Paul Sunday. No regular session of the conference was held, the only assemblage of all the delegates being to hold memorial services for the four bishops and editors of various church publications who died within the last four years. Eulogies were delivered for Bishop W. F. Smallactu, Rev. Spellmeyer, Rufus D. Foss and Daniel Goodsell.

payment on a road running east from Thief River Falls, Pennington county, costing $17,014.01. There are about sixteenteen applications before the state highway commission for roads to be built under this law, upon which the commission as yet has taken no action pending the outcome of the litigation.

The appellant claims that the Elwell law, fathered by Senator I. T. Elwell, is unconstitutional and void in that it is in violation of section 1, article 9, of the Constitution of Minnesota, which provides that "taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, provided that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements on property benefited thereby without regard to cash valuation."

Main Dispute.

The main dispute is whether a rural road shall be built on money raised by general taxation, or whether adjoining property should be assessed for road work, payable in ten annual installments, the state to pay one-half the cost, the county one-fourth and the benefited property the other fourth. The supporters of the law claim that a rural road is just as much a local improvement as a city street or a drainage ditch, the difference being in degree only.

WHOLE FAMILIES SWEPT TO DEATH BY THE FLOODS

path of the Torras torrent. Half a hundred people were reported to be in imminent danger of drowning. The house in which they had taken shelter had been dislodged from its foundation and was being tossed about in the current.

There are at least 1,000 persons who remain to be rescued from the inundated country west of Lettsworth and Batchelor. Some of them are drifting about on hastily constructed rafts.

Town After Town Submerged.

The crevasse water is spreading at a rapid rate, inundating sections of Pointe Coupee parish which have never before been reached by overflows. Town after town is being swept by the muddy waters.

The last of the special trains which have been bringing refugees out of the country around Batchelor arrived here last night.

When the two relief trains were about ready to leave Batchelor word was received that there was grave danger of being cut off by a threatened washout in the tracks several miles east of that place. When the first train arrived at the point of trouble water was flowing over the tracks for a distance of five miles, but the train passed over in safety.

Relief Cars Upset in Flood.

When the second section arrived the water was rushing over the track about two feet deep. An attempt was made to reach the other side of the washout, but about half way across the track gave way and the caboose and three cars toppled over. Occupants of the derailed cars were thrown into the water, but escaped without injury. They were transferred to other cars and brought on to New Roads.

When the first section of the relief special sped through the water which was running over the tracks just north of Morganza, scores of people were seen standing waist deep in water near the railroad signaling the train to stop. The water was rising so rapidly that those in charge of the rtain decided it would imperil the lives of all those on board to delay. The train was not stopped.

Afraid to Board Train.

In some instances force has to be employed in getting the people out of the danger zone. One family consisting of man, wife and a 12-year-old boy refused to leave their cabin, which was fast becoming uninhabitable. They were picked up bodily and carried to the train. After being placed aboard the boy became so frightened he jumped through an open window. He was recaptured.

Urgent appeals for boats to be used in rescue work have been sent to Governor Sanders at New Orleans. The steamer City of Shreveport and a shipment of a dozen skiffs are due to arrive in Batchelor today.

Rain Swells Current.

New Orleans, La., May 6.—Thousands of people in the flood-menaced districts of Louisiana are disheartened today by heavy rains that pelted at levees already strained almost to the bursting point by the swollen Mississippi.

All night long armies of workmen fought to strengthen those dikes which held firm, while other embankments gave way before the flood that now covers portions of eighteen parishes.

As the struggle to strengthen the embankments went on many men were engaged in the rescue of hundreds of persons who have been marooned in dangerous places. The work of supplying with food and clothes the thousands already gathered in emergency camps continued.

Appeal for More Boats.

Reports of loss of life were received at several concentration camps today. While these have not been verified, it is conceded that many persons perished. An urgent appeal reached here today, begging for more motor boats to go after the people imprisoned north of New Roads.

The situation in New Orleans is unchanged, despite a rise in the river. While there have been slight overflows in the sections of the city bordering the river, it is felt the city proper is in no danger.

Railroad Track Washed Away.

Batchelor, La., May 6.—The last link binding this town with the outside world by rail was severed late last night, when the swift waters from the Torras crevasse swept away a long stretch of the Texas & Pacific railroad tracks, a short distance east of here. Batchelor had been a sort of concentration point for the flood sufferers in the surrounding country. Hundreds of them were brought here and later taken to New Roads to be distributed among the various relief camps at Baton Rouge and other places.

With the last means of rail communication cut off and with the scarcity of boats, so much needed in the work of rescuing the homeless, the situation has grown extremely serious.

Hundreds in Peril.

There are still hunderds of others who must be rescued immediately. Reports reach here at all hours of the day of people marooned in houses, barns and on tops of houses. A message was received late last night from Lettsworth, six miles north of here, that fifty people were crowded into one house west of there and were in imminent danger of being drowned. The house was washed from its foundation and was being tossed around in the torrent. Boats were hurriedly despatched there.

Clinging to Barn Roof.

Another appeal for help came from a small village several miles west of here, where a score of people were said to be clinging to the roof of a barn which was being bufeted about by the swift waters. A boat left here at daylight to take them off.

Rheumatics No Longer Dread Changeable Weather

The prescription, "Nurito," free from Opiates and Narcotics, found to be the antidote to uric acid, gives remarkable results, almost immediate relief and an absolute, quick cure to rheumatic sufferers. This is now testified to by many Duluth sufferers, and what is better than home testimony?

If you have Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuritis, be assured that you will get rid of it or your money will be refunded. "Nurito" will banish all aches and pains, limber up those sore and inflamed joints and muscles. Go to The Boyce Drug Store or Lyceum Pharmacy, and get a $1 box of "Nurito," the prescription that produces results.

You can feel it working.

MANY DEMOCRATS GOING TO FARGO

No Effort Will Be Made to Indorse Candidate for Governor.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite opposition of some anti-Burke Democrats, indications are that the state meeting of Democrats here tomorrow will be largely attended. No effort will be made to indirse a gubernatorial candidate, as Jones of Lamoure and Hellstrom of Bismarck are both in the race, but candidates will be suggested for other places on the ticket, and especially for congress. Opposition to the meeting arose because it is said to be in conflict with the primary law.

NEWSPAPER MEN OF MANY STATES MEET.

Columbia, Mo., May 6.—Newspaper editors, writers, artists and advertising men from many states are to take part in the program of "Journalism Week" at the University of Missouri, which began here today. A four days' meeting of the Missouri Press association, beginning tomorrow, will form a part of the news carnival. Tonight Governor Osborn of Michigan is scheduled to deliver an address on "Journalism—The Country Field," and Ralph H. Pulitzer of New York on "Journalism—The City Field."

LYNCH NEGRO IN CEMETERY

Greenville, Miss., May 6.—An unidentified negro who attacked a white woman on one of the principal streets in the residence section here at 9 o'clock last night, was captured in a cemetery by a crowd of citizens and lynched an hour later.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

Every pore and gland of the skin is employed in the necessary work of preserving its smooth, even texture, softening and cleansing it and regulating the temperature of our bodies. This is done by an evaporation through each tiny outlet, which goes on continually day and night. When the blood becomes infected with humors and acids a certain percentage of these impurities also pass off with the natural evaporation, and their sour, fiery nature irritates and inflames the skin, and dries up its natural oils, causing pimples, boils, pustules or some itching rash, or hard, scaly skin affection. S. S. S. cures skin troubles of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. S. S. S. cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its nutritious, red corpuscles, and enriches it in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S., the greatest of blood purifiers, expels all foreign matter and surely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum and all other diseases and affections of the skin. It removes pimples, blackheads, and other unsightly blemishes from the skin and assists in restoring a good complexion. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

WHAT THE NEXT LEGISLATURE SHOULD DO.

Though Minnesota elects a new house of representatives this year, the senate holds over. However, it can be depended upon to act if the state registers a vigorous expression of its demands by electing a large progressive majority in the house.

The people should select, therefore, only house members who can be depended upon to do such things as these:

1. Increase the railroad gross earnings tax, or put railroad property on the ad valorem system of taxation, as Wisconsin has wisely done.
2. Provide a fair legislative reapportionment.
3. Submit a constitutional amendment making reapportionment mandatory at least every ten years, as most other states have done.
4. Submit to the people constitutional amendments providing for the initiative, the referendum and the recall.
5. Submit a constitutional amendment removing the restriction of sex in the use of the ballot.
6. Extend the primary election law to state officers.
7. Amend the primary election law to provide for initiating candidacies before the primaries by petition, leaving the lists still open to those who wish to file on their own initiative.
8. Provide a good presidential preference primary law.
9. Provide an effective corrupt practices act.
10. Put all state departments having to do with public resources and the development and settlement of the state under one effective organization, abolishing all unnecessary boards and offices in the interest of economy and efficiency.
11. Enact a civilized employers' liability law, doing away with the infamous fellow-servant and assumption of risk doctrines and modifying the contributory negligence rule.
12. Enact a fair and effective automatic workingmen's compensation law.
13. Ratify the Federal income tax amendment.
14. Provide for a state soil survey.
15. Provide for a thorough survey and cataloguing of state lands and other resources.
16. Provide a state civil service law.
17. Create a commission to study out a plan for a "short ballot" state government, centering responsibility as closely as possible in the hands of a few elective officers, and giving the public a balance to the centralizing of power involved through the recall for state officers.
18. Provide for the state regulation of all public utilities after the Wisconsin plan.
19. Make the railroad and warehouse commission appointive instead of elective.
20. Enact a practical measure regulating railroad traffic so as to stop the present railroad policy of diverting all possible growth to a single congested center of population, and to give the several communities of the state the right to thrive as their local resources and advantages of position permit, unthrottled by railroad discrimination in favor of large centers. Let natural conditions, not railroad whim, direct the trend of development.
21. If the one-mill road tax amendment is adopted, as it doubtless will be at the November election, increase the road tax from the present rate of a quarter of a mill to one mill.
22. Wise and businesslike liberality toward the problem of tuberculosis control.

If the state can center its forces on some such program as this, and can elect men who will carry it out, the session of 1913 can be made notable as the most constructively progressive in the history of the commonwealth.

Statewide consideration of these matters is timely now, because the men who are to act or fail to act on them are offering themselves as candidates for the legislature.

Chance for the Promoter.

Why doesn't somebody start an Amalgamated Association of Second Husbands of Nat Goodwin's Ex-Wives?

WHAT IT DID IN MEMPHIS.

"The commission plan may be all right in small towns, but it will not work in a city so large as Duluth." So remarked a local citizen yesterday.

Des Moines, where the best form of the commission plan government has been applied, is somewhat larger than Duluth; but better proof than that is available that our local friend is mistaken.

After a year and eight months of commission rule, Memphis, a city of 135,000 souls, makes the following report of the results of this modern scheme of city government:

Tax rate reduced to $1.59, the lowest in the history of Memphis.

Tax collections exceeded budget requirements, and fee-earning departments collected more money than in any similar period before.

For the first time in the history of the city, interest is paid on daily balances and a lower rate made for overdrafts. This gained the city $12,000 last year and will gain it more this year.

The commission for the first time in the history of the city collected the full amount of turnpike funds due from the county, amounting to $22,500 annually, and it collected in poll rentals, which previous administrations had been unable to collect, $7,475.

The commission brought about the construction of subways, and secured the construction of the first crosstown car line in the history of the city.

The conduit system was extended so as to include a much larger area in the business section where underground wires are required.

War was made on unsightly shacks, and nearly five hundred were torn down, the majority of them being replaced by modern buildings.

Many fire escapes were ordered placed where they were needed but where the old administration had neglected to order them.

The office of purchasing agent was created, through which all requisitions must pass, and which buys everything in quantities on bids, saving thousands of dollars annually.

Remodelled and enlarged numerous city institutions like the city hospital and market place.

In the first year the commission laid 37.29 miles of sewers and 30.6 miles of street pavements, besides grading, curbing and guttering thirty-four streets and alleys, rounding up and placing in shape 14.4 miles of dirt streets, resurfacing 11.7 miles of street, hauling and spreading gravel on 85 streets and alleys, and laying 52.67 miles of sidewalks.

Each of these records in 1910 was the greatest in its line in the history of the city.

Economy, efficiency, centralized responsibility with centralized power checked by close popular control—these are the fundamental of the commission plan.

Duluth needs it. Duluth will have it. But when?

Avoiding Side Issues.

Col. Roosevelt declined to lead the men's section in New York's "votes for women" parade. Of course. What he's working for is "votes for T. R."

THE GIRLS' INDUSTRIAL HOME.

A girls' industrial home, in which young girls are to be given training and instruction that will fit them to be self-supporting, and that thus will keep them off the shoals of temptation and bitter need, doesn't strike us as a proposition to be unduly technical about.

The natural impulse ought to be toward smoothing the path for such an institution, rather than toward putting obstacles in its way.

Some of the opposition which has unfortunately been brewed seems based on the misapprehension that this is to be a sort of criminal institution, when in point of fact that's the last thing it is likely to be.

When technical objections to a work farm for men waifs are raised, the philanthropic are indignant. Are not girl waifs, potential wives and mothers, as well worth saving as these? Then why not everybody put a shoulder to the wheel and work to save the girls, too, as well as men who have dared the abyss of crime and dissipation?

You'll Get Left.

If you want to understand the convincing power of circumstantial evidence, just try to persuade any small boy that angleworms don't rain down.

VOTE!

You have a vote. Use it at tomorrow's special election. It is of more importance that you use it then than it is that you use it in electing somebody to office, for the charter amendment to be passed on tomorrow lays the foundation for a city government that shall be truly representative of the people and responsive to their will and need.

To pass, the initiatve, referendum and recall amendment must get sixty votes out of each hundred cast. A mere majority will not do. Those opposed to these principles will be active and energetic, and will poll their full strength. If these principles of direct popular control poll their full strength, the result will be their overwhelming ratification.

The only thing that can beat them will be public indifference and neglect.

Vote tomorrow. You do not need to be registered. If you are a male American citizen and have lived in the state six months and in your precinct thirty days, you can go to your polling place and vote without further ceremony.

Congratulations Due?

An exchange announces in a two-column head, "Successful Suicide in the County Jail."—Well, it's syzygetic, anyway.

CELEBRATE THE FOURTH.

At the meeting of the playgrounds committee Saturday afternoon plans for an attractive civic celebration of the Fourth were outlined. They include a big parade, with a chance for everybody to participate; a sunrise salute of cannon; five entertainments at five different parts of the city in the afternoon; and fireworks in the evening.

That's broad enough to attract everybody. It will put the Fourth back where it was before it was denatured, and while leaving it safe and sane will make it interesting.

Now, let's do it. Let everybody get behind the plan and push; not only that the Fourth may be properly celebrated in Duluth; not only that there may be an incentive for outsiders to come in and for insiders to realize that the Fourth means something: but in order that it may be understood that when a thing is started in Duluth it is carried out, and that there is a spirit in Duluth's citizens that makes planning synonymous with success.

Raising the Ante.

Roosevelt isn't the only person in the country in favor of radical measures. Down south there are a whole lot of people who would be willing to spend a whole day voting for the recall of the Mississippi river.

WILL THEY LEARN?

Four years ago certain eminent individuals constituting the "organization" of the Republican party tried to prevent the nomination of William Howard Taft for president.

Now these same individuals and others forming the same element in public life are trying to bring about the nomination of William Howard Taft for president.

Most voters will need little more than these two facts to base their judgments upon in November if President Taft is then a candidate before the people, for these curious facts are very illuminating and explain a good many things.

Four years ago the element which tried to defeat Taft failed.

If these men fail now in their attempt to nominate him it will be rather a good joke on them.

Will they realize, in that event, that the things for which they stand and have induced the president to stand are out of date, and that their ideas and methods are deservedly unpopular?

Not that it makes much difference whether they do realize it or not. They are going out of business very rapidly anyway, and they will have plenty of time in retirement to think out how it happened.

Ought to Stick to Bigger Ones.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. But discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHY WEST DULUTH OBJECTS TO CARNIVAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Much has been said about the carnival coming to West Duluthf for the week of July 4, and the women of the W. C. T. U. feel that if their side of the matter were explained, people would understand better why they are objecting to its coming.

At this show last year I saw gambling games going on, and once I saw money exchanged. I was told that this particular game was closed by the police every day, but was always open again next day. I was told this by a young man who is now working to get the show here again.

They sold chances to win a revolver by throwing a ring over it, and boys as well as men bought the chances and threw the rings, though it is against the law to sell or give firearms to boys.

They sold chances on boxes of candy to children, even small children, thus causing them to acquire the lottery habit. Two girls I know were enticed away from their homes to follow this show, and one of them has since led an immoral life. Her mother has begged me to try to help save her daughter.

The negroes who were attached to this show were every day, between the performances, visiting a certain home where there were three daughters (white).

In connection with this show immoral women took the opportunities it afforded for making acquaintances, and succeeded in corrupting some boys, even of good families.

The carnival blocked the streets for some distance east and west of Fifty-fifth avenue west, and when it was gone left a filthy condition where the animals had been, which cost the board of public works $35 to clean up.

While there, the wild animals kept people awake nights by their roaring, till one women was made seriously ill.

It kept the boys and girls out late at night. Every evening at 6 o'clock they had a high dive performance, and the children had to see that, so they got away from home before parents or older friends were ready to go with them, and might be out until midnight. Each child felt it a hardship to stay at home while the rest went, or be accompanied by parents or others who might be a restraint. They liked the liberty of spending money, and all were asking for something to spend, till it was a burden on families of moderate means and several children.

Indeed, so much was spent foolishly at this show that many families were in debt to their grocers, etc., long after the show had left, and many had to be helped temporarily to keep them from suffering for want of food.

Our end of the city was drained of thousands of dollars, and West Duluth never before had so many needy families at last winter.

If this money had remained in circulation in the city the business conditions would have been more prosperous. While city governments cannot regulate how people shall spend their money, they need not put temptation to waste it in the way of those who will have to be taken care of if they yield to the temptation. Respectfully,

MRS. I. P. SWANGIE,
Superintendent flower, mission and charity department of W. C. T. U.

"THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER"

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a prominent New York daily, in the "Letters to the Editor" column of April 26, is a communication saying that when "The Star Spangled Banner" was played by an orchestra last Sunday in a theater, about half of the audience arose sheepishly and reluctantly. This correspondent is evidently not in sympathy with the custom of the citizens of a country rising when their national anthem is rendered. He asks: "Why should there be any reverential rising at all?," and that "rising to a thing made with hands is no better than the bowing down of the heathen in his blindness to wood and stone."

The answer is—that in all ages and among all people, the symbolic emblem of the national personification has been, is now, and ever shall be rendered reverential homage! In his own strain of Christian quotation, he should remember the command: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's!"

But he may not be a Christian; or even a Mohamedan, who yields even greater reverence to his national emblem! Therefore, we may recall to our sheepish, reluctant, and hesitating citizens the opinion of Sir Walter Scott of those who love not and honor not their native land:

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said;
This is my own, my native land?
If such there be,—go mark him well!
For him no storied numbers swell!
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim,
Despite those titles, power and pelf,
The wretch, concentered all in self,
Living, shall forfeit fair renown;
And doubly dying shall go down
To the vile mud from which he sprung
Without a knell, unwept, unhonored and unsung."

"SWAT THE FLY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

The enervating spring days will soon be upon us, likewise the pestiferous house fly.

During the winter blizzards one has almost forgotten what it means to feel a teasing fly crawling, crawling, persistently crawling on one's nose and disturbing that last half hour's nap before the alarm goes off, but it would be well to read a little ancient history on the subject and refresh one's memory.

The call to the woods will be felt by young and old alike, and the spirit of spring will soon be stirring in nature and in our pulses. The same hidden force will likewise start the tormenting, dangerous, death-dealing house fly from its hiding places, and send it forth to spread its filth wherever you allow it.

Be up and doing, good house wife, and look first of all to your cellar. Do away with all things where the flies could multiply; all decaying animal or vegetabe matter offers a fertile field for the larvae of the house fly. Get a new and sanitary garbage can and have your screens put in order and in place before the advent of the first fly.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. It has been conclusively proven that the house fly is a menace to the health of the community, and should be exterminated. Health boards have endeavored to educate the masses of our people upon the importance of systematically fighting the house fly, and of using every means, such as cleanliness, wire screens, etc., in protecting themselves from its ravages.

There is no family so poor it cannot afford to screen its home. Screens will turn away all flies as well as mosquitoes. The unscreened house, in other words, is a dangerous thing, and screens on windows and outside doors are an excellent investment from several points of view.

In every city of importance in the United States, an aggressive and active campaign against the house fly has originated and is being prosecuted.

Begin your war on the fly early and keep everlastingly at it as long as a fly remains. Gather information on this subject by reading and observation; abolish the fly's breeding places and refuse food and refuse so that flies cannot get at them and aid in the extermination of the disease carrying fly.

Duluth, May 5. W. D. B.

STREET RAILWAY SERVICE FOR WEST END.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Allow me a few words in regard to the so-called improved street railway service for the West end patrons.

In the first place, service for this portion of the city was never what it should have been. Who is it that supports the street railway? I believe it is the traveling public. Why, then, make a distinction, and in one section of the city pack human belngs on as though they were heading for slaughter destination, in place of trying to reach home after a hard day's work.

Secondly, why should hundreds of people suffer inconvenience for the comfort and what I deem selfishness of perhaps two or three West end business men?

Not satisfied with the main line passing their place of business, and also another main line passing their very home, they scheme to take away their neighbors' necessary car service, thus leaving two blocks on Third street street without any service and compelling the property owners and taxpayers of Piedmont avenue west and hillside to depend on one car line.

We were promised a ten-minute service. We have not received it. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, I, with dozens of other tired street car patrons, waited at Third avenue west from 6:05 until 6:30 for a Piedmont car. Meanwhile we counted five cars for Fifty-seventh and Thirty-ninth avenues on Third street. Is this justice? What we want is ten-minute service.

Thanking the editor for valuable space, sincerely, M. P.

The Lost Atlantic.

(The following lines by John Talman of St. Paul are apropos of the Titanic disaster. They were published in April, 1873, immediately following the tragedy which they commemorate.)

I.

'Tis night on the waters. The darkness hangs over the sea like a pall;
The moon is dissolved in the gloaming, the stars have gone out in the sky.
Hushed is the voice of the mermaid. Secure in her spar-lighted hall,
She lists to the voice of the billows and winds that are fitful and high.
But the gallant ship speeds on her passage and soon in the harbor will glide,
Unscathed from the fury of ocean and safe from the rage of the blast.
On, on, with the favoring breezes she fearlessly walks on the tide,
With the plash of her paddles time keeping with waves that uprear, fall, are passed.

II.

'Tis night on the waters. Now gentle, O babe! be thy slumbers and deep;
Thy visions contrast with the heavens that darkly arch over thee, child;
Nor chill nor sweeping down from the Northland nor storms shall forbid thee to sleep,
Nor danger approach thee, though booms the loud ocean in majesty wild.
Rest, man! in thy confident power, inwrapt in unbroken repose,
While ocean is bearing thee forth from thy land to a strange, distant shore.
Tranquilly slumber, sweet maid! nor thine eyelid of beauty unclose
On the sorrows and joys of a world that shall grieve thee and glad thee no more.

III.

'Tis night on the waters,—a night of ill omen, disaster and doom—
For Death is the ghastly commander that now on the vessel's bridge stands!
From the cryptic Unknown he advances, appareled in garb of the tomb.
And over the thousand still sleepers he stretches his skeleton hands!
Hark! 'mid the loud detonations of breakers and billows! * * * A shock * * *
The strong and majestical vessel goes down—the seas break o'er her now!
The proud but ill-fated Atlantic is dashed on the perilous rock,
For Death—the commander—the pilot—his station has taen at her prow.

IV.

Up through the night on the waters, and filling with horror the air,
The agonized wails of a thousand, that shrink from the sepulchre, rise.
Up from the waste of wide waters ascend both a curse and a prayer;
To each, in his triumph unsated, grim Death, the commander, replies:
"The crypts of the charnel are open. To me—the invincible king—Relentless, compassionless, deathless—to me be an offering made!" * * *
Up through the night on the waters the souls of five hundred take wing.
Down 'mid the seaweed and coral the clay of five hundred is laid.

V.

Up [illegible] the night on the waters is lifted the shadowy pall;
The ripples disport in the sunlight; the phantoms of midnight have flown.
The mermaid is plaintively chanting, adown in her spar-lighted hall.
A requiem, mournfully tender, for those she laments as her own.
Over the populous nations, that loved ones and lost ones bewail,
A mantle of sorrow is resting like night on a desolate heath;
O, the day was portentous and sad that so many doomed hundreds set sail
On the strong yet ill-fated Atlantic, whose captain and pilot was Death!

Well Meaning Clumsiness.

New York Globe: In this country English comments on Mr. Taft's "only an adjunct" letter will be received with regret and with more or less mortification, but without surprise. It was inevitable that the London Mail, for example, should print such a headline as "The Pilot Against Canada: Amazing Revelations," and should have a leader called "Mr. Taft's Plot Against Canada."

These British words are partly justified and partly not. It was amazing that Mr. Taft should write as he did to Mr. Roosevelt. His publication of his own amazing letter was more amazing still. But there was no plot against Canada. Not even in the most remote fastness of Mr. Taft's mind was there anything that can truthfully be called a plot.

This statement sounds queer. Yet it is accurate. Mr. Taft is in some respects a peculiar man. Like everybody else he has his blind sides. He did not realize, when he wrote the letter to Mr. Roosevelt, that there was anything disingenuous or tricky in his conduct. He did not realize that the president of the United States is supposed to be above saying publicly that he thinks a certain arrangement will benefit another country, while at the same time saying in private that this same country, if it concurs in the arrangement, will become "only an adjunct" of the United States.

Mr. Taft's publication of his own letter shows how thoroughly he failed to realize these obvious things. His course has not been quite straight, yet there is something disarming about the innocence with which he has revealed his own lack of straightness.

No, Mr. Taft is not a plotter. He is merely a man some of whose blind sides are very blind.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••H. S. Eaton, one of the heavy stockholders in the Duluth Hardware company, has bought Frank G. Stevens' entire interest, paying between $9,000 and $10,000. This gives Mr. Eaton the controlling interest in the concern, and Mr. Stevens severs his connection with the company.

•••The Republican state convention yesterday afternoon elected Stanford Newel of St. Paul, John S. Pillsbury of Minneapolis, Frank B. Daugherty of Duluth and Frank A. Day of Fairmont to be delegates to the national convention. Charles A. Towne nominated Daugherty in an eloquent speech, which was heartily applauded. Robert G. Evans was indorsed for national committeeman. On motion of Mr. Evans, seconded by Governor Merriam, it was declared the sense of the convention that Senator Cushman W. Davis should be elected to succeed himself in the senate.

•••Duluth cyclers will hold their first annual club race on May 30 in the afternoon after the close of the Memorial day parade and exercises. The meet will be under the auspices of the Duluth Cycle club, which now has thirty-eight active members. Its officers are: President, Tite Duncan; vice president, John Green; secretary and treasurer, John Moore; captain, Joseph Dodge; first lieutenant, Charles Clawson; second lieutenant, Charles Davis.

•••The Duluth, Mississippi & Northern Railway company has filed articles of incorporation with the register of deeds. The capitals is $25,000 and the incorporators are: A. W. Wright of Alma, Mich., and C. W. Wells, F. C. Stone, C. H. Davis and W. T. Knowlton of Saginaw, Mich. The company will build a line from the westerly end of the Mesaba range to a conection with the Duluth, Winnipeg at Swan river.

•••Newton De Forest of St. Paul is visiting relatives at West Duluth.

•••Miss Isabelle Gardner, who has been a guest of the Misses Noyes at West Duluth for the past week, returned to her home at St. Cloud yesterday.

•••President W. C. White of the school board has resigned, because he desires to spend most of this summer at his cottage at Deerwood.

•••Articles of incorporation of the Longshoremen's union of West Duluth have been filed by Joseph Perry, Philip Bowcast and Peter Bement.

•••Everett Merritt and Miss Laura White were married at the Oneota Methodist church on the evening of May 4, Rev. L. J. Merritt officiating.

•••The Duluth Loan, Deposit & Trust company has been incorporated with a capital of $500,000 by George C. Bunten, Terre Haute, Ind.; F. L. Janeway, New York; N. J. Upham, H. A. Wing and others of Duluth. N. J. Upham & Co. will turn all their business, except insurance, to the new company. F. J. Pulford has resigned the position of cashier of a New York bank and will be cashier and treasurer of the company, which will begin business about June 1.

MINNESOTA AND PRESIDENCY.

A Recommendation.

St. Peter Herald: Governor Wilson is no politician, which is another thing that commends him to right-thinking Americans.

Perhaps—

Princeton Union: "Mother" Jones, who flayed corporations, certain religious workers, boy scouts and society women in her addresses at Duluth, characterized Theodore Roosevelt as a "hot-air monkey chaser." From present indications we should conclude that the ex-president is chasing a rainbow.

People Have a Weapon.

Albert Lea Tribune: While the people of Minnesota have been deprived of expressing their choice directly for the man they would like to see nominated for the Republican candidate for the presidency, thanks to Ed Smith's well-oiled machine, there is one way for them to overcome this slap in the face, and this is to elect delegates at the caucus who will carry out their wishes, instead of that of the machine. This is not as easily done as through the direct vote, but if the people take the matter up right, it can be done.

Marked By His Friends.

Austin Transcript: If nothing else would disgust Republicans of Minnesota with President Taft's renomination, certainly the character of the discarded politicians who are running his campaign would. His rejection will be considerably due to the men supporting him whom the people despise.

Another Perhaps—

Hibbing Tribune: This much even his enemies will have to grant to Theodore Roosevelt. Failure in November was a generally accepted belief for the G. O. P., before he threw his hat into the ring; now success is only a matter of his nomination.

Repudiation Too Late.

Northfield News: President Taft's friends have announced that he is about to repudiate Lorimer. He may get around to cutting loose from Ed Smith in this state a fortnight after the state convention is held—but he can't make the people believe that Said Smooth and Smiling Smith hasn't managed his Minnesota campaign.

A Play on Words.

Crookston Times: At the Taft meeting at Boston last evening some one in the gallery called out, "He's a liar," referring to statements Roosevelt had made. Taft immediately said, "that word is not in my vocabulary," and then proceeded to make the colonel out a liar, to the best of his ability. Great stuff, this presidential campaigning. The only thing that approaches it in violence is a student's strike in Russia.

The Real Wreckers.

Aitkin Age: "Theodore Roosevelt is deliberately trying to wreck the Republican party," cry the Taft newspapers. Oh, pitfle! The same crowd that gave congress to the Democrats by trying to ram Cannon, Aldrich, Tawney and Taft down the throats of the voter, are now trying to elect a Democratic president by forcing the nomination of a man they know the people will not vote for at the polls. They are the ones who are wrecking the Republican party.

Hardly Fair to Teddy.

Collier's: Col. Roosevelt likes work. It would be a pity to make him run against a combination of Clark and Hearst. That would be too much like a race between our old family horse Ned and Lou Dillon, present trotting champion of the world. The speaker has a pleasant personality. He is a good mixer. He is liked by the people and very much liked by the politicians. Intellectually, however, and in his standards, he is a lightweight, and could never stand a campaign against the colonel. It was a clever move for the Plunderhund to hit upon a man on whom Mr. Bryan had put his approval, who was thick with Hearst, who has the get-up of the plain people, and yet who will certainly stand without hitching. It was a smooth trick, but the election is not until November. If Wilson were nominated in June, his strength would increase up to the election, because he has principles, intellect and knowledge. He would take a large part of the reflecting independent vote; and what chance have the Democrats, against Roosevelt or Hughes, without the independent vote?

The Fool Who Tears Down the Flag.

Chicago Daily Socialist: According to press dispatches members of the Industrial Workers of the World stormed the platform at the Socialist May day celebration in New York and tore down the American flag from among the decorations.

It is reported that the Socialists took the flag away from the rioters and did their best to stop the absurd proceeding.

We Socialists are not moved by that sentiment about the American flag which has no foundation in reason. We are not jingoes. Neither are we going to so far forget ourselves as to believe that by tearing down an American flag we can right any wrongs that may be committed in its name by the capitalist class of this country.

The man who tears down the American flag in a Socialist or any other meeting is simply a fool. If it is jingoism to be continually wrapping one's self in the American flag and making the flag-worship a substitute for intelligent devotion to the principles of liberty, it is equally jingoistic to attempt to right wrongs by tearing down the American flag.

The Socialist movement is supposed to be an intelligent one. Its whole progress is based on education. Its membership is supposed to know the causes that produce the present economic system and the causes that are making for a change, and they are expected to lend intelligent aid to the working out of those causes into effect.

Tearing down the American flag or hysterically waving the red flag of the working class is not any sign of intelligence. It is not helping to gain liberty. It is only playing into the hands of the enemy.

It is good to see that even the non-Socialist press of the country has distinguished in this instance between the Socialists and the demonstrating fanatics of the Society of the Constant Limelight.

The Socialist party does not need to protest that it loves the American flag. It is not a society for the preservation or destruction of flags. It is an organization to achieve political conquest for the benefit of the working class.

Flags and symbols are but an incident to its program, and while we shall carry our colors when the occasion requires we shall not forget that it is more important to hand a workingman a Socialist leaflet or paper than it is to wave a red flag in front of him, and that it is a ridiculous proceeding to snatch an American flag out of his hands just because it has been misused by the capitalist class.

Handsome and Honorable.

New York Evening Post (anti-Roosevelt): It would be unfair to question Mr. Roosevelt's motives in announcing, as he did so promptly yesterday, that he did not want the eight delegates-at-large of Massachusetts. Elected by a ballot mistake, and in opposition to the clearly expressed preference of the majority, he declares that they ought to vote in the convention for Mr. Taft, and that he will strongly urge them to do so. This is one of those square and manly actions in political life which everybody must admire, and which should not be meanly criticized. It is in line with the early tradition about the character of the ideal Roosevelt, which he has unfortunately done so much since to shatter. For our part, we give his course in this business ungrudging praise, and shall not join with those who are intimating that it was all a trick, designed in the first place to affect public opinion and then to make sure of twenty or thirty delegates in Oregon and Illinois in return for the eight handed to Taft in Massachusetts. We prefer to regard it as simply one of those instant and instinctive decisions by Roosevelt, at once expressing his sense of the right thing to do and hitting the sentiment of the people between wind and water, for which he has always been noted. That it was adroit politics does not alter the fact that it was handsome and honorable.

Ain't You Glad You're Livin'?

Ain't it splendid to be livin', 'long about this time o' year,
With the green things peepin' upward and the mornings crisp and clear;
With the children's cheeks a-glowin' and the future lookin' bright,
And the gladdened roosters crowin' just for fun with all their might?

Ain't it cheerful, ain't it splendid, to get out and whiff the air
When the winter time is ended and there's beauty everywhere,
When the buds are busy swellin' and the colts kick up their heels
And the lambs quit friskin' hardly long enough to get their meals?

Ain't it fine to hear the cackle of the hen whose heart is light,
And to have the will to tackle any job there is in sight?
Ain't it fine to see things growin' just the way they used to grow,
And to feel the warm wind blowin' just the way it used to blow?

Ain't it good to start the furrow and to smell the new plowed earth,
And to hear the blackbirds chatter, huntin' worms for all they're worth?
Ain't it good to hear the ringin' of the distant dinner bell,
And to hear the robin singin' just to show all is well?

Ain't it lucky to be livin' when the blossoms brighten things,
And you're waitin' for the summer with gladness that it brings?
Ain't it good to see the gleamin' dandelions in the lane;
Don't it kind of start you dreamin' the old boyhood dreams again?

Woman's Realm

A union of elementary Sunday school workers of Duluth has been formed among the teachers of the elementary classes in Sunday schools from all parts of the city for the purpose of perfecting the work among the children from the cradle roll class to the "teen" age.

The women interested in this work expect by co-operation to work out plans which will build up and strengthen the Sunday school work and by which one may benefit from the experience and plans of another that the highest efficiency in the work may be reached.

Meetings will be held from time to time and a course in the teaching work planned which will be systematically studied.

Mrs. Willis Eaton of Lakeside is the president of this new organization and vice presidents from the various districts have been chosen as follows: Mrs. A. L. Merritt, West Duluth; Miss Myrtle Craig, West end; Mrs. A. G. Schulze, central, and Mrs. J. B. Haynes, East end.

Miss Maude Sherwin is the secretary and treasurer.

Committees will be formed for the arrangement of the outline of work and reports will be made at the next regular meeting.

A standard of elementary division work has been adopted by the Minnesota Sunday School association and is issued with the desire to help accomplish more work in the various schools and to give a definite standard on which to work. Suggestions for organization, equipment, graded instruction and the training of the workers are given by the state association from which much literature, which would be of value, can be obtained.

PRIVILEGE CONCERT.

Entertainment Will Be Given for Y. W. C. A. Members.

One of the most interesting events of this week will be the concert to be given tomorrow evening at the Young Woman's Christian association. This is the second of the series of "membership privilege" concerts and all members of the association are cordially invited, as well as to the men and women friends of the members not belonging. Membership tickets must be presented at the door. Non members and men who are interested will also be admitted upon the payment of a nominal charge at the door.

A varied program of exceptional merit will be given by some of the best known talent of the city, children as well as other artists having numbers which should be big attractions.

Sigurd Erdtman, the young tenor possessing a voice which has been highly praised by eminent singers will have three numbers on the program singing a Swedish song "Mit Hearto Og Mil Lyre" and Love's Lyre in English and "The Marsellaise" in French. Mr. Erdtman has been suffering from a severe cold but his voice is improved so that he will be able to appear.

An additional number which will also be especially good, will be the appearance of the Ketcham mandolin trio whose playing has been enthusiastically received on previous programs.

Miss Emily Smith violinist and Mrs. Eva Sawyer Parker reader of dialect numbers will both give two numbers and several children's numbers will vary the program.

Little Miss Elizabeth Magie and Master Donald Wells in a Dutch costume dance and Master John Magie in his clever Russian costume dance all of whom have appeared several times in public, will give their numbers under the direction of Prof. Leo and Little Miss Helen McCormack will sing a popular song number in which she is charming.

Miss Theresa Lynn and Miss Genevieve Murphy will play the accompaniments.

FORMER DULUTHIAN.

Miss Callie Pope Appearing With "The Newlyweds."

Miss Callie Pope, who as Miss Callie VanVleit has been playing the part of the nurse with "The Newlyweds" company is the daughter of F. T. Pope who was the superintendent of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad in 1889 and 1890 and who was very well known in Duluth. Miss Pope's mother, Mrs. T. W. Wardrop of Chicago has been traveling with her and today they were the guests of Mrs. A. M. Hickox, 1829½ East Superior street. Miss Pope will spend the summer in Chicago with her mother leaving for New York in August to commence work with another company.

Surprise Directors.

The T. F. C. club of the Young Women's Christian association gave a surprise banquet Saturday evening at the association building in honor of the directors, Mrs. T. L. Chapman and Mrs. Rene Huge. Miss Edith Heller, president of the club, presided as toastmistress and Miss Edith Jackson responded with an interesting toast. Mr. Hugo and Mrs. Chapman gave short talks and Miss Heller spoke of the work of the club and its plans.

The table was prettily decorated with blue and gold, the club colors, and the committee in charge of the spread consisted of Misses Ellen Jackson, Ida Ness, Helen Goldman, Minnie Leslie, Sylvia Walker, Minnie Norskle, Vivian Guyette, Mabel Stevens, Beasie Wylie, Marie Gillenette and Lottie Azine.

Stewart-Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stewart announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred Mae, to Lester Herbert Clark of this city. The wedding will take place in June.

Garfield Circle.

The regular meeting of Garfield Circle, No. 4 Ladies of the G. A. R. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Memorial hall of the courthouse. A large attendance is desired as returns will be at this time on the April sale.

THE EVENING STORY

THE MADMAN

By W. G. T.

"You'd like the carriage kept for yourselves, sir?" said the guard, with all the obsequiousness due to first-class passengers, plus that due to suppostitiously newly married couples.

"No," said Reginald.

"Yes, please," said Lina.

"All right, m'm. I don't go any further than Derby, but I'll speak to the guard of the express through to London there." A shilling changed hands. They steamed out of the station into the tunnel between Matlock bridge and Cromford, Lina turning a last look upon the Swiss like village, lying in its nest of hillside. Between Matlock and Derby they only stopped at Amergate. No words were spoken. Reginald began presently to write something on a scrap of paper. Lina, with her traveling bag open and her Algerian knife handy, after a glance at the time table, leaned back in her seat and looked at him. As they left Derby for the three hours' run to London, she spoke.

"Do you know why I wanted to have this carriage kept to ourselves?"

"No."

"Becuase I wanted to have our last talk together."

"What about?"

"What has happened, and what is going to happen."

"What has happened?"

"Yes. Let me remind you. You met me in May. We were engaged to be married May 30. Married Aug. 9. Came to Matlock on the same day (she shivered.) "Within two days of our marriage I found that you drank too much. Within a week you began to ill treat me. Not with evil words but with silence—not with blows, but with neglect. On Sept. 1 you made your first attempt upon my life."

"What?"

"You tried to drown me where the woman committed suicide in the Via Gellis."

"It's a lie. I was only fooling with you."

"That's a lie. You were trying to kill me. You failed. A day later you threw me from the top of the Tor."

"You are mad. You fell over—flung yourself over, I believe."

"Small wonder if I had. But you know that it was you that flung me over. Last night when Nurse Ursula—"

"Ursula?"

"Was away you came to my room."

"By heaven! You were awake, then?"

"And put poison in my medicine."

"You are a deep one." He leaned back and looked at her admiringly. "But you can't prove it. The medicine was thrown away. She told me so."

"It was not. It's here." She took the bottle from her traveling bag and handed it to him. He looked at it curiously, took out the cork and sniffed like an animal at its contents. "What was your object in all this?"

"I wanted to kill you."

"Why? For my money? You might have had that for the asking had you been what I thought you were. You have managed clumsily. See!" She showed him the will she had made in his favor, and tore it to pieces before she threw it out of the window. There was a long silence.

"I suppose you'll give me up to the police?"

"No. What's gained by that! All I want is that for the future we are apart. When we reach London, you go your way, I mine. From the moment that the train stops all is over."

"And you won't give me up?"

"Yes, I give you up, but not to the police.

"Ah, but there was something else. It wasn't merely the getting your money—not merely, that last time, the thought of Ursula. But when I was with you every now and again the feeling came over me that I must kill, kill, kill. The first time I saw you; the first time I spoke to you; that evening when you said you'd marry me; that night we were married, those were the worest times. Only, then, I fought the queer feeling down because in a way I loved you. But later on, when I'd got all the love I could out of you then the feeling grew irresistible. It was always with me night and day. More than once that three weeks I hung over you, hungering to kill you. Then came the Via Gellia time, and the planning and longing that ended in the Tor business. Then the planning and longing to poison you. Every time when this fit was on me I seemed to lose all my humanity and become a brute.

"Nothing but longing to kill you, and cunningly thinking of the best way to do it. I used to feel as if my voice were a growl or snarl, my fingers claws, my whole body that of some hungry, implacable beast of prey. Even now the feeling is on me. Reversion to the ancestral type, I suppose you and your scientific people would call it. Maybe. I feel as if centuries of wild animalism were throbbing me. Oh, I'm not going to throw you out of the carriage. You've your fine Algerian dagger there; can see your fingers closing on its handle. I should like to see you spinning out there from the train, and whirled into a beaten mass of blood and pulp as you fell. No. And you said you'd not give me up. Well, I'm in the killing mood again. The animal in me is strong. One life is as good as another. See!"

And with that, ere she dreamed what he was about, he had drunk the medicine that he had poisoned for her. As the train rushed on, and he lay down beside her, an instinct of self-preservation came over her. Quite methodically, she took the bottle from his hand and threw it out of the window. They were passing through a desolate country, and the thing was shattered into a thousand fragments. Then she mechanically felt in his breast pocket. There was a small phial in it labeled "Hydrocyanic Acid." It was half full. She clapsed the fingers of his right hand round it as he lay huddled up, and crooked the arm a little. Then she noticed on the floor of the carriage a piece of paper. "It is my intention to commit suicide by taking prussic acid in the train between Derby and London. No one is to be blamed but myself. My wife knows nothing of my intention." Her face softened as she looked at the dead man, then she pulled the alarm cord and the train stopped. "My husband has committed suicide," she said quietly, as the guard looked into the carriage.

STREET CARS NOT DELIVERY CARTS

The Duluth Street Railway company will soon put into effect a rule that only packages which may be carried in the lap may be carried on street cars.

The rules of the company have been lax and many people have taken advantage of them. Trunks, large boxes, long boards, stove pipes and other articles have been taken on the cars and stacked up on the rear platform. The company has received many complaints from patrons.

The new rule will allow the carrying of suitcases, traveling bags, folding baby carriages and packages which may be taken into the car without taking up too much space, but will put a ban on articles which should be delivered by some other means.

FORECASTER IS HOPEFUL

The normal rainfall in Duluth for the first five days of May is .5 inch.

For the first five days of May, 1912, 2.59 inches of rain fell, the compilation being up to 7 o'clock this morning.

With the rain, Duluth has been furnished with a touch of almost every disagreeable weather condition in the weather man's supply. Fog and mist have been almost a daily portion. The temperature has dropped to 32 deg. nearly every night and hasn't gone far above that during the day. The northeast wind hit up a boisterous clip the latter part of last week, doing forty-eight miles an hour for a maximum Saturday afternoon. Little rain fell yesterday, but the day was cold, windy and uncomfortable.

H. W. Richardson, local forecaster of the United States weather bureau, says that conditions favor general fair and warmer weather tonight and tomorrow.

The general weather forecast for the week, issued at Washington, indicates more rain and cool weather in the Northwestern states Wednesday and Thursday.

ADSON DOING WELL IN BITTER ROOT.

Mart Adson, formerly general passenger agent for the South Shore railroad, is becoming quite a fruit farmer in the Bitter Root valley, Montana, according to J. T. Schusler, a St. Paul merchant, also interested in Bitter Root lands, who was in Duluth Sunday.

"Yes, Mr. Adson seems to be getting along finely," declared Mr. Schusler at the Spalding. "I saw him there recently and he was busy with his spring work. He lives at Hamilton, the principal town, and drives daily to and from his farm to look after the work. He has a fine lot of trees and will soon be selling fruit. There are a number of Minnesota people interested in the valley and all seem to like it. I have about 200 acres and expect to buy more, if I can."

ARE WORKING UNDER CONTRACT

No sympathetic strike of freight handlers can affect Duluth, according to local labor leaders.

The leaders in the Chicago strike threaten to call a sympathetic strike of the union men in other cities if their demands are not compiled with.

All union freight handlers in Minnesota are working under contract, and no sympathetic strike is possible. The headquarters of the union is in St. Paul, and it has a contract with every railroad running into the Twin Cities.

HANGS SELF WITH STRIP OFF SHEET

Chicago, May. 6.—Julius Christianson, 60, who was found guilty of murder and sentenced to fourteen years in the state penitentiary, committed suicide today by hanging himself from a bar in his cell with strips torn from a bed sheet. He was convicted last week of the murder of Mrs. Irene Whtson, his landlady, last December, and was to have been taken to Joliet tomorrow.

MANY ATTACK LABOR MEASURE

Washington, May 6.—Opponents of the workmen's compensation bill resumed their bombardment of that measure in the senate today. A large number of protests from railroad organizations were presented by Senators Smith of Georgia, Culberson of Texas, Myers of Montana and others. It was evident that they were prepared to continue the fight until 4 o'clock, the time fixed for voting on the bill.

PLAN CHANGES IN OCEAN TRAVEL

Berlin, May 6.—The maritime conference called on Emperor William's initiative in consequence of the Titanic disaster was opened today at the department of the interior.

A large gathering of department officials, representatives of the trans-Atlantic shipping companies, shipbuilders, marine associations, etc., is present, and questions relating to life-saving equipment, ocean routes, wireless telegraphy, bulkheads and speed are to be considered.

TURNS UPON TAFT AGAIN

Roosevelt Says President Knowingly Made False Statements.

Accuses Him of "Mean" Wrong-Doing to Senator Lorimer.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 6.—In a statement issued here, in reply to President Taft's speech in Baltimore, Saturday night, Col. Roosevelt asserts that Mr. Taft knew he was making an untrue statement when he said that the former president expressed the opinion that the anti-trust law ought to be repealed. He also again contradicts the president in regard to the Harvester trust case, saying that a cabinet meeting and in private conversation with him, Mr. Taft "repeatedly and emphatically approved the course actually taken."

Col. Roosevelt had read President Taft's Baltimore speech carefully and he prepared his reply with equal care, writing it out with a pencil instead of dictating it to his secretary. He would make no further statement.

"Dangerous" vs. "Useless."

The colonel said he expected to remain in Oyster Bay for a week before starting on his Ohio campaign. The colonel's statement, in part follows:

"With Mr. Taft's personal opinion about me, I have no concern beyond pointing out the sufficiently obvious fact that he never discovered that I was dangerous to the people until I had been obliged to come to the conclusion that he was useless to the people. But his specific statements as to the trust, the crookedness in selecting delegates and the Lorimer incident I shall once again answer, although I have already answered them specifically in Massachusetts, and although Mr. Taft's repetition of them is now incompatible with sincerity of purpose or conviction on his part.

Approved Tennessee Deal.

"Mr. Taft knew all the facts about the Harvester trust decision and he was present at a cabinet meeting where they were discussed and at that cabinet meeting and also in private conversation with me, he repeatedly and emphatically approved the course actually taken, as he repeatedly and emphatically approved the course taken as regards the Tennessee Coal & Iron company. He was absent from the country when Mr. Smith was reporting to me and consulting with Mr. Bonaparte, but after his return in January, the matter came up again and it appeared that Mr. Bonaparte had not understood that my judgment was that the course advocated by Mr. Smith was the proper one to follow.

Impossible to Forget.

"Accordingly the matter was gone over at length in the cabinet meeting. Mr. Boneparte was the only member who was inclined to believe that the suit should be continued. Mr. Taft emphatically took the opposite ground, and it is utterly impossible that he should now have forgotten that he did thus, as a member of my cabinet, take the opposite ground.

"Of course, as a member of my cabinet, whom at that time I was supporting for the presidency, he knew and could not avoid knowing everything of any importance that went on.

"I saw Mr. Perkins in this matter, precisely as I saw Mr. Morgan at the time of beginning the Northern Securities suit, and as I saw representatives of the Standard Oil trust again and again at the time of beginning the Standard Oil suit, just as in the case of every large suit I saw any party interested who asked to appear before me. I believed then and I believe now that the course urged by Mr. Smith was the only one to take.

The Anti-Trust Law.

"Mr. Taft says I have changed my mind about the anti-trust law. He well knows that the position I take now is precisely the position I took again and again in speeches and in messages to congress when I was president. He was then in my cabinet and repeatedly expressed his approval of what I thus said.

"Mr. Taft says that I have said that the anti-trust law ought to be repealed. Mr. Taft well knows that this is not true.

"Mr. Taft says that I criticize him because he prosecuted the Standard Oil and Tobacco companies to the supreme court and got decisions there. On the contrary, Mr. Taft knows well that I criticized him, not for having thus continued the prosecution of the suits that I had begun, but that after he had gotten these decisions, he then permitted the department of justice so to shape matters that the result was a complete nullification of all the good results of his suit.

"His conduct in this respect is quite incompatible with any sincere purpose really to enforce the anti-trust law.

Wall Street's Opinions.

"Evidently Wall Street has made up its mind that Mr. Taft's prosecutions are fake prosecutions, whereas the bitter hostility of Wall Street to me shows how lively is its memory of the fact that my prosecutions were really prosecutions and hurt the persons prosecuted."

Col. Roosevelt refers to the pending investigation of Judge Archbald of the commerce court, and asserts that the Judge was appointed to placate a Pennsylvania politician, although the appointee's alleged unfitness for office had already been called to President Taft's attention. The statement continues:

"In Kentucky and Indiana, in New York city and elsewhere, Mr. Taft knows well that the delegates elected for him represent bare-faced frauds. He stands guilty of conniving at and condonation of the fraud; he stands guilty of approving and encouraging fraud which deprives the people of their right to express their will as to who shall be nominated.

Using Lorimer.

"As the Illinois primaries approached Mr. Taft's opposition vanished. Almost all of Mr. Taft's followers in the senate supported Mr. Lorimer. Mr. Lorimer was the leading Taft worker in Illinois.

"Now, it was wrong for Mr. Taft to keep silence about and therefore really to help Mr. Lorimer, as long as Mr. Lorimer could be of use to Mr. Taft, but it was not merely wrong, it was wrong in a peculiarly mean way, after having thus endeavored to use him while he might help Mr. Taft, to turn around and for the first time openly condemn him when the chance for using him had vanished."

SOME NEEDS OF DULUTH

Pastor Points Out Three Reforms That Are Necessary.

Better Housing Laws, Penal Farm and an Industrial Home.

"Some Crying Needs of Duluth" was the subject of a sermon preached by Rev. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church, yesterday. "In olden days the House of God towered above all human dwellings. It alone was dedicated to divine service," he said. "We today still revere the House of Worship, but believe that every house ought to be a temple of God. We believe that every home in which boys and girls are brought up in the love of truth and of right is a house of God. But we also see, that a true home can not be in every place, that a true home must be truly housed.

"In the dirty hovel a child will hardly grow to clean manhood; in the dark and crowded tenement the girl will rarely bloom into large and beautiful womanhood. The house we live in determines to no small degree what men and women we are. Out of dirt and filth nothing can come but disease and death and vice. Even the matter of intemperance is closely connected with the dismal housing conditions of our cities and even towns and villages. For while on the one hand the vice of intemperance will land a family finally in a hovel or slum, on the other hand men who by other untoward circumstances are brought to poverty and are forced into the slum, will in despair often turn to drink. Certainly not any one social evil can be successfully treated without considering others, and among the most serious ones today is the proper housing of the poor. Pure air and sunshine and pure water are the prime conditions of life, and these have become strange words in the ears of people, who are forced to live crowded together in unwholesome places as pigs in a sty. They will lose their self-respect as they lose the respect of others, and the lack of all privacy will naturally breed immorality. So absolutely certain is this, that no man in his reason would expect anything like moral standards in a child which has been born and bred in the filth of a slum.

"A. F. Bacon, an authority in this matter says: 'The most pitiful victim of modern city life is not the slum child who dies, but the slum child who lives. Every time a baby dies the nation loses a prospective citizen, but in every slum child who lives the nation has a probable consumptive and a possible criminal.' And the same authority declares, 'No housing evils are necessary; none need be tolerated. Where they exist they are always a reflection upon the intelligence and right mindedness and moral tone of the community.'

Test of Intelligence.

"We here in Duluth have arrived at the time when our intelligence and moral tone will be tested. We have on hand a tremendous housing problem. Not only have we slums and hovels which would disgrace even New York, but in the better parts of the city apartments which command a high rent are insanitary and would be condemned in any city with proper building laws. And if congestion and darkness, if not filth are in our better residence streets, what may we expect in those parts of the city where the poorer people have to live? We need not wonder that typhoid fever is ever prevalent with us and that consumption abounds; we need also not wonder that immorality and drunkenness and all sorts of vice are flourishing in our community. I am glad to know that a reliable committee is at work drafting a code of housing laws with proper regard to sanitation, and as this matter is concerning the welfare of the entire community, the entire community ought to give its moral support to these ordinances, so that they will be passed by our city council.

Another crying need of Duluth is the establishment in one form or another of the so-called penal farm, where not hardened criminals but first offenders and drunkards may be sent to serve their time in useful work for their own benefit and that of their families and of the community. The matter is so absolutely simple and appeals so to our humanity and our common sense, that we indeed wonder why the establishment of such an institution should conflict with the laws of the state. It is quite plain that any man whom society commits to confinement has the moral right to demand back from society at least as much manhood and ability for self-support as he had when he was taken to prison. Under our present system we steal our brother's vitality in prison, undermine what little manhood he might still have, and then send forth the poor fellow with all sorts of handicaps to make good. Today we are awakening to the duty we owe our weaker brethren; we see that we should send them forth from the penal institution better fitted for life and life's problems. This matter has been so ably and amply discussed by our papers in their editorial columns that it hardly needs this word from the pulpit except by the way of indorsement and encouragement. Let us by all means give our offending brethren a chance to grow to better manhood by useful, healthful labor, which will contribute to their own support and to such as are dependent upon them, and when they come forth from the farm into the wider field of human activity, let us forget that they have been the wards of the community.

Home for Girls.

"A third matter which appeals to us is that of a Home for Wayward Girls. Here again the idea of reform and proper preparation for a useful life should be the supreme end in view. We may be very glad that this matter has been taken in hand by some of our noble men and women, as I understand by the Prisoner's Aid society. Perhaps it would have been better if this project had been more fully discussed in some general public meeting, and then very likely the weak point in this eminently worthy undertaking would have been pointed out. The weak point, and a most important one, is the location of this institution. To place this detention home in the center of our city opposite our high school is, of course, entirely out of question and should not be considered for a minute. I should much more readily advocate the putting of the smallpox hospital in such a place. I am inclined to believe that the advocates of the scheme saw this as fully as any of us, but desirous to make a beginning, considered Washington school as a temporary makeshift which would lead to a home in a more favorable locality in the near future. Yet I cannot but think that it is better to start right. Certainly, money enough might be raised to build a smaller home in the outskirts of the city, where the girls in proper seclusion might be trained for a more useful life. Better still it would be to have several small cottages, in order that the girls might be properly separated according to age and character of offense, so that the influence of the training might not be counteracted by unfavorable comradship fostered in the home. Above all, the girls should have that outdoor life and outdoor work that it would be impossible to give them in the city. Let us start right in this matter, but let us be grateful to those who set the ball rolling: let us give them our support."

WEATHER FOR THE WEEK

Washington, May 6.—Temperatures slightly below the seasonal average will prevail throughout the country during the coming week and will be accompanied by a normal amount of rainfall, according to the bulletin of the weather bureau.

"A disturbance that now covers the Western districts," the bulletin continues, "will move slowly eastward and reach the Atlantic states about Thursday; it will be attended by local rains and thunder storms the first part of the week in the great Central valleys and the Eastern and Southern states. Considerably cooler weather will appear in the Northwestern states Wednesday and Thursday."

PERSONAL NOTE—
"I regard this as one of the most forceful and most reasonable tire arguments I have ever read, and I believe motorists generally will agree with me.—J. D. ANDERSON."

If you own an auto by all means read this tire ad.

"Tire-by Satisfied"

Tire prices do not determine tire values.

But actual tire value is the only thing that can determine actual tire cost.

First costs may be alluring (and they will influence a certain number of buyers) but experienced motorists know that last costs are the real costs, and that it is far safer to buy the greatest possible tire value than to take advantage of the lowest possible first cost.

The motorist who does not buy his tires on the service-cost basis is buying on the wrong basis—and his tire bills are the best proof of it.

United States Tires lay no claim to being the cheapest tires to buy. They are not.

Several other makes may claim this distinction, but the manufacturers of United States Tires believe that a rapidly increasing number of tire buyers will elect to pay a trifle more for tires made as only these tires are made rather than pay a trifle less for tires made by the single-factory, single-value method.

It would be easily possible to build United States Tires by the customary method—the method formerly employed (a year and a half ago), in building the individual brands of United States Tires.

These individual brands—made as well as it was possible to make them with but one factory's experience and facilities to draw upon—easily competed in service-quality with any other tires in the world made in the same way.

☛ That was under the single-factory method of building—the method still employed by the manufacturers of every other tire made except United States Tires.

Today United States Tires stand absolutely alone in the matter of combined skill in manufacturing.

They combine in one tire the strongest features of four world-famous brands, and are as near tire-perfect in strength, size and general design as four immense factory organizations, working as a unit, can make them.

Think that over—and get its full meaning to the motorist who is interested only in last costs.

Think what it means in actual mileage economy to have four corps of expert tire builders—each of which formerly made a tire easily the equal of any other single-factory tire—putting into United States Tires all the skill and all the experience and all the secret processes known to the four organizations.

Nothing like it has ever before been attempted in tire making.

Possibly it will help you to get a more definite idea of the immense importance to you of this four-factory method if you ask yourself this question:

United States Tires are Predominant by virtue of four-fold strength

If four of the largest and best-known tire companies now manufacturing single-handed should undertake to build a single brand of tire that would be the composite of all the best features and the most advanced methods known to these four companies, would the product be of a better grade than would be possible to any one of the companies working alone?

Most emphatically, YES!

And would the motorist be warranted in paying a slightly higher price for such combined-skill tires than for the single-factory kind?

Most emphatically, YES!

To ask such questions is to answer them in the same breath.

So long as four heads are better than one, four organizations of tire specialists, working together, can give the motorist a longer-lived, less-troublesome, more economical tire than any single organization can possibly give him.

And it is this decreased mileage cost—the distinct saving in the season's tire expense—which it is possible to build into tires made as only United States Tires are made, that is the determining factor in arriving at actual tire cost.

When the season's touring is over and the bills for tires and tire repairing are all paid it will be an easy matter for the users of United States Tires to understand why we are laying all our emphasis upon four-fold strength rather than upon attractive pricing.

In buying four-factory-tested United States Tires you are protecting yourself against excessive end-of-the-season tire bills as only tires of four-fold strength can protect you.

was a vote against those who managed his campaign, because they had been the distributors of patronage, many of whom were distributors of both state and national favors.

In the city of Chicago, 50,000 Republicans who had a right to vote at the primary did not cast a ballot. The vote for Taft in the city of Chicago clearly shows that any organization and vote of the ordinary "business men" of the city would have beaten Roosevelt in Chicago, but, as usual, the "business man" condemns corruption in politics but never steps from business long enough to remedy it. The vote for Roosevelt was from the country.

The Clark Vote.

The vote for Clark was a vote of geography. Clark is from Missouri. It borders Illinois, and particularly the Democratic counties of Illinois. Clark has spoken in many of these counties many times in the last twenty years. The campaign for him was made by James Hamilton Lewis, the candidate for the United States senate. And while not decrying the efforts of Col. Lewis nor seeking to minimize them, as everyone in the Middle West concedes his power as an orator and his influence over the people, the vote of Clark was nevertheless largely given because of his geographical connection with Illinois, upon the theory that the nomination of Clark would be of great assistance to the local ticket of the state of Illinois. This because of neighborhood and state pride in one of their friends.

The popular vote at the Democratic primaries gave Wilson clearly the scholastic vote of the city. But given the vote of that Democratic business man—to the extent that he votes at all—and had that business man of the Democratic party paid any attention to his party Harmon would have received as large, if not an overwhelming vote from the city of Chicago. The vote of the Democracy of the whole state was 100,000 less than that of the Republican in the state in the primary. Yet the vote of the Democrats in Cook county, which is in population more than half of the state, and where the city of Chicago lies, exceeded the vote of the Republicans for the first time in the life of the party.

Col. Lewis' Campaign.

This was evidenced by the vote for James Hamilton Lewis for United States senator. It is true that Col. Lewis made his campaign all over the state upon the basis that the primary election was the only election that afforded the people a chance to vote direct, and made the issue with his opponents, Senator Cullom and Judge Sherman on the Republican side, that the man who had the plurality vote should be treated as the choice of the people upon the issues presented by that candidate.

Lewis, by his campaign through the state, has secured the nomination of members of the legislature of sufficient number to elect a United States senator. For the first time since 1898 does this condition exist. Heretofore it has been the policy to nominate but one man in many of the counties, leaving the Democrats where, had they carried the whole state by 100,000 majority, they would never have the legislature. Lewis has been able to change this and to produce a new condition, and to put himself in a situation where, should the legislature be Democratic, he will be elected; should it be Republican and wish to abide by the plurality vote given to the highest candidate, he will be elected; or where, should Senator Lorimer be unseated and the legislature be disposed to give one senator to the Republicans and to the Democrats, though the legislature itself would be Republican, Lewis then would be elected.

Harmon and Underwood.

In the Democratic party it is conceded that, should Roosevelt be nominated, the party had best recognize the necessity of centering the fight against him in the big states, and then nominate a man who can draw the conservative vote of the Republicans, leaving to Roosevelt the amassed vote of the distinctively Republican states. Harmon of Ohio and Gaynor of New York are being talked of as the solution of this probable situation. There is strong sentiment among the business men of Illinois for Underwood of Alabama. There is a decided movement in Illinois to bring about a ticket of Harmon and Underwood upon the assumption that that ticket would represent the geography of the nation, and also embody safe and conservative principles, would assure the solid South and carry the doubtful states of the North.

MASSACHUSETTS TREE WARDEN BLOWN TO BITS.

Sharon, Mass., May 6.—Thomas J. Leary, the town tree warden, sat down beneath a tree on East Roxboro street last night and a moment later an explosion blew him to pieces. A hole three feet deep was torn in the ground where he had been sitting. The explosion was heard for miles and houses a quarter of a mile away rocked dangerously. The theory is that Leary, who was a contractor, had a stick of dynamite in his pocket, and when he sat down it came in contact with a stone.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BOY WOUNDS HIS FRIEND

Crookston Youth Accidentally Shot By Companion and May Lose Life.

Bullet Strikes Between Shoulders and Causes Paralysis of Right Side.

Crookston, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elmer Woodstrom of this city is in St. Vincent's hospital with his right side paralyzed and with slight chance of recovery as the result of a shooting accident Sunday afternoon. He and Ole Lyngholm and both carrying rifles, were in B. Sampson's pasture near the city limits and Lyngholm was sitting down with his rifle across his knees when his weapon was discharged.

Hit Between Shoulders.

The bullet struck Woodstorm between the shoulders from behind, grazing the spinal cord and causing paralysis on the right side. The boy was hurried to the hospital after a brief examination showing the seriousness of the wound. Both boys are 10 years of age and are used to handling guns.

Lyngholm is so hysterical from grief over the shooting of his chum that he can tell no coherent story of how it happened. He only knows that in some way his rifle was discharged.

ASSESSORS HAVE STRENUOUS TIME

North Dakota Registration Law Adds to Duties of Men Who Value Property.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota assessors are having their troubles these days as a result of the declaration by the supreme court that the assessor registration law is valid.

In Grand Forks it has been found necessary to have the deputy assessors in charge of the registration work make the rounds of the voters in the evening and working as late as 10 o'clock in an effort to get the names of all voters on the enrollment books which will be used for the primary election in June.

The attorney general has ruled that it is not necessary to register in order to cast a ballot in the non-partisan judiciary election.

The attorney general holds that the law governing non-partisan judicial elections shows that the legislature intended to place the judiciary outside of politics, so far as party lines are concerned, and for that reason he declares that any legal voter can participate in the election without swearing to his party affiliation.

All books must be fixed by the assessors within thirty days before the election. The women must be enrolled as well as the men, as they vote in the choice of candidates for school offices.

Barron's Mayor Resigns.

Barron, Wis., May 6.—As Mayor-elect G. A. Koerner happens also to be agent here for the Soo railroad he cannot under the law hold the public office and travel on a pass so he has resigned the public office. A special election will be held to elect his successor.

LOCAL ORGANIZATIONS

In Missouri Slope Development Association Are Being Formed.

Mandan, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the plan of campaign mapped out by the officers of the Missouri Slope Development league, every county affiliated with the organization soon will have a local association. In Norton, Burleigh and McLean counties, such associations have already been formed, and Secretary J. B. Slossan of the general organization, has announced that meetings have been called in three other counties which will be formally organized within the next six or eight weeks.

At Dickinson the Stark county association will be organized May 15, while the Billings county meeting will be held at Beach a day or two later. In Mercer county there will be a meeting May 22, and in Oliver county the same kind of a session will be held May 23. Emmons, Logan, Kidder, McIntosh, Sheridan, Adams, Bowman and Hettinger are the other counties in which the local association will be launched.

YOUNG MOTHER DIES.

Fargo Girl That Figured in Sensation Is Called.

Fargo, N. D., May 6.—Florence Gravesly, the 13-year-old child who figured prominently in the trial of the Gunderson brothers in district court here several weeks ago, died at St. Thomas' tuberculosis hospital, Minneapolis, Saturday.

Miss Topping of the Crittenton home stated that in all her experience she has never taken care of so pathetic a case. A mother at 12 years of age, dead at 13—and in her short life seemed crowded the tortures of an eternity of lost hopes.

The people with whom she lived, a friendless, motherless child, refused to the last to answer letters or to exhibit the slightest concern regarding the welfare of the pretty, flaxen-haired child, although a distant relationship existed between them.

HELPED BY RAIN.

Red River Valley Benefitted By Late Moisture.

Crookston, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota side of the Red river valley enjoyed substantial rains Saturday night. The crops and gardens are growing wonderfully. All early garden stuff is up and the early grain never looked better at this season of the year.

MINE SHAFT BURNED.

Bessemer Property Is Destroyed, Damage Being About $100,000.

Bessemer, Mich., May 6.—Fire at No. 6 shaft, Tilden mine, destroyed the shaft house, engine house and supply store. The damage is fully $100,000. Mining has been suspended watting for new engines and repairs, but this may take months. Thirty miners working in the shaft barely escaped through the underground connection with No. 9 shaft.

TWO COPPER COUNTRY COUNTIES FOR WILSON.

Houghton, Mich., May 6.—Houghton and Keweenaw county Democrats conventions named delegations to the state convention at Bay City, both counties instructing their delegates for Woodrow Wilson. Houghton county convention was not for Wilson as far as individual delegates wereconcerned, but three strong townships sent instructed delegations, and Judge Patrick H. O'Brien, candidate for delegate-at-large, leader of the Wilson sentiment in the Upper Peninsula, won enough of the uninstructed over to carry his point.

NURSES OF STATE ARE TO ORGANIZE

North Dakota State Nurses' Organization to Be Formed at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many trained nurses of the state are coming here this evening for the meeting at which the North Dakota Trained Nurses' association, which will be formally organized here tomorrow.

Uniformity in training, school requirements, affiliation with the American Nurses' association and the National Red Cross society, and the general uplift of the nursing profession in this state, are some of the objects sought by the registered nurses who will participate in the meeting.

Elect Officers Tuesday.

Tuesday morning officers will be elected and the formal organization will be launched. Miss Mae L. McCulloch will read a paper on "Post Graduate Study for Nurses." At noon there will be addresses by Mayor M. F. Murphy of Grand Forks, president F. L. McVey of the state university, Dr. H. Healy of Grand Forks, and Miss Maud Sides of Jamestown. In the evening there will be a banquet for the visitors.

PENNINGTON COUNTY DITCH CONTRACT LET.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners of Pennington county have several contracts for ditches in the eastern part of the county, near the boundary of the Red Lake Indian reservation. One contracts was let to the Northwestern Drainage company of this city at 13 cents per cubic yard for a ditch of ordinary size starting near the east end of the county and running west some six miles and emptying into a ditch already completed. Another contract for Ditch No. 57 was let to the Mayhew & Griffith company also at 13 cents per cubic yard. Several branch ditches were also let to the same contractors and these will all be completed this summer, so that farmers living in the neighborhood where the ditches are surveyed will have the benefit of them in case of heavy rains.

SON'S CONFESSION EXPLAINS SOUTH DAKOTA MYSTERY.

Ipswich, S. D., May 6.—The confession here of Paul Betz to state fire officials that his father set fire to his son's home to collect the insurance to get them out of financial straits and later committed suicide when exposure was certain, cleared the mystery surrounding the fire which occurred in March.

St. Paul Labor Movement.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—The greatest labor movement that St. Paul has ever known will start next Wednesday evening when the Union Labor Forward movement will be inaugurated in this city next Wednesday evening, following a similar campaign in Minneapolis. Karl Legien, a noted German leader, will be the principal speaker on the opening night. The campaign will continue for some time.

North Dakota Illiteracy.

Bismarck, N. D., May 6.—There are 13,070 people in North Dakota, over 10 years of age who can neither read nor write, that showing being made by the United States census bureau in a report which has just been issued.

All told there are 424,730 people in the state who are over 10 years of age, the percentage of illiteracy being 3.1 per cent.

Kittson County Lawyer Buried.

Karlstad, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of E. J. Ericson of Pelan, a pioneer lawyer who came to that place before its rise and fall was buried Sunday. He died Friday after a short illness. His cousin, George Ericson, of Spooner; his brother A. B. Ericson of Starbuck and several others were here from a distance to attend the funeral.

The funeral of Miss Nellie Ford of this place, who died Friday night at the Crookston hospital, also occurred Sunday. She was buried at Crookston.

Heavy Rain Hit Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent storm deluged the sewers in the business section and undermined the basement of the Central hotel and filled many basements near by with water. The rainfall as measured by the government rain gauge was 2.03 inches. Telephones were put out of commission by the lightning and one transformer was burned out.

Brainerd Beat Crosby.

Brainerd, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd beat Crosby 19 to 2 in the opening game of the Central Minnesota Baseball association, played on the Koering grounds. The weather was perfect and a large attendance saw Mayor H. P. Dunn of Brainerd pitch the first ball.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Racine—Mollie Rocos, Greek, 20 years, committed suicide by hanging. She had kept house for two years for her father and two brothers. Her mother is in Greece, and homesickness induced acute melancholia.

Grand Rapids—The body of the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jarnutosky of Nekoosa, who was drowned on Sunday, has not been recovered.

La Moure, N. D.—Carl Remmick, section boss, was almost killed when he was pinned under a number of heavy piles he was unloading from a car here.

Jamestown, N. D.—Lawrence Williamson, who resides about fifteen miles north of Medina, was arrested Monday on the charge of grand larceny, it being alleged that he unlawfully took twenty bushels of flax seed from the granary of a neighboring farm. Williamson was brought to Jamestown, given a hearing before Justice of Peace Bigelow and bound over.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mr. and Mrs. Ole Rotnem and daughter and Mrs. Hans Gunderson and daughter of Bartlett, Ole Moen and O. Broten of Petersburg were in Grand Forks last week on their way to New York, from which point they expect to sail in a few days for Norway, where they will spend several months.

Dickey, N. D.—County Commissioner J. W. Johnston was up from La Moure Wednesday and in company with Commissioner Taylor selected the site for the new concrete bridge that will be built across the James in Saratoga township.

Fargo, N. D.—A Wisconsin man named Arder has been in the city to find his wife, whom he alleges ran away from her home with Anton Dobel, another Wisconsin man. Arder and he traced them to Fargo by a postcard showing a scene of Eighth street south which he received from one of his children a few days ago.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Ellison D. Smith, aged 3 years, is dead at a local hospital as the result of injuries received in a hotel fire at Senica a few days ago. He is the third victim.

Fargo, N. D.—The May term of the United States district court will convene in the local Federal building May 21, when the grand jury will be called. The petit jurors have been ordered to report on May 28.

Dickinson, N. D.—Senator L. A. Simpson has returned from Boston, where he secured a postponement in the hearing of the Russell will case until the last week in July. He is now arranging to go into the northern part of the state in the interests of his candidacy for the nomination of congressman for the Third congressional district.

Williams, N. D.—Two new members of the William couty board of commissioners have been appointed as a result of the actions launched by the county prosecuting attorney to unseat the old members of the board. Two board members, Messrs. Helle and Houglum, resigned from the board during the fight, and in their places Hugh Peyton and Gerald Miles have been named.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Crystal Falls — Alex Gammon, an old and respected resident of this place, died Saturday after an illness of about six weeks' duration. The deceased was 75 years of age; was born at Kaukauna, Wis., and came to Crystal Falls in the early days of the place.

Calumet — At both the Houghton and Keweenaw Democratic county conventions Friday the delegates to the state convention at Bay City were instructed for Woodrow Wilson.

Bessemer—The Gogebic county Democratic convention elected ten delegates to the Bay City and instructed them for Wilson for president.

Houghton — The third annual ball for the benefit of the Houghton public library will be given at the Ampridrome the night of May 10.

Hancock — Archie Tourville of Dollar Bay suffered the loss of a valuable horse when the wagon to which the team was hitched was backed too close to the water and pulled the team into the brink. One of the horses was cut loose, but the other was drowned.

Take a Lesson from Your Ice Box

SISTER, consider the humble ice-box. Brother, reflect how your ice-box provides better shelter for your cold beans and hash than your house furnishes your family!

The walls of an ice-box must keep the outside heat from the interior cold. But, don't forget that they would keep the heat and cold apart just as effectively if the heat were inside and the cold outside. Heat and cold are merely opposite poles of the same natural appearance. Just like white and black, they are both governed by the same natural laws.

In building an ice-box, these natural laws must be met scientifically. That's why the best refrigerators are built with walls lined with

LINOFELT
Cold and Heat Insulation

Linofelt does meet scientifically the laws governing heat-and-cold insulation, and it does so better than any other material capable of use in building. E. g., in stopping the passage of heat or cold quarter-inch Linofelt is much more effective than 38 thicknesses of building-paper.

Linofelt is made of the fibrous stalks of the flax plant, treated by secret processes and steam-cooked in chemicals. They are then batted and stitched into a quilt between two sheets of building-paper. For general building purposes it comes one-quarter inch thick, in rolls 200 feet long and 3 feet wide.

Used in the walls of your house instead of building-paper, Linofelt will save 40 per cent of your fuel bills every winter. Obviously, therefore, Linofelt will also keep your house amazingly cool in summer.

These figures are from hundreds of actual tests. Every day more and more people are showing the same regard for their family's health and comfort that they do for hash and beans in their ice-boxes. Linofelt costs so little and gives so much!

There's a way to get much of its benefit in your present house today. Call up our local agents and ask how. Do it now, and also write us for vitally important and interesting information.

"TAKE A STAMP, LEAVE A BIT"

Rawhide's First Post Office the Simplest Ever

YOU HAD TO BE HONEST

But Men Who Had Picked "Tuxedo" Could Be Trusted

Anybody could have gathered it and run off with it under his arm, post office, flag pole and all.

Simple?—well it was that and the some.

They put it up in Rawhide, Nevada in the early days of the mining boom there. And it's still in existence, a highly treasured souvenir, in a certain

"RAWHIDE'S FIRST POST OFFICE"

New York office where you can do almost anything by pressing a button.

This post office, set up by the roadside in 1897, and serving among other purposes to point the way into Rawhide, consisted of an upright stick surmounted by a swivel flag pole bearing a white flag. When the flag was up, the water wagon man knew that he was to make a delivery of water. Near the top of the stick was a "Tuxedo" tobacco tin containing a book of postage stamps, and a notice which ran thus: "Take a stamp and leave a bit for the stage driver"—a "bit," it may be necessary to inform unenlightened Eastern readers, being a quarter. A stamp having been affixed, the letter was dropped into a sixteen ounce seal box of the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company, which was fastened underneath, and from which the mail driver made collection.

The authenticity of this interesting relic is certified to by C. C. Dunning, who had the mail contract at the time. Dunning knows. He found the "bits" and humped in the stage.

Was everybody honest? Well, they had to be, as there might have been trouble. But nobody expected anything but honesty. It was the fashion among these pioneers. And smoking an honest tobacco was a big start. They surely liked the smoke in that green tin!

The accompanying sketch was made from a photograph taken while the post office was still in operation.

A Successful Broker's Experience in Planting and Selling Tobacco

"I tell you, growing really fine tobacco is a big game and a mighty difficult game," said an old tobacco planter—twenty-three years at the business of coaxing the best tobacco out of the soil—since embarked in the other business of tobacco brokerage.

"People are very particular about their tobacco now-a-days. One thing I found out early. It paid me to turn ... the finest Burley that could be ..., because I could sell it to the ... MELLINS MELLINS

"Our baby was sick and we tried several kinds of foods, which did not agree with him. At five months he weighed twelve pounds and we thought he would not live. A friend told us to try Mellin's Food. We commenced using it and he began to mend and at eight months old he weighed twenty-five pounds and is a picture of health. We feel that we owe his life to Mellin's Food."

Mrs. C. Sears, Haskell, Texas.

"I have five healthy children and am just starting the fifth, which is two months old, on Mellin's Food. I am positive it will prove successful, as I gave it to the other four and had no trouble with them, even during the hotest weather. I recommend it to all my friends and recently induced a friend who has a very delicate baby to try it and now the child is in perfect health. I cannot praise it too highly and would not think of giving my baby any other food."—Mrs. W. Monahan, Hillburn, N.Y.

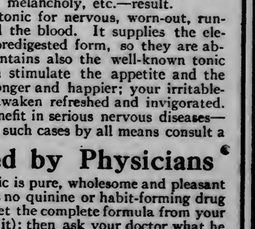
Webster's Tonic

Builds Up Run-Down Nervous People



IN the Spring, after a Winter of constant business and social activity, with much confinement indoors, or, after a spell of illness, many people find themselves nervous, irritable or in a general run-down, weakened condition. Often nervous disorders—sleeplessness, brain fag, loss of memory, melancholy, etc.—result.

Webster's Tonic is a scientific food tonic for nervous, worn-out, run-down people. It feeds the nerves and the blood. It supplies the elements and body salts in a wonderful predigested form, so they are absorbed without digestive effort. It contains also the well-known tonic bitters—dandelion and gentian—which stimulate the appetite and the digestive processes. You soon feel stronger and happier; your irritableness passes away; you sleep well, and awaken refreshed and invigorated.

While Webster's Tonic is of great benefit in serious nervous diseases—brain fag, nervous prostration, etc.—in such cases by all means consult a physician.

Endorsed by Physicians

Webster's Tonic is pure, wholesome and pleasant to take; contains no quinine or habit-forming drug of any kind. Get the complete formula from your druggist (he has it); then ask your doctor what he thinks of it.

Our forty-one years' experience as manufacturing chemists has taught us how to make Webster's Tonic and all other Webster preparations so good that we can absolutely guarantee them. Webster's Tonic is sold in two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Six large bottles for $5.00. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied with results after a fair trial.

Under the Webster trade-mark and guaranty are sold sixty different articles, including most effective remedies for all such human ailments as do not require a doctor—household remedies that should be in the medicine cabinet of every family—also pure toilet preparations.

Your druggist has them or can get them for you:

THE WEEK IN THE HOME GARDEN

There was a lot of soil turned over in Duluth backyards last week. There would have been much more if the heavy rains had not interfered.

It is planting time in the backyard garden and as fast as the city farmer is getting his soil in shape he is planting some of the earlier stuff, it being as yet too early for many things such as tomatoes, cabbage, potatoes, turnips, peas, beans and many other garden vegetables.

Just at the present time only the earliest things are being put in. After spading up the patch and working the ground up so that it is soft and mellow, planting may begin.

Lettuce is usually planted about one-half inch deep. For succession, plant about every ten days. Thin in seed rows to three inches apart, eating or transplanting the thinnings. Thin again to six inches and later to twelve for heading.

Radishes should also be planted about one-half inch deep. They should be planted deeper when planted later in the season. For succession, plant every ten days. Thin to two or three inches.

Seed onions may be planted now. Plant them a triffle deeper than the lettuce and radishes. Thin to one and one-half inches when plants are about three inches high.

Onion sets are being set out by many. Plant with tops showing above the ground and for succession every two weeks.

Time for Manure.

If you haven't manured your garden patch as yet, it is time to do so. Nothing helps either new or old earth so much as well rotted horse manure. New soil is often made weak by the rank growth of weeds. Soil used for several years as a garden patch is weakened thereby and needs a remedy to build it up much the same as a human constitution needs a tonic at times.

Food plants need plenty of nourishment and manure contributes the elements which give it to them. Weak soil produces weak plants. Plants that get the right sort of nourishment thrive and make their owner proud of them.

For the amateur gardener nothing is so discouraging as to have weak looking plants. They bear but little and the first year is usually his last at gardening. But few ventures are so discouraging as an unsuccessful garden.

Nothing is easier to succeed at than gardening if the owner goes about it in the right way, expecting to work and taking care of his patch from early in the spring until late in the fall.

There is a lot of hard work in gardening but the reward is great when the venture is a success.

The thorough working of the soil and the mixing of manure are the first essentials. The careful planting of seeds and the careful transplanting of plants from the house or hotbed to the out-of-door garden, is next. The thinning and weeding comes later in the season and at each stage of the growth of the plants in the garden the several duties are almost equally important.

ONE OF DULUTH'S VERY YOUTHFUL GARDENERS.

Weeds grow in the garden as well as the plants. The plants cannot thrive if they are crowded out by weeds, which grow faster than the vegetables, unless their growth be retarded.

Need Room.

Vegetables will not grow unless they have room. As they are nearly always planted too thickly, it is necessary to thin them out. The distance apart depends largely on the vegetable. In the beginning about two inches should be left between seed onions. That is, after they have started growing in good shape. Seed onions do not become so large and they will do well if left quite close to one another.

Radishes, if of the smaller varieties, will do well if thinned to about an inch. When planting it is best to be rather liberal with seeds as some of them will not come up and there is plenty of time to thin them out after they appear above the ground.

Radishes, lettuce, onion seeds and sets are about the only things to be planted this early, it being not yet time for other garden vegetables.

Next week it will be time to plant shrubbery. It will also be time to set out strawberries and small fruit bushes.

Some have already planted strawberry plants, but old gardeners state that they do best if planted after the first week in May.

ROSES AND THEIR CARE

By J. J. LE BORIOUS.

Good roses may be grown in almost any soil, but if good flowers are desired it is necessary to select a place in the open, when they can get all the sun and be protected from the north winds.

In making your bed be sure that the drainage is good and then dig it deep and spade in a lot of well rooted cow manure. If the bed is made a week or so before you plant the roses it is better, as it gives the soil a chance to settle.

From May 15 to June 15 is the best time to plant roses in Duluth.

In planting, firm the soil around the plants and give a thorough watering. Throughout the summer keep the ground stirred and water if the soil gets dry. The more you cultivate the soil the less water you will need.

In pruning cut out all of the weak growths and you will get more and better roses on the strong canes.

For the green fly and cut worms you should spray two or three times during the summer.

As soon as the leaves are out spray with a solution of hellebore and later in the summer with tobacco and nicotine solution. It is better to spray before you have many bugs, as if you wait till you can see them, the damage will have been done.

CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH

Playground Association Has Some Ambitious Plans Under Consideration.

The Duluth Playgrounds association is planning a monster celebration for the Fourth of July, the proposel for which was submitted at a meeting of the organization held Saturday afternoon in the council chambers.

The idea met with unanimous approval and Miss Jean Poirier and J. R. Batchelor were appointed a committee to place the matter before the Commercial club. If the club increases the idea and will co-operate no time will be lost in working out the details.

The intention is to have every commercial, fraternal and civic body in the city participate, with the children as the feature of the day. There will be a gigantic parade of marching youngsters in various costumes and floats of all descriptions. The day will be opened with salutes fired from cannons in different parts of the city and will be followed by the parade. In the afternoon there will be five athletic exhibitions and entertainments at West Duluth, the West end, down town Lakeside and Woodland. These will include band concerts and folk dances by the children. In the evening displays of fire works will be seen at several of the prominent locations in the city.

It is stated that the city has over 100 societies and organizations and it is believed that all of them will be willing to participate. The city has over 10,000 school children and it is thought that a large part of them will be glad to take part in the parade and the other features which are planned to make the coming Fourth the most memorable in the history of the city.

Wisconsin Orator Second.

Emporia, Kan., May 6.—In the interstate normal oratorical contest here Earl Erickson of the Iowa state normal won first place. Howard S. Jones of Wisconsin was second and Earl Shinn of the Kansas normal was third. Missouri was fourth and Illinois fifth.

AMERICAN PROTESTS AT TURKISH ACTION.

Athens, May 6.—Nothwithstanding the protests of the American and Greek consuls, the captain of the steamer Texas, which was blown up a few days ago in the Gulf of Smyrna, was forcibly removed from the Greek hospital to a Turkish prison in the armory Sunday. The Turks accuse him of spying in Italy's behalf.

The American consul has notified the embassy at Constantinople and it is said that the first secretary to the embassy and the captain of an American guard ship have been sent to Smyrna.

A large number of the passengers and crew were drowned when the Texas sank. An inquiry into the disaster showed that the Turkish forts fired a number of solid shots at the steamer, one of which is supposed to have exploded a mine or the vessel's boilers.

PROBE NAVY CONTRACTS WITH STEEL TRUST.

Washington, May 6.—An investigation into the contracts of the navy department with the United States Steel corporation has been ordered by the house, which adopted a resolution by Representative Stanley of Kentucky, Democrat, chairman of the "Steel Trust" investigating committee, calling on the secretary of the navy to furnish such information.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

AT THE present time effort is being made to inaugurate a season of running races somewhere near Chicago. The idea carries with it the ultimate design of placing wagers on the bangtails and the making of profits other than those accruing from the gate. There's the rub. One of the noblest of sports seem to be destined to be quite forgotten or to be relegated to the obscure racing section of the country, all for the simple reason that those most interested in the sport cannot hit upon any plan for its perpetuation that does not include the wagering of the filthy stuff on the result of each race. As the authorities and the dovotees of the sport of the gallopers are of a decidedly different turn of mind, we have arrived at the turn in the road where the business of raising thoroughbred horses, and the thoroughbred horse by the way is the running horse and no other, promises to become one of the forgotten arts.

In the old days of Hamline we grew quite used to witnessing the making of healthy wagers out in the paddock or in the nice betting ring that was constructed for the benefit of the bookmakers—and not for the public, though one might have gained that opinion. Ostensibly this was true; in its material end it worked out quite another way.

Those were the days when the best horses in the land faced the starter at Hamline. The thirty and sixty day meetings brought some notable fields on the parade by the paddock. But Frank Shaw and his crowd of betting cronies became altogether too inconsiderate of the public's chance in the uneven game of betting and the state legislature determined to bring to an end public betting at the state fair track.

Until a few years ago the old jockey clubhouse, standing there at the first graceful curve of the big Hamline track, stood as a monument to the days of the ponies. But fire, one hot September afternoon when the big fair was in full blast, made an end to the old clubhouse and removed one of the last memories of the days when the bangtails ran at the midway meet.

There are no more running races at the Hamline—and there are no more running races at any of the tracks of this country, comparatively speaking. The racing game is dead. America has the greatest thoroughbred horses in the world; if the men most interested in the game do not solve the problem of having the sport of kings without the forbidden evil of the betting ring, it does look as if the running horse is going to be left as a relic of bygone days.

Time has progressed, and in its progression there have come some few reforms. Sport is one of the institutions of the country to feel the sting of the reformer's antagonism. Business methods, being more complicated and enlisting the aid of money and power, have been more fortunate in many respects.

It is too bad that a great industry like the breeding of thoroughbred horses should be made to face possible extinction from the fact that those most interested in the game have been unable to conceive some plan that will divorce horse racing from the betting sin.

Kid McCoy says he will retire from the fighting game for all time and take to lecturing. A man married eight times should have his fill of fighting and should also have a natural inclination to do some talking.

Charles Murphy and Frank Chance have stood pat on their Cub machine since the prosperous days of 1906—that fat year when the Cubiets made the race in the parent organization look like a contest between a scared rabbit and seven turtles afflicted with the gout, if the phlegmatic and thoroughly inartistic soul of the tedious turtle is capable of aspirations directly conducive to the swollen tootsies.

Since that time, as was said, Murphy and the Peerless Leader have been content to stand by the original cast and believe the the vets would come through with a high class line of stuff. It begins to look as if the program of not drawing any cards is causing the owner and also the manager of the Cubs a lot of trouble.

Some of the players that the wily McGraw has drawn from the scrap bag of the scout's merry gamble are making good and to date the Giants are showing that they intend to be strictly in the pennant pursuit. The Cubs have been floundering in the mire of defeat, and are finding the company of Boston and some of the conventional lowly ones a striking example of the adage which holds about misery and the strange bunk companions.

Billy Papke has at last succeeded in winning a fight. All that slumbers is not dead.

The fighter, or rather the opponent that Billy Papke knocked cold the other night, was a policeman named Leitch and he has a wife and several children. He resigned a job that carried steady emolument and perhaps some perquisites, to mingle with the man who has been the steadfast fall guy of late.

This Leitch is or was, just as you choose, one of the strong boys of the precinct and presumably made chopping blocks of some of the obstreperous stews and early morning hangovers who imbibed fighting inclinations from the rousing cheer that makes wallowing in wassail such a highly diverting diversion.

But when they took the club and star from Leitch and sent him in a near Adam's attire into the ring, he ran against a new kind of going, and if he don't succeed in getting his job back and also getting back at some of the stews, why some of us will be sorry for his frau and the little ones.

Carl Morris should have really retired and not have told a pernicious and wicked falsehood. George Washington was the only man who ever highly successfully dodged retribution for a campaign falsehood.

Jim Flynn rises to remark that this has been one disastrous year for champions. Also it has been one pretty thoroughly discouraging for some of those who were merely getting by in the vineyard of swat swings. Al Kaufman fell from the shaky pedestal the native son society erected in his behalf, and even the most ardent believer in Oklahoma, for the Oklahomians will confess at the present writing that Carl Morris should cast aside the tights and don the overalls and shout for the full dinner pail.

We might go further and state that Knockout Brown and Jim Stewart and some of the other of the nearly there brigade have been thrown to the discard. It may have been a rather bad year for the champions, as the coal passer has remarked, but it also has been a season in the year that also has not been without result for those who built a foundation of hope on rotten pugilistic material.

FIVE RECORDS AT LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., May 6.—Five new world speedway records were established at the motordrome's one mile pie-pan yesterday by drivers who participated in Saturday's Santa Monica road race.

Caleb Bragg in the 90-horse power Fiat, which he drove into second place in Saturday's classic, broke the world's five-mile record for all classes, held by Ralph De Palma, lowing the latter's mark by about four seconds. His time was three minutes, 11⅘ seconds.

Louis Disbrow in his Simplex Zip broke Oldfield's record for the same distance for 600-inch cars and Nikrent in a Case broke Ray Harroun's record for cars of the 300-inch displacement class.

Disbrow's time was 3:25 1-10, almost one-third second faster than the former record, and Nikrent's time, 3:44 3-10, was more than 11 seconds faster than the previous record.

Disbrow in a Case established a new 10-mile record for cars of the 300-inch class, his time being 7 minutes 46 2-5 seconds.

The fifth record broken was that in the 300-inch class, held by Harroun for 25 miles. Nikrent covered that distance in 18 minutes 53 3-5 seconds, almost a minute faster than the old record.

This record was made in a race between Nikrent and Ralph De Palma, who was driving the Mercer with which he won the medium car race at Santa Monica Saturday, and in which Nikrent was second. De Palma won from Nikrent in the two five-mile events.

The fastest mile of the day was driven by Disbrow in the J. I. C. in 38 seconds flat.

The Maxwell car, driven by George Joermann, won the light car race in the annual Santa Monica road race Saturday and broke the American record. Time for the 101 miles was 1:37.57.

The former record was 1:42.21, made by Louis Nikrent in a Buick on the same track in 1910. A Flanders, driven by Evans, was second, and the Flanders driven by Towers finished third.

Ralph De Palma, driving a Mercer Saturday in the medium car event, won the 151 miles in 130 minutes 43 seconds, or an average of 69.54 miles an hour, a new American record.

Joe Nikrent in a Case and Disbrow in another Case were second and third respectively.

TRADE IS CONTEMPLATED.

Chicago, May 6.—There is talk of trading George Moriarty for Rollo Zeider. It has traveled along the ranks of both Detroit and Chicago teams. The main basis for the rumor is that Zeider is not a first baseman and Moriarty is, while Moriarty is not as good at second, short or third as Zeider while Zeider plays better at the other infield positions than on first.

Moriarty has served as principal party in at least seven different "rumor" trades with four different clubs. Frank J. Navin says he will keep him, but Moriarty is a much-wanted young man around the league and could have a regular first baseman's job with Cleveland, Chicago, or Washington if Detroit traded or sold him to one of these clubs.

Naturally fitted to play first base with little chance to break into Detroit's lineup unless injury befalls Gainer or Louden, Jennings is unable to work Moriarty. Hughie likes Zeider and has openly expressed his opinion of Zeider's ability.

Those who paid attention to the rumor did so because they realized that Detroit could find more value in Zeider than in Moriarty. Jennings is openly in favor of him while the Detroit club has never been absolutely positive about retaining Moriarty.

In the meantime the bidding for Moriarty continues and one of these days an announcement of a trade or sale will feature the name Moriarty.

GYMNASTIC CHAMPION

PAUL KRIMMEL.

Paul Krimmel of New York added the title of all around gymnastic champion of the Metropolitan association to the national laurels which he carried off earlier in the season. Krimmel won the parallel bars, long horse and horizontal bars. In all he scored 326 points, while his nearest competitor had 281. In the national championships Krimmel won easily with a score of 324.50 points.

INDIAN THORPE OUT FOR ALL-ROUND TITLE

New York, May 6.—Pentathlon—Running broad jump, throwing the javelin, 200 meters flat, throwing the discus, and 1,500 meters flat.

Decathlon—100 meters flat, running broad jump, putting the shot, running high jump, 110 meters hurdle, 400 meters flat, throwing the discus, pole vault, throwing the javelin, and 1,500 meters flat.

Above is a synopsis of the two big "all around" events that will be contested by the world's athletes at the Stockholm Olympiad next summer. Every nation that has a team in the games will put forth its best foot to win one of these, and among those present will be Uncle Sam, the champion athlete of the universe. Of all the American athletes who will be candidates for honors in these all-around tests none looks more promising than Jim Thorpe of Carlisle Indian school. Thorpe is not a high-sounding name for an Indian champion, neither is James one of your dime novel redskins. He is just an ordinary, good-natured young fellow, and his friends say that the predominating streak in his character is one of humor.

Jim Thorpe is an Oklahoma Indian from the Sac and Fox tribe. Before he went to the government school at Carlisle Thorpe was regarded as an ordinary Indian boy—just a trifle lazy, they tell us. Thorpe's father is a farmer in Oklahoma, and he declares that Jim showed not the least sign of athletic ability doing chores about the farm. The young Indian athlete went to Carlisle a little over four years ago. Glenn Warner "discovered" him almost by accident. While the high jumpers were practising on the turf one day in the spring of 1908 and having trouble in clearing 5 feet 9 inches, young Thorpe, clad in long trousers, sauntered up to the crossbar and hopped over without an effort, clearing the stick by four inches. Warner, when he recovered from the shock of surprise, got hold of Jim and in less than twenty minutes had him in athletic togs.

Lack of space prevents a description of the stages in Thorpe's development into a great all-around performer. Enough to say that this young Indian—he is but 22 years old now—has earned a place by himself in the annals of sport as an all-around athlete. He plays football like a devil.

The Greatest Halfback.

Many pronounce him the greatest halfback that ever put on a moleskin. Anyway; he scored thirteen points alone against the Harvard 'varsity last fall, and with a bad ankle at that. At basketball Thorpe is unbeatable. In the center position he has never been outplayed. He "eats" lacrosse, and can swing a tennis racquet in great style, and yes, there's another—he can twirl a baseball in first-class style. The above accomplishments, of course, will not help out much in the all-around contests at the Swedish Olympiad, but they show the marvelous ability of Jim Thorpe in all lines.

If there is one particular feat in the list of track and field endeavors that Thorpe cannot do, and do well, we would like to hear of it. He can sprint, he can run, he can jump and he can throw the weights. Thorpe's first chance to shine as an athlete came in a dual meet between Carlisle and Syracuse, in 1909. On that occasion Jim won the high and low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, shot put, and took second in the hammer throw. A few weeks later he "hogged" the honors at the annual championship games of the Pennsylvania colleges at Harrisburg. At this meet Thorpe won the high jump, hammer throw, broad jump, high hurdles and low hurdles. Then he went to the Middle Atlantic association championships and cleaned up the same events without being pressed in one of them.

Thorpe seldom does any hard training for his athletic work, and he appears on the field as if he did not care a rap whether he won or not. One athletic expert, in writing about how Thorpe always manages to show up in condition, has said that "he was born that way," and that seems the best explanation that has yet been put forward. A feature of his work that makes him all the more valuable for the Pentathlon and Decathlon events at Stockholm is the fact that he is absolutely tireless. Thorpe can hurdle, run, throw the hammer, and then hop over the high jump bar at six feet as nimbly as though he had just come out of the dressing room fresh.

Thorpe stands six feet in his stockings and tips the beam at about 180 pounds—a perfect specimen of humanity. He is lithe enough to speed over the ground and dodges like a hare, yet strong enough to handle the weights or fight his way through a scrimmage when it is necessary. The high jump has been Thorpe's specialty this winter. He has selected this event for nearly all his indoor starts, with the result that he has boosted his record from 6 feet up to 6 feet 2½ inches. Pop Warner is confident that Thorpe will clear 6 feet 4 inches off the turf this spring.

There are just two events in the Swedish all-around competition that can possibly bother Thorpe. These are the javelin throw and the 1,500 meters flat. The javelin he can almost surely master well enough to make a creditable showing, because of his quickness at "catching on," while his great power of endurance should enable him to finish up near the front in the distance race. Thorpe has run the "hundred" in 10 seconds, the high hurdles in 15 3-5 seconds, the low hurdles in 26 seconds, and the quarter mile inside of 13 seconds. He has cleared 6 feet 2½ inches in the high jump, better than 23 feet in the broad jump, and has put the shot 44 feet. These records he made in meets in which he competed in at least six events within two hours' time.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX INCREASE THEIR LEAD.

Chicago, May 6.—Chicago increased its lead in the American league to three full games yesterday, defeating Cleveland 2 to 1. Neil Ball, famous for making a triple play unassisted, practically gave Chicago the game. He held the ball after failing to catch Collins stealing second in the sixth inning, and watched Bodie race home with the winning run. Bodie scored both runs and made two doubles. Score:

MAGNATES ARE HOLDING FORTH

A meeting of the men interested in the organization of the Central International league is being held here today. Whether the league will go through the present season will be decided by representatives of Superior, Duluth, Winnipeg and Grand Forks.

While the magnates are somewhat opposed to the four-club plan, they are apparently up against it, and must go through with the four clubs or abandon all hope of league baseball for the present season.

According to the plans that are being discussed today, it is the idea of the magnates to try and induce two more clubs to come into the organization after the first trip around the circuit.

President Harry Blume of Duluth believes that the league will be a success, and is insisting that the clubs place forfeits in his hands, as assurance that they will remain in the circuit during the present season.

Some of the other details of the league are being worked out at today's meeting. Salary limits, the game guarantee and some other matters are being considered.

AMATEURS ARE OUT OF PRACTICE

Bad weather has practically put a stop to all amateur and semi-professional baseball in Duluth. The corner lotters and the more important teams have been forced by the unfeeling attitude of the weather man to postpone openings and to sulk while the rain and coldness rule the roost.

With the Duluth and Superior league scheduled to open in a week and the Commercial league to start the busy season on May 11, the players are wondering when they are going to get any practice for the season.

Last week the Jeffersons journeyed to one of the small towns outside of Duluth, and were given a severe drubbing, the players of the East end team stating that the failure to win was due to the lack of practice. Practically all of the local teams will start the season in poor condition. Under ordinary circumstances the amateur season would have been pretty well under way at the present time.

While the present line of weather revenge that is being handed out by the weather man is causing a lack of interest in the plans of the amateur baseball teams of the city, it is probable that once the season gets under way the fever will be here stronger than ever because of the enforced delay in getting away.

Both the Duluth and Superior and the Commercial leagues have been busy signing players and getting everything ready for the opening of the season. While naturally the interest in amateur baseball has not been so manifest, nevertheless all preparations are being made for one of the busiest seasons in the history of the amateur and semi-professional clubs of the city.

PADDOCK QUITS THE LOCAL ROWING SQUAD

Promising Blade Man Drops From the List of Crew Candidates—New Shells Reach Duluth.

Some ill-omened fate is sure hanging on the heels of the Duluth Boat club's crew. Following the example of "Shorty" Dugan, Louis Paddock, one of the promising members of the rowing squad, has given up rowing for the present season.

The decision of Paddock to drop the rowing game leaves Ten Eyck with just eight veterans. Since the close of the fall rowing, when the prospects for the present season looked so bright Coach Ten Eyck has lost John Quinn, Vince O'Donnell, Tronson and Dugan. While none of these men were members of the first eight, Tronson was a member of the junior four and Quinn and Paddock were looked upon as two of the most promising men in the squad.

Work has been seriously handicapped by the weather. With the conditions anything like favorable for work Jimmy intends to work the men about ten miles each day from now on. The coach stated today that it would require a lot of hustling to make up for the loss of valuable time that has been made necessary by the wretched weather conditions.

Both Winnipeg and St. Paul have been able to get the jump on the local crews by the doleful stuff that the weather man has been dealing out hereabouta. At Winnipeg, according to the dope that has come down from the metropolis of Western Canada, the men with the monogrammed jerseys have not been compelled to miss one day since they got on the water. The same is true of the weather conditions at St. Paul.

With the arrival of the new boats this morning, the eight, two fours and Ten Eyck's single, the Neville brothers and Ten Eyck will be busy getting the new equipment in shape for the crews. If the weather behaves it is expected that the boys will be given a workout in the new eight sometime during the first part of this week. If the bounding waves continue to do a sinuous Salome on the ragged shore the old boats will be quite sufficient for the work of the candidates.

JACK JOHNSON IS GOING BACK

Chicago, May 6.—"Road work is going to occupy my attention this week," declared Jack Johnson yesterday. "I expect to do some work every day, but will do no boxing until the early part of next week. The arm which was injured in Pittsburg last week still bothers me a bit and I am not going to take any chances with it. I expect the road work of this week will get me down to sufficiently good form that I can start boxing later.

"I probably shall do my boxing either at the Seventh Regiment armory or at Billy O'Connell's gymnasium. When I start that I am going to do a little every day until the fight. Of course, I realize that I will not be as good when I start as I was the day I beat Jeffries. A layoff of two years is too long for that. But don't get the impression that I am a has been.

"What would be the use of me going to New Mexico now and starting to train? Do you remember how, before the Jeffries fight, critics were saying I wasn't doing enough work? Because I didn't leave Chicago for the coast two or three months before the fight and begin a grind of work as did Jeffries such 'experts' as Corbett said I wasn't going to be in condition. Well, I showed them then that I knew how to train myself and you can trust me to do the same thing for Flynn. Nobody knows how Jack Johnson feels except Jack Johnson himself and he has shown often enuogh that he never gets into the ring without feeling fit.

"My shoulder still troubles me a little, but I expect it will be well in a little while. The automobile in which I was driving in Pittsburg was struck by a truck. I wasn't driving the car myself or I don't think the accident would have happened. I was hurt, however, and I have entered suit for damages against the owners of the truck for the cost of the machine, which was destroyed, and for the money I lost in having to cancel theatrical engagements. Seems kind of funny to see Jack Johnson as complainant in a damage suit, doesn't it? I have had enough experience in the last two years to know how to go about it, however."

PROTECTION FOR MIGRATORY BIRDS

Bills to provide federal protection for migratory birds, which were introduced in the United States senate by Senator McLean and in the house of representatives by Congressman Weeks, have both been reported favorably out of committee. The former was considered by the senate committee on forest reservations and the protection of game, and the latter by the house committee on agriculture.

In urging the necessity of this legislation, the American Game Protective and Propagation association of 111 Broadway, New York City, says:

"Millions of dollars can annually be saved to the people of the United States by wise and conservative treatment of the enormous natural resources represented by our migrants. Under present conditions countless numbers of ducks, geese and shore birds are slaughtered at a time when every female killed means the destruction of a small flock. At all times the killing goes on at a rate that is out of all proportion to the natural increase.

"E. V. Visart, state game warden of Arkansas, reported in his indorsement of the Weeks bill that 90,600 birds were sent from Mississippi county in one shipment on Oct. 16, 1911. According to the game warden of Louisiana, there were 4,265,585 ducks, geese and shore birds killed in that state during the winter of 1910-11."

DETROIT PURCHASES ITS HOODOO PITCHER.

Detroit, Mich., May 6.—President Navin of the Detroit American league baseball club announced yesterday the purchase of Pitcher Bill Bailey from the St. Louis Americans. Bailey, a southpaw, was long considered one of Detroit's greatest "hoodoos."

ON THE IRON RANGES

NEAR MURDER AT VIRGINIA

Rock Hurled Through Window and Shots Fired Into Boarding House.

Denied Admission to Card Game, Two Men Take Awful Revenge.

Virginia, May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an attempt to kill Eli Adamovich, a boarder at the house of Rudolph Polovina, on the North side, about midnight Sunday, a rock weighing fifty pounds was hurled through a window of Polovina's house and several shots were fired, one of which went into the wall near the bed, in which Adamovich slept, and another narrowly missing Polovina's wife and his little daughter.

Barred From Card Game.

Mike Milacich and Tony Jacitch are under arrest, charged with being the men who attacked the Polovina house. It is said that earlier in the evening they had wanted to join a card game at this house and were refused a place in the game by Adamovich. They returned later and commenced to shoot up and bombard the boarding house with rocks. Mrs. Polovina, from a window, saw the men arrested and identified them. The police station was notified and they were arrested at another boarding house soon after.

BLIND-PIG GANG TAKEN BY POLICE

Notorious Place in Cyprus Location Raided By Oliver Police.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver Iron Mining company police swooped down on the Cyprus location yesterday and gathered in three men who are alleged to have run a notorious bling pig there in defiance of law for some time.

Fifteen barrels of beer and a lot of other liquids as well as saloon paraphernalia were also confiscated.

The men arrested gave the names of Tony Petrella, Sam Marino and H. Tasckich. They will have a hearing some time this afternoon or evening before Judge Brady.

STEEL OFFICIAL VISITING RANGE

Hibbing Hoping That Visit May Mean Working in Sellers Mine Soon.

Hibbing, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vice President D. G. Kerr of the United States Steel corporation is on the Mesaba range today with officials of the Oliver Iron Mining company on one of his regular tours of inspection. The party is at Virginia today and will spend tomorrow at Hibbing.

As Mr. Kerr has charge of the raw products of the Steel corporation, principally the ore, there is much interest in his visit just now since it is hoped it may result in the Sellers mine being worked. The Sellers is tied up by the injunction but many predict that as a result of his visit a settlement with the party that secured the injunction may be made so that one of the great open pit mines can resume.

Shipping Much Ore.

The Missabe road at present is shipping ten or twelve trains of ore daily from Mitchell to the docks at Duluth, the ore being loaded from stock piles at the Shenango and Clark mines.

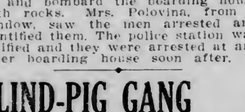
The Great Northern is shipping fourteen trains daily to Allouez and by the end of the week will be sending 16,000 or 18,000 tons of ore daily to that dock. It is predicted that next week the Great Northern will be shipping 20,000 tons of ore daily from this section breaking all records and that this season's shipments over that rond will be 15,000,000 tons.

Nut Cake

Simply Delicious

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

In giving this recipe, Mrs. Hill believes it to be one of the best all-around cake recipes it has been her good fortune to make. The simplicity and uniformly good results will appeal to every housewife



K C Nut Cake

One-half cup butter; 1½ cups granulated sugar; ¾ cup milk; 2 cups flour; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 cup of nut meats chopped fine; whites of 4 eggs, beaten dry.

Sift flour and baking powder together, three times. Cream the butter, add the sugar; then alternately, the milk and the flour mixture; lastly the whites of eggs and the nut meats. Bake in a sheet in a shallow pan thirty or forty minutes. When cold cover with the icing and decorate with whole nut meats.

This is also an excellent white cake recipe when nuts are omitted.

Chocolate Icing

One cup granulated sugar; ½ ounce chocolate; white of 1 egg, beaten dry; ½ teaspoonful vanilla extract; ¼ cup water.

Stir the sugar, chocolate and water until the mixture boils; cover and let boil three minutes. Uncover and let boil till when tested in cold water a soft ball may be formed; beat into the white of egg, then beat until cold, add vanilla.

The nut caramel frosting given on page forty of the K C Cook's Book may be used in place of the chocolate frosting, if desired. A copy of the Cook's Book, handsomely illustrated in 9 colors, will be mailed free, if you will send the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago. 35

GREAT NORTHERN DEPOT.

BUY DEPOT SITE.

Mesaba Electric Line Has Acquired Property in Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The corner of Central avenue and Chestnut street, across from the pumping station, has been acquired by the Mesaba Electric Railway company for its Chisholm depot site.

The site is directly behind the O'Neil hotel and a block from Lake street. The tracks will turn down Central avenue at the O'Neil corner, going out of town toward Virginia, stopping at the depot just before taking the straight line to enter the bridge.

Just how soon the work of constructing the depot will begin is not known at this time. The track laying is expected to take place within the next sixty or ninety days.

A mass meeting will be held tonight to decide what action the village will take toward paving at the same time the tracklaying is done. The council, it is believed, will follow the wishes of the majority of business men.

OLD MINING MAN DIES.

Thomas Paul, Formerly of Ishpeming, Called at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Paul died at the home of his brother-in-law, Joseph Roskilly, Sunday, aged 67. Mr. Paul was formerly captain at the Minorca mine, a Pickands & Mather property of which Mr. Roskilly is the superintendent. He had lived in Virginia for ten years, but on account of illness had not been employed for five years. Besides his sisters, Mrs. Roskilly and Miss Sarah Paul of Virginia, he leaves also a sister, Mrs. Joseph Blamey of Ishpeming, Mich.

Mr. Paul was born in England and when very young was brought by his parents to Ridgeway, Wis. At the age of 28 he went to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, living there nearly thirty years, for many years being a shift boss at the Michigamme mine near Ishpeming. Mr. Paul was never married. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and of the Temple of Honor. His remains will be taken to Ishpeming, Mich., for burial, Tuesday. The Odd Fellows will have charge of funeral services to be held in this city Tuesday, just prior to taking the train.

WANT SHORT CUT ROAD.

Ely Desires Closer Connection With White Iron District.

Ely, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club has requested the county commissioners to construct a short cut road between here and White Iron.

The present road is impassable for any reasonable load, and among other things it goes over a very steep hill, the new road would eliminate this grade entirely, and would also shorten the distance between here and White Iron by about a mile, yet only about a mile of road would have to be built.

UXORICIDE ON TRIAL.

John Backa Facing Jury for Killing His Wife.

Virginia, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of John Backa, the Lavelle township farmer indicted for killing his wife, began in district court today. A jury was secured during the morning and some evidence introduced. Backa was for a number of years located at Hibbing and was in the saloon business there. Latterly he has been residing on a farm south of Hibbing. The state will endeavor to show that Backa went home from Hibbing on the day of the shooting intoxicated, and that when Mrs. Backa upbraided him he deliberately took down a rifle and shot her through the knees, with the result that she finally died.

The testimony of a son, aged 10, is expected to have an important bearing on the case. He states that his father did not shoot his mother intentionally. Mrs. Backa told neighbors after the shooting that her husband deliberately shot her and held to this statement until she died. There are several children in the family and these are being taken care of at the home of a sister of the woman the state alleges was murdered.

FAIR

Comment on this weather had better be left unsaid. Unless one's language is kept well in check it may get beyond the bounds of what may be printed in a reputable family journal. The rain, the wind, the fog, the cold have been turned loose with distressing regularity during the last thirty-six hours. We may as well have it all at once. Perhaps the supply may be exhausted. Generally fair and warmer weather is the prediction for tonight and tomorrow. Glory be!

Beautiful weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:43 and it will set at 7:25 this evening, giving fourteen hours and forty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours widespread and generally copious rains fell over northern districts and Gulf states in connection with low pressure conditions now centered over North Dakota and the extreme Southwest. Very heavy rains fell at West Gulf Coast stations during the last twenty-four hours. The temperature is moderate to cool this morning in all districts except the extreme South. At the Head of the Lakes there is a prospect of clearing and somewhat warmer weather tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 6.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; frost probable tonight.

Upper lakes—Moderate variable winds; generally fair weather tonight and Tuesday.

SEEK TO FATHOM VIRGINIA ROW

Authorities Will Try to Learn Cause for Sunday Night Near Riot.

Virginia, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The authorities are trying to learn the cause for the small sized riot on the Northside last night in which two gangs of Austrians participated, which landed two in the hospital and several in jail. Knives, guns and rocks were used. The accused may be arraigned this afternoon, when through the medium of interpreters, as none of the principals speak English, something may be learned. It is reported that a woman figures in the trouble, but just at what angle has not developed. It is said at the hospital today that neither of the seriously wounded men will die.

Mike Redeckavich has a bullet wound in his breast and Mike Rajanavich is in an adjoining room cut and slashed terribly with a knife in the back and neck.

Bystander Gets Wound.

Mike Klashner is in the city jail with a bullet wound, the lead having plowed through the upper part of his arm and the back of his shoulder. He was a bystander and was not in either of the gangs. Tony Maser, who is believed to have done most of the shooting, was also arrested and is badly beaten up with rocks. Nick Masar has an ugly knife wound in his breast which is deep and jagged, but not necessarily dangerous. Others who were arrested are Joe Slabbets and Joe Marsan. All the men are employes of the Alpea mine and have been living at George Sholar's boarding house. From those who are able to speak a little English it is believed the battle started over an argument about a girl to whom one of the men was paying attention.

All are between the ages of 22 and 26 and although the men had been drinking some, none were intoxicated. The free-for-all fight took place near the corner of Fifth street and Second avenue about 9:30.

Al McCulloch, who lives in the vicinity, rushed out when he heard the shots fired and was threatened with a knife in the hands of one of the combatants, whom he felled with a rock. He then called for assistance by telephone and the patrol was sent with Chief Ellis Walsh, Owen Gately and Frank Chopp. Three trips of the wagon was made before the last of the gang arrested were taken in. The mob became wild with excitement and a great crowd gathered. When Tony Masar was overpowered and placed in the wagon the mob surged around and was going to prevent him being taken to the station. It was necessary for the chief and his assistants to use violence and roughly handle those who approached to prevent an actual attempt to take Masar away from the officers. In all there were six men in the jail and two in the hospital after the affair was all over.

TAKEN TO IRONWOOD.

Body of Two Harbors Woman to Be Buried in Michigan.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following services this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. R. Sullivan and Holy Ghost church, the body of Mrs. Mary Hannon, the pioneer woman who died last week was taken by the family to Ironwood, Mich., for interment beside the body of her husband. The deceased was the mother of a large family and is survived by the following children: John Hannon of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Joseph Cramans of Whitefish, Mont.; S. C. Hannon of Winnipeg, Man.; Theodore Hannon of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. D. R. Sullivan of this city.

LEAVES FOR MONTANA.

Secretary of Nashwauk Fire Department to Become Farmer.

Nashwauk, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Nehwauk volunteer fire department the resignation of A. C. Guith as secretary was accepted and H. Haugen was elected to fill the unexpired term. The relief association articles of incorporation and by-laws for same were read and approved. Arvid Mattila was elected as a member of the department, to fill the vacancy of A. C. Guith.

Mr. A. C. Guith and family left Sunday for Montana, where Mr. Guith has filed on a homestead. Mr. Guith has been a resident of Nashwauk for a number of years, during which time he has made a multitude of friends.

CALUMET VILLAGE MARSHAL EXONERATED.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case against Joe Graham, village marshal at Calumet, the mining town north of here, arrested on the charge of two lumberjacks that he had robbed them when he placed them under arrest, was dismissed in court here, the charge having fallen flat. The defense showed that the complaining witnesses, Herman Rose and Charles Anderson, were drunk and had only 30 cents between them, which they gave to the marshal. They claimed he took $7.

FARMERS GET $27,000,000.

Report Is Made on Wisconsin Sugar Beet Growing and Products.

Madison, Wis., May 6.—One of the little known uses for Wisconsin agricultural products is cited by B. G. Packer, commissioner of immigration for Wisconsin, in a statement in which he shows that last year one Wisconsin beet sugar factory furnished a carload of beet sugar a day during its run to a large Chicago concern for the purpose of sweetening chewing tobacco.

It is claimed that $100,000,000 worth of sugar is used annually in the manufacture of candies. Approximately 20,000 acres in Wisconsin are devoted to sugar beet culture, and the records of the manufacturers indicate that Wisconsin farmers received in 1911 over $27,000,000 for their crop and that the acreage is continually increasing.

Valuable experiments are being conducted by the state agricultural college to secure seed strains superior to the exported product.

Amateur Aviator Falls.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 6.—J. B. McCalley, young amateur aeroplanist of this city, fell with his machine, a distance of forty feet, and was seriously injured. His aeroplane was demolished.

Manufacturer Stub Roo Tonic.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 28, 1909.

Stub Roo Medical Co.:

Gentlemen—Your Stub Roo Tonic will never be forgotten by me, for it has saved my life. I had lung trouble and was pronounced incurable by several physicians. In their opinion I had only a few weeks to live, but your Stub Roo Tonic cured me entirely. I am now well and strong and enjoy living, as life is sweet to any one. I can't speak too well of Stub Roo Remedies. It is different from all remedies I received from doctors. After I had used Stub Roo Tonic for a while I began to get hungry. I felt like living. I could eat and sleep and I soon commenced to grow stronger. I am now well and happy. Thanks to your Stub Roo Tonic. Any one sick of lung trouble like I was should not forget the Stub Roo Tonic. I am giving you this testimonial for a reference to your remedies and I think the public ought to know about it. I know it's good. Yours truly, MISS ANNA OLSON, 160 N. Sixty-third Ave., West Duluth.

BAD REPORTS BULL WHEAT

Former Statements of Damage to Winter Wheat Are Enlarged.

Good Offers and Light Demand for Flaxseed Lower the Prices.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 6.—In spite of large primary receipts, wheat took a great bulge on the markets of North America this morning, owing to crop reports worse than any that have yet been published. Duluth No. 1 northern cash wheat closed today at $1.18, a higher price than it has heretofore touched at any time this year. Duluth May wheat closed at an advance of 1⅝c. Durum closed 1c up. Cash wheat closed ½c higher than May. Oats closed ⅝c off. Rye and barley were unchanged. Duluth May and July flax both closed 1c lower.

This morning wheat went still higher than it has gone at any time this year. Brokers seem to anticipate a bullish government crop report. The reports that were received from various parts of the wheat country, both winter and spring, were almost absolutely without exception bullish. The reports that come today not only corroborated but even seemed to enlarge upon the stories of damage that have been coming during the past few weeks. The primary wheat receipts on the American markets were extraordinarily large today, but little attention was paid to them, and they had little, if any, effect on the market. The news of crop conditions was what seemed to interest everybody more than anything else, and there was very little in that news to afford the bears any consolation or a shadow of seeing things going their way.

Duluth May wheat, which closed Saturday's May $1.16¾ bid, opened today at $1.17⅛ bid, and at noon was selling for $1.18 bid. Chicago and Minneapolis both reported big bulges in wheat. There was no market session at Winnipeg.

There were also higher quotations from foreign markets. Liverpool wheat closed at ¾d to ⅞d in spite of larger world shipments last week. The American reports of winter wheat crops, especially that of Missouri, were the main bullish factor. Another was the announcement that France was buying American wheat and that Antwerp was looking after her part of this country.

Flaxseed Goes Lower.

Flaxseed on the Duluth market took quite a drop during the morning by reason of the fact that the offers were fairly large and the demand was slack. There were twenty-one cars of flaxseed on the Duluth tracks for inspection. Duluth May flaxseed at noon today was a cent down at $2.11½ and July was a cent lower at $2.12½. Minneapolis today was bidding a cent under the Duluth price for cash seed. Buenos Ayres May seed closed Saturday at $1.72⅛, being unchanged from Friday's close. Calcutta flaxseed on the London market for May and June delivery closed today at $2.22⅛, being 3½c higher. Trading on the Duluth market today was light.

FLAXSEED.

Although the receipts of flaxseed on the Duluth market have been increasing, the price has been rather upward than downward in its tendency. A thrashing of flaxseed in the fields of North Dakota this spring and the fact that Minneapolis has continued to bid about 3c under the Duluth price have had the natural result of greatly increasing the receipts at Duluth. Minneapolis is still receiving more cars of flaxseed than Duluth, but while Minneapolis has been losing, Duluth has been gaining. Minneapolis during the week ending last Saturday received 122 cars of flaxseed against 129 cars the week before. Duluth, however, received last week 79 cars against 68 the week before. Yet there have been buyers on hand to pick up the Duluth flaxseed as fast as it has been offered. Minneapolis does not seem to care for it, but it sells readily at Duluth at a comparatively high price.

The week ending last Saturday cash flaxseed on the Duluth market closed at prices averaging $2.17¾ against an average of $2.17 for the week before and $2.16⅝ for the week before. Last week the price gradually rose, instead of working downward. Saturday's closing price was $2.18½.

This is the more remarkable in view of the fact that the foreign markets have been bearish rather than bullish. Winnipeg flax during the week went down 1c. There has been a good demand for Winnipeg seed, and the price has had something of a downward tendency on account of the good receipts from the farms of Saskatchewan, where spring thrashing has been going on. Argentine flaxseed last week went down over 2½c and Calcutta flaxseed on the London market declined nearly 5c. There have been shipments of both Argentine and Calcutta flaxseed to the United States this year, especially Argentine, though the shipments thus far have been insignificant compared with what they were at this time last year. This is to be expected, of course, in view of the fact that the 1911 American crop of flaxseed was far greater than that of 1910. But the fact remains that there has been some shipping of both Argentine and Calcutta flaxseed to the United States, and if this has paid at the higher prices, it certainly will pay better as the prices at Buenos Ayres and London come down. What, then, keeps up the Duluth market?

There seems to be but one answer, and that is that it is being artificially help up. American crushers are still getting the bulk of their flaxseed from Canada, while the Duluth market is kept up for the sake of keeping up the price of oil. It stands to reason that with the enlarged receipts on the Duluth market this game is a much more expensive one than it used to be. Whether larger imports of flaxseed from India will put a stop to it, remains to be seen. The India export-able surplus, it is reported, will not be large this year, by reason of rain and rust. The exportable surplus is now estimated at only 250,000 tons, which is about 275,000 tons below the exportable surplus of last year, although about 400,000 acres more were sown this year than last year. The exports in 1910 were 531,000 tons and in 1909 they were only 237,000 tons. The poor quality of Argentine seed has had a great deal to do with keeping it out of the American markets this year.

It may be, therefore, that the Duluth price will continue to remain high. On Saturday Duluth No. 1 closed about 25 c higher than Manitoba No. 1 on the Winnipeg market. A margin wider than this would probably cause the Canadian seed to climb the tariff wall and rush down upon the Duluth market.

MARKET GOSSIP

The following crop report has been issued by the Van Dusen-Harrington company of Minneapolis:

"Since our last crop letter the weather has continued cool and some rain has fallen in Minnesota and North and South Dakota. The conditions have been ideal for slow, steady, normal growth and grain which has already been sown is getting a good start. Early sown wheat is up, and in almost all instances the stand and color are good because the cool weather has promoted heavy root development.

"Wheat seeding is completed excepting in the northwestern corner of North Dakota, where they had a heavy snowfall a few days ago.

"We are satisfied that when we said the decrease in wheat acreage would not exceed 5 per cent for the three states, the statement was very conservative, and from present indications we do not believe that the decrease will reach that figure.

"Spring seeding is completed in Minnesota and South Dakota, and well under way in North Dakota.

"Barley seeding is in full swing in Minnesota and South Dakota and is starting in North Dakota.

"Flax seeding has not started as yet. There will be a heavy decrease in barley acreage in South Dakota this year, due to the difficulty in procuring good seed and the high prices asked for what little is available. There will be a large increase of oats in each of the three states, as oats this year must replace a large portion of the corn and barley heretofore used for feed.

"Coarse grain seeding has not progressed as yet to a point where any estimate as to the acreage can be made."

A wire from Grand Forks, N. D., says: "Northeastern North Dakota had a soaking rain Saturday. Reports received this morning say that in some places there were two inches of precipitation. We have not heard from points west of Devils Lake but at that place and thirty miles north there was a heavy downpour. Farm work will be stopped until the drying weather comes. We talked with a man at Crary this morning and he says but a small portion of the wheat seeding has been completed. Much wheat has been sown on the stubble on account of the small amount of plowing."

A telegram from Mandan, N. D., says: "Farmers will diversify more than ever in this country. There will be a lot more of corn, oats, barley and potatoes."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, May 6.—Wheat prices today bounced up to new high records for the crop. An official report from Ohio making the field conditions worse than any private estimate was largely responsible. There was also news that the United States had resumed export sales, notably to France and Antwerp. The bulls were likewise encouraged by the Missouri state report, the absence of rain in Kansas, and by advices that Russian crop prospects had become adverse. On the other hand, world shipments were larger than expected. The market opened ⅝@1¼c upu. July at the outset ranged from $1.13⅜ to $1.14, a gain of ⅝@1¼c and later rose to $1.14⅝.

A big decrease in the United States visible supply total strengthened the market still more. The close, however, was easy with July 1⅝@1⅞c net higher at $1.14⅜@1.14½.

There was considerable selling pressure on corn. Increased acreage in Missouri had influence on the bear side. Demand was slow. July opened unchanged to ¼c up at 77½@77⅝c, touched 77⅜@77⅝c and then declined to 77c.

After some additional backset the market rallied in sympathy with wheat. The close, though, was weak, ⅝c down at 76⅞c.

Traders in the oats crowd took their cue from the fine weather. Business was active and sentiment bearish. July started a shade to ¼c lower at 53¼c to 53⅜@53½c, reacted to 53¼c and afterward dropped to 53¼@53¼c.

A falling off in hog receipts west as compared with the previous week served to strengthen provisions. First sales were unchanged to 7½c higher, with September delivery $19.50 for pork, $11.30@11.32½ for lard, and $10.67½@10.70 for ribs.

STOCKS ON DOWN GRADE

United States Steel Under Severe Pressure and Declines Sharply.

Other Standard Issues Share in Slump and Close Is Heavy.

New York, May 6.—Acute weakness was shown in the opening prices on the stock exchange today. United States Steel, with one block of 10,000 shares, was offered at 67¾ to 67¼, against 69, Saturday's closing. Declines of a point or over were registered by Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading and Lehigh Valley in the early dealings, with slightly less material losses throughout the active list. Aside from slight gains in the Erie, the general tendency was downward.

Further recessions were recorded in the first hour the selling of United States Steel being the most marked. That stock declined to 66, which completely obliterated all its April rise and the same condition applied with more or less force to other standard shares. Reading, at 170¾, yielded the greater part of its recent sensational advance, and numerous other issues were off 3 to 6 points from their best of the past week.

Beginning of the formal hearing in the government's suit against the United States Steel corporation and the strike of the Western railroad freight handlers, together with other occurrences past and impending of an adverse character were among the factors which contributed largely to the weakness of today's early stock market.

United States Steel apparently was singled out by the short interest and was steadily offered down to 65⅝, a loss of 3⅝ points from Saturday. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Canadian Pacific, as well as Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting fell 2 points. The low level of the early trading resulted in a complete loss of a majority of the gains made during the rise of the past six weeks.

The selling, so far as surface indications pointed, appeared to be made up in equal parts of bear pressure and liquidation of long stocks. A feeble rally in the second hour was followed by renewed offerings of United States Steel in blocks of thousands of shares at a further loss. Bonds were steady.

The recovery of the early afternoon was of brief duration, the market again becoming unsettled when United States Steel fell lower than before. Union Pacific also went under its early decline, while Reading alone of the speculative issues maintained semblance of steadiness.

The market closed heavy. Reading was the feature of the last hour, selling up to 173⅞, or three points above its low of the day. The range of the list failed to make more than partial responses, however, except for some of the isolated railway issues. Renewed weakness in Steel produced recessions elsewhere in the final dealings.

STORM HAS NO EFFECT

Vessel Movement on Lakes Not Retarded By Unfavorable Weather.

First Coal Cargoes Arrive in Duluth-Superior Harbor.

Yesterday's heavy weather did not retard the lake traffic at all, as the largest fleet passed through the local canal since the 1912 navigation season opened. The arrival of two salt carrying vessels and eight boats with hard coal cargoes were the first of the season.

Saturday afternoon the following ore boats arrived from the lower lakes: C. A. Congdon, Lynch, M. Taylor, Schoonmacher, Zenith City, Edward Smith, J. B. Lozen, Joseph Sellwood, Townsend, Palmer, Cornell, Berry and D. G. Kerr. The only other boats that arrived Saturday afternoon were the Allegheny, freight, and A. M. Byers, coal.

Yesterday the City of London and the Zillah arrived with salt cargoes and the following also had light salt shipments: Pestigo, Miztec, and B. Noble. The coal arrivals yesterday were the Shenango, Holden, H. Coulby, Denmark, G. J. Granner. Other arrivals were Northern Light, J. H. Barlow, grain; B. F. Jones, W. P. Snyder, H. D. Goulder, Ishtalon, H. M. Hanna, Jr., Maheton, Carter, Crescent City, Hubbard, Champlain, ore; Benjamin Nobles, steel rails; Mohegon, Mingo, light for lumber. The Rockefeller and J. H. Hoyt went to the shipyards for repairs.

But few arrivals are recorded for this morning. The Western Star, City of Berlin, and the Peter White are the only boats that have passed through the local harbor this morning. The former went to the shipyards for repairs and the latter two are light for grain.

The big tug Harvey D. Goulder of the Union Towing and Wrecking company cleared for the Soo last night, where it will pick up one of the Standard Oil company barges and tow it to Duluth or Fort Williams. The Standard Oil barge was the first boat to leave the Canadian Head of the Lakes from the large fleet kept in the large ice floe near the ports.

Saturday afternoon the outbound steamers were as many as the arrivals. The same average numbers are recorded yesterday also. The Mullen, Olcott, Ellwood, Princeton, ore; James S. Dunham, Umbria, grain, and Rochester, merchandise, left for the lower lakes and Canada Saturday afternoon.

Of the departures yesterday the following had ore cargoes: Fulton, J. Watt, Murphy, Rensselaer, D. G. Kerr, Palmer, Jenkins, J. P. Morgan, Jr., M. Elphicke, Thos. Lynch, Zenith City, Mullen, Olcott, Ellwood, Princeton, Fulton, J. Watt, Murphy, ore; Jas. S. Dunham, Umbria, Norway, Tomlinson, J. T. Kopp, A. E. McKinstry, Algonquin, Niagara, grain; Rochester, Lakeland, Northern King, merchandise; tug Goulder to Soo.

MARINE NOTES

The American is being fitted out and will be placed on the north shore and Isle Royale run in a few days.

Detroit's marine postoffice, which has been open since April 22, handled 7,873 pieces of mail up to May 1, according to a report filed with the postal department Saturday.

Erie canal will be opened for navigation on May 15.

Of the eighty-eight vessels which had wintered at Milwaukee, nearly sixty are now plying the Great Lakes.

President Livingston of the Lake Carriers' association announced Saturday afternoon that from now on all the beacon lights on Lake Superior will be in commission.

CITY HEALTH FORCE IS BUSY

The monthly report of Miss Louise E. Schneller, visiting nurse under the health department, shows that she had over 200 cases of tuberculosis under her charge during April. She made a large number of visits during the month and made sixty-three examinations at clinics.

The monthly report of George Smith, meat inspector, shows that he was busy during the month. He condemned 2,287 pounds of meat and poultry, inspected 1,403 veal carcasses and thirteen pigs. He made over 1,000 visits to wholesale houses and retail shops.

The report of Milk Inspector Gust Redman gives a list of the milk samples which he tested during the month and of the dairies and cows inspected.

Mrs. Jeanette Baldwin reported that $145.40 was paid into the city for garbage service during the month.

GRAND JURY STILL BUSY

From present indications, the May grand jury will not finish its work until tomorrow. A final report, supplementing that made on Friday last, is expected to be returned to the court before 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Out of the eleven indictments returned Friday, six arraignments have been made. The prisoners were brought before Judge Dancer late Saturday afternoon and all entered pleas of not guilty.

They were: Gertrude Warnberg for grand larceny, second degree; Harry King, attempted abduction; Frank Di Bassi, grand larceny, second degree; John Di Billis, forgery, second degree; Joseph Kenney, child abuse, and Albert Miller, grand larceny, second degree.

In cases where the prisoners had not already engaged attorneys, the court appointed counsel.

TUESDAY A RED LETTER DAY

Attorney Lamer F. Blu, addressing the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon on behalf of the initiative, referendum and recall, declared Tuesday of this week would be one of the most important in the history of the city of Duluth.

"It will be one of the city's red letter days," he declared. "Years hence we shall remember that day as the day of the founding of good government and good citizenship. We are now on an issue that makes a sharp division between the good people and the bad people. Be sure that you vote on the right side. You must not only do that but you must use your telephone to get your friends out to vote.

"The saloon keepers are opposed to the initiative, referendum and recall. There are 184 saloons in the city of Duluth and I think there is good reason to believe that most of them want to run their saloons beyond the limits set by the law. I am told that each Saloon keeper is being held responsible by the opponents of the proposed amendments for twenty votes. That means nearly 4,000 votes gathered by the saloonkeepers against the measure. We must fight to beat them. We must get more than a mere majority. In order to carry the amendments we shall have to muster three votes for them to every two that are cast against them.

"You don't need to be registered. Whether your name is on the register or not if you are a qualified voter go to the polling place and cast a ballot for good Christian citizenship."

ADVERTISING MEN ARE ORGANIZING

Duluth advertising men are forming an organization for the study and discussion of advertising and for the advancement of effective advertising in Duluth.

The preliminary meetings have been held. About thirty of Duluth's leading advertising men have given their enthusiastic support to the new organization. It is expected that the Duluth Advertising club will become affiliated with the National Association of Advertising Clubs of America.

Notices have been sent out announcing a regular meeting of the Duluth Advertising club for tomorrow evening at 6:30 at the Duluth Commercial club. The advertising men will dine together and complete the work of organization. In addition to the business of the club several important speeches are scheduled for the evening.

Capital Increased.

Toronto, Ont., May 6.—Hereafter the Lake Superior Iron & Steel company, located at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., will be known as the Algoma Steel Corporation, ltd. The capital is to be increased from $1,000,000 to $30,000,000. The new corporation takes over the group of concerns known as the Soo industries.

WATCH KEPT AT CULVERT

Precautions Taken to Prevent Repetition of Flood at the Glen.

No further damage from water has been reported from the Glen at Twelfth avenue west where the storm Friday night drove a large number of people from their beds and pushed out a section of the Soo retaining wall.

A steady watch has been kept at the mouth of the concrete culvert to prevent it from clogging again and causing a repetition or addition to the damage already done. The residents of the basements which were flooded have been busy getting things into shape again and the Soo road has made temporary repairs to the retaining wall. It is expected that it will be rebuilt without loss of time.

The break in the wall has not interrupted the road's train service. For one day the trains were taken into another station over a different route, but the tunnel is again in use. The break was a short distance west of the tunnel opening. For a time it was feared that the street might sink following the washing away of part of the ground under it. There seems to be no danger of this now, however. The pavement is laid upon a heavy concrete base and it is said to be perfectly solid.

Men who lost their belongings have stated that they will hold the city responsible for their losses. Capt. Fiskett of the police department states that some of them have left notices of claims with him which aggregate nearly $1,000. Some of the men assert that the flood damaged them to the extent of several hundred dollars, largely personal belongings. The damage to the real estate is not heavy. The Soo is by far the heaviest sufferer. It is claimed that the repairs necessitated by the storm will cost several thousand dollars.

MISSED TITANIC BY FEW MINUTES

John Dixon, former night clerk of the St. Louis hotel, who arrived today from England, escaped the Titanic disaster by missing the boat by a few minutes.

Mr. Dixon has made frequent trips to the old country, having been born in England, and he has never had an accident at sea, but he believes he is alive today merely because he miscalculated the time and arrived too late to take passage on the first ship.

"I was somewhat disappointed when I missed sailing on the new boat," said Mr. Nixon. "My disappointment came to a sudden end when I received the news of the terrible tragedy that occurred. I later sailed on one of the American line boats."

Many of the friends of Mr. Nixon in this city believed that he was lost. Louis Bouchard, clerk at the St. Louis, had given Dixon up for lost. He was somewhat surprised today to see the former employe of the hotel walk into the lobby.

MORE PAY FOR BADGER TEACHERS

Madison, Wis., May 6.—That the average salary of the teachers of Wisconsin will be materially increased this year is the belief of the state superintendent's office and of W. N. Parker, editor of an educational paper.

There are two agencies militating to increase the salaries of these 10,000 teachers. First, there has been an increase of salary in other desirable occupations and teachers are becoming scarcer. Second, the standard of the teaching profession of the state has been increased gradually and there are a larger number of high school, normal and university graduates seeking positions, who demand higher salary than the country school teacher, who can offer instruction only in the rudiments.

BRITISH COLUMBIA RANCHMAN KILLED

Nelson, C. B., May 6.—The body of Peter Winstanley, a ranchman near here, was found today in a cellar under his house, the door of which had been forced. There were signs of a struggle and two heavy stones, clotted with blood, were found.

VETERANS OF THE CONFEDERACY MEET

Macon, Ga., May 6.—Veterans of the Confederacy, sons and granddsons of the warriors, and Daughters of the Confederacy to the number of 10,000 have arrived here for the annual reunion of United Confederate Veterans and affiliated organizations, which will begin tomorrow. Delegations are coming from as far North as Kansas and Missouri and from the West as far as California. The largest delegation will come from Texas.

The Southern Confederate Memorial association, an organization of women aiming to erect monuments throughout the South, convened this afternoon.

Camp Gordon, the place of reunion, contains 10,000 tents loaned by the government.

CHINESE WANT TO ENTER STATES

Washington, May 6.—Several hundred Chinese, fleeing from the disturbed zone in the state of Coahuila, Mex., are appealing to the United States government for a temporary asylum in this country. Terror-stricken by the memory of the Chinese massacre of the last revolution, Chinese are pouring into Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, Tex. Their urgent request for permission to cross the border line reached Washington today.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

STATE OF MINNESOTA, STATE AUDitor's office, St. Paul, April 29, 1912.

Notice is hereby given, That on June 19, 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor, at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands, and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1913, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale. The rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from the date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser. Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavits of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

D. H., May 6, 13, 20, 27, 1912.

PROF. HENRY B. HAILE.

I DO HEREBY SOLEMNLY AGREE AND GUARANTEE to make no charge if I fail to call you by name in full, names of your friends, enemies or rivals. I promise to tell you whether your husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false; teach you how to gain the love of the one you most desire, even though miles away; in fact, tell you every hope, fear or ambition better than you can tell yourself, without your speaking one word, and if you are not absolutely satisfied when reading is over (you to be full judge), then pay me not one penny. I have helped others, why not you?

THE SATURDAY HERALD

IS THE SUNDAY PAPER IN THE OUTSIDE TOWNS

The Saturday Herald is delivered bright and early Sunday morning to thousands of regular subscribers in the Copper and Iron districts of Northern Michigan.

The Saturday Herald is the favorite Sunday paper on the Iron Ranges, being delivered by our own carriers to thousands of regular subscribers.

The Saturday Herald, always 28 to 32 pages, is replete with features interesting to all members of the family. The news of neighboring towns furnished by our own correspondents, is one of the pleasing features of The Saturday Herald.

The Saturday Herald furnishes the Sunday reading for the great majority of homes in Duluth and tributary towns.

The Saturday Herald has a circulation greater by thousands than that of any other Saturday or Sunday paper in this territory.

GEN. OROZCO WARNS GOMEZ AND AIDES TO GET OUT OF MEXICO

Refuses to Recognize Rival Rebel's Claim to Presidency.

Madero Gets Report of Federal Army's Successes in the Field.

Washington Probably Will Refuse to Receive Revolutionist Envoys.

Escalon, Mex., May 7.—Gen. Pasquale Orozco has refused to recognize the provisional government established by Emilio Vasquez Gomez at Juarez last Saturday. Ozozco today, on the march southward, telegraphed Gomez, threatening him and his associates unless they left Mexico.

Upset Gomez's Plans.

Juarez, Mex., May 7. — Emilio Vasquez Gomez has issued a proclamation here formally assuming the responsibility of the "provisional presidency of Mexico." Officials here declare all the revolutionists are gathered under a single head.

Senor Gomez had intended leaving for Chihuahua to establish the provisional capital and to confer with Orozco, but the latter's action has upset his plans and this city will be his temporary headquarters.

Rebels Beaten Back.

Tucson, Ariz., May 7.—One thousand rebels attacked the federal garrison of 350 men at Mocorto, Sonora, according to advices received at the office of the Southern Pacific railroad here, but were defeated after a fierce battle. Dispatches from Empalme state the rebels lost 100 killed. The federals had three killed but forty men deserted.

Six Hundred Killed.

LOOKING OUT FOR THE VISITING METHODISTS

JOHN A. PATTON.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—John A. Patton is a prominent lay Methodist from Chattanooga, Tenn. As chairman of the book committee he has had charge of the entertainment of the thousand delegates to the Methodist conference now being held here.

NOMINATION IMPROBABLE

Abbot Presents the Washington View on the Roosevelt Campaign.

Favors Bryan for Temporary Chairman of the Baltimore Convention.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 7. — (Special to The Herald.) — Notwithstanding the Roosevelt showing in Massachusetts it is not believed here that his nomination is assured by that result. "Of course," said Senator John Sharp Williams, "the fact that Roosevelt broke nearly even with Taft in Massachusetts will have a certain immoral effect upon voters in other states. All the same it will not wholly control the situation. The fight for the eternal perpetuation of Rooseveltism is barely begun."

Really there is more noise to the Roosevelt campaign than its achievements warrant. One hears but little of what has been done by and for Taft and yet at the moment I write the president lacks but ninety-two of a nominating majority in the convention. Mr. Roosevelt needs 313. Arkansas and Nevada will probably act be-

NEW DELAY IN ARCHBALD CASE

Papers Containing Charges Against Judge Are Yet Unopened.

Washington, May 7.—Opening of the papers containing charges against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court again was deferred when the house judiciary committee met today to begin an inquiry into the allegations against the jurist.

Edward J. Williams of Scranton, Pa., who was said to have been associated with Judge Archbald in negotiations for the purchase of culm bank properties for the Erie Railroad company, telegraphed that he would not reach Washington for the forenoon session of the committee. It was expected the committee would meet later in the day.

One of the things to be taken up by the committee at the outset will be whether Judge Archbald should not be asked to appear because the committee will be in a position much the same as a grand jury. Representative Clayton, chairman of the committee, is inclined to this view.

"I have purposely refrained from opening the papers in the Archbald case," Mr. Clayton said, "because I did not desire to examine them until the full committee could go over them with me. The papers will be opened before the committee, and it will then be determined just what course to pursue."

STEREOTYPERS ORDERED BACK

Strike in Chicago Refused Recognition By International Union.

Chicago, May 7.—Conditions apparently were unchanged today in the newspaper strike situation, in spite of an order to the local stereotypers from James J. Freel, president of the International Stereotypers' union, directing the men to return to work.

President Freel sent the order to L. H. Straube, president of the Chicago organization, declaring the strike a violation of existing contracts. Throughout the morning Mr. Freel remained at his hotel, ready to meet the representatives of the strikers, but none visited him.

The afternoon papers prepared to issue editions and wagons and newsboys were in readiness. There was little disorder in the downtown district, although those seeking to sell the regular afternoon and morning papers were subjected in some instances to much verbal abuse.

Police were called on early today to quell a disturbance on the North side caused by striking newspaper wagon drivers and newsboys. Two wagons loaded with newspapers were overturned and the harness cut from the horses before the arrival of the police. A crowd of several hundred was attracted, but nobody was injured.

Automobile Tires Burn.

Providence, R. I., May 7.—The storehouse of the Revere Rubber company, containing several hundred thousand dollars' worth of automobile tires, was destroyed by fire this afternoon.

SAYS POLITICIANS APPROVE SUFFRAGE

Ithaca Woman Talks at Wichita in Campaign in Kansas.

Wichita, Kan., May 7.—Dr. Helen Brewster Owens of Ithaca, N. Y., equal suffrage organizer in the Kansas campaign, who during the last six months has visited every congressional district in the state and fifty-four counties, making public lectures, gave a glowing account of the work in her report to the state convention of the Kansas Equal Suffrage association here today.

"Politicians are coming to us voluntarily, anxious to be known as suffragists." Dr. Owens' report said: "Fully three-fourths of the lawyers favor us."

EDDY GIFT TO CHURCH VALID

Christian Science Suit Decided By New Hampshire Supreme Court.

Concord, N. H., May 7.—The clause of the will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, bequeathing the residue of her estate, valued at about $2,000,000, to the First Church of Christ Scientist, of Boston, creates a "valid trust," in the opinion of the supreme court of New Hampshire, announced today. The court holds that "the residuary clause is not a gift to a church, but a gift for religious purposes, sustainable as a charitable trust."

MUST SELECT NEW BISHOPS

Methodists May Pick Ten During Present General Conference.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society Makes Quadrennial Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — That Helena, Mont., Los Angeles, Cal., Pittsburg, Pa., and Detroit, Mich., and Kansas City probably are the places where episcopal residences will be established at this session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, is the belief of a number of delegates high in the councils of the church. The report of the committee on episcopal residences is to be made to the conference tomorrow.

Other cities which are making a close race for resident bishops are Cleveland, Ohio, and Bismarck, N. D. The dropping of New Orleans as a resident city also is being discussed by the delegates.

With the establishing of four or five new episcopacies, it is said that the conference at the present session will be forced to elect at least ten bishops. One hundred and fifty names, it is estimated, will be balloted upon at the first vote on bishops, of which number probably 100 will be dropped on the second ballot.

Women Make Report.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church reported to the general conference today that good results had followed the development of the society in the home and foreign departments; the establishment of new enterprises; great increase in receipts; and the uniting of the society with women's boards of other denominations, in establishing and maintaining union enterprises in the foreign field.

The report showed a total member-

WORLD RED CROSS DELEGATES MEET

Ninth International Conference Is Opened at Washington.

Washington, May 7.—Delegates from the Red Cross Society of the World and representatives of practically every civilized nation are gathering here today for the opening session of the ninth international Red Cross conference. The conference will continue until May 17, with the sessions open to the public after today.

Senator Root of New York was selected to call the body to order and welcome the foreign visitors, in the absence of President Taft, head of the American Red Cross.

The only other speeches on the program for the first meeting were a welcoming address to the delegates from beyond the seas by Brazilian Ambassador D. Da Gama, on behalf of South America, and a response by Gustave Ador, president of the international committee of the Red Cross.

A feature of the conference is a comprehensive collection of exhibits on display at the Pan-American building.

MARYLAND IS ROOSEVELT'S

Colonel Gets Bare Majority in State Republican Convention.

Clark Apparently Has Captured the Democratic Majority There.

Baltimore, Md., May 7.—Complete unofficial returns from the Maryland primaries today gave Theodore Roosevelt 66 delegates, or one more than the number necessary to control the state convention.

Democratic primary returns with only five precincts missing, gave Clark 81, Wilson, 43; Harmon, 4.

Governor Harmon carried only one county but the Wilson men believe that his vote played an important part in the result, since they say much of it would have gone to Governor Wilson if the Ohio governor had not been in the race.

Roosevelt and Clark.

This means that both Roosevelt and Clark will take from Maryland to the national conventions a solid block of sixteen votes. The Republican delegates chosen at the primaries will name sixteen delegates to Chicago at the state convention, May 14. The Democratic state convention on May 16 will select thirty-two national delegates, each with half a vote.

Although the Taft forces claim they will control the personnel of the state

IN JAIL WHILE MOTHER IS DYING

Tomah, Wis., Woman Refuses to Surrender Children at Court's Order.

La Crosse, Wis., May 7.—To remain in jail for contempt of court until she produces two of her children who are now in Idaho, and whom she is accused of kidnaping, is the sentence meted out to Mrs. Ruth Miles of Tomah, who was called to her old home in that city by the serious illness of her mother.

Mrs. Miles was married ten years ago to George Allen Isom of Tomah and later secured a divorce. Pending the decision of the court, the mother was given custody of the two children, with the provision that they be not removed from the jurisdiction of the court.

Mrs. Miles immediately went to Idaho, and when the husband was granted a divorce and the custody of the children she refused to give them up. A year ago she removed to Los Angeles, Cal., where she was married to William W. Miles of Chicago.

Returning to her old home in response to the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Beardsley, Mrs. Miles was immediately arrested upon the charge of kidnaping, and later the charge was changed to that of contempt of court. Although her mother is at the point of death, Judge E. C. Higbee has ordered the woman confined in jail until the children are produced.

The Beardsley family have been prominent residents of Tomah for many years.

MAKING HARD TEXAS FIGHT

Clark and Harmon Men Refuse to Concede Victory to Wilson.

County Conventions Are Held —Republican Choice in Doubt.

Dallas, Tex., May 7.—Texas Democrats and Republicans met in county conventions today to take the second step in indicating their choice among Governor Wilson, Governor Harmon and Champ Clark and between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt as presidential candidates. Wilson is the first choice on the Democratic side, while the Taft and Roosevelt contest still is an open one.

The conventions are scheduled for at least 243 out of 249 counties. Chief interest centers in the question whether an attack will be made on the apparent landslide by which Wilson won in Saturday's conventions.

Unofficial and incomplete returns indicated that his followers would have the controlling vote in a sufficient number of county conventions today to assure the New Jersey governor more than a majority of the 623 votes in the state convention.

Do Not Concede Defeat.

Campaign managers of Governor Harmon and Champ Clark do not concede defeat and promise vigorous contests.

The first county that reported today was Wilbarger. The two Democratic delegates to the state convention were instructed for Clark. The one Republican delegate was instructed for Taft.

The Republicans are entitled to 252 votes in their state convention. Numerous Texas counties are so sparsely settled that the Democrats sometimes poll only fifteen to twenty votes at a general election, and the existence of Republicans in such counties is said to be negligible. It is probable there will be no Republican conventions in many counties.

TAFT TAKES DAY OFF AT HOME

Gets Rid of All Business and Politics While in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 7.—President Taft, for the first time in several weeks, today cast aside the cares of office and worries of the political stump to enjoy a day of recreation and rest. A diversified program had been mapped out for him, official business having no place on it.

In the morning the president held an informal reception for his many friends made during his period of residence here. This afternoon he will occupy a box at the Cincinnati-Philadelphia baseball game.

In the evening Mr. Taft will attend the opening of the Cincinnati May Musical festival. While it is the custom of both himself and Mrs. Taft to remain through the musical season, he will be able to attend only the opening night, the political campaign through Ohio necessitating the cutting short of his stay here. Mrs. Taft, however, will remain to the end of the festival.

J. P. MORGAN'S CHURCH HIRES A NEW PASTOR

REV. KARL REILAND.

New York, May 7.—Rev. Karl Reiland has been chosen to succeed Rev. Hugh Birckhead as pastor of St. George's church of which Pierpont Morgan is one of the wardens. Mr. Reiland is a native of Brooklyn and was ordained in 1901. He is regarded as orthodox in faith, but liberal in works. He is married and has one daughter. New York is not unacquainted with Mr. Reiland. He was assistant to Dr. Huntington at Grace church for three years and his work there attracted so much attention that he was invited to preach in many parts of the country. He has lately been at the head of a Yonkers congregation.

AAD PATROL IN LIMELIGHT

Duluth Shriners Get Much Attention at Los Angeles Meeting.

Keys of the City Are Turned Over to Visitors By the Mayor.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Aad Temple patrol from Duluth is the most popular patrol in Los Angeles at the meeting of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Its picture was spread all over the front pages of two newspapers this morning and, Capt. Thomas P. Bradley has increased visibly during the past twenty-four hours in head and chest expansion. As the personal escort of Imperial Potentate Treat, the patrol naturally comes in for a good deal of attention and comment.

Today is a busy day for Capt. Bradley's men, for they have to escort Potentate Treat in all his movements from his quarters at the Hotel Alexandria to the convention hall at the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

As Capt. Bradley was sitting in the lobby of the Hotel Angelus last night, in walked two former Duluth men, F. S. Clark and D. H. Dunn, now both of Los Angeles. Dunn was a former schoolmate of the Aad patrol captain, and the two spent a very pleasant hour chatting about Duluth and its folk, and when Capt. Bradley returns to his home town he will bear with him a large number of messages to fellow townsmen and friends of Dunn.

Given Keys of City.

The first meeting of the imperial council, in connection with the thirty-eighth annual conclave of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine was opened today with an address of welcome by M. H. Flint, potentate of Amalalkah Temple, Los Angeles, who was followed by Mayor George Alexander, who gave the keys of the city to the visitors.

Imperial Potentate J. F. Tr[illegible] Fargo, N. D., responded to the addresses of welcome on behalf of the imperial council.

GERMAN AVIATOR IS KILLED BY FALL.

Berlin, May 7.—Aviator Bachmayer was killed today while flying at the Johannisthal aerodrome. Rounding a curve, the motor stopped and the monoplane turned on its side and dashed to the ground, a distance of 150 feet.

CROP LOSSES IN THE FLOOD IN LOUISIANA ARE OVER $8,000,000

Damage to Other Property Cannot Be Estimated as Yet.

Hundreds of Lives in Danger for Lack of Rescue Boats.

Water Covers 875 Square Miles of Territory in That State.

New Orleans, La., May 7.—Unless boats are hurried to remote sections of the flood-inundated country in Pointe Coupee parish, it is feared hundreds of persons will perish. Word was received in Moganza this morning that great numbers of people still are marooned in the country south of the levee breach at Torras. The lack of boats is a distressing handicap.

Stories of terrible suffering among flood refugees reached here today.

Unofficial estimates today place the agricultural loss from the flood in Louisiana at $8,500,000. An estimate of the other property loss cannot be made. Eight hundred and seventy-five square miles of the state have been inundated.

Had No Warning.

Hundreds of people living in the "back country" of Louisiana received no warning of the flood until the angry torrent swept upon them. They took refuge in housetops and in trees and on rafts, and now, for several days, they have been without adequate food or shelter from the heavy rains.

Scores of such refugees who were brought to Morganza in the relief boats early today, say there are hundreds more to be taken from their flood pris-

ST. PAUL VOTING ON COMMISSION

Heavy Balloting in Prospect for the Saintly City Election.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Polls opened today on what generally is conceded to be one of the most notable political battles in the history of the city. Besides electing city officials, voters have the opportunity to ballot for a new city charter opposing the commission form of government. Herbert P. Keller, Republican, is candidate for re-election to the mayoralty. He is opposed by Otto Bremer, Democrat.

Fair weather today gives promise of the heaviest vote ever cast in a St. Paul city election.

DEMOCRATS TIED AT WALLA WALLA

Indorsement of Candidates Carefully Avoided at State Meeting.

Walla Walla, Wash., May 7. — In spite of hours of argument in committees, every main question at issue before the Democratic state convention which met yesterday remains to be fought out on the floor of the convention today. The resolutions committee has voted down resolutions indorsing both Wilson and Clark, and even has gone so far as to strike from a resolution dealing with the indorsement of Democratic legislation, the phrase "leaders in congress" for fear it might be construed to refer to Clark or Underwood.

UNDERWOOD DENIES BRYAN'S CHARGES

Says His Candidacy Is Not In Any Interest Except His Own.

Washington, May 7. — Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, majority leader of the house and candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, today declared his presidential candidacy was not in the interests of Governor Harmon, nor of any other candidate than himself. This was in reply to a statement of William J. Bryan, in a speech at Chillicothe, Ohio, last night, that he had heard that the Underwood delegates chosen in Georgia and Florida were in reality Harmon men.

"It is impossible for a man in public life," said Mr. Underwood today, "to keep up with all the misrepresentations made about him, but I wish to say there is no warrant in fact for the statement made by Mr. Bryan. I am making the race for the presidential nomination with the honest endeavor to secure it for myself, and my candidacy is not and never has been in the interest of Judge Harmon or any candidate. Georgia, Florida and Alabama declared for me in a presidential primary election, and this was the expression of the desire of thousands of honest voters at the polls for me, and not for any other man."

DR. KALLEN TO TALK ON ZIONISM

University of Wisconsin Professor to Address Duluth Meeting Sunday.

Dr. Horace M. Kallen, professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting called by Ohave Zion Gate, O. K. of A., at the synagogue on Sunday evening, May 12, at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Maurice Lefkovits and Rabbi I. Teplitz will also address the meeting.

Dr. Kallen is one of the main movers of the Zionist organization in America, and is an authority on the Jewish Nationalist movement.

During his attendance at Harvard, when he was one of the late Prof. James' and Prof. Munsterberg's honor students and where he received his Ph. D. degree, he was instrumental in establishing a Jewish collegate society "The Menorah," to bring the students of the race closer to their nation.

The subject of Dr. Kallen's address will be: "Zionism and the American Jew."

In the last few months Dr. Kallen has addressed many gatherings in Chicago and Milwaukee and was well received.

YOU CANNOT "REFORM" THE DRINKER

Must First Take Away His "Appetite" or That Constant Craving For Liquor.

THE NEAL THREE-DAY TREATMENT SUCCESSFUL

It Drives the Poison Out of the System and Sets Up a Distaste for Drink.

THE drink habit is more than a habit. One doesn't drink today merely because he drank yesterday or last week or last month. He drinks to satisfy a craving which previous drinking induces. The more he drinks and the oftener he drinks the more and the oftener he wants to drink. There must be some other reason for this than merely that he has got into the habit of drinking. It is found in the fact that the taking of alcohol into the system inoculates it with a subtle poison that cries for more. Alcohol creates an appetite, a craving, a mad desire, which nothing but more alcohol will satisfy. That is what makes drunkards and why drunkards are slaves to the habit.

Now to reform the man thus afflicted it is of little use to preach to him of the virtues of temperance and the horrors of drink. He probably realizes them better than anybody. The thing to do is to remove the craving. That is the problem to which in recent years practical temperance reformers have applied themselves. And that is the problem which the Neal treatment has solved. It has done more. It has found a scientific method of replacing the craving for drink with an aversion to and distaste for it. The Neal treatment does not do this by hypodermic injections which scar the body, and undermine the system and leave it open to the attacks of disease. It does it through a simple medicinal treatment with harmless remedies. The Neal treatment cures in three days. Absolutely. Unfailingly. The patient takes no risk, as a contract is given to effect a perfect cure, to his entire satisfaction, or return the full fee paid at the end of the third day. The treatment involves no prolonged absence from business. In three days it is all over and the patient returns to his friends, his family and his home safe and sound, with the craving for intoxicants entirely gone.

Write for a copy of our contract and booklet, giving full information. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential.

WANT DR. DUMAS CASE CONTINUED

Federal Judge to Be Asked to Continue Fergus Falls Case.

Brainerd, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state will this afternoon make a motion before Judge McPherson of the United States district court at Fergus Falls to continue to November the case against Dr. Delbert F. Dumas, former mayor of Cass Lake, charged with conspiracy to rob the post office at Puposkey.

HEAVY VOTE BEING CAST

Citizens Taking an Interest in Charter Amendment Election.

Polls Will Be Open Until 9 o'Clock in the Evening.

Voting on the amendment to make the initiative, referendum and recall part of the charter was generally heavy throughout the city today.

The vote up to noon today in those sections of the city which are known to be strongly in favor of the amendment was noticeably large.

In the Seventh ward, which casts the largest vote in the city and which is expected to give the amendment the greatest support, the voters were coming in faster than in any section of Duluth, with Lakeside, also considered an amendment stronghold, a close second. The vote was also large in other precincts.

At noon over 150 votes had been cast in the Third precinct of the Seventh ward and at Lakeside over 100 votes had been put in the ballot boxes. The First precinct of the Seventh cast a large early morning vote, over 70 voters having registered their wishes before 9 o'clock.

In the Fourth precinct of the First ward, Hunter's Park, 68 votes had been cast by noon; in the First of the Fifth the total was 94 at 12 o'clock; in the Fifth of the Fifth, Duluth Heights, 52 men had voted; in the First of the Eighth an even 80 votes had been cast, and in the Third of the Eighth 38 votes had been cast.

The interest being shown is highly encouraging to those who have been making an active campaign for the initiative, referendum and recall. They have at no time expressed the slightest doubt but that the amendment would carry with the necessary three-fifths majority. The only question has been as to whether or not the vote would be large. Judging by the results up to noon this vote will be heavy enough to satisfy even those who have been leading the campaign.

The polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning and will be open until 9 o'clock tonight. This will give everyone in the city who is qualified an opportunity to vote on the proposition. No registration is necessary to vote on the amendment at today's special election. Any one who is a qualified voter has a right to exercise his franchise.

AITKIN COUNTY FOR ROOSEVELT

Monday Night's Primary at Aitkin and Other Points So Indicates.

Aitkin, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village at its primaries last night elected a Roosevelt delegation on a progressive ticket to the Aitkin county Republican convention as follows: E. J. Goward, C. S. Kathan, P. O. Erickson, N. L. Cluff, H. J. Petersborg and D. H. Krelwitz. There was no voting on a preferential presidential ballot, but simply votes for delegates pledged in advance to Roosevelt or La Follette. A small vote was polled in the village and in the township of Aitkin.

Few Taft Men Around.

J. B. Galarneault, former state bank examiner, said the Taft forces were not much in evidence and did not seem to do any work. The vote in Aitkin village was 10 to 40 in favor of the Progressives. The whole county, according to the primary vote received from various precincts, has gone for Roosevelt.

PETITION IS TURNED DOWN

Virginia Not Allowed to Annex Valuable Mining Property to City.

Attorney for County Board Finds Legal Objections to Plan.

Efforts of Virginia city officials, the Virginia Commercial club and taxpayers to annex about 1,280 acres of valuable mineral lands, presumably for the purpose of taxation, will fail, as far as the county board is concerned.

N. B. Arnold, an attorney, representing the interests of the Virginia Commercial club, today intimated that the matter would be fought out in the district court.

The county board this morning turned down the petition of the Virginia people, following the advice given by Special Counsel Charles E. Adams, who holds that Virginia cannot legally annex the territory.

Mr. Adams rendered a lengthy opinion to the board on the matter. He finds that the petition is "insufficient, in that the population of the city of Virginia is not more than 20,000 and not less than 10,000, according to the last state census of 1905, and that the petitioners do not therefore bring themselves within the provisions of chapter 137, General Laws of 1909.

The petition sets out that the city of Virginia has a resident population of 10,473, according to the 1910 government census, but Mr. Adams holds that the laws provide that the last state census and not the government census shall govern. The last state census, taken in 1905, gives Virginia's population as about 6,000 and makes the petition insufficient.

Mr. Adams is of the opinion that this closes the case but he states that the petition was otherwise irregular in that the statutes provide that the county board cannot legally consider the petition except at a regular meeting which he interprets as meaning the annual or semiannual meeting.

The case will probably be taken to the courts and fought out there. There is said to be much at stake for the city of Virginia. If the property is eventually annexed, it places available for the purposes of city taxation about $11,000,000 worth of valuable mining property.

G. W. Morgan, attorney for the Oliver Mining company, appeared before the board this morning in opposition to the granting of the petition. The petition asked that the county board order a special election in which the voters might or might not choose to annex the property.

The Government Crop Report Shows Condition Much Below Normal.

Spring Plowing and Planting Fall Below Figures for Last Year.

Washington, May 7.—The May crop report of the crop reporting board, bureau of statistics, United States department of agriculture, issued this afternoon, and shows the condition on May 1 of winter wheat, rye, meadow lands and pastures; the percentage of spring plowing and spring planting completed; the acreage of winter wheat to be harvested; the estimated out-turn of the winter wheat crop, and the stocks of hay on farms May 1. The report follows:

Winter wheat: The average condition of winter wheat on May 1 was 79.7 per cent of a normal; compared with 80.6 per cent on April 1; 86.1 per cent on May 1, 1911, and 85.2 per cent the average for the last ten years on May 1.

The area of winter wheat remaining on May 1 to be harvested was about 25,744,000 acres, or 3,418,000 acres less than the area harvested in 1911, and 6,469,000 acres less than the area sown last fall, 32,213,000 acres.

The condition on May 1 is indicative of a yield per acre of approximately 14.4 bu, assuming average variations to prevail thereafter. On the estimated area to be harvested this would produce a final crop of 370,714,000 bu, compared with 430,656,000 bu in 1911, 434,142,000 bu in 1910 and 417,780,000 bu in 1909. The out-turn of the crop probably will be above or below the figures here given, according as the conditions from May 1 to time of harvest is above or below the average change.

Rye: The condition of rye on May 1 was 87.5 per cent of a normal, compared with 87.9 per cent on April 1; 90 per cent on Mal 1, 1911, and 89.2 per cent, the average for the last ten years on May 1.

Meadow, or Hay Lands: The average condition of meadow, or hay lands on May 1 was 85.7 per cent of a normal, compared with 84.7 per cent on May 1, 1911, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 88.6 per cent.

Hay on Farms: The stocks of hay on farms on May 1 were estimated to be 3,888,000 tons, compared with 7,546,000 tons on May 1, 1911.

Pastures: The average condition of pastures on May 1 was 81.7 per cent of a normal, compared with 81.3 per cent on May 1, 1911, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 86.4 per cent.

Spring Plowing: Of spring plowing 52.8 per cent was completed up to May 1, compared with 71 per cent on May 1, 1911, and a 10-year average on May 1 of 67.6 per cent.

Spring Planting: Of spring planting 48.9 per cent was completed up to May 1, compared with 60 per cent on May 1, 1911, and a six-year average on May 1 of 55.2 per cent.

SHORTAGE OF LABORERS

Employment Agents Unable to Fill Many Orders for Men.

Canadian Railroads Have Drawn Many Men From Duluth.

George S. Richards, one of the leading labor employment men of Duluth, is authority for the statement that there is a labor famine at the present time.

"Orders for laborers are coming in from various sources and we find that we can't get the men to fill the orders," declared Mr. Richards today. "Some time ago it was predicted that there would be a labor famine. I was one of those who concurred in this presdiction. Today our office is literally swamped with orders and the men are not here to respond to the many chances to work.

"Canada has taken hundreds of men from Duluth. The various Canadian railroads have had agents here for the past few months. These men have been hiring every available man they could induce to cross the line, with the result that with the opening of various sawmills and the starting of railroad work men are not to be had.

"Wages at the present time are higher than they were at this time last year, with the prospect that they will mount higher. Lack of labor naturally means an increase in the wage scale. With conditions as they are at the present time, we are likely to witness a serious shortage of men."

About three months ago there was a story in The Herald of an agent for several Canadian railroads who was in Duluth working with the assistance of various men under him in securing laboring men from Duluth and from all the small towns in the northern part of Minnesota and Wisconsin. At that time some of th emen who keep in touch with labor conditions remarked that there was likely to be a shortage of men with the demand for common labor in the railroads and in the sawmills. According to the statement of Mr. Richards the prophecy of some three months ago his come true.

"There are said to be a number of idle men in the West," continued Mr. Richards. "That may all be; but there are no idle men at the Head of the Lakes at the present time, unless these men are idle out of a disinclination to labor. Big customers have been calling up Duluth over the long distance telephone and letters have been coming, all asking that men be secured. In nearly every case the answer is the same—there are no men to fill the orders.

"Few people realize the raid the Canadians have made on the labor supply of the Northwest. I cannot say as to conditions in the Far West, but I do know that here in the Northwest the supply of men has been cut in half by the exodus to Canada.

"Not nearly all of the work has been started as yet. The railroads are going to use a large number of men right in this section of the country, and there is also going to be a general opening of active operations in the sawmills. If there is a labor shortage right at the present time, what will there be when the demand is made for more men?"

There are few laborers in the city at the present time. Inquiry at the various labor offices of the city showed that there were many orders on the books but few men looking for work. Orders on the books of some of local employment offices are for crews of men from some of the big lumbering companies, and the managers of the companies say that they have been unable to fill the orders.

SEMI-MONTHLY WAGE LAW DECLARED VALID.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 7.—The Missouri supreme court today sustained the constitutionality of the semi-monthly wage payment law for employes of railroads and other corporations.

Tennessee's Votes Split.

Nashville, Tenn., May 7.—Delegates to the Democratic state convention on May 15 were selected in many counties yesterday, making the expiration of the time limit given for the various counties to act. The indications now are that Tennessee's delegation of twelve will be split and will go uninstructed.

D. M. MORRISON

Can We Do It? Do What—

Raise the salary of ten thousand Duluth wage-earners. The fact of the matter is that most of us exercise a great deal more care and ability in the earning of our dollars than we do in the spending of them. To make money is regarded a serious proposition, but to spend it is "no trick" for any of us; it simply goes, it goes easy. Many are the persons who will put in overtime and over exertion for a few extra dollars, when a little greater care in the spending of those dollars would have accomplished greater and better results. Your salary should be measured, not by number of dollars you earn, but by what those dollars actually buy for you. That's where we come in on the deal. We don't claim that we can or will increase the number of dollars you earn, but if you trade here, we do claim to increase the purchasing power of them. In spite of the unruly weather for the last week quite a number of Duluth ladies honored us by their presence. They did not go home without packages. They are coming again. They said it paid. They spoke the truth; so do we. One hundred and thirty salespeople ready to serve you. Delay means loss to you and to us.

CROP LOSSES IN THE FLOOD IN LOUISIANA ARE OVER $8,000,000

ons. The majority of these people lived so far back in the country that couriers did not reach them. In many instances, however, they were warned, but scoffed at the advice to leave. "The levees always have held," they argued, "why should they not hold now?"

The levee above Morganiza is lined with people and their few belongings, waiting to be taken to concentration camps. About 500 were removed last night to New Roads, where they were fed, then transferred to Baton Rouge.

Whole Town Flooded.

The work of capping the Morganiza levee is about completed and now the engineers believe the dike will hold. The water has spread over the entire town.

Citizens in the flood-menaced districts of New Orleans were cheered today by a bulletin issued by the weather bureau which lowered its previous estimate of the maximum flood stage that the Crescent City must fight. The hundreds of men working to strengthen the dikes will not cease their vigilance, however.

rebels were killed and the remainder of a force of 1,500 were sent scurrying to Cuatro Cienogas during a fight with 600 federals under Col. Pablo Gonzales, according to reports received by President Madero. The federal loss is not given.

The battle took place between Cuatro Cienogas and Monticova. It was the second engagement within four days, and probably will be followed by a third within a short time.

Engagements with the rebels in Sinaloa are reported from Moricarto and Comadero. At Moricarto 800 rebels were defeated by the federals, and lost fifty-four dead and sixty-four prisoners. At Comadero the rebels lost 100 dead and a large amount of ammunition.

Five hundred and forty-five volunteers from Torreon, who recently refused to advance against the rebels, have passed through this city en route to Vera Cruz, where they will be embarked for the penal colony at Quintana Roo. They were shipped from Torreon in cattle cars under guard.

Will Turn Down Rueda.

Washington, May 7. — It is not probable that the state department will receive Dr. Policarpo Rueda, who is to represent the Mexican revolutionists in Washington, if he should call to argue for his cause. In explanation it was stated that any intercourse with the representatives of the revolutionary party might be seized upon as bearing political significance, and lead to the belief that the United States was recognizing the belligerency of the insurrectos.

Get Cars for Troops.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 7. — Orders were received by the Colorado & Southern railway yesterday to seize all empty flat, box and stock cars, no matter to whom consigned, and send them to Fort D. A. Russell for shipping of the horses and equipment of the Ninth cavalry, which is expecting orders to move to the Mexican border at any hour.

Protect British Interests.

Victoria, B. C., May 7. — The British sloop of war Algerine, Commander Brooker, left Esquimault today for Mexican ports to protect British interests in connection with the outbreaks reported from San Blas and other ports.

The Algerine has been engaged in gun practice at the Comox range for the last week, and on receipt of orders to proceed to Mexico, the sloop of war abandoned practice, loaded coal and returned to Esquimault to take on stores for the voyage south.

The Algerine is expected to reach Mazatlan within two weeks.

SLASHED IN STREET FIGHT

Mane Pupavac Wields Knife During Early Morning Battle.

Peace Maker Receives Most Severe Injuries of Three Involved.

Raymond Meagher, son of Peter Meagher, was badly slashed about the hands and neck and J. L. Sullivan of the Alvarado hotel was cut in the leg by Mane Pupavac, aged 46, in a street fight in front of the Boston lunch, 413 West Superior street, early this morning.

The injuries of both men were dressed by Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, and both were able to put in an appearance at police headquarters this morning to appear against Pupavac, who is in custody on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. He will probably be arraigned in police court this afternoon. Whether he asks an examination or not the case will likely be taken up by the grand jury which is now in session.

The cause of the fight does not seem perfectly clear, further than that it started in the lunch room between Sullivan and Pupavac. Sullivan claims that he did not molest Pupavac and Pupavac asserts that Sullivan struck him while inside the place, and he only drew his knife in self-defense after Sullivan and his companion attacked him outside. Sullivan said that Pupavac attacked him without justification when he went out into the street.

All appear to be agreed that Meagher, the worst sufferer of the trio, had nothing to do with the trouble originally, but that he was stabbed when he came to Sullivan's assistance to help him take the knife away from the Austrian.

Whether or not any blows were exchanged in the lunch room Sullivan and Pupavac clashed in the street, Sullivan evidently had the knife-wielder down when Meagher came to his aid. Reaching down in an effort to wrest the knife away from Pupavac he was cut across the front and the back of his hand, in the neck and along the cheek, while his coat was slashed in a dozen places. He probably sustained the wounds which would have been Sullivan's had his body not been between the knife and Sullivan to intercept them, the man reaching up from below Sullivan with the knife in his hand.

BACKED DULUTH ENTERPRISES

Ammi W. Wright Helped Finance Jobbing Houses and Railroads.

Many Duluth men learned with regret of the death in Alma, Mich., Sunday of Ammi W. Wright, philanthropist and multi-millionaire.

Although Mr. Wright never lived in Duluth, he played an important part in the development of the city and its business interests. His financial cooperation was a factor in the establishment of some of Duluth's strongest business houses, and he was heavily interested financially in railroad and mining development.

Mr. Wright was, in a financial way, one of the chief founders of the Wells-Stone company, now the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, and of the Chaplin-Wells company, now the Marshall-Wells Hardware company. His financial backing was largely responsible for the success of the Duluth & Winnipeg railway, now a part of the Great Northern.

Mr. Wright frequently visited Duluth during the early days and at all times took a keen interest in the city. He had lumbering and mining interests here at the time of his death and was the owner of some Duluth real estate. He was an intimate friend of M. H. Kelley, John F. Killorin, A. M. Marshall and other Duluth men.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fargo Commercial club is entertaining a delegation from the Commercial club at Grand Forks today and will tender the visitors a banquet this evening. There are twenty-five visitors here, arriving on this morning's train. Several weeks ago to carry out a movement to secure better acquaintance with other commercial bodies a delegation from Fargo went to Grand Forks and the presence of the delegation here today is in the nature of a return visit.

TOO MANY STATE JOBS GIVEN OUT

Assistant Public Examiner Criticizes Board of Control for Its Action.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of control has been too lavish in employing parole agents for the state training school at Red Wing, according to a report made by Assistant Public Examiner Cederberg. He says that there were three agents employed during the first half of the present fiscal year, with the result that two-thirds of the $9,000 appropriated annually for the work by the last legislature has been used and there is not enough money left to pay one man's salary the rest of the year.

Mr. Cederberg suggests that the attorney general be asked for an opinion whether the board has the right to employ more than one parole agent for the Red Wing institution.

REMNANTS OF ARMY GATHER

Confederate Veterans Open Their Annual Reunion at Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga., May 7.—Remnants of the gray-clad host that set the world a notable example of valor fifty years ago, answered roll call here today in a muster of peace. The occasion was the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, in a great tented city, erected for the most part by representatives of the flag they fought generations ago, 50,000 veterans with their affiliated "sons" and "daughters" gathered today and hundreds more are coming on special trains from all parts of the Union. The camp is named in honor of Gen. John B. Gordon, Georgia's famous military leader.

In spite of the stirring music of dozens of military bands and the thrilling call of fife and drums corps the note of sadness growing out of the disintegration of the "thinning gray line" was not to be dispelled.

Col. Walter A. Harris of Macon, Miss Grace Lumpkin, sponsor for Macon, and Mayor John T. Moore, formally welcomed the veterans and visitors. The annual oration will be delivered tonight by Col. Wallace Screws of Montgomery, Ala.

Score Hurt in Wreck.

CLOQUET Y. M. C. A. BOYS PLANNING SUMMER FUN.

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boys' department of the Cloquet Y. M. C. A. is planning a lively summer with something doing all the time. The department will be represented in the association's Twilight Baseball league with a team of its own and there will also be a Junior Baseball league organized representing different sections of the city, each with a team of its own. For June 6 a hike around the horn is planned. A swimming club will be organized and a regular schedule of swimming followed.

June 25 to 28 there will be a three days' hike to Sturgeon lake, cooking and sleeping out of doors. Ice cream socials are planned, and on June 30 the annual department picnic and field sports. Aug. 14 to 27 will be the annual summer camping time.

Immediate Relief from Bowel and Stomach Trouble

was the result of Mrs. Bertha Woodward using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

She is now feeling fine and is in the best of health and recommends this wonderful medicine to all.

"I want to tell how grateful I am to you. After suffering for over two years from bowel and stomach trouble I was induced by a friend to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I improved from the time I began using it and now, after a year's treatment, I am as well and strong as ever. Hoping that many other sufferers may benefit by my experience, I am, Yours very truly, Mrs. Bertha Woodward, 962½ N. High St., Columbus, Ohio.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

STANDARD OF PURITY AND EXCELLENCE SINCE 1860

is an absolutely pure distillation of selected grain, carefully malted, then so processed as to remove, so far as possible, all injurious elements. It is manufactured for the purpose of supplying the profession and public in general with a reliable tonic and stimulant, and without question it is the purest and best that is manufactured. It is a wonderful specific to check all stomach troubles, and aid digestion, which results in more nourishment and strength for the system. In the prevention and relief of coughs, colds, pneumonia, grip, asthma and bronchitis it has no equal. It is a builder of health and vigor, of body and muscle. It makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous—a family remedy that should be in every medicine chest.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY by druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us, and we will tell you where it can be bought. Our doctors will send you advice and valuable illustrated medical booklet free on application.

Woman's Realm

The use of the C. C. Salter school as a social center is gradually extending. This evening three separate meetings will be held there by groups of young people. The graduates of this school are invited to meet there with the members of the eighth grade at 8 o'clock in the eighth grade room for the purpose of forming the alumni association of the school and as a good deal of interest has been worked up a large attendance is expected.

The boys of that neighborhood have been anxious for an athletic association and this evening the formation of the East End Athletic association will be perfected at a meeting of the boys which will be held at 8 o'clock in room 13 of the building.

The girls' folk dancing class, conducted by Mrs. Helen Shores Savage, under the auspices of the Woman's Council, in the assembly hall of this building each week will hold its regular meeting. The girls are learning dances which they will use in a little play to be put on soon under the direction of Mrs. George W. Morgan.

The use of school buildings in the evenings for purposes of this kind is being widely advocated at the present time.

PRETTY PLAYLET.

Daniel Boone Boys to Give Entainment.

Many society people are interested in the little playlet, "A Merrie Adventure of Robin Hood," which will be given at the Star theater, 2107 West Superior street, tomorrow evening by the boys of the "Sons of Daniel Boone," an organization which meets at the Neighborhood house of the West end with Miss Mary Paine, Miss Julia Morrow and Miss Marjorie Congdon as leaders.

The boys have attained a high degree of efficiency and will present it with the object in view of raising sufficient funds for a camping outing at a nearby suburb during the coming summer. They were disappointed in this matter last year, but are hoping to raise enough to make their trip assured this year.

The rates are very low, and a large attendance will be necessary to raise the funds high enough, but a large number of East end people are interested in the work of the boys and are planning to attend the little entertainment.

The cast follows:

MEMBERSHIP CONCERT.

Excellent Program Will Be Given at Y. W. C. A.

A varied program of merit will be given by local artists at the membership privilege entertainment this evening at the Young Women's Christian association and the affair should prove a big attraction to a large audience.

Sigurd Erdtman, the Swedish tenor, who sang for several eminent singers during their visits to Duluth and whose voice was pronounced by them to have possibilities equaling Caruso's voice, will give two groups, one in Swedish and one containing a French and one English number, which will be of especial interest to all music lovers and especially in those interested in this young genius.

A mandolin trio which will play two groups and Mrs. Eva Sawyer in her delightful dialect readings will be especially good, as will also the violin numbers of Miss Emily Smith and the performance of little Miss Helen McCormack, who made her debut as singer, mimic and vaudeville performer at the students frolic of the Matinee Musicale.

Extra chairs are being placed in the hall in anticipation of the audience expected, as there was room for standing only for many who attended the last concert by this department of the association.

Members must show their membership tickets for admission this evening and a low charge will be made to all not holding membership tickets. A large attendance of men as well as women is expeced.

The program follows:

CAPTAINS CHOSEN.

Women Will Conduct Campaign for Y. W. C. A.

Captains who will have charge of the eight-day campaign which the Young Women's Christian association will commence next week for the purpose of raising $8,000, were named at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the association held this morning at the association building. The ten captains who will each have charge of a team of ten women will each be assigned to one division of the citizens of Duluth and will canvass their division for donations.

This $8,000 is the amount shown by the last yearly budget as necessary for carrying on the work of the association for a year, and this method of raising the money has been adopted, using plans accepted by the national association, and which have been most successfully used in similar campaigns in other cities.

The captains are: Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, Mrs. W. C. Agnew, Mrs. T. L. Chapman, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. G. H. Claypool, Mrs. A. C. Taylor, Mrs. Watson S. Moore, Mrs. E. T. Hughes, Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. Fred H. White and Mrs. T. J. Davis.

These captains, with other women who might be interested, will be invited to a luncheon at the association building next Tuesday, when the plans for the campaign will be fully laid before them and the lists of teams made out. A banquet on Wednesday evening of next week will also be held there for the young business women of the city who will also work among the business women for donations and for the increase of 500 in the membership list of the association. Invitations for this banquet have already been issued.

Other routine business was transacted at the meeting this morning.

Will Be Sponsor for Confederate Veterans

CORA S. MALLORY.

The Confederate veterans will meet at Macon beginning May 7. As usual a sponsor for the organization has been chosen and she will have maids of honor from the states represented at the reunion. The sponsor this year is Cora Mallory of Pensacola, whose grandfather was secretary of the navy under Jefferson Davis. She is a beautiful girl, with great charm of manner. Kathleen Floyd of Missouri and Blanche Kell Nisbet of Georgia, will be maids of honor, and Mrs. Alexander White of Paris, Tenn., and Mrs. H. M. Wortham of Macon, will be matrons of honor.

Round Table.

At the regular meeting of the Round Table at the Young Woman's Christian association tomorrow evening, Mrs. W. A. Kaake will give a recital of readings which will be an especial attraction to the girls. This club, which is one of the largest in the city, has enjoyed a delightful series of winter's meetings and is anticipating pleasant meeting for the summer.

At the next meeting two weeks from tomorrow a big May party will be held with special dancing and other interesting features.

This club is composed of business girls and young women of the city and anyone may join by being members of the Y. W. C. A. No other fee is charged and the meetings are held the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Church Meetings.

The annual meeting of the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian church will be held tomorrow afternoon at the church with Mrs. G. R. Landon as hostess. Officers for the year will be elected and plans made for the work of the society and all members are asked to be present.

The Unity Social club of the Unitarian church will meet for a program tomorrow evening at 8:15 at the church. Miss Catherine Morton has arranged an interesting entertainment which promises to be most enjoyable.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lester Park M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. J. E. Watts, 5703 Otsego street. Mrs. E. Durham will be the assisting hostess.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Baptist church will hold its regular monthly tidnbie bee tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. B. Wegener, 1431 East Third street. Mrs. O. E. Carman and Mrs. Tuttle will be the assisting hostesses

Anniversary Banquet.

Members of the Unitarian church of this city will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Unitarian church in Duluth on Friday evening, May 17, with a big banquet at which an interesting program of toasts will be given and messages read from other fields. Arrangements for this event will be completed at the annual meeting of the Woman's Alliance which will be held tomorrow afternoon at the church.

All Day Meeting.

An all day joint meeting of the Ladies Union and the Woman's Missionary society of the Pilgrim Congregational church will be held tomorrow commencing at 10 o'clock in the parlors of the church. The members are requested to take their thimbles and scissors. Dr. Mary McCoy will speak on Social Economy at the luncheon which will be served at 1 o'clock and Mrs. Robert Smith will lead the meeting of the Missionary society which will commence at 3 o'clock. The subject for this meeting will be "The Church and Social Questions."

Mrs. C. E. Wallace will submit her report from the recent missionary meeting in St. Paul which she attended as a delegate from this church a short time ago.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sellwood, Jr., returned yesterday from their wedding trip to Minneapolis and Solon Springs and are at their home, 1314 East Superior street.

Miss Maude Proudlock who underwent an operation for appendicitis recently at St. Luke's hospital, is recovering.

Mrs. Don Loranger has returned from Grand Forks, N. D., where she visited relatives for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hamilton have returned from their wedding trip to New York and are at their flat, 1711 Jefferson street.

R. K. Ross of Ionia, Mich., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. H. Vaughan of 5333 London road.

THE HOUSEHOLD

A large, coarse scrubbing brush hanging near the kitchen door is a good and cheap cleanser in muddy weather, especially when the children are running in and out.

Glycerine is the best lubricant for the meat or vegetable grinder, for the reason that it does not leave unpleasant odor if brought into contact with the meat.

Iron rust may be removed from white goods by boiling the articles in water containing cream of tartar, allowing three tablespoonfuls to a gallon. This is more effective than lemon juice and salt.

Now is the time of the year when chloride of lime should be utilized in generous quantities.

To remove mildew from curtains wet them in clear water, then rub well and plentifully with laundry soap, after which put on a liberal coating of table salt and hang in the sun. Renew the treatment from day to day. If the mildew is bad it may take some time, but it is sure.

THE EVENING STORY

A LIFE LESSON

By W. Werner.

Scott turned down the quiet street toward home, walking slowly, for he felt weary from the long day's work in the office. Soon the bright lights of his home beckoned to him smilingly. There, at least, would be some one who could comfort him. His wife, he knew, would not expect him so early. As he went up the steps he saw an unfamiliar figure in the room. He stopped. He backed down from the porch and drew away in a daze. The man he had seen talking with his wife was Leroy Wells, wealthy and a well known politician, and more than that, he had once been a rival for the hand of the girl he had married.

He walked slowly up the avenue. His mind was weary from a long day's legal work, but everything seemed plain to him. They must have met some way, and it has led to this. He had given his wife very little of the luxury she had been used to; his practice was meager, because he would accept only cases that seemed to him perfectly just and square. And the years ahead did not look over promising. He could not blame her.

He waited until he saw Wells hurry from the house and entered. His wife was ready with her greeting, but the gloom in Scott's heart was deep and dense when he saw her flushed face and the glow in her eyes. For a moment he was tempted to speak and a slow anger began to burn within him; but he was weary, and he could not blame her, he said again to himself.

After supper she told him that she was going to run out for a little while; that he need not go with her since he was tired, and she left him alone with altogether unpleasant thoughts. Scott went to his room and sat alone in its silence and shadow for a time, thinking slowly, heavily, with hatred and anger rising, but ever subdued by the gentleness of his own nature and the thought that she was not to blame. In the morning there was no new development, but Mrs. Scott seemed unusually happy and her husband unusually sober. Whether she noticed it or not he took no pains to find out, but it was evident she thought his abstraction the result of his heavy work at the office.

The morning hours passed slowly and heavily. Scott could not concentrate his mind upon the papers before him, and at last gave up and only sat before his desk and stared at writing that meant nothing while he thought of things that meant everything to him. What to do—or what not to do—was the question.

The telephone rang softly. After his greeting the voice of one of his rivals whom he had bested in the courts and who hated him, came keenly: "Scott, I thought you might be interested to know that your wife has been out with Wells for a pleasure spin."

Scott dropped the receiver as if it had been red hot or as if the voice of the devil had spoken. For a moment he sat dumbly. Out with Wells! Could it be possible? Yet—he tried to think, but gave it up. There was one thing he could do—quietly drop off the scene. He could write a brief note of farewell—that would ease the whole situation and be a simple solution. He tried to write, but he found it a slow task, slow because he tried to say that which he did not want to say.

Finally the thing was done. He drew back with the finished letter in his hand. Then he paused. He felt a great longing to see his wife once more; to talk with her, to hear the sound of her voice—even to tell her perhaps, that he knew it was best.

He addressed the letter, but did not seal it, placing it in his pocket. He would go home once more and see her. He gave his young clerk outside strict orders no one was to disturb him and settled down to arrange his papers. What worldly wealth was his he would leave for her, but it was a pitiful amount.

That done, he leaned back in the deep office chair. He heard the door of the outer office open and shut, heard his clerk go and return from lunch, but he did not stir. In the afternoon, faintly to his ears came conversation from the other rooms—one very urgent—but the clerk stood firm. Once she came, but she did not enter his room and he was glad of it. When the early dusk had fallen he saw his face she came forward hurriedly. "Why, my dear——"

He drew her hand from his arm. "Please," he said. Wells picked up some papers on the table in his brisk way. "Scott, old fellow, your wife and I have a surprise for you——"

"Yes. I should say you had," Scott answered quietly, unmindful of his wife's eyes. Wells hesitated as if in doubt how to take the statement, then went on as if he would take it in good part, anyway. "Yes, sir," he said, "it has taken two days to get this in shape. I would not have done it so easily if it had not been for your wife, but we have seen all your friends and pulled a few wires, and the independent party have made you a candidate for the judgeship which he wanted so see you about it, but your wife wanted it as a surprise so we worked it up on the quiet——"

Dimly Scott heard the cheerful voice of Wells running on, but he heard no more words. His weary brain awoke to action, and like a flash it came upon him that he had misjudged them; that the judgeship which he wanted so much and which he did not dream of getting, was his simply through the friendship of this man. Under the weight of the truth, his own weariness, the tension broke around him. "Dearest, what is the matter?"

Very softly Wells left the room, and Scott heard the outer door shut. She turned Scott's face up with one small warm hand and her eyes were serious as they looked into his. He answered their anxious inquiry. "I thought——" then he paused. In the silence that followed understanding came to him. She drew from him a little way in a sort of horror; then in compassion she said: "You poor foolish boy—so you thought—that!"

With her kiss he felt a burden leave. "Yes, I have suffered—I see where I was wrong, but I was weary and discouraged, and I could not seem to see, but now—my faith is again with me. Thank God! I had begun to lose faith in everything, but I have learned a life lesson; to believe the best of those I love, and trust those who are my friends."

She pressed her cheek against him. "You will be then—a wiser—judge!"

FORTUNE MAKES NO DIFFERENCE TO HER

MISS DOROTHY BATEMAN.

Though she has inherited half a million dollars from Ross Winans, Dorothy Bateman, the Newport hotel keeper's pretty daughter, keeps on gathering eggs and raising flowers for the market. She is making deliveries as usual to her Newport customers, chiefly the trades people of that town. She says she is going to go on living as she has lived. Mr. Winans lived at the Bateman hotel last summer and it was then that the kindly ministrations of Miss Bateman so warmed his heart that he added a codicil to his will giving her $500,000.

True Benevolence

By VIRGINIA HARLAN

It is useless to talk of sacrificing self to others unless there is something in self that others need.

It is the full and rich life, not the poor and empty one, that can fill and enrich others.

True benevolence, then, must obtain that which it would give. To acquire honorably money, or leisure or power, to cultivate health and happiness, to gain knowledge and wisdom, to develop interest in human affairs, to cherish just principles and generous impulses, to fill the mind with pure and noble thoughts and the heart with tender love and sympathy — these things are essential.

If you would pour out blessings and benefits upon our fellow men, while at the same time they ennoble and gladden our own lives.

CITY CLERK HARRY CHEADLE RESIGNS—DEPUTY SUCCEEDS HIM

Last night at the council meeting City Clerk Harry W. Cheadle tendered his resignation.

The resignation was accepted with the greatest regret on the part of the aldermen and Charles S. Palmer, first deputy, was chosen to fill out the term which expires with the annual council meeting next March.

Harry Cheadle has been in the employ of the city the last eighteen years, four years as a deputy in the office of the city clerk and fourteen years as city clerk. During that time he has established a record which any man might well envy.

Not only has he acquired a knowledge of city affairs second to that of none in the municipality, but he has won all with whom he has come in contact by his genial personality, his ever-ready willingness to accommodate and his sincerity. His has been a competent administration of merit.

"I have learned one thing during the many years I have been here," remarked Mr. Cheadle last night, "and that is that I am just as liable to make a mistake as any one else." But let it be said that where, if he has made one mistake, he has avoided hundreds and helped others to avoid many more hundreds out of his storehouse of municipal facts and figures.

Hard Blow to Council.

The loss of Mr. Cheadle is a hard blow to the city and particularly to the city council. He has been the guiding spirit of the law-making body of the city for so many years that it will be hard to get along without him. Only those who have had any intimate connection with the council can know of the many shoals and reefs past which he has piloted the city fathers in safety. "Ask Harry Cheadle" was the solution of many a problem in the city hall.

Charles S. Palmer, his successor, has been in the clerk's office the last seven years. During that time he has had the benefit of an invaluable training under Mr. Cheadle, and it was on the recommendation of his superior that he was elected to fill the position. Mr. Palmer was city clerk during the months that Mr. Cheadle was in attendance at the state senate. During that time Mr. Palmer demonstrated his capability and there is little doubt but what he will be able to fulfill the duties of his new position to the satisfaction of all.

Mr. Cheadle will engage in business in a confidential capacity with the firm of Richardson, Day and Harrison, by whom he was employed before he entered the city clerk's office.

His letter of resignation and the vote of thanks passed by the council are as follows:

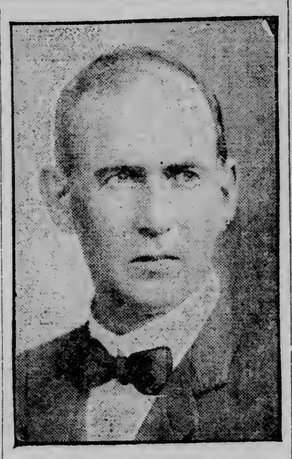
"Gentlemen: I hereby tender my resignation. I have occupied my present position for the last fourteen years and as deputy for four years preceding. I enjoyed the work of the office and consider the position an honorable and important one, but it has long been my opinion that I could not afford to spend all of the best years of my life in the position, and an opportunity having been offered me whereby I consider that I can get into a permanent business in the line of business with which I am familiar, I have decided to take this step. I have enjoyed the work and associations of the office and assure you I shall ever retain a kindly regard for those with whom I have come so closely in contact.

"It is important to me that this resignation be acted upon at once in order that I may assume my new duties. Respectfully yours,

"H. W. CHEADLE."

"Whereas, Harry W. Cheadle has been a faithful employe of the city for a period of fourteen years and has been a continual helpful aid to each member of this council, as each well knows;

Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That this council tender a vote of thanks to Harry W. Cheadle for the valued assistance he has rendered to the city of Duluth and to this council, and in accepting his resignation it does so with great regret."



H. W. CHEADLE.

C. S. PALMER.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Duluth People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one special kidney medicine that cures permanently and there is plenty of proof right here in Duluth.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now states that the cure was lasting.

Mrs. M. McLean, 4324 Gilliat St., Duluth, Minn., says: "All that was said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills by a member of my family when he publicly recommended them in 1898 still holds good. During the past several years this person has not been obliged to use a kidney medicine, for the cure has been permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a cure of kidney trouble in this case and also brought relief from dull, heavy ache in the loins. The person of whom I am speaking recommends Doan's Kidney Pills highly when anyone asks him about them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bidridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. If, after you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

FARMERS ARE TAKING HOLD

North Dakota Better Farming Association Plans Are Adopted.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Thomas Cooper of the North Dakota Better Farming association is learning, in person, that the work of the organization is being very well received by the farmers. He is making a tour of the state, visiting the several counties in which experts have been placed by the association, and in every instance he has found the farmers enthusiastic over the plan.

The acreage under the supervision of the seventeen field workers is increasing daily, and the indications are that the hopes of Secretary Cooper in the matter of acreage will be realized very early.

URGE SUPPORT FOR AMENDMENTS

Dr. D. H. Day and William E. McEwen availed themselves of the last opportunity to speak in favor of the charter amendment at a meeting of the Hillside club last evening at the Franklin school.

The initiative, referendum and recall measure was heartily recommended to the voters by the speakers. There was a large turn-out and interest in what the speakers had to say ran high.

Dr. Day explained and gave examples of the working of the initiative, referendum and recall. Mr. McEwen declared that without these, home government was merely a theoretical condition of affairs and that the people were being ruled instead of ruling themselves.

Mr. McEwen spoke of the initiative, referendum and recall as being a strictly non-partisan issue, recommended by good Democrats, Republicans and Socialists alike. Chris Evans also gave a short talk along the same line during the evening.

HUNT FOR TRAITORS.

Members of House of Commons Slur Bryce for Reciprocity Attitude.

London, May 7.—The process of smoking out the alleged conspirators who are charged by their political opponents with treason in connection with President Taft's Canadian reciprocity plans was inaugurated in the house of commons by Arthur Shirley Benn and Henry Page Croft, Unionists, who plied Premier Asquith with questions in regard to the published correspondence between President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt in the course of which Mr. Taft is said to have referred to Canadian reciprocity as likely to make Canada an adjunct of the United States.

Premier Asquith, who showed resentment at the attack, sharply repudiated the reflection cast on James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington, and said the ambassador had in no way influenced the views or the policy of the late Canadian government, and as the correspondence between the president and Theodore Roosevelt was private Mr. Bryce could not have had any knowledge whatever of it.

Fargo Newspaper Embarrassed.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—The Fargo Forum, one of the oldest daily newspapers in North Dakota, went into the hands of a receiver late Monday. The liabilities are placed at $86,000, with assets considerably more. The publication is to be continued with the same staff as before and policy unchanged, according to a statement given out by the receiver tonight.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Aitkin County Goes for Roosevelt—Taft Organization in the State Working for an Uninstructed Delegation—Claims of Rival Organizations—Caswell Disclaims Any Ambition to Be a Boss—Spooner Explains Stand on Tonnage Tax.

Aitkin County for Roosevelt.

Aitkin county will send Roosevelt delegations to the Eighth district and state Republican conventions, judging from the returns of the caucuses held there yesterday.

In Aitkin village, no distinction was made between La Follette and Roosevelt, but the six delegates to the county convention are thought to be for Roosevelt. The total vote was 55, of which 45 were for the anti-Taft ticket and 10 for Taft. In Aitkin township, three Roosevelt delegates to the county convention were elected. Only nine votes were cast, six being for Roosevelt and three for La Follette.

The control of the county convention by the Roosevelt supporters is assured, as there was little Taft sentiment in the country districts. Many of the precincts held no caucuses.

Aitkin and Pope counties held their caucuses yesterday, they being the first in the state. Aitkin is the first county in the Eighth district to express itself.

Uninstructed Delegation Talk.

There seems to be a great deal of uncertainty in the predictions on the result of the presidential contest in Minnesota. Predictions, privately expressed and published, are numerous. Few, except those that take the form of campaign claims, are unqualified.

Reports from the country districts are that the bitterness against Taft has subsided somewhat, but opposition to him is still positive. Another angle to the Taft campaign has arisen in the form of a faction of the Republican party in favor of an uninstructed delegation. The men responsible for the move are Taft men but some of them do not believe Taft can be elected if he should be the nominee of the party. They want the Minnesota delegation to go to Chicago with its hands free.

The Roosevelt men will force instructions. They have been approached in St. Louis county with compromise suggestions but they have declined to go into any entangling arrangements. They are confident of their ability to control the county convention and will force instructions all along the line. The same is true of The Roosevelt organization in the state.

The real purpose back of the movement for an uninstructed delegation is to leave Minnesota free to join a movement for a third man if one should come up at Chicago with a better chance of election than Taft. Predictions are freely made that neither Taft nor Roosevelt can be elected after the mudslinging of their campaign and many Republicans would gladly get behind a third man. Who that man would be is a question. Justice Hughes is most frequently mentioned in connection with dark horse talk. The character of those working for an uninstructed delegation indicates that their notion of a dark horse would be another Taft.

Rival Claims.

The Taft men in the state are hoping for the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth and Eighth districts. In the First district the La Follette men are numerous enough and strong enough to make the Wisconsin senator a factor, and the split in the Progressive strength may give the delegation to Taft. In all districts there is enough Roosevelt sentiment to create a doubt as to the ability of the Taft organization to gain the delegations. That is true of all districts claimed by the Taft leaders.

Congressman Lindbergh's strong indorsement of Roosevelt, received in Minnesota Sunday, will count in the Sixth district, on which the Roosevelt men were already counting. In the Seventh and Ninth districts the La Follette men will go into the caucuses, but the chances are the delegates will go to Roosevelt. Taft sentiment is not strong enough in the Seventh and Ninth to give him any hope of the delegates from those districts.

The Taft men are certain on the Eighth district, but there is an element of doubt. If the Taft organization can control the St. Louis county convention, the election of the two delegates from the Eighth will be assured, as St. Louis county has enough delegates to hold the balance of power.

The Roosevelt supporters have high hopes of carrying St. Louis county. They will have caucus delegates in every precinct in the county, and they are working hard to get out the vote. The Taft leaders have been endeavoring for some time to effect a compromise on an uninstructed delegation, but having failed to get the Roosevelt men into an arrangement, they have started in to work for Taft.

In the Fourth district little has been effected by either side. The city election has monopolized political attention. That will be out of the way today, and for the remainder of the week both sides will conduct a whirlwind campaign on the presidency. Hennepin county, which is the Fifth district, will conduct a modified presidential primary.

Caswell Replies to Jacobson.

Irving A. Caswell has replied to O. P. B. Jacobson of Minneapolis, who seems to have been harboring fears that Mr. Caswell aspires to be the Republican boss in Minnesota. Mr. Caswell disclaims any such intention, in the following letter:

"Dear Sir: I agree with you that a sorry mess has been made of the Roosevelt campaign in Minnesota. Many of the people have become interested in his behalf, but few politicians. Although the state central committee was prevented from carrying out its design to reduce the representation of the rural counties, it refused to allow the people to vote upon the presidential candidates, or to fix dates for the conventions favorable to the farmers. If we could have had the advice, co-operation and assistance of all the Republicans in the state who feel as you now say you do, we unquestionably would have been able to secure justice from the committee.

"I did not seek the place upon the Roosevelt committee, and I am fully as sorry as you are that a more competent person was not selected. I want to assure you that I do not, and never shall, aspire to be the 'boss of the Republican party in Minnesota.' The visible supply of bosses seems greatly to exceed the demand, and I have no ambition to compete with the present chairman of the state committee. So you need lose no sleep over my political plans, nor worry about your job, so far as I am concerned. I shall not even be a candidate for delegate to Chicago. The campaign will be over in about a week, after which we can, perhaps, as private citizens, discuss the details of the presidential contest without suspicion of personal ambition or of designs upon anyone's job. In the meantime, I reserve the right to watch the political game, and to call the attention of the people to the attitude of such persons as I may become convinced are attempting to thwart their will. Whether or not my action may affect the political future of said persons will, of course, depend upon whether or not I shall correctly state conditions. I desire to call your attention to the fact that I have not as yet been compelled to retract any statements I have made relative to the presidential campaign. Occasion may require that I reiterate some of them, which I shall unhesitatingly do if I deem such action necessary, either before or after the coming conventions, and, in connection therewith, I will submit such evidence as I shall have in my possession, to prove that my suspicions have reasonable foundation.

"I promise you that if the state organization does nothing to influence unduly the results of the caucuses and conventions I shall be prompt to give credit to the membership of such organization, including yourself. But if the 'machine' attempts to interfere, I am sure that you, as an independent American citizen, and as a supporter of Col. Roosevelt, will support me in my protest against such action.

"But I feel quite confident that from now on this campaign will be so conducted that at its end no member of the party, nor any of the candidates thereof, will have just cause for complaint."

Spooner on Tonnage Tax.

The tonnage tax issue has been brought into L. C. Spooner's campaign for the governorship. Mr. Spooner has heard criticism of his failure to vote for the tonnage tax at the last session, after having voted in favor of it in 1907 and 1909. He has come out with a circular explaining his position. He said that in 1907, he did not have time to study the subject and his vote was in response to the sentiment of his constituents. In 1909, he says, he was doubtful of the value of the tonnage tax but was not ready to oppose his constituents, while in 1911, he was convinced that the tonnage tax was wrong in principle.

Dunn Scores "Scoop."

R. C. Dunn's Princeton Union has a piece of news that has not come to the notice of anybody in St. Louis county. It says:

For the first time in its history the Steel trust is taking an active part in politics in St. Louis county, and it is freely predicted that that county will send a solid Roosevelt delegation to the Eighth district and the state Republican conventions.

Roosevelt and Taft men both say the Steel corporation officials are taking no part in the campaign here. Most of the local officials are thought to be for Taft personally, but they are not showing any political activity.

Coming Conventions.

The claims of the rival campaign managers in the Republican party are so widely different that the lineup of forces will probably not be definitely disclosed until the convention meets at Chicago, June 18. Roosevelt appears to have captured Maryland's sixteen delegates, while Taft was given six in Nevada yesterday. Coming conventions and primaries and the number of delegates to be elected follow: May 7, Arkansas, 18; May 8, Kansas, 16; Missouri, 2; May 14, California, 26; Colorado, 6; Tennessee, 8; Wyoming, 6; May 15, Minnesota, 18; Michigan, 2; North Carolina, 24; Utah, 8; Washington, 14; West Virginia, 6; May 16, Minnesota, 6; Idaho, 8; Montana, 8; West Virginia, 6; May 21, Ohio, 48; May 28, New Jersey, 28; Texas, 40; June 4, South Dakota, 10.

convention, Col. Roosevelt's friends declare they have no fear that trouble may result from this situation. They point not that the state delegates elected are bound by law to instruct the delegates to the national convention for Roosevelt, and they express confidence that now the fight is over, the two factions into which the contest divided the party will unite to place a delegation behind Col. Roosevelt that will remain faithful to him at Chicago as long as he has a chance getting the nomination.

Preference for Roosevelt.

Estimates today of the preferential vote of the state give Roosevelt a majority over Taft of less than 4,000. Clark's plurality in the city of Baltimore over Governor Wilson was about 12,700, and the vote in the counties when it is counted is expected to reduce this to a total of 11,000 for the state as a whole.

The state preferential vote had no direct bearing on the result, but the Roosevelt and Clark campaign committee were none the less pleased that it went for their candidates, since they believe it will make the preference by counties through which the state delegates are instructed all the more binding and militate against the possibility that the delegations to the national conventions will not stay hitched, if the fight there is very close.

The law demands that the Maryland delegations continue to vote as instructed as long as in their conscience they believe their candidates have a chance of getting the nomination.

Roosevelt "Pleased, of Course."

New York, May 7.—Theodore Roosevelt came in to his editorial office from Oyster Bay today. He said this would be his only visit to town until Tuesday next, when he will start for Ohio.

When the colonel was informed that indications were that he had carried the Maryland primaries over President Taft, he smiled and said:

"I am pleased, of course, but I have nothing else to say."

Revolt Helping Missions.

Much of the report was devoted to a review of the work in foreign lands. Of the China missions the report says:

"The medical work, with but twelve hospitals as centers, is gaining the respect of the people; 142,531 patients were treated last year. Chinese girls are gladly taking the medical course to become physicians or nurses. The revolution in China is giving the missionaries access to many who could never before be reached. It is elevating Christian men to official position and giving new influence to the women of the households."

Favorable comment is made on the mission work in India, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, the Philippines, Africa and South America.

Heard Dr. Forbes.

The conference last night heard addresses on the work of the board of home missions and church extension. Among the speakers were Dr. Robert Forbes, Dr. C. M. Boswell and Ward Platt, all of Philadelphia.

"American cities make the battlefield on which the perpetuation of Protestant Christianity will be determined," was the keynote of the address of Mr. Boswell, who told of the work which is being done among the foreign population in the cities of America.

Among the resolutions presented to the conference were:

Commending action of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in settling disputes by arbitration.

Memorializing congress to pass a law giving the federal government supervision in the cases of negro lynching and mob violence.

Calling for the appointment of two negro bishops in the South.

Censures the Press.

Censuring the "American press" for printing "exagerated reports" of revolutionary conditions in Mexico and commending the government of the United States upon its method of non-intervention.

Calling for an immediate report from the committee on the proposal to withdraw paragraph 260, which places a ban on certain amusements.

All of these resolutions except the first, were disposed of, at least temporarily, by the "on consideration" vote of the conference.

The last resolution presented before the close of the business sesion, however, brought out one of the warmest debates of the entire session. The resolution, which was presented by Rev. W. F. Rice of Santiago, Chile, protested against the action of Ecumenical missionary conference in Edinburgh in declaring not proper the missionary enterprises conducted in so-called Roman Catholic countries. In a fiery speech in which he told of the alleged opposition of the Catholics of the countries of South America to the work of Protestant missionaries, he asked that the resolution be passed immediately.

Disposed of Rice Resolution.

Speaker after speaker, among whom were some of the prominent men of the church, took the floor, to oppose or advocate the adoption of the resolution, but finally a substitute was adopted which placed the resolution before a committee of five, headed by Dr. Rice, to be reported out Wednesday. The conference then voted practically unanimously that the text of the Rice resolution be kept from the church and secular press until the report be completed.

GETS $1,000 FOR ROAD.

Money Received for Proposed Highway to Indian Village.

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. W. Cross, agent of the Fond du Lac reservation, has received from the Indian department $1,000, to be used in building a new road from Cloquet to the Indian village, an improvement which has been much needed for years, as the present highway is not only over the worst survey that could have been made, but is always in bad condition and in the spring of the year dangerous. The new road will begin at a point half a mile west of the baseball ground and run directly north to the village, terminating near the government school, thus passing through level territory. The Indian bureau has requested the employment of Indian labor and the construction will start at once, with G. L. Gaskill as foreman of the work.

LOSES FINGER.

Former Lake Linden Man Hurt in Cloquet Mill.

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Godin, whose home is at Lake Linden, Mich., and who had come here only a few days previous to work in a mill, had the index finger on his right hand cut off Friday at the Lower Northern mill.

J. T. Richter, proprietor of the city bakery, has recently added to his bakery equipment an electric motor bread mixer with a capacity for handling dough enough for 700 loaves of bread.

William Sarette has been elected by the local Odd Fellows to represent them as a delegate at their convention to be held in Minneapolis the second week in June. The encampment department of Odd Fellows has elected J. T. Richter as their delegate to the same convention.

Albert Cox, manager of the Companies' store, has erected a modern building on his land west of the city, and will begin the raising of fancy-bred poultry.

Henry Brunelle, son of Dr. and Mrs. Brunelle of Cloquet, is among the students of forestry at the state university who will spend the summer in Itasca park in actual forestry work.

PIONEER IS SUMMONED

James A. Levins Succumbs to Attack of Bright's Disease.

James R. Levins, for many years a trusted employe of the Northern Pacific railway, died of acute Bright's disease at St. Mary's hospital yesterday afternoon. The deceased was well known to all the business and railroad men of Duluth for nearly half a century, being first employed as warehouse foreman for the Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad; afterwards by the St. Paul & Duluth, and later with the Northern Pacific railway, in whose service he remained until death.

Mr. Levins was a native of New York city, removing when young to the Michigan Copper country, and from there to Duluth in 1870. Mr. Levins, in youth, was connected with many theatrical productions in New York city, and was an authority on theatrical history of half a century ago. He remained until his death district correspondent of the New York Clipper, a post he had held for twenty-five years.

He is survived by a wife and one son, both of this city.

LIABILITY BILL PASSED

Senate Amends House Measure to Increase Benefits to Employes.

Taft Urges Government Pensions—Other Washington Doings.

Washington, May 7.—The workmen's compensation bill was passed in the senate last Monday, 64 to 15, substantially as arranged by the employers' liability committee and amended only to increase its benefits. The measure, sharply fought by some of the Democrats for several days, now goes to the house. A number of amendments were offered, but only a few accepted, and those were with the acquiescence of Senator Sutherland, in charge of the bill.

The principal changes, made during the three hours of the roll calls, provide that the compensation for accidental injury and death of railroad employes shall continue to children until they are 16 years old, and extend payment in the case of daughters until they are 20, unless sooner married.

In general the bill provides an exclusive remedy and compensation for accidental disability or death to employes of railroads in interstate commerce, insuring each employe against results of injury in employment without reference to contributory negligence or any of the rules of common law limitating employers' liability. It provides medical service for the injured, and means for money recovery proportioned to the pay of the victim.

It is the outcome of a long investigation by the commission and was strongly urged by President Taft. In the long debate which preceded passage of the bill, many senators took part and there were spirited passages. Senator Root, favoring the bill, said its great advantage would be the relief of inboring men from "the class of lawyers who are fattening on their misfortunes."

For Government Pensions.

President Taft sent to congress a message approving the plan of the commission on economy and efficiency to retire all government employes at the age of 70 years on annuities equal to half salary, with maximum limit of $600. The plan provides that employes entering the service after adoption of the superannuated plan shall make annual contributions to provide a retirement fund.

The commission estimates that the plan would cost $227,000 a year during the next twenty years, and that the saving during the succeeding sixteen years would equalize it. Present employes would be assessed not exceeding 8 per cent. The government would contribute for employes who are nearing 70 years. Employes who leave the service could withdraw their deposits to the retirement fund with interest at 4 per cent.

$30,000,000 for Levees.

A bill to appropriate $30,000,000 for maintaining, raising and protecting the levees of the Mississippi and its tributaries, was introduced by Representative Dyer, representative of Missouri, and referred to the rivers and harbors committee.

A bill to appropriate $100,000 for the purpose of seed corn and other seeds for the flood devastated Mississippi valley, was introduced in the house by Representative Russell of Missouri and referred to the committee on agriculture.

House Votes for Half-Cent.

A 3-cent piece and a ½-cent piece are provided in a bill passed by the house.

Right to Quiz Banks.

The house committee on currency and banking voted to report favorably the bill to extend the inquisitorial powers of congress to banking institutions. It was deemed advisable to amend the law that there might be no ground for legal entanglement in the money trust investigation by an effort to procure from banks records of deposits, affiliations with trust companies, industrial organizations and other business enterprises.

Peace Commission Time Extended.

The time for a national peace commission to be appointed by the president, was extended by a joint resolution passed by the house, introduced by Representative Bartholdt of Missouri. It continues in force legislation of two years ago authorizing the appointment of five commissioners to serve without pay. Pending peace negotiations with various countries prevented the formation of the commission, although the president at one time offered Theodore Roosevelt a place on the board. The resolution also continued available until 1914 an appropriation of $10,000,000 for the commission's expenses.

To Free Indian Hostages.

The United States yesterday took its first decisive step toward freeing its only hostages of war when the house Indian affairs committee voted to report favorably a bill granting "freedom and free release" to those Apache Indians who have been held prisoners for many years at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Clapp May Reject Chairmanship.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota heads the sub-committee, which will investigate campaign contributions to the national and congressional committees of all parties in 1904 and 1908. Besides Mr. Clapp the committee consists of Senators Bradley of Kentucky, Oliver of Pennsylvania, Republicans, and Paynter of Kentucky and Lea of Tennessee, Democrats.

Senator Clark said he had had no time to formulate any plans for the inquiry, and to some inquirers he intimated that he might not serve.

Life-Saving Bills Passed.

An international maritime conference and the immediate equipment of all United States transports with life saving apparatus are provided for in bills passed unanimously by the house. Both measures were introduced as a result of the Titanic disaster, and record time was made in their passage. It is expected that equal speed will be made in the senate.

The international conference is to be held in Washington and the president is authorized to open negotiations with all maritime powers to send delegates. It is to consider the broad question of life-saving equipment on merchant vessels, investigate the desirability of having an international patrol fleet in the North Atlantic during the season when icebergs abound and the practicability of compelling large liners to have convoys on their trips.

The bill providing for the equipment of army transports appropriated $300,000 for the installation of lifeboats and rafts, and makes compulsory the installation of sufficient boats and rafts to care for every passenger and member of the crew.

AGED WISCONSIN MAN DIES WHILE EN ROUTE HOME.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Henry Borders, 83 years old, whose home is thought to be in Albemar, Wis., died Monday at the city hospital of heart failure. Borders was taken from the union station Sunday night in a weakened condition. Mr. Borders, who was on his way home from Pasadena, Cal., became ill on the train. The authorities have notified a son, John Borders, Reedsburg, Wis., and the body will be held pending instructions.

TENT CAMP AT MIDWAY

Colony Will Be Established for Overflow From New Sanitarium.

Nopeming Institution Will Be Filled From Time It Opens.

A tent camp for the treatment of a tubercular colony may be established by the county this summer.

The sanitarium commission, which has in charge the erection and maintenance of the handsome new sanitarium, the Nopeming (Out-in-the-Woods) at Midway, will probably make some such provision in order to take care of the overflow from the sanitarium.

At the formal opening of the Nopeming it is expected that but half of the applicants for admission can be taken in, as the present capacity, including the children's quarters, for which a fund of $10,000 was raised by the women of the city, is but thirty-five.

The aim of the commission is to provide for the county a place where tuberculosis can be treated along the most modern lines and yet isolate the contagion from the public at large. There are more than enough applications ahead to fill the sanitarium and it is possible that the commission will take steps to provide outdoor quarters for the overflow.

The dining room accomodations at the new sanitarium will more than suffice. The capacity of the dining room is about 100 and will provide accomodations for a much larger number of patients than the institution will hold.

The experience of the successful sanitarium has usually been that the hospital treatment and care of the average patient costs in the neighborhood of $10 or $12 per week. In accepting patients at Nopeming, the commission has decided upon a nominal fee of $7. The county will thus be contributing from $3 to $5 per week towards the maintenance of each patient.

The charge of $7 a week is expected to be paid by the patient himself or his friends, fellow workers, fraternal organizations or employers. Speaking along this line, Dr. J. T. Laird, superintendent, said yesterday:

Alms of Institutions.

"The eradication of tuberculosis is a tremendous task and one which requires the co-operation of all classes and in other localities, labor organizations and associations of various sorts have recognized that they are a part of the work. If all patients were admitted free, the object of the institution would be defeated. It would eventually be regarded as a county charity similar to that of the almshouse and those who have been self-supporting citizens until their resources were defeated by this disease would refuse to enter it.

"The tuberculosis hospital at the county poor farm is doing good work and will continue to do so, even after the Nopeming is running. It was designed primarily as a place in which tuberculosis paupers could be isolated from other inmates at the county poor farm.

Nopeming sanitarium could have been built at the poor farm and could have been maintained there at a much less cost than will be possible at its present location near Midway, but its patients would necessarily be brought into close daily contact with the shiftless and vicious as well as the deserving poor.

"It is possible that public or private funds will be available for the care of patients at Nopeming, who are unable to pay the nominal rate of $7 per week. In any event, they will not be sent to the poor farm from Nopeming simply because their funds have been exhausted by a disease for which they are not in many cases responsible."

The furnishings for the new sanitarium have been purchased from local dealers and most of them have already been installed. It is expected that as soon as the drilling of the well, furnishing a good supply of water, is completed, that the institution will be open for the reception of patients.

Contractor Emil Zauft of West Duluth, who has built the structure, has put up a creditable building.

HARVESTER MEN TO APPEAR ON JUNE 3.

St. Paul, Minn., May 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—United States District Attorney Charles C. Houpt announced today that the defendants' appearance in the International Harvester company's dissolution suit would be June 3 instead of today.

The time was extended, according to the rule of the equity court that provides that all defendants shall have thirty days in which to enter an appearance after the filing of a subpoena.

Assistant District Attorney J. M. Dickey explained that the error in the date was caused by the long delay in the office of Attorney General Wickersham.

MARINE NEWS

BUSY DAYS IN HARBOR

Many Boats Arriving in Port for Ore and Grain.

Large Consignments of Steel Rails Expected This Spring.

Local docks presented a very busy appearance this morning, with the many boats loading and unloading cargoes of coal, ore, grain and freight. The average number of boats arrived and departed yesterday afternoon and this morning. The various tugs in commission at the Head of the Lakes are being kept busy.

Nine ore boats arrived yesterday afternoon and immediately went to the local docks for loads. They were: Nottingham, J. P. Reiss, Ben White, C. M. Warner, Alaska, E. L. Fisher, A. W. Thompson, William E. Corey and Bunsen. Other arrivals yesterday afternoon were the Myron, Reddington, Selwyn Eddy, freight; Page, salt; Harvester, coal, and Wilkenson, grain. The Selwyn Eddy had a large cargo of rails and the Reddington also carried salt.

This morning the Edward Smith arrived after taking a cargo of lumber out yesterday afternoon to Two Harbors. The Murphy, Sultana, Baker and James Laughlin arrived this morning light for ore, the Robbins and P. P. Miller with grain, and D. O. Mills light for coal. A number of vessels are expected to have rail cargoes this year for Western delivery, as the railroads are doing an exceptional amount of construction work. Small package freighters are taking on wheat cargoes on account of a lack of package freight.

Of the boats that cleared the local harbor yesterday afternoon the R. P. Ranney, M. Taylor, Coralla, Crescent City, William A. Congdon, C. M. Warner and the Mailetou had ore cargoes. The Duluth carried merchandise and the Ed Smith, Lozen and James Gayley left light for Two Harbors. The S. S. Curry and the J. H. Barton cleared with grain. This morning the Goulder, Cowle, Charles Hubbard, Ben White and A. W. Thompson left with ore lands. The only other boat that cleared was the J. A. McKee with grain.

NEW STEAMER A FLOATING PALACE

City of Detroit Is Last Word in Marine Architecture on Lakes.

The new steamer City of Detroit III, which is practically ready for lake service, is considered the last word in passenger steamers by prominent marine men, who have visited the boat at the foot of Orleans street in Detroit during the past few days. The new boat will be launched some time next week.

The interior reveals the most startling advancement in marine architecture. Everything is of steel forward on the main deck, where the freight will be taken care of. Just forward of amidships is the huge engine. The large social hall is the surprise of the builders. It is spacious with woodwork of mahogany and is exquisitely decorated. Aft of the social hall is the dining room, along either side of which are large bay windows overlooking the water. The partitions giving semi-privacy along the sides are adorned with Elizabethan paintings. Just below the dining hall is the wine cellar. Around the walls of the cellar are wine casks and the whole room savors of the ancient "rathskeller."

Forward of the wine room is the kitchen. The bakeshop occupies another room, while on the other side are three large ice boxes. Just forward are the crew's sleeping quarters, while under these and forward are the boilers, ballast tanks and bunkers.

On the second deck are the social halls, writing rooms, private parlors and maids' quarters. This deck also affords a splendid view of the vessel. The woodwork is all of mahogany and numerous paintings and expensive panellings are displayed along the walls. The roof, high overhead, is domed and lighted by concealed lights. On this desk is also the orchestrion.

The third deck is similarly built, but contains the surprise of the boat. Located forward is a chapel containing a fine pipe organ with carved altars. The windows are filled with imported stained glass. This feature of the steamer took Louis E. Keil, the designer, fourteen weeks to draw and design. The chapel was built at a cost of $10,000.

The fourth or top deck follows a different style of decorations. There is a fountain forward on this deck. The walls and ceilings are covered with vines and flower baskets. Another novelty is a large tank of fish in the center of the deck. A number of electric lights are used on this deck, bringing the total number of lights close to 4,000.

EXTEND SEASON OF NAVIGATION

The Canadian government yesterday announced that the regular navigation season will be extended to Jan. 1, if the plans of Eastern marine men work out properly.

The Canadian minister of the interior, Robert Rogers, has been corresponding with navigation companies, insurance men and various business organizations with regard to the extension of the lake season to the first of the year. By the extending of the season, Mr. Rogers believes that close to 20,000,000 bushels more of grain could be shipped. It is planned to do away with the congestion that has occurred at the close of every season during the past few years. Several ice breakers will be secured to keep the ports clear during the extra month.

COLLISION IN DULUTH HARBOR

Steamer Rockefeller Rams the Carter at Allouez Ore Docks.

While entering the Allouez ore docks yesterday afternoon, the Rockefeller struck the Carter, which was lying at the dock taking on a cargo of ore. The Rockefeller was seriously damaged and immediately went to the shipyards for repairs. The Carter was only slightly damaged, a trip to the shipyards not being necessary. The accident is the first of the season.

It is believed that the engineer on the Rockefeller mistook the signals that were given and went straight ahead, when he should have gone astern. The moving boat struck the Carter on the stem, slightly jamming her in the side, cutting away the anchor. The Rockefeller is owned by the Pittsburg Steamship company and is 366 feet long. It is a 3,000-ton boat, while the Carter is a 6,000-ton boat, being 504 feet long. The two boats arrived yesterday morning, light for ore.

WILL BEGIN DREDGING OPERATIONS AT ENTRY.

Col. Francis R. Schunk, the United States engineer, who is temporarily in charge of the Duluth United States Engineers' office, is expected here the first of next week to look after the affairs of the Lake Superior district.

Considerable dredging is to be done on the lake this season and bids are to be opened Thursday for the work in the Superior entry. The Superior entry is to be dredged immediately after the Old Hickory and the Columbia finish the dredging in the local harbor. The Columbia started work today and the Old Hickory will start tomorrow.

April Lake Levels.

The United States Lake Survey issued its monthly notice to mariners yesterday, giving the April lake levels and stages as follows:

Lakes—	Feet above tide-water, New York.
Superior	601.46
Michigan-Huron	579.44
Erie	572.25
Ontario	246.32

Lake Superior is .07 foot higher than last month, .92 foot higher than a year ago, .31 foot below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 1.23 feet below the high stage of April, 1860, and .92 foot above the low stage [illegible]. It will probably rise .3 foot during May.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are .17 foot higher than last month, .03 foot higher than a year ago, 1 foot below the average stage of April of the last ten years, 3.79 feet below the high stage of April, 1886, and .22 foot above the low stage of April, 1896. They will probably rise .3 foot during May.

Lake Erie is 1.06 feet higher than last month, .64 foot higher than a year ago, .09 foot lower than the average stage of April of the last ten years, 1.93 feet below the high stage of April, 1862, and .99 foot above the low stage of April, 1895. It will probably rise .4 foot during May.

Lake Ontario is 1.22 feet higher than last month, .88 foot higher than a year ago, .05 foot lower than the average stage of April, 1886, and 1.48 feet above the low stage of April, 1872. It will probably rise .3 foot during May.

Belle Isle boats went into commission yesterday. The regular season will not start until the last of this month.

OBITUARY

George Fox, aged 26, is dead at Mankato, Minn., of pneumonia. After graduating from the Mankato schools and Shattuck Military academy, he entered the employ of the Westinghouse Electric company and spent five years in South America in the interest of the company. He is survived by two brothers, one in the naval academy at Annapolis and one in the military academy at West Point.

Dennis O'Shea, a veteran of the Indian massacre, died at his home near Fort Ridgely Saturday of cancer. He was a native of Ireland, where he was born over eighty years ago, and came to America in the early '50s, and was a resident of Nicollet county over fifty years. He enlisted in the regular army and was at Fort Ridgely when the Indians attacked that place.

Eugene Shaw, aged 62, president and treasurer of the Daniel Shaw Lumber company of Eau Claire, Wis., is dead of pneumonia. His wife and two daughters survive him. His father, Daniel Shaw, was a pioneer lumberman and founder of the company's business in 1856. The late Congressman George B. Shaw was his brother.

Rt. Rev. Charles William Stubbs, bishop of Truro, in England, is dead. He was the author of many publications, and from 1881 to 1895 was the select preacher at Cambridge, Eng.

Judge John A. Rentley, who was commissioner of pensions during the administration of President Hayes and who had been a state senator in Wisconsin and a district judge in Colorado, died at his home near Seattle, Wash., May 7. He was 76 years old.

Frank Gregoine, aged 60, a resident of Eau Claire, Wis., for 30 years, former alderman and former president of the State Horseshoers' association, died suddenly of heart failure Monday night.

CLAIMS ALLEN WORE BREASTPLATE

Witness Says He Fired Four Shots at Prisoner Without Effect.

Wytheville, Va., May 7.—Further evidence that Floyd Allen wore bullet proof protection in the Hillsville court when the shooting up of the court took place March 14 was brought out during the trial of Allen here today for the murder of Prosecutor William M. Foster.

Deputy Sheriff Gillespie testified that after the shooting began he fired four shots point blank at Floyd Allen. Gillespie said he wondered why the shots had not taken effect. He made a careful examination of the courtroom, but could find no shots in the wall opposite from where he had shot at Allen.

Before Allen was arrested he changed his clothes, and Gillespie firmly believed the Allen clansman, the day of the tragedy, wore a breast plate or some other armor protection.

STATE SCHOOL FUND GIVEN TO COUNTIES.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor Iverson today distributed among counties in the state $49,893.47 in aid of common schools, in proportion to the acreage of unsold school and other state lands in the districts. The last session of the legislature passed a law appropriating $50,000 annually for such a purpose, with a provision that the amount paid any district must not exceed five cents an acre.

Five Reasons

Why you can do better here in buying a Piano than at any other store.

1st In buying pianos as we do for cash, we own the goods at from 10 per cent to 25 per cent less than "consignment" or "long-time" dealers can obtain them for.

We are the only piano dealers in Duluth buying all instruments out and out for cash, consequently we are in position to make the lowest prices, comparing quality for quality.

2nd The expense of conducting this piano department in connection with a large and old established business in other lines is about one-half that attached to any exclusive piano or music store.

3rd We sell on most liberal terms of payment, as low as $5.00 a month if customers desire, and take old organs or pianos in exchange at good prices. Your notes remain in our possession and you have no outside parties to deal with which is an advantage no other dealer here can offer you.

4th Buying for cash and not being under obligation to any manufacturer, we exercise the closest inspection of pianos as they arrive, and manufacturers understanding this, send us only the choicest instruments, reserving the less desirable ones for "long time" and "consignment" dealers.

5th You will find here a stock of over one hundred instruments, including such distinguished makes as Steinway, Mason & Hamlin, Everett, Kurtzman, Emerson, Crown, Weber, Blasius, Kohler & Campbell, Regent, Smith & Barnes.

Several Good Bargains In Used Pianos On Hand From $100 Up.

Helps on Care of the Hair and Skin

The subtle charm and elegance so noticeable in brilliant, fluffy hair is possible for every woman to have and enjoy if she will but shampoo occasionally with a canthrox mixture, made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. This creates a wealth of rich, white lather that cleanses thoroughly and completely. The stimulating effect of this shampoo on the scalp will encourage a bountiful growth of beautiful hair.

Women who safeguard their beauty do not use powder or greasy creams, because of their injurious effect upon the skin. Instead, a spurma lotion is used. This is made by dissolving 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water) and adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spurmax lotion protects the skin and gives to the daintiest complexion a rare charm and elegance. To rough, oily, faded skins it lends a velvety smoothness and exquisite tint.

Coffee Hurt You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper or shout "Nonsense, good coffee never hurt anyone."

You know better than that, for you can point out, all around you, folks who are the worse for coffee slugging. Think over a few coffee-drinking friends and casually inquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others, isn't it just possible?

Catch the drift, don't you?

In fact, after having studied the matter a bit it will come plain that if you are a coffee-drinker the chances are that some form of incipient or perhaps fixed organic disease due to coffee has set in—constipation, rheumatism, eye trouble, nervous headaches, nervous prostration, or others of the well-proven coffee ills. One CAN decline to look the thing squarely in the face and peg along with the coffee.

POSTUM

Be Sure the Postum is properly prepared as per direction on pkg. (and that's easy), then you have the famous food drink, with the deep seal brown color which turns to rich golden brown when cream is added and the flavor is crisp, snappy and very like the high grades of Old Gov't Java.

If in a few days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest your food better, stomach and bowels show sign of recovery, or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or eyes get stronger and head works clearer, (the ills of coffee drugging are multitudinous) the facts will be before you and

WILL BUILD CATHEDRAL

Bishop Corbett Announces Crookston Edifice Will Be Erected This Year.

Will Be Imposing Edifice and Will Cost About $75,000.

Crookston, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — Bishop Timothy Corbett of the diocese of Crookston announces that the proposed cathedral will be erected this year. Contractor Edward Jackson of Bemidji will start construction immediately and it will be rushed to completion at the earliest date. The foundation was about complete last fall, and the superstructure will therefore rise rapidly.

The cathedral will seat about 1,500 and will be situated just south of the Cathedral high school, erected last year, and the bishop's residence, at the head of Ash street. It will be an imposing structure, a modern building in every respect, and will be heated from the central heating plant which was erected last year with a capacity for both the school and cathedral.

Will Cost $75,000.

The cathedral will cost, completed, $75,000, and will be the finest house of worship to be found in Northern Minnesota or the entire Red River valley. Since Bishop Corbett arrived here from Duluth services were held for a time in St. Mary's church, but since the Cathedral high school was erected St. Mary's church was torn down and services were held in the auditorium of the new school. The erection of the cathedral has been in doubt until the formal announcement today that the pro-cathedral parish, St.

BISHOP CORBETT.

Mary's, is rejoicing that the bishop has decided upon pushing construction this year.

MARRIED BEFORE; DIVORCE DENIED

North Dakota Couple Find Themselves in Strange Marital Mixup.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because she admitted while on the witness stand in the district court of Ramsey county yesterday that she had been married in Norway in 1880 to one Bert Evanson, and had never been divorced from him, but had heard from him as late as 1901, Judge Templeton held that there was no grounds for a divorce action in the case of Charles Garske vs. Ellen Garske, well known residents of the county who have been in the limelight on previous occasions because of their differences.

The situation created is peculiar. As they were legally wedded, and though they have a large family of children, either of them is free to wed again. Their children, however, are legal heirs of both.

Woman Appears.

Several years ago an action for divorce was started by Mr. Garske, but it was dropped when Mrs. Garske appeared on the scene and they reached an agreement, living together for two years, after which they quarreled and parted again. In this suit, he alleged desertion, and she charged cruel and inhuman treatment.

The divorce suit heard by Judge Templeton yesterday, was merely a continuance of the old suit. The action is peculiarly important because of property possessions, he being worth about $40,000, while she has property valued at about $12,000 in her own name.

NEARLY DROWNED OFF HALIFAX, N. S.

Duluth Traveling Man Barely Escaped Fate of Titanic Victims.

Couderay, Wis., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Anderson of Rice Lake, formerly in business here and now a traveling man for the Marshall-Wells Hardware company of Duluth, while here yesterday related a thrilling incident he once experienced at sea when the vessel on which he was coming to this country nearly met the fate of the Titanic through a collision with another ship.

Mr. Anderson says it was in 1888. He was 12 years old and was coming to this country with his parents from Norway on the steamer Thingvalla, when about 4 o'clock one foggy morning, about 300 miles east of Halifax, while going at full speed they struck the Geyser of the same line, almost cutting her in two.

Lifeboats Swamped.

"The Geyser," says Mr. Anderson, "sank in six minutes; taking a number of its passengers down with her, the rest scrambling overboard into the sea, where most of them were picked up by lifeboats. The bow of our ship was stove in and the captain ordered all the passengers into the lifeboats as the ship was sinking. The lifeboat I was in soon was swamped by the rough sea and all were thrown into the water, where I swam around for what seemed to be hours. The desperate fight I made for life and my pleadings finally appealed to the people in an already overloaded lifeboat and I was dragged into their boat more dead than alive.

"After drifting around in the ocean for about eight hours a passing steamer came along and picked us all up. One hundred and thirty-two of the passengers and crew, some from both of the ships, were drowned at that time.

"The captain and crew stood by the sinking ship, unloading the freight in the bow, which caused the bow to raise up out of the water and she was later towed into port."

LIGHTNING'S FREAK.

Causes Scare at Casselton, N. D., Without Injuring Anyone.

Casselton, N. D., May 7.—A freak bolt of lightning passing through a house and burning two mattresses from beds, passing out another corner and entering the home of a neighbor, lifting an aged man from his feet and setting him down again without bowling him over, running across the street to another residence and severely jarring the family, visited Casselton a few nights ago.

The lightning first made its appearance at the home of Emil Trumning, a barber, where it burned the two mattresses. The mother had lifted her baby from the bed just two minutes before the bolt. The lightning passed out another corner to the home of the next door neighbor. Aside from burning the mattresses, some plaster was jarred loose. The fire department was called and the blaze extinguished.

An 83-year-old man was standing by a window in the next house. The lightning lifted him from his feet and he came down again without being knocked over. From there it went across the street to another residence.

BRIDGE GOES OUT AS STAGE CROSSES

High Water Near Staples, Minn., Comes Near Causing a Tragedy.

Staples, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rains of the past few days have been so heavy that the rivers and small streams are flooded and are overflowing their banks into the fields. The bridges spanning the Crow Wing and Partridge rivers near here are reported cut. One bridge went out as the stage from Staples was crossing. The driver and passengers narrowly escaped by jumping onto the parts of the bridge left standing. The horses had already crossed before the structure gave way. This bridge has always been in poor condition, but it is expected that Wadena county, with the help of Staples, will put up a steel structure.

Lakes Rising Rapidly.

The lakes of this section are rising rapidly, Lake Lincoln having risen almost a foot during the past few days and as there are a number of streams that feed the lake, it will not be long before the former high mark will be reached. Other lakes have had a rise of six inches or more. The village of Motley was struck by a heavy cloudburst and was completely under water during that time. The character of the soil is such that it soon sank into the ground and the soil is now ready for the cultivation and further planting.

A large potato crop is being planted this spring and all the farmers predict that they will have a good crop of the tubers. The past year they had no way of caring for their crop and part of it was spoiled. This year they have co-operated and will build a large warehouse in Staples and will use this as their storehouse and shipping and buying market.

DULUTH DENTIST THERE.

Dr. G. W. Benson to Speak at Grand Forks Dental Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many dentists of North Dakota are here today for the annual convention of the State Dental association. The convention will adjourn tomorrow evening.

Tonight the association will be given a banquet by the local dental men. The program of toasts includes responses by Dr. G. W. Benson of Duluth, Dr. J. M. Walls of St. Paul, Dr. W. H. G. Logan of Chicago, and several others.

CHAMPION DRILLER DIES.

William Heard, Well Known Ishpeming Miner, Passes Away.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today from the First M. E. church for William Heard, one of the well known miners of Ishpeming, who died Sunday, aged 49. Mr. Heard was one of the famous rock drillers of the country and had won prizes in several drilling contests.

He was one of a trio of drillers that held the championship of the Marquette range for a number of years. In fact, the records made by these men in exhibition contests had never been equaled by any drillers in the district. Mr. Heard and his teammates, Captain Edwin Corey of the Rolling Mill mine and James Kitt, another well known miner of this city, captured first prize in the big drilling contest conducted by the Oliver Mining company at its semi-centennial celebration held on the Lake Superior hill a few years ago.

Mr. Heard is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters, all residents in Ishpeming. His oldest son, William, is married.

New Hubbard County Creamery.

Park Rapids, Minn., May 7.—Farmers in the Osage territory, ten miles west of Park Rapids, have completed their co-operative creamery association and will begin at once the erection of a new building. About $2,000 has been raised by Ernest Rixen, general solicitor for the association. The officers of the new association are: John Veline, president; Frank Selgford, vice president; William McGrane, secretary; A. W. Sanderson, treasurer; Charles Robinson, Robert Smith and L. Craig, directors.

PRIMARY VOTE IS BEING CANVASSED

North Dakota Board Going Over Results of Late Presidential Primary.

Bismarck, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota board of canvassers met here today for the purpose of going over the vote cast in the recent presidential preference election. It is not probable that the work will be concluded for two or three days, as the ballots are quite long.

Particular interest centers about the official vote for members of the North Dakota delegation to the Democratic national convention. The names of two or three of the delegates are uncertain, the close contest for ninth and tenth place on the delegation making it impossible to secure the exact result until the final canvass of the official returns is completed. Willis A. Joy of Grand Forks, J. W. Boeing of Minto, and W. P. Porterfield of Fargo, are particularly interested, their vote being bunched.

SIGNED BY McGOVERN.

Wisconsin's Governor Approves Non-Partisan Municipal Bill.

Madison, Wis., May 7.—Governor McGovern has signed the Stern bill providing for non-partisan nominations and elections of city officials in all Wisconsin municipalities which are under the primary election law.

Candidates will get their names on the primary election ballot by petition, and the two receiving the highest number of votes for any office are non-partisan nominees for that office. The names are the only ones which go on the ballot for such office at the regular election.

Candidates will have a five-word declaration of principles on the primary and general election ballot.

The act also contains a provision which enables voters to express their second choice of candidates.

It does not affect cities which are not under the primary election laws, nor cities which are under the commission form of government. The purpose of the act is to enable the Republicans, Democrats and other anti-Socialists of Milwaukee to combine against the Socialists there.

THROWN FROM HORSE.

North Dakota Boy Injured and Exposed to Storm Several Hours.

Milton, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a cold rain and with one leg broken, John Watt, aged 16, lay four hours during the night in a puddle of water, unable to help himself. His father, alarmed when the boy's saddle horse reached home riderless, started out and finally found the lad where he had been thrown by the animal.

GRAND FORKS AUTOISTS JOIN NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks Automobile club has decided to become affiliated with the National Automobile association, to work with other automobile clubs of the Northwest in securing the Glidden tour for 1913.

Planting Many Fruit Trees.

Port Wing, Wis., May 7.—It is estomated that 15,000 fruit trees have been planted in this vicinity, and more are expected to be planted.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Escanaba—Frank La Marsh appeared in circuit court here last week and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of forgery. La Marsh was in the employ of the Barron Lumber company and last October cashed three checks for $50 each, forging the name of the concern. He was traced to Canada.

Ishpeming—The employes of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will be paid this month for April labor as follows: Monday, May 13, Hard Ore and Lake Mines; Cliffs Shaft and Salisbury, May 14; Negaunee, May 15; North Lake district, May 17, and Swanzey district, May 18.

Marquette—A letter received from Dr. A. W. Hornbogen, who is studying abroad, says that he has about finished his work in Vienna and will leave shortly for Verne, Switzerland, where he will study under the celebrated Dr. Kocher. Dr. Hornbogen expects to sail for the States about the middle of June and to be back in Marquette about July 1.

Marquette—Miss Margaret Butler, aged 52, for many years a teacher in the Marquette public schools, who was taken ill about a month ago, died in St. Mary's hospital. Miss Butler was, perhaps, one of the best known teachers in Marquette. For nearly twenty-nine years she was identified with the local schools and her passing is deeply regretted.

Negaunee—Edith W Mattson, aged 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mattson of Park street died Saturday of diphtheria and was buried the same day.

Ironwood—Claude Larson arrested M. Driscoll of Trout Creek for catching brook trout in the closed season. He plead guilty and paid a fine and costs.

Hancock—May 15 will be clean-up day in Hancock. It was so designated by Mayor W. H. Dodge in a special proclamation in which the public, pulpits, press and schools were excited to promote municipal sanitation, hygiene and pride.

Laurium—The interscholastic outdoor athletic meet will take place this year in Calumet, and will be held in the Laurium driving park, which has one of the best and fastest tracks in the Upper Peninsula. The meet probably will be held June 11.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Moorhead—Deputy Sheriff P. E. Malvey of Clay county and Deputy Sheriff John Ross of Cass county returned to Moorhead Saturday, having in custody William Kelly, alleged to be an ex-convict from the North Dakota state penitentiary, and G. Groth, formerly in the employ of the Fred Johnson company of this city. Both men are charged with robbing the Remley and Olson hardware store in Dilworth.

International Falls—The Edla is the only boat on the lake shifting for herself among the drifts of ice on Cranberry bay. Capt. Wilson left the first of the week to bring the boat into port.

Wabasha—The sensational end of Eli Bush, 20 years old, has stirred the village of Nelson, near Wabasha. The boy late Friday left his work at the postoffice, went directly to his room at the home of his mother in the village, and took his own life. The boy said he had been improperly accused.

Fergus Falls—The supreme court has ruled in the celebrated Dane Prairie clitch, forbidding the draining of a number of lakes in that township. The commissioners ordered the construction of a ditch there, and Ole Larson, Peter Halsness and a number of others appealed. The district court held that the lakes should not be drained, and the supreme court affirms the decision.

St. Cloud—The body of Charles Nelson, the prisoner who hung himself in the county jail Wednesday, was taken back to his former home in Isanti Saturday. Nelson and his wife have been separated about two years. Nelson had been a very heavy drinker of late years and it is believed that this was the cause of the separation. There are six children in the family, the oldest of them being 17 years of age.

Motley—W. E. Little, who came here last summer from Gray, S. D., to work in the Motley Store company store, purchased a large interest in the business during the past week.

Moorhead—Ed Benedict and E. D. Grant lost a valuable Percheron stallion Saturday. The animal was affected with influenza, and died after a short illness. The horse was valued at $2,000 and his death is a heavy loss to his owners.

Brainerd—John H. Hill, of Ironton and Duluth, who has been seriously ill with ptomaine poisoning, is gradually recovering. Local doctors were called and Mr. Hill feels much better.

Aitkin—Five cases of smallpox were reported to the village health officer last week. Four were in the family of Mr. Grindle on the South side, the fifth being Mrs. Klingelhoefer, whose residence is on East Birch street. Mrs. Klingelhoefer was taken to the Grindle home, and the house thoroughly fumigated, and then the Grindle home was placed under quarantine.

Deer River—A new postoffice has been established at Coal Dock station on the M. & R. road, to be called "Mack," and John K. Samuelson is the postmaster. The office is not doing business yet, but will soon, according to supplies being forwarded.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Judge Halsey of Milwaukee will hold court at Ashland Tuesday, May 21. The jurors will be summoned and some cases in which Judge Risjord was interested before he was elected will be tried.

Manitowoc—Plans for the remodeling of the Rudolph block recently purchased by the Vogelsang & Murphy company, have been approved.

Manitowoc—Acting City Engineer Pitz has started the survey work for the Manitowoc & Northern Traction company's extension on the west side.

Marinette—Thompson Bros., boat manufacturers of Peshtigo, may locate in Marinette.

Fond du Lac—The Citizens' State bank has purchased valuable South Main street property and will build a banking house.

Neenah—A Fox River Valley Jersey Breeders' asscciation is to be organized here. The breeders will hold their first fair and sale here.

Washburn—The annual exhibit by the public schools of the city will be held at the Walker school building next Friday during the day and evening, at which time specimens of the work done by the pupils of the different grades in the city will be displayed.

Milwaukee—Max Winne, director of the Pabst theater fifteen years ago and organizer of the Milwaukee Liederkranz society, has returned to Milwaukee after an absence of fifteen years to direct productions of the Simmonds Grand Opera company, which opens at the Pabst theater on Sunday. Before leaving Milwaukee he was also dramatic critic of the Milwaukee Herald.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—Lieut. Ray Straith McDonald, U. S. N., killed in Brooklyn, N. Y., just a month after his marriage, the report of whose death was carried by the Associated Press Friday, was formerly a Grafton resident, and he received his appointment to Annapolis from this state.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Elias Steenerson of Crookston will be one of the speakers at the proposed Grand Forks old settlers' meeting to be held in June. He has notified J. D. Johnson of this city that he would participate in the event.

Casselton, N. D.—The state members of the Grand Army of the Republic are getting ready to descend on Casselton June 1 and 12, when the annual encampment for North Dakota will take place. The dates were settled upon recently at a meeting at Casselton. They are planning for a big encampment this year and Casselton will offer several novel entertainments to the veterans of the Civil war and their wives and families.

Bismarck, N. D.—Lillian Eirs died in this city Saturday morning of spinal meningitis. She was ill only a few days. The deceased was a ward of State Humane Officer Blake after the death of her mother. She formerly resided north of Baldwin. The funeral was held Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

Fargo, N. D.—The supreme court has handed down a decision granting L. F. Lathrop a new trial in his suit against the Fargo-Moorhead Street Railway company. The case will come up at the next term of court. Lathrop received a judgment for $1,000 for injuries. His suit was for $10,000. A motion for a new trial was made but denied by Judge Pollock. Then the appeal was taken and the decision of the higher court is the result.

Carrington, N. D.—Ralph Halaas is a patient at St. John's hospital in Fargo, from the effects of a peculiar accident which happened to him at his home. He was dismounting from his horse when he stepped on a pitchfork which pierced his side and back, inflicting injuries that may be fatal.

Bismarck, N. D.—R. W. Main, state fish commissioner, has announced that after an inspection of the lakes and river, no dead fish were found, and that the finny denizens of the deep wintered well. Mr. Main states that the fishery department expects to produce about 15,000,000 fish this year.

Minot, N. D.—Wolf Cohen, a well known character about town, was adjudged insane Saturday and committed to Jamestown asylum. Cohen was a peculiar man and for some time he has been unbalanced in mind. His peculiarity was to go about town picking cigar and cigarette stubs out of the gutter.

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Fourteen Years. Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elgin, Ill.—"After fourteen years of suffering everything from female complaints, I am at last restored to health. "I employed the best doctors and even went to the hospital for treatment and was told there was no help for me. But while taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use until I was made well." —Mrs. HENRY LEISEBERG, 743 Adams St.

Kearneysville, W. Va.—"I feel it my duty to write and say what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female weakness and at times felt so miserable I could hardly endure being on my feet. "After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following your special directions, my trouble is gone. Words fail to express my thankfulness. I recommend your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. G. B. WHITTINGTON.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The Perfect Laxative For Elderly People

Age has its attractions no less than youth in a more serene and quieter life. But it is this very life of rest without sufficient exercise that brings with it those disorders that arise from inactivity. Chief of these are a chronic, persistent constipation.

Most elderly people are troubled in this way, with accompanying symptoms of belching, drowsiness after eating, headaches and general lassitude. Frequently there is difficulty of digesting even light food. Much mental trouble ensues, as it is hard to find a suitable remedy. First of all the advice may be given that elderly people should not use salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters or any of the more violent purgatives. What they need, women as well as men, is a mild laxative tonic, one that is pleasant to take and yet acts without griping.

The remedy that fills all these requirements, and has in addition tonic properties that strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of elderly people use, to the exclusion of all other remedies. Trustworthy people like Miss M. H. Burling, Ripon, Wis., and J. P. Crider, Kimball, Minn., say they take it at regular intervals and in that way not only maintain general good health, but that they have not in years felt as good as they do now. You will do well to always have a bottle of it in the house. It is good for all the family.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guarantee that it has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities. Its value as an advertising medium is apparent.

HAVE YOU VOTED?

Have you voted at the special city election being held today?

If you haven't, there is yet time. The polls are open until 9 o'clock. Your polling place is not far from your home, and its address will be found in The Herald tonight.

Today the people of Duluth are deciding whether they want three powers which are important in city government:

The power to begin and enact city legislation if the council fails to do its duty;

The power to pass upon and approve or reject the acts of the council if it does questionable things; and

The power to discharge an elected public official who is unfaithful to his public duties.

If you think the people should possess these powers, go to the polling place at once and vote for the charter amendments. Don't let it be your fault if it fails.

Imagination Test.

Sometime when you feel strenuous, just imagine George Washington tearing around the country beseeching the people to re-elect him.

HATS OFF TO CAROLINE DEXTER!

In the first flush of anger at those New York Industrial Workers of the World who tore down the American flag the other day, we neglected to take our hat off to the brave and patriotic young woman who rescued the flag from their contaminating touch.

Caroline Dexter, who describes herself as "just a plain Socialist," is the girl who did this. Thrusting herself into the excited mob of hoodlums, she picked the flag from the floor and hugged it in her arms.

"Such dogs as you ought to be shot!" she exclaimed; and then, her womanhood rising to the surface, with her voice choked with hysteric sobs she said: "It's too good a flag to wave over such a mob;" and emerging from the crush she carried the soiled and tattered emblem home.

Hats off to Caroline Dexter, American!

Insatiable Greed.

Now the beef trust is threatening to disintegrate. Heavens! Didn't the price of meat go high enough after the acquittal, without this?

HELP THAT WILL COUNT.

The advertising men associated with local business concerns, wholesale and retail, are forming an organization for the discussion of affairs of common interest, and one of their purposes is co-operation in the work of providing publicity for Duluth.

The Duluth Advertising club will form a valuable adjunct in this most important work. Cities, nowadays, must advertise, just as a business concern must advertise, to succeed. A business man may have the best goods on earth and the greatest bargains, but if he does not tell buyers about it he might as well not have them. So with a city. A city that has the best possible advantages but does not advertise them will be passed by the city that has smaller advantages, but the enterprise to advertise what it has in the best light.

The aid of this club will be important. Its members are advertising experts. They know the value of advertising, but above all they know what advertising is worth while and what advertising is wasted.

It is as though a medical association joined hands with public agencies to promote the health of the city.

The co-operation of the new organization in the business of letting the world know why Duluth is the best city on earth to live in, to make money in and to enjoy life in will be heartily welcomed.

Do It Now!

Voted for the initiative, referendum and recall yet?

NEW COINS PROPOSED.

It has been a long time since this country has had any new coins. The tendency has been rather to reduce the variety of the coinage rather than to increase it. There used to be 2-cent pieces, 3-cent pieces, 20-cent pieces and gold dollars, but for one reason or another all these coins have disappeared.

Congress, however, is considering two new coins—a 3-cent piece and a half-cent. Congressman Bulkley has a bill providing for this coinage, which passed the house yesterday.

To avoid confusion with the dime, Congressman Bulkley would perforate his 3-cent piece in the middle, like Chinese small coins. In order to prevent confusion with the copper half-cent he proposes a white cent of nickel alloy in place of the bronze cent now in use.

These new coins will be helpful. The half-cent will be in the interest of economy, for many articles would be sold cheaper than they are now when the cent is the smallest coin. The 3-cent piece will be useful in the few communities which have attained 3-cent street car fares, and they will also be helpful to street railways in other cities that may be anxious to institute 3-cent fares but are deterred solely by the lack of a suitable coin.

The New York Times sees objections: "While these new coins would increase the facilities for making change, they would, for a time at least, seriously disturb the equilibrium of businesses adjusted by custom and convenience to price-making suited to present means of exchange. In most large cities, for instance, would come a popular demand of the transit companies to accept 3-cent fares."

These objections will hardly weigh enough to counterbalance the obvious good involved in the new coinage. Bookkeepers and price-makers will probably have to work a little harder until conditions are adjusted to the new system, but if public convenience is served sympathy is the best that can be done for these victims of progress.

Few countries have so large a basic unit of coinage as the American cent. If America can learn to split pennies it will be a help toward the thriftiness the nation needs so much.

In a number of European countries where the franc or its equivalent under another name is the common unit, the small coin is the hundredth part of it. The franc is worth 19.3 cents, so the small coin in these countries is worth about a fifth of a cent. In Germany the pfennig is worth about a quarter of a cent. In England the farthing is worth half a cent. In Denmark, Norway and Sweden the ore is worth a trifle over a quarter of a cent. In China it takes seventeen and a half of the smallest coins to make the worth of a cent.

The Kind of Work That Counts.

Manager Lee of the Spalding, in bringing the national hotel men's convention here for a visit, is displaying an aggressive public spirit of the kind that is going to make Duluth what it is going to be.

AN EASY WAY.

The women who marched in the "votes for women" parade in New York last Saturday wore hats that cost thirty-seven cents each.

Now if the women of the country are willing to put it on that basis, and make the wearing of thirty-seven cent hats their contribution to the bargain, the campaign for woman suffrage ought to end soon in a victory by unanimous agreement.

Women ought to vote anyway; but if they will consent to wear hats costing thirty-seven cents, or even a dollar thirty-seven, they ought to have no further difficulty in getting the ballot.

Some Pieces Missing Yet.

The Methodists at Minneapolis have twenty-four white bishops, and are considering appointing a few black ones. Quite a respectable start toward a chess outfit.

THE NEGLIGENT VOTER.

One of the arguments used against letting women vote is that they wouldn't use the privilege.

That notion has been pretty well exploded by the experience of states which have removed the last restriction on the ballot—that of sex.

The women there seem to vote about as regularly and as intelligently as the men.

But men are in no position to use this argument, even if there were anything in it.

A lot of them are supremely negligent about the priceless privilege of the ballot. They seem to forget that their fathers bled and died to get it, and they remain indifferent to public affairs and neglect to vote while selfish interests are herding their ignorant and corrupt voters at the polls.

From a recent speech by Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, we extract some figures that are little short of dismaying.

In 1900, according to the census, there were in this country potential voters—males of voting age—to the number of 21,329,819. There would, of course, be some increase each succeeding year. Yet the total vote in the last four presidential elections was as follows: 1896, 13,827,212; 1900, 13,970,134; 1904, 13,524,349; 1908, 14,887,133. And as several states had woman suffrage, some of these voters were women. Obviously, a lot of men failed to vote.

Mr. Elliott also presented this table, based on the 1910 census:

	Voting Population.	Votes Cast Last Election.	Per Cent Not Voting.
Minnesota	642,531	310,165	51.7
Minneapolis	105,286	43,903	58.3
St. Paul	72,041	29,499	59.1
North Dakota	173,885	94,084	45.9
Fargo	4,769	2,416	49.3
Grand Forks	4,036	1,854	54.1
Bismarck	1,988	890	55.2

This is a shameful showing. Worse still, it is dangerous. No machinery of government can withstand public indifference and neglect. The worst possible machinery, so long as it is used by an alert and vigilant voting public, will work better than the best machinery where the public takes no interest.

The good citizen votes at every opportunity, and let nothing interfere. He votes at party caucuses, at primary elections, at city elections, at school elections, at general elections of all kinds. The man who says that he takes no part in politics, and boasts that he never votes, ranks himself with the purchasable floater in the slums as an enemy of his country.

But Sometimes They Go Longer Than That.

Somnambulists, it is said, have walked fifteen miles without waking up. There must be some relationships between somnambulism and politicians.

A FAITHFUL SERVANT.

Senator H. W. Cheadle's resignation as city clerk after fourteen years' service in that capacity calls attention to the fact that Duluth is losing a servant whose loyalty and efficiency have been tried and found true on many an occasion. In going into private business he takes with him the best wishes of all who realize how important his services have been to the city.

His successor, Charles S. Palmer, is a product of the civil service and merit system, and his advancement is a good sign. His service in a subordinate capacity and as city clerk during Senator Cheadle's attendance upon the legislature has abundantly equipped him to fill the place to which he has been promoted.

Did He Get Home?

Down at Fond du Lac, Wis., a fellow broke his leg running around the bases in a ball game. Another victim of the speed craze.

FUSSY.

B. L. T., who conducts "A Line-o'-Type or Two" in the Chicago Tribune, leads his column with this irritable remark:

> We have kept silent for years, but the time has come to speak. It pains us to see people slopping around with shoelaces untied. A shoelace can be tied so that it will stay put. After you have made the bow, and before drawing it tight, slip the second loop under-and-through again.

B. L. T. is getting—or is—fussy.

It isn't particularly pleasant to see a friend "slopping around" with his shoelaces untied. Nor is it particularly pleasant to go around with one's own shoelaces flapping.

And of course if you tie a knot hard enough and complicated enough this won't happen.

But if you tie a knot in your shoelaces hard enough and complicated enough, when you come to seek repose that evening you may have to chose between using a knife to get your shoes unlaced and "chawing raw beef," as the boys used to put it when they tied your clothes, while you were in swimming, in something like the kind of knot B. L. T. prescribes for shoelaces.

Which is about as annoying as loose shoelaces.

CAMPBELL AND ROOSEVELT

By SAVOYARD.

When Theodore Roosevelt was president of the United States he was master of congress as none other of our chief executives ever was. It is a pity that at some time during his administration he was not called on to contend against a hostile national legislature as was the fortune of General Jackson. Then all would have seen whether Teddy is as much of a fighter as he says he is. In North Carolina he pretends to be General Jackson; in Illinois he proclaims that he is Abraham Lincoln. Cant, cant, pure cant. How can one man be such radically antagonistic personalities at one time? Lincoln's hatred of Jackson amounted to loathing, while his love of Clay was idolatry. Why is it that when the average man enters the broad and expansive field of American politics he then and there becomes a demagogue?

Philip Pitt Campbell is a Republican member of congress from Kansas. He has had the temerity to challenge the infallibility of Colonel Roosevelt and has been marked for the slaughter. This young Kansas member is a somewhat interesting person. He was born a subject of the British crown, but became a citizen of the American republic early in life. His parents settled in South Kansas—hence he is a Republican. Had they settled in West Kentucky he would have been a Democrat, for everyone is fashioned by his environment. Had Abraham Lincoln made his home in Mississippi instead of in Illinois he would have become one of the leaders of the South that seceded from the Union in 1861.

"Phil" Campbell, as everybody calls him, is serving his fifth term in congress and has been an active and more or less conspicuous member since his entry into that body in 1905. He has never been identified with the "insurgents" and he must have discovered uncommon talent for the game of politics to have safely emerged from the deluge of 1910 that engulfed so many of his associates on the Republican side. He is a rather handsome man of somewhat elegant physique, and intellectually he is far from a fool, though any Kansas statesman, who believes in the dogma of a protective tariff, is necessarily a victim of ignorance and a slave of prejudice. The late Dudley Haskell was the greatest man Kansas ever produced. Had he lived it is quite likely that he would have been president of the United States, and Haskell had marked the purely protective features of the tariff as spoil for his bow and his spear, if that metaphor shall be allowed to pass for the occasion. Senator Plumb was on the road to the Populist party when he died, and even John James Ingalls started for that camp when it had become too late. But young Campbell never wavered.

He is a Taft man and always regular, and unlike many of his fellows in the American congress, Campbell was intrepid enough to enter the lists against T. R. himself. England never had a parliament more subservient to the English king than the American house of representatives was to Theodore Roosevelt during the more than seven years he was president. In private converse they would cuss him, but on the roll call they obeyed his orders. And Philip Pitt Campbell was an administration man during all those years. Just now Joseph B. Foraker is the one Republican leader I can recall who could stand erect in the presence of the colonel. What his tongue spoke in private his act maintained in public.

Roosevelt is a wonderful man. He can do no wrong. The ordinary and accepted conventions that hold in check the average man have no binding effect on him. He is above and superior to the law he prates of. Had Andy Johnson perpetrated any one of a dozen acts Roosevelt committed while president the impeachment proceeding would have culminated in a conviction. But Roosevelt went abroad and told the populace how brave and how honest he was, got the applause of the groundlings and congress was thus intimidated to echo the mob.

Any other man of our history would have been outlawed from good society for the way Roosevelt treated Alton B. Parker. Parker declared that the Republican campaign was financed by Wall Street. It was the truth, and none knew it was the truth better than Theodore Roosevelt. What did Roosevelt do? He said Parker lied. Unfortunately Parker could not give his authority, and the public accepted Roosevelt's statement, which was falsified in whole and in part, in general and in particular, in all and in singular by the publication of the Harriman correspondence, in which it was disclosed that Roosevelt led Harriman to think he could buy the censorship of the president's annual message for $250,000. Harriman raised $260,000 in Wall Street, bought 50,000 votes for Roosevelt with it, and the public applauded, though it has now become manifest that in 1904 there was a lie out, but Alton B. Parker had not told it.

That same Harriman wanted 140,000 tons of steel rails for his railroads. He was the greatest railroad man as well as the greatest captain of money this or any other country ever produced. He wanted the best rail. He would not have the Bessemer rail, but gave his order to the Tennessee Coal & Iron company for the open hearth rail. That meant the loss of millions to the Steel trust that made Bessemer rails only. There was nothing for the trust to do but to acquire the Tennessee Coal & Iron company.

But that was against the law. So they threatened to continue the "Roosevelt panic" of 1907 unless Roosevelt would grant them indulgence to violate the law and acquire the Tennessee Coal & Iron company. They were Roosevelt's friends. They had contributed hundreds of thousands to his campaign fund. Another practical campaign was approaching, and what was the law among friends?

Nothing. The subterfuge of the panic was invented and after midnight—fit moment for the deed—Roosevelt said to the Steel trust, "Go ahead, buy the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, your rival, and I'll see to it that you are not prosecuted."

Now when that was printed, what was his reply? Why, that Perrose was raising $5,000,000 to defeat him. "policies." Well, here as a "policy" that the people could have afforded to pay many times six millions to defeat. It would have ruined anybody else.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

REFORM LAWS THAT WILL REFORM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There never was a time in the history of the world when there was a more crying need for genuine reform laws for the suppression of crime than there is at the present time. The monstrous evils which are in a large measure responsible for rendering the human race of today less than 50 per cent efficient are permitted to obtain and continue their ravages upon the human family.

It is hard to conceive of any law appertaining to public health, which does not contain an element of weakness which cripples its efficiency to such a degree as to render its purpose almost wholly ineffective.

So long as laws are enacted granting special privileges to a certain class of individuals, just so long those so-called reform measures shall continue to be a farce. The ordinance governing the sale and distribution of narcotic drugs in Duluth is a very good example. It is like many other laws enacted under the pretense of protecting the "dear people." It protects only those to whom authority is granted by law to prescribe the prohibitory drugs referred to. Under the new ordinance it is just as easy for the unscrupulous physician to make "dope fiends" now as it was before. The ordinance does not require him to give any reason whatever for prescribing the drug, just so long as he is a regular M. D., he is considered infallible.

It is usually from a regular licensed physician that the innocent patient receives his first introduction to the "dope" prescribed by the physician in Latin phrases in order that his poor victim may be kept in absolute ignorance of the dangerous nature of the drug, thereby making slaves to the drug habit of people without their knowledge or consent.

If the ordinance regulating the use and distribution of narcotic drugs embraced a clause requiring physicians to write their prescriptions in English, so their patients would know what they were taking, also requiring the physician to give some satisfactory reason for prescribing the prohibitory drugs the ordinance would serve its purpose in a more creditable manner than is possible for it to do in its present form.

When the public realize the importance of genuine laws for self protection—laws enacted by the "dear people" themselves, humanity shall then attain a plane of efficiency much higher than is possible under present laws and conditions.

If physicians were ideals of knowledge and integrity and superior to mercenary temptations there would be no need of a drug ordinance in Duluth. But, alas, how few such physicians bless humanity.

WHAT ABOUT THAT PROMISE OF PARK?

To the Editor of The Herald:

People of Lakeside are wondering how soon the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company will get busy parking its right-of-way through this part of town. President House has promised that this would be done. Lakesiders would like very much to see a crew of men actually doing something to beautify this neighborhood. Spring has come and there is no reason, as far as we can see, why the work should not be commenced.

A LAKESIDER.

Duluth, May 6.

The Iceberg Squadron.

New York Sun: When the Hon. Thomas Parran in the bill he has introduced in the house of representatives proposed to have the navy spend $100,000 to find out whether icebergs might profitably be used as targets for warships and airships, he neglected the most obvious and effective means of applying explosives to these voyagers of the deep. We refer, as the intelligent reader has already divined, to the employment of submarines to blow the icebergs up.

Mr. Parran's plan for dropping bombs on top of the iceberg or firing shells into it would merely chip away the upper surfaces of the berg. But a suitably equipped submarine, effectively mining the berg in its submerged portions, should be able to blow the whole mass to bits. Moreover, by the simple expedient of anchoring barges in the vicinity of the berg before its demolition fragments of it could be caught as they fell, stowed away and brought to land to relieve those ice famines that because of unpropitious weather conditions inevitably result from a short warm winter or a long cold winter.

It is not our desire to take from Mr. Parran any of the credit justly his due by reason of his original suggestion for the removal of icebergs. He is the pioneer in this enterprise, and we offer our suggestion of submarines with attendant squadrons of ice barges for his consideration, cordially inviting him to adopt it as his own and to incorporate it in the next bill he prepares on this subject.

Proposed Home Rule for Ireland.

Kansas City Times: What is home rule for Ireland?

It is the policy of permitting Ireland to manage its local affairs much as one of the states of the union does today.

How is Ireland governed now?

By the British parliament that meets in London. There is no Irish legislature.

Why do the Irish desire a change?

Because they believe the imperial parliament is not adapted to handling local Irish affairs, although Ireland is represented there.

What does the Asquith ministry propose?

It proposes an Irish parliament to meet at Dublin, to be made up of a senate and a house of commons.

Would this parliament have complete power of legislation?

No. It would legislate only on local affairs. Such matters as the army any navy, old age pensions, national insurance, the income and inheritance taxes are reserved to the imperial parliament. The Irish parliament, however, is permitted to make slight increases in custom duties. It is not authorized to establish or endow any religion.

How is the Irish parliament to be constituted?

The senate is to consist of 40 members, nominated by the Irish executive for a fixed term. The lower house is to be elected by districts with a minimum population of 27,000. It is to have a membership of 164. In the event of a disagreement between the two houses they are to meet in joint session.

What of the veto power?

The British government—that is, the cabinet—is given authority to veto legislation by the Irish parliament.

Will Ireland still have representation in the imperial parliament?

Yes, but it will be cut from one hundred members to forty-two—one for every 100,000 of population.

Is the home rule bill expected to be adopted?

Yes. The liberal government has a good majority in the house of commons and while the lords would like to defeat the measure they could block it only temporarily.

A New Schooling Demanded.

From the Saturday Evening Post: The average boy leaves school at about the age of 14, without having been taught very much that is of practical value to him. He then goes into a store or shop to learn a business. The business really hasn't much use for him in his untrained state, and puts him at some irresponsible mechanical tasks for a year or two, until he has picked up a certain notion of what business is like and a certain degree of proficiency. By the time he is about 17 he may be given a real job, with some responsibility and some outlook. The school, in short, drops him into a short of no man's land. For two or three or four years he is neither student nor earner.

During those years he ought to be both in school and in store or shop. He should still receive competent instruction and at the same time be gaining practical experience. There is no reason why he shouldn't earn something and learn something, too—not by going to a night school, where the instruction is altogether detached from his business novitiate, and where the hours, combined with his working hours, are too long; but by a system of public school education that regards him as an earner rather than a spender. This, of course, would involve a brand new corps of teachers; but the teaching, in schools supported by public taxation, must finally fit the needs of the average pupil rather than the needs of the average teacher.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

The Gates Are Open.

Anoka Union: The Republican party of Minnesota needs to get busy and fix up its fences.

Practices His Belief.

Northfield News: E. E. Smith also believes in the rule of the people by a representative part of the "interests."

Coming In Time.

St. Peter Herald: —The presidential primary is here to stay. Minnesota cannot have it this year, because the Republican machine has decreed otherwise; but it will come. Every candidate for the legislature should be required to pledge himself to support the presidential primary, and the primary for state officials.

"Acres of Diamonds."

Biwabik Times: Once more the Times desires to sound the warning against Minnesota people purchasing land they have never seen. Reports continue to come in of those who put money into land in the South and have nothing but worthless swamps to show for an investment. Admittedly all those who bought Everglades land lost all they put in. With land so cheap right here at home, it is really poor business policy to invest in other sections of the country. Add the cost of clearing, and you still get the land cheaper than you can buy elsewhere. The moral is to invest in St. Louis county lands.

Comparison at Home.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Nobody ever thought that Bob Dunn or that chap Collins were of presidential size, but the present Taft-Roosevelt embroglio is convincing proof that they were—but it is a "size" that don't seem to fit anywhere.

Timely Injunction.

Pine River Blaze: Whatever your idea as to the best candidate for president, governor or anything else, do not fail to vote for the 1 mill amendment. Let's have good roads, at any rate.

Varied Interests.

St. Peter Herald: Every Minnesota farmer might profitably vote the Democratic ticket. He must, however, be sure to test his seed corn.

The Punster at Work.

Walker Pilot: Minnesota is called the Gopher state. We wonder if it's because of this name that so many Minnesota people Gopher Canada!

What Beat Reapportionment.

Luverne Herald: Says the esteemed Luverne Herald: "The Duluth Herald is again howling about reapportionment. Who's agin it?"

We didn't know it was "howling." Of course we thought our tones were dulcet and our harmonies perfect. Like many others who think they can sing, we never realized that our song would be taken for any thing so excruciating as "howling." • • • —The Duluth Herald.

We presume we ought to apoligize to The Duluth Herald for mistaking its "singing" for "howling," but it kindly has made this unnecessary by calling attention to the fact that people quite often fail to appreciate the musical qualities of others' voices. Then, too, The Duluth Herald will, we believe, admit that in view of the fact that it has "sung" this one song so long, loud and continuously it is pardonable to believe that its larnyx had become so torn and strained as completely to ruin its musical qualities.

But we will pass the music and think only of the sentiment of the words. The Duluth Herald knows, well and truly, that reapportionment was defeated in the last legislature, not because the sentiment of the people of Southern Minnesota was against reapportionment, but because a majority of the members of the senate were opposed to legislating themselves out of office. They had been elected for four years and they wanted to serve out their term.

We are not going to attempt to justify this attitude on the part of the senators who were opposed to reapportionment, because we do not believe their action can be justified. We called attention repeatedly, while the legislature was in session, that simple justice to Northern Minnesota demanded reapportionment at that time, and we have not changed our opinion.

The Duluth Herald calls our attention to the well remembered fact that Senator Duea of Pipestone voted against reapportionment. We would like to call the attention of The Herald to the fact that Representative White of Luverne voted in favor of reapportionment.

A Prophecy.

(Statement by Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's Union of America, bearing on the Seamen's petition to congress, Feb. 23, 1910.): Safety at sea! What a lot of rot has been written and spoken on this subject! Safety at sea is promoted, first, by a good vessel, staunch and well found; second, by good boats and enough of them; third, by a crew sufficient in number and skill to handle the vessel while she is afloat, to lower, man and handle the boats when the vessel must be abandoned. . . .

Now, let me intrust you with a very deep secret. There is not sailing today on any ocean any passenger vessel carrying the number of boats needed to take care of the passengers and crew, nor a sufficient number of skilled men to handle those boats which are carried. If there were, the seamen's condition would be much better than it is now. There would be men enough on board to do the work without overwork. Men would not be kept four or six hours at the wheel. . . .

The average ship-owner knows this, but he must keep up with the procession—he must carry passengers as cheaply as the other fellow; he must compete with the railroad, or he must go out of business.

If vessels are lost, the insurance—that is, the public—pays the loss.

If passengers are lost that's very bad; but there is God to be blamed!

If seamen are lost, why there are plenty more idle men to be had on shore. They cost nothing, not even in the training, because they need no training, no skill being required by law.

As to the passengers, are they satisfied with these conditions? The passengers do not know; they are told a lot of rot about bulkheads, water-tight compartments, vessels so built that they will not sink or burn. Of course, we seamen know this to be the veriest nonsense.

But the passenger reads this in the papers, or reads something that looks like it, and being a fatalistic optimist and wishing that this may be so, he promptly believes it. . . . And then the state-rooms are well fitted; the dining-room, the social hall, are veritable dreams of luxury and comfort, and surely when so much is expended on comfort and convenience the owner must be presumed to have taken equally good care of that rather important matter—safety!

Let me tell you one more secret. Vessels that cannot sink and will not burn have not yet been built. The art of shipbuilding has not reached that far as yet. If you wish more safety you must insist . . . that there shall be a standard of individual efficiency provided for the crews; that at least 75 per cent of the deck crew, exclusive of licensed officers, must be up to that standard before the vessel shall be permitted to proceed to sea. Insist that those men shall have a decent place to live, eat and sleep in, and that it shall be so placed that they can all come on deck quickly when they are needed.

Thus you will improve safety at sea; you will help to save thousands of human lives and millions of dollars' worth of property every year, and you will help the seamen; you will bring the American to sea.

The King's Watchers.

Talmud: A certain king, who had an orchard of fig trees, prized the fruit so highly that he determined to have the trees guarded that the fruit might not be stolen. For this purpose he placed in the orchard a blind man and a lame man.

The next day when the king visited the orchard he found much of the fine fruit gone, and he asked the watchers what had become of it.

"I do not know," replied one man.

"Nor I," said his companion.

The king then asked if they had eaten the fruit themselves.

"I could not steal the figs," said the lame man, "for I could not walk up to the trees."

"And I could not take them," said the blind man, "for I cannot see."

But the king was very wise, and he soon found out that the blind man had carried the lame man, and that while the blind man used his legs, the lame man had used his eyes and hands, and in this way the figs had been stolen. But the men were severely punished.

See the Maiden With the Ring.

See the maiden with the ring—diamond ring!
What a sweet assurance that she has him on a string!
See it glitter, glitter, glitter, with a radiance rich and rare.
While her lady friends they titteer with a soft and bird-like twitter,
As they pipe the solitaire.
And their eyes shine bright with an optimistic light,
In the cheering scintillations that so
gloriously spring
From the ring, ring, ring, ring, ring, ring, ring, ring,
From the gleaming and the beaming of the ring!

PARTY OF FIFTY WEST END PEOPLE LEAVES FOR SWEDEN

About fifty West end Swedish residents left Duluth last evening for Stockholm, where they will witness the Olympic games from June 22 to July 29.

The party was in charge of Fred W. Erickson, who has gathered about seventy-five Swedish residents of this city and the vicinity to take this special trip to Sweden. Mr. Erickson is accompanied by his wife and will return after the party sails from New York Thursday noon. The members left at 5:15 o'clock last evening over the Omaha road and were due to arrive at Chicago this morning. They spent several hours at the stockyards before leaving for New York at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The party will visit an hour at Niagara Falls, before arriving in New York. The members will sail from New York Thursday noon on the Baltic and are due to arrive at Guttenberg, Sweden, May 22, planning on a slow trip by a southerly course.

Tomorrow evening about thirty-five more Swedish residents of this city will leave for New York and then Montreal, from where they will sail at noon Saturday morning on the Megantic. The same sight-seeing trip is to be taken before arriving in New York and the party is scheduled to arrive at Guttenberg about the same time as the Baltic party. Other parties that have been organized in various parts of the country will meet with the Duluth residents in New York and Montreal.

The members of the party will visit their homes and relatives upon their arrival into Sweden. About June 15 they will all gather at Stockholm, where they will witness the Olympic games in a body, as arranged by the steamship company in charge of this trip. Following the games the party will break up and the members will spend about a month visiting in various parts of the continent. They will all leave Guttenberg the latter part of August and are scheduled to arrive in Duluth the first of September.

Among those who left last evening for Stockholm are the following:

Mrs. H. Berg, Thorston Berg, Arnold Berg, Victoria Lindholm, Inga Erickson, Tillie Erickson, Mrs. John Swanson, Miss Anna Ockfind, Mrs. R. Norman, Henry B. Norman, Mrs. Hilda Hagenson, Miss Christiana Anderson, Oscar Lundberg, Mrs. Lundberg, Miss Esther Lundberg, Mrs. Wilhelm Lostrom, Heimer Olson, Fred Edlund, Alfred Hulting, John A. Johnson, August Johnson, Miss Martha Johnson, Miss Elenora Johnson, Mrs. Mary H. Olson, Bernard Olson, Allen Olson, Miss Anna K. Johnson, Miss Amanda Larson, John B. Anderson, Peter Fredickson, Mrs. L. J. Ohman, Vincent Ohman and Miss Florence Ohman.

CLUB TO OBTAIN NEW QUARTERS

Neighborhood House Will Be Moved to New Location Soon.

Mrs. J. H. Crowley of the Twentieth Century club announced yesterday that the various clubs of the Neighborhood House, 2432 West Superior street, will be moved to suitable quarters to be secured within the next few days. A central location is desired.

The location at 2432 West Superior street has been given up. It was planned at first to close the house until the opening of the school season this fall, but it was later decided to continue the work of the various organizations during the summer months. The annual camping party will be held the latter part of August as usual.

The branch library is now located at rooms 9 and 10 above the J. J. Moe & Sons' department store, 2102 West Superior street. It was also announced yesterday that the library will be opened every afternoon of the week and every Saturday evening until 9 o'clock. During the week days, the library will be open from 3 to 6 o'clock. The entrance to the library is on Twenty-first avenue west.

ENTERTAINMENT IN SWEDISH LANGUAGE.

A public entertainment in the Swedish language will be given S. F. S. No. 170 of Vasa Orden (United Sons of Sweden) next Friday evening, May 10, at the Modern Woodmen auditorium, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The affair will be for the benefit of the fund that is being raised for the proposed Swedish Fraternity house. The principal entertainer will be the noted Swedish actress, Miss Anna Greta Adamsen, who has recently come to this country from Stockholm. Miss Adamsen will appear on the program six or seven times in recitals of various kinds of literary selections. She makes a special feature of humorous pieces. She will also sing to the accompaniment of an accordion. The Svea Glee club will sing several selections. There will be many violin selections by the Violano Virtuoso. Sigurd Erdtman, the well known tenor, will sing. Piano duets will be rendered by Miss Gerda Erickson and Esther Eckholm. A declamation will be given by F. A. Thorvall.

LODGE WILL MEET IN ITS NEW HALL.

Duluth assembly, No. 595, Equitable Fraternal union, will hold its first meeting in its new lodge rooms at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street Friday evening. The members have arranged for a house-warming party and a social hour to follow the regular business meeting at 7:45 o'clock. Refreshments will be served by the women of the order, following a short program of addresses and musical numbers.

During the business meeting the members will initiate a class of twenty candidates into the order. Reports by the various committees will be made and the meeting will adjourn for the party and social hour.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS PASS EXAMS.

Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, announced yesterday that the following Sunday school teachers successfully passed the recent examination in the teachers' training course and are now entitled to diplomas: Mrs. F. G. Hanson, Mrs. Irma Hutchinson, Mrs. Leigh Gunther, Miss Enid Shaw, Miss Minnie Milne, Mrs. Milton Fish and J. B. Dye.

The examination taken by the Baptist teachers is the one offered by the International Sunday School association, under the auspices of the Minnesota organization.

Men's Club Meeting.

The Men's Club of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold a special meeting in the church parlors Thursday evening. The social service committee appointed at the last meeting will make its first report to the members of the club.

Will Rehearse Play.

The Ladies' Aid Society and the Men's Society of the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will hold special rehearsals at the church hall tomorrow and Thursday evenings. "The District School," which will be presented by the two societies Friday evening at the Hammond Avenue M. E. church, Superior.

Miss May Murphy of Clearwater, Minn., is a guest this week at the home of Mrs. J. O. O'Mara of 1520 West First street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Roan of 2101 West First street are visiting this month with relatives at Virginia.

Mrs. J. Crowley of 605 North Twenty-third avenue west is a guest of relatives at Wentworth, Minn., this week. She will return home Saturday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, will entertain at a supper and social in the church parlors this evening.

The choir of the First Swedish M E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will hold its regular practice in the church tomorrow evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish M. E. church will meet in the church parlors Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church will conduct the regular prayer meeting Thursday evening.

Robert Engstrom of the West end is reported seriously ill at the St. Luke's hospital.

NINE KILLED IN SOUTHERN WRECK

Confederate Veterans' Special Rolls Down an Embankment.

Hattiesburg, Miss., May 7.—Nine persons, including three women and children, were killed and fifty-five injured when the first section of the Van Sandt Confederate Veterans' special of eleven cars, en route from Texas to the annual reunion at Macon, Ga., was wrecked on a trestle a mile south of East Abuchie, Miss., on the New Orleans & Northeastern railroad.

The locomotive, baggage car, one day coach and three tourist sleepers tumbled down a high embankment, making a mass of tangled wood and iron. Although several hundred Confederate veterans were aboard the train, not one was killed, though several were injured. The dead:

The New Baronial Brown Furniture

This type of furniture meets with the growing demand for strong, sanitary and serviceable furniture appropriate for the den, library, living room, veranda, summer house, lawn or club house.

In addition to the adaptability of this furniture for general purposes, it has the desirable feature of harmonizing with the various types of furniture now in general use, a single piece lending a tone of added luxury to any furnished room.

Our fiber furniture is made of a tough, tenacious fiber subjected to a process of treatment that increases the strength of the fiber, giving it wearing qualities that make it practically indestructible. It is then converted into strands of great strength and tenacity, and woven by hand into the dainty and comfort-insuring design shown. Fiber furniture is not affected by heat or moisture and has a finish that will not scratch, splinter or show the effects of hard usage or time. You can wash it if it is dusty, or scrub it if it is dirty—you can not hurt it.

NOT AFFECTED BY HEAT OR MOISTURE

Superior to any porch or summer furniture made today. Widely known as Bungalow Furniture and unexcelled for durability and wearing quality. The material of which the furniture is made is a special, tough fiber, woven into endless strings and braids, which are exceptionally strong and durable, yet very pliable. PARADISE OF THE WEST.

Southern Oregon Coming Rapidly to Front, Says Jacob Wilk.

"Southern Oregon is a paradise," said Jacob Wilk, personal representative of William A. Brady, the theatrical producer, who arrived in Duluth yesterday, after closing his season.

Mr. Wilk was the manager of the Forbes Stock company last summer, and for many years past has been one of Mr. Brady's representatives. He will spend seeral weeks in Duluth and Virginia.

"The most prosperous section of the country that I visited this least season," he said, "was Southern Oregon. Portland is booming, and the new city of Klamath Falls is coming very rapidly to the front. That is a country of wonderful resources and wonderful climate, and its development has just begun.

"This last season was a hard one on many theatrical managers, but Mr. Brady had a wonderful year. Nearly every production he had made money and what might be called 'big money.'

"It is called a 'Brady year' in New York."

The re-elected directors are: J. B. Cotton, S. E. Smith, D. L. Fairchild, T. W. Hoopes, W. G. La Rue, E. C. Congdon, O. A. Hoffman and L. C. Harris. The officers were also re-elected as follows: President, J. B. Cotton; vice president, S. E. Smith; and treasurer, D. L. Fairchild.

TO CUT WIRE GRASS.

Kittson County Man to Gather Product for Oshkosh Firm.

Karlstad, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. B. Waters of Forest Lake has taken the contract to cut the wire grass on the swamp to the east of town on a contract from the Oshkosh Grass Matting company of Oshkosh, Wis., for this season. He will start work about July 1, and besides the two permanent camps erected by the company last year, he will operate two temporary camps through the summer and fall until after the frost, and expects to put up between 3,000 and 4,000 tons of grass. He will employ over 100 men and as many horses. As the grass is worth about $100 a ton, laid down at their factory at Oshkosh, this contract involves in the neighborhood of $400,000.

DANCE PAVILION LICENSE STARTS A NEW DISCUSSION

Aldermen Grant It But Favor Abolishing All Park Dance Halls.

Committee Will Give Fourth Street Owners a Hearing.

The city council last night by a vote of thirteen to three granted a dance hall license for the pavilion adjacent to Lincoln park in the West end.

The resolution favoring the license precipitated a heated discussion, with arguments for and against. Those opposed insisted that the dance hall there has had a demoralizing effect upon young people, particularly girls. Those favoring the granting of the license pointed out that the place has always been policed and conducted in a proper manner. All of them said they would approve an ordinance prohibiting all dances in or near parks, but that they did not believe it right that any one park should be singled out by denying it a license this year.

Rev. J. J. Daniels said that a majority of the people of the Seventh ward are opposed to any dance hall at Lincoln park and that if they had time a petition containing 1,194 signatures against it could be secured. He pointed out that it offers too great opportunity for young people to frequent dark places in the park.

Rev. C. G. Olson said that the principal of the school near the park had told him that the dance hall was the greatest nuisance in the West end and had a decidedly bad effect on young girls of the community. He asserted that many young people are afraid to pass through the park at night for fear of getting a bad reputation.

Alderman Bernard averred that the people of the ward have protested against the dance hall ever since it was built and that because of it property nearby had not only greatly depreciated, but many people had moved away from its vicinity.

Alderman MacDonell said that he had visited the pavilion on several different occasions and that he had always found policemen in attendance.

Clean All Parks.

Alderman Hogan favored the license in this instance, saying that he has not heard any complaint against the Lincoln park hall. He believed in removing all dances from the vicinity of the parks, passing an ordinance to that effect to take effect some date within a year. He said that young people have a right to dance and that there are few other places in the city where they can do so.

Alderman Phillips said that he believes the working people who make their homes in the West end should have an opportunity to dance in the evening after they had finished their day's labor. He said the park is the only place they can go. He asserted that in his opinion more signers could be secured to a petition favoring the dance hall there than could be secured against it.

Carlo Mainello, the applicant, declared that the hall has always been conducted in a proper manner and is located on private property forty-two feet away from the edge of the park.

Alderman Curren said that he had asked the president of the park board and the secretary relative to the pavilion and had been told that it had been conducted in a strict manner, no complaints having been made against it. He pointed out that no objection has ever been made to the dances of the club on Minnesota Point.

Alderman Gibson asserted that he is in favor of eliminating dance halls near parks, but that the elimination should be made general.

The committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks announced that it will hold a public meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to hear statements relative to the paving of Fourth street between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues east. At that time an effort will be made to determine the width of the paving and the material to be used.

The majority of the property owners appear to favor a width of 38 feet. City Engineer John Wilson declared emphatically in a communication to the council that he is strongly opposed to anything less than a 42-foot street, as anything less than that would leave too little space between the curb and the street car tracks. He pointed out with a 38-foot street the distance from the curb to the track will be but 9 feet 4 inches. He also went on record as against a combined cement curb and gutter and for a vertical curb, stating that the latter is the best form of construction. He did not want to see the street spoiled because of the small difference in cost. He added that the city is interested as well as the property owners. A majority of the members of the board of public works took the same view as the city engineer. George J. Bloedel said that the city has to pay for the intersections and has a right to be heard in the matter.

The committee brought in a report favoring a 40-foot street as a compromise, but following the strenuous objections decided to withdraw the report and hold the hearing. Attorney E. J. Kenny spoke for the property owners favoring the 38-foot street and Attorney J. A. Wharton was spokesman for a committee favoring the 42-foot street. The latter said that it is time for the city to standardize its paving and quit its "calico" construction work.

The council sustained the veto of Mayor J. A. McCuen on the transfer of the saloon license of T. Pinsonnault from 5720 West Superior street to 2403 West Superior street, against which such a storm of protest was made. On motion of Alderman Hicken the veto was cut so that the record will show only that part of his communication giving the reason for the veto. He said that he did not consider it good policy to allow the mayor to vent his spleen upon any newspaper.

His veto of the resolution allowing the United Spanish War veterans $100 to help entertain the state encampment in June was also sustained. There is no provision in the charter for appropriations of that kind and they are illegal.

A strong petition was filed against allowing any carnival to use any portion of the streets of West Duluth. The petition states that experience last summer demonstrated that it has a bad influence upon young men, women and children and that it takes too much money out of circulation in the western end of the city. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

The city engineer reported that rough estimates and surveys show that the route of the proposed street car line to New Duluth can be put in shape for $20,000. This includes $10,900 for a concrete culvert and fill to replace the bridge which was partially destroyed by fire last year and $6,200 for going under the Northern Pacific tracks a few hundred feet east of Smithville, eliminating a dangerous grade crossing.

The committee on ordinances and resolutions announced a public hearing on the so-called cocaine ordinance, regulating the sale of habit-forming drugs, for Monday afternoon, May 13, in the council chambers. The meeting will start at 2 o'clock. Communications favoring the passage of the ordinance were received from the W. C. T. U. and the King's Daughters.

• • •

The bord of public works was directed to confer with the Northern Pacific officials to see if they will not pay for the paving of that part of General avenue which lies within their right-of-way.

An arc light was transferred from Sixth avenue west to the foot of Fifth avenue west to light the city dock. The lighting question has provoked some sharp fights and the passage of the resolution without objection raised a laugh.

The council approved the contract to J. D. O'Connell for the grading of Ninth street from Seventh avenue east to Chester park. The proposed hillside street car extension will run along this street.

Other contracts approved were:

To G. Hiner for a santiary sewer in West Fourth street between Thirty-eighth and Forty-first avenues, $1,590.30.

To M. Fitzgerald for a storm sewer in Eleventh avenue east between Sixth and Eighth streets, $3,991.

To G. Hiner for a sanitary sewer in the alley between Otsego and Oneida streets and Fifty-fourth and Fiftieth avenues east, $1,357.40.

To E. A. Dahl for a sanitary sewer in Cooke street between Forty-third and Forty sixth avenues east, $1,510.10.

The board of public works reported a big batch of sidewalks which it recommended for construction the coming season.

The city engineer reported on the uncompleted contracts in the city. The reason for delays, where jobs were behind time, was inclement weather.

Beta Council No. 2, Modern Samaritans, was given a license to run a dance hall for charitable purposes in the hall at 1921 West Superior street.

The placing of Miss Nellie B. Pendergast on the pay roll of the city clerk at $15 a month was approved. This leaves her salary the same as it was before the change in the engineer's office. The changes of Dr. E. W. Fahey, health commissioner, were approved.

The resignation of City Clerk H. W. Cheadle was accepted and Deputy C. S. Palmer was chosen to fill his unexpired term.

A resolution calling for all city printing to bear the union label was referred to the city attorney.

• • •

An amendment to the employment office ordinance making a technical change was introduced.

An amendment to the fireworks ordinance, eliminating the words "in the public parks," will come up for final passage next week. It allows displays throughout the city under the direction of the fire warden.

The use of the council chamber May 15 was granted the state board of examiners for chauffeurs.

• • •

The city attorney reported that a charter amendment will be necessary to allow the placing of a justice of the peace at New Duluth.

The city engineer was directed to make surveys for a storm sewer to take care of water which will be diverted by the improvement of Vermilion road and Princeton avenue.

An amendment to the building ordinance was introduced to allow French & Bassett to install weather recording apparatus on the corner of their building.

• • •

A large number of licenses for motor vehicles, pool and billiard tables and second hand dealers were granted.

ONLY ONE OF THE DEAD DROWNED

Many Other Titanic Victims' Deaths Due to Exposure, It Is Said.

Halifax, N. S., May 7.—Only one of the seventeen persons whose bodies were recovered by the cable ship Minia in the vicinity of the Titanic tragedy died from drowning, in the opinion of the cable ship's physician. The other sixteen perished from exposure, death ensuing some four hours after the vessel sank. This was demonstrated by an examination of the bodies, water being found in the lungs of but one person.

This statement is made on the authority of Rev. H. W. Cunningham, rector of St. George's church, who accompanied the Minia on her quest.

The bodies recovered were found miles apart. Of the seventeen bodies recovered fifteen were brought to port, the other two, the bodies of unidentified firemen, being buried at sea.

The bodies preserved were those of Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk railway; Joseph Fynney, of J. Fynney & Co., rubber merchants of Liverpool, England, who was a second class passenger; three third class passengers, and ten members of the crew.

On May 3 the search was reluctantly given up and the ship headed for Halifax. The line of demarcation of the gulf stream was plainly indicated by a wall of fog and a sudden rise in the temperature of the water from 36 to 56 degrees in the space of the ship's length.

Saw Titanic Iceberg.

Philadelphia, May 7.—What was probably the iceberg which was struck by the ill-fated Titanic, is reported by Captain Wicke of the German tank steamer Clio, from Shields, England, for Philadelphia. The captain says that on April 29, in latitude 51.26 north, longitude 48.43 west, he saw an iceberg about 140 feet high, one end of which was broken as if by a collision. The mass of ice was surrounded by steamer saloon fittings of mahogany and deck chairs, cushions, fancy handbags and innumerable small pieces of wreckage.

VERMILION ORE ASSAYS 65 PER CENT.

That a strike of iron ore made recently on the property of the Consolidated Vermilion & Extension company is one of the most sensational events that ever occurred in the range country was a declaration made yesterday afternoon by T. J. Walsh, president of the company, who had just returned from an inspection trip to the company's mine. Mr. Walsh brought with him a sample of the ore. It assayed 65 per cent iron, and the structure was such that it readily crumbled when dug at with a knife. This, Mr. Walsh declared, would make the mining of the ore comparatively easy and cheap. The explosion of half a stick of powder, he said, was sufficient to fill the drift with iron ore. This drift where it strikes the ore is eight feet square and it runs to a length of 130 feet.

The company's property lies in section 5-62-14. Here the company owns nine 40-acre tracts. Twenty diamond drill holes were put down and after ore was found, a shaft was sunk to a depth of 340 feet through the green stone wall. At this depth a drift was extended east to a length of 130 feet, running 30 feet into the ore body.

The mine is about five miles from the Soudan mines and about three and one-half miles from the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. The Duluth & Iron Range has promised to extend a spur track to the mine as soon as the company commences to ship ore. It is expected that small shipments will be begun in the fall. At present the crew is daily hoisting ore and stock piling it.

The Consolidated Vermilion & Extension company was organized last September, being virtnally a merger of the Vermilion Steel & Iron company. These companies had been organized about a year before for the development of these same properties.

The rich iron ore discovery has been causing much interest among the range mining men.

Appoints Receiver.

Chicago, May 7.—Judge Landis in the United States district court has appointed the Central Trust company receiver for the Chicago property of the Telepost Independent Telegraph company in bonds of $200. It is said the obligation of the company in Chicago does not exceed $1,000. The action was taken on petition of local employes who declare the company owes them wages.

And It's Ho! for COLORADO on Every Hand

Of course you are going to Colorado. It is a vacation landslide this year. Everybody knows Colorado. Everybody loves it. Everybody can afford it, now. So the question is not whether to go, but merely how to get there.

There are five routes to Colorado, but if you want the oldest traveled route you take the

UNION PACIFIC

The Hundred-Million-Dollar Road of Luxury

It doesn't cost you a cent more than any other way, and when you go to this glorious Colorado you certainly want to go RIGHT.

These powerful Union Pacific engines roll you along over ninety-pound steel rails so smoothly you never know when you start or stop. The roadbed, ballasted with dustless Sherman gravel, makes your bed as cool and fresh and pure of air as a sleeping porch. Automatic Electric Block Safety Signals guard you all the way. The children can play as safely in this great vestibuled train as in a nursery. Your dinners are served as in a Broadway cafe. Your observation car is like an open conservatory where the picture of America's beauty is constantly unrolled before you.

Of course you want to go to Colorado this year, and of course you want to take the Standard Road of the West, when it costs no more.

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

HERE indeed is a Daniel come to judge. In the misty past ball players have been haled into court and fined, lectured, lampooned and larraoped for getting back at some geek in the stands who, behind the protection of the stout wire netting and nestling close to other serious cits, has hurled anathemas—an oral brickbat—and other horried things at the perspiring player. Some players have waited at the gate and got the brave bird as he emerged; generally some magistrate got the player when court was called the next morning. Now comes Judge W. L. McNamara of Keokuk, Iowa, and permits the worm to turn in its long and tortuous course. He has soaked some fan for assaulting a player.

In the case where the judge felt called upon to appropriate some of the money of the fan for the support of some of the worthy institutions of the country, the furious fan became exceedingly peeved at something the player hurled back, and going to the hotel—pronounced "hoot-el" in that section of Ioway—assaulted the ball player with something worse than adjectives.

Those in public, including aldermen, alleged actors and hackmen, must expect to be criticized—for caustic criticism is part and spicy parcel of the game. There is really nothing more diverting than telling a hackman what—but here, here. But when it comes to becoming rank and abusive, our sympathies have always been with the ball player, particularly if he was with a losing team.

The case of the fan being fined for starting to lick the ball player is a precedent that some of our learned judges may look with wisdom upon while the decision is hot.

CAL EWING of the San Francisco team of the Pacific coast league is out to give the minors a world's series of their very own. Gol darn ye, Cal! If the plans being hung on the publicity line for airing come to maturity within thirty or sixty days, whichever the case may be, there may be some definite arrangements made for a series of games between teams of the Pacific coast league, the International league and the American association, all class A. A. organizations. Ewing counts on having the winners of the International, which, by the by, was the old Eastern league, and the American association pennants journey to the coast and engage in a series of games that will last for something like two or three wicked weeks of pleasure. The team that emerged from the baseball orgy the winner would be thereupon acclaimed the champion little baseball champion of the world.

If the series didn't pay, think of the fun and the nice trip that the baseball players would have.

WE WERE all sitting around a table when the subject arose out of the midst and beamed brightly. It had to do with the "sand hogs." Paul and his pal brought it up, turned it over and then elaborated on it. Some one should catch a "sand hog" before he is too far gone and make a real white hope—mose of us are tired of the bogeys.

"You ought to go out to the Cuyuna for some real copy," says Paul. "Of all the real tough guys, respectively refer me to the 'sand hogs.' They live because they love to; and yet they tread mirthfully on the brink of the dark chasm of death. They like to fight as a relaxation, and they can battle some.

"'Sand hogs' are the men that dig down where the air pressure is keeping the water from filling the shaft. Let something happen to the air and the chances are that these lads will be drowned. Down there in the shaft the pressure is so great that their lungs with the high pressure atmosphere and the weight against their bodies is fierce. A husky 'sand hog' will last nine years—and he may not.

"But, anyway, Murphy is one of the biggest men you would see in a long fatiguing march over hills and streams and boulders. He was coming out of the shaft the other day and the gate was not opened quick enough for him. When it was opened Murphy started to demonstrate on the gate tender.

"Immediately the friends of the gatetender, Finns and Austrians and some others, nine in all, I believe, started to show Murphy that in union there is strength and that amalgamation is one of the arts of the age.

"The progress of Murphy was not seriously impeded. One man siezed an axe handle and clubbed Murphy over the side of the head and it looked as if the day was lost for Erin's lone representative. But Murphy rallied and when the fracas blew over there was nothing much to dispute about—Murphy had won the point and licked everything in sight."

We are going to write to some manager and have him go up to the Cuyuna and have a long talk with Murphy, telling him, in the meantime, not to rile the big fellow.

SO IT SEEMS that John Paul Jones may not compete in the Olympic games. The greatest athlete produced in this country in the past decade may go to the Maine woods and have charge of a boys' camp. The loss of Jones would mean a blow that would remove a sure point winner from the American team.

James E. Sullivan is Irish and therefore should be an eloquent talker. Let us hope that he becomes closeted with Jones and that the Cornell middle distance runner decides to take the trip to Stockholm.

John Paul is working his way through college and the trip to Maine means kale and eats next term at college. Going to college without eating is like going to a Thursday matinee performance with your chewing gum. Only a few Ibsen students have been known to accomplish the feat—the lack of eating is referred to.

It would seem a shame if Jones didn't accompany the team. It would seem something like a performance of "Hamlet" without the Dane. He is one of the wonderful athletes of the world; a lad who is destined, perhaps, to break both the half and mile records, and his presence upon the American team will make the present aggregation, according to the early review of critics, the greatest track and field team that America has ever gathered together.

AFTER THE CARDINALS

E. A. STEININGER.

There is a struggle now going on for the ownership of the St. Louis Nationals. Mrs. Helen Hathaway Britton charges that E. A. Steininger, president of the club, threatens to vote her stock at the meeting of directors against her wish. Steininger alleges that as administrator of the estate of the late Stanley Robinson he has a right to vote it for two years after the death of the testator.

OARSMEN HAVE HARD WORKOUT IN THE FOG

Coach James E. TenEyck of the Duluth Boat club is in receipt of a communication from the athletic officials of the University of Wisconsin, asking that a rowing race be arranged between the local eight and the Badger crew.

While no answer has been sent to the invitation as yet, it is hardly probable that the arrangements for a contest will be entered into.

The officials of the boat club are at the present time in communication with several Eastern rowing men relative to bringing one of the Eastern rowing clubs here for a race before or after the Northwestern International regatta at St. Paul, which will be held some time in July.

St. Paul is at the present time arranging a race with the Madison boys, the event to be held at Madison some time in June. With plans for a race with one of the Eastern crews partially formed, it is thought that the invitation for the race with Madison will be passed up.

Jimmy had two eights, a barge and a working boat out last night. The fog hung over the bay like a pall and necessitated the hugging of the shore with the tenacity with which a swain might take advantage of a dark corner in the front parlor.

The first good row in two weeks was enjoyed by the candidates, some of whom, by the way, have sore soles from running on stone sidewalks. The workout was taken in capsule form, so to speak, stretches of half a mile being taken up and down the shore line between the abandoned ball park and the mile mark.

With the settling of the crews a trifle more and the settling of the grouch of the weather man, a series of races will be arranged between the local crews. There are two good eights out and there will be a number of fours. It is also probable that a number of races will be arranged between some doubles, though this may not be tried until later in the season.

Ten Eyck is going to give his men a lot of work this week, if the weather will give him half a chance. It is expected that the progress of the various crews will be marked from now on.

FISHERMEN WAIT FOR OLD SOL'S GAY SMILE

With the parade of Old Sol today, though the parade has been frowned on several times, hope, that stuff with the eternal spring attached, rises in the breasts of the fishermen, and there will be a fond fondling of tackle, a reassortment of flies and lines and jointing and unjointing of poles—for with the passing of winter some of the nimrods hope for some casting along the banks of the limpid brooks.

Some of the better informed, as "Hank" for instance, declare that it will require a week of sunshine to bring the fishing up to the right notch. Should the sun beam forth and cast heat rays down upon the rivers, brooks and lakes, those who have followed the trend of the times and current events in the fishing world, say that there will be some of the best fishing that we have enjoyed for years.

Down on the Soo Line, some hundred or so miles from Duluth, the fishing at the present time is so good that some of the more experienced of the local colony say that it is a shame to do it. The fish are so easy to catch that some of the pleasure is taken from the sport.

With the coming of sun and some warm weather the conditions in the vicinity of Duluth will be just as good as they are at some of the rivers and streams away from the cold belt.

A big crowd of fishermen is preparing to go out Saturday and Sunday, if the weather should moderate this week. Perhaps if the weather starts to get warm some of the boys will not wait for the coming of Saturday and Sunday and the sailing of the fishermen's special.

It is estimated that those enthusiastic followers who have gone out to some of the nearby streams and returned with deep disgust and empty baskets, have taken out their tackle time and time again during the period of downpour, taking courage with the fleet flitting of the sun and then being plunged into the depths of despair with the clouding up and the rowdy rain.

To date the fishing has been practically without results. Here and there some lucky fishermen has caught a fish; but on the whole the most enthusiastic even have admitted that it will require more rays of Sol in enthusiastic endeavor to make the fish feel in the humor to gaily flirt with the bait.

But with the coming of several warm days there will be an exodus to the streams of Duluth that will leave no doubt of the true spirit of the local fishermen's colony.

SPORTING NOTES

Playing first base must agree with Larry Lajoie. The Nap star is leading the American league batters.

Dan Brown, an outfielder, has been released by the New York Americans to the Bridgeport, Conn., league team.

Not much chance for the Highlanders to start anything with Chase, Cree and Wolter on the hospital list at the same time.

"Hickory" Johnson, the demon slugger of the Three-I league, has been sold to Omaha by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Detroit team copped twenty of the first twenty-two games last season. Nothing like that in the Tiger family this year.

The player making the best showing in the New York State league will be presented with an automobile at the close of the season.

According to a Chicago scribe Ed Walsh of the White Sox has pitched fifty shut-out victories since he broke into the American league.

Pitcher "Iron Man" Lange of the White Sox showed real class recently when he fanned mighty Ty Cobb twice in one game.

Catcher Frank Bowerman, frmerly of the Giants and the Kansas City Cowboys, has signed as manager of the London team in the Canadian league.

The Boston Red Sox seem to have a real pitcher in Bedient. The youngster has faced the world's champions twice and got away with it.

With Cincinnati and New York running wild, the Cubs and the Pirates will have to start something pretty soon if they expect to be heard from this season.

Columbus and Columbia, champs and runner-up, respectively, of the South Atlantic league got away to a bad start this spring. Both teams lost the first seven games.

Evansville has been added to the Kitty league circuit. The league will have teams in Paducah, Hopkinsville, and Henderson, Ky.; Evansville, Ind.; Cairo, Ill., and Clarksville, Tenn.

Third Baseman Gardella of Mobile and Catcher La Fittee of New Orleans started a roughhouse during a recent game and were set back fifty bucks in the Mobile police court the other day.

Jack Powell, the veteran pitcher of the Browns, may yet equal Cy Young's record for services in the big show. Jack is now 43 years old and is now playing his eighteenth season.

Jimmy Walsh will go to Chicago and try to hook up in a match with Johnny Coulonn.

Abe Attell seems to be in bad for fair. Every time the little ex-champion appears in a boxing bout, there is a cry of "frame-up."

Team Being Formed.

Plans are being made at the present time by the Rust-Parker-Martin company to place a strong baseball team in the field. Some of the best of the city players are being signed for the aggregation and it is expected that the team will rank with the strongest in the city.

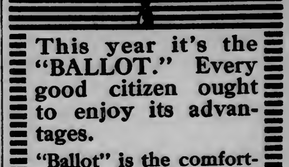
PROTEST DILLINGHAM IMMIGRATION BILL.

New York, May 7.—Men and women of every nationality assembled last night at Cooper Union to participate in a meeting under the auspices of the National Liberal Immigration league, to protest against the Dillingham bill, now pending in congress which, if passed, would bar from this country aliens who cannot read and write. The meeting adopted a memorial to the president and to congress and later a delegation left for Washington to attend a hearing before the house committee on immigration and naturalization.



This year it's the "BALLOT." Every good citizen ought to enjoy its advantages.

"Ballot" is the comfortable low collar with "Easy-Tie-Slide" space and patented "Lock-that-Locks."

The wide stitching adds a style distinction to this collar that you are sure to like.

If you prefer same style but higher—ask your good haberdasher for "Whirlwind" or "McAdoo." All are THREE STRAIGHT FROM COLUMBUS.

Minneapolis, May 7.—Minneapolis made it three straight yesterday from Columbus, winning 4 to 1 by timely hitting and Packard's wildness. Sensational fielding stunts by Delehanty and one by Gill cut off several threatening Columbus runs. Patterson pitched well for the home club and with the exception of the seventh inning, when he hit the first two men to face him, never was in trouble.

The score:

KANSAS CITY WINS FROM THE INDIANS.

Kansas City, May 7.—Bunching hits won for Kansas City here yesterday, 7 to 2. Indianapolis scored twice, but was unable to hit the delivery of either Maddox or Hornsby successfully. Five of the locals' hits were doubles. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Indianapolis	0 0 1 0 1 0 0 0 0—2	4	1
Kansas City	1 1 3 0 0 0 2 0 0—7	9	2

SAINTS TAKE A RAGGED GAME.

St. Paul, May 7.—St. Paul and Toledo each won and lost the game yesterday several times in the sixth and seventh innings, St. Paul finally winning, 12 to 8. With the score 4 to 3 against them, St. Paul scored five runs in the sixth, knocking Swann out of the box. Toledo came back with four runs in the seventh. Higginbotham and Collamore were taken out of the box in the seventh, when St. Paul scored seven runs. West supplanted them. Howard, batting for Tragresser, tripled to deep center, bringing in the winning run. Carisch got five hits.

The score:

MARION WINS A GAME FOR BREWERS.

Milwaukee, May 7.—Loudermilk was pounded hard and the home club won a one sided game by the score of 8 to 1. Marion pitched a fine game and got three hits, one of them a triple.

The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	0 3 0 1 0 1 1 2 x—8	13	3

FREDDY WELSH TO MEET WELLS

Chicago, May 7.—Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight who is here to have a kink in the muscles of his neck removed, is telling of his plans for the future. Welsh says he will return to England in a few months for the purpose of bringing his mother back to this country and making a home for her in Los Angeles.

While on the other side, Welsh intends to engage in a few matches, and then make a tour of the world, stopping in Australia for several bouts. The National Sporting Club of London made Welsh and Matt Wells an offer for a match for the English championship, the bout to take place on June 3. Welsh claims that Wells turned down the proposition. Under the English rules the champian must defend his title at least once in six months or else forfeit it. As Welsh intends to become an American citizen, he will not claim his old title by default, but would like to meet Wells in this country. The New York Garden Athletic club has made Welsh an offer to meet the winner of the McFarland-Wells match, and Wel. has accepted. Welsh has already begun training and expects to be ready to fight in a few weeks

ST. PAUL CREWS TRAINING HARD

Minnesota Men Getting Ready for the Race With Madison.

St. Paul, May 7.—With the race with the University of Wisconsin oarsmen only three weeks off, the Minnesota Boat club members have increased their activities and the junior and senior eights have been rowing from four to five miles each evening and from ten to sixteen miles on Saturdays. The improvement in the boats has been rapid and the new men, under the coaching of N. P. Langford and Carl Foster, are rounding into racing form.

The senior eight has been organized for the season and has been rowing the past week in the following order: A. French, stroke; C. Foster, No. 7; M. M. Cochrane, No. 6; E. Stringer, No. 5; A. Jefferson, No. 4; H. Davis, No. 3; J. Ordway, No. 2, and B. West, bow. K. Sischo has been coxing the seniors.

Several changes have been made in the junior boat the past week by Capt. Schaub. Ira Baer, who rowed at No. 7 in last year's juunior eight, has been changed from the port side to No. 6 on the starboard side and has showed great improvement in form in that seat. John Fitzpatrick, a new man, has learned rapidly and is pulling one of the strongest oars in the boat at No. 5. Fay Marsh has also been changed from No. 6 to No. 2.

The new men have mastered the rudiments of rowing and for the past week have been working for smoothness and perfection in the fundamental principles. The juniors have been rowing a very low stroke, ranging from 25 to 27 strokes per minute; working on their body swing, and the proper position for the catch and finish of the stroke.

The junior four is now composed of M. McGuckin, stroke; Sam Ordway, No. 3; E. Russell, No. 2, and S. Donnelly, bow.

LEAGUE PLANS ARE COMPLETED

All Details Are Arranged for the Opening of New League.

At yesterday's meeting of those interested in the completion of arrangements for the opening of the Central International league, it was decided to place the salary limit at $1,400 and to set the rain guarantee at the low figure of $10 per game. The attendance guarantee on days when old sol comes out in full glory will be $50.

As stated in The Herald of yesterday, the season will open on May 14. July 4, Decoration day and Labor day dates will be given to the American clubs, Winnipeg drawing Dominion day and Empire day, two national holidays on the other side of the line.

Grand Forks has not signed up its team as yet, the season being set at May 14 to allow the securing of players. All of the other clubs have their players in line.

All the men interested in the league are confident that the first season will prove successful. If any attempt is to be made to bring additional clubs into the fold before the expiration of the coming season, no allusion was made to it yesterday. It is believed that the four-club plan will be adhered to until the end of the season. A resolution was passed demanding a $500 club forfeit to be placed in the hands of the president of the league, guaranteeing the completion of the schedule.

THE SCYTHE TO SWING IN MAJORS

New York, May 7.—Harvest time is at hand for the big league baseball magnates. The crop of young players is about to be garnered, and before another week is passed the scythe will have been swung through the field of candidates for berths in first company, the wheat separated from the chaff and the prize winners gathered for the exhibitions this summer. Out of the hundreds of youngsters looked over few will stick in fast company, but nearly every club has discovered one or two men good enough to hang on to even though no regular position on the team can be found for them. Among those who have shown they are ready for a berth in fast company and who played well during the spring practice games is Pitcher Jeff Tesreau of the New York Giants. In this youngster McGraw believes he has a star young twirler. Brooklyn has been fortunate in picking up two very promising youngsters in Pitcher Allen and Outfielder Moran. According to critics the last named should be one of the season's finds. He is a fine batter, swift base runner and an excellent fielder.

The Chicago Americans have also been very lucky in picking up a crack pitcher in Delhi and a hard hitting first baseman in Fournier, a French-Canadian. St. Louis experts believe Manager Bobby Wallace has landed a prize in Outfielder Pratt, who led the Southern association in batting last year. Wallace says he will be one of the sensations in the American league this season.

Minneapolis, May 7.—Robert Stevenson, a University of Minnesota athlete, will join the Philadelphia Americans June 1. Stevenson, whose home is at Albert Lea, Minn., received a letter from Manager Connie Mack today making him the offer.

WOLGAST WILL MEET LEACH CROSS IN GOTHAM.

New York, May 7.—Ad Wolgast, the champion lightweight, today accepted by telegraph an offer of $12,000 guarantee to meet Leach Cross in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden May 29, according to announcement made by the promoters last night.

Stone Is Released.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 7.—Outfielder George Stone was given his unconditional release by Manager Duffy of the Milwaukee American Association baseball club yesterday afternoon. Dolan and Fluharty, also outfielders, were sold to the Terre Haute club of the Central league.

MARATHON COURSE TO BE IN TWO CIRCUITS

New York, May 7.—This year's Olympic Marathon race at Stockholm, Sweden, will not be a straightaway run from point to point, but about twelve miles out and back over the same road, starting from the stadium and going almost due north to the village of Sollentuna and home again. According to present plans, the competitors will make two circuits of the stadium track at starting before passing out into the road. At the finish they will have to do only a fraction of a lap around the arena.

Taken as a whole, it is a good road, running the entire way through open and practically wild country, with considerable variety of scenery and some hills, which, especially toward the finish, will be trying enough. There is little difference in erevation between Sollentuna and the stadium, but both are higher than the intermediate country. The runners therefore, will find the course generally downhill at starting; then there is a level stretch in the middle section; with bits of uphill work again toward the turning point. Coming home the process will be the same; downhill first, then level and uphill again, and it is some of these last slopes, none or them very steep and mostly short, which are going to test the staying qualities of the competitors.

Room for Spectators.

Almost immediately on leaving the stadium the road gets into wild country, with grassy slopes on either hand, broken with cropping rocks and scattered conifers, where many thousands of spectators can find room. Then follows a charming bit of winding woodland road, whereon, for half a mile or so, the pines nearly meet overhead, the shade of which, if the day be hot, should be most welcome. Again the course swings out into the open and runs close by the edge of an arm of the sea, on leaving which a sharp turn to the left brings one to another stretch of beautiful woodland country; emerging from the trees the water is close by again, though on the right hand. The way dips steeply, and for perhaps three-quarters of a mile runs through an avenue of old and well-grown elms, with branches meeting above, beyond which lies a wide expanse of open moorland.

The general trend of the route from this point on is upwards, and soon the village of Sollentuna comes into sight, with the railway station off to the right, and scattered over the slopes in all directions, gay villas, painted red and white, each in its square, fenced plot, making a garden suburb in the wilderness. Ahead rises the spire of Sollentuna church, a white painted country edifice, set upon a knoll, surrounded by a churchyard and ringed about with trees. Somewhere just beside the church will be the turning post. It is a sweet and peaceful road today, this road, which will see so much energy in next July.

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Speaker" writes: "I am troubled with a tickling sensation after speaking, which is accompanied with a slight cough and hoarseness. Can I get relief?"

Answer: You will not only be relieved but you will be cured by using the following: Ask your druggist for a 2½ oz. bottle of essence menthol-laxene. This can be taken pure or can be made into a full pint of cough syrup. Full directions are given on the bottle for making. This is very easily made at home and is perfectly safe as it does not contain any harmful ingredients as do most of the so-called cough cures.

"Ida" writes: "I have suffered with stomach trouble and constipation for about two years, and I fear it will cause appendicitis if I cannot get some relief."

Answer: I recommend that you get tablets triceptine and take a pink tablet after breakfast, a white tablet after dinner and a blue tablet after supper. This is a very excellent treatment and is widely prescribed for its great curative action. Continue this treatment for several weeks and I am sure you will be cured.

Doctor: Several years ago I took a tonic which you prescribed for me, but it has been so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. It was the best nerve and system tonic that I ever took. Will you kindly publish the ingredients again?

Answer: The tonic I always prescribe for people in your condition is: Syrup of hypophosphites comp., 5 ozs., tincture cadomene comp., 2 oz. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals. This is the best nerve and system tonic that I know of.

"Miss Jane" says: "I am very unhappy and very uncomfortable on account of my excessive weight. Please tell me of a quick and safe remedy."

Answer: Your excessive weight need not cause you any unhappiness because you can be quickly relieved. A reduction of a pound a day is not unusual after taking the medicine for a week or two. I advise you to get these two medicines separately to avoid substitution, mix and shake well and take a teaspoonful for three days after meals and thereafter take two teaspoonfuls. Get 5 ozs. of aromatic elixir and 1 oz. of glycol athelene. Mix. Continue several weeks or months as your case may require.

"Tom" writes: "I have very poor health on account of long standing constipation. I take medicine all the time, but would like to get something that would cure me."

Answer: More illness is caused by constipation than by any other ailment. You can get plenty of medicines that will relieve, but if you want something that will cure you I would advise the use of three grain sulnherb tablets (not sulphur tablets). They can be bought at any drug store in sealed tubes with full directions for using. I have found them the most reliable and gradually curative.

"A. L. U."—I advise you to get the following ingredients and mix at home to cure your child of bedwetting: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams. Mix in water and give 10 to 15 drops one hour before meals.

Artie M.: You suffer with bearing down pains, headache, irregularities at intervals, while you are afflicted constantly with the common ailment of women, known as whites or leucorrhea. You must stop and cure this weakening ailment before you can feel well and strong. This prescription is promptly effective. Mix 2 ozs. antiseptic vilane powder and 1 oz. tannic acid. Use a teaspoonful to a quart of warm water twice daily as an injection with syringe. Internally take three grain hypo-nuclane tablets to increase weight and strength.

"Mildred K." says: "Please advise what I can use for a good hair tonic. My hair and scalp are in a very bad condition and nothing seems to help."

Answer: The best hair tonic on the market is sold in 4 oz. jars and is called plain yellow mlnyol. Any up-to-date druggist will have it. This is superior to anything known for the treatment of the diseases of the hair and scalp. Two or three applications have been known to cure, while it makes the hair soft, fluffy and makes it keep its natural color.

"Jane" writes: "My nerves are in a dreadful condition, my appetite is very poor and I am extremely thin. My face is so thin that it makes me very unhappy. I would like you to tell me a true remedy."

Answer: If you wish to become stouter, improve your appetite and your nervous system, I heartily recommend the use of three grain hypo-nuclane tablets, which you will find in any well-stocked drug store, in sealed cartons with full directions for taking. Hypo-nuclane tablets improve the nutrition, add red corpuscles to the blood, strengthen the nervous system and improve the general health. Many people report that they have gained from 10 to 30 pounds in two months.

"Harry" writes: "Both my wife and myself suffer with rheumatism. We would appreciate a reply telling us what to take."

Answer: Mix the following at home or have the druggist mix for you: 2 drams of iodide of potassium; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs. Take a teaspoonful at meal time and bed time. Always shake well before using.

CHARGES ARE SENSATIONAL

Big Suit Against H. B. Hovland and Warrior Development Company.

Former Owners of Property at Globe Want $69,469 Damages.

Globe, Ariz., May 7.—Alleging that careless management and neglect caused the loss of a $25,000 leaching mill, that their mines were not properly mined and timbered, that false reports of the amount of money received for ores had been made by the plaintiff company, with the intention of deceiving them, that the taxes were not paid as the statements showed, and with many other strong and sensational allegations, a suit has been brought and filed in the superior court against Henry B. Hovland, promoter and capitalist of Duluth, Minn., president of the Warrior Development company, officer in the Live Oak Development company, and his company, the Warrior Development company, by the Warrior Copper company, through Alderman & Elliott of Globe.

The history of the case, as stated in the complaint of the Warrior Copper company, shows that on Oct. 9, 1909, the Warrior Copper company entered into an option contract with Hovland providing for the sale of all of their mining claims and property belonging to them. The price to be paid was $1,120,000 to be paid, $270,000 in money and $850,000 in bonds, or $770,000 in money and $350,000 in bonds. Hovland agreed to organize a corporation with a capital stock of about $2,560,000 to which he was to assign his option and all of his rights to the property covered by the option. The purchasers were also to assume all outstanding certificates of indebtedness of the old company, amounting to approximately $74,060.

Agreed to Advance $100,000.

In addition to the $5,000 which Hovland paid in cash he also agreed to advance the copper company $100,000, $20,000 to be paid on Nov. 10, 1909 and $75,000 on or before Dec. 31, 1909, the $5,000 paid on the option was to apply on this $100,000. This money was to be returned to Hovland according to a long contract providing, with many conditions, for its being paid by money collected through the sale of and the profits on ores taken from the mine. The option was to run until Jan. 1, 1913.

The contract was signed by Spencer D. Wright, president of the Warrior Copper company and Henry B. Hovland. This company has no connection with the Black Warrior Copper company, Amalgamated, in which James A. Flemming is said to be interested.

The complaint then goes on to say that during the time which the defendant and the Warrior Development company had the mine under their control the mining was done in a careless and negligent manner, leaving the mine in an extremely bad and dangerous condition. That they neglected to timber properly and left the workings useless and inaccessible in many places.

Taxes Not Paid.

They also say that the taxes for $5,597.41 were levied and assessed and that they have never been paid and neither have the fees or charges. They state that the defendants represented in a report to the owners that they had paid or would pay $6,814.48 taxes and deducted the amount from this statement showing the amount of money taken in and paid out, when as a matter of fact they had paid nothing and the report was intended to deceive.

The only money that the Warrior Copper company acknowledges receiving is $100,000 as originally provided for and they state that the Development company, of which Hovland is president, has received, according to their own report, $114,009.62 and they contend that the development company has exerted greatly in excess of this amount and they ask in addition to the $69,469.43 an accounting of the company to determine how much more may be due them and ask that the court award them whatever balance the accounting may show.

TAFT COHORTS WIN IN NEVADA

Instruct All Six Delegates for President at State Convention.

Fallon, Nev., May 7.—Taft adherents controlled the Republican state convention and named six delegates instructed to vote for the renomination of the president.

The Taft administration was indorsed and the convention warmly indorsed the conduct of Senator Nixon and Congressman Roberts. The vote pledging the delegates stood 80 to 17.

Judge J. S. Dennis of Tonopah was elected chairman and the following delegates were selected to attend the national convention: Senator George S. Nixon, Congressman Roberts, H. Y. Morehouse, R. D. Gova, W. W. Williams and Mel Bedt.

A resolution was adopted protesting against the removal of any Western mines and assay offices, and also urging the reopening of the Carson mint.

The inability of Mexico to handle its own affairs and to afford protection to citizens of other countries was severely scored.

The Roosevelt minority offered resolutions favoring the former president, but these were tabled. All efforts on the part of Roosevelt followers to secure an unpledged delegation, or to name at least one member of the delegation, met with overwhelming defeat.

CHRISTOPHER WILSON ADMITS BANKRUPTCY.

New York, May 7.—Christopher C. Wilson, formerly president of the United Wireless Telegraph company, who is serving a term in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., in connection with the sale of fraudulent wireless stock, appeared before United States Commissioner Alexander in voluntary bankruptcy proceedings yesterday. Questioned by Saul S. Moyer, counsel for the receiver of the United Wireless company, Mr. Wilson denied that he was concealing funds.

He testified that a watch and life insurance policies are the only personal property he possesses. From United Wireless stock sold to the public, the witness said, he received between $600,000 and $800,000. He said that property which he owned at Long Beach, N. Y., and Denver, Colo., had been sold to pay counsel fees. The hearing was adjourned until Wednesday.

YOUNG ASTOR GETS WEALTH

Will Inherit Bulk of Father's Estate on Reaching Majority.

Young Widow to Have Only $100,000 in Her Own Right.

New York, May 7.—Counsel for the family has made public the will of John Jacob Astor, as drawn in this city in September last, only a few days after his marriage to Miss Madeline Tallmage Force and approximately seven months before he perished with the sinking of the Titanic.

Vincent Astor, a son, who will come to age within the year, is made the principal beneficiary, and residuary legatee.

By the terms of the will, Vincent comes into possession on his twenty-first birthday on Nov. 15 of nearly 150 parcels of New York city real estate. The aggregate value of these holdings, according to last assessment is $51,650,300.

No hint as to the value of the great estate is given, and in the creation of trust funds the testator has followed, as far as possible, the custom of his forbears in keeping the vast Astor real estate holdings intact.

Estimates Vary Widely.

Valuations of the estate run anywhere from $75,000,000 to $150,000,000. A close friend of the family said that the smaller figure, in his opinion, is nearer the correct estimate.

Aside from provisions for Vincent Astor, the will provides for unconditional bequests of over $216,000. Among these there is but one of a charitable nature. This is $30,000 to St. Paul's school at Concord, N. H. The remainder of the legacies are to relatives, friends and faithful servants.

Nearly all other provisions of the will, as made public, deal with the trust funds, of which there are three: $5,000,000 for the young widow, $5,000,000 for the colonel's young daughter, Muriel, the child of his former wife, Ava Willing Astor, and $3,000,000 for the expected child of the present widow. This latter clause provides for "each child who shall survive the testator other than his son William Vincent and his daughter Alva Alice Muriel."

If Widow Remarries.

No provision is made for the wife who divorced him, and if the young widow dies or marries again, the $5,000,000 trust fund, together with the town house and other property left to her, reverts to Vincent Astor. She receives, however, $100,000 outright, without further stipulation; and until the income from the trust fund shall become available, the trustees are directed to pay her an income of $200,000 a year. There was an ante-nuptial settlement which she accepted in lieu of dower rights. The amount of this has never been made public. Rumors have placed it at $5,000,000.

The colonel gives the trustees minute directions as to investments, following almost word for word instructions of similar nature left by his father, William Astor. All bequests are made tax free, the taxes to be paid out of the residuary estate. As to proper investments, he cites, among other things, real estate, railroad securities and the public debts of the United States, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Yacht Club Cups.

The executors are directed to pay the New York Yacht club $1,500 a year until Vincent Astor shall become of age, this sum to be used by the club for the purchase of two silver cups to be sailed for by the yachts of the club at Newport during the annual cruise. It is suggested further that Vincent Astor, having arrived at age, shall continue to offer these prizes, thus perpetuating the famous Astor cup.

Named as executors are James Roosevelt, Douglas Robinson, Nicholas Biddle and Vincent Astor, upon the latter attaining the age of 21. The same are also appointed trustees of the several trusts created by the will. The will was executed at New York Sept. 18, 1911, in the presence of Lewis Cass Ledyard, Philip C. Browne and John F. Kane as subscribing witnesses. It will be filed for probate in a few days.

There was no reading of the will to assembled relatives. As soon as Col. Astor's death became known to a certainty, they were informed of the provisions of the document.

NOMINATION IMPROBABLE

fore the publication of this article and increase the Taft vote materially.

The Real Surprise.

To politicians the real surprise in the Roosevelt campaign has not been his success in Illinois and Pennsylvania but his practical failure in Massachusetts. In Illinois he profited by the anti-Lorimer sentiment, by the hostility to Governor Deneen, and by the revolt against the continued domination of Senator Cullom. All contributed votes to his cause. In Pennsylvania his chief asset was the hostility to Senator Penrose. Not less than half a score of Pennsylvania representatives have said to me in the last four days that what worked the Pennsylvania voters up to their apparent pitch of fury was not hostility to Taft, or love for Roosevelt, but a bitter and determined resistance to Senator Penrose and all his works.

In Massachusetts, as a senatorial friend pointed out to me, there was the same popular revolt against Senator Crane. It was expected that if in any state the Roosevelt campaign methods would prove effective it would be in the Old Bay state. A graduate of Harvard, he might fairly be expected to appeal warmly to Harvard men who make up so large a part of the Massachusetts political leaders. Basing his appeals for re-election largely upon alleged devotion to the common (or poorer) people, he should have found great strength among the workers in the factory towns. Notwithstanding these possibilities he lost the state, though he did get the delegation. That loss surprised politicians here more than the victories in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Bryan for Chairman.

A suggestion is being bandied about in Washington, and may probably find publicity throughout the country, that Mr. Bryan should be made the temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention. Only a week ago the committee on arrangements of the Democratic national committee met at Baltimore and carefully refrained from making any plans for the temporary organization of the convention. It might not be bad politics for the Democrats to tender to Mr. Bryan this well deserved honor. No doubt there are many who would be fearful that with his wonderful ability to sway men by his oratory he might in his speech destroy whatever plans may have been made for the nomination. That argument against him would be stronger in some other convention than this. For in this convention there will be, so far as the most careful and well-equipped observer can discover, no prearranged plan, no program which even the most Bryanesque burst of oratory could overthrow. Moreover, unless it might be Governor Harmon, there seems to be no one whom Mr. Bryan would attack personally, although it is equally apparent that there is no one whom he will at present support unless it be Governor Shafroth or Ollie James, whom he picked out of practical obscurity to make his favorite son. All the same, if one looks back to the convention of 1896, one discovers that the fierce and successful fight made against the seating of David B. Hill as temporary chairman resulted merely in alienating Hill and all his friends from the support of the ticket.

It is not probable that Hill would have been enthusiastic in support of the ticket in any event, because his personal affiliations made him necessarily hostile to the supporters of the doctrine of 16 to 1. At the same time, had not this quite unnecessary affront been offered him in the convention, he would, in my judgment, have refrained from his attitude of cold aloofness. His phrase, "I am a Democrat still; very still," has passed into history.

Unlikely to Imitate Hill.

No one of the candidates this year desires to have Mr. Bryan assume the position that Mr. Hill did in 1896. And incidentally, no man in politics who remembers how bitterly Mr. Bryan resented the Hill attitude at that time can apprehend that he will be willing to assume it at this moment. Wherefore it would seem to be the part of wisdom and of good politics for those who may arrange the temporary organization of the convention to request Mr. Bryan to be the temporary chairman. If the temper of the convention is such that it can be stampeded by a speech from him as temporary chairman, it could be stampeded quite as readily by a speech of his from the floor—and be assured that in that convention he will not be silent. There seems to be no specific or positive information that Mr. Bryan either seeks this honor or that any one authorized to speak for him has sought it. It seems, however, to a great many of his friends and admirers that it would be the eminently fitting thing for the present national committee, which conducted his campaign and which will go out of business with the next convention, to offer the leader of the party in three hard fights the honor of opening the Baltimore convention and making to the delegates there gathered what might be called their inaugural address.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST

A Simple Remedy Beautifies the Hair, Cures Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair.

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days' treatment.

GEN. BARRY ANNOYED.

Whole West Point Cadet Corps in Trouble for One Man's Act.

Newburgh, N. Y., May 7.—An incident occurred at the West Point Military academy which has put the entire cadet corps in bad standing with the superintendent, Gen. Barry. While Gen. Barry was passing the cadet mess hall, a cadet who was seated near the window called out "Fore! Fore! The Supe."

The term "Fore" is a warning cry used by golfers.

Gen. Barry hastened into the hall, and calling the cadets to attention, demanded to know who made the remark. No one volunteered information, and Cadet Crawford, an upperclassman who had charge of the table nearest the window, would not tell. The general held the corps of cadets a half hour in the hall in an effort to find the culprit, but failed. Cadet Crawford, it is said, will be punished for refusing information.

ON THE IRON RANGES

Mining Companies Operating in Hibbing Are Using Lighter Blasts.

Suit Started By Woman When Rock Hit Milk Pail Causes Change.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—With mining and stripping operations being conducted in full blast all about the center of the town, there is a marked difference in the conditions attending mining activities this year and those that formerly prevailed which is being generally remarked by residents of the city and by visitors here as well, who were familiar with the Hibbing of other days when the mines were active.

Early in the present season the various mining operators announced that the methods of blasting formerly in vogue would not be used this year and so far they have been keeping their promise fairly well. Blasts are frequent now, but they are shot with lighter charges and better judgment and to a large extent the inconvenience and annoyance attending the former methods have been done away with.

First 1912 Blasts Heavy.

Early in the present year when most of the big properties were still operating shovels a casual visitor to the city might have imagined himself in a place besieged. The blasts were quite frequent and heavy. Windows were sometimes broken in the business district and some of the larger buildings were rocked. When the whistle blew just before a train of shots were set off in some of the districts near the open pits, people "took to the woods," figuratively speaking. Rocks and boulders were frequently carried high in the air and in their career to earth often struck residences, crashed through roofs and generally created havoc. If one lived on the edge of the pits it was never certain that he wouldn't have a rock for a bedfellow before morning, especially if occupying second floor apartments.

Why Suit Was Started.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hukari Liend, the Hibbing woman who was a plaintiff in the action against the Oliver Iron Mining company that resulted in the closing down of the Hull-Rust and Sellers mines last winter, is said to have never quite forgiven the mining company since one occasion when she had just finished milking a cow and a good-sized stone hit the pail in her hand and liberally bespattered her besides spilling all the milk.

Losses or inconvenience were always promptly settled by the mining companies however, and still are, without question. There will always be some inconvenience, but conservative people generally are now prepared to admit that it is simply incident to living in the greatest iron mining town on the continent and are not making any complaint so long as the conditions remain as they are at present.

WANT PAVING ON SIX BLOCKS

Chisholm Citizens in Mass Meeting Petition Council to That End.

Chisholm, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a mass meeting held at the city hall last evening resolutions were passed by almost unanimous vote petitioning the city council to pave six blocks of Lake street, the main thoroughfare.

The electric railway will pass down this street and under the ordinance the company will be compelled to construct eight feet of pavement and as the street will be torn up more or less while the steel is being laid the citizens decided to request the council to start paving this summer before the electric railway rails are laid.

Some lively discussions took place as those residing on Central avenue and other streets loading off Lake street wanted the pavement operations extended two blocks to either side of the main thoroughfare on Central, First and Second avenues. This proposition was voted down, however, as the city is in no shape to care for more than the six proposed blocks of pavement during the coming season, but the members went on record favoring the extension of the work as speedily as the council had the means to do so without going into debt. Members of the council favor the paving of Lake street and had the matter up for discussion, but wanted a popular expression from the citizens and the Commercial club took the matter in charge and called the mass meeting. The matter will now be taken up with the council at their meeting Wednesday and they in turn with the Missabe Railway company to have them work in conjunction with the city in the paving operations.

YOUNG MOTHERS

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both herself and the coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby, too, is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

DROP CHARGES OF ILLEGAL FISHING

Ely Men Accused of Breaking Law May Carry Case Further.

Ely, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cases against John Gouze, E. E. Lindblad and John Sieberlich preferred by Game Warden James have been dropped. John Harri, who was one of the party arrested for illegal fishing a week ago Sunday, was found guilty in justice court before Judge Pickavance, and fined $10 and costs. Later the fine was dropped and the costs merely assessed; these Harri refused to pay. Attorney McMahon of Duluth was engaged to fight the cases for the remaining members of the party, and the trial was to have taken place today, before Judge Pickavance at Section 30. After consulting with the men last evening Mr. McMahon communicated with County Attorney Fowler at Two Harbors, and the cases were ordered dropped. The parties involved claim that the last has not yet been heard of this case, and that there will be further developments.

Firemen at State Meet.

The Ely fire department plans to be represented at the state meeting of fire fighters at the Minneapolis meet next June. Arthur Toms and Jack Seraphine have been elected delegates from the local department. They will also ask the city fathers to appropriate some money to make much needed improvements in the fire department signal system.

VICTIMS OF FIGHT HAVE GOOD CHANCE

Pair Shot and Stabbed in Virginia Affray Expected to Survive.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Radockavich, who was shot in the breast and Mike Rajanavich, who was hacked with a knife and it is now believed was also shot in the back, in a street battle Sunday evening, are said to have fair chances for recovery at the Lenont hospital. Ten others, who were either in the fight or are being held as witnesses, are in the city jail. Of these Nick Masar, who is believed to have used a gun, has a knife wound in his breast. The fight was a veritable battle royal and on this account the police have had difficulty in making specific charges against any. There were no arraignments yesterday. Some of the prisoners may be arraigned today. As the assistant county attorney is engaged in the district court he has appointed George F. Shea to act. Every man believed to know something about the battle is being held as a witness. On account of being unable to make specific charges of shooting and stabbing, a broad disorderly charge may have to be made to hold some who are guilty of a greater offense.

OFFERS OF SITES TO BE CONSIDERED

Eveleth Council May Decide Much Discussed Question Tonight.

Eveleth, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Besides allowing the monthly bills and transacting other routine business the city council tonight will consider the several sites offered for a library and other city purposes.

Several sites have been offerd but the one which it is reported will receive favorable consideration is that offered by J. A. Robb and others, comprising about two blocks of land close to the business district.

If purchased this tract, besides furnishing the site for the library, will be utilized for park purposes and will be planted with trees already on the ground.

Reported "Lid Tilting."

It is reported that a complaint to the effect that some of the liquor houses are "tilting" the lid will be formally presented to the council, and this rumor will attract a large number of citizens to the meeting.

CLERK MOUSER RESIGNS.

Gilbert Village Official to Give Up Public Duties.

Gilbert, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village counsel met last night. The resignation of D. M. Monser as clerk was accepted, to take effect June 7, and R. R. McQuade was elected by the council to fill the vacancy. A petition was received from the school board asking the council to vacate about 300 feet of Ohio avenue, to permit the purchasing of an athletic field having full-size baseball and football field adjoining the magnificent new high school building. The necessary steps were taken by the council to grant the request and the result will be that Gilbert will have an athletic field second to none on the range.

Tonight the Commercial club will meet to discuss matters of importance, one in particular being the proposed park.

The Genoa mine, owned by the Oliver Iron Mining company, has started two steam shovels at work in ore at their open pit mine, and a large force of men are employed. The company expects to put a shovel at work at the stockpile in a day or so.

Cloquet Game Postponed.

Grand Rapids, May 7.—The ball game to have been played here Sunday between the city team and the Cloquet players was called off on account of the weather. It is expected that the deferred game will be played next Sunday. The Junior team went up to Cohasset Sunday afternoon, winning from the Cohasset Juniors by a score of 19 to 2.

BACKA'S LITTLE BOY IS WITNESS

Son of Man Tried for Killing His Wife Gives Evidence.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hjalmar Backa, aged 10, son of John Backa, who is on trial in the district court here for wife murder, was on the stand all the morning today as a witness for the state.

The defense claims the shooting of Mrs. Backa was an accident occuring while Backa who was intoxicated and his wife were struggling for the possession of the gun that fired the fatal shot.

The jury trying the case consists of John A. Hellstrom, Eveleth; Thomas Murphy, Duluth; John M. Doyle, Virginia; John L. Brennan, Biwabik; Walter E. Steele, Eveleth; J. J. Sewart, Hibbing; August Buholz, Cook; William Brooks, Virginia; Chris K. Johnson, West Duluth; E. L. Boreman, Biwabik; T P. Mulvaney, Biwabik; Martin Finucan, Eveleth.

BLIND-PIG MEN HEAVILY FINED

Trio Gathered in By Oliver Police at Cypress Location Mulcted.

Hibbing, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Petrelli and Sam Marino yesterday afternoon paid fines of $50 and costs after entering pleas of guilty in municipal court to a charge of blind-pigging, and George Perpich, who entered a plea of not guilty, was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs on the same charge, which he settled.

All three are residents of the Cypress location, where it has been currently reported the business of conducting blind-pigs has been decidedly profitable.

Boosted of "Easy" Money.

One of the men arrested recently made the boast to a friend that he had cleared up $1,500 in selling beer at the location in a period of less than six months.

The arrests of all three were effected by the Oliver police. At the same time it is announced that there is to be a renewed vigor on the part of the officers of the Steel corporation police against the blind-pigs and that a number of the independent companies, who heretofore have not been active in warfare against the unlicensed drinking places, are to assist in the effort.

BITTEN BY DOG HAVING RABIES

Iron Junction Woman Taken to Minneapolis for Pasteur Treatment.

Eveleth, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Charles Peterson of Iron Junction was taken to Minneapolis to be given the Pasteur treatment for the prevention of hydrophobia.

April 28, while at work about her dooryard, Mrs. Peterson was attacked by a large dog and severely bitten on the thigh. The dog was captured and killed and its head sent to the state university for examination. A report was received that the animal was suffering from rabies.

TWO MINERS HURT.

Chisholm Men Each May Lose Eye From Injury.

Chisholm, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Mondich, an Austrian from Kittsville, was treated at the Hood hospital for an injury to the right eye, sustained in one of the mines. Mondich and other workmen were seated under a steam shovel eating their dinner, Sunday, when the debris from a blast nearby struck him full in the face, causing a deep gash over and immediately under the eye and penetrated the eye ball. The attending physicians say that his eye sight will be impaired, but are not in a position at this time to state to what extent.

John Stonich while working with a drilling crew beyond the Clark mine suffered a severe injury to his left eye and may lose the sight. He was working on a steam drill and in some way the drill broke into bits and parts struck him in the eye.

DULUTH FIRM IS AWARDED CONTRACT

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library board today awarded McLeod & Smith of Duluth the contract to construct the library building at $31,111. The Virginia Plumbing & Heating commpany received the plumbing, heating and ventilating contract at $4,398. Work commences at once.

The Rainy Lake mill resumed sawing today after a shutdown of two weeks. It employs 400 men and has five miles of logging road into the timber from Cusson, giving employment to a large number of men.

SOUDAN MAN SELECTED.

B. F. McComb to Manage Schools at Tower.

Tower, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — The school board has engaged B. F. McComb, principal of the Soudan school, to be superintendent of the city schools, succeeding E. E. McIntire, resigned, to take charge of the International Falls schools.

Miss Minnie Pearson, a former Tower girl, was married in Duluth a few days ago to Lewis Larson, a prominent business man of Ely. They are now on a wedding trip in the northern part of the state and Canada.

The ninety-third anniversary of the organization of the Odd Fellows was observed Sunday by members of the Tower lodge, No. 104, I. O. O. F., assisted by the Rebekahs. The assemblage met at the lodge rooms in regalia attire and were driven in carriages to the M. E. church of Soudan, where the regular anniversary ceremonies were held. The choir of the Soudan church furnished special music for the occasion, and the church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and potted plants. Rev. Mr. Schenck of Aurora delivered an interesting address on Odd Fellowship.

ATTORNEYS TO REPORT.

Virginia Council to Learn Status of City Attorneyship.

Virginia, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council this (Tuesday) evening will hear the report of Attorneys R. C. Pickering, Luke F. Burns and D. D. Morgan on the legality of rescinding a resolution duly passed by the council with a motion. On this decision hinges whether Otto A. Uoirier shall hold the position of city attorney or whether he shall be ousted. Another matter to be considered is an ordinance providing for the renaming, all the streets.

Biwabik, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Biwabik Dancing club will give a dance next Friday evening. The management is making an unusual effort to make this party the best of the season.

FALL LAKE SCHOOL WILL BE VOTED ON.

Ely, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special meeting of the voters of School District No. 12 is called for May 11 in the Central school building at 7 p. m. The object of the meeting is to ascertain the wishes of the people relative to the purchase of property in Fall Lake, upon which to build a school building. It is planned, if the vote is favorable, to purchase about two and a half acres for grounds and also erect a four-room building, modern in every respect. Some much-needed repairs will also be made on the Savoy location school building.

CHISHOLM PUPILS' WORK IS EXHIBITED.

Chisholm, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — The schools have the school work of the year on exhibit this week and on Friday evening give a musical program at the high school auditorium. One day each week is devoted to the work of the several location schools and yesterday was the Shenango school day. Friday the high school domestic science and manual training exhibits will be on display during the afternoon and evening until 8:30, when the musical program starts.

FAIR

The sun asserted itself for a few hours this morning and shone with all the brilliancy of spring, but clouds floated in later and turned the atmospheric aspect to gray. The northeaster has gone, however, and Duluthians have something for which to be thankful. Fair and cooler weather is the prediction for tonight and tomorrow.

Showers fell a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:42 and it will set at 7:26 this evening, giving fourteen hours and forty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Further rains fell throughout the Northwest, the Western Lake region, Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Atlantic and Gulf states during the last twenty-four hours as a result of the disturbances overlying Central Canada and the extreme Southwest. Heavy rains fell at Corpus Christi, New Orleans, Knoxville, Raleigh and Washington city. Moderate temperatures are the rule except freezing weather prevails in Wyoming. At the Head of the Lakes fair weather is the outlook for the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 7.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; slightly cooler tonight.

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight.

Minnesota — Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler in northeast portion tonight.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Wednesday; slightly cooler in east portion tonight.

North and South Dakota and Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

Upper Lakes—Moderate westerly winds and fair weather tonight and Wednesday; cooler on Lake Superior.

WEDS IN PHILADELPHIA.

Former Wilpin and Cloquet Girl Becomes Bride in East.

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcements were received here this morning of the marriage of Miss Albena Marie Bonnier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Bonnier of this city, to Arthur Wood Copp of Philadelphia, the marriage taking place in that city on April 21, at the parochial residence of Rev. Father Brody. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nash, the latter a sister of the groom, and a reception was given Saturday evening at the Nash home. The bride grew to womanhood in Cloquet and is well known here. She met Mr. Copp at Wilpen, on the Mesaba range, where for a number of years she was stenographer for the Dupont Power company, for which firm Mr. Copp was construction engineer. The groom is a graduate of West Point military academy, and is now employed in the engineering department of the Standard Oil company in Philadelphia.

CLOQUET NEEDS JAIL.

Otherwise Present Dilapitated Affair Will Be Closed By State.

Cloquet, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—It will be necessary for the city council to take action in the very near future on the erection of a new city jail or the repairing of the old building to such an extent as to have it approved by State Jail Inspector Foley of the state board, who has condemned the building repeatedly and recently promised that if conditions were not satisfactory by the time another visit is made he would lock up the building. It is possible that plans of Clyde W. Kelly of Duluth will be accepted for the new building as the plans have been approved by the state board. A new jail may be erected, including not only prison room but also police headquarters, offices of city clerk and water department and a council chamber.

Sells Ironwood Business.

Ironwood, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gus Swanson has sold his ment and provision business here to Charles Healy. Mr. Healy, who has been local manager for the Cudahy Packing company's business here for many years, severed his connection with that concern last Saturday and will give the new venture his entire attention. Mr. Swanson intends to engage exclusively in the abbatoir business, having purchased the Peterson plant near the river.

HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results.

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals, ½ drachm; Lavona de composee', 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add a few drops of To-Kalon Perfume, which mixes perfectly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary.

Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp.

Go to your druggist and ask for an eight ounce bottle containing six ounces of Bay Rum; also one-half drachm of Menthol Crystals, and a two-ounce bottle of Lavona de Composee'. Mix the ingredients yourself at your own home. Add the Menthol Crystals to the Bay Rum and then pour in the Lavona de Composee' and add the To-Kalon Perfume. Let it stand one-half hour and it is ready for use.

DECISION ON ELWELL LAW

Opinions From Supreme Court Expected This Week or Next.

Road Building Possibilities By Development Association President.

A decision on the constitutionality of the Elwell law is expected from the supreme court either next Friday or the following Friday. The test case, which was brought by Fred H. Murray, mayor of White Bear, was argued before the supreme court yesterday.

C. M. King, president of the Northern Minnesota Development association, arrived in Duluth this morning from St. Paul, where he attended the session of the supreme court. Mr. King says that Assistant Attorney General William J. Stevenson, formerly of Duluth, made a masterful argument upholding the constitutionality of the Elwell law. "I have heard many arguments before the supreme court, but I believe Mr. Stevenson's argument yesterday was the best I ever heard," said Mr. King.

Mr. King gave this morning a concrete example of what can be done under the Elwell law.

"Elwell roads can be built without increased taxation either to the state or county," said Mr. King. "I will make a comparison of what can be done with the Elwell law with what may be done without the use of it. Take Clearwater county as an example. The county, according to State Auditor Iverson's last report, has a road and bridge fund of $4,325.05. It received from the state in the last apportionment $2,600, making a total road and bridge fund this year of $6,825.05, which at $1,000 per mile will build approximately seven miles of road.

"Under the Elwell law, Clearwater county can build fifty miles of road, besides the seven miles I have already referred to, without increasing taxation for either state or county purposes. This $60,000 worth of roads will cost Clearwater county only $12,500.

"Clearwater county can pay off its share of building this great mileage of roads by taking out of its county road and bridge fund $1,393.75 annually, leaving in the treasury $2,721.30 to keep up the roads and build others.

"None of the funds in any counties will be touched this year, if the Elwell law is held constitutional and the work outlined goes ahead. The first payments under the Elwell law are to be made in 1913."

Some confusion has come about through the impression that incorporated villages can be assessed under the law for roads built in the country districts. Mr. King says the impression is erroneous. The law does not make any such provision.

It's apt to "stay 'ost" unless you advertise for it.

Ten Years Hence Which?

Which will your house be ten years from now? Will it be covered with weatherproof, fireproof Vulcanite—a roof with ten years' honest service behind it and with probably several years' wear ahead?

Or, will it be covered with cracked, warped, leaking shingles, upon which you've spent many a repair dollar with little to show for it—and with probably another big repair bill staring you in the face? Which is it going to be?

Vulcanite Roofing

is nailed down and cemented at the seams until it becomes almost a solid sheet over the roof—keeping out storm and weather, year in and year out, because it's waterproofed with genuine mineral asphalt that can't rot, can't soften and wear out and can't evaporate. By the way, the fire insurance companies endorse Vulcanite. What do they say about shingles?

Amusement Notes.

"Two thousand miles of hilarious laughter" is a descriptive phrase that has been widely used to advertise "Excuse Me," Henry W. Savage's production of Rupert Hughes' farce of that name, and thousands of theatergoers throughout the country, who have witnessed a performance of this clever absurdity, are willing to admit the aptness of the definition. "Excuse Me" as a play is really nothing more or less than the relation of the incidents of a railroad journey from Chicago to Reno, made upon an Overland Limited train by two dozen or more passengers of widely differing types. Given such a gathering in even the most conservative village in the country, the results of the association would be laugh-provoking. Placed as they are upon a moving train, robbed of the comforts and opportunities of permanence in the staidest community, it is easy for the most unimaginative person to conceive happenings and situations calculated to appeal to the humorous appreciation of the onlookers.

"Excuse Me" is mounted with all the care which invariably characterizes a production made by Henry W. Savage, and the company entrusted with the interpretation of Mr. Hughes' lines is probably the most capable organization of farceurs that ever left New York. "Excuse Me" will come to the Lyceum for an engagement of three days, commencing Thursday, May 9, with matinee Saturday.

That a good chorus is the bone and sinew and the vital essence of a musical comedy is a belief always adhered to by the successful producer. Mort H. Singer, and in his production of "Miss Nobody From Starland," he has not only provided a rarely excellent cast headed by clever Olive Vail, but a chorus of pretty girls and attractive young men, all of whom have been selected for their ability to sing and dance as well as to please their audiences. "Miss Nobody From Starland" comes to the Lyceum Monday, May 13 for a return engagement.

Miss Ollie Vanis, who is appearing at the Duluth Orpheum this week, is claimed to be one of the two greatest women wire walkers in vaudeville. The other is Miss Bird Millman, who was seen at the Orpheum last season.

The work of the two young women is much similar, Miss Vanis is just as strenuous a performer as Miss Millman, working at top speed all the time she is on the wire. She dances, does a cake walk, jumps over tables and in and out of barrels and does all the tricks that have made Miss Millman famous. She uses the same methods on the wire that have made Miss Eva Tanguay famous as a dancer, apparently working with complete disregard for the amount of energy expended or the dangers she is taking in dashing headlong across the wire. She has had several bad tumbles and several more or less serious accidents, but they do not seem to have affected her work, and she performs her feats just as strenuously and as rapidly as ever.

The theatergoing public of Duluth has seen mind readers, spiritualists, telepathists by the score, but to Mercedes, who headlines this week's bill at the Empress credit must be given for originating and presenting an entertainment which is vastly different and far superior to anything of this nature ever presented in this theater. While his assistant, Mlle. Stantone, is seated, blindfolded, before a piano on the stage, Mercedes passes through the audience and requests different persons to think of any musical composition and almost immediately Mlle. Stantone calls out the name of the selection and plays it upon the piano. This Mercedes says she is able to do because his mind and that of his assistant work in perfect harmony and he is thus enabled to transfer his thoughts to her. While claiming no supernatural power, Mercedes' performance borders upon the impossible and he and his assistant completely mystify the audience at each performance. William A. Grew & Co., are scoring a hit in their clever comedy playlet, "Dollars and Cents." The sketch contains plenty of complications which are highly laughable and it is presented in an excellent manner by Mr. Grew and his clever support. Of special interest to the Scandinavians of this city is the offering of Hellstrom & Myhre, Swedish singers and dancers. They render a number of songs in the English and Swedish tongues and close their performance with one of the Swedish national dances. The Two Georges offer a clever comedy acrobatic turn and the show is opened by Professor Stanley and his troupe of trained goats.

MUCH TALK OF CONGRESSMEN

Thirty or More North Dakota Democrats Hold Session at Fargo.

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable enthusiasm was shown here today by thirty or more leading Democrats who met to get a full Democratic ticket, state and congressional, into the field. John Brueger of Williston, newly elected national committeeman, and W. A. Joy of Minot, member of the congressional Democratic committee for this state, were both present.

The afternoon was devoted to appointment of committees and to hearing representatives of railroads who want to carry North Dakota Democrats to the national convention at Baltimore.

Considerable congressional discussion was had in hotel lobbys, and it disclosed there are two candidates in the First and Second and one in the Third districts. Col. Hildreth of Fargo and Former Senator Purcell of Wahpeton are both urged, though the latter has the preference, since the hope of getting Governor Burke to make the race has been abandoned. They will have to go against Congressman Helgeson, who has no Republican opposition.

In the Second district S. J. Doyle of Carrington and J. A. Minzer of Knox are after the nomination. An attempt will be made to have Minzer withdraw in Doyle's favor, as the latter is regarded as a stronger candidate.

Mayor Halversen of Minot is the only candidate in the western district. Jones of Lamoure and Hellstrom of Bismarck, both of whom want the gubernatorial nomination, are here. It is quite probable that neither will be given indorsement and that each will continue in the race. Other places on the state ticket will be filled this afternoon.

Democrats of Cass county also are holding a session here to arrange for a local ticket.

VIGOR OF YOUTH For Weak Men

To be strong and manly is the aim of every man, and yet how many we find who are wasting the vitality and strength which nature gives them. Instead of developing into strong, vigorous, manly young fellows that nature intended them to be, they find themselves weak, stunted and despondent—no ambition to do anything. They struggle aimlessly along sooner or later to become victims of that dread disorder, nervous debility; their finer sensibilities blunted and their nerves shattered.

WE CURE MEN'S DISORDERS

We have treated hundreds of men who have long suffered a gradual decline of physical and mental energy as a result of ailments, and have been interested in noting the marked general improvement that follows a thorough cure of the chief disorder. Our success in curing difficult cases of long standing has made us the foremost specialists treating men's disorders. This success is due to several things. It is due to study we have given our specialty; to our having ascertained the exact nature of men's ailments, and to the original, distinctive and thoroughly scientific methods of treatment we employ.

To those in doubt as to their true condition who wish to avoid the serious results that may follow neglect, we offer free consultation and advice, either at our office or through correspondence. If your case is one of the few that has reached an incurable stage, we will not accept it for treatment, nor will we urge our services upon anyone. We treat curable cases only and cure all cases we treat.

Prostate Troubles Inflammation causing burning, irritation or frequent urination promptly yields to our scientific methods, and in a very short time promptly cured, no matter of how long standing.

Varicose Enlargement—Knotted or Wormy-Like condition of Veins on left side, or it may be on right and both sides—our treatment is what you should have and what you will have to have to be cured right. We do no cutting and you suffer no pain or trouble. All skins disappear.

Rheumatism and Stomach Troubles We cure all people of Uric-Acid Diathasis within the shortest time. We guarantee our cures, because we know how to successfully clean the body of all poisons. All stomach and bowel troubles will leave you in the shortest time. We make you strong and vigorous. Consultation free from 9 to 8, Sunday 10 to 1. Ask for free instruction book. GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

George Thompson, a laborer, dropped dead shortly after midnight last night in the office of the Denver lodging house near Sixth avenue west.

The cause of death is not known, but it is believed to have been due to heart failure or other natural causes, as there was no indication of suicide or foul play. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of James L. Crawford on Second avenue west. It is expected that Dr. C. F. McComb, county coroner, will order a post-mortem to determine definitely what caused his death.

Thompson was about 50 years of age and is said to have been in and out of Duluth for a number of years. But little is known of him.

A letter from his brother and sister at Port Huron, Mich., was found in his pocket. It was a short missive, written in ink on one side of a small piece of ordinary writing paper. In it his brother says that he has a little money and would be glad to send George a few dollars by postoffice money order if he should be in need of it. Whether or not he ever asked or received any assistance from his brother is not known. He had no money or valuables on him when an examination was made of his clothing this morning.

The letter was dated April 11, last and was signed "Alex and Lillie."

Apparently the dead man had been without work for some little time past, but in any event he had the pleasing reassurance that although he might be without wealth he at least had a friend in his brother, who would help him out. The letter shows that he volunteered him assistance even without being requested for it.

"The knowledge that a fellow's got a friend some place who will lend him a hand when he needs it is worth more than all the money he could borrow from him if he were a millionaire," said the old policeman this morning in answering upon the letter found in the dead man's pocket. "It serves as an anchor to windward when storms buffet him on the seas of life."

Thomas Martin certainly did not get any recommendation from the police department this morning when he was brought into police court with the grist to answer to a charge of vagrancy. He admitted the charge and got $50 and costs or sixty days in the county jail. He pleaded so hard for a chance to get to work that sentence was suspended with the understanding that he would make himself scarce before the day was over. He did not lose any time in promising.

Henry Adrian, a bartender, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Game Warden George Wood of Hibbing on a charge of violating the game laws. It is claimed that he has a place in the range country where he has been taking large quantities of fish with nets. He will probably be arraigned in a range court.

Dan E. Howard was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of having defrauded A. C. Starkey, an innkeeper at 122 East First street, out of his board bill. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried this afternoon.

The case against James Henderson, colored, charged with the theft of a diamond ring valued at $150 from Nora Massingale, colored, was dismissed in police court yesterday afternoon. It appears that Nora loaned James the ring and that he pawned it for $75, but first bought an imitation which he turned over to Nora, representing it as the original. When Nora discovered the deception her anger knew no bounds and she promptly caused his arrest. It is understood that some of James' friends raised the necessary $75 and took the ring out of "soak," restoring it to Nora.

The larceny case against Nick Dellers of the West end, charging him with the theft of a ring worth $5 from Selim Nicholas, was dismissed in police court yesterday afternoon. It appeared that the ring was the property of Selim's wife. Nick had already pleaded guilty to assaulting Selim, claiming that it was provoked by being called a thief. The court told him that he should not take the law into his own hands and gave him $5 and costs or ten days in the county jail on the assault charge.

Henry Sabrowski, who pleaded guilty to having stolen $8.06 from N. H. Witt, his former employer, was given a suspended sentence in police court yesterday afternoon. It was his first offense and the court allowed him to go after warning him of the dangers of taking property belonging to other people.

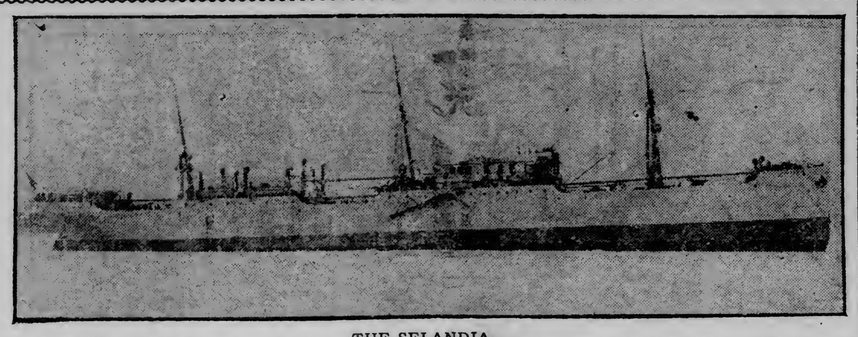
Hilja Suoja, 13 years old, was given a suspended sentence for the second time when brought into police court yesterday afternoon to answer to a charge of vagrancy. The first instance she was brought up for being found in the back room of a saloon. The court advised her to make freer use of soap and water and get a job. Mrs. Walsh, the police matron, said that she would help Hilja get a place after she had added her improper appearance. Hilja has a home on the range but doesn't want to go back there because her folks cannot afford to keep her, she says. Her recent conduct is probably due to lack of training more than anything else.

OCEAN STEAMER THAT CARRIES NO COAL IN HER BUNKERS



THE SELANDIA.

Built in Denmark for the East Asiatic Company of Copenhagen, the Selandia is the first big motor boat to engage in the passenger trade. She runs from Copenhagen and London to Bangkok and China. She has good passenger accommodations and room for plenty of freight. She needs no room for coal bunkers, for she is run wholly by oil. Great interest is felt in this marine experiment, not alone in Denmark, but in every country which has a merchant marine.

HAVE TILT WITH BOARD

Rotary Club Members Have Heated Debate With County Commissioners.

Indignant Because Recommendations on Road Building Were Ignored.

An indignant and resentful delegation from the Rotary club engaged in repartee with the board of county commissioners on the subject of good roads at the board meeting this morning.

The Rotary club, or at least its good roads committee, had a grievance and its delegation entertained no hesitation in telling the commissioners so.

Frank Randall, E. J. Filiatrault and William Burgess, on behalf of the good roads committee scored the board for "ignoring" certain resolutions which had been brought to their attention last February.

The resolutions were adopted by the Good Roads convention at Duluth on Jan. 25, 1912. They were presented to the board at its next meeting. Since then no official action has been taken.

In substance, the resolutions recommended that the county commissioners incorporate some changes in their system of building roads, hiring foremen, letting contracts, etc.

When Mr. Filiatrault was given the floor at the board meeting this morning, he said:

"These resolutions were adopted after discussion and investigation and are based on facts—plain unvarnished facts. We are prepared to furnish examples where conditions can be improved, where funds could have been managed a little bit better. Although I do not care at this time to go into details, I know these to be facts. There is plenty of chance for improvement. We have come here to express our opinion and I think that we have the right to do so.

"It seems to me that the board should at least give us the consideration of recognizing these resolutions and to make an answer of some kind to them. As it is, we have been totally ignored. It is wrong. It is an insult. All we ask of you, gentlemen, is that you tender us a reply. We are certainly entitled to an answer."

Frank Randall was the first speaker. He broke the ice by stating that in his opinion the good roads committee was entitled to some consideration from the comissioners. He was interrupted by Commissioner P. H. Ryan, who defended the position of the board throughout in the controversy.

Exception to Remarks.

Mr. Ryan arose to take exception to the remarks of Mr. Randall, he said. He declared that the organization which Mr. Randall represented did not represent perhaps more than 1,000 people in St. Louis county. "And yet," he said, directing his remarks to Mr. Randall, "you wish us to ignore the express wishes of our constituents, some 70,000, to carry out your project."

Mr. Ryan carried his remarks further, stating that in his opinion that there was not a practical road man instrumental in framing the resolutions. He said that he knew some of the men who attended the Good Roads convention at the time these resolutions were passed and that they were not in sympathy with them.

"At the rate," spoke up Mr. Randall, "you cannot deny that your engineering force could be enlarged to advantage."

"Yes, I question that," was the reply which Commissioner Ryan gave.

At this point Chairman McInnis called Commissioner Ryan to a point of order, stating that there should be no personal controversy and that all remarks should be addressed to the chair and commissioners.

Competent Foremen.

Mr. Randall continued by saying that he did not wish to convey the impression that the Rotary club was asking for anything unreasonable or unfair. "We would like to work in co-operation with you. We want to see competent foreman—those who will show no favoritism, employed."

Mr. Filiatrault stated that he did not want to bring any specific charges against the board, but declared that he knew of instances where men had been employed as road foremen who didn't have an ounce of brains relative to road construction. "I would like to say this to the commissioners," he concluded, "if you have $10,000 to spend for roads, spend it so as to get $10,000 worth of roads out of it. Don't just get $5,000 worth of roads out of it."

William Burgess, who spoke along similar lines, declared that there had been much unfavorable comment provoked regarding the expenditure of the county road funds by the county commissioners.

"And that is just what we are here for," declared Mr. Burgess. "We are here to stop that slanderous talk that is going around about the county commissioners. We did not come here to quarrel. We are not here to criticize. But we do want some consideration."

Commissioner Ryan arose again and stated that the good roads proposition incorporated in the resolution had met with disapproval on the part of several of the Commercial clubs in the small range towns. He stated that these clubs had sent letters to the Rotary club expressing their opinions.

"We have never received them, if they were sent," was the answer from Mr. Filiatrault and Mr. Randall.

Chairman McInnis made a few remarks. He said that he was more than delighted to have the gentlemen with the board this morning. "We are glad to have you come and see us. We appreciate it. Automobile fellows like good roads—so do we."

Before the noon adjournment, Commissioner Ryan moved that the good roads organization be requested to bring some facts before the board to show reason why favorable action should be taken on the resolution. The motion was supported and passed.

SUPERIOR

NORWEGIAN DAY OF INDEPENDENCE.

A committee has been busily engaged for the past two weeks making preparations for the celebrating of Norway's Independence day, May 17, to be celebrated by the Sons of Norway and the Nordron Male chorus. The exercises will be held in the Sons of Norway hall on the evening of May 17, at which there will be speaking and musical numbers, probably concluding with a dance.

The principal speaker of the evening will be A. H. Askenand of Minneapolis, district president of the order. Other speakers on the program will be John A. Hobe and John Ericksen.

The musical end of the program will be as follows: Peterson's orchestra, National air; chorus; violin solo, Miss Vaalberg Gunderson; song, Nordron Male chorus; vocal solo, Miss Nelson; song, Nordron Male chorus; vocal solo, Magnus Peterson; piano solo, Mrs. M. Larson and a selection by the orchestra.

BREAK IN MAINS; SUPERIOR WITHOUT GAS.

The break in the gas main which supplies Superior with gas from the Zenith Furnace company was not repaired until 11 o'clock today, causing a great deal of inconvenience in this city.

Mrs. Collins Dies.

Mrs. Catherine Collins, for twelve years a resident of Superior, died last evening at the age of 72 years. Death resulted from a complication of diseases from which she has suffered for some time past, but she was not compelled to seek her bed until last Friday evening.

Mrs. Collins was the widow of the late Daniel Collins who died nine years ago. She is survived by three grown children. The body will be taken to the old home at Blossburgh, Pa., for burial.

Moves to California.

C. O. Stensrud, for twenty years a resident of South Superior, will leave today, accompanied by his family, for Peralta, Cal., to make that place his future home.

Mr. Stensrud has been a prominent business man of Superior having been engaged in hardware, grocery and monument business. He was a director in the American Exchange bank, and also president of the Greenwood Cemetery association.

Suffrage Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Douglas County Suffrage association to be held in the public library this evening at 8 o'clock, the members will be addressed by Rev. L. K. Grimes and R. E. Kennedy. The subjects have not been announced but it will undoubtedly be some phase of the campaign for "votes for women."

For Past Officers.

Red Men who have held offices in the past in any of the three tribes of Superior are planning to form a Past Sachems' association, any of the past officers of these tribes being eligible to membership.

W. J. Patterson or Okojobi tribe will call together as many past sachems as possible and a meeting will be held May 16 in the lodge rooms of Ojibwa tribe in Eagles' hall. At that time it is expected to name officers of the new organization which is to be formed for the purpose of furthering the interests of the order.

Sunday Band Concerts.

Arrangements have been made to have band concerts in the different parks for the summer. There will be a series of about twelve concerts to be given Sunday afternoons, to start in the very near future.

Now Under Health Board.

The commissioners have authorized the board of health to supervise the medical inspection of the various schools in Superior. Formerly it was left to the board of education to employ a physician for this work.

TRIES TWICE TO SHOOT HIMSELF, BUT FAILS.

Appleton, Wis., May 7.—Calmly walking into a hardware store today, Herrman Voss, a drayman of New London, purchased a .32-calibre revolver and five cartridges, as he said, to kill a dog. An instant later, while the storekeeper's back was turned, Voss turned the weapon on himself, but missed. After making another try and failing, he laid the gun on the counter and walked out. Later he was arrested.

New Iron Mountain Church.

Iron Mountain, Mich., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The erection of a new house of worship is planned by the Central M. E. church. Prospective sites are under option. A building costing not less than $25,000 is proposed. It is expected that construction work will be undertaken in the near future.

COURT FOR METHODISTS

Church Tribunal Is Recommended By Committee at Conference.

Three Bishops, Six Ministers and Six Laymen to Form New Body.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether there shall be formed another body of the Methodist Episcopal church to be known as the court of appeals, is to be decided at this conference; practically the entire morning session of the general conference is in session here being given over to a discussion of the report of the commission on judicial procedure appointed four years ago. The question of the establishment of such an organization has been before the general conferences of the church practically for a century.

The commission, in its report to the conference, read today, recommended the establishment of such a body, with power to hear and determine all appeals. As planned, the court is to consist of three bishops, six ministers and six laymen, chosen by the general conference. The general conference now has the power to pass on all cases.

Among those who spoke today in favor of establishing such a court was Judge Thomas H. Anderson, justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

The afternoon session of the conference was given over to the work of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, Mrs. William McDowell of St. Paul presiding. Addresses were made by Bishop Luther B. Wilson and Miss Jennie V. Hughes.

CONFIDENT OF DULUTH VICTORY

Traffic Commissioner Says Opponents Had No New Arguments.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, returned today from Washington, where he attended the arguments on the Duluth lake and rail case before the interstate commerce commission last Friday.

Mr. Hall is still optimistic over the Duluth case. The opponents of Duluth offered no new arguments, he said, and he is still convinced of the strength of Duluth's case.

No intimation was given as to when a decision may be expected. The interstate commerce commission has several important matters under consideration and the time that will elapse before the Duluth case is reached is a matter for speculation. A decision is hoped for in about a month.

Attorney Francis W. Sullivan, who appeared for the Commercial club and made the argument Friday, remained in the East for a few days.

GRAY COMING EAST.

Head of Hill Coast Line to Join Great Northern Staff.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—Carl R. Gray, president of the Oregon Trunk and the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railways, Pacific Coast subsidiaries of the Great Northern, will become one of the executive officers of the Great Northern with headquarters in St. Paul on June 1. President L. W. Hill of that road, made this announcement last night just before departing for the West.

Mr. Hill denied that either himself or his father, James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors, would resign, but said a number of changes on the board of directors would be made.

"I am not in a position to say at present what these changes will be" said Mr. Hill, "but both my father and myself will remain with the railroad. Mr. Gray will come to St. Paul as an executive officer of the Great Northern. L. C. Gilman, assistant to the president of the Great Northern, will go to the West end of the lines as assistant to the president."

Treatment for Gray Hair

Way by Which Former Color and Gloss Are Restored to Streaky, Faded Hair

The uncouth hand of Father Time lies heavily upon the brow whose "crowning glory" is gray, faded or streaked, and yet, while the fleeting years cannot be halted, it is easy to restore the youthful color and glint to the hair and thus look years younger.

To regain original shade and gloss of brunette hair, dip comb in barsicum tea and comb hair thoroughly. This tea is made by steeping a small, original package of barsicum in one pint of water. Faded or streaked blonde hair is quickly brought back to its former shade and lovelinness by washing with arbane tea, made by putting an ounce of arbane in one pint of boiling water; and for faded auburn or Titian locks, a cambia tea should be used. This treatment is harmless and should be kept up until original color and gloss return.

County Must Get Permission to Build Road on Indian Lands.

Report on Progress of New Sanitarium Received By Board.

In order to build a county road across the Fond du Lac Indian reservation, it will be necessary for the board of commissioners to petition the department of Indian affairs at Washington.

County Counsel Adams so advised the county board at its May meeting at the courthouse today, when a road petition calling for a thoroughfare which would run eighteen miles through the Indian reservation, was referred to him for his opinion.

The county board passed a resolution authorizing the chairman and the county auditor to execute the proper petition to the Indian commissioner asking that St. Louis county be allowed to build across Indian allotment land.

The county will have to reimburse all Indians whose allotments are disturbed by the new road.

Dr. J. T. Laird, superintendent of the new tubercular sanitorium, the Nopeming, addressed the commissioners this morning on the progress at the new institution which is nearly ready to be opened for patients. Dr. Laird reported that the main building had cost about $45,000 and that the building for children had cost about $11,500. $10,000 of which had been subscribed by women of Duluth.

The board received and put on file a petition for the division of School District No. 45 in 61-20. The district now embraces three townships and is said to be too large. It is claimed that the roads in the township are insufficient with only one school in the district.

County Counsel Adams recommended to the board that the petition for the incorporation of the village of Pinevill be examined down as insufficient. It is understood that since the drawing of the petition, some of the signers have withdrawn their names.

About fifteen road petitions were received and filed and the usual large number of road contracts were let by the board. The commissioners authorized the clerk to notify all contractors engaged in county work to burn all brush along the right-of-way left after clearing.

CROP REPORT IS BULLISH

It Will Probably Result in Still Higher Wheat Prices.

Washington, May 7.—The May crop report of the department of agriculture is as follows:

Winter wheat condition, 79.7; remaining, 25,744,000 acres or 3,418,000 acres less than in 1911 and 6,469,000 acres less than sown last fall.
Indicated yield, 14.4 bu per acre.
Estimated crop, 370,714,000 bu.
Rye condition, 87.5.
Meadowlands condition, 85.7.
Hay on farms, 3,888,000 tons.
Pasture condition, 81.7.
Spring plowing, 52.8 per cent completed.
Spring planting, 48.9 per cent completed.

The report shows a condition higher than generally expected but confirms the highest estimates put on abandoned acreage. The probable outcome of the crop according to these figures, 371,000,000, is certainly bullish enough.

HAVEN OF WOODEN INDIANS.

What has become of all the cigar store Indians that used to give New York a pretty fair sized aboriginal population, wooden though it was? The once famous figure is still to be seen on the Bowery and here and there along the avenues of the East side and in old Greenwich village, which takes all improvements as a child takes medicine, says the New York Sun.

But, none the less, he is disappearing. It is estimated that within the last three years his numbers have been reduced by more than 50 per cent. A salesman returning from the West brought the one true elucidation of the problem to the office of the United States Tobacco Journal.

"I have found the missing Indians," he said, with evident pride. "I counted them and they are all there—2,346."

"Where?" he was asked.

"In Cincinnati," replied the salesman. "They're every one of them there. No mistake. A few blocks from the depot I bobbed up against one that looked familiar. There was a dent on the nose which I remembered in my boyhood as belonging to the Indian who stood in front of Max's store on Fourth street near the house where I was raised. And then before I had walked three blocks further I saw another which looked like the twin of a Calcutta variety Indian who once guarded Berensen's store on Second avenue.

"He had the same red eyes, the same colored turban with the barber's stripes, the same plethora of body and paucity of legs. But when I looked closer I found he was no twin. it was the very same Indian, as was proved by a mudmark covering the noble dusky's heart. It was unmistakably Second avenue mud, and the startlike patch was another memory of my boyhood.

"I then went over Cincinnati's collection and counted the bunch, recognizing many friends. They're all there, all right, and they tell me new ones are coming every week."

OPIUM HABIT AMONG JAPANESE.

From the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette: When the Japanese came into control of Formosa they found the opium habit widely prevalent, especially with that portion of the population that were of Chinese origin. The Japanese discovered that 61 per cent of the male population were addicted to the opium habit.

The greatest percentage of these were among the educated classes. In an endeavor to elucidate the point as to the instigation of the habit, the first step was traced in 93 per cent of the cases to the use of the drug by medical advice.

Public opinion was at first hostile to the attempts of the Japanese in eradicating the evil; but now, owing to the judicious measures adopted, a strong public sentiment has arisen against the opium habit.

New and Simple Way to Rub Out Wrinkles

Women have found a new use for the Chinese ice-pencil of grandmother's day, and now instead of being employed only for chaps and cold sores they are used to erase wrinkles. The pencil is rubbed the long way of the furrow, then the skin gently massaged. This gradually absorbs the fatty membrane on each side of the wrinkle, and the tissues under the crease are so energized that they resume their correct proportions.

On account of its slight astringency the Chinese ice-pencil will correct flabbiness. Massaging with one soon reduces loose muscles and tissues to their natural condition, and the skin takes on a youthful smoothness and velvety softness. Using a Chinese ice-pencil rids the skin of impurities and keeps it rich and beautiful. Even if druggists do charge 50c for a Chinese ice-pencil, you will not regret the investment.

WIRE MAKER HEARD AGAIN

Examiner in Steel Trust Suit Recalls Buell to the Stand.

Story of Parcelling Out of Government Jobs Told By Holton.

New York, May 7.—The government suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation under the Sherman anti-trust act was continued today before Commissioner Henry P. Brown, with further testimony concerning the wire pools in which the American Steel & Wire company, one of the corporation's chief subsidiaries, is alleged to have participated.

Wallace Buell, the retired wire manufacturer, who was asked yesterday to refresh his memory after he had testified concerning pool agreements among steel wire manufacturers in the early '90s, previous to the organization of the American Steel & Wire company, was recalled today as the government's first witness.

Mr. Buell again was asked to state what companies, after incorporated in the American Steel & Wire company, were competitors of his company, the Washburn & Moon Manufacturing company.

Named Competitors.

Reading from a list contained in an application of the American Steel & Wire company to list stock on the stock exchange in 1899, the witness named the following subsidiaries as his former competitors:

American Mill company; Cleveland Rolling Mill company, Pittsburg Wire company, Oliver Wire company, Consolidated Steel & Wire company, Kilmer Manufacturing company, Worcester Wire company, Elwell Manufacturing company, Asheville Wire company, Laidlaw Bale Tie company, Garden City Wire & Spring company and Salem Wire Nail company.

George E. Holton on Stand.

The testimony so far taken included some by George E. Holton, president of the Dryden Steel of Catasauqua, Pa., who, with others indicted and fined in the so-called "wire pool" cases about a year ago, after a plea of nolle contendere.

There were seven of these alleged pools, covering different kinds of wire, named in the government's complaint, and Holton testified as to the formation of the American Horse Shoe association in 1901, three months before the organization of the United States Steel corporation. The association, he said, was organized for the purpose of fixing the price of horse shoes and was composed of nine concerns, among them the American Steel & Wire and his own concern. These, he swore, entered a pool agreement, a copy of which he produced, which provided penalties of not less than $500, nor more than $1,000, for the failure of any member to abide by it. The agreement was continued, he said, down to March, 1909, when the American Steel & Wire company withdrew.

Not Known by Gary.

"Didn't Vice President Bachus of the American Steel & Wire company state in one of the meetings of the association that Judge Gary, chairman of the steel corporation, had no knowledge of this pool?" asked C. A. Severance, one of the defendants' lawyers.

"Yes, he did," replied the witness, "Judge Gary had no knowledge of it, so far as I know."

"Didn't the American Steel & Wire company withdraw from it because Judge Gary found it out?"

"That I don't know. I only know that the American Steel & Wire company got out.

Members of the association, including a representative of the American Steel & Wire company, met informally, however, after the dissolution of the pool, until about a month after the New York grand jury investigation into the general wire pool situation was begun last year, the witness asserted. They were abandoned then, he said, on the advice of Edwin E. Jackson, the "supervisor" of this and other wire pools, who was himself indicted and fined.

Parceled Federal Contracts.

"At these informal meetings we exchanged information and every man knew what the other man's price would be the next day" said Holton, who added that although under the new arrangement prices were not always uniform, there were five or six companies, including the American Steel & Wire company, which usually named the same price.

During the existence of the formal agreement, Holton testified, it was Jackson's duty to name the concern which should accept the bids of the United States government.

Holton read into the record a number of letters, written by him to Jackson in behalf of his company, in which he accused the American Steel & Wire company of violating the agreement to maintain prices. One letter asserted that the "trust's" subsidiary was cutting prices on Honolulu business, and "unless some action is taken, we shall see that we get our fair share of that business." In another letter Holton remarked that inasmuch as the American Steel & Wire company did not seem to have a clear understanding of the agreement, "it would be well for us not to have a clear understanding also."

HEARING ON NEW STATION

Railroad Commissioners Will Consider West Duluth's Plea May 21.

Communications have been received here from members of the State Railroad and Warehouse commission to the effect that a hearing will be held at the West Duluth Commercial club Tuesday evening, May 21.

The railroad committee of the club, headed by J. J. Frey, has been in charge of the campaign of the local club to secure a new passenger and freight station on the Northern Pacific road in West Duluth.. The members of the club have attempted to secure the station from the railroad authorities during the past two years, but have not been successful to date. With the state railroad commission interested and a hearing here in prospect the members of the Commercial club are hopeful of securing the building.

The present building on Central avenue is far too small to care for the large passenger traffic that goes through here daily. The structure is also in a dilapidated condition and a number of complaints have been sent to the Northern Pacific authorities during the past few years.

DULUTH INDUSTRIAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Irving baseball team will meet the Cathedral team next Saturday at the Fifty-second avenue west grounds. The Irving team is practicing every day for the game and the members are quite confident of a victory.

Rehearsals are still being held for the farce, "All a Mistake," to be presented by the amateur actors of the Irving school, in the near future.

ANNUAL BANQUET AT NEW DULUTH.

The New Duluth Commercial club has completed plans for the annual banquet to be held in Recklinger's hall tomorrow evening. The program will include speeches and music and the banquet promises to be as notable a one as those that have been held in the past.

About fifty West Duluth members will go to New Duluth on a special train that will leave West Duluth at 6:40 tomorrow evening and return immediately after the banquet.

STRANGER WAS TOO FRIENDLY WITH CAREY.

Frank E. Carey, 68 years old, was booked at the police station as a lodger over night and released this morning, fully recovered from his over-indulgence in the amber fluid last evening. He left the station this morning very grateful for being taken from the clutches of one who might have relieved him of the large amount of money he carried.

When picked up by Officer Root, he was in company with a stranger who appeared to be getting Carey under the influence of liquor and enticing him to the railroad yards with the intention of robbing him of the $83 which was found in his pockets when searched at the police station.

CHILDREN WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT.

The pupils of the different schools of the city will meet in callesthenic exercises at the Central high school next Thursday and Friday evenings. The Irving school will be represented by children from the sixth grade. The schools west of Lake avenue will drill Friday evening, allowing the schools east of Lake avenue to drill Thursday evening. The proceeds of this entertainment will go to helping the poor children of Duluth to obtain medical aid, and to buying glasses for the poor children who cannot afford to buy them.

Remodeling Building.

The building located at 425 North Central avenue belonging to Leon Abram, is being remodeled by G. Clementson & Co., who will occupy it. New windows will be put in and the interior will be redecorated.

Entertains Friends.

A party was given in honor of Miss Ellen Pearson at her home, 27 South Forty-fourth avenue west, Saturday evenin. The evening was spent in music and games after which luncheon was served. The table was decorated with carnations.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, Misses Agnes Gunthier, Ellen Pearson, Jennie Mattson, Florence Bryant, Florence Pierson, Hazel Valine, Dogna Anderson, Murtha Sass, Julia Sass, Mildred Thyar, Dorothy Thyar, Edith McDonnell, Margaret McDonnell, Anna Gallagher, Beredick Gallagher, Murtle Anderson, Teckla Dannelson, Arline Johnson, Elna Lunquist, Blanch Gauthier, Bertha Rix, Messrs: Edwin Nelson, Walter Bodin, Clifford Hedlund, Leo Gallagher, Cliftus Gauthier, Henry Hedsburg, Fritz Hedsburg, William Anderson, Louis La Fex, Louis Popkin, William Hickey, Howard Harper, John Flynn, Samuel Brassard, Roy Floyton, Ivery Pearson, Harold Rannel, James Smith and Stanley Sass.

FREIGHT HANDLERS KEEPING ORDERLY

Leaders of Chicago Strike Warn Men Against Any Violence.

Chicago, May 7.—Quiet marked the freight handlers' strike in Chicago. The 5,000 men who quit work on Saturday heeded the request of their leaders and remained away from the freight houses. A few business agents picketed quietly, and squads of police guarded the railroad property, but there was no trouble. Union leaders say there will be no violence countenanced by the leaders in the strike.

"Come to your meetings every morning and come sober," International Secretary J. J. Flynn told a meeting of strikers. "You cannot win strikes by throwing bricks and coupling pins. Take your wives and babies to the parks and enjoy a vacation. Any man is arrested for violating the law, he will have to pay his own fine. You are in the right and you will win, but you must win through your intelligence. Act like men, and don't resort to violence of any kind."

ASK FUNDS FOR SCHOOL

Prisoners' Aid Society Wants $200 Monthly From County Board.

Money Needed for Support of Proposed Home for Wayward Girls.

The county commissioners at today's meeting were asked by a delegation from the Prisoner's Aid society to pledge $200 a month towards the cost and maintenance of a home for unfortunate and homeless girls, proposed for this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stewart, Harvey Clapp, Verne R. Culbertson, D. E. Stevens and W. H. Starkey appeared before the board in support of the request.

It is proposed to maintain a home which may be devoted to homeless and unemployed girls and also to furnish a sort of a correctional school where judges of the municipal and district courts may send young girls, who need supervision.

Mr. Stewart declared that Duluth was sadly in need of such an institution and told of the steps which had been taken to secure the old Washington school for this purpose. The school board, he said, was in favor of the plan.

He spoke of the necessity of having a place where girls, waywardly inclined, could have the care and supervision of society, and where they could earn their own living in an honorable way and of the wide influence that such uplift work would have on the community.

Mrs. Stewart also spoke along the same lines. She recommended that these girls be taught domestic science. Mrs. Stewart stated that she had the indorsement of Superintendent of Schools Young. Other speakers also urged the board to take favorable action.

This afternoon, a resolution was presented in which the matter is put up to the judges of the district court to work out a plan by which the county board may assist in some measure in the humanitarian work.

TEDDY DRAWS FIRST BLOOD

Two Minnesota Counties Hold Caucuses and Declare for Roosevelt.

Taft Is Swamped in Primaries in Pope and Aitkin.

St. Paul, Minn., May 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Latest returns indicate that Roosevelt swept everything before him in Pope and Aitkin counties. In Pope county twenty precincts have been heard from. Seven are still to report, but these are strong Roosevelt precincts. The twenty precincts gave Roosevelt, 301; La Follette, 105; Taft, 41, and Cummins 2. In seven of the twenty precincts Taft failed to receive a vote. In Glenwood Roosevelt polled 44, Taft 16, La Follette 12 and Cummins 1.

It probably will take the county convention to decide the outcome in Aitkin county. There are forty-eight precincts, and in a large number of these no caucuses were held because of lack of organization. The vote in five precincts gave Roosevelt 12 delegates, La Follette, 5; Taft, none. These five precincts have a representation of seventeen delegates in the county convention. The vote in Aitkin village was 10 to 45 in favor of Roosevelt.

Menger reports which have reached Aitkin indicate that the whole county has gone solidly for Roosevelt.

J. B. Galarneault, former bank examiner, who lives at Aitkin, said the Taft forces were not in evidence during the caucuses. Aitkin county has nine delegates and Pope eleven in the state convention.

IN FAVOR OF PENAL FARM

County Board Takes Steps to Establish Much Desired Institution.

Committee Appointed to Prepare Plans—Attorney Will Draft Law.

The county board this afternoon placed itself on record as favoring a penal farm for Duluth, and took steps to work out the plans to establish such an institution.

The following resolution was adopted late this afternoon:

"Resolved, That it is the sense and judgment of this board that the county of St. Louis is in need of a correction or work farm for the proper confinement and care of short-term prisoners sentenced from the courts of said county, and that the time has come when this board should take all lawful action to establish such farm on a proper basis.

"Be it further resolved, That a committee of this board be at once appointed by the chairman of the board, which committee shall make all needful investigations into the plans, methods of operation and general scope of such work and correctional farms as now maintained elsewhere in this country, and, also, recommend to this board a suitable location for such work farm near the city of Duluth, and in co-operation with the board of public welfare of the city of Duluth and other civic organizations of St. Louis county, prepare and recommend to this board such general plan for the establishment and operation of a work or correctional farm as said committee shall deem most desirable.

"Be it further resolved, That the attorney for this board is hereby directed to draft and submit to this board a proper form of a proposed law that shall furnish all necessary legal authority for the establishment and maintenance of such farm, in order that such law may be introduced into the next session of the state legislature for enactment into law."

ADDITIONAL MARKETS

COPPERS SLOW AND STEADY

Day Passes With Few Changes in Stock Values—Metal Lower.

The copper market today was dull and remarkably steady. The changes amounted to very little. Calumet & Arizona closed 50c down, but aside from that it would be hard to find any important copper stock that showed any change worth mentioning. The general stock market of New York closed strong, but there was bearish news from the copper metal market of London, where spot and futures closed 11s 3d lower than yesterday.

Gay & Sturgis today received the following closing letter from I. J. Sturgis at Boston: "There was a very weak and violent opening this morning and prices were slaughtered all around. Transactions in the general list were on an enormous scale and it looks tonight as though most things, except perhaps Steel, were sold into a bag. The latter is so heavily capitalized that there can never be any scarcity in it, but other stocks, particularly Reading, Amalgamated and Union Pacific acted in the last two hours as though the shorts were rather nervous. It is very evident that the action of the market today shows that no bear market is likely. A continuation of the rally tomorrow, unless bad news comes, is likely."

Paine, Webber & Co. today received from Foster at Boston the following letter: "The market looks better tonight and should rally a few points at least. Amalgamated, Steel and the rails were hammered today, but the buying was good and they showed a net gain at the close. The local coppers showed almost no liquidation, but the buying power was somewhat small and the market narrow. Lake opened weak, off 1½, but rallied a point. The selling of Copper Range seems to be over. We understand the annual report of East Butte will be very good, and I expect it to be a market leader soon. The coppers have had a good reaction and can be safely purchased for a turn."

The Shattuck mine at Bisbee, Ariz., has developed one of the largest and richest ore bodies ever found in the Warren district. The width of the ore body is 65 feet and the average thickness is 20 feet. On an average it assays 30 per cent copper and $8 per ton silver. The exact vertical extent of the ore body has not yet been ascertained, but it is at least 145 feet, extending from between the 400 and 500-foot level to within ten feet of the 300-foot level. It may extend yet farther. Other explorations are being made on the Shattuck property in that region and it is expected that more rich ore bodies will be developed in the near future.

Judge Lynch of the district court at Butte, Mont., has denied the motion for a transfer of the suit brought by the Anaconda Copper company against the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company to the federal court. Nevertheless, according to the contention made by the attorneys for the Butte-Ballaklava, that company has the privilege of having the transfer made and papers are in course of preparation for this transfer. P. H. Nelson, president of the Butte-Ballaklava, said today that the motion for the transfer had been made only as a matter of courtesy to Judge Lynch, and that the Butte-Ballaklava, being organized under the laws of Arizona, had a right to have the case tried in the federal court. The motion for the transfer was made in Judge Lynch's court on the ground that that court had no jurisdiction because the Butte-Ballaklava was a foreign corporation.

The suit was brought by the Anaconda, which claimed that a rich vein of ore, discovered by the Butte-Ballaklava people on their 800-foot level was really a continuation of a vein that the Anaconda interests had discovered on their 500-foot level. The Butte-Ballaklava company claims that there is no connection between the two veins.

LAWYERS TO GET SLICES

Three Million Dollar Award to Indians Not All for Red Men.

Harvey Clapp, Richardson and Gus Beaulieu Among Legal Claimants.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 7.—In addition to the $3,000,000 claim allowed yesterday by the court of claims to the Mille Lac Indians of Minnesota, they have been awarded $824,000 for lands included in their reservations which they alleged were opened to homestead entry by the executive without authority of law. Decision was rendered on a new trial because of the dissatisfaction, both on the part of the government and the Indians, with a previous award of $764,000.

The amount of land alleged to have been taken from the Mille Lacs is 62,000 acres, and they claimed that it was worth $3,000,000. Attorneys for the government have announced that an appeal was taken to the supreme court of the United States, which will delay final adjudication for two years or more.

Council Fees Unsettled.

Several Minnesota attorneys are interested in this award, especially as to the amount of fees the court of claims will allow when the case is finally disposed of.

According to statements made today, a contract was entered into between these Indians and one of the attorneys for the payment of 15 per cent of the award as counsel fees. Whether the court will fix counsel fees at this time is questioned, but it is said here that all counsel will share equally in the fee after the expenses are deducted.

Those who will participate in the division, it is said here today, are Harvey S. Clapp of Duluth, son of Senator Clapp; George B. Edgerton of St. Paul, former assistant attorney general of Minnesota; Chauncey E. Richardson, formerly of Duluth; F. W. Houghton of Milwaukee, Daniel B. Henderson of this city and Gus H. Beaulieu, the well known White Earth Indian. Beaulieu assisted in the preparation of the case and it is said will share in the division by agreement of counsel.

The maximum amount each of the six men above named can receive is approximately $15,000, but this may be scaled down materially by the court of claims. The larger amount is also dependent upon the supreme court affirming the decision of the court of claims.

DIGNIFIED COSTA RICANS.

"The Costa Rican loves pomp and ceremony. He plays with diplomacy, and from force of habit strikes a threatening attitude toward the head of the government, whoever he may be, but never carries it so far as to provoke a revolution, as is done in the sister republics.

"He is a perfect picture of the posing hero in the comic opera, never yet having been conquered by his enemy, but always on guard," writes a woman correspondent of Health Culture. "The old Spanish hidalgos who warred with the Central American states did not consider the country around San Jose (reached then by a bridle path over the mountains) worth fighting for.

"So they left the natives in possession and the consequence is that the peon, or barefooted native, driving his yoke of diminutive oxen, is nobody's slave. He owns his mule and cart, his little patio of land and farmhouse. The tax gatherer has no place there; therefore when you meet him reincarnated as the dignified merchant he is a most self-respecting citizen.

"A dinner of fifty covers, with three kinds of wine, was tendered a foreign diplomat during our stay at the Hotel Imperial. When they were all seated and the dinner well on we gained a coign, of vantage where we were not seen, and I aver that a woman's suffrage luncheon in New York city was a hilarious affair in comparison to it. Yet nearly every man present had been educated in Europe.

"At Christmas time, during the ten days of fete, they enter heartily into the spirit of the carnival, and then fold themselves away for the rest of the year."

WHEAT HAS REACTION

Monday's Skyward Flight Succeeded By a Bearish Movement.

Flaxseed Makes New High Record for the Year—Demand Is Good.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 7.—Wheat had something of a reaction today on the markets of North America from the bullish movements of yesterday, although there was no particularly bearish news to encourage much of a slump. Duluth May wheat closed today at a loss of ½c. Cash wheat closed 5/8c over May. Durum was 1c off, oats 3/4c up and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth May flaxseed closed 2c up and July 1c up.

The wheat situation was mixed on the market of North America this morning. Duluth July wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.17½, opened this morning at $1.17¾, and at noon was selling for $1.17. At noon today Winnipeg wheat was ½c up in comparison with Saturday's close, there having been no Winnipeg market yesterday. Minneapolis wheat was down a little and Chicago was up somewhat. The markets did not pull together, and none made any very decisive moves. Brokers seemed inclined to do little, as the government crop report was due today. Of course, it was generally expected that the report would be very bullish, but whether it would be such as to make out a situation worse than has already been represented was a question that no one seemed ready to answer. Hence, the trading was somewhat slack.

Today's primary receipts on the Northwest American markets, as has been the case for some time, showed a considerable falling off from those of a year ago. Most of the crop reports were pessimistic. There were telegrams confirming and sometimes enlarging upon what had previously been reported about the damage to winter wheat and the decreased wheat acreage in the spring wheat country.

Most of the foreign quotations were bearish. Liverpool wheat closed today ½d to 2d lower. The decline was caused largely by the free offering of India wheat, larger arrivals of wheat at the Liverpool port and a smaller inquiry. Moreover, there were private reports from America to the effect that the damage to soft winter wheat would be largely offset by the condition of hard winter wheat.

Flaxseed Is Strong.

A scarcity of offers on the Duluth flaxseed market today, together with an aggressive demand, forced up the price. There were sixteen cars on the track for inspection, but most of this seed was already sold. Offers amounted to little. Duluth May flaxseed at noon today was up 2c at $2.18½ bid and July was up 3½c at $2.13¾ bid. Winnipeg May at noon was unchanged at $1.95. Buenos Ayres May closed yesterday at $1.75⅞, being 3¾c higher. London Calcutta May and June closed today at $2.25½ or 3¾c higher.

The Minneapolis Commercial West says: "There is very little change in the oil market. The high prices are curtailing the demand, limiting it to immediate needs. Buyers ask for quick shipment and there is no accumulation of stock. The mills are, of course, running light and attention is fixed almost entirely on the coming season's crop. Oil is quoted about 70 cents in carload lots. There is a fair demand reported for meal for this time of year and prices are quoted at $33 to $33.50. The cake market is quoted at $31 to $31.50 for may to September shipment. Flax prices in this country are above the import basis, but no business is reported with Argentina as the result of the strong domestic market. The poor quality of the South American harvest is a detriment to imports.

"Receipts of naxseed in Minneapolis since September have amounted to 6,882,950 bu., compared with 5,083,440 bu last year. The total amount of flaxseed in the terminals, including the supplies of one of the linseed companies, is 148,940 bu."

E. W. Dittes, traveling representative of the grain firm of Randall, Gee & Mitchell of Duluth and Minneapolis, while visiting on the Duluth Board of Trade this morning, told of what he observed during a recent trip through the major part of North Dakota. Mr. Dittes' testimony corroborates what has been reported in regard to the reduced acreage of wheat in that state.

"I feel sure," said Mr. Dittes, "that the wheat acreage of North Dakota this year will be fully 25 per cent less than what it was last year. Many farmers say the reduction will be from 25 to 50 per cent. West of Devils Lake the plowing is far behind what it should be at this time of the year. Through that territory hardly any spring plowing was done. Most of the farms were so wet on account of the steady rains that the farmers could not plow them, though I suppose something has been accomplished during the last few days, since I left. The farmers cannot use the big power machines to draw their plows through the fields. It all has to be done by horse power, where it is done at all. It would be impossible to run the great power machines over that soft wet ground.

"A great deal of wheat seeding is yet to be done. Many farmers are not attempting to plow for wheat, but are simply discing their wheat in among the stubble. After the wheat is sown, they will sow the oats, barley and flaxseed. I do not believe the planting of the coarse grains will be completed in North Dakota until about the middle of June. That is very, very late.

"North Dakota is getting to be a great state for raising potatoes. I believe the state will raise more potatoes this year than it has ever done before. One great handicap, however, is the extraordinarily high price of seed potatoes.

"At one place between Stanley and Minot, I saw three thrashing outfits pounding out flaxseed that had been left to stand in the fields all winter. The seed seemed to be of good quality. I did not see a great deal of flax thrashing anywhere else, however."

R. K. Lyle reported: "My travels in the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska have put me in the belief that these states will produce 65,000,000 bushels of wheat as a minimum, against 110,000,000 bushels last year. In the past ten days beneficial rains and sunshine have improved conditions wonderfully. The soil has a better moisture than in several years and I am banking on this feature to make a fruitful crop. In Missouri the conditions are not so good, as part of the state had late fall, the restrictions on seeding that made the damage in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. I cannot assess the damage east of the river, but it is large. The states of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio have not combined the acreage of Kansas and Kansas has approximately 7,400,000 acres sown by assessors returns. We made 421,000,000 bushels of winter wheat last year. With the Southwest at 50,000,000 bushels better we must throw off $1,000,000 in damaged area to fall to 400,000,000. That does not leave much for the stated in complaint."

B. W. Snow wired: "The country correspondence of my paper, the Orange Judd Farmer, is full of complaints from every section concerning the quality of seed corn. An inferior quality, as shown by test, is almost universally reported and requests for suggestions as to where safe seed may be secured in large quantities come to us daily. In Oklahoma and Southern Kansas, where early planted corn is coming up, the stand is reported unsatisfactory, and in spite of extra care this year in selection, I am afraid that poor seed will further delay the crop by necessitating unusual replanting."

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "It looks to me as if the big mills had not supplied themselves with cash wheat in advance this year and the market has run away from them. So the next move will be to close several mills, with the idea that it will break the market, but such moves in the past have always been followed by an advance in wheat."

The Bartlett-Frazier company wired from Chicago the following report from an agent traveling in Ohio: "From Canton the soft winter wheat across the entire northern section of Ohio looks bad. The millers estimate the crop range from 10 to 40 per cent of an average crop. I think 25 per cent is a conservative estimate. Further south in the vicinity of Orrisville, Massilon and Canton, estimates run from 25 to 50 per cent, but they are not selling at present. The oats acreage has largely increased, but seeding is very late. A considerable amount of seeding has just been completed. Farm work is very much delayed."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Trading in Wheat Light, Pending Receipt of Government Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—Trading in wheat was very light today on account of the desire to await the government report before committing themselves to either side of the market. May closed ¼c lower than yesterday; July ⅜@½c lower, and September ¼@⅜c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 560,000 bu for three days.

Carlot wheat receipts follow: Minneapolis today, 117; week ago, 105; year ago, 158. Duluth today, 37; week ago, 60; year ago, 36. Winnipeg, today, 263; week ago, 432; year ago, 227.

Cash wheat was in good demand today and the market was steady to a trifle firmer. Bulk of No. 1 northern sold for 1⅞@2c above July with a few choice cars going at 2⅛c over.

Millstuffs — Shipments, 2,966 tons. Mills well sold ahead but brokers reported only a fair demand. Prices unchanged.

Wheat: May opened, $1.15⅝; high, $1.15½; low, $1.15; closed, $1.15⅜. July opened, $1.15⅞@1.15¾; high, $1.16¼; low, $1.15⅝; closed, $1.15¾@1.15⅞. September opened, $1.08⅛@1.08⅞; high, $1.08⅞; low, $1.08¼@1.08⅝; closed, $1.08¾.

Closing cash: No. 1 hard, $1.18⅜; No. 1 northern, $1.17⅜; to arrive, $1.17⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.15⅞; to arrive, $1.15⅞; No. 3 wheat, $1.13⅞. No. 3 yellow corn, 76@77c No. 3 white oats, 54¼@54¾c. No. 2 rye, 90¼c. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $24.00@24.50.

Flour—Demand extremely dull today, following recent price advances. Mills booked only scattered light sales. Several mills ordered elevators not to load out any wheat to them unless business improved. Prices firm at yesterday's advance. Shipments, 48,171 bbl. First patents, $5.30@5.60; second patents, $4.95@5.20; first clears, $3.70@4.05; second clears, $2.60@3.00.

Flax—Receipts, 29 cars; year ago, 3; shipments, 3. There was a fair demand for good flax, but slow for the lower grades. No. 1 spot sold for the even Duluth May contract. Closing price, $2.18½.

Barley—Receipts, 7 cars; year ago, 24; shipments, 3. There was no quotable change in the barley market today. Demand continued strong for all marting varieties, but slow for the lower grades. Receipts were light and mostly of the feeding kinds. Prices closed in the same range as yesterday. Closing range, 70c@$1.30.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Go Down on Rains and Foreign Weakness.

Chicago, May 7.—Wheat prices suffered a setback today in consequence of heavy rains in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and because of weakness in foreign markets. The trade was expecting an extremely bullish crop report from Washington, but in view of recent violent upturns in value seemed disposed to caution pending government confirmation of private estimates regarding abandoned acreage and poor condition of growth. Word that the European visible supply showed a big increase as compared with a falling off at this time last year tended also to make the market here heavy. The opening ranged from ⅝c lower to a shade advance. July started at $1.14⅛ to $1.14¼, a decline of ⅛@¼c to ⅛@⅜c and sank to $1.13⅞.

After a little more decline a rally ensued owing to reports of probable decrease of seeding in the best portion of North Dakota. The close was firm with July at $1.14⅛@1.14⅜, an advance of ¼c net.

A moderate amount of buying on the part of leading houses proved sufficient to rally corn. Weakness at the outset appeared to be due to sympathy with wheat. July opened ½c off to a like amount up at 76⅜c to 76⅞c, touched 76⅝@76¾c and then rose to 77⅛@77¼c.

The market hardened still further on complaints of poor quality of seed corn. Closing prices were steady, ⅜@½c net higher for July at 77¼@77¾c.

Shorts in oats took to cover when signs indicated that the market would receive substantial support. Previously the market sagged, owing to fine weather. July started ¼c to ⅜c down at 52½c to 52⅝c, but reacted to 52⅞c.

Selling by houses with foreign connections acted like a wet blanket on the provision market. As a result, prices sagged and business as a whole turned dull. First transactions varied from 5@7½c lower to a shade up, with September options $19.47½ to $19.50 for pork, $11.22½ to $11.25 for lard, and $10.60 for ribs.

Cash grain: Wheat — No. 2 red, $1.17½@1.19; No. 3 red, $1.13@1.17; No. 2 hard, $1.17@1.20; No. 3 hard, $1.13@1.17½; No. 1 northern, $1.20@1.25; No. 2 northern, $1.17@1.20; No. 3 northern, $1.16@1.19; No. 2 spring, $1.14@1.19; No. 3 spring, $1.12@1.17; No. 4 spring, $1.00@1.12; velvet chaff, $1.00@1.17; durum, $1.00@1.13.

Principal and interest payable abroad at rates as follows: London, $4.86 per £, France and Switzerland, Frs. 5.18, Germany, M. 4.20, Holland, Fl. 2.48.

UNITED STATES MORTGAGE & TRUST CO., NEW YORK, TRUSTEE.

The Pacific Light & Power Corporation sells electricity for lighting, power and street railways in Los Angeles, Cal., and vicinity, and controls the Southern California Gas Company, which supplies gas in the same territory.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: To provide for increasing business, the Company will build two hydro-electric plants, 275 miles of transmission lines and storage reservoir of 38,000 acre feet capacity. Initial capacity of new plants, 53,000 h. p.; ultimate capacity, 160,000 h. p. New construction to be under supervision of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, Boston.

SECURITY will include (a) first mortgage on property comprising new development forming most vital part of company's plant; (b) general lien on existing physical properties, a conservative valuation of which shows an equity of $4,730,000 over outstanding liens. The security of new issue will be shared ratably by $2,388,000 6 per cent bonds which are already amply secured by collateral bonds of an affiliated company.

SINKING FUND of 1 per cent of bonds issued, including bonds reserved for refunding, commences in 1914 and will retire at maturity an amount of bonds equal to present $10,000,000 issue and those reserved for refunding plus a substantial amount of additional new bonds issued the exact proportion depending on their date of issue.

EARNINGS of existing plants for year 1911 are over twice interest charges on present funded debt; surplus earnings (from present plants alone) over interest charges for year ending December 31, 1911, are about $500,000 or substantially sufficient to cover interest and sinking fund on new issue.

INCREASED EARNINGS: New plants will permit substitution of hydro-electric for steam generated power, effecting more economical operation. This saving and increased deliveries of power (largely required by present contracts) should provide net earnings of about 2¼ times new interest charges, including interest on the present issue.

PRESENT DEVELOPMENT: Consists of steam generating plants of 55,000 h. p. capacity, hydro-electric plants of 20,000 h. p. capacity and 150 miles of transmission lines.

LOS ANGELES is the commercial, financial and manufacturing center of Southern California. Its population in 1910 was 319,198, a gain of 211 per cent since 1900.

Application will be made in due course to list the bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

The legality of the issue has been passed upon by Messrs. Cravath, Henderson & de Gersdorff, New York. Report on new development made by Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, Boston.

Price 93 and Interest Yielding 5.40%.

RECOVERY OF LOSSES

Stocks Close Strong With Greater Part of Early Decline Regained.

Government Crop Report Gives Some Stimulus in the Late Trading.

New York, May 7.—The selling pressure against stocks was resumed at the opening of today's market. United States Steel again was the feature, the opening transactions comprising 9,000 shares at 64⅞ and 64¾ against 65¾ at yesterday's close. The copper stocks also showed marked weakness with general declines throughout the list. Sales of United States Steel continued in extensive volume during the initial dealings.

Practically the only stock to show any steadiness was Canadian Pacific which retained but a small part of its rise in London.

Dealings in United States Steel overshadowed all else in the first hour. The stock made a further decline to 64⅜, from which it recovered slightly. Other stocks to fall a point or more included Southern Railway, International Harvester, Anaconda Copper and Wisconsin Central.

Among the standard railway shares Reading, Union Pacific, and New York Central soon made recoveries to above yesterday's close. Trading fell off to small proportions after the opening.

After its heaviness of the first hour the market inclined towards general improvement. Trading in United States Steel which made further slight recoveries, was less active.

American Smelting also manifested underlying strength, but the movement as a whole failed to enlist more than passing attention.

Over-night developments, political and otherwise were seemingly of little influence. More interest was felt in the government crop report to come out later in the day, and the statements of the Copper Producers and United States Steel unfilled tonnage which issue tomorrow and Thursday, respectively.

Bear operators raided United States Steel and forced it down to 64⅛. Other stocks reacted sharply, but St. Paul was the only issue that sold as low as in the forenoon. Buying of Reading caused a quick rally, after which speculation became quiet.

The market closed strong. Selling of Amalgamated Copper threatened to send prices lower in the last hour, but the publication of the government crop report, which was fair in most particulars, although under the average of the last ten years, gave the list some stimulus. A majority of the grain carrying roads moved upwards, with especial strength in Union Pacific. Reading scored a further advance to 2 points, and the average level was the highest of the day. United States Steel recovered the greater part of its decline.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— STRYKER BROWN & BUCK COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned, hereby associate ourselves together and agree upon the following certificate of incorporation under the provisions of Chapter 58 of Revised Laws of the State of Minnesota for the year 1905, and all the acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, and do hereby adopt the following certificate of incorporation:

SECTION I.

The name of this corporation shall be STRYKER BROWN & BUCK COMPANY.

SECTION II.

The general nature of the business of said corporation shall be to buy, own, hold, hypothecate, transfer, sell and deal in bonds and securities of municipal and private corporations; also, mortgages, notes, stocks, town, county and city orders, warrants, tax and assessment certificates and tax deeds, and other property and securities of every name and nature, and also to act as agents for others in buying and selling any of the securities and properties herein enumerated or referred to; also to loan money for itself or as agents for others on securities of any and every description, and to act as agents for others in the collection of obligations of every sort; also to buy, own, mortgage, lease, sell, improve and deal in real, personal and mixed property in the State of Minnesota and elsewhere; to plat, sub-divide and lay out townsites and additions, streets and alleys, and to act as agents for others in and about any of said business; and also to act as agents for fire, life, casualty and other insurance companies, and to do, perform and execute all and singular the acts and things necessary, proper or convenient for carrying on a general real estate, loan, investment, brokerage and insurance business. The principal place for the transaction of the business of this company shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

SECTION III.

The period of the duration of this corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

SECTION IV.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of this corporation are as follows:

John D. Stryker, Duluth, Minnesota.
Arthur H. Brown, Duluth, Minnesota.
George W. Buck, Duluth, Minnesota.

SECTION V.

The management of this corporation shall be vested in a board of three directors, and the names and addresses of those composing the Board of Directors until the first election are as follows:

John D. Stryker, Duluth, Minnesota.
George W. Buck, Duluth, Minnesota.
Arthur H. Brown, Duluth, Minnesota.

The date of the first meeting of this corporation shall be on Thursday, the Ninth day of May, 1912, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., without notice, at Room 609 Torrey Building, Duluth, Minnesota. Thereafter the annual meetings of this corporation shall be held at the general office of this company at Duluth, Minnesota, on the first Monday of May at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

SECTION VI.

The amount of the capital stock of this company is Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00), and the same shall be paid in in such installments as the Board of Directors may designate. The number of shares in which said stock is divided is Two Hundred Fifty (250), and the par value of each share is One Hundred Dollars ($100.00). This corporation may begin business when Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) of its capital stock is subscribed for and taken.

SECTION VII.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject is Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00).

BARROWS.

THE NEW MINING TOWN ON THE Cuyuna range, offers splendid opportunities for investment and for the establishment of business in various lines. This town is located in the richest part of the range, adjoining the Barrows mine, which will ship ore this season, and where a large force of men is now employed in putting down the third shaft, two being already completed. A number of other mines adjacent to the townsite will be opened up, making Barrows one of the greatest mining centers on the range. Streets are graded, cement sidewalks in, and buildings are going up rapidly. Lots are now offered at from $150 to $400 on the partial payment plan. Buy now while you can buy at the first offered price; get located in a live new town and prosper with the development of the country.

A few years ago lots that were sold in Hibbing, Virginia and Chisholm at the prices we are now asking are worth today several thousand dollars. For further information apply to

YOUR FUTURE FORETOLD.

50c—READINGS—50c.

PROF. HENRY B. HAILE.

I DO HEREBY SOLEMNLY AGREE AND GUARANTEE to make no charge if I fail to call you by name in full, names of your friends, enemies or rivals. I promise to tell you whether your husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false; teach you how to gain the love of the one you most desire, even though miles away; in fact, tell you every hope, fear or ambition better than you can tell yourself, without your speaking one word, and if you are not absolutely satisfied when reading is over (you to be full judge), then pay me not one penny. I have helped others, why not you?
Hours: 10 to 6 Daily and Sunday.

LET A WANT AD NEGOTIATE A TRADE FOR YOU---OF SOMETHING YOU DON'T NEED FOR SOMETHING YOU DO

HOUSEKEEPERS

THIS IS FOR YOU!

When you want a tenant for your vacant room, telephone a good ad to The Herald, one that will bring quick results. Here is an example of an ordinary ad:

"FOR RENT—FURNISHED ROOM for gentleman; good location. Telephone Blank 243 X."

"FOR RENT—NICELY FURNISHED room for gentleman. East end, modern home, private, every convenience; use of telephone; one minute from car line, 12 minutes from Third avenue west; $3 per week. Blank 243 X."

Costs a little more than the ordinary ad. Yes: but in nine cases out of ten the results are so much better and quicker that it pays in the end.
